Fresh to strong west to northwest winds, partly fair and quite cool today, and on Wednesday showers in some localities.

The Daily Review

8 PAGES

40th YEAR No. 48 Peterborough's Oldest Newspaper. PETERBOROUGH, ONTARIO, TUESDAY, AUGUST 26, 1919. Price Two Cents per copy

HENDERSON DROPS BOLT FROM BLUE

DECLARES HE WENT TO RUSSIA WITH POWER TO DISMISS AMBASSADOR.

PRIME MINISTER MUST ANSWER

DECLARATION CAUSING TREMENDOUS STIR THROUGHOUT GREAT BRITAIN.

London, Aug. 26.—The Widness by election is arousing exceptional interest. Arthur Henderson, secretary of the Labor Party and for a short time a member of the Cabinet in the early days of the war, receives the support of the local Liberals. The fight therefore, is one between Labor and Conservatism. His opponent is F. H. Fisher, formerly Minister of Marine in the New Zealand Government.

A statement by Mr. Henderson that he went to Russia in 1918 with power from the War Cabinet to dismiss Sir George Buchanan, the British ambassador and assume the position himself, has created something like a sensation.

The Daily Graphic declared that the Prime Minister can not afford to leave this assertion unnoticed, as the nation will want to know why Mr Lloyd George entrusted such extraordinary powers to a man, what ever his merits as a labor leader, who knew nothing of Russia or of the diplomatic service.

Henderson is meeting some opposition on the grounds that he was a pacifist and despite his acknowledged moderation of expression, he characterizes this as a "damnable lie," refuting it further with a narration of his work as a member of the War Cabinet.

A 13-year-old farmer in Indiana went to town one afternoon, bought an auto and drove it home.

SHOT AND KILLED HIS MAN IN BROAD DAYLIGHT IN MONTREAL

Annoying Attentions to Wife Alleged to Have Led Up to Crime—Bullet Entered Victim's Chest Above the Heart

(Canadian Press Despatch)

Montreal, Aug. 26 Yesterday, in broad daylight, at the corner of St Alexander and Jurors Streets, John Quinn shot and killed Roch Sammon, and at police headquarters made a full confession.

Annoyed Wife

Quinn's wife had complained to him that Sammon had been annoying her by his attentions.

Death Instantaneous

Late yesterday afternoon, as the Quinn's came out of their boarding house, Sammon drove up in a motor and is said to have called out, "You don't hide her, I know where she is." "Don't you get out of your car," replied Quinn, and seeing Sammon about to disregard his order covered him with a revolver and fired, the bullet going through the wind shield and entering Sammon's chest above the heart. He was dead when the ambulance arrived from the hospital.

NEAR 2000 SICK AND MAIMED VISITED BY THEIR FUTURE KING

Prince Spoke Personally to Many and Few if Any Escaped His Kindly Eyes—His Royal Highness Impressed With Work of Orthopedic Hospital

(Canadian Press Despatch)

Toronto, Aug. 26.—The Prince of Wales and his party spent this morning until half past twelve visiting hospitals where returned soldiers are under treatment, taking in succession St. Andrews' Hospital, the Dominion Orthopedic and Toronto General Hospitals returning to the Government house at the end of the tour. The weather here was cool and cloudy.

Spoke Personally to Many

Nearly two thousand maimed and sick soldiers of the great war, from all parts of the Dominion, at St. Andrews' and the Dominion Orthopedic Military hospitals, passed under the sympathetic eye of the Prince of Wales this morning, when he visited and inspected those two big institutions, legacies of the part taken by Canada in the fight for freedom, which ended so victoriously. The Prince spoke personally to many of the men. An enquiry here of particularly broken men and a word of praise there for a much decorated hero, were all that time would allow for, in any of the conversation. But not one man in those two great halls of suffering was intentionally overlooked by Prince's well known and generous smile.

His Hoyal Highness was particularly impressed with the work being done by the Orthopedic Hospital of the straightening of limbs made crooked by Huns and the application of mechanical appliances for real arms and legs left in France and Belgium.

After an inspection of the Toronto General "Civil" Hospital, one of the most modern on the continent, the Prince returned to government house for luncheon.

Mr. Gordon And His Open Letter

Mr. G. N. Gordon, in last night's issue of the Examiner, publishes an open letter to this paper in which he binds himself to contribute $100 a year for five years, or $500 altogether, to the G. W. V. A. of this city, provided The Review prints prominently on its first page the police court reports as recorded on certain designated days of last May.

We have no desire to be a partner to Mr. Gordon in his campaign of self-glorification, to help add aonther storey to that part of his reputation that has been erected by the newspapers. We are not disposed, either, to aid and abet him in his new policy of charity on the instalment plan and on easy terms of payment.

If Mr. Gordon is really anxious to get before the reading public, the information that is burning in his legal cranium and that has lodged in his crop, there are other ways in which he can attain his end. Let him prevail upon his journalistic megaphone on George street to help him out, printing the facts in full. Or again, let him start the libel suit with which he threatened The Review only a week ago and which he alleged he would institute within twenty-four hours unless this paper printed an apology. That we refused to do, and at the time of writing the writ has not been served. Mr. Gordon has, however, essayed another flight into the spectacular.

If he starts the threatened suit, the records in question become automatically a part of his case. It would form the starting point of his pleadings, the only ground upon which he could hope to show malice, and this we defy him to do, now or at any time in the future. By starting a case he can obtain his ends, less any publicity that may be in view, and that without saddling himself with a financal obligaton.

Mr. Gordon says that if The Review will publish this information the public will then understand why this paper "is attacking the Police Magistrate, the Police Commission, the police force and certain police constables." We deny this allegation. We have attacked none of the officials referred to. What we have done is to exercise the functions of a newspaper in making fair criticism of public acts. It is only those with supersensitive epidermis who regard such criticism as "attacks." It is a right which we exercised long before the incident Mr. Gordon has in his mind.

Mr. Gordon drags into the discussion extraneous and irrelevant matter concerning dual employment. We wonder at this of a man of his legal training. The managing director of The Review was never at any time the active manager of the St. George's Mansions of Toronot, although as a leading stockholder he has held the position of president for some years. The company has a resident manager on duty all the time. There is no written code, no printed regulations to prohibit such an arrangement, and of this fact Mr. Gordon should be well aware.

If Mr Gordon shows a disposition to dip into ancient history, he cannot object if we follow his example, especially if we keep strictly to the record. In December, 1915, when the Patriotic Fund Campaign was launched, he signed a card pledging a contribution of $180. He was at that time city solicitor, and during the year 1916 his salary of $1000 was reduced in the general cut made by the aldermen by an even $100 a year. There is somewhere in existence addressed to the members of the committee a letter in which he declared that as he had been made the victim of aldermanic economy he did not feel able to meet the payment of his contribution.

Before the Council of 1916 went out of office the members relented. The old scale of salaries was restored and the amounts of the reductions were paid in a lump sum. Mr. Gordon was then in a position to redeem his pledge, which he did on January 6, 1917, by bank cheque, a year and more after he had signed the card.

Five years is a long time over which to extend the payment of even $500, but that is a matter between Mr. Gordon and his contemplated beneficiaries.

PRINCE IS MADE DOCTOR OF LAWS

H. R. H. REPLIES TO ADDRESS WITH CHARACTERISTIC UNASSUMING MODESTY.

SOCIAL FUNCTIONS TO-DAY

EVERY HOUR'S STAY IN TORONTO INCREASES ROYAL VISITOR'S POPULARITY.

(Special Correspondence)

Toronto, Aug. 26.—This afternoon was Educational Day for the Prince. At Convocation Hall he was made a doctor of laws, with the usual impressive ceremony.

Unassuming Modesty.

In his address President Sir James Falconer expressed appreciation of the honor done to the University in the acceptance by the Prince of this degree. His Royal Highness replied with that unassuming modesty which has become known in Canada as characteristic of him.

Social Functions.

The latter part of the afternoon and evening will be taken up with social functions, a garden party at Government House, and a military dance at the Royal Canadian Yacht Club.

Today's activities were of a quieter nature than those of yesterday, when popular demonstrations made possible by the civic half holiday were declared by old timers to have been more enthusiastic than had ever been witnessed before in this city in connection with a visit of a Royal Prince. At the same time the routes of progress today to all the various functions were well lined with cheering crowds. Every hour that the Prince stays in Toronto apparently increases his popularity with the masses.

CRUSHED TO DEATH BETWEEN TWO CARS

ADELARD GUERIN MET HORRIBLE DEATH THIS MORNING AT PETERBORO CAR BARNS.

BOTH LEGS ALL-BUT SEVERED

WORKING ON CONTROLLER BOX WHILE HAND ADVANCED CAUSE OF FATALITY.

Adelard Guerin, aged 47, suffered death as the result of a horrible accident at the P. R. R car barns this morning.

Guerin, employed by the Peterboro Radial Railway company as repair man, was working on the controller box of car No. 15, at about three o'clock this morning. He had the controller handle advanced two notches, it is alleged, when he discovered the trolley was not on the wire. Forgetting the controller hand had been advanced he stepped out on the fender of the car and attached the trolley. Immediately the car moved forward pinning both legs between the fender of the car and that of No. 34, nearly severing them above the knee. His body must have also sustained serious injuries, it also being jammed between Car No. 15 and the headlight of No. 34, a space of just 7¾ inches.

Guerin's only exclamation after the fatal accident was a request for a doctor But on Dr. McCullough reaching the scene he at once pronounced Guerin as dead.

Guerin's call for help was heard by Wm. Geraghty, who worked with him. Geraghty ran into the barn to find the unfortunate victim caught in the trap. He took the trolley off the wire and pried the cars apart. Guerin fell into his arms unconscious and never recovered. Geraghty made efforts to get a doctor, but failing to get phone connections, notified the police who summoned Dr. McCullough.

Leaves Eight Children

The deceased is survived by a wife and eight children, the eldest of whom is fifteen. Also by two brothers, Paul and Joseph of this city. The late Mrs. Archie Barbeau was a sister to Mrs. Guerin.

Inquest Adjourned

An inquest was opened at ten o'clock this morning, in the undertaking parlors of Lane & Eano and adjourned for a report from the doctors, McCullough and Wood, and evidence from witnesses. The adjourned enquiry will take place in the Police Station, Tuesday evening next at 8 o'clock.

The following jury were empaneled: Messrs. W. H Meredith, foreman; Lewis LeBarr, Norman Stockdale, Bert McClelland, William Leek, Joseph Picard, John H. Primeau, Andy Laidlaw, James Lewis and Robert J Matchett.

BET LEADS TO THEFT CHARGE

Charge Withdrawn When Truth Was Realized This Morning.

A charge of theft laid in the Police Court this morning was withdrawn. The circumstances were rather amusing, although costly to the plaintiff.

One of two men had a horse hide, which he wished to sell. They made a bet as to the price which the owner would get for his hide. When they arrived in town the owner discovered that the price offered would make him lose his bet. He put the hide back in the buggy from whence the other man took it also to ascertain the price. The owner discovered the hide was gone and made a charge of theft against his companion. The expenses of the case will be paid by the plaintiff.

POINCAIRE BACK IN PARIS

Paris, Aug. 26.—President Poincaire who has been visiting various cities in Alsace and Lorraine returned to Paris this morning.

U.S. COMMISON URGES CONTROL OF FIVE LARGEST PACKING COMPANIES

Recommends Operation of Refrigerator Cars, and all Cars Used for Meat Transportation, be Monopolised by Government

(Canadian Press Despatch)

Washington, Aug. 26 Declaring that the step is necessary to control the business of the five largest packing companies, the Federal Trade Commission, in a special report to President Wilson, recommends that the operation of refrigerator cars and cars used for transportation of meat animals be declared a government monopoly.

Licensed to Operate

The report recommends further that all property concerned, including feing stations and other facilities as well as the cars, be acquired by the Government, and that railroads thereafter be licensed to own and operate them.

To Bar Monopolies

Bib packers, the report says, now own ninety per cent of all refrigerator equipment in the country suitable for the transport of fresh meat. Recommendations are also to correct present inequalities of service and rates, as well as to prevent the dangers of monopolistic advantages.

SEIZE EXCURSION BOAT AT CHICAGO LADENED WITH 200 BARRELS OF BEER

A Brown Brew of 14,520 Bottles in All—Government Agent Declares It the Real Old-Fashioned Stuff Under the Guise of Near Beer.

Chicago, Aug. 25.—Into the deep shadow of the Rush street bridge a dark object slipped at the silent hour of 2 o'clock this morning. There were a few splashes in the water and the faint humming of a motor. The dark object crushed against the moorings and then lay there motionless.

A dark figure crep toward it.

"Boat ahoy! 'Sthat you, Joe?" The voice was almost inaudible.

"Who is it?" replied a deep voice. "Fred?"

"Yes, it's me. Have you got the stuff?"

"Yep, and have you got the truck?"

An assenting grunt was all the dark figure uttered in reply, and then the figure disappeared on the ship.

Leap Aboard Ship.

Only a few moments elapsed, and then several more dark figures approached the boat.

"Hello, there! Come out and let's look at you!" cried a new voice, without taking the precaution of hushing its tone. "And be quick about it!"

And several men jumped aboard the ship.

It was the ship Mineral City, an excursion boat familiar to Chicagoans who journey from the Lincoln Park pier to the municipal pier or Grant Park on Sunday afternoons in guest of the famous Lake Michigan breeze.

Have Orders to Seize Ship.

"We've been waiting for you for several nights, and we almost thought you'd disappoint us," said the leader of the men. "We're agents from the department of justice and we have orders to seize your ship and the load of beer you have in the hold."

"We haven't any beer on her" replied the watchman with a deep voice "It's near beer. I'm Capt. Josep McCall; I command this boat and ought to know."

"Well, we know better," replied the government agent. "But let's take a look."

Pushing the reluctant Capt. McCall before him, he descended into the hold. There were 200 barrels. An inspection revealed that they each contained 3 cases of bottles, containing a brown brew—14,529 bottles in all

The government agent opened one of the bottles and sampled it.

"Near beer? Tastes like real old-fashioned stuff."

Warrants Issued for Two.

The boat was seized by the government men and warrants were issued today for the captain and Thomas Young, who is said to be the owner of the boat. Violation of the Reed amendment to the prohibition law, prohibiting transportation of liquor from one state into another, and of several other federal laws is charged.

Young later appeared voluntarily before Commissioner Mason, was arraigned, the case continued until Sept. 10 and he was released in $5,000 bonds. He obtained permission to operate the boat as a pleasure boat over the week-end but must appear Tuesday and give bond for further use of it. The beer was unloaded and taken to the municipal pier, where it was stored in a government warehouse

ADMITS ODESSA OCCUPIED

Thirty Allied Vessels Bombarded City For Two Days.

(Canadian Press Despatch)

London, Aug. 26.—Bolshevik wireless message from Moscow today admits that the allies have occupied Odessa after thirty vessels bombarded the city for two days.

The despatch also says Bolshevik troops are advancing on the Russian northwestern front in the direction of Pskov.

AUTO AND RIG COLLIDE

Delivery Rig Damaged When Auto Truck Smashed Into It.

A delivery rig and an auto truck collided at the corner of Simcoe and Aylmer last evening, about 6 o'clock.

The delivery, driven by Delbert Lucas was proceeding west on Simcoe street intending to turn south on Aylmer. Before turning the corner an auto truck belonging to Garnet Innis and driven by Wilbert Watkins collided with the waggon bending one of the front wheels and breaking the shaft. The responsibility for the accident cannot be placed on either driver.

TAUGHT NEGROES LAW WAS A JOKE

BLAME FOR CHICAGO RIOTING IS LAID AT DOORS OF THE CITY HALL.

CRAP GAME BEGAN FIGHT

ATTORNEY HOYNE CHARGES ENCOURAGEMENT OF VICE BY BLACK BELT POLITICS.

Chicago, Aug. 25.—State's Attorney Hoyne says responsibility for Chicago's race outbreaks at the door of the city hall. "Black belt politics in the city hall and the encouragement of gambling and vice for the sake of colored votes had their logical consequence in the outrages that took the lives of more than thirty-five persons, the state's attorney said. He charged Mayor Thompson and his aids with duplicity in their dealings with the colored population and declares that both the mayor and police were fully acquainted with the conditions which led to the outbreak. Political leaders are credited with demoralization of the police and even with poisoning the courts.

The immediate cause of the riots, according to Mr. Hoyne, was a crap game between white and blacks which was carried on with the connivance of a policeman. Quarrels growing out of this game were carried to the 29th street bathing beach, where the first fatality occurred, when a white boy threw a brick at a negro knocking him into the water and causing him to drown.

"Riots Logical Outcome."

"That the race riots of July 26, 27, 28 and the days following were the logical and necessary outcome of this criminality and lawlessness is easily shown," says Hoyne. "The public has been led to believe that the origin of these riots is to be found in a quarrel at a south side bathing beach.

"The truth is, according to my investigators, that its origin was in a crap game operated not far from the beach and protected by a police officer. On the Sunday in question while this gambling game was in operation, a quarrel arose between some of the black and white participants. This quarrel was continued to and extended to the bathing beach bout a block away. It did not have its origin in the 'black belt' or in the stock yards districts or any of the parks. As soon as word of the drowning of the boy Williams which was the outcome of the beach quarrel reached the black belt, a crowd of black gamblers, gunmen and followers, protected violators of the law, hurriedly gath-

(Continued on Page Four)

NEW YORK WANTS VISIT FROM PRINCE

MAYOR HYLAN SENDS EARNEST INVITATION TO THE HEIR APPARENT.

MESSAGE COMING BY AIRPLANE

PEOPLE OF METROPOLIS AWAIT OPPORTUNITY OF TENDERING FREEDOM OF CTIY.

Toronto, Aug. 26.—Mr. Roy Kennedy, one of the officials in charge of the international aeroplane race, which started yesterday from the Exhibition Grounds, has a copy of the letter which Mayor Hyland, of New York, is sending by aerial post to H.R.H. the Prince of Wales. It reads as follows:

"His Royal Highness the Prince of Wales, Toronto, Canada.—

"As Mayor of the City of New York I am taking the advantage of the novel and fleet means of the aeroplane, in the contest conducted by the American Flying Club, to convey to your Royal Highness a very hearty and cordial invitation to visit the city of New York during your sojourn on this continent. Many of our inhabitants retain a vivid and happy recollection of the memorable visit of your illustrious grandfather to this city sixty years ago. Could he again visit us at this time his astonishment would probably be inexpressible at the wonderful transformation in these comparatively few years of the then small city into the great modern metropolis, of which we permit ourselves, with, I hope, pardonable pride, to boast to-day. I am confident the city will prove no less interesting to you.

"Conscious that you represent the great British nation with which we have just shared the vicissitudes of the mightiest war of all times, our people await the opportunity of tendering to you the freedom of the city, and to express to you their earnest welcome and warmest greetings.

Respectfully yours,

"John F. Hylan, Mayor."

PERSHING PICES LEVIATHAN

Washington, D.C., Aug. 25. — Because of the delay in the arrival of the transport Mount Vernon at Brest Gen. Pershing will return home on the Leviathan. His cablegram to the war department today from Paris said the date of his sailing, Sept. 1, would be unchanged.

SNOW THIS MORNING

Light Fall for Five Minutes 15 Miles From Buffalo.

(Canadian Press Despatch)

Hornell, N.Y., Aug. 26.—The earliest snowfall ever recorded at this point, which is fifteen miles southeast of Buffalo, occurred this morning, when in bright sunshine, a light snow fell for five minutes, melting as it fell.

THE DAILY REVIEW

ESTABLISHED 1879.

MEMBER OF THE CANADIAN PRESS, LIMITED.

THE DAILY REVIEW is published every afternoon at 4 o'clock (holidays and Sundays excepted) by The Peterborough Review Company, Limited, 186-188 Hunter Street.

SUBSCRIPTION PRICE, $3.00 per year by mail to any part of Canada or Great Britain; $4.00 per year delivered to any part of the city.

THE WEEKLY REVIEW, established 1855, is published every Thursday morning at 10 o'clock. Subscription price $1.50 per year to any part of Canada or Great Britain, or $2.00 a year to the United States.

U. S. Representative—Hibbert E. Douglas, Chicago.

BOARD OF DIRECTORS:

A. H. STRATTON, President and General Manager; E. A. PECK, ex-M.L.A.; T. F. MATTHEWS and JAMES LANGTON.

TELEPHONES:

Business Dept .... 139 Editorial 433
Mr. Stratton's Residence ... 221

"FOR A GREATER PETERBOROUGH."

TUESDAY, AUGUST 26, 1919

WHY NOT HOLD AN INVESTIGATION?

AS A GENERAL RULE The Review is opposed to the idea of commissions of investigation, either in Parliament or in civic affairs. Experience has forced us to the conclusion that such functions are too often a boost for the whitewashing industry. Even if there is any finding of importance reported by the investigators, this is seldom given effect through a lack of adequate machinery or for some other equally plausible reason. Investigations seldom result in anything more tangible than the acquisition of some easy money by the officials who wield the probe.

But there are occasions when some sort of an investigation is desirable in the interests of all parties, especially that of the persons who may be the subjects of an accusation. Whether these charges are or are not based on actual fact can be established only by impartial examination.

There are in existence certain grave allegations with regard to a department of the civic government. Those charges have been reduced to writing and are based on declarations made by a former resident of the city, now of Guelph, and who formerly was in business here. Several copies of the charges are in existence. One is on file in a department of the public service at Toronto. Another is in the possession of a prominent county official in this city. A leading attorney has another copy, which was secured by him when his legal services were sought by one of the parties interested. Mayor Duncan is also in possession of a copy, and has shown the document, or at least imparted the nature of its contents, to some of his colleagues in the City Council.

Passed from individual to individual, such rumors invariably grow. For the benefit of those most directly concerned in this matter the affair looks like one that should be cleared up at once. The Mayor is in a position to bring up the matter before the proper body as a start toward a full investigation, being a member of the board dealing with the officials concerned. Anything is better than wild rumors. There will be popular distrust so long as mere reports are in circulation.

HARTLEY DEWART'S NICKEL-PLATED CAMPAIGN.

HARTLEY DEWART has been long enough before the public as leader of the Ontario Opposition to betray his plan of campaign and to demonstrate nothing quite so clearly as his qualification for the role of political roustabout. Every time he appears on the platform he betrays the weakness of his party, its utter lack of a single point upon which to build a case. Despairing of bringing anything home to the Hearst Government, Mr. Dewart wanders far from the track and looks for material in the wider Federal field where his opportunities are greater. He spoke at London last Friday, and Premier Hearst in his address at Brantford the following day punctured every argument that the Liberal leader had advanced.

Mr. Dewart is opposed now to Union government just as he was in 1917 opposed to the principle of coalition and to the issue which that union made paramount. For the so-called sins of the Administration at Ottawa he would hold Sir William Hearst and his party responsible. Sir William, however, has answered every indictment, and on the temperance question has not left the Opposition leader an inch of ground on which to stand.

It was at London that Mr. Dewart paraded his favorite theme, the nickel question. He charged that the Hearst Government was a party to permitting the shipment of Ontario nickel to Germany during the war, that it was made into munitions for the destruction of Canadian soldiers, and that no steps were taken at Toronto to prevent this traffic. Sir William Hearst makes it clear that this was a matter over which the Federal Government only had control. This is a question that has before this been thoroughly threshed out on the floor of the Legislature.

Mr. Dewart says that ships loaded with nickel were intercepted on their way to Germany, or at least to neutral countries, whence it could be reshipped to the Huns. This is beyond question. It is just as true that during the war the British blockaders held up cargoes of food shipped under exactly similar conditions from American ports to the same destination. Some of this food was produced in Canada, but the British blockade was equal to the task imposed upon it. Canadian wheat was sent to the United States duty free during the latter years of the war in order that the Allies might have the direct benefit of American shipping facilities. Canadian live stock has had free entry to the United States for the past five years. The meat so obtained would in some cases have found its way to Germany but for the prowess of the British navy. Ontario nickel was in the same class as the Canadian live stock, wheat and other foodstuffs. Mr. Dewart says that Ontario nickel should be refined at home. There are already two nickel refining plants in Canada. Canadian wheat, too, except during the exigencies of war, should be ground into flour in Canadian mills, and this is a policy to which Mr. Dewart and his party are opposed.

The Dominion and British Governments during the war reached an agreement in the handling of the nickel output that was satisfactroy in every way to the latter. Mr. Dewart, however, makes the mistake of taking it for granted that the British war authorities did not know what was best for the Empire under those trying circumstances. They wanted nickel at any cost and no matter by what channel it reached them.

EDITORIAL INANITY.

THE ORILLIA PACKET is most probably the widest quoted weekly newspaper in Ontario, than which no higher compliment can be paid a publication. Its ideas are always bright and original, its arguments logical, and its moral tone of high standard. Not all of the papers, however, that help themselves to the editorial offerings of the Packet take the trouble to give their contemporary credit, but reproduce these opinions as their own. This must be regarded as a double tribute to their merit. The pilfering scribes not only regard the ideas of the Packet as something out of the ordinary, but as safe and sane enough to pass them off as their own views. Like imitation, adaptation of this kind is sincere approbation.

The Packet is generous in this matter, and is not given to deny its contemporaries the right to help themselves from its columns. This shows a generous nature and a fellow feeling for the men whom the Packet clearly believes are worked to such a degree by the routine of their daily duties that they have little time for original thought.

The Packet, in a recent article, referring to this matter, makes special mention of weekly papers, but these are not the only offenders. Some of the weeklies of Ontario contain week after week editorial matter of a high order. The editors of such journals as a rule are men of broad views and wide reading. They have time to think and are not called upon to prepare their opinions on the spur of the moment. There is as much difference between their case and that of the harassed editors of dailies as there is between that of the man who speaks as thoughts come to him and the one who carefully prepares his public addresses.

Some of the smaller city dailies are not in a position to belittle the editorial efforts of the weeklies, as a perusal of their department will show. Too many of these have adopted the easy policy of appropriation and are content to be the mere echoes of the opinions of the big city papers. From these day after day duly credited extracts are reproduced—credited, we often suspect, because no other course would be safe, and to these opinions the easy going editor affixes the brand of his endorsation. Such a policy makes for an easy editorial existence, but it tends to lower the dignity of the provincial press and to keep down the monetary rewards for service which is at least original, no matter what may be its defects.

RICH MAN, POOR MAN.

MANY A BENEFICENT statutory enactment, designed for the welfare of the masses, has been brought into disrepute yb the excessive zeal, or misdirected energy, of the officials who are entrusted with its enforcement. A case in point is not far to seek.

The news despatches of yesterday carried the intelligence that in a Western Ontario city the police pried open the boards of the floor of a residence and there found concealed seven bottles of liquor and $3.738 in cash. It is almost unnecessary to explain that the residence was that of a poor man. Otherwise the police would not have been there on such a mission. No poor man is supposed to have in his possession any such amount of liquor. The large sum of money found was also a suspicious circumstance. Putting two and two together with Sherlock Holmes' acumen, the officials reached the conclusion that the liquor was kept for sale and that the cash found with it was the profits or gross receipts from previous transactions. Hence a prima facie case was regarded as established, and the occupants of the house will be charged with the illegal sale of liquor. The magistrate will add the last chapter to the story.

The police in that city could if so disposed have gone into the cellars of any one of at least one hundred wealthy residents and found liquor galore, liquor of high grade and infinite variety, liquor in barrels, in bottles and in cases. The wealth of the owner is sufficient to absolve him from the suspicion of making illegal sales. That feature of the law is the justification for the assertion so often heard that the Ontario Temperance Act is an example of class legislation which discriminates baldly between the rights of the rich and the poor. That is one reason why a certain class of citizens, who favor prohibition as a principle, will vote against the Act when the opportunity offers. The weakness is not inherent in the Act itself. Official misinterpretation is responsible for the opposition aroused in some quarters.

NOTES AND COMMENT.

WHAT IS WANTED to make a city great is general rather than this passion for personal publicity.

• • • • •

THAT "organized minority" appears to have overlooked the fact that only those are free who have been made so by truth.

• • • • •

THE DROWNING MAN grasps at a straw, while the politician who realizes that the tide has set in against him plans another limelight stunt.

• • • • •

WHEN THE Prince of Wales visits the United States the Americans will find him just a little more democratic than not a few of themselves.

• • • • •

THE MAN who hankers to perform a charitable action should not hamper his gift by conditions, providing too many conditions as to easy terms of payment.

• • • • •

ONE OPPORTUNITY that has been passed up by a certain gentleman who loves the limelight is to make a bid for the support of that new League. But give him time.

• • • • •

IF DAYLIGHT SAVING goes to the discard next year the man who failed to make a backyard garden pay will have an adequate excuse for abandoning the enterprise.

• • • • •

"MACKENZIE KING will now teach the Liberals to suck eggs," remarks a cynic not satisfied with the party choice of a leader. This is something in which Mr. King's confreres are already proficient. What he needs to show them is how to hide the shells.

WHEAT CROP DOUBLE THAT OF 1918

The Dominion Bureau of Statistics has just issued the usual preliminary estimate of the yield of fall wheat in Canada for the season of 1919. As previous reports have pointed out, the mildness of the winter 1918-19 brought the fall wheat crop through to the spring with the minimum of winter killing and with the maximum of vigor, so that of the sown acreage all but five per cent. remained for harvesting, the acreage being 797,750, or nearly double that of the previous year, viz. 416,615.

The acreage yield per acre, as reported by crop correspondents at the end of July, works out to 23¾ bushels per acre, which is the largest average yield per acre for fall wheat on record, comparing with 28½ bushels per acre, the previous record, in the year 1915. Last year the average yield per acre was only 19 bushels, and the decennial average for the years 1909 to 1918 is 22½ bushels.

The total yield of fall wheat is therefore estimated at 22,875,800 bushels, the largest total with the exception of the 1915 record, when 29,-20,600 bushels were harvested. Last year's total fall wheat was only 7,-942,000 bushels, so that this year's aggregate is 128 per cent. more.

Unfortunately for spring wheat, which constitutes the great bulk of the Canadian wheat crop, the story to be told is not so favorable. Persistent drought in Saskatchewan, where more than half the wheat crop of Canada is grown, and in Alberta has brought down the prospective yield to averages which, though not so low as last year, are still considerably less than those of the decennial period.

In Saskatchewan at the end of July the condition of spring wheat was only 73 per cent., i. e., 27 per cent. below the ten year average. In Alberta the condition was only 70 per cent., or 30 per cent. below average. In Manitoba conditions throughout the growing season have been much more favorable and crops quite equal to the average were anticipated up to the end of June. In July, however, the wheat and other grain crops deteriorated considerably owing to a general outbreak of rust, and the condition of wheat at the end of July was 92, or 8 per cent. below average, as compared with 100, or just average, in the previous month.

The deduction from these figures is an anticipated yield per acre for wheat of 17¾ bushels in Manitoba, 12¾ bushels in Saskatchewan and 13¼ bushels in Alberta.

In eastern Canada conditions are much more favorable, especially in the Atlantic provinces, where wheat is reported to have the percentage of 103 in Prince Edward Island, 101 in Nova Scotia and 96 in New Brunswick. In Quebec the condition of a month ago—viz. 98—is maintained; but in Ontario, where prolonged drought is being experienced, the condition for spring wheat is only 87, or 13 per cent. below average.

For the whole of Canada the condition of spring wheat at the end of July was 77, or 23 per cent. below average, representing an average yield per acre of 13¾ bushels and a total yield of 225,632,300 bushels. Adding the figures for fall wheat, we get a total indicated wheat yield for Canada of about 248½ million bushels, from 17,282,570 acres, representing an average yield per acre of 14½ bushels.

The outlook therefore at the end of July, although considerably better than in 1918, when only about 189 million bushels, or 11 bushels per acre, were harvested, is for a yield below average, and continues the succession of comparatively poor yields which have been experienced since the great bumper harvest of 1915.

For oats the indications are for a yield of nearly 406 million bushels from 14¾ million acres, an average yield per acre of 27½ bushels, as compared with last year's total of over 4[illegible] bushels from approximately the same acreage, with an average per acre of 28¾ bushels. The decennial average for oats is 34 bushels.

The condition of other crops, expressed in percentages of the decennial average are as follows: Barley 85, rye 88, peas 92, beans 95, buckwheat 94, mixed grains 89, flax 74, corn for husking 89, potatoes 88 and turnips 88.

The estimated yield of hay and clover is 17,408,800 tons from 10,663,-870 acres, an average per acre of 1.63 tons. The total yield is the highest on record and compares with 14,-772,300 tons, the record yield of last year. The total yield of alfalfa is 290,500 tons, as against 666,400 tons in 1918.

WIT AND WISDOM

Sylvia—I said "No" to no fewer than seven men on my holiday last summer.

Stella — What were they selling, my dear?

Fond Mother—What do you think baby will be when he grows up?

Exasperated Father — I don't know. Towncrier, most likely.

Parson—Always speak well of your neighbors.

Mrs. Inham—I do! And yet I assure you she is one of the most detestable creatures on earth.

Weary Willie — No bloomin' good! I told her the tale, an' said, "I'm hungry—I'm werry 'ungry!"

Tired Tim—And what came of it?

Weary Willie—She says, "An' so's my dawg!"

Passing Notice.

"Did you see that lovely young girl waiting there in the lobby, with the pretty brown dress and furs?" asked hubby as they entered their taxi.

"What! That frowsy thing with the false puffs, enameled face, gold teeth, home-made dress, imitation mink furs and torn gloves? No, I didn't notice her at all."

Change of Voice.

A sergeant was so much given to using bad language on the parade grounds that some of the men complained, and the C. O. interviewed him, and told him not to let it happen again.

The following morning the sergeant was in charge of a very ragged squad and after keeping silence for a considerable time he eventually burst out with:

"Bless you, my pretty dears, you know what I mean."

FINANCE MINISTER BUSY.

Ottawa, August 25—Sir Henry Drayton, Minister of Finance, has left for Toronto to confer with Chairman Wood and others of the Victory Loan executive regarding the forthcoming issue. The terms will be along the lines previously indicated, though several details are yet to be arranged.

WHY CERTAIN MEN MARRY

An editor sent out circular letters to a large number of married men and asked them why they married. Here are some of the answers:

Because I did not have the experience I have now.

That's what I've been trying for eleven years to find out.

I married to get even with [illegible] mother, but never have.

I have yearned for company. Do we have it all the time.

I thought it would be cheaper than a breach of promise suit.

Because Sarah told me five other men had proposed to her.

That's the same fool question my friends ask me.

I wanted a companion of the opposite sex. She is still opposite.

The old man was going to [illegible] me his fruit, so I took his daughter's hand.

Because I asked her to have me and she said she would; I think she got me.

Because I thought she was one among a thousand; now I think she is a thousand among one.

I was lonely and melancholy and wanted someone to make me lively. She makes it very lively.

BELGIANS GET TERRITORY

Authorities Take Official Possession of District fo Malmedy.

(Canadian Press Despatch)

Paris, Aug. 25.—Belgian authorities today took official possession of the district of Malmady, which was ceded to Belgian by Germany, under article 34 of the peace treaty.

TO TRY AGAIN FOR BAIL.

Winnipeg, Aug. 25.—Renewed attempts will be made to secure bail for the imprisoned strike leaders by counsel for the eight men held in the provincial jail on sedition charges, said Marcus Hyman, one of the counsel Saturday.

It is rumored that J. Allen, M.L.A., will accept the Conservative nomination for East Hamilton.

Dan Toomey, district superintendent of the N. St. C. & T. Railway at Niagara Falls has resigned.

T. Belmond was sentenced to two years in the Ontario Reformatory for housebreaking at Hamilton.

EDITOR'S MAIL

WANTS THE VOTERS' LIST

Editor Review: As acting secretary of the Citizens' Liberty League I want to ask all fair-minded people what they think of this:

It is well known that according to the statute the last defeated candidate is entitled to a certain number of copies of the voters' list.

Mr. Soden told me today that he has received ten copies of the voters' list from the enumerators and that he has given nine copies to the temperance people here and has kept one copy for his own use.

Mr. Soden represented the Conservative party at the last election when he was defeated and became entitled to receive these copies and should have handed them over to the Conservative party so that Conservatives and the Citizens' Liberty League and anybody else could get a look at them but instead of that he has handed them to the prohibitionists.

Is this fair?

JAS. G. GUISE-BAGLEY.

Peterborough, 25th August, 1919.

Mr. Guise-Bagley will be able, we make no doubt, to obtain all the copies of the voters' list necessary for the purposes he has in mind. There will be enough to go round and one organization is as much entitled to consideration as another.

The inference appears justified, in view of recent events that Mr. Guise-Bagley is more interested in the new League than in the Conservative party.—Ed. Review.

YES, WAIT AND SEE

Editor Review: Sir Wm. Hearst has taken his stand. It is all in favor of prohibition. Some time ago he gave the freedomites hope because he said he would do what the referendum said. But he has changed that and says in his great speech at Brantford that he will stand or fall by the O.T.A.

There will be no candidate supporting Hearst brought out in West Peterborough. If it had been rushed through a week or a month ago there would now be a Hearst man in the field, but not now—not on your life. You'll see. DOWN WITH CARDS AND SNUFF.

Yes, we will all wait and see and learn, too, that "Down With Cards and Snuff" is neither a prophet nor the son of a prophet. There will be a Hearst candidate put up in West Peterborough. The party is not willing to wantonly throw away the riding and elections cannot be disposed of by a move of the hand.—Ed. Review.

REPLY TO MR. LEADER

Editor Review: Mr. Leader's letter serves the very useful purpose of bringing the question of prohibition to an immediate issue.

God says that it is not wrong to drink alcoholic liquors in moderation. The prohibitionist flatly contradicts and reproves God for taking such a position. The man or woman who goes to the poll and reproves God will suffer for it. The fate of the drunkard may be infinitely deplorable, but that of the total prohibitionist will be too terrible to contemplate.

J. H. BURNHAM.

BETHMAN-HOLLWEG LACKED DIPLOMACY

DESIRED PEACE IN NINETEEN FOURTEEN BUT MADE SERIOUS MISTAKES.

Berlin, Aug. 26.—Prince Bernhard von Buelow, former German Chancellor, has in a rather belated manner entered the list of those making reservations concerning the outbreak of the war by writing a letter to The Fremdenblatt of Hamburg regarding the statement made by Dr. Theobald von Bethmann-Hollweg, Chancellor in 1914, declaring the war was inevitable. The Prince von Buelow sketches his long career as Chancellor, and in the course of the letter admits that peace was desired by Dr. Bethmann-Hollweg, who, he says, however, "lacked political art."

"During the grave weeks before the war," writes Prince von Buelow, "serious psychological, diplomatic and political mistakes were made by Germany's political leaders, which were unjustly ascribed to the people's responsibility."

GOOD OPPORTUNITIES

Study the advertisements in the Daily and Weekly Review. They are replete with attractive opportunities for buying cheaply.

Down deep in the heart of every so-called woman hater there is a longing to have some woman fuss over him.

TO-DAY'S STORY

The great English actor, Sir Henry Irving, had his own intensely sad and humorous side, says Mr. Clement Scott, in Old Bohemian Days. His lifelong stage manager, Harry Loveday, used to say that the only time he ever saw "the chief" at a loss for words was at a dress rehearsal of "Henry the Eighth" in 1892, when the situation appealed to his sense of humor and sent him into such fits of laughter that he simply couldn't speak.

Wearing the gorgeous geranium pink robes of Cardinal Wolsey, the actor manager stepped off the stage and up to the back of the auditorium to watch the gorgeousness of the scenes as arranged by Seymour Lucas, A.R.A.

He was standing there all alone, and thoroughly enjoyed the fanfare of silver trumpets, the magnificence of the processions, the choristers with their lace-trimmed albs and scarlet soutanes, the servitors, the retinue, the retainers, the rose-robed cardinals who acted as the judges, when everything came to a sudden halt. A "silence that could be felt" swept over the whole crowd. Everybody paused breathlessly.

Irving shouted as loudly as he could: "Keep it up, keep it up! Don't drop it. Get on with it. Why this wait? For heaven's sake don't let it down at such a moment! Loveday—where's Loveday?"

On trotted little Mr. Loveday from the wings, not a smile on his face, "I'm here, Mr. Irving."

"What's wrong? Who is keeping the whole stage waiting like this?"

"It's your cue, Mr. Irving," replied Harry Loveday quietly. "Are you coming?"

POINTED PARAGRAPHS.

You can't put old shoulders under a young head.

Lots of men would rather lose a friend than a dollar.

Man proposes and woman disposes—of his propositions.

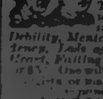
Nothing boosts a girl's self-conceit like two proposals in one week.

Motto of the ward boss—"Evil to him who votes the other ticket."

If some preachers don't practise any better than they preach they are dismal failures.

A married man who was hypnotized says it felt as it does when his wife makes up her mind.

A man's declaration that a woman is his first love should be read like a Chinese book—the last page first.



Wood's Phosphodine.

The Great English Remedy. Tones and invigorates the whole nervous system, makes new Blood in old Veins. Cures Nervous Debility, Mental and Brain Worry, Impotency, Lack of Energy, Depletion of the Heart, Failing Memory. Price $1 per box, six for $5. One will please, six will cure. Sold by all druggists or mailed in plain pkg. on receipt of price. Pamphlet mailed free. THE [illegible] CO., TORONTO, ONT.

CLOCKS
: the Gift Kind :

Best assortment in the city of French Marble Clocks, Fancy Boudoir Clocks, Mantel Clocks, Bronze and Ornamental Clocks.

Prices moderate; Values defy competition.

Schneider's

367 George St. Next Toronto's

No Bar So Big
NP SOAP
No Bar So Good

BRANTFORD IS BOOMING.

New Industries and Houses for the Telephone City.

Brantford, August 26.—Brantford is at present enjoying an unprecedented industrial boom. With the purchase of ten acres for a plant to employ 150 hands by the Robbins and Myers Co., of Springfield, Mass., comes the announcement of a $200,000 extension to the Slingsby Works and important additions to the Computing Scales Company. The arrival of tin ore from Bolivia, South America, for electric smelting at the new plant in this city has also been announced, while the chamber of commerce announces that at least two large new industries will locate here in the next month. In the meantime there is a boom in the building of dwelling houses throughout the city.

DODD'S KIDNEY PILLS
FOR ALL KIDNEY DISEASES
RHEUMATISM
BRIGHT'S DISEASE
BACKACHE
DIABETES
R 23 THE PROPRIETARS

NITRATES.

South America Is the Chief Source of Supply.

During the great war one often heard the alarming cry about the shortage of nitrates. What if we should be cut off from the nitrate fields of South America? was the question often raised.

For the time being, we receive practically all of our nitrate supply from the great lake in Chili. Sodium nitrate, also called Chili saltpetre, is found in natural deposits in desert regions along the west coast of South America, especially near the boundary lines between Peru, Chili, and Bolivia. The territory is now chiefly owned by Chili. The deposits extend about 220 miles in length, and the average width about two miles.

There is practically no rain in this nitrate district. Water and fuel are both very scarce; so much so, in fact, that they are employed as economically as possible in refining the crude ore. The sodium nitrate crystals are only partially pure when they are drained and dried in the sun, and then packed for shipment as crude Chili saltpetre.

The formation of the nitrate beds or lakes is attributed to the decomposition of sea plants under such conditions of temperature and humidity that the ammonia produced was converted into nitrate by the action of the nutrifying baccilus, an organism found in the soil. The region being rainless, the sodium nitrate was not washed away.

The chief use of this material is in making gunpowder and explosives, matches, fireworks, and in certain metallurgical and analytical operations. It is even employed for curing meat. It can be prepared into excellent chemical fertilizer. Still nearer home to most of us city folk, it can be used in making "laughing" gas, which is what the dentist gives his patient to put him to sleep preparatory to pulling out a troublesome tooth.

THE SPILT PEARLS.

An Old Persian Fable of the Caliph and His Faithful Slave.

The most beautiful of all Persian fables, perhaps, is called "The Spilt Pearls" and relates how the courtiers of a certain caliph marveled at his choice of an Ethiopian slave for his constant attendant and at the high honors he bestowed on this fellow, who had no special distinction of beauty, strength or grace. Thereupon the caliph told them that, though the slave's features were not fair, kindness beautified them.

Once, when a cadet of the caliph's train tripped in a narrow street, a casket fell, broke, and rich pearls fell everywhere. The caliph nodded to his attendant slaves to pick them up, saying that they might have them for themselves, and they all rushed to pick up as many as they could.

One alone remained behind the caliph, the Ethiopian, who did not move. Turning to him, the caliph asked him what he was doing, lingering there, and received the answer that his duty was faithfully to guard his master, and he had sufficient reward in doing that. No one could be called a faithful servant who forgot his duty to his master for the sake of the gifts his master gave.

"Therefore," said the caliph, "I keep him at my side, for he has shown himself to be possessed of the brightest jewel a man can possess, the jewel of faithfulness."—Argonaut.

Original Potato King.

John Pounds, an English cobbler, was the original potato king. He cobbled shoes for sailors in Portsmouth and was grieved by the sight of the ragged boys who ran about the quays. He set himself the task of rescuing them. A hot potato was a wonderful delicacy for these youngsters. John Pounds set his bait. He offered hot potatoes to boys who would come to him and be taught to read and write. Often he was seen pursuing a boy along the wharves holding out a potato like a farmer trying to catch a colt with a feeding of oats. Usually John Pounds and the hot potatoes won. He crowded his narrow workroom with his charges. When he died it was reported of him that he had saved 500 children to useful citizenship.

Cook's Cotton Root Compound.

A safe, reliable regulating medicine. Sold in three degrees of strength—No. 1, $1; No. 2, $3; No. 3, $5 per box. Sold by all druggists, or sent prepaid on receipt of price. Free pamphlet. Address: THE COOK MEDICINE CO., TORONTO, ONT. (Formerly Windsor.)

NO MORE KIDNEY TROUBLE

Since He Commenced to Take "Fruit-a-tives"

78 Lees Avenue, Ottawa, Ont.

"Three years ago, I began to feel run-down and tired, and suffered very much from Liver and Kidney Trouble. Having read of 'Fruit-a-tives', I thought I would try them. The result was surprising.

I have not had an hour's sickness since I commenced using 'Fruit-a-tives', and I know now what I have not known for a good many years—that is, the blessing of a healthy body and clear thinking brain".

WALTER J. HARRIOTT.

50c. a box, 6 for $2.50, trial size 25c At all dealers or sent postpaid on receipt of price by Fruit-a-tives Limited, Ottawa.

Uses of Sea Weeds.

A good many of us think of sea weeds as perfectly useless ocean growths, somewhat like our garden weeds. As a matter of fact, sea weeds have many, many uses. They furnish food for the fish, the same as grass and herbage do for our cattle and sheep. And many of the smaller fish build their homes—almost like our birds—in the floating island of sea weed. They also keep the water pure.

Sea weed of a certain kind used to be much in demand, as it contained an alkali used in the manufacture of soap, but this is now obtained from other sources.

Sea weeds are used by farmers along the coast for fertilizer, and in the fall it is interesting to see them gathering it, often driving their teams far out into the water, the horses plunging back with a load of the glistening stuff. If you have been in New England you have probably noticed this yourself.

Some of the hardy cattle of Ireland and Scotland thrive on dried sea weed as a winter fodder. There is a species of sea weed that grows along the coast of Japan, from which glue is made, and the Chinese use sea weed to glaze their umbrellas, lanterns, and screens.

Never Has Been Done.

Says the Ashtabula S. and B.: "A Sandusky woman, demented by the heat, tried to kill herself twice but was unsuccessful." It's not surprising. We have no record of anyone's ever having been able to do it.

The heart pumps the blood a distance of almost 365 miles in one year.

STORY OF RUBBER.

The Romance of This Now Highly Prized Material.

WAS OF LITTLE USE AT FIRST.

Not Until the Vulcanizing Process Was Invented Did Its Vast Possibilities Become Apparent—How the Amazon Monopoly Was Broken.

The average man believes that rubber is rubber, just as silver is silver and ivory is ivory; but, as a matter of fact, the different kinds of rubber run into the hundreds. If you were to take up one of the commercial dailies which devote their columns to the news of the different industries you would find prices quoted on thirty or forty different sorts of rubber. Some are called after their geographical location, some take their name from the method of preparation, and others have names descriptive of their form.

Originally all rubber came from the valley of the Amazon. When it was first discovered no one knows. At any rate, when the first white men, following along after Columbus, visited South America they found the Indians playing with balls made from the exudation of the bark of a certain tree, and these balls differed from any the Europeans had ever seen, for they bounded and rebounded and were full of life. But that was not the only use the Indians put this milk of the tree to. They smeared it on their blankets to make them waterproof.

Still, 200 years and more went by, and, while many wise men believed this elastic, cohesive, impermeable substance ought to be full of usefulness, nobody found any way to use it to any advantage—it was so brittle in cold weather and so disposed to get soft in hot weather. But in the fullness of time a Connecticut Yankee started to puzzle it out. It took him the better part of ten years, but he did it, and in 1839 gave the world its vulcanization process, which is in use today.

Up to that time rubber was so cheap that ships from South America sometimes used it as ballast, taking their chances of selling it for what they could get in some American port. With the discovery of the vulcanizing process rubber took on a new hue and a new value, and the tropics were searched for it everywhere. It was found in the vines of Africa, and gutta percha, a sort of first cousin to rubber, was found in Borneo, and some years ago a large volume of rubber was found in the guayule shrubs of Mexico.

As rubber grew in value the chemists fell to work and devised ways of recovering it from old shoes and hose and other articles into which it entered, and thus "reclaimed rubber" soon came to equal the new rubber in volume, and all these varieties found some legitimate use. Gutta percha makes unapproachable insulation for ocean cables. Balata, which comes from the Guianas, is famous for belting, and even "reclaimed rubber," taken from junk heaps, serves perfectly well for flooring and mats and other articles where resiliency is not needed.

For many years the best rubber was that which came from the banks of the Amazon. The people of that country enjoyed a practical monopoly and determined to keep it. Not a rubber seed would they let get out of the country, under heavy penalties. But from time immemorial the fear of punishment has given way before the lure of shining gold, and in 1876, by means of generous presents here and there, a venturesome Englishman sailed out of the Amazon with 70,000 rubber seeds, and that was the start of the great rubber plantations of Ceylon and the Malay peninsula.

The beginning was slow. It was twenty-nine years after these seeds left the Amazon before the first plantation rubber was ready for the market, and then the total was only 145 tons. That was in 1905. But since then the production of plantation rubber has grown enormously, until now it is about 100,000 tons.

Various rubbers can be used for various purposes. For some purposes a lifeless rubber will answer well enough, while for other purposes the only rubber that will adequately serve is the one that has life and resiliency and toughness. There are numberless rubber articles of commerce where resiliency and wear combined are necessary and where cheaper grades or too large a proportion of "reclaimed rubber" is the poorest sort of economy.

Suspicious.

"There's a man outside who wants to see you," announced the office boy. "He says he's an old friend of yours."

"Find out whether he wants to borrow money or sell life insurance," directed his employer. "In either case I'm not in."—New York World.

The New Age.

The London Office Girl—Could I have next Monday, sir, for my sister's wedding? Her Employer—Why, you had a couple of days off for a sister's wedding last month. The Office Girl—Yes sir; we do get off quickly in our family.—London Sketch.

Eating Sea Food.

When a codfish eats it takes an oyster in its mouth, cracks the shell, digests the meat, and ejects the shell. Crabs crack the shells of their smaller neighbors and suck out the meat. This accounts for the mounds of shells which are found beneath the waves. And, as further illustrating the constant destruction going on in ocean's depth, it is said that if a ship sinks at sea it will be eaten by the fish with the exception of its metal portions.

ADVERTISING RATES.

The rate for Classified Advertisements is one cent a word per first insertion; subsequent insertions half a cent per word. Minimum number of words ten. Special terms for 5,000 words or over.

Advertisements marked "till forbidden" are accepted on the understanding that they will be published until a written or verbal notice to stop them is received.

BIRTH, MARRIAGE, DEATH, MEMORIAL NOTICES AND CARDS OF THANKS, 50c per insertion in Daily and Weekly, not exceeding one inch space. All words over the inch, one cent each.

CHURCH ANNOUNCEMENTS.

Sunday Services Announcement in Saturday daily (no reference to concerts allowed) $5 per year per inch. Extra space in this column for the purpose stated, 15c per inch. Regular rates apply for other than Sunday services.

GET YOUR PRINTING DONE at The Review office. Lowest price and best service.

IF YOU HAVE ANYTHING to sell, advertise in The Review. A sure sale.

MALE HELP WANTED.

BRICKLAYERS — 75 CENTS an hour; good camp and board, $7.00 week. Transportation both ways to good tradesmen. Apply Mr. Matheson, Central Spring Co., Ritson road, Oshawa, Ontario. A. F. Byers & Co., Ltd., contractors.

WANTED.

WANTED — A CARETAKER for St. James Methodist Church, duties to commence Sept. 1. For information apply Thomas Brown, 176 Lock street.

LOST.

LOST A GREEN LEATHER purse containing sum of money and other articles. Finder please leave at Review. Reward.

FOUND.

FOUND ON SIMCOE STREET, near Park, black enameled frame for holding glass in headlight on motor car. Owner can have same by applying at Review and paying for this notice.

TO LET.

TO RENT -THREE UNFURnished rooms, use of bath, gas; all conveniences. Apply to 667 George street.

FOR SALE.

FARM FOR SALE.

A first-class farm for sale; four miles from city. Apply Review for address.

FOR SALE — AN OVERLAND roadster, in good running order; price right. Duffus Garage.

CEDAR LAWN FARM OFFERS for sale one high grade short horn cow rising 4 years old with a choice red roan heifer calf 7 months old at foot, sired by imported bull; this is a choice calf; cow is bred again to Golden King (imp.) Also one nice bull 6 months old, sired by Escana Mascot, imported, and out of a first prize winning cow, a heavy milker. I have five litters of pure bred imported Yorkshire boars and sows ready to wean; a few nice sows ready to breed. If you want to buy some good breeding stock, come and see these. A few nice registered shorthorn cows and heifers in calf to Golden King (imp.) for sale. Herbert J. Miller, Keene, Ontario.

THE FOLLOWING CAN BE seen and bought cheaply at 207 Simcoe street: Excavating tools, picks, shovels, wheel-barrows, scrapers, plough, etc., dump cart and harness, stone boat, drop bottom wagons, gravel wagon with 1¾-yard box, contractor's hoisting winch, tackle, etc., whiffletrees, neckyokes, etc., Also a lot of window and door frames, handy for alterations and repairs. All in good shape.

Wm. Lytle Cartage Co.

A BRICK HOUSE ON McGILL street; electric light and water in the house. For particulars apply to Review office.

FOR SALE—C. G. E. ¼ H.P. 200 vol. 3 phase 60 cycles motor. Apply at Review office.

LEGAL CARDS.

HALL & HALL
Barristers and Solicitors
Money to Loan at Lowest Rates.
Telephone 69. 110 Hunter St.

GORDON & O'BRIEN
Barristers, Solicitors and Notaries.
Money to Loan at Lowest Rates.
Telephone 219.
G. N. GORDON J. A. O'BRIEN

C. R. WIDDIFIELD, B.A.
Barrister, Etc.
and Solicitor for the City of Peterborough. Bank of Commerce Building. 'Phone 550

MOORE & WEARING
Barristers and Solicitors
MONEY TO LOAN.
408 Water St. Opposite Post Office

JAMES FORDYCE STRICKLAND
Barrister, Solicitor, Notary Public
MONEY TO LOAN.
305 Water Street Peterborough
PHONE 151.

S. T. REID
Barrister, Solicitor, Notary
Office over Dominion Bank
Cor. Simcoe & George Sts.
Telephone No. 22
Private funds to loan at current rates upon easy terms

PECK, KERR & McELDERRY
Barristers, Solicitors, Notaries, 419 Water street, Peterborough. Money to loan at lowest current rates of interest. Easy terms of repayment.
E. A. Peck. F. D. Kerr.
V. J. McElderry

J. EDMUND L. GOODWILL
Barrister, solicitor, Notary Public, Etc. Office 575 Water St. Phone 191
Successor to Roger, Bennet & Goodwill
MONEY TO LOAN at current rates upon easy terms

A. E. DIXON
Barrister, Solicitor, etc.
Offices corner Hunter & George Sts. Entrance next Madill's Drug Store.

O'CONNELL & CORKERY
Barristers, Solicitors, Notaries Public, etc. Money to Loan on Easy Terms of Payment
D. O'Connell. J. R. Corkery,
134½ Hunter St. Peterborough,
Telephone 364

R. R. HALL
Barrister, Solicitor, etc.
Peterborough, Ont., office corner Hunter and Water Sts., over Canadian Bank of Commerce. Trust funds to loan on easy terms of payment.

MEDICAL CARDS.

DR. E. E. HARVEY
Silver Medalist, University of Toronto
Special attention to diseases of Women and Children
Office: 212 Brock Street
Hours: 1.30 to 5 p.m., 7 to 8 p.m.
Phone 322.

DR. BUCHANAN
F.R.S.C., Edin., M.R.C.S., Eng., L.R.C.P., Lon. Eye, Ear, Nose & Throat Specialist. Hours: 9-11 a.m., 2-4 and 7-8 p.m. Phone 519. Office corner Water and Murray streets.

DENTISTRY.

DR. W. N. HAYES
has opened a Dental practice in the Parrie Building, George street.
'Phone 652 for appointments.

OSTEOPATHY.

DRS. WALMSLEY & SETTLE
Osteopath Physicians
Office over Crown Building, Hunter and Water Streets. Entrance 124 Hunter street. Office hours: 9 to 12 a.m., 2 to 5 p.m. Evenings by appointment. Office Phone 649.

MONEY TO LOAN.

There has been placed in our hands considerable trust funds to loan at 6½ per cent. on first-class real estate property.
GORDON & O'BRIEN
'Phone 219. 295 George St.

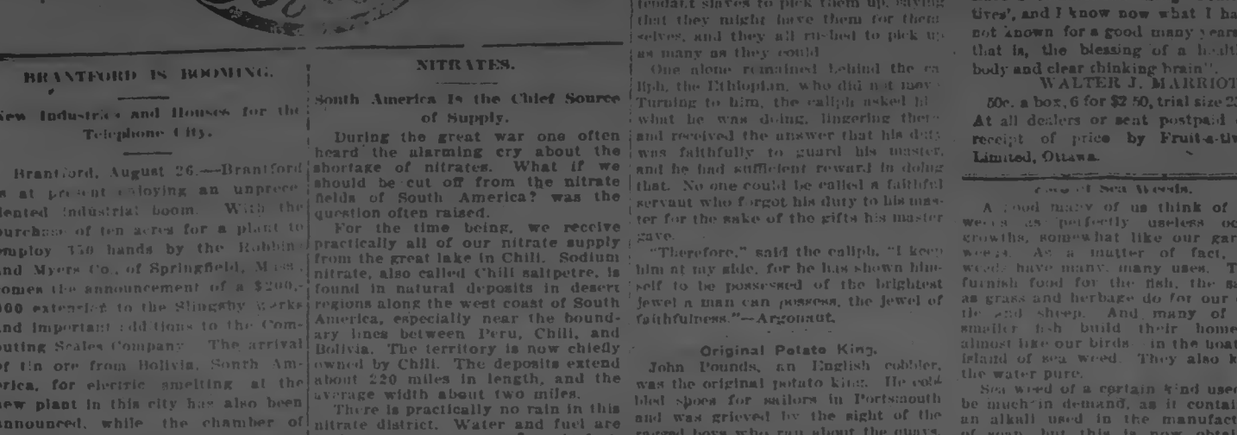
Children's Aid Society

—of—

Peterborough City and County
FOR THE CARE OF NEGLECTED AND ILL-TREATED CHILDREN
G. W. POWELL
Asst. Secretary and Inspector
Office, 388 George St. Phone 1044w
Office Hours: 12 to 2 and 6 to 8 p.m.

Co. and Food Board License No. 8-2288
D. M. MINICOLA
Best Fruit—
Cheap
Best Vegetables—
Reasonable
Best Groceries
At Right Prices
410½ GEORGE STREET
Bell Phone 38b

Canadian Pacific Royal Train



The Canadian Pacific Royal Train Carrying the Prince of Wales Through Canada

The Prince of Wales will travel in Lord Shaughnessy's private car "Killarney", which the Chairman of the C. P. R. has placed at the Prince's disposal.

In addition to the "Killarney" the train is to have a second private car, the "Cromarty", belonging to Commander J. K. L. Ross. The "Cromarty" is finished in satinwood and fitted with every comfort imaginable. The remainder of the train consists of the compartment car "Empire", the dining car "Canada", two sleeping cars the "Carnarvon" and the "Chester", and the car "Chinook", with two baggage cars at the head of the train.

The engine and several of the cars, notably the "Chinook", the compartment and baggage cars, have been completed for the occasion, but are specially interesting in that they are the first of a new series that have been adopted for the entire C. P. R. System, and are equipped with everything that is modern in railway carriage building. After this journey these cars will be drafted into the regular service.

During his visit to Canada the Prince of Wales will live on the train for about two months, making the "Killarney" his headquarters throughout the trip. The train is accordingly equipped with modern devices and conveniences, thus enabling the Prince and his suite to enjoy as nearly as possible the comforts of a stationary dwelling. Nothing has been overlooked from the handle set at the royal bedside to regulate the temperature of the stateroom, which is a standard appliance in Canadian Pacific equipment, to the telephone that brings him in touch with all parts of the train.

In order to distinguish it from all other cars on the line, the "Killarney" will bear the coat of arms of the Prince of Wales, having beneath it the inscription "Ich dien". The car is entered by means of a small observation platform at the rear, small yet large enough to accommodate several arm chairs from which the royal party will view the wonders of the Rockies or the fascinating wheat fields of the prairies. The first compartment is also devoted to observation, a compact little room fitted with a lounge, easy chairs, a table and electric fans. On rainy days or in cold weather the passing scenery may be viewed more pleasantly through the large windows on either side, than from the platform outside. A speed recorder adds interest to the constant enticement of the journey, while an air pressure gauge indicates the application of the brakes by the engineer.

Next to the observation compartment comes a section devoted to the Prince's secretary, after which one reaches the bedroom to be occupied by His Royal Highness in person. A rich simplicity characterizes this compartment, which is finished in white mahogany inlaid with a fine line of ebony outlining the panels. Built into the walls across the end is the bedstead, finished with little ornamentation in the white mahogany of the room. Over the bed may be pulled a roller curtain to protect the occupant from the dust and draughts of the ventilators in the ceiling. The door is a full length mirror and an oval glass is set above the dressing table. The fittings of the dressing table and toilet are brass in harmony with the woodwork and a large receptacle is screwed into the wall to hold a thermos bottle for hot or cold drinks during the night. Next to the royal bedroom is a second stateroom, with two berths similar to the first assigned to the secretary. Then in a niche in the wall is a shower bath of white tiles and porcelain.

The central portion of the car is devoted to the dining room which is tastefully decorated in royal blue. Beneath the little extension table is a heavy pile carpet of blue, with six chairs upholstered in tapestry to match. The curtains and even the drawers of the sideboard carry out the color scheme, for the silver table service reposes between divisions of blue tapestry velvet. Between the sideboard and the window is a secretaire with pens and paper ready for many social notes that will be imposed upon the Prince and his secretary. Above it is a miniature bookcase, just large enough for a few delightful volumes specially furnished, and all by Canadian authors.

With steel walls finished in imitation mahogany, a kitchenette, pantry, icebox, service counter, charcoal heater and chef's bedroom, have been fitted into limited space beyond the dining room.

The compartment car "Empire" is reminiscent of an English coach, for the seats are partitioned off and joined only by the narrow corridor that runs down the length of the car. At each end is a commodious drawingroom with a sofa in addition to the upper and lower berths. The color scheme of the compartment car is grey and green, the grey of the marbleized wall finish contrasting happily with the green of the heavy frisette plush upholstery. In each room is to be found an individual heating control.

The members of the Prince's immediate suite will occupy the "Killarney" and dine with him in the exclusive dining room laid for six. Six more can be accommodated in the "Cromarty", but a special car will be provided for the remainder of the party. The main diner is a pleasant place where tables for four and tables for two are placed in the windows down each side of the car. The rich brown tones of the Cuban mahogany walls and ceilings combined with the green hangings and accentuated with inlaid lines of satinwood harmonize beautifully. The diner will accommodate thirty persons at a sitting.

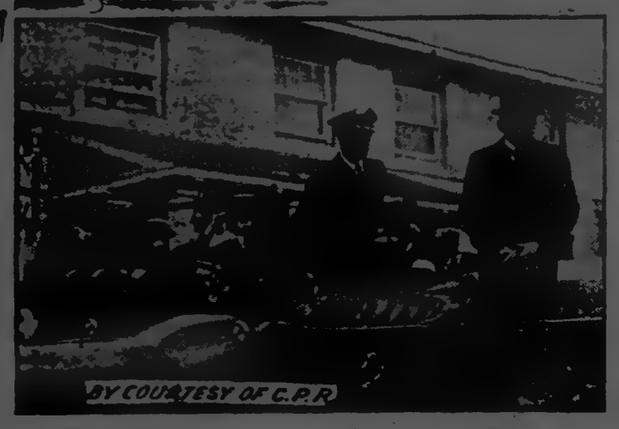
The three remaining sleepers present only one feature of exceptional interest to the travelling public well acquainted with the details of the C. P. R. sleeping cars. Tucked away in a corner is a dispensary as shipshape as the doctor's office on a ship. A special chair has been arranged for the patient if such there be, and the showpiece of the little office is a patent light fixture with which the physician can examine the throat.

In one of the baggage cars the darkroom and workroom of the official photographer have been arranged. There are shower baths and sleeping compartments in the baggage cars too, and cold storage compartments where the choicest viands and supplies. An auxiliary [illegible] also installed here, to provide electric light throughout the train if it is stationary for any length of time.

Victory Bonds Bought

Those who may desire to sell Victory Bonds should come to my office or communicate with me. I buy Victory or War Bonds of all maturities, in any amount, and I am prepared to pay the best price.

W. H. Taylor, 397½ George St. Peterboro, Ont.



The Prince's Reception at Charlottetown, P.E.I.

TAUGHT NEGROES

(Continued from Page One.)

ered arms and rushed into six automobiles and started for the lake through 31st street.

Proteges of Administration.

"They did not arm themselves to protect their homes or their property, but they seized the opportunity for rioting by rushing to the locality where there was a quarrel between young boys of both races. Through the subsequent days of the rioting these men actively participated in shooting whites on sight and emptying their guns into the windows of houses which they passed. It was these proteges of the city administration who first organized for the purpose of rioting and who invaded the white district. They had no business or other excusable errand for the trip they took into the 'black belt' on Sunday and Monday. What followed later is well known. Bands of white rowdies invade colored neighborhoods and gangs of black hoodlums sought to invade the neighboring white districts."

MORE BASEBALL ARRANGED

Buffalo Team Engagement Cancelled —Port Hope and Belleville Coming.

The baseball game with the Buffalo Prospects has been cancelled, owing to the fact that it has been discovered that they are a semi-professional team.

The Petes will go to Belleville tomorrow for an exhibition game, and will play a return game in Belleville on Saturday, Sept. 6th.

Arrangements have been made between the Trades Council, Manager Solomon of the Petes, and the management of the Port Hope baseball team to bring these two teams together in a double header on Labor Day, in connection with the Labor demonstration. There will be a game in the morning, to be called at 10 o'clock, and the afternoon contest is billed for 3 o'clock. The Port Hope management have promised to send up their strongest team for this event, and both games are sure to be keenly contested. A handsome silver cup is being put up for competition, which will give an added interest to both games. Manager Solomon says his best team will be on duty for both games, and as these two teams have broken even on the season, there should be a battle royal. These will be the last holiday games for this summer, and it is anticipated that the fans will turn out in large numbers on Labor Day.

WILL WAIT FOR ELECTION.

London, Aug. 26.—The rumor to the effect that former Premier Asquith would early seek a return to Parliament is generally scouted today. The general opinion is that he will not attempt to return till the next general election.

Frank A. Munsey, publisher of the New York Sun, bought the Sun building from the New York Life Insurance Co. Annual rentals from the building are $300,000.

ADVANCING ALONG ENTIRE LINE

(Canadian Press Despatch)

London, Aug. 26.—The war office announced this evening that on the western front of Gen. Denekins, the anti-bolshevik leader in Southern Russia, the advance is continuing with great rapidity along the entire line.

SEND GRAIN NOW

Quebec Aug 26 Owing to the destruction of the grain elevator at Port Colborne, the Quebec Board of Trade has communicated with Hon. J. D. Reid, Minister of Railways and Canals, pointing out the opportunity of shipping from Quebec the grain that went through Port Colborne. Quebec has two large grain elevators that are practically idle and empty, and looks to get some of the grain shipped overseas.

LADY GOLFERS IN BIG TOURNAMENT

MISS MELVIN JONES, CHICAGO CARRIERS OFF HONORS.

Detroit, Mich Aug. 26.—Mrs Melvin Jones, former city champion of Chicago, carried off low score honors in the qualifying round of the Women's Western Golf Association's tournament, at the Detroit Golf Club today, making the 18 holes in 89. Mrs. H. Arnold Jackson, also of Chicago, twice former national champion, was second with 91.

The first six positions went to Chicago players and 19 of the 32 who qualified for the championship event are from that city. Except for the three or four lowest scores, the cards were much higher than usual, because of a strong wind which swept the links all day, and the exacting trapping of the course.

With few exceptions, all of the favorites qualified for the championship match play, the first round of which will be played tomorrow among the upsets was the failure of Miss Lucille Dessenburg of Kalamazoo, Mich., champion, to win a place in the championship flight.

Miss Dorothy Klotz, Chicago champion, and Mrs. F. C. Letts, inn., also of Chicago, twice winner of the western, qualified with higher scores than usual.

THE DOG STAR

Five thousand years before the Christian era, the Egyptian peasant, as he watched each year for the happening of the great miracle, the rising of the Nile, noticed that its precious water began to trickle over his parched land just at the time that a certain glorious star appeared above the horizon. And so inevitably did the rising of the Nile follow upon the rising of the star that, to the peasant, the star's faithfulness could only be compared to the faithfulness of his dog, and thus Sirius came to be called the dog star.—Christian Science Monitor.

THE HISTORY OF FIUME

CITIZENS HOLD FAST TO THEIR ITALIAN BIRTHRIGHT.

City Which Almost Caused a Split Among the Allies at the Peace Conference Has Known Many Rulers. But Persecution Could Never Kill Its National Inclinations.

NOW that the flurry of international policy and internal politics over Fiume has begun to subside it is worth while to review the fascinating story of that ancient port. Some settlement was there in Roman times. Early in 1914, while a couple of houses were being torn down, there came to light some Roman masonry, hidden under the wreckage of a great fire, which the local antiquaries at once suspected to be the burning of Fiume by the Venetians in 1509. Coins of Valentinian and other fourth century Roman emperors were found in the debris, and in another spot still others were picked up going back to the end of the Roman Republic.

Whether this Roman town was the Tharractica, which the geographer Ptolemy sets at the mouth of the river, or the Phanas, which the seventh century cosmographer of Ravenna says was "near Tharsactica, at the point where the Julian Alps come down to the sea and form the last bound of Italy," has been long debated. At any rate, there was a thriving little town here before Venice had risen from her lagoons. The Franks, who drove the Venetians out to found their new city at Rialto, destroyed Tharsactica in 800—Charlemagne's vengeance on the inhabitants for their murder of Henry of Friuul; and the name of Fiume appears, in its Latin form—"Terra quae dicitur Flumen," or "Terra Flumen," or "Terra Fluminis Sancti Viti"—for the River of St. Vitus gave its name to the town, which has preserved the Italian form.

When the Slav wave of about 650 flowed over all this region, there began the struggle between the Latin-Italian and Serbo-Croat languages, which has lasted ever since. Probably nowhere else does the local Italian dialect contain so many Slav words, or the speech of the Slav peasants show so large an Italian vocabulary. Elsewhere on the eastern Adriatic shore, Venice was dominant, and the constant presence of Venetian functionaries kept the dialect of Rialto itself both fashionable and necessary; but Fiume and Venice were always hostile. In 1291 Venice declared war on Fiume and notified all Venetian traders to leave the city; in 1309, in 1509 and in 1511 Fiume was sacked by the Venetians, who never held it, however, but the one year 1508-09.

Latin remained the language of the municipality till well into Renaissance times; the communal code was not translated into Italian until 1520, although we have an official price list of fish in Italian from 1475. From then on, it is a constant fight to maintain Italian, but that is so closely interwoven with the political vicissitudes of Fiume that we must examine them first.

In the feudal period the city was subject to the bishops of Pola and the lords of Duino, beyond Trieste; a century later than Trieste it was handed over to the House of Austria, and in 1522 was definitely assigned to the Province of Carniola; but even then it maintained an almost complete autonomy, and was soon erected into a tiny independent state. Charles VI sent a special invitation to Fiume to ratify the Pragmatic Sanction. That, however, availed them nothing. Maria Theresa, in her gratitude to her Hungarian supporters against Prussia, made them a present of Fiume in 1776. The original edict lumped Fiume with Croatia; the Town Council protested, and in 1779 the Empress issued a rescript annexing Fiume to Hungary as an independent unit—"separatum sacrae regni coronae annexum corpus."

This precious document was Fiume's Bill of Rights against the annexationist tendencies of the Croats, who looked longingly at the city and its harbor from across the little stream which still forms the boundary. In 1848 their efforts were crowned with temporary success. Kossuth's Hungarian revolution had been stifled by Hapsburg troops, ably seconded by the famous Ban of Croatia, Jellachich, who came to the rescue of despotism with his Croatian legions. On August 31 his subordinate, Joseph Bunjevats, occupied Fiume with Croatian soldiers, after promising to respect the municipal institutions and the use of Italian. But the Croats were hardly established when they began a Slavising campaign. In vain the Town Council appealed to Francis Joseph against the supplanting of Italian in the schools by Croatian. The editor of the Gazetta di Fiume had to go to prison in 1862 for a year for his defence of the rights of Italian. Nevertheless the citizens kept up their use of their native tongue, and feeling ran so high that when Bishop Strossmayer, the great protagonist of Serbo-Croat literary unity, entered the city once at the head of a procession he was met with showers of stones. The citizens likewise refused to take advantage of the offer of representation in the Croatian Diet at Agram. At the first election, out of a list of 1,222 qualified voters 870 cast their ballots, but 840 of these were marked "Neassuno"—"Nobody." Finally, in 1877, a legal election took place; 135 voters designated Deputies for Fiume, but every ballot added the words: "To protest against any annexation to Croatia or any dependence upon her."

Under these circumstances the Italians of Fiume looked to distant Budapest for salvation; better remote Hungary than Croatia next door! But Hungarian domination proved Ignorance is bliss until it begins to associate with egotism.

Strange Legends of White Races

THERE has for some centuries existed in the minds of many civilized peoples a curious fascination with reference to the idea that in remote parts of the tropics amid the dark skinned races there flourish mysteriously isolated white tribes bearing a strong resemblance to the civilized branches of the Caucasian race.

The early adventurers in Central and South America brought home many tales of extraordinary cities beyond the mountains, and vague stories afloat in South Africa some 45 years ago furnished Rider Haggard with a theme for one of his novels. Legends like these are met in almost all the less explored regions of the world, and they have always certain features in common. The isolated white people almost invariably inhabit a mountainous region in a vague interior, always "just beyond"; they hold aloof from the surrounding races; they are seldom seen, and yet are definitely stated to be more civilized and better educated than the darker masses whom they avoid.

Who they are and whence they came no one knows; native fables afford no explanation. Once it was thought that forgotten white explorers might have built up unknown kingdoms in the wild places of the earth, but upon examination these theories vanish as rapidly as do the white tribes themselves, and the ultimate explanation is almost prosaic. Yet so strong a hold has the idea gained that even in the beginning of the twentieth century the possibility of the existence of genuine white races is not altogether scoffed at. Less than 14 years ago an American officer engaged in the operations against the Moros in the Philippines collected apparently substantial evidence relating to a mysterious white tribe in the island of Mindanao. The mountainous district in the centre of this island has never been explored and even the coast is not well known.

But along the seaboard many stories are told of the fierce white people who have their home in the forest clad mountains of the interior. Eye witnesses depose to having seen a strange fair complexioned girl, who fled toward the hills as soon as she was addressed. Other men and women of a light complexioned race are said to have been seen by more venturesome natives who were bold enough to approach the wild mountain district. The American officer was so impressed that he determined to conduct an exploring expedition across the centre of the island. But apparently the mysterious white folk had vanished, for the world has as yet heard nothing of his search being crowned with success.

Arabia, however, can with more reason boast of a white tribe. For years stories of such a race have been told in the Persian Gulf, and an American missionary stationed at Muscat alluded some years ago to "coffee house babble in Eastern Oman concerning a mysterious race of light complexioned people who live somewhere in the mountains, shun strangers and speak a language all their own." Various theories have been propounded to explain the fable, but probably the explanation is to be found in the narrative of a journey made to Oman in 1876 by Col. S. B. Miles, a British officer. Col. Miles in the course of his travels came across a town named Sherairi, in the heart of the Green Mountains. This strange place was perched like an eagle's nest on the top of a great cliff, and was inhabited by people of lighter skin than the rest of the tribes in the interior. They rarely descended to the plains and refused to mix with or inter-marry with the Arabs. Col. Miles found they were descendants of a portion of the Persian army that invaded Oman in the fifth century. The isolation of the town and the curious behavior of its people gave rise to exaggerated stories in the bazaars on the distant coast, and in this case the origin of the fable may be regarded as fairly certain.

Unfortunately for the romance of the world, it seems practically impossible for stories of this character to have the origin novelists would wish. The world is comparatively small to-day. The trail of the explorer is over every land from Paraguay to Tibet. Forbidden lands are entered, hidden cities exist only in the imagination of the fiction writer. In a period when trains run to Bokhara and the great African lakes; when the tourist appears at Khartoum, and Lhassa itself is entered, there is no room for a mysterious white race. Even the dark continent is no longer allowed to have its mysteries. The photographer sits on the battered walls of Kano; the Fulani emperors have passed away.

One may no longer believe in the existence of a strange white people in Africa. Rider Haggard's splendid race is probably only the Brima, originally discovered by Speke in Southwestern Uganda. At least Sir Harry Johnston claims to have discovered in them the clue to many of the mysterious white race legends found in the dark continent. He was engaged in nothing more thrilling than a tour of inspection of Ankole when he came across them. They are of a very light complexion and are the aristocrats of this region. Sir Harry holds that they are obviously descendants from a Gala, Somali or other Hamitic stock, and adds that some of them are more like Egyptians than is the case with Galas and Somalis. Romance disappears before the tread of the explorer. The dark continent is dark no more.

The Siamese, like the Chinese, wear their finger nails very long. The women sometimes have them tipped with silver.

Love of man for himself never grows less.

Presentation of Medals at Halifax

"GOING UP" THE SUBJECT OF CAPT. RIDDIFORD'S TALK

Very Inspiring Address to Y.P.B.U. Last Night at Park St. Baptist.

Another rousing and inspiring address was given by Capt. (Rev.) W. C. Riddiford at the Park Street Y.P.B.U. last evening.

Capt. Riddiford chose as his topic, "Going Up". He said we should take our all and lay it on the alter of consecration until it finally goes up to the atmosphere of God above.

He here went on to say how the topic was presented to him. While in Paris waiting for an elevator he heard the elevator girl call out "going up, going down." The thought immediately occurred to him that it required little energy to go down but to go up called for real strength. One must either rise to a life worth while or fall to one that is not—there is no half-way work.

Pluck of Sailors.

Referring to the noble ways British sailors put the final death-blow to ruthless submarine warfare at Zeebrug, he said he was proud to belong to the British Empire, because its flag, the "good Old Union Jack," always points upward.

The speaker here went on to give a very clean, vivid description of an aeroplane ride comparing it to the upward rise in Christian life. The head mechanic stands in front of the machine and twirl the perpellor. It calls out "contact," but until the answer "contact" comes from the pilot, the machine is not ready to rise and until the heart and soul comes in close contact with the loving spirit of Jesus Christ it can not rise to a high spiritual place. The speaker emphasized the fact that it was well worth while coming in contact with Christ and to commence "going up."

As the aeroplane ascended higher and higher, though a cloud band and back through the cloud, one could see colors in the skies, but did not know whether one were going or coming. Then the instructions came through the speaking tube from the experienced pilot and one became self-composed. The lesson thus taught is that we should give the control of our lives to the experienced and all-wise pilot, Jesus Christ. As we pass through the clouds of life do not falter, but give the control to the Saviour and he will lift, keep and save. After a quarter of a century with Jesus in control, the speaker declares he is never afraid. If we don't rise after coming in contact with Him, it is because we do not give him control.

While an aeroplane is in flight the observer's duty is to look upward and the pilot's duty to look downward. It is our duty to look steadfastly upward and let the Supreme Pilot watch downward.

Confidence in Pilot.

In describing his flights in the air the speaker stated it was his custom to confide great confidence in his pilot, so great in fact that he allowed him to loop-the-loop. The same experience applies to our journey through life. If we have confidence in our Pilot, Christ, He can accomplish great things through us.

In the speaker's opinion, most of those who go astray do so because of lack of confidence, which is the root danger to be avoided.

Most people size up a character by its practical results. He here gave a beautiful and true illustration of real practical Christianity. In one military hospital, in which he was serving, there was in one corner of A ward, a Roman Catholic. In the opposite corner lay a Jew. The officials of the hospital were worried as the Jew went by because the Roman Catholic instead of recovering as he should was gradually wasting away. Finally the truth was brought to light. The Jew, in his delirium each night, would call "Mother, mother," repeatedly. The big, noble Catholic each night would walk across that ward and stroke the delerious Jew's head repeating, "Mother is here," until the delerium had passed. Thus this noble man's life was being self-sacrificed to bring comfort to his unfortunate comrade. That is true practical Christianity.

Proud of Empire.

The speaker is proud the British Empire is lead by a king, who, when a boy, came in contact with Jesus Christ, and has ever since, in the face of sneers and jests, allowed his Saviour to control his destiny in perfect confidence, until he now stands at the head of the greatest nation in the world, and keeps it in close contact with God, his Father.

ASKS WEST AUSTRIA'S RETURN

Vienna Government Demands of Allies Restoration of Region

Paris, Aug. 25.—The vice-minister of foreign affairs at Vienna, according to advices from the Austrian capital today, has handed the French commissioner in that city a communication saying that West Austria must be restored to the Austrian government.

ST. THOMAS LABORERS STRIKE

Sewer Gang Want More Pay and Shorter Hours.

St. Thomas, Aug. 26.—The employes of the St. Thomas Board of Works went out on strike Saturday morning. The men are dissatisfied over their wages. The sewer gang are receiving 45 cents an hour and a ten-hour day. They are receiving 40 cents an hour and a ten-hour day. The other employes are receiving 41 cents on a ten-hour day. They are asking for a nine-hour day with time and a half for overtime at 48 cents an hour. Dr. Curtis, chairman of the committee in charge of the Board of Works, will call a special meeting Monday to consider the demands of the men. The walk-out stops all work on the repairing of Talbot Street, which was being rushed through during the fine weather.

CHILDREN'S DAY AT EXHIBITION

ALL PREVIOUS RECORDS BROKEN — EDUCATIONAL AUTHORITIES PRESENT.

(Canadian Press Despatch)

Toronto, Aug. 26—This was Children's Day, at the Canadian National Exhibition, and although the skies were cloudy there was another big attendance at the big show opened yesterday by the Prince of Wales. So far this year every day of the exhibition has been a record day.

Educational Notables.

The principal guests of the exhibition today are education authorities from various parts of Canada.

U.S. SENATE ADOPTS TREATY AMENDMENTS

ELIMINATE AMERICAN CO-OPERATION IN EUROPEAN RECONSTRUCTION.

(Canadian Press Despatch)

Washington, Aug. 26 In quick succession the Senate Foreign Relations Committee adopted today a series of amendments to the peace treaty, eliminating the United States as one of the powers represented on an international commission created to supervise the reconstruction in Europe.

The vote on successive amendments was 9 to 2, committee dividing on party lines.

NEW POSITION FOR MR. ROWELL

Will Be Head of Federal Department of Public Health.

Ottawa, Aug. 25. Hon. N. W. Rowell, the Minister who will be in charge of the new Federal Department of Public Health for which provision was made in a bill passed by Parliament at the last session, stated to-day that good progress is being made in connection with the organization of the new department. The first step in connection with the bringing of the department into the various departments up to the present time under the control of various Ministers as provided for by the Act.

NO INDICATION AS YEY OF AIR RACE WINNERS

Toronto, Aug. 26—Contestants in the aerial derby race between New York and Toronto for ten thousand dollars in prizes, commenced to arrive on their return trip this afternoon.

At the same time New York reports contestants from this end arriving there.

At the present there is no indication of a final winner of the contest. The weather is threatening with blustery winds.

Presentation of Medals to Parents at Halifax, by the Prince of Wales.

715th Bargain Annex Event

Bargain Annex Registered

Wednesday, August 27th, 1919

FOR OUR CUSTOMERS
You will find an iced cooled drinking fountain in the Annex for the use and comfort of our patrons.

59c ART CHINTZ LAUNDRY BAGS 39c
This is a particularly good Annex value. They are a new line and are made of handsome floral chintz, some are dark and others are medium colors. Our every day price is 59c. Annex price, each 39c

An INVESTMENT BARGAIN ANNEX EVENT

Annex buying as an investment pays big interest. We are just in the midst of our buying for the spring of 1920 and prices on all lines are considerably higher. It will be profitable for you to purchase now and keep the merchandise until such a time that you will require it—even for six months. Half the values we offer To-morrow are at lower prices than we can buy the same lines for To-day. Make your Annex buying a big interest paying investment.

CLEARANCE PRICES ON SIX COTTON WASH SUITS, $3.95

There are only six of these natty Cotton Suits to sell on Wednesday in the Annex. They are made of good quality gabardine and repp. They can be had in either white or colors. Made to sell at from $10 to $15. For a sharp, quick clearance .. $3.95
See Window.

LEADER.

Girl's $1.45 Striped Print Dresses, 89c

You have a choice of dark blue and white and light blue and white stripes. The style is unusually attractive with white repp belt, collar and cuffs; also two useful pockets. There is every size for a child from 6 to 14 years, and were made to sell at $1.45. Annex Leader 89c

HALF PRICE SALE TO CLEAR

LADIES' and MISSES' $1.19 MIDDIES 59c

Every garment is a $1.19 value and has sold as such. At this exceptional price you are not paying for the material. They have white and pink striped collars. Your opportunity on Wednesday at the Investment Annex 59c

30c QUALITY CANADIAN PRINTS 19c Yard

They are mostly light grounds with striped or figured patterns; 29/30 inches wide. This line has been one of our rapid sellers all season in the Annex. The price is, truly, exceptional. For the Investment Annex Event, yard 19c

LEADER.

Full Size Suit Cases, $1.59

They are full sized cases, made of fibre, and have lock and strong leather handles. The inside is fit-reinforced corners, double brass fasteners, safety ted with straps, and the length is 24 inches. For an Investment Annex Leader the price will be $1.59

TWENTY-FIVE CASES OF WAVERLY 10c TOILET PAPER 10 Rolls for 59c

This is a just arrived shipment of our "Waverly" Toilet Paper. They are large size rolls of the finest quality crepe tissue. This is an Investment Annex Bargain of exceptional value. Investment Annex price (No 'phone orders) ..... 10 Rolls for 59c

FLANNELETTES, NAINSOOK AND BLANKETS

LEADER.

1,000 Yards of Yard Wide Flannelette, 29c yard

These are Flannelettes that we purchased and carried in stock for over one year. They are splendid qualities in stripes and plain white; 35/36 inches wide. If we bought to-day the lowest price possible would be 38c yard. Worth buying your cold weather supply to-morrow 29c
Annex price, yard .....

LEADER.

2,000 Yards of Nainsook "Mill Ends" 19c yard

This is a case lot of over two thousand yards fine quality Nainsook "mill ends," in lengths from one to six yards, and the widths are from 35 to 36 inches. If bought from the regular stock the prices would run from 30c to 40c a yard. Sold by the end only. As a big Investment Annex Leader, yard 19c

$4.50 FLANNELETTE BLANKETS $3.49

This is an extra quality blanket and the size is extra large. You have a choice of white, fawn and grey, with stripes and border of contrasting colors. Our every day price is $4.50. You save a dollar on every pair you buy. Annex price, pair ... $3.49

INVEST IN ANY OF THESE LINES, IT WILL PAY YOU BIG INTEREST

Children's 75c Tub Rompers 49c	30c and 35c Checked and Striped Ginghams Yard 24c
Girls' and Boys' 35c Black and White Ribbed Hose 23c	200 Feather Filled Pillows, pair $1.59
Ladies' 35c Cashmerette Hose ..... 2 Pairs 49c	Ladies' Summer Knit Drawers 43c
Best Quality 25c White Cotton, yard 17½c	Ladies' $1.00 Bungalow Aprons 89c
Special 25c Factory Cotton, yard 19c	Gold and P. & G. Naptha Soap ..... 6 for 49c

INVESTMENT PRICES ON DRESS GOODS AND SILKS

LEADER.

New Fall Shipment—800 yards 85c Crepe De Chines, 59c yard

There is a range of beautiful colors in this new shipment. They are a full yard wide and are especially suited to afternoon wear. Here is the shade card for to-morrow: navy blue, black, stone grey, mauve, shell pink, white, old rose, sand, maize, reseda green, myrtle green, pale blue, and tobac brown. Every day on the main floor we sell this line for 85c a yard. Leader price, yard 59c

LEADER.

500 yards of Special 50c and 59c Fall Dress Goods, 33c yard

This is a splendid saving on dress goods. The regular prices were 50c and 59c. They are suitable for separate skirts and are excellent for girls' dresses. The selection includes green and brown serge, fancy grey plaids and shepherd checks in black and white. Annex Leader, yard 33c

SIX HUNDRED YARDS RAW SILK 29c YARD

It is in the natural color and has the usual good washing and wearing qualities that accompany silk of this sort. It can be put to splendid use for ladies' wear and men's shirts and pyjamas. For the Investment Annex Event the price will be, yard ... 29c

THREE HUNDRED YARDS OF JAPANESE WASH SILKS TO CLEAR 19c YARD

This price is away less than what we pay the manufacturer. They are 20 inches wide, and the colors are black, cardinal, brown, steel grey, light grey, and deep cream. This is a remarkably low rush sale price. Investment Annex Event, yard 19c

FIVE HUNDRED PAIRS OF SHOES FOR THE ANNEX INVESTMENT SALE

Invest in one or more pair of these sale Shoes to-morrow. There is a varied selection, including ladies' high and low shoes, in black and tan, and tennis and sports footwear for ladies, boys and children. There are many lines of former seasons in the lot, and in these cases the prices are away less than half. Divided into four lots for Rush Annex Selling in the Investment Annex Event:

LOT 1—Mostly Sports Footwear, per pair 95c
LOT 2—High and Low Shoes, white and blacks. Per pair $1.95
LOT 3—White and Black Boots and Black Low Shoes. Per pair $2.95
LOT 4—Odd Lines of High Grade Footwear. Per pair $3.95

LEADER.

20 dozen Ladies' 69c Black Silk Boot Hose, 34c pair Two pair 65c

This is less than half price for this clearing lot of Ladies' Black Silk Boot Hose. They have eleven inches of silk boot and fine lisle heel and toe. They are knit to form without seams, and early buyers will find sizes 9, 9½ and 10. Regular 69c value. Investment Annex Event ... 34c
2 Pairs for 65c, or, per pair .....

The CRESSMAN Company Limited

SCOUTS MAKING READY FOR REVIEW

FOUR HUNDRED GIRL GUIDES WILL ALSO TAKE PART.

Toronto, Aug. 26.—Two thousand five hundred Boy Scouts divided into 83 patrols will take part in the inspection by the Prince at the Exhibition grounds on Wednesday afternoon. The first of the one thousand Scouts "trekking" in from out-of-town have arrived and others are steadily pouring in to report at headquarters. In full uniform with knapsack on shoulders, bronzed and straight, they look ready for anything and are eagerly looking forward to the day of the review.

A corps from Peterborough is expected tomorrow morning.

Besides the Boy Scouts, 400 Girl Guides and 250 Boys of the Naval Brigade will also be inspected by the Prince on Wednesday.

BOARD OF TRADE TO PROBE PRICES

WILL INAUGURATE PRACTICAL INVESTIGATION BY CENTRAL COMMITTEE.

London, Aug. 26.—The Board of Trade in explaining the profiteering law indicates that there will be a critical investigation by a central committee into the cost and profits of producton and distribution of foods, also a local investigation of a committee subject to appeal to a tribunal into complaints of the general public concerning prices charged and profits made in the railway distribution of goods. Local authorities have the option of establishing a local committee. All committees and tribunals established under the act will advise not to take ction which will hamper or restrict legitimate commercial enterprise.

It is deplorable that a girl can get her first kiss but once.

EDITOR'S MAIL

MR. JOPLING DENIES

Editor Review: In last night's Review appeared the statement that the butchers had held a meeting and on account of one butcher not reaching an agreement with the others, he would sell lower than the other butchers and this mean a fall of prices in meat.

I wish to say on behalf of the firm of J. P. Jopling & Sons, of which I am manager, that I have never attended or known of any meeting of the butchers of this city to arrange prices, agree on prices or for any other purpose.

There is no agreement and never has been any agreement with my firm and any other butcher or butchers respecting the prices of meat or any of the commodities we sell.

The statement in last night's Review is absolutely untrue and has no foundation, and I wish to say that the prices of the goods sold by J. G. Jopling & Sons are based only upon the cost by the wholesalers to us.

I am writing this letter on behalf of my firm, to correct the impression that was created by the statement in last night's Review.

Yours truly.
F. W. JOPLING.
Peterborough, Aug. 26, 1919.

BUTCHERS DENY REPORT

Editor Review: As a butcher of many years standing in this city, I wish to emphatically deny the statement contained in last night's Review, that a meeting of the butchers had been held, and that there was a disagreement of some of them and meat prices would now probably fall:

No such meeting was held and there is no agreement, arrangement or understanding of any kind among the butchers regarding the fixing of prices or selling cost. There has not been a meeting of the butchers for any purpose, within the last six years and the cost of meat in the city compares favorably with the same costs in any other city when you consider how this part of the province has been stripped of live stock in the last three or four years.

The butchers are receiving just a living wage above the high cost of wholesale meats.

As the express rates will be very shortly increased within a short time, this is something which the consumer will be required to meet on meats which are expressed to the city.

Whoever is responsible for the circulation of the rumor contained in last night's Review, stated what was incorrect and what never existed, namely, any arrangement between the butchers fixing the prices of meat.

Yours truly.
J. W. EDWARDS,
321 George St. City.

The information published in The Review yesterday from a dealer, who wished the announcement made.—Ed. Review.

MR. GRADY, TOO.

Editor Review: A statement appears in the Daily Review of the 25th of August, that one of the local butchers has launched a trade war with his competitors, and will reduce his prices and that this action was decided upon at a meeting of the dealers last week when the retailer refused to remain with the others in keeping up the present scale of prices.

May we beg that you will give us a little space in your valuable journal upon the subject. It is absolutely untrue that any meeting of the dealers took place at any time there has not been a meeting of the local butchers for six years past, the present scale of prices is not kept up by any combination of the members of the trade or any of them, the prices of meats are based upon the price we have to pay for the cattle we are all in competition with each other and the prices charged fluctuate with our own expenses and have nothing to do with any common agreement.

We want to say that we think it very unfair that rumors of this kind should be circulated through a powerful medium like the public press for the purpose of boosting the trade of a particular dealer who, to secure a personal temporary advantage chooses to cut prices below what is commercially safe and a reduction of five cents a pound on all grades of meat would at the present high cost of cattle mean bankruptcy to a greater part of the trade.

Thanking you sir.
JAMES GRADY.
Peterborough, August 26, 1919.

Two men were killed and five seriously hurt at Aberdeen, Md., proving grounds when a box of experimental shells exploded.

U. S. Congress enacted a special law to provide an extra war risk insurance payment of $100 a month for Henry Bitter, Dubuque, Ia., the only American soldier in the war who lost both eyes and hands.

BIG EATERS GET KIDNEY TROUBLE

Take Salts at First Sign of Bladder Irritation or Backache

The American men and women must guard constantly against Kidney trouble, because we eat too much and all our food is rich. Our blood is filled with uric acid which the kidneys strive to filter out, they weaken from overwork, become sluggish; the eliminative tissues clog and the result is kidney trouble, bladder weakness and a general decline in health.

When your kidneys feel like lumps of lead; your back hurts or the urine is cloudy, full of sediment or you are obliged to seek relief two or three times during the night; if you suffer with sick headache or dizzy, nervous spells, acid stomach, or you have rheumatism when the weather is bad, get from your pharmacist about four ounces of Jad Salts; take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days and your kidneys will then act fine. This famous salts is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for generations to flush and stimulate clogged kidneys; to neutralize the acids in the urine so it no longer is a source of irritation, thus ending bladder disorders.

Jad Salts is inexpensive; cannot injure, makes a delightful effervescent lithia-water beverage, and belongs in every home, because nobody can make a mistake by having a good kidney flushing at any time.

LEAVING FOR CHINA

Miss Greta M. Clark Will Engage in Mission Work in China.

Miss Greta M. Clark, graduate of the Anglican Deaconess Home, Toronto, paid her farewell visit Monday to her sister, Mrs. Ernie Oke, East City, before leaving for foreign fields.

Miss Clark will be stationed at Kaifung Honan, China, and sails from Victoria, B.C., on the "Katoi Main" on the 2nd of September. She leaves a host of friends and many lonely hearts here, who are very proud of their soldier for Christ.

SAILOR DROWNED

J. O. McBain's Body Recovered From River St. Lawrence

Quebec, Aug. 26.—Reported missing from the steamer Norfolk Range in Quebec Harbor last Saturday, Aug. 16th, J. O. McBain of Liverpool, was thought to have deserted his ship, and police were keeping a close lookout for him, when his decomposed body was recovered fro mthe St. Lawrence River late Friday evening.

McBain had engaged as a steward on board the Norfolk Range and was bound to serve until April 1920. When fished out of the river, he had only a few pennies on him, and an ear of corn partly eaten.

Coroner Jolicoeur held an inquest and the jury rendered a verdict of accidental drowning. The body will be interred at Quebec.

NEW COMET NEAR EARTH

Discovery by Minister on Vacation Announced by Harvard.

Cambridge Mass., Aug. 26.—Discovery of a new comet by the Rev. Joel H. Metcalf of Winchester while on a vacation at South Hero, Vt., was announced today by the Harvard observatory. It is visible through a small telescope in the eastern sky during the early evening and is moving rapidly northward indicating that it is fairly close to the earth.

THE MARKETS

Toronto, Aug. 26.—Receipts at the Union Stock Yards today: 843 cattle, 177 calves, 591 hogs, 723 sheep. The market for cattle was steady, trade fairly active, with best demand for choice butchers. The strength of the Buffalo market in calves was reflected here. Sheep, lambs and hogs were steady.

Choice export	$13.50	$14.50
Choiceb utchers	12.25	13.50
Medium	9.00	10.00
Common	8.00	9.00
Bulls	9.00	9.50
Feeders	10.00	11.00
Choice stockers	8.00	9.00
Light stockers	7.00	8.00
Ewes	8.00	9.00
Lambs	15.75	16.25
Hogs, f.a.w.	21.25	21.25
Hogs, f.o.b.	20.00	25.00
Calves	21.00	22.50

PETERBOROUGH MARKETS

Dressed Pork, lb	.30	.35
Choice Mutton, lb	.20	.22
Spring lamb, lb	.32	.38
Beef (carcase), lb.	.18	.23
Veal (carcase), lb	.20	.26
Potatoes, pk.	.70	.70
Chickens, lb	.35	.38
Eggs, doz.	.50	.50
Butter, lb.	.60	.60
Raspberries	.27	.30
Green Corn, doz.	.25	.25
Green onions, bunch	.5	.
Lettuce, bunch	5	.5
Radish, bunch	.5	.5

TOWNSHIP OF SMITH

Parents having children attending the Public Schools of the Township must have the same vaccinated at once. Trustees are requested to co-operate with the Board in having this order strictly enforced. By order of Board of Health.

J. W. KELLY,
Secretary.

WHEN THEY BREAK YOU MISS THEM

If repairs are a long time delayed, you miss them worse. At Dr. Fowler's modern quick repair department broken glasses are very quickly made as good as new, and you don't have to wait even a day or half a day. If the necessity is urgent you get your glasses back while you wait within the hour. You'll appreciate the convenience when you try it.

EYESIGHT SPECIALIST A. A. FOWLER DOCTOR OF OPTICS
Phm. B. Toronto University.
HAS FITTED 30,000 SATISFIED WEARERS OF PEBLO GLASSES
Most Up-to-date Sanitary Optical Parlors. With Nugent Drug Co.

Piano Tuning
Phone 585
The GREENE MUSIC Co.

THEATRICAL

THE DAUGHTER OF A POOR FISHERMAN

A GREAT FILM REPLETE WITH TENSE SITUATIONS AT GRAND.

Miss Carmel Myers appears at the Grand this week in her latest success entitled, "A Society Sensation," being a film adaptation of the famous novel, "The Borrowed Duchess." The story is of the daughter of a poor fisherman who imagined he was the direct descendant of a line of English nobility. A would-be society queen undertakes to launch the daughter on her social career and takes her from the fishing village to the city. Here she meets the son of the real leader of the social set and they fall in love. The mother of the girl appears on the scene though and after the explanations, which had to follow, the daughter is sent back home. A shyster lawyer had encouraged her father in borrowing funds from all his old cronies for the alleged purpose of tracing his claim to the estate in England, but after he got the money he was finished with the case. The girl returns home to find her parents in more straitened circumstances and their creditors howling for their money. Her lover appears though and they are just about to be married when the old lady who had been the girl's patron comes bustling into the picture with the announcement that everything is all right and that the girl is the real duchess after all.

The Girl Who Dreamed.

"Day Dreams," in which Miss Madge Kennedy plays the leading role, is a very pretty little story of a girl who dreamed of the fair white knight who would come for her in his golden galleon and take her to his castle across the sea. A hard-headed business man is in love with her but she does not reciprocate the feeling and in order to win her affections he determines to play her day dream for her and purposes engaging another man to play the role of the white knight. So well does his plan work out that the girl and the make-believe knight fall violently in love with each other and after several adventures everything works out right for them to the discomfiture of the business man. A well-trained goose plays a prominent part in the picture and follows the little star around like a dog.

Fatty Arbuckle.

A Fatty Arbuckle comedy picture, which is very amusing, and the Screen Magazine complete a most entertaining program which will be repeated today and tomorrow with matinees both days.

THE OUTLAW IS A FILM WORTH WHILE

DON'T MISS IT AT THE GRAND THURSDAY, FRIDAY AND SATURDAY.

Metro Pictures Corporation presents "The Outlaw" (five acts) at the Grand Thursday, Friday and Saturday. The cast is:

Andrew Craig — FRANCIS X. BUSHMAN.

Ruth Heatherly — BEVERLY BAYNE.

Mrs. Heatherly—Helen Dunbar.

Rufus Sanborn, the blacksmith—Samuel Framer.

Wu Sing—Charles A. Ling.

Edith—Belle Bruce.

Percy Smallwood—Valentine Mott.

Lonesome Lizzie—Emily Chichester.

Andrew Craig is a young lawyer who has just won his first case. His sweetheart, Edith, has promised to marry him. He tells his mother about his coming happines, but she does not share his enthusiasm. She pleads so tearfully for him to postpone his marriage that he consents to do so. Mrs. Craig is stricken with illness. Andrew, who has always been intensely religious, prays that his mother's life may be spared to him, but she fades away. He turns to Edith for solace, but she, believing that he no longer loves her, becomes engaged to another man. Convinced that the hand of God is against him, Andrew swears never again to step foot inside a church.

Leaving his law practise, he goes to a distant rural community and in course of time becomes sheriff. The townspeople look askance at him, because he is not a church-goer. Little by little the girlish charm of sweet Ruth Heatherly creeps into his heart, until love of her becomes the ruling passion of his life. Her mother frowns on the suit, but the good old priest, Father Morrissey, encourages him. The two are great friends, despite the difference in their beliefs. Father Morrissey advises Andrew to dress up a little in order to "win the lady's favor." Poor Andrew, far from the haunts of civilization, invests in some "store clothes" that only make him look funny. He goes out to conquer, accompanied by the faithful Chinaman, Wu Sing. The others laugh, but Ruth's tender heart is touched. She knows the sincerity behind his simple efforts.

A stranger, young Percy Smallwood comes to town. From the first Ruth Heatherly gives him every encouragement, and Andrew is led to believe that Ruth cares for him. A drunken man is robbed, and Percy is falsely accused of the deed. He runs away, and takes refuge in the Heatherly home, where Andrew as sheriff is obliged to follow him. Ruth, believing in the boy's innocence, pleads with Andrew to let him escape, finally promising that she will marry him if he will only give Percy a chance for his freedom. He consents, and later when the boy comes to Andrew's cottage, to give himself up, the sheriff hides him from his pursuers.

But the deputy and his posse soon discovered the real culprit, and the news is brought to Andrew. At last he tells Ruth he intends to hold her to her promise, but as the conviction grows upon him that she really loves Percy he decides that it would be a cowardly of him to force her into a loveless marriage.

Ruth is arrayed in her wedding gown, ready for the ceremony in the parlor of her humble home when Andrew comes,—but not in the clothes of her bridegroom. He brings Percy with him, and unable to look upon the supposed happiness he has brought about, rushes away to bear his grief alone.

Unconsciously his feet wander toward the little wayside shrine, and here Ruth, dressed in her bridal robe and veil, follows him. He has knelt to ask forgiveness and aid of the God whom he has so long denied when he looks up and sees her. At first he believes that he is beholding a vision, but Ruth quickly convinces him that she is real. "The Outlaw" has been captured by love, both human and divine.

SEVEN DAYS LEAVE AT OPERA HOUSE

FIRST DRAMATIC PRODUCTION OF THE SEASON Sept. 3.

"Seven Days' Leave," which is to crash its noisy way into the Grand Opera House for one night, Wednesday, September 3, owes much of its popularity to the fact that the novelty of hissing and booing the spies and villains has caught the popular fancy wherever it has appeared. In fact there is no small clientale of "repeaters," who see the show a second and third time to enjoy the unique experience.

The outbreak comes at the end of the third act, after the turret guns of a British cruiser have barked and sent a German U-boat to perpetual quiet, leaving the heroine and the female German spy clinging to a bobbing buoy on the choppy waters of the English Channel. When the members of the cast come before the curtain to acknowledge the applause that the strenuous situations inspires, uproars invariably follows the appearance of the spies. The conflicting cheers for the heroes and the heroine and the protecting boos directed against the enemy characters are reminiscent of the more demonstrative days of the theatre of years ago, when the gallery at least, if not the rest of the house, expressed its verdict in noisy fashion. Throughout the career of "Seven Days' Leave" society has adopted the popular demonstration idea as a fad until it has grown to be almost a feature of the show.

Street car men on strike in East St. Louis and 16 other towns will reduce their demands from 85 to 65 cents an hour.

Since the U. S. Government assumed control of railroads, merchandise thefts from freight cars total $70,000,000.

SEVEN KEYS

BY EARL DERR BIGGERS

Copyright, 1913, by the Bobbs-Merrill Company

"I mustn't," she replied, shaking her head. "I can trust no one, not even you. I mustn't believe that you can know—it's preposterous. I must go over and over—even be as simply—you pardon me—flirting, trying to learn what he can learn. I must."

"You can't even tell me why you wept in the station?"

"For a simple silly reason. I am afraid. I had taken up a task too big for me by far—taken it up brazenly when I was out in the sunlight at Reuton. But when I saw Upper Asquewan Falls and the dark came and that dingy station swallowed me up something gave way inside me, and I felt I was going to fail. So—I cried. A woman's way."

"If I were only permitted to help you," Mr. Magee pleaded.

"No, I must go forward alone. I can trust no one now. Perhaps things will change. I hope they will."

"Listen," said Mr. Magee. "I am not telling you the truth. Perhaps you read a novel called 'The Lost Limousine.'" He was resolved to claim the authorship, tell her of his real purpose in coming to Baldpate and urge her to confide in him regarding the odd happenings at the inn.

"Yes," said the girl before he could continue, "I did read it. And it hurt me. It was so terribly insincere. The man had talent who wrote it, but he seemed to say: 'It's all a great big joke. I don't believe in these people myself. I've just created them to make them dance for you. Don't be fooled—it's only a novel.' I don't like that sort of thing. I want a writer really to mean all he says from the bottom of his heart."

Mr. Magee bit his lip. His determination to claim the authorship of "The Lost Limousine" was quite gone.

"I want him to make me feel with his people," the girl went on seriously. "And he can't do that if he doesn't feel himself, can he?"

William Hallowell Magee actually hung his head.

"He can't," he confessed softly. "You're quite right. I like you immensely—more than I can say. And even if you feel you can't trust me I want you to know that I'm on your side in whatever happens at Baldpate inn. You have only to ask and I am your ally."

"Thank you," she answered. "I may be very glad to ask. I shall remember." She rose and moved toward the stairs. "We had better disperse now. The rocking chair fiend will get us if we don't watch out." Her small slipper was on the first step of the stair, when they heard a door slammed shut, and the sound of steps on the bare floor of the dining room. Then a husky voice called "Bland."

Mr. Magee felt his hand grasped by a much smaller one, and before he knew it he had been hurried to the shadows of the landing. "The fifth key," whispered a scared little voice in his ear. And then he felt the faint brushing of finger tips across his lips. A mad desire seized him to grasp those fingers and hold them on the lips they had scarcely touched. But the impulse was lost in the thrill of seeing the dining room door thrown open and a great bulk of a man cross the floor of the office and stand beside Bland's chair. At his side was a thin waif who had not unjustly been termed the mayor of Reuton's shadow.

CHAPTER IX.

The Mayor Begins a Vigil.

"ASLEEP," bellowed the big man. "How's this for a watch dog, Lou?"

"Right on the job, ain't he?" sneered the thin one.

Mr. Bland started suddenly from slumber, and looked up into the eyes of the newcomers.

"Hello, Cargan," he said. "Hello, Lou! For the love of heaven, don't shout so! The place is full of them."

"Full of what?" asked the mayor.

"Of spotters, maybe—I don't know what they are. There's an old high brow and a fresh young guy, and two women."

"People," gasped the mayor. "People—here?"

"Sure."

"You're asleep, Bland."

"No, I'm not, Cargan!" cried the haberdasher. "Look around for yourself. The inn's overrun with them."

Cargan leaned weakly against a chair.

"Well, what do you know about that!" he said. "And they kept telling me Baldpate inn was the best place! Say, this is one on Andy Rutter! Why didn't you get it out and beat it?"

"How could I?" Mr. Bland asked. "I haven't got the combination. The safe was left open for me. That was the agreement with Rutter."

"You might have phoned us not to come," remarked Lou, with an uneasy glance around.

Mr. Cargan hit the mantelpiece with his huge fist.

"By heaven, no!" he cried. "I'll rift it from under their very noses. I've done it before. I can do it now. I don't care who they are. They can't touch me. They can't touch Jim Cargan. I ain't afraid."

Mr. Magee, on the landing, whispered into his companion's ear. "I think

"Clear out," he snarled.

I'll go down and greet our guests." He felt her grasp his arm suddenly as though in fear, but he shook off her hand and debonairly descended to the group below.

"Good evening, gentlemen," he said suavely. "Welcome to Baldpate. Please don't attempt to explain. We're fed up on explanations now. You have the fifth key, of course."

The big man advanced threateningly. Mr. Magee saw that his face was very red, his neck very thick, but his mouth a cute little cupid's bow that might well have adorned a dainty baby in the park.

"Who are you?" bellowed the mayor of Reuton in a tone meant to be cowering.

"I forgot," replied Mr. Magee easily. "Bland, who am I today?"

The mayor pointed dramatically to the stair.

"I give you fifteen minutes," he roared, "to pack up and get out. I don't want you here. Understand?"

To Cargan's side came the slinking figure of Lou Max. His face was the withered yellow of an old lemon.

"Clear out," he snarled.

"By no means," replied Magee. "I was here first. Put me out, will you? Well, perhaps, after a fight. But I'd be back in an hour, and with me whatever police Upper Asquewan Falls owns to."

He saw that the opposing force wavered at this.

"I want no trouble, gentlemen," he went on. "Believe me, I shall be happy to have your company to dinner. Your command that I withdraw is ill timed, not to say ill natured and impolite. Let us all forget it."

The mayor of Reuton turned away, and his dog slid into the shadows.

"Have I your promise to stay to dinner?" went on Magee. No answer came from the trio in the dusk. "Silence gives consent," he added gaily.

He ran up the stairs. At the top of the second flight he met the girl, and her eyes, he thought, shone in the dark.

"Oh, I'm so glad," she whispered.

"Glad of what?" asked Magee.

"That you are not on their side," she answered.

Mr. Magee paused at the door of No. 7.

"I should say not," he remarked. "Whatever it's all about I should say not. Put on your prettiest gown, my lady. I've invited the mayor to dinner."

* * * * * * *

One summer evening in dim dead days gone by an inexperienced head waiter at Baldpate inn had attempted to seat Mrs. J. Sanderson Clark of Pittsburgh at the same table with the unassuming Smiths of Tiffin, O. The remarks of Mrs. Clark, who was at the time busily engaged in trying to found a first family, lingered long in the memory of those who heard them. So long, in fact, that Miss Norton, standing with Mr. Magee in the hotel office awaiting the signal from Peters that dinner was ready, could repeat them almost verbatim. Mr. Magee cast a humorous look about.

"Lucky the manners and customs of the summer folks aren't carried over into the winter," he said. "Imagine a Mrs. Clark asked to sit at table with the mayor of Reuton and his picturesque but somewhat soiled friend, Mr. Max. I hope the dinner is a huge success."

The girl laughed.

"The natural nervousness of a host," she remarked. "Don't worry. The hermit and his inn won't fail you."

Together they strolled to a window. The snow had begun to fall again, and the lights of the little hamlet below showed but dimly through the white blur.

"I want you to know," said the girl, "that I trust you now. And when the time comes, as it will soon—tonight—I am going to ask you to help me."

She stopped and looked very seriously into Mr. Magee's face.

"I'm mighty glad," he answered in a low tone. "From the moment I saw you weeping in the station I've wanted to be of help to you. The station agent advised me not to interfere. He said to become involved with a weeping woman meant trouble. The fool. As though any trouble—"

"He was right," put in the girl; "it probably will mean trouble."

"As though any storm," finished Mr. Magee, "would not be worth the rainbow of your smile at the end."

"A very fancy figure," laughed she. "But storms aren't nice."

"There are a few of us," replied Magee, "who can be merry through the worst of them because of the rainbow to come."

For answer she flattened her finely modeled nose into shapelessness against the cold pane.

What Mr. Magee flippantly termed his dinner party was seated at last, and there began a meal destined to linger long in the memories of those who partook of it. Puzzled beyond words, the host took stock of his guests. Opposite him, at the foot of the table, he could see the lined tired face of Mrs. Norton, dazed, uncomprehending, a little frightened. At his right the great red acreage of Cargan's face held defiance and some amusement; beside it sneered the cruel face of Max; beyond that Mr. Bland's countenance told a story of worry and impotent anger. And on Mr. Magee's left sat the professor, bearded, spectacled, calm, seemingly undisturbed by this queer flurry of events, beside the fair girl of the station, who trusted Magee at last. In the first few moments of silence Mr. Magee compared her delicate features with the coarse, knowing face of the woman at the table's foot and inwardly answered "No."

Without the genial complement of talk the dinner began. Mr. Peters appeared with another variety of his canned soup, whereupon the silence was broken by the gastronomic endeavors of Mr. Max and the mayor. Mr. Magee was reflecting that conversation must be encouraged, when Cargan suddenly spoke.

"I hope I ain't putting you folks out none," he remarked, with obvious sarcasm. "It ain't my habit to drop in unexpected like this. But business"—

"We're delighted, I'm sure," said Mr. Magee politely.

"I suppose you want to know why I'm here," the mayor went on. "Well"—he hesitated—"it's like this"—

"Dear Mr. Cargan," Magee broke in, "spare us, I pray, and spare yourself. We have had explanations until we are weary. We have decided to drop them altogether and just to take it for granted that, in the words of the song, we're here because we're here."

"All right," replied Cargan, evidently relieved. "That suits me. I'm tired explaining anyhow. There's a bunch of reformers rose up lately in Reuton. Maybe you've heard about 'em. A lovely bunch. A white necktie and a half portion of brains apiece. They say they're going to do for me at the next election."

Mr. Max laughed harshly from the vicinity of his soup.

"They wrote the first joke book, them people," he said.

"Well," went on Cargan, "there ain't nobody so insignificant and piffling that people won't listen to 'em when they attack a man in public life. So I've had to reply to this comic opera bunch, and, as I say, I'm about wore out explaining. I've had to explain that I never stole the town I used to live in in Indiana and that I didn't stick up my father with a knife. It gets monotonous. So I'm much obliged to you for passing the explanations up. We won't bother you long, me and Lou. I got a little business here, and then we'll mosey along. We'll clear out about 9 o'clock."

"No," protested Magee. "So soon? We must make it pleasant for you while you stay. I always hate hosts who talk about their servants. I have a friend who bores me to death because he has a Jap butler he believes was at Mukden. But I think I am justified in calling your attention to ours, Mr. Peters, the hermit of Baldpate mountain. Cooking is merely his avocation. He is writing a book."

"That guy?" remarked Cargan, incredulous.

"What do you know about that?" asked Mr. Bland. "It certainly will get a lot of hot advertising if it ever appears. It's meant to prove that all the trouble in the world has been caused by woman."

The mayor considered.

"He's off—he's nutty, that fellow," he announced. "It ain't women that cause all of the trouble."

(To Be Continued.)

Every 10c Packet of WILSON'S FLY PADS WILL KILL MORE FLIES THAN $8.00 WORTH OF ANY STICKY FLY CATCHER

Clean to handle. Sold by all Druggists, Grocers and General Stores

Railway Time Tables

C. P. R. TIMETABLE
Effective May 4th, 1919.

GOING EAST

*8.20 p.m.—Indian River, Norwood, Havelock and Tweed.

11.52 p.m.—Norwood, Havelock, Kingston, Smiths Falls, Perth, Montreal, Quebec, St John, N.B., Boston and New York.

*1.30 a.m.—Havelock, Tweed, Kingston, Perth, Smiths Falls and Ottawa.

11.59 a.m.—Norwood, Havelock, Bonarlaw, Tweed, Perth, Smiths Falls, Ottawa, Montreal and intermediate points.

*11.59 a.m.—Norwood and Havelock.

GOING WEST

*4.53 a.m.—Toronto, Owen Sound, Guelph, Goderich, Hamilton, Buffalo, New York, Galt, Woodstock, St. Thomas, London, Chatham, Detroit and Chicago.

6.21 a.m.—Myrtle and North Toronto.

7.35 a.m.—Toronto, Hamilton, Buffalo, Rochester, Boston, New York and intermediate points between Peterborough and Toronto.

9.35 a.m.—Lindsay, Orillia, Port McNicoll and intermediate points.

3.20—Toronto, Hamilton, Brantford, Buffalo, New York, Galt, Guelph, Woodstock, London, Windsor, Detroit and Chicago and intermediate points between Peterborough and Toronto.

8.60 p.m.—North Toronto, Lindsay and intermediate points.

*3.20 p.m.—Toronto and intermediate points.

*Daily.
Daily except Sunday.
Daily except Saturday.
*Sunday only.

GRAND TRUNK RAILWAY SYSTEM TIMETABLE.

No. 96—8:10 a.m., for Toronto, via Port Hope, also points on Main Line east.

No. 93—8:20 a.m., for Lindsay, Blackwater Jct., Orillia, Midland, North Bay and Toronto.

No. 98—8:25 a.m., for Hastings, Campbellford, Belleville and points on Main Line East.

No. 369—8:30 a.m., for Lakefield.

No. 92—12:04 p.m. for Lindsay, Port Hope, Toronto, Buffalo, making connections with International Limited for London, Detroit and Chicago.

No. 371—12:15 p.m. for Lakefield.

No. 100—2:00 p.m. for Hastings, Campbellford and Belleville.

No. 95—5:40 p.m. for Lindsay, Orillia, Midland, North Bay and Toronto.

No. 373—5:40 p.m. for Lakefield.

No. 99—8:31 p.m. for Lindsay.

No. 94—9:19 p.m. for Port Hope, Montreal and Boston.

Order Your Coal From LOW & Co.

We have all sizes in stock
EGG, STOVE, NUT AND PEA
The best and cheapest coal in town. Perfectly screened and promptly delivered. Bring your orders in now.
Prices advance every month
LOW & COMPANY
162 Simcoe Street Phone 697 House 396

Lackawana Coal Means Economy
Burns freely and is of Best Anthracite.
Trucking Orders Promptly Filled
Peterboro Fuel & Transfer Co.
162 CHARLOTTE ST.
PHONES 270-362

MIXED WOOD
$7.00 Per Cord
HARD WOOD
$10.00 Per Cord
Cutting and Splitting extra.
ORDER NOW
FROM
J. E. A. FITZGERALD
Phone 111

LUMBER
Builders' Materials of all kinds—Shingles, Scantlings, Joist and Bill Stuff, Mouldings, Castings, Base and all kinds of Finish, Doors and Box Shooks; Slabs and Mill Wood
Alf. McDonald Estate

Toronto Savings and Loan COMPANY
Peterborough
Head Office: 485-487 George Street
Paid-Up Capital . . $1,000,000.00
Reserve Fund $1,100,000.00

SAVINGS DEPARTMENT — Deposits received of One Dollar and upwards. Interest paid quarterly, accrues from date of deposit to date of withdrawal.

Every facility and convenience is afforded to depositors.

INVESTMENT DEPARTMENT — Debentures issued for sums of $100 & upwards for periods of one to five years, upon which special rates of interest are paid, depending upon the term of investment.

Executors and trustees are authorized by law to invest in the Debentures of this institution.

Money to loan at lowest current rates of interest.

W. G. MORROW,
Managing Director.

The Steamer Naiad
ON AND AFTER MAY 5th 1919
The Steamer Naiad will run as follows:—
Leave Lakefield daily on arrival of noon G.T.R. Train for Stony Lake Points connecting at Mt. Julian with the Apsley Stage

PITTSTON COAL
IS THE BEST
ALL SIZES IN STOCK
Also best lines of SOFT COAL at Lowest Prices
McCARTHY & JOHNSTON
COAL DEALERS
111 Hunter Street, East City
Phone 98 TERMS CASH

HARD COAL
EGG, STOVE,
NUT, PEA
H. B. TAYLOR & SON
160 AYLMER ST.
Phone 209

COAL
...AND...
Builders' Supplies
Hardwood Flooring
Robt. Hicks & Co.
LIMITED

GRAND To-day, and Wed.

TWO GREAT STARS—IN TWO BIG PICTURES

MADGE KENNEDY
The Screen's wonder Girl, in
"DAY DREAMS"
THE SWEETEST STORY EVER TOLD

Carmel Myers
IN
"A SOCIETY SENSATION"

All Local Pictures taken here last week will be given away free Wednesday Evening after the Show at the Box Office PLEASE REMEMBER YOUR NUMBER

CAN DICK ATKINS MAKE 122 POUNDS?

AND BE STRONG ENOUGH TO DO HIMSELF JUSTICE IN BOUT.

Toronto, Aug. 26.—Speculation is rife as to whether Fighting Dick Atkins can make 122 pounds ringside and be strong enough to do himself justice in his bout tonight with Bantam Champion "Bobby" Ebor at the Arena. "Jimmy" Goldrich, who has beaten Atkins, lost to Ebor on account of the Lackawanna boy weakening himself to make the weight. There are many who think that Atkins will experience more difficulty in making 122 than did Jimmy. Dick claims he can make the weight and be strong, and he should know. All the same old ring men think he should forfeit the fifty dollars and go in at catch weights.

Sullivan is Confident.

Writing from Buffalo, Jack Twin Sullivan says he is confident he can beat Canada's heavyweight champion, Soldier Jones, of Toronto. Say the famous Twin: "I may be much older than Jones, but I have forgotten what he still has to learn about boxing, and there is still enough in my old frame to withstand his rushes. Although I will admit that the soldier is one of the likeliest heavies I have met in the past ten years. With more experience he promises to develop into a real contender to Dempsey's crown." Manager "Darkey" Daniels stated that he felt certain Jones could lick the Buffalonian and that the bout would not go the full distance.

Good Preliminaries.

Both Jack McCracken and "Scotty" Lisner are supremely confident that they will win tonight, so that a rousing battle should result. These well known feathers have met on six previous occasions, and the honors even. Tonight's battle is the "rubber, and the fur will fly. Young Ketchell has demonstrated his superiority on one occasion over the battling Irish Kennedy, and if the latter loses in this return bout he will have no excuse. Irish, however, is determined to show that Ketchell's victory was a fluke. They should provide a great bout. Young Joyce will try all he knows to beat Kid Herman and should the former win this bout he will be given another in Hamilton next week. The card all round is a strong one, and should attract a record crowd.

EARLY FOOTBALL START

Queen's University Team Start Practice Sept. 15th.

Kingston, Aug. 26.—Queen's University football players are not likely to start practice until the 15th of September. "Mike" Freda, who played middle wing for Queen's in 1913 and 1914, is expected back. Jack Evans, catcher for the Kingston baseball team, is to enter as a freshman, and he will be tried at quarter-back. Jack Williams, who is to coach, is looking after a number of promising players, and the expectations are that Queen's will have a strong senior team to face McGill and University of Toronto.

WILL NOT ENTER O. R. F. U.

Brantford, Aug. 26.—The Old Boys of the local Collegiate Institute are organizing a football teams to be composed of former members of the Interscholastic League teams from this city, and will not play in the O. R. F. U.

NEW REMEDY FOR WORKERS' UNREST

ENGLISH CORRESPONDENT SUGGESTS SPORTS AND GAMES AS NATURAL PREVENTIVE.

London, Aug. 25.—There is no doubt about it—lawn-tennis is today the first of all summer games. What is more, is popularity will forge ahead year after year with immense strides.

Properly directed, this growing keenness among all classes for the game could become one of the greatest national assets. Lawn-tennis got a grip upon the middle classes, and because of its intrinsic merits has spread its tentacles in both directions. Royalty has been captivated by the elusive fascination of stroke production, and the masses throughout the country are taking to the game with tremendous ardour.

It is in the latter sense that lawn-tennis can be made a priceless asset. As we remarked in this journal the other day the new generation is everywhere laying down courts, and every little piece of open space in a city is a potential lawn-tennis court. Because of this modest demand upon ground space it is the ideal game for the town-dweller.

But everywhere the demand exceeds the supply. It is the spirit which creates this demand that gives us hope for the future. In all the large centres of population today the spirit of industrial unrest is abroad. This unrest is largely a question of pent-up energy seeking an outlet. Sport and games are the natural remedy and preventitive.

Here is a question that should be taken in hand by the national Exchequer. Playing-fields should be multiplied everywhere.

BREAKS SWIMMING RECORD

George Vernot Covered 100 Yards in 60 4-5 Seconds.

Montreal, Aug. 26.—One Canadian swimming record was broken at the forty-fourth annual races of the Montreal Swimming Club at St. Helen's Island, when George Vernot covered the 100 yards in 60 45 seconds, nearly two seconds better than the time made by Frank McGill, at Halifax, some time ago, which was 1.02 2-5. Vernot was expected to establish a new mark for the distance, and to avoid all possibility of doubt, a hundred-yard line was brought to the island and stretch over the club's course. Vernot also was the winners of the 440 yards and the 100 yards on back.

At Ottawa, Frank McGill won the Gordon Johnstone Memorial Trophy and lowered the Canadian record for 100 yards to 62 seconds.

NO CHANCE OF CUP GAMES

Vancouver, B.C., Aug. 26. — Local hockey fans do not see much chance for a play-off next season of last year's uncompleted Stanley Cup series between East and West. It is pointed out that the Seattle artificial ice rink does not open until late in December, that games after that date would conflict with the regular schedules, and the expense of the trip is an important consideration.

Great majority of girls and young women hired during the war to operate elevators in New York apartment houses and office buildings have been replaced by men.

DRAW FOR M'KONE BOWLING TROPHY

FIRST ROUND TO BE COMPLETED NOT LATER THAN AUG. 30.

Following is the draw for the McKone Lawn Bowling Trophy. Fifteen ends in each contest:

First Round.
Scratch.

T. C. Elliott vs. Dr. Allen.
W. J. Oke vs. J. C. Read.
W. Dayman vs. T. E. Pratt.
G. F. Cairns vs. J. W. Mayneord.
E. O. Taylor vs. Dr. Hammond.
J. P. Cunningham vs. H. McCuskey.
J. A. McKone vs. D. H. Moore.
E. L. Bowes vs. J. H. Sedgwick.
E. Walton vs. R. Elliott.
T. Brightman vs. J. E. A. Fitzgerald.
R. M. Waddell—Bye.

Handicap (4 Points).

Herb Hair vs. R. Grant.
J. F. Convery vs. M. A. Turner.

Handicap (6 Points).

Bert Everett vs. Dr. Craig.
V. Elliott vs. A. Gillman.
P. Barclay vs. J. H. Blanchard.
C. McLean—Bye.

First round to be completed not later than Saturday, 30th inst. Games not played by that date will go by default.

CHRIS. WOOD HIGH GUN IN CLUB SHOOT

HIT TWENTY-FOUR BIRDS OUT OF TWENTY-FIVE—LIGHT BAFFLING.

The Peterborough Gun Club held their weekly shoot on Friday evening last when the match between Chris. Wood and Mr. Curvin was decided, Mr. Wood winning by one bird.

In the club shoot Mr. Wood was high gun with twenty-four out of twenty-five, which was an excellent performance in the difficult light of the evening.

The club expects to pay a visit to Lakefield during the week and members will be notified as to the date. Port Hope expects to put on a shoot during September and it is expected a number of gunners from this town will attends

The Scores.

	Shot At.	Hit.
Dr. McClennard	50	35
C. Wood	38	35
T. Curvin	38	30
W. Belleghen	25	20
C. Mills	25	18
J. J. Symes	25	22
C. Moncur	25	12
W. Jopling	25	11

Oilcloth as a Cure.

Pretty soon after the new arrival in one of New York's big hotels had been assigned to his room he telephoned down to the office for two strips of oilcloth.

"Another one," said the clerk after assuring the guest that the oilcloth would be sent up immediately. "He is a somnambulist, I suppose. We keep strips of oilcloth in reserve for fellows like him. They spread it on the floor at either side of the bed. Stepping on cold oilcloth when he gets out of bed is pretty likely to awaken the most confirmed sleepwalker and prevent nocturnal wandering."

Mackerel For Nerves.

Mackerel is an even better food for the nervous than cod and some other kinds of fish, because it contains a larger percentage of the fat which the nervous system requires. The food value of mackerel is: Water, 73.4 per cent; protein, 18.3 per cent; fat, 7.1 per cent; ash, 1.2 per cent.—Chicago Journal.

Some Purchase!

Freddie—My pa is awful rich. I guess he's rich enough to buy all Brookline. Bobby—My pa's a lot richer'n that. I heard him tell ma this morning he was going to buy New York, New Haven and Hartford.—Boston Transcript.

Cruel.

Jack—That horse knows as much as I do. Belle—Well, don't tell anybody. You may want to sell him some day.—Philadelphia Bulletin.

worse than Slav; the Magyars used even severer methods of denationalization in Fiume than did the Austrians in Trieste. In 1880 there were only 739 Hungarians in Fiume; the official census of 1910 made them 6,000 in number (15,000 Croats, Slovenes, Slovaks, etc.; 27,000 Italian residents of Fiume, 4,000 Italian subjects of Italy, 2,000 Germans, etc.); but that was not the worst. The Budapest authorities manipulated the voting lists after the most approved Hapsburg fashion. The 700 employes of the Hungarian State Railways and the 400 Government officials and clerks were all given the ballot, and against them the rest of the towns-people 44,000— had only 1,200 votes! Their terrorism of the local Italians reminds one of the Austrian excesses in Lombardy. If one applauded the chorus of "Ernani," with its "Siamo tutti una sola famila (We Italians are all a single family"); if one wore a daisy in his buttonhole, if one's hat were the broad-brimmed Calabrian style, if one read a Rome paper—the police notified him that he was under suspicion of disloyalty. An excursion of young Fiumans was organized to Dante's tomb at Ravenna; on their return they were accused of treason. Teachers of Italian language and literature in the local high schools were notified that their diplomas would be cancelled if they did not go up to Budapest and pass creditable examinations in Hungarian language and literature; Hungarian was substituted for Italian in the high schools and naval academy; the authorities even hired a criminal to explode a couple of bombs in the Governor's palace so that they could accuse the Italians of doing it—thus taking a leaf out of the Austrian Foreign Office book, as revealed by the Friedjung trial of 1909.

But still deeper than the Croatian or Hungarian dunker was the German menace. Germany had for years been considering Trieste as her natural port to the south, but as it became clearer that Trieste would some day be Italian, she turned her attention to Fiume. It is a little-known fact that Fiume is three miles nearer Vienna than is Trieste, and her harbor has great possibilities. Fiume is therefore, the closest outlet not only to Hungary but also to German Austria and Germany itself. Berlin has no need to act directly; Budapest could be counted on to support German imperialism, and so could the Croats, who have been the staunchest supporters of the Hapsburgs, even during the war.

So Fiume was marked out as Germany's eventual prize, under Croatian sovereignty if necessary, when the war broke. At once the Hungarian Government put into effect the severest measures—arrest and deportation—and openly boasted that by the close of the war Fiume would not have a single Italian left, but would be purely Magyar and Croat. It is quite likely that they did succeed in making the population prevailingly Croatian, though the Italian Town Council still holds control.

It remains to be seen further whether Fiume will not inevitably decline owing to the development of Trieste and the Jugo-Slav ports and the discontinuance of the low freight rates given by the Hungarian State Railways to encourage export through Fiume; even so, it was cheaper before the war to ship Hungarian grain down the Danube and out by the Black Sea, or up the Danube, or even by the State Railways into Germany than by Fiume. Who can foretell what economic changes will not be brought about by the new grouping in southeastern Europe? What wonder that the citizens of Fiume, who have held fast to their Italian birthright all these centuries, are now reasserting their own independence as against their oppressors of the past, the Croats and the Hungarians, and see their only comfort in the Italy to which Mazzini declared that they belong?

Kaiser Joke on the Hun.

A droll story comes from the Berlin newspapers. In the last session of the Workmen's Council at Rathenow, in Mark Brandenburg, one of the members drew attention to the way in which the farmers had been fleeced by a man who gave himself out to be a special messenger of the Kaiser, Well dressed and driving a fine car, he appealed to the farmers to send through him parcels of food to their "starving Emperor." In touching words he described the short commons on which the Dutch, no doubt at the instigation of the Entente, kept his woebegone and hungry master. "The Kaiser begged his Mark Brandenburgers to send him a little food." The trick always worked, and the car drove off loaded with eggs, flour and ham in the direction of Amerongen.

One Was Enough.

"You love my daughter?" said the old man. "Love her!" he exclaimed, passionately. "Why, I would die for her. For one soft glance from those sweet eyes I would hurl myself from yonder cliff and perish — a bruised mass upon the rocks two hundred feet below." The old man shook his head. "I'm something of a liar myself," he said, "and one is enough for a small family like mine."

What Bradstreets Says :---

"Bradstreets" has been looking into the interesting subject of the relation existing between business failures and the advertising world. It has gathered statistics indicating the proportion of failures among business men who advertise, and it has discovered the highly significant fact that 84 per cent. of all failures are among "non-advertisers."

If any proof were needed of the truth of the old axiom that "it pays to advertise," here it is upon the very best authority. It is needless to draw a moral from the tale, because the moral is self-evident. It is worthy of remark, however, that "Bradstreets" speaks with an authority with no selfish motive, not being interested itself in the advertising business. It neither advertises itself in the ordinary sense nor does it deal in advertising in a general sense. It is simply an expert on finance and trade, interested only in discovering the truth relative to the value of advertising.

With only 16 per cent. of our business failures among advertisers and 84 per cent. among those who do not advertise, the average Peterborough business man should not be long in determining his policy.

Largest Airplane Engine.

What is said to be the largest airplane engine in the world has recently been put under its first test at the "Sunbeam" Works at Wolverhampton, England, writes Trade Commissioner H. G. Brock, of London. It is reported to be of 1,000 nominal horsepower, developing about 900 horsepower at normal working speeds. It was not run at full power on the first trial, and is now being dismantled for examination, after which it will be erected for full-power test. The engine has 12 cylinders arranged "V" fashion, and weighs less than two pounds per horse power. Special airplanes are to be built to suit the engine, while it is also probable that it will be fitted to some of the later giant airships. It is stated that the biggest airplane previously made was an Italian production.

The Chair Bag.

A novelty is the chair bag, to be hung over the back of the chair in front of the dressing table, to hold all the accessories of the toilet. The best thing about this bag is, of course, that it may be used even when there is no dressing table, and will therefore convert an ordinary chair with a mirror of some sort before it, into a dressing table. The bag is fitted with little pockets cut according to the size of the particular toilet articles they are to hold.

FALL FAIRS 1919

PETERBOROUGH—Sept. 15-17.
Toronto—Aug. 25-Sept. 6
Ottawa—Sept. 6-15.
Campbellford—Sept. 23-24.
Bancroft—Oct. 2-3.
Belleville—Sept. 1-2.
Brockville—Sept. 16-17.
Burlington—Sept. 11-12.
Cobourg—Aug. 25-28.
Donnybrook—Sept. 26, 27.
Edenburg—Sept. 17-18.
Elmsborne—Sept. 25-26.
Gentreville—Sept. 20.
Gobden—Sept. 25, 26.
Demorestville—Sept. 27.
Delta—Sept. 15-17.
Georgetown—Oct. 2-4.
Frankford—Sept. 18-19.
Harrowsmith—Sept. 18-19.
Keene—Oct. 7-8.
Kingston—Sept. 23-27.
Lakefield—Sept. 23-24.
Lindsay—Sept. 18-20.
Madoc—Oct. 7-8.
Merrickville—Sept. 16, 17.
Marmora—Sept. 30.
Napanee—Sept. 25.
Newmarket—Sept. 29-Oct. 1.
Millbrook—Oct. 2-3.
Norwood—Sept. 9-10.
Orillia—Oct. 14, 15.
Odessa—Oct. 3.
Omemee—Sept. 16-17.
Oshawa—Sept. 8-10.
Orono—Sept. 25, 26.
Picton—Sept. 16-18.
Port Hope—Sept. 23, 24.
Perkins Mills—Sept. 23, 24.
Shannonville—Sept. 13.
Stirling—Sept. 25, 26.
Stella—Sept. 30.
Tweed—Oct. 2, 3.
Wolfe Island—Sept. 17, 18.
Warkworth—Oct. 2, 3.

STORING FOR WINTER

Valuable Hints on Canning Fruits and Vegetables.

Vegetables to Be Stored for Winter In Cellars Must Be Sound and Handled Without Bruising—Green Peas, Beans and Corn May Be Successfully Preserved by Placing In Cans and Heating Three Times.

(Contributed by Ontario Department of Agriculture, Toronto.)

In the storing of roots, tubers, cabbage and celery it is a comparatively simple matter if the materials are sound to begin with. Although the decay-producing bacteria, yeasts and molds are always on these they cannot do any injury until the materials are first damaged in some way as by bruising, heating or freezing. After such injury has been done the decay bacteria and molds are able to feed on the damaged tissue and as a result of this action, decay or rot takes place and gradually spreads until all is spoiled.

Therefore, in storing roots, tubers, cabbage or celery, it is necessary,—

1st To have only sound, healthy specimens.

2nd. To handle with care so as not to bruise or otherwise damage the tissues.

3rd. Store in a cool, well-ventilated place where there will be no danger of either overheating or freezing.

Overheating or freezing will usually kill the living tissue of which the roots are composed, after which they will readily decay as a result of the rapid multiplication of bacteria and molds in the dead tissues.

In the preservation of such vegetables as green peas, beans, asparagus and green corn, different measures are necessary. These are green and juicy and if stored in the fresh condition they will either wilt or ferment and rot. This fermentation and rotting is due to the development in the mass of the bacteria which are present on the vegetables. There will be sufficient moisture present in the mass to enable the bacteria to multiply and feed on the material and thus induce the rot.

So in order to preserve such vegetables in the fresh condition the bacteria present have to be all killed and all other bacteria prevented from getting on the material until it is to be used. To get satisfactory results from canning vegetables it is necessary to have—

1st. Good sound, healthy vegetables.

2nd. Good clean sealers with tight-fitting tops and good rubbers.

3rd. Wash the vegetables and fill into the sealers.

4th. Cover with water salted to taste.

5th. Put on the tops and leave slightly loose.

6th. Place sealers in a steamer or boiler half filled with cold water and heat to the boiling point for half an hour.

7th. Remove sealers from boiler or steamer and tighten down the tops.

8th. After 24 hours loosen the tops and return to the boiler or steamer and give another half hour's boiling.

9th. Repeat this process after another 24 hours. Then tighten down the tops and place away.

In the storing of such fruits as apples and pears, which can be stored without canning, we have to prevent the development of molds and yeasts. These are always present on the surface of the fruit. Bacteria do not damage fruits as they do vegetables or meats on account of the sugar and acid nature of the fruits, which is not satisfactory for bacterial development but is just what is needed for molds and yeasts. But even molds and yeasts will not develop on sound apples and pears that are properly stored. If, however, the fruit is damaged in the picking, handling or packing, then the bruised spots enable the mold spores or yeast cells that are on the surface to germinate and grow and multiply, and when once they get a start they will continue to spread even through the sound healthy tissue and from fruit to fruit until the whole pack may be spoiled.

Therefore in the storing of such fruits as apples and pears it is essential:

1st. To have only sound specimens.

2nd. To pack carefully without bruising.

3rd. To store in a cool, well-ventilated place, where they will be neither overheated or frozen.

Such fruits as strawberries, raspberries, plums, peaches, currants, blueberries, etc., which are soft, cannot be kept any length of time without fermenting or moulding unless they are canned.

These fruits may be cooked in a fruit kettle, sugar added to taste, and filled hot direct from the kettle into sterilized sealers removed direct from scalding water. The covers, rings and rubbers should be put on at once direct from scalding water and screwed down tightly.

Another way to preserve such fruits is by the cold pack method. In this method the fruits are not cooked before putting into the sealer. Sound fruit not overripe should be used. This is picked over and filled directly into clean sealers. Stone fruit should be pitted.

A syrup of sugar and water sweetened to taste is then filled into sealers so as to completely cover the fruit. The tops, rubbers and rings are put on, but not screwed down tightly. The sealers are then placed in a boiler containing cold water and this is brought to a boil and kept boiling for half an hour. The sealers are then removed and the tops screwed down tightly at once. When cooled, store away.—Prof. D. H. Jones, O. A. College, Guelph.

National Victory Celebration

TO BE OPENED BY H.R.H., THE PRINCE OF WALES

EXHIBITION

Aug. 23 TORONTO Sept. 6

British Grenadier Guards Band

War Memorial Paintings
Sensation of the art world, recording every phase of Canadian operations overseas.

WAR TROPHIES
Mammoth assemblage of monster guns, aeroplanes and all the instruments of hellish warfare captured by Canadian soldiers from the Hun.

Canada's Flying Circus
Cols. Barker and Bishop and other world famous aces in surrendered German planes.

WHIPPET TANK CAPTURED U BOAT

Festival of Triumph
The Most Stirring of all Grand Stand Spectacles

SEE The surrender of the German Fleet, Versailles Castle—Victory Arch, Allenby's entry into Jerusalem, and a score of other extraordinary features of THE GREATEST EXHIBITION OF ALL TIMES

REVIEW "WANTS ADS," PAY.

Bringing up Father By George McManus

THE OCEAN MAY BE FINE BUT GIVE ME THE GOOD OLD DAYS IN THE QUARRY POND-
I WISH THE FOLKS WOULD HURRY- CAN THIS BE MY DAUGHTER COMIN'?
GO RIGHT BACK AN TAKE OFF THAT IMMODEST BATHIN SUIT- QUICK- BEFORE YOUR MOTHER SEES YOU-
OH FATHER YOU'RE SO OLD FASHIONED-
I'M SICK!
IS THE WATER COLD?
120

Barrie's
Peterboro.

LADIES' READY-TO-WEAR DEPARTMENT

(The House With Exclusive Styles.)

Watch For Announcement For Fall Goods

BARRIE BUILDING
312 George Street
Phone 340

CHILDREN'S EYES

require more careful watching than those of an adult. If your child complains of his eyes, bring him without delay to

W. H. LACEY,
OPTICAL SPECIALIST
410 GEORGE STREET

GENERAL AND LOCAL NEWS

ANOTHER MOTORIST FINED

Alex. Webber was fined $5 and $3.10 costs in Police Court this morning for driving his motor car without having the back number properly illuminated.

WANTED.

Smart girls, over 17, for day work and piece work. Apply Bonner Worth Mills, Canadian Woollens Limited.

AUCTION SALE

Friday, at Hancock's Auction Room, Furniture of all kinds as usual. Men's and Women's Boots and Shoes. Parties wishing to put articles in sale may do so. Phone 1069w.

ANNUAL PICNIC

The Primary Department of St. John's Sunday School will hold its annual picnic on the church grounds on Friday, the 29th inst., at 3.30.

Dr. E. V. Frederick, member Royal College of Surgeons, England, late Surgeon No. 1, Canadian Stationery Hospital, Salonica, late Surgical Specialist No. 70 Indian Stationary Hospital, Bagdad, late Clinical Assistant Mayo Clinic, Rochester, Minn., has resumed practice corner Charlotte and Rubidge streets, Peterboro— especially consulting practice in surgical and chronic conditions.

Dr. Free, late house physician Toronto General Hospital, assistant in practice with Dr. Frederick and in charge of laboratory work.

BAND CONCERT TONIGHT

The Temple Band will give an up-to-date programme of music at King Edward Park tonight (weather permitting.) As this is the last concert of the season for the South End residents a special programme has been arranged.

SCHOOL OF DRESSMAKING.

Mrs. Brisbois wishes to inform the ladies of Peterborough that she will conduct a Dressmaking Class at her home, 308 Burnham street, beginning September 2nd. Dressmaking classes have been found an absolute commodity in larger cities, whereby women desirous of making their own clothes under proper supervision may learn to cut and make their garments.

Hours: 9 a.m. to 5 p.m

Rates: $1.00 per day, or 25c per hour.

BELL PHONE MEN RESENT CO'S STAND

WORKERS MEET TONIGHT TO CONSIDER REFUSAL TO CONFER ON WAGE QUESTION.

Toronto, Aug. 26.—A mass meeting of the male workers of the Bell Telephone Company will be held tonight to consider the refusal of the company to meet representatives elected by the men in connection with the demands for higher wages and other alterated conditions. According to Mr. James Gunn, business agent of the Electrical Workers' Union, today, the men have been negotiating for a hearing from the company for some time, but they were definitely repulsed when the management of the company was approached by the representatives of the men last Friday.

NEW ALLEN THEATRE ONE OF FINEST IN ONT.

Last Word in Modern Conveniences and Film Bills.

Mr. Rosenthal has arrived to take charge and rush through the construction work of the new Allen Theatre.

This house is being entirely remodelled, and when completed will be one of the finest photo-play houses in any city of it's size in Ontario.

The new theatre will be ready to open the 1st of September. One of the features will be the new ticket machine, which will automatically count, cut and release tickets. This will prevent the usual delay at a box office necessitated by the slow and antique method of tearing off tickets from a roll.

The Allens are snaring no expense to make this theatre worthy of catering to the best people.

TIRES VULCANIZED

Because that tire has a hole through it is no reason why you should throw it away. You may yet get several thousand miles out of it by having a sectional repair made. We Vulcanize Auto Tires and Tubes and guarantee our work. Millard's Bicycle Shop. 225 Hunter street, near Aylmer, phone 234j.

K. OF C. NOTICE.

Special Meeting of the Knights of Columbus to-night at 8:30 o'clock on account of the death of Bro. Guerin.

RETURNED MEN, ATTENTION!

A meeting of all returned soldiers of the city will be held Tuesday evening, August 26th, at 8:30 sharp in the G.W.V.A. Club Rooms for the purpose of forming an Athletic Association. An Executive meeting of the G. W. V. A. will be held at 7:30 the same evening.

AUCTION SALE

Having received instructions from the executors of the estate of the late Edward Green, I will sell by Public Auction, on Wednesday, August 27th, 1919, at 2.30 p.m., a five apartment brick terrace, situated on the east side of Water street, known at Nos. 322 to 332 Water St., Sale at premises. Terms cash.

W. J. HANCOCK,
Auctioneer.

LAST THURSDAY AFTERNOON TO GORE'S LANDING

On Thursday afternoon, Aug 28th, the Steamer Stoney Lake will leave the Geo. St. wharf at 1.30 p. m., calling at Mark St. wharf and St. Ry. wharf for Gore's Landing. Round trip 60c.

STEAMER GENEVA

Will make trip down the river on Wednesday, 27th August, leaving the Peterborough wharf at 9 a. m., and Street Railway wharf at 9.25 a. m.— Returning, leave Harwood 3 o'clock, and Gore's Landing, 3.45. Fare for round trip, 75c.

NOTICE

Steamer Geneva will make trip to Healey Falls on Thursday, August 28th., leaving Peterborough wharf 7.30 a. m. Street Railway wharf at 7.55 returning leave Healey Falls at 3 p. m. Fare round trip 75c.

MARRIED

KERR—PEARSE—At St. John's Church, on Tuesday, 26 of August, 1919, by Rev. Canon Davidson, Lillian, youngest daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Edycumbe Pearse, to Francis Dean Kerr, barrister-at-law, son of the late Senator and Mrs. William Kerr, of Cobourg.

SOCIAL AND PERSONAL

KERR—PEARSE

In the presence of a large number of friends, Miss Lillian Pearse, youngest daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Edgcumb Pearse, was married to Mr. Francis Dean Kerr, son of the late Senator and Mrs. William Kerr of Cobourg. The beautiful ceremony was performed at 1.30 p.m., in St. John's Church, the Rev. Canon Davidson officiating. The edifice was tastefully decorated for the occasion.

The popular and gifted bride looked lovely in her wedding attire which consisted of Duchess satin, chantilly lace with tulle veil caught with orange blossoms. She carried a sheaf of red roses. The bride was given away by her sister Mrs. A. E. Sherwood.

Mrs. Harold Claxton, of Chicago, who acted as matron of honor, wore a black picture hat, white satin gown with touches of black, rare old lace with pearls. She carried a bouquet of pink roses.

Mrs. Sherwood, sister of the bride, wore mauve crepe meteor, with panne velvet hat of the same shade and carried a shower bouquet of mauve asters.

The best man was Mr. William F. Kerr, of Cobourg, brother of the groom. Mr. Wilfrid Huycke and Capt. Theodore Goupjila, the latter of Cobourg, acted as ushers.

The going away suit of the bride was a navy blue tailored serge, with French toque to match and black fox furs.

Mr. and Mrs. Kerr received the congratulation of a host of friends and have the best wishes of all for a long and happy married life.

Among the guests from out of town were William F. Kerr, Misses Helen L. Kerr, and Anabel, and Capt. Theodore Goubilla, of Cobourg; Mr. and Mrs. Charles W. Kerr and Misses Grace and Joyce Kerr, and Messrs J. F. and Ross Kerr, of Toronto; Mrs. Donald Macdonald, her two little sons Garth and D'Arcy, and her daughter, Miss Dorothy Macdonald and Mr. Donald Macdonald of Edmonton.

Mr. Daniel O'Connell and family are in the city on their way to Burleigh Falls for a two weeks' holiday. Mr. O'Connell is an expert fisherman and will no doubt enjoy the splendid fishcession. St. Andrews' Hospital, the

Mr. and Mrs. S. S. Rathwell, of Merrickville, formerly of this city, are the guests of Mr. and Mrs. T. Tinney, Dublin street.

Mr. and Mrs. J. Snyder, of Saskatoon, are visiting with relatives in the city.

Mr. M. Moloney, who has been visiting friends in the city, left yesterday for Spirit River, Alta.

Mrs. W. Breigel and little daughter, of Montreal, are spending a few days with friends in Peterborough.

Mr. and Mrs. H. Carlyle, of Ottawa have returned home after a month's visit with friends in the city.

Mr. and Mrs. J. Miller, city, have been holidaying at Stoney Lake.

Mrs. C. Anderson is visiting with friends at Stoney Lake.

Miss MacFarlane, city, was a guest at Stoney Lake last week.

Mr. and Mrs. H. C. Warring, of Toronto, spent the week-end with friends in the city.

Miss Walsh, of Toronto, is visiting with friends in the city.

Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Hill, of Toronto motored to Peterborough yesterday and spent the day in the city.

Miss J. Bayne of Hamilton, spent the week-end with friends in the city.

Mr. and Mrs. Massey, of Toronto, have returned to their home after visiting with firends in Peterborough.

Mr. and Mrs. Thos. Henry have returned to New York after visiting friends in Peterborough.

Mr. Charles Hirschfelder, Rochester, and Mrs. E. Hirschfelder are visiting Mrs. D. C. King, 494 Gilmour street.

Mr. Morris Rosenthal, the new manager of Allen's Theatre, has arrived from Hamilton to take charge of affairs. Mr. Rosenthal is well known in the moving picture and vaudeville business, and should soon make a host of friends in Peterborough.

Miss Jean Kennedy, Ottawa, is visiting Mrs. T. F. Matthews at her cottage, Chemong Park annex.

Mr. and Mrs. J. Sprague and Miss Gardner of New York City are visiting with Mrs. Sprague's parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Manley, 175 Edinburg street.

Mr. and Mrs. H. West and family of Toronto motored to Peterborough yesterday and spent the day in the city.

Mrs. T. H. Bullied, and son, Harold of Toronto, are visiting Mrs. Bullied's parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Manley, 175 Edinburg street.

Miss Wingham, of Buffalo has returned home after holidaying with friends in Peterborough and vicinity.

Miss Ethel Morrison of Port Hope is visiting Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Manley 175 Edinzurgh Street.

Major C. H. Ackerman is in town today, he having motored from his summer home near Picton.

Miss Laura Kincaid, formerly of The Review staff, and now of the Toronto Times, returned to that city yesterday after a vacation of two weeks spent at Stoney Lake.

Mrs. A. J. Bolwell and sister, Miss Mildred Corrin, returned home last evening after having spent the past week with relatives in Oshawa.

Mr. W. J. Hoopwood has returned to the city from his Chemong Lake cottage and leaves this evening on his Fall trip to Halifax.

Dr. Jennie E. Dodd of New York City is visiting her brother, Mr. W. S. Dodd, C. P. R. agent, 479 Geo. street.

SCOUTS WILL MEET TO-NIGHT AT 7.30

All Scouts from Sam's Own No. 1 and 2 will meet at Trinity parade grounds, corner Charlotte and Reid streets, at 7.30 p.m., tonight, sharp, for inspection and issue of shoulder knots. Full uniforms. By order,

SCOUT MASTER.

ELECTRICITY FOR FISHING

Modern Device Learned by Accident at C.G.E. Power Station.

Fishermen have adopted almost every way of catching fish—angling netting, gaffing etc—but fishing by electricity— a modern invention discovered by accident at the C.G.E. power station last night. A broken wire fell into the water and three large lounge appeared at the surface. One of these was secured, but the other two recovered from the effects of the electric shock and swam away. The one captured weighed 14 to 15 pounds.

MOUNTS EDITORIAL TRIPOD.

Mr. Stewart Hanna, formerly a member of The Review staff, has been appointed editor of the Record-News of Smith's Falls, the semi-weekly that has the field to-itself in that otwn. Knowing Mr. Hanna's ability The Review predicts for him a successful editorial career.

THREE BIRTHS ON SHIP

And Two Mothers Died During Voyage of Carmania.

Halifax, Aug. 26.—Three births occurred during the voyage of the Carmania, which arrived here yesterday with Imperial soldiers and their dependents. In addition two mothers died giving birth to children and there were twelve premature births. The weather throughout the trip, with the exception of one day, was fine, but there was considerable seasickness during the voyage.

LABOR WILL TRY AGAIN.

Has Nominated Candidate to Contest St. Catharines Riding.

St. Catharines, Aug. 26.—Frank A. Greenlaw, member of the St. Catharines water commission and a prominent Labor leader for the past quarter of a century, was on Saturday afternoon, at the convention of the Independent Labor Party at Merritton, nominated as their candidate for the Legislature at the coming election. W. E. Longden, who made a good run last year against Frederick R. Parnell, present Conservative member, was also nominated but retired in favor of Mr. Greenlaw.

THRESHER CAUSES FIRE

St. Thomas, Aug. 26.—The large barn and contents of Egbert Reeves a Southwold Township farmer, was totally destroyed by fire Monday at noon. The blaze was caused, it is believed, by a spark from a threshing machine engine which was working close by.

BIG RUN ON SUGAR

Brantford, Aug. 26.—Consequent upon the reports from wholesale grocers that sugar would be 20 cents per pound in the course of a short time, local grocers were besieged today with orders for deliveries of 100-pound lots. A dead set towards hoarding was reported. The local retailer refused deliveries in most instances.

GRAPE GROWERS HOLD OUT

St. Catharines, Aug. 26. — The Niagara district grape growers' representatives have returned from an investigation of the grape situation in New York State, and report that grape growers there are asking $125 a ton to start with send with a light crop export to raise to $150 a ton. The Niagara District Grape Growers' Association are holding for 42½ cents per basket, or $100 a ton.

WEDNESDAY IS OUR SPECIAL REMNANT SALE DAY

Remnants of all kinds of Wash Goods, Coating Tweeds, Velours, Broadcloths, Serges, Cashmeres, Wool Voiles, Corduroys, Silk Poplins, Cotton Poplins Plaids, Flannelettes, Towelling, Shirtings, Grey Cottons, etc. Just short ends, from one to ten yards to a piece.

EACH REMNANT PLAINLY MARKED AT A BIG BARGAIN PRICE FOR WEDNESDAY SELLING

60c LINEN TOWELS, 47c
Your opportunity to secure at a very reasonable price some splendid pure Irish linen Towels for general use. These Towels are firmly woven and are nicely hemmed and generous in size. An outstanding value at 60c and a big bargain at Wednesday's price, each 47c

35c and 50c CHILDREN'S GLOVES, 10c pair
Black Silk, Lisle and Cashmere Gloves, fro children. A few odd lines in plain wrist styles. Good range of sizes in all lines. Regular 35c and 50c. Wednesday Bargain, pair 10c

COTTON WASHGOODS, 19c yard
A few odd lines of cotton Wash Goods; mostly light colors; splendid materials for making dresses for school girls. Regular up to 35c. Wednesday Bargain.. Yard 19c

15c, 25c and 35c SHEET MUSIC 5c Copy
A big selection of popular, instrumental and vocal Sheet Music, slightly damaged. Formerly priced at 15c, 25c and 35c. Wednesday Bargain, copy 5c

BLEACHED SHEETING, 75c yard
This Sheeting is of superior cotton thread with strong, firm weave, and is bleached perfectly white; 72 inches wide. It will not shrink nor quickly wear out by many washings, and may be depended upon to give long and satisfactory service. Our price is less than to-day's mill price. Wednesday Bargain, yard 75c

HEMSTITCHED PILLOW CASES, 60c
The circular cotton in these Pillow Cases is of extra fine quality and even in weave, and will wear and launder splendidly. The ends are deeply hemstitched and the cases are generously large and exceptionally fine in every other way. Wednesday Bargain, each 60c

50c PLAID DRESS GOODS, 39c yard
300 Yards of new Fall Plaid Dress Goods; splendid materials for making excellent school dresses ofr girls. Pretty plaid patterns, in a nice range of color combinations. 36 inches wide. Real opportunity to save. Regular 50c. Wednesday Bargain, yard 39c

29c TIN PAILS, 10c
About five dozen left of these "Big Bargain" Pails, two quart size; strong wire handle; tight fitting cover. Reg. 29c. Wednesday Bargain 10c

Special Fall Model Corsets, 98c Pair
Fancy getting an excellent quality, well made, comfortable fitting corset, in the new Fall style, for 98c. We are proud to offer this corset value to our Wednesday customers. Made from strong white coutil, well boned, medium low bust style, with four elastic hose supporters. Wednesday Bargain, pair 98c

PURE WOOL FLANNEL, 69c yard
Exceptional value in splendid grade pure wool Grey Flannel, for men's shirts, also suitable for womens' and children's wear; 28 inches wide; soft and fine. Regular 85c. Wednesday Bargain 69c Yard

GREY COTTON, 25c yard
Another bargain lot of these excellent "mill ends" of flue grey Cotton; various qualities; widths from 37 to 41 inches. Fine grades, absolutely pure. Regular 30c and 35c. Wednesday Bargain 25c Yard

BATH TOWELS, 98c
Plain White and Colored Terry Bath Towels; good, heavy grades, good drying qualities; large size, fringed and hemmed ends. Wednesday Bargain 98c Each

LONSDALE CAMBRIC, 29c yard
36 inch plain white Lonsdale Cambric. A beautiful fine, soft, white cotton, suitable for fine lingerie. Regular 35c ... Wednesday Bargain, yard 29c

STRIPE FLANNELETES, 32½c yard
Very best grade Canadian Flannelettes; in nice stripe patterns; deep, soft nap, pretty colorings; 36 inches wide. Reg. 45c. Wednesday Bargain, yard 32½c

TABLE DAMASK, 75c yard
These Table Damasks are extra good value; obtainable in bleached and unbleached qualities; firm, closely woven textures; nice floral patterns; 56 inches wide .. Wednesday Bargain, yard 75c

WOMEN'S VESTS, 23c
Women's White Knit Cotton Vests, low neck styles, with strap over shoulder. A limited quantity. While they last Wednesday Bargain 23c

CHILDREN'S COMBINATIOS, 47c
Fine white cotton knit Combinations for children, with tight knee and waist, reinforced with tape and finished with buttons for underwear Wednesday Bargain 47c

OUR NEW IDEA AUTUMN QUARTERLY
With all the lateat Fall styles, is displayed for your accommodation. Four extra pages in full color have been added to the fashion book. Theportrayal of new fashions in color shows them to the fullest advantage and enables you to see instead of imagine how your frock will look in certain color schemes. You will find also in these pages all the leading Fall shades. At the pattern counter, 25c, and for 5c extra you get a New Idea apttern.

STORE OPENS 8.30 a.m. RICHARD HALL & SON LIMITED STORE CLOSES 5.00 p.m.

H. P. Lindsay Agency Co.
Real Estate and Insurance
Automobile Licenses
District Agents for Security Life

MOTORISTS

Do You Want to Save Gas?
Do You Want More Power?
Do You Want Your Car Cleaned While you Run?
Do You Want Real Pleasure in Motoring?
THEN BY ALL MEANS BUY
"LENEOGAS"
REFERENCE GIVEN
Sold by Best Dealers

H. P. LINDSAY AGENCY CO.,
Phone 341. 392 Water St.

U. S. army has officially adopted helmets as part of aviation equipment.

VOTERS' LIST

Municipality of Township of Ennismore, County of Peterborough

NOTICE is hereby given that I have transmitted or delivered to the persons mentioned in Section 9 of the Ontario Voters' Lists Act the copies required by said Sections to be so transmitted or delivered or the list, made pursuant to said Act, of all persons appearing by the last Revised Assessment Roll of the said Municipality, to be entitled to vote in the said Municipality at elections for members of the Legislative Assembly and the Municipal elections; and that the said list was first posted up at my office at Ennismore on the 18th day of Aug. 1919, and remains there for inspection.

And I hereby call upon all voters to take immediate proceedings to have any errors or ommissions corrected according to law.

Dated this 18th day of August,

JOHN MOLONEY,
Ennismore

Sheriffs and county roads in Michigan will arrest drivers who use other driving with glaring lights.

Stoney Lake Navigation Company

Steamers leave Lakefield for the Lakes on arrival of all trains from Peterborough.

Steamers leave the Lake to connect with 9.30 a.m. (morning) and 4.40 p.m. (afternoon) trains for Peterborough.

G. T. R. trains leave Peterborough at 8.30 a.m., 12.15 noon and 5.40 p.m.

For excursion rates, information, etc., phone 548, or write

F. G. YOUNG,
Gen. Manager,
497 King St.

Four children were killed and five persons injured when a train struck an auto near Beatrice, Neb.

WEATHER FORECASTS.
Moderate to fresh, west to northwest winds, mostly fair and cool tonight and on Thursday.

The Daily Review

8 PAGES

46th YEAR No. 47 Peterborough's Oldest Newspaper. PETERBOROUGH, ONTARIO, WEDNESDAY, AUGUST 27, 1919. Price Two Cents per copy

ABANDONS NAVAL BUILDING PROGRAM CLEAR YARDS FOR COMMERCIAL NEEDS

British Government May Break Up Many Destroyers, Submarines and Cruisers if Found Cheaper to Do so Than to Complete Their Construction—Demand For Tonnage Will Absorb Men Liberated.

(Canadian Press Despatch)

London, Aug. 27.—All private ship building yards throughout the country, numbering about twenty, are affected by the Government order that all work be stopped on warships except those about to be launched.

Refitting Steamers.

The Admiralty yards at Chatham, Devonport and Portsmouth will not stop, however, as they are entirely occupied with the refitting of 2,700 steamers which are about to be returned to owners, from whom they were requisitioned for war service.

May Complete Some.

Among the warships being built at private yards are cruisers, destroyers and submarines, and the work on some of these may be continued, according to the Mail, if it is found cheaper to complete them than to break them up.

Compensate Builders.

Ship builders must be liberally compensated in cash where contracts are broken, but, although several million pounds sterling may be involved, it may prove more economical than carrying out the building program.

One Sound Reason.

The Mail quotes an offer of the Admiralty as saying that one sound reason for stopping work on warships is that the step will clear the yards for commercial building. There is an excellent demand for new tonnage and this work will probably absorb men liberalled by the stoppage of work on naval vessels. According to the Glasgow Daily ecord, work on forty warships, valued at twenty-five million pounds sterling, have been stopped.

GILMOUR MEMORIAL BAPTISTS HELD ANNUAL COMMUNITY EVENT

Good Attendance at Picnic Yesterday in Spite of Unfavorable Weather —New Methods of Entertainment Provided

Some time ago a stranger looking for a farm to purchase visited Smith Township and like every other new comer to that prosperous section was at once impressed by the fertile and well cultivated fields, by the comfortable homes and modern outbuildings. These favorable impressions were enhanced when he passed the Gilmour Memorial Church.

"I would ," he said, "be willing to pay $1,000 extra for a farm in this vicinity. Any community that maintains such a place of worship is a desirable section in which to locate."

Gilmour Memorial Church is not only an edifice for praise, prayers and the preaching of the Gospel but it is the centre of social life. The community spirit is being developed among the members of the congregation, the object being to wean the young people of their desire for urban life. The inspiration of and the leader in this movement is the popular pastor Rev. J. A. Galt, who has the advantage of years of residence in London and other cities in the old land. Mr. Galt has for the past two summers spent a month at the School of Rural Leadership held every year at Guelph and the members of his congregation are receiving the benefits of what he learned at these gatherings.

Every year a "community picnic," is held under the auspices of the Sunday School at Chemong Lake, on the T. H. Graham Farm. The aim is to secure the attendance of every person old or young in the neighborhood. Besides this games are held in which all, without regard to age or condition are asked to became active participants. The weather conditions yesterday were uncertain but there was a large attendance and everybody entered into the spirit of the occasion with a zest that was nothing short of splendid.

The program provided that there should not be an idle moment from two o'clock until dark and the willing spirit that was manifested from the start enabled the committee to make good to the letter. Of course there were the time-honored races for the children, the usual cheers for the winners, and the prizes. But the great feature of the afternoon was the community games with a place for everyone. Over fifty took part in these contests, all active at once. There were no individual winners, all outcomes being decided by team work. These games are easy alike for old or young and consisted of overhead ball, jumping the stick, pass the ball potato race and drop the ball. In addition to these a number of atheletic events were on the program.

A community tea was another popular and successful event of the afternoon.

QUIEN CHARGED WITH BETRAYAL

ALLEGED TO HAVE HAD PART IN SENDING EDITH CAVELL TO HER DEATH.

HE DENIES ALL COMPLICITY

PLEA FOR POSTPONEMENT OF TRIAL WAS OVERRULED BY COURT AT PARIS.

Paris, Monday, Aug. 26.— After the plea of his counsel for a postponement of trial had been overruled by the court today George Gaston Quien, charged with having had intelligence with the enemy and being the betrayer of Edith Cavell, answered negatively to all questions tending to involve him in difficulties.

Quien admitted that he presented himself as an officer of reserves to Prince Croy, who is charged as having denounced to the Germans as having aided French prisoners of war to escape. He did not care to admit to Prince Croy that he was just out of prison. Quien served a sentence in the jail at St. Quentin in 1914 and was liberated when the Germans first took the town.

The accused testified that he reached Brussels with money and identification from Prince Croy on June 7th, 1915. Although he was supposed to stay only long enough to prepare his escape to Holland, Quien declared that he remained for a fortnight, owing to an infected nail, which was removed under the care of one of Miss Cavell's nurses. Miss Cavell herself he said, advised postponement of his departure.

Quien denied that he frequented cafes in Brussels in questionable company during the fortnight he remained there and also denied having posed as an aviator.

QUIT SIBERIA SHORTLY: BAKER.

Secretary of War Answers Query on Return of Troops.

Washington, D. C., Aug. 26.—Return of 6,500 selective service men with the forces in Siberia will be completed before winter, Representative Osborne of California was told today by Secretary Baker. About 3,000 volunteer replacements already have gone forward, Mr Baker said 1,500 more' are ready and enlistments available for this service average about fifty a day. The question of a complete withdrawal from Siberia was not taken up with Mr. Baker, Congressman Osborne said.

BOLSHEVIK CLAIM SUCCESS ON VOLGA

REPORT CAPTURE OF KAMISHIN IN TERRITORY OF GEN. DENIKINE'S ADVANCE.

ARE ALSO HEADING FOR PSKOV

ARE WITHIN THREE AND A HALF MILES OF THIS IMPORTANT CITY.

(Canadian Press Despatch)

London, August 27. — Pskova, southwest of Petrograd, has been captured by bolshevik forces, according to an official statement issued at Moscow today.

Other Successes.

The bolsheviki also claim successes on the Volga, in Gen. Denekine's territory. They report the capture of Kamishin, on the Volga River, 120 miles southwest of Saratov, by their forces, which are declared to be advancing toward Tzaritzin, 100 miles further south on the Volga.

On the Russian northwestern front, according to the Soviet statement, bolshevik troops are advancing in the region of Pskova, having progressed already to within three and one-half miles of that city.

EIGHT BY-ELECTIONS FOR OCTOBER 27TH

VANCOUVER IN PARLIAMENT TO BE FILLED ON DATE MENTIONED.

Ottawa, Aug. 27.—With the announcement of the date for the nominations and by-elections in vacant constituencies, the former to be held on Oct. 20 and the latter on Oct. 25, in all cases, it became evident that the session is expected to end about the first week in October. That is the hope at present expressed in government circles.

Under the act passed at the recent session, it was stated it is impossible to hold a by-election in less than two months, except in constituencies which contain no village or town of more than 1000 people. This is the substance of the report made to the government by the officers charged with the administration of the election act. It was impossible to fix a date which would enable any candidate to take his seat in the house before October. The minister of finance, Sir Henry Drayton, and the minister of agriculture, Dr. Tolmie, will consequently be unable to appear in the house at the coming session, which opens on Monday, as also will Hon. W. M. Mackenzie King, leader of the Liberty party.

Constituencies Affected.

The writs will apply to eight constituencies: Prince, P.E.I.; Carleton-Victoria, N.B.; Kingston, Glengarry-Stormont and North Ontario, in Ontario; Quebec East and Victoria, British Columbia.

Hon. F. S. Tolmie, minister of agriculture, will seek re-election in Victoria, B.C., and it is presumed that Hon. F. B. Carvell's successor as minister of public works may be a candidate in Victoria, N.B. Should the choice happen to fall upon Stanley E. Elkin of St John, N.B., however, it would mean another vacancy and a second by-election in New Brunswick.

The possibility of Mr. King securing a temporary seat in the vacant constituency of Prince, P.E.I., is now being discussed in political circles.

WOMEN ESCAPE FIRE IN NIGHTIES

TRY TO LEAP FROM WINDOWS AT BREAK OF DAY REGARDLESS OF DRESS.

BELL BOY PROVES HIMSELF HERO

HYSTERICAL FEMALE GUESTS OF HOTEL MAKE RESCUE A DIFFICULT TASK.

Chicago, Aug. 26. — About 200 guests—almost half of them women—of the Briggs house, loop landmark at the northeast corner of West Randolph and North Wells streets, groped their way through smoke filled hallways and down stairways to the streets in scant attire just before dawn this morning, when fire broke out on the fourth floor of the six story structure.

Two hysterical women on the verge of leaping from windows on the sixth floor were restrained by firemen.

Those routed, all in various stages of undress, flocked into the Hotel Randolph across the street.

Starts in Room of U. S. Fireman.

The fire originated in a room in the centre of the western section the fourth floor, occupied by Carl D. Bryant of New York a fireman on the U. S. S. Granger. He awoke, choking, shortly before 5 o'clock and saw the bedclothes about him and window curtains ablaze. Mr. Bryant quickly notified the night clerk, Archibald B. Larrabee, who relayed the alarm to the fire department.

Louis Peddicord, 22 years old, 33 Stanley avenue, bellboy and elevator operator, hearing Larrabee summoning firemen, hurried upstairs to the fourth floor and began pounding on all doors. George Smith, colored porter, did likewise on the floor below. Meanwhile Larrabee started arousing guests on other floors by ringing the telephone bells.

While many men and women, barefoot and in pajamas and nightgowns, scampered down the carpeted stairways, others were packed into the single elevator in operation and were carried down to the main floor.

Elevator Man is Hero.

Peddicord made between thirty-five and forty trips up and down with guests and by the time the hotel was cleared he was almost blinded with smoke. Then he produced a hand extinguisher and bent his efforts towards preventing the fire from spreading. Meanwhile, the flames had spread to several other rooms and had attacked the ceiling, threatening to eat their way up into the sixth floor rooms.

Scantily Clad, Saves Her Violin.

Mrs. H. Morley of Chicago emerged from the building scantily clad, carrying under one arm a violin which she valued at $150.

One man clad only in his pajamas rode up and down several times in the elevator. Then he offered Peddicord $10 to go to his room and salvage a pair of trousers. Peddicord groped his way through smoke and water and got the trousers.

The fire was finally subdued. Loss, by water mainly, runs in thousands.

NO MORE NEW DANCES

Members of Trade in Winnipeg Accept New Agreement.

New York, Aug. 27.—Modesty and respectability will prevail in dancing from now on, according to the official forecast at the second annual convention of the American National Association of Masters of Dancing held here. Three hundred members from all parts of Canada and the United States attended, and Fenton Bett, president of the association, voiced these predictions:

"The old waltz is coming back—is already back," he said, "and there will be no new dances—only a few modifications. For instances, ladies who have been pushed backward over the ballroom floor too much will go forward on a fifty-fifty basis with the men."

W. H. Chantler, St. Thomas, who was charged with assaulting Mrs. L. Stalford, was released on $1000 bail.

PRINCE RUBS SHOULDERS WITH GREAT MASS OF DEMOCRACY-LOVING CITIZENS

T -Day a Veritable Blaze of Triumphant Glory for Increasingly Popular Monarch-to-be—Stupendous Pyrotechnic and Electric Display in Toronto Tonight—Inspection of Boy Scouts and Veterans.

(Canadian Press Despatch)

Toronto, Aug. 27.—Today will be, according to arrangements, a veriable blaze of triumphant glory for the increasingly popular Edward, Prince of Wales, who will tonight attend a magnificent pyrotechnic and electrical display arranged in his honor on the grounds of the Canadian National Exhibition.

Spirit of Democracy.

In keeping with spirit of age, and the Prince's own democratic tendencies, His Royal Highness will end his three days' stay in this capital city of Ontario, in company of the general public. He will rub shoulders, so to speak, and join in applause with the citizens of this community. During his visit to Toronto, the Prince has attended some exclusive functions, where his fellow guests were admittedly members of social sets, but his farewell activities will be among great and general citizenship of democracy-loving Toronto.

A Quiet Morning.

This morning was spent quietly enough by the Prince. After two busy days and nights he rested at the Government house till noon. Then there was a continuation of his initiations into the realms of scholarship and learning. The law society of Upper Canada "Osgoode Hall", made him a bencher, and a barrister, which induced one of those present to jocularly remark that, if the popular Prince should ever tire of his present or future high position, and elect to step down, he will always be entitled to earn a living as a pleader at the bar on Ontario.

Appeared on Horse Back.

In the afternoon the Prince was the dominant figure at the Canadian National Exhibition, and appeared for the first time in Toronto mounted on horseback. He inspected the Great War Veterans, who turned out in great strength for the event.

Sixty Thousand Vets.

There are sixty thousand veterans in Toronto. Two hundred medals were presented for various heroic deeds in France and Belgium. In addition there were inspections of Boy Scouts, Girl Guides and other organizations, with presentations of addresses from the Exhibition Board.

Good-Bye, Toronto.

The royal train, with the Prince and his party on board, will leave the temporary C.P.R. station in Rosedale tonight at 11.30 for Ottawa.

FRENCH NINE IN STATES

Toulouse University Team Beat Joivet and ogers Park Clubs.

Sheffield, Ill., Aug. 26 The Toulouse university baseball team, champions of the University Baseball League of France, made their initial American appearance in Sheffield, Ill last Thursday and Friday. Two of the strongest semipro clubs of Illinois were the first victims of the All Star French varsity outfit.

The Toulouse nine easily triumphed over the Joliet Standards in the first game by the score of 11 to 1, and the Rogers Park team was beaten by the score of 11 to 7.

The French team is being piloted by John T. Powers, the first president of the Federal Baseball league. Powers was the athletic director at the Toulouse university.

The Grand Lodge of the Knights of Pythias will meet in Woodstock, N. B., in 1920.

MACKENZIE KING NOT NOMINATED

LIBERALS OF GLENGARRY FAIL TO MAKE CHOICE AT THEIR CONVENTION.

PUT OFF MATTER INDEFINITELY

NEW LEADER, HOWEVER, IS GIVEN UNANIMOUS VOTE OF CONFIDENCE.

Alexandria, Aug. 27 The Liberals of the Federal riding of Glengarry-Stormont met but did not nominate a candidate for which purpose the convention had been called. There was a large attendance of delegates from all parts of the consituency. Jos. E. Chevrier, of Cornwall, president of the association, occupied the chair, and at once announced that the meeting was open to receive nominations for the forthcoming by-election.

D. A. Mackinnon, of Maxville, and P. E. Campbell, of Cornwall, then presented the following motion:

"That this meeting tender the nomination for the electoral district of Glengarry-Stormont to the Hon. W. L. Mackenzie King, for the coming by-election."

Before the motion was put to the meeting C. H. Cline, of Cornwall, secretary of the association, read a letter from Hon. Mr. King similar to the letter read by F. T. Costello at the farmer's convention here last week. Mr. W. E. McKillican, of Maxville and Victor Begg, of Moose Creek, moved the following resolution as an amendment to the first motion:

"That in view of the letter of Hon. W. L. Mackenzie King just read no action be taken today, but that the matter of the nomination of a candidate be left for futher consideration and we hereby declare our confidence in the leadership of the Hon. W. L. Mackenzie King, and pledge ourselves to assist him to carry out the platform as laid down at the Ottawa convention of the Liberals of the Dominion of Canada held at Ottawa on August 5, 6, and 7, last."

The amendment was carried unanimously. It was agreed that the meeting would adjourn to a date at the call of the president and the chairmen of the various sub divisions and in the meantime the secretary is to see that divisions not represented at the convention are represented at the next meeting. All delegates retain their eligibility to take part again

ANTI-BOLSHEVIK FORCES DAILY ADVANCE INTO CENTRAL RUSSIA

General Denikine Now Dominates Territory Larger Than the Whole of Germany, and He Now Completely Controls All Traffic on the Volga River.

(Canadian Press Despatch)

Paris, Aug. 27.—General Denekine, the anti-Bolshevik leader in Southern Russia, now dominates territory larger than Germany, and his forces are daily progressing into Central Russia, with comparatively slight opposition.

Large Active Front.

The general's actual front two days ago, according to accurate military information received here, extended from Odessa northward to Elizabetgrade, then northeast to a few miles south of Kursk, thence east to Novokopersk, and continuing to a point on the Volga from miles south on Sara Tov.

General Denikine also occupies all the Caucasus region from the Caspian Sea to the Black Sea, and south to the Georgian border. His forces are not occupying Astrakhan, at the mouth of the Volga, but he controls traffic on that river by occupying Tzaritz and right along that river, running northward for a distance of 200 miles.

RETURNED SOLDIER SHOOTS AND KILLS TWO AND THEN SUICIDES

Cause is Unsolved, Jury Returns an Open Verdict

Chicago, Aug. 25. Investigation of the latest army triangle tragedy the double slaying and suicide by Private William E. Stewart, who shot and killed his wife Emma Rose Stewart and her escort, Lieut. Charles Schools, and then himself at the Royan Canton cafe, 343 East 43rd street, was brought to its conclusion today by a coroner's jury—without sounding the triangle for a clear note.

The jury found simply that the victims came to their death by shots from a revolver held by Stewart, who then killed himself.

Question is Unanswered

Why Stewart, a morose convalescent soldier, recuperating from a shell wound in his right wrist, would kill his wife and then the man with her was not developed. Stewart had written no letters; he had no confidants. He had told no one of his domestic troubles and had made no threats. The undertaking room where the inquest was held, was packed with a group of tense faced persons who wished to hear the story, who wanted the question, "Why?" answered. They were disappointed.

Mrs. Cora Stewart Byrne, sister of the slayer, said she was not surprised when she heard of the shooting for she said she had been aware for some time of the differences between Stewart and his wife. She said, however, that she had never been informed by him of the reason for the trouble. She said Stewart was of a morose, retiring nature, and his wife was afraid of him.

MARTIAL LAW EXTENDED

Proclaimed First in Budapest, Now Applies to Hungary in General.

(Canadian Press Despatch)

Paris, Aug. 27.—The Supreme Council of the Peace Conference met this morning for consideration of the treaty with Austria.

Martial law, which was proclaimed in Budapest a few days ago, has been extended to the whole of Hungary.

$1 AN HOUR FOR BRICKLAYERS

Modesty to Prevail in Pastime is the Official Forecast.

Winnipeg, Aug. 27.—A strike of bricklayers and masons, which had threatened to tie up the building trades has been averted by the acceptance by the men of an agreement which gives $1 an hour an increase of 20c over the former rate. The agreement provides for the payment of 95c an hour for all work done since the strike ended up until the new schedule goes into operation next week.

THE DAILY REVIEW

ESTABLISHED 1879.

MEMBER OF THE CANADIAN PRESS, LIMITED.

THE DAILY REVIEW is published every afternoon at 4 o'clock (holidays and Sundays excepted) by The Peterborough Review Company, Limited, 166-168 Hunter Street.

SUBSCRIPTION PRICE, $3.00 per year by mail to any part of Canada or Great Britain; $4.00 per year delivered to any part of the city.

THE WEEKLY REVIEW, established 1855, is published every Thursday morning at 10 o'clock. Subscription price $1.50 per year to any part of Canada or Great Britain, or $2.00 a year to the United States.

U. S. Representative—Robert E. Douglas, Chicago.

BOARD OF DIRECTORS:

A. H. STRATTON, President and General Manager; E. A. PECK, ex-M.L.A.; T. F. MATTHEWS and JAMES LYNCH.

TELEPHONES:

Business Dept .... 189 Editorial 488
Mr. Stratton's Residence ... 221

"FOR A GREATER PETERBOROUGH."

WEDNESDAY, AUGUST 27, 1919

LABOR'S HOLIDAY MONDAY.

THE SUCCESS of Labor's celebration of its annual holiday next Monday is a matter dependent on the weather. If the elements are favorable this city will see one of the most imposing demonstrations of the strength of united wage earners that has ever been witnessed in Eastern Ontario. For the first time in the history of the city a union of working girls will participate in the parade.

Preparations for the event have been carried out on an elaborate scale and no detail has been overlooked. One of the most significant features of the arrangements is the program which was planned by President A. J. Bolwell and which is now in circulation. It is an artistic little booklet that is well worthy preservation, brimful as it is of useful local information. The popular esteem in which the Union Labor movement is held by the business community is manifested in the number of advertisements that appear in the program, all the leading merchants of the city being represented. This should and no doubt will make an excellent business directory for the working classes in making their purchases.

Another useful feature of the booklet is a complete list of the local unions in the city with the charter date and the name and address of the president and secretary of each.

UNSEEMLY CONFLICTS.

TWO SMALL BOYS engaging in a fistic combat on the street never fail to attract a crowd that is interested in their antics and amused by the pugilistic skill displayed by each party to the affray. The question of the principle at issue, if principle there be, or the merits of the cause of the quarrel, are seldom taken into the popular consideration. If, however, one of the combatants has the reputation of being a bully who is striving for nothing of more moment than the temporary glory of victorious strife, the sympathy of the spectators is not very often misplaced. But at the best such spectacles are unseemly, a breach of the public peace, and lacking in moral effect upon either the participants or the onlookers.

The laundress with a basket of linen to be washed does not as a rule perform her task in public. Neither as a rule does she impress a neighbor's house or equipment into her service nor seek extraneous aid. Why, then, in the name of public decency should the aspiring politician, whose laundry basket is overflowing with garments in need of soap and water, invite journalistic cooperation to his aid? The misfortune is not so much that he aims to do so as that he so often succeeds.

RESTORING THE TARIFF.

THE STRENGTH of the protectionist movement in the United States is indicated by the fact that no less than twenty-two bills have been introduced in the House of Representatives this session calling for higher duties. It is significant that amongst these measures are those of Representative Young of North Dakota and Representative Smith of Michigan, demanding repeal of the Reciprocity Act.

Another measure provides for import duties on cattle, swine, horses and mules, sheep, all other live animals, corn, cornmeal, oatmeal and rolled oats, rye, wheat and wheat flour. The duties called for in this bill are high, including one cent per pound on oatmeal and rolled oats, 25 cents per bushel on wheat, and 25 per cent. ad valorem on wheat flour.

The Underwood tariff bill adopted in the United States in 1913 when the Democrats were in control of all branches of the government, was a flier in free trade, an experiment in a one-sided application of the Reciprocity Treaty that was so emphatically rejected by Canadians in 1911. The Underwood Act admitted free of duty the products fo the farms, forests and mines.

The eventual restoration of the protective tariff as it existed under the Republican regime was inevitable. It was delayed by the war, which broke out soon after the new fiscal policy became effective, and the problems created by the war transcended all other matters.

The restoration of the tariff was contingent upon the return of the Republicans to power. Here again the effects of the war were manifest. President Wilson's pacificism, the cry that he had kept the national peace, attracted to his banner in 1916 all the alien element and the anti-Britishers in the nation, and by a narrow squeeze gave him another lease of power with a small majority of his supporters in Congress. That majority two years later was wiped out. The Protectionists are in the saddle again in both branches of the Legislature and have demonstrated that they are strong enough to prevail over the presidential veto. They can carry tariff legislation today even in the face of executive opposition. All present indications are that next year the ascendancy of the Republicans, in White House and congressional halls, will be supreme. Free trade has been tried out in the United States and found wanting in all that was ever urged on its behalf.

The trend of events in the United States settles the case of the advocates of free trade in Canada. The champions of free wheat in the West are deprived of their last argument by the withdrawal of the reciprocal terms offered by the United States for the past six years. Hon. W. S. Fielding's attempt to revive the trade bogey that wrecked his party in 1911 falls flat. Canadian wheat will be ground in Canadian mills by Canadian workingmen, shipped to the seaboard on Canadian roads, and transported in time to the European market by ships built in this country. There is no place in this country for the low tariff agitator. The nation has learned from the mistake made by the United States—a mistake which the statesmanship of that country is now engaged in the task of remedying.

ENFRANCHISED WOMAN'S OPPORTUNITY.

IT WAS this personal liberty heresy, carried to the limit, that split the people of Canada in twain during the dark days of 1917. A certain class was more concerned with their individual rights and safety than with those of the people as a whole. The country came through that test with undying honor to itself. A new chapter was written into the political history of Canada.

It was the women of this country, specially enfranchised for the sake of their relatives in the war, who helped record the verdict of December 17 two years ago. It is the enfranchised women of Ontario, not voting by special but by statutory enactment, who will to a great extent decide the issues that will soon be sumbitted to the provincial electorate.

The issues are no less grave than were the problems before the people in 1917. In the latter case the actual menace was farther removed. The present danger is imminent and overshadowing. Personal liberty as urged in 1917, had it prevailed, would have placed in jeopardy the freedom of the Empire and that of every man, woman and child in Canada. The personal liberty we hear so much of today spells thraldom for the womanhood and the rising generation of Ontario. The safety of the Ontario mothers and their offspring is to be desired, to be striven for, rather than the nursing of a myth cherished by men who concern themselves chiefly with their own selfish desires.

The enfranchised women of the Dominion helped in 1917 to save the country from exploitation by political adventurers and charlatans. The enfranchised women of Ontario will do as much for their province in 1919 now that the opportunity is given them. They know to whom to look for personal safety, and are not deceived by the vague promises of a leader who fails in nothing quite so much as in his efforts to conceal the imprints made by his footsteps since the beginning of his public career.

NOTES AND COMMENT.

WHY NOT advertise that washing will be taken in at reasonable rates?

* * * * *

THERE IS no anti-vivisectionist society in Peterborough, otherwise——

* * * * *

MR. G. N. GORDON'S little mistake was in trying to dump his garbage into the wrong can.

* * * * *

MEGAPHONE politics never got an aspirant for parliamentary office anywhere in particular.

* * * * *

TALKING OF price fixing, isn't that just what the dealers have been doing all these years?

* * * * *

THE POLITICIAN who has tried every shift known to man should be in a position to indicate his preference.

* * * * *

HASN'T THE SOCIAL ambition, "keeping up with the Joneses," something to do with the high cost of living?

THE BEST THING ever yet "made in Germany" just at present looks like the new constitution of the republic.

* * * * *

PROFITEERING was a popular little pastime until the new Board of Commerce sat in and insisted upon cutting the cards.

* * * * *

THE EFFORTS of some local men to attain parliamentary honors suggests the small boy looking for a chance to slip in under the circus tent.

* * * * *

EBERT is called the "imperial president" of Germany, but in the words of a somewhat prominent and historic phrase, "there ain't no sich animal."

* * * * *

HARTLEY DEWART, provincial Liberal leader, lacks a policy Hon. Mackenzie King, Federal captain, is without a seat. And added to their individual and collective misfortunes is a dearth of united supporters.

* * * * *

"WHEN IS a thief not a thief?" asks some one with a weakness for conundrums. Ask us, and we would venture the opinion that the man who would make off with Hartley Dewart's campaign thunder would be rendering that gentleman a personal and political service.

OPINIONS OF OTHER EDITORS.

WHAT WOODS, PRAY?

(Ogdensburg Journal.)

Edward Dillingham left yesterday for the Canadian woods on a camping trip.

A QUESTION.

(Albany Journal.)

Will some one kindly inform us whether the use of tobacco is more injurious than the wearing of tight corsets?

HARD KNOCK FOR JAPAN.

(Buffalo Commercial.)

The German jingo, Reventlow, who seemed to take a sort of pride in the appellation of "fire-eater," says that "Japan alone among our foes demonstrated herself a nation of kultur." That is about the hardest knock Japan has had.

JUSTIFIED LACK OF CONFIDENCE.

(Woodstock Sentinel-Review.)

It may as well be said at once that the people generally have little confidence in either the will or the energy of the ordinary authorities in enforcing the law against any of the powerful interests; but the new board of commerce still remains to be tested.

ONLY FAIR PLAY.

(Toronto Star.)

It should be as dangerous to make an unlawful combine in sugar as to smuggle sugar into Canada. So with all other foods and other commodities. The laws against smuggling are largely for the protection of manufacturers. They should not object to an equally effective system of protecting the consumer.

SIR THOMAS WHITE ASKS CO-OPERATION IN PROMOTING VICTORY LOAN FOR 1919

The following is the gist of an address made by Sir Thomas White, former Finance Minister, to the Dominion Executive Committee of the Victory Loan for 1919:

In November last at the close of hostilities there was the greatest apprehension in this country as to what might happen. There was almost a panic industrially. Tens of thousands of people had been engaged in the war industries, and if these industries were almost immediately closed, the effect would be to throw out of employment, tens of thousands of people who had their families to maintain and at a time when the cost of living was bearing very heavily upon all. That was the situation with which we were confronted last November. Notwithstanding some criticism which we encountered, although it was not very widespread, we determined that the Government must carry on during the succeeding year, as in reality we are carrying on today. I am quite satisfied that if the Govenment had shut down and said "no more large expenditures throughout the country, no more credits," we should have had an almost disastrous situation. With the shutting down of business, we would have had very much greater unrest and possibly civil disorders throughout the country.

We have faced the situation, and we have felt it our duty to treat this year, as, so to speak a war year. We have continued the credits to Great Britain which were absolutely necessary in order to enable her to obtain the products for which this country had to find a market. Similarly, in regard to national undertakings of a productive character, we have been engaged during the war in a large shipbuilding programme. That shipbuilding programme has engaged the services of tens of thousands of workmen and artisans throughout the country. The works have been of very considerable advantage to a large section of our business community. The money which these workmen and artisans receive is distributed through various business channels, so that the entire community gets an advantage from it. Further, we went ahead with the purchases of rolling stock for the National Railways, and we gave extensive orders for steel rails for the improvement and betterment of our roads. All these productive expenditues will ensure to the advantage of the Dominion as a whole, and in the meantime, they will keep tens of thousands of men at work, who would otherwise have been thrown out of employment.

Then we have had thrown upon us the immense expense of demobilization. Until last fall we borrowed from Great Britain in London, and that was a set-off to our advances to Great Britain here, the amount of money required by us to maintain our troops in Great Britain and on the continent. We did not have to find the money here in addition to the credits that we furnished to Great Britain. They furnished that money to us in London, and to that extent it was not a burden on our financing here. But with the bringing of the men here during several months past we have had to bear the expense of paying them until discharged, and in addition to that, we have had to find a large war gratuity, varying from two to six months' pay in proportion to the services of the men overseas. I do not think the public begin to realize the large amount of money involved in that transaction. It will involve a payment of some $130,000,000 in war gratuities. I am quite sure that no citizen of Canada will begrudge that to the men who went overseas. But that is a very large sum of money, and I mention it so that you may realize how the proceeds of the last Victory Loan have melted away. Then we have the soldiers' land settlement scheme, which we believe will be of great ultimate advantage to the country, and by which advances are made, these advances being secured by property, real and personal. It is confidently hoped that this scheme will work out to the ultimate benefit of the Dominion as a whole.

Now we face a situation—and it is a perfectly natural situation succeeding the war, and by comparison with the conditions in other countries not an unfavorable situation—in which we are going to ask the people of this country for another loan this fall. It will be a great loan; it will be a war loan, a differentiated from an ordinary peace-time loan, because we shall require a very large amount of money. It is not necessary to apologize for the necessity of bringing on a war loan after the war is over, although actually the war is not over yet. That is the experience of all countries, although our position has been more favorable in that regard than any of the other belligerents, especially of those which were in the war from the beginning. In Great Britain, as you know, they had unfunded liabilities of about $8,000,000,000 represented by short-date securities floated in the London market or in other markets throughout England, and their recent Victory Loan was for the purpose, in part, of liquidating that short-date liability. One feature which they emphasized in their advertising and appeal to the public was the necessity of liquidating the immense short-date liability which was troubling the financing of the Government very seriously. They have no means of cleaning up that situation. They have a very large unfunded debt still, notwithstanding the completion of their Victory Loan campaign a week or so ago. In the United States this spring they were obliged to bring on their Victory Loan for the purpose of liquidating short-date libilities and floating indebtedness of the Government to a very large amount. In Canada, after carrying on for many months after the armistice was signed, we found ourselves in the position of still having funds on hand, the proceeds of the last Victory Loan, and if it had not been for the demand for credits, especially wheat credits, we should not have been obliged to borrow as extensively from the banks as we have been doing for the last two or three months. In comparison with that of other countries, Canada's position is an exceedingly fortunate one from the standpoint of the funding of our liabilities. I think that it is a very gratifying feature, and will undoubtedly have a very steadying influence upon the market value of our securities from this time forward. I have shown that we need make no apologies for this loan. We are going to the people of this country and we are going to offer them a security which is of great advantage to them. We believe it will be a great investment. We want to make them realize that it is necessary for the purpose of putting the Dominion finances on a stable and sound basis, by liquidating our floating indebtedness, to complete the expenses of demobilization, to furnish the necessary credits for the marketing of our produce, and to carry out our reconstruction progamme which will keep steady our industries as far as possible and give employment to our people.

Personally, I should regret more than I can say to see a condition in this country in which many hundreds of thousands of people were out of work. Apart altogether from its economic aspect, there is the human side of it, which appeals very strongly to me. We have come through this war with great credit to the country and to the individual classes in the community, agricultural, industrial, commercial, and financal. Personally, I have had the support, which I appreciate more than I can say, all sections of the community irrespective of political affiliations, race, creed or calling, and if any credit is due for the whole situation— and it is a most creditable situation— for the part that we have played in this war, both at the front and at home, and in the mangement of our financing and the maintenance of our commerce and industry, that credit belongs to all the people of Canada. On the human side, it would be most regrettable, a most serious thing, if the people who have played such a worthy part in this war should find themselves in a condition in which they should be unable to provide for their families. That is the most material factor in the nation situation. It is, therefore, a proper part of our policy to strive to maintain our industry and business, not only for the purpose of keeping it going for profit and advantage that is in it, but also for the purpose of affording employment. To have stopped everything suddenly would have been disastrous from every standpoint and would have resulted in the greatest possible amount of suffering in the country. To a certain extent, these considerations apply when looking to the future. That is a policy that must commend itself to our judgment, from the standpoint of stablizing our finances, from the standpoint of supplying needed credits for the sale of our products, and from the standpoint of affording employment for the months that are to come. So that I think we have a reasonable ground of appeal to present to the public. I believe that if we point out that the loan is absolutely necessary, and if we place the facts properly before them, we shall have no difficulty in making their judgment coincide with ours. Time will always go forward. We may always naturally have some foreboding and hesitation about what the public will do with regard to this loan. They will say: "The war is over, the war spirit is gone, and we are going to have an exceedingly difficult task." Maybe, we are, but that only means that we will have to redouble our efforts. I am satisfied, knowing the people of this country as I do, that if we can get our appeal to the reason and patriotism of the people, we will have no difficulty raising the money which we will require this year.

I do not believe that the people of the country begin to realize the formidable responsibility which confronted the Government, and especially myself, as Minister of Finance. In war time, the treasury loses control to a large extent over the expenditures. Our armies are at the front, the nation is putting forth its utmost efforts, and it is out of the question for the Minister of Finance, even if he were disposed to do so, to say: "we are going to have difficulty in finding the money." When the nation is putting forth its utmost effort, fighting for its life, it has not tolerance for any suggestion that the Government cannot find the money. The people say: "We are going to fight and to win this war, and the money must be found. If you cannot find it as Minister of Finance, we will get another Minister of Finance, and if the Government cannot find it, we will get another Government." Finance becomes secondary in war time; the money must be found. We did not resort to the inflation of our paper currency as they did in Great Britain and in the countries of Europe. Our currency situation is not bad at all. It is better than the situation in any country in Europe and second only to that of the United States. We faced the interest situation and as consequence of our favorable position, in a country that had never before floated a loan of more than $5,000,000, in the last Victory Loan we raised nearly $7,000,000,000. That did not happen by accident. The responsibility had to be undertaken, and the organization had to be brought into being that would accomplish the result, acting as it did upon the intense patriotism of the Canadian people. The results that have been accomplished have been such as to reflect credit upon all. Although I am retiring, I feel a certain degree of responsibility towards the future financing of this country, not only because I have been Minister of Finance, but because I am a citizen of Canada. I would hope—and I am sure my hope will not be disappointed—that everyone will take a like view of the situation. We have been joined together in providing money without which Canada's war effort would have been impossible. I do not think any of us can say that because the war is at an end, and because we are emancipated from war duties, we have no continuing responsibility towards this situation. As far as I am concerned, I am entirely willing and desirous to do what I can to make this coming loan a success, although I shall not be identified with it as Minister. We will have the satisfaction of saying that we did not relax our efforts immediately the war was over, but that we put through the job of seeing that the floating debt of the country was funded—we have cleaned up the situation.

NEW ZEALAND PRAISED

Major-General Sir A. J. Godley, in a farewell army order to the New Zealand force, says:-

"You leave behind a reputation for discipline, fighting qualities, steadiness, resource, initiative, hard work and gentlemanly conduct, of which both you and New Zealand have every reason to be proud."

The order especially thanks Lieut.-Generals Russell, Chaytor and Richardson for their loyal cooperation and great capacity for leadership. He acknowledges the debt that the force owes to the New Zealand authorities, and adds:-

"New Zealand is destined to play a part in the world out of all proportion to her size and population."

FEMININE LOGIC

The young lady across the way says she sees the politicians have repealed the daylight saving law and drifted back into the twilight zone.

GOOD OPPORTUNITIES

Study the advertisements in the Daily and Weekly Review. They are replete with attractive opportunities for buying cheaply.

U. S. Government employs 350 professional hunters to kill wolves, bears and other animals, which prey on western cattle and sheep.

Three New York gangsters were put to death in the electric chair at Trenton, N.J., for the murder of an aged farmer.

A big bull, which escaped from a field in Pennsylvania, charged a big interurban car head-on. The car was derailed and rolled to the edge of a 60-foot ravine, where it hung suspended with its passengers unhurt. The animal was killed.

WIT AND WISDOM

Mike (looking down from a high tower)—Begorra, it's a long way from here to the ground. Pat—It is, Mike, an' ye'll go a lot further than that if ye fall.

He: "I suppose you wouldn't think of marrying a man unless he could give you a yacht?"

She: "Oh, I don't know. If I really loved him I would be satisfied with a little smack occasionally."

Scriptional Diet.

Disgusted Diner: "I'll never have another meal in this restaurant! The meat's high, and they've diluted the whiskey."

Clergyman: "Ahem! How true it is, the flesh strong but the spirit is weak."

Constant Reminder.

Husband—Now, don't forget me, dear.

Wife (off for Narragansett)—as if I could, Jack. The surf at nights sounds just like you snoring.

Climbers.

"The Notmuch familiar are great aspirants for social honors, are they not?"

"I should say so. Why, they're such climbers that they have even named their youngest daughter Ivy.

End of the Honeymoon.

"The honeymoon is about over."

"So?"

"Yep. He's had an argument with her brother and she's started to find fault with his folks."

Sandy Was Obliged.

Sandy McNab (to porter who has put all of the heavy luggage into the van)—Mon, I connee-der ye've been verra obleegin'. Will ye tak' a pinch of snuff?"

"Here Lies —"

An attorney was examining a witness and chanced to ask him about the character of the dead man who figured in the case, to which the witness replied.

"He was a man without blame, beloved and respected by all, pure in all his thoughts, and—"

"How did you learn that?" demanded the judge.

"I read it on his tombstone," was the disconcerting reply.

POINTED PARAGRAPHS.

Love poems should always be bound in calf.

The man who invented work should have finished it.

It is easier to mend a broken heart than a broken head.

Some remarks would be more remarkable if left unsaid.

It is almost as easy to fall in love as it is to fall out again.

Brilliant falsehoods dazzle more eyes than gems of truth.

Beauty has no real advantage, but it catches the floating vote.

Women think no more of stealing hairpins than men do of stealing umbrellas.

The popular watering place at this stage of the game is the office cooler.

When you meet a man who is thoroughly content, you see one where ambition has gone to bed.

Wood's Phosphodine.

The Great English Remedy. Tones and invigorates the whole nervous system, makes new blood in old Veins. Cures Nervous Debility, Mental and Brain Worry, Despondency, Lack of Energy, Palpitation of the Heart, Failing Memory. Price $1 per box, six for $5. One will please, six will cure. Sold by all druggists or mailed in plain pkg. on receipt of price. New pamphlet mailed free. THE WOOD MEDICINE CO., TORONTO, ONT. (Formerly

CLOCKS
: the Gift Kind :

Best assortment in the city of French Marble Clocks, Fancy Boudoir Clocks, Mantel Clocks, Bronze and Ornamental Clocks.

Prices moderate; Values defy competition.

Schneider's

267 George St. Next Turnbull's

OTHER TABLETS NOT ASPIRIN AT ALL

Only Tablets Marked with the "Bayer Cross" are Genuine Aspirin — Others Acid Imitations

"Bayer" Now Canadian Made— No German Interest—All Rights Purchased from U. S. Government

BAYER

Aspirin means made by Bayer—has meant this for over eighteen years. The only genuine Aspirin!

The world's greatest physicians, jealous of their own reputation and careful of the health of their patients, prescribe "Bayer Tablets of Aspirin."

Aspirin is not German but is made in Canada, by Canadians, and is owned by a Canadian company. Unless you see the safety "Bayer Cross" on package and on tablets you are not getting Aspirin at all!

Look for the "Bayer Cross"! Then it is real Aspirin.

Don't accept Aspirin in a pill box. Buy a "Bayer Package"!

There is no substitute for genuine "Bayer Tablets of Aspirin," which have been proved safe by millions for Pain, Headache, Neuralgia, Toothache, Earache, Rheumatism, Lumbago, Colds, Grippe, Joint Pains, Neuritis.

Proper and safe directions are in every "Bayer" package.

Boxes of 12 tablets—Bottles of 24—Bottles of 100—Also Capsules.

Aspirin is the trade mark (registered in Canada) of Bayer Manufacture of Monoaceticacidester of Salicylicacid. While it is well known that Aspirin means Bayer manufacture, to assist the public against imitations, the Tablets of Bayer Company will be stamped with their general trade mark, the "Bayer Cross."

THE MERCHANTS' COLUMN

Edited by
MANSFIELD F. HOUSE
(Copyright.)

(In this column, which appears every Monday, Wednesday and Saturday, will appear news and short articles of special interest to merchants, their salespeople and business men and women in general. All phases of store management—buying, accounting, advertising and retail salesmanship—will be dealt with, not theoretically, but by descriptions of methods actually in use by successful merchants.)

"KEEP GOODS IN SIGHT" IS THIS STORE'S MOTTO

"Everything from kitchen stoves to toothbrushes."

It was in these terse words that M. M. Sterling summed up the stock of the Metropolitan Hardware Company of New York.

Mr. Sterling is not only an authority on hardware, but is an expert accountant and an authority on costs, reducing the overhead, quick turnovers, efficiency plus, and all those other little details we read about in all well-conducted business magazines. But this is something more than theory is shown in the enormous increase in the volume of business since he took over the management of the store a year ago last April.

One of the proved theories that is an outgrowth of the old-time shop is that everybody likes to see and handle the goods. Mr. Sterling has high, slanting wooden counters on which are fastened samples of every kind of tools that he carries. These counters are really large boxes, and the covers open on a heavy hinge disclosing the stock inside. The purchaser can handle the tool that is fastened to the counter, examine it thoroughly and "sell himself" without the aid of a salesman. When he is ready to "come across" he calls the nearest salesman, who opens the counter, takes out a duplicate tool, carries it to the wrapping counter, lays it down, makes out a [illegible] coupon to the [illegible] sit the sidewalk salesmen, one of whom, "Judge" Hilton, has been with this same organization for thirty-five years. To see these men on a bitter winter day, muffled and bemittened, handing out gaskets, gimlets, screwdrivers and other small needfuls, is to witness one of the interesting sights of lower New York.

Nor does this take away from the regular window display. For the entire hundred feet on the east side of the building all manner of flat tools are displayed in shallow frames under glass. These frames start somewhat above the ordinary reach in order to avoid breakage, and give an excellent effect without diminishing the interior floor space.

DISSATISFACTION ISN'T POSSIBLE WITH THIS PLAN

The third day after a patron of the Von Breton-Rothwell Optical Company in Los Angeles, Calif., has been wearing a pair of glasses fitted by one of the store's experts he or she receives a letter that reads like this:

"We take this means of thanking you for your recent patronage and trust that your new glasses are entirely satisfactory.

"It is just possible that your mounting may need readjusting after a few days' wear, and if so call on us at any time, for which service, of course, there will be no charge.

"After realizing the benefits of properly fitted glasses we hope you will recommend us to your friends as they may need glasses also."

his letter is sent out regardless of the fact that the patron has been assured several times during the transaction that he or she is to come in—not "come back"—should the glasses not start off just right.

"The complaints we dread," said a member of the staff, "are those we do not hear—the ones that are told to a neighbor, or even a competitor. Glasses, like anything else that requires a careful fitting, and adjusting, may give a bit of trouble after the first day or two. By that time the patron can tell whether or not they are just right. We cannot be on the ground when this little difficulty starts, so we always have a letter there to speak for us. In this way we have our customers talking for us rather than against us, and a big portion of our business comes through recommendation of friends and relatives."

A feature of the case in which the firm's glasses are sent out is the little numbered sticker asking the finder of a pair of lost glasses to return them to the store.

This, a member of the firm said, rings in many pairs of glasses. The records show the address of the owners, so, if he fails to call for them, he is notified. This service is also an advertising help and a very acceptable plan of putting the firm's name on the glasses' case.

STORE LIBRARY HELPS SELL BABY CLOTHES

Even though Hazleton, Pa., has a $150,000 library building maintained by the taxpayers the firm of Peter Deisroth Sons has entered the same field, with a free library for all mothers and expectant maternity cases.

A reference shelf covering the feeding, clothing, care and rearing of children, together with their diseases, and other matters of interest has been opened in the Deisroth store and women may patronize it whether they buy there or not. They are given accession cards, by the clerks and by signing them can take home any book they wish and keep it for two weeks.

The service is appreciation by women and they acquire the habit of patronizing the baby department as Deisroth's as the need for various articles develops.

NO BAN ON "SHIMMIE" FOR BABY

The "shimmie" dance, interdicted by the police at public resorts and banned by patronesses at private affairs, was put on in Hazleton, Pa., as an advertising stunt in a "baby window" display by Frank Mackie, decorator of the Peter Deisroth twin department stores, serving most effectively as a crowd magnet and creating widespread interest that reflected directly in the amount of business done by the Deisroth stores.

Mackie took a life sized doll, dressed the figure in miniature stylish dancing clothes, stood it up in the front of a window and wired up an electric vibrator under the dolly's belt. When he switched on the current there was some "shimmie" movement and the crowds that gathered halted traffic.

The "baby window" material that the dancer set forth as star performer, caught the eyes of the people and that was the result that Mackie wanted.

"THE STORE THAT GREW UP"

Declaring that his store is like the little freckled-faced girl that was unattractive when she was four years old, but is now a radiant woman four years later, Morris Silverberg, of Scranton, Pa., is running big display

GLAD SHE TOOK SISTER'S ADVICE

MISS ELMA WILL FEELS LIKE A NEW PERSON SINCE TAKING TANLAC.

"Nothing ever helped me until I got Tanlac nd now I am just like a different person," said Miss Selma Will, residing at 799 Lawson street, St. Paul, Minn., in an interview, recently.

"There were times before I began taking Tanlac," continued Miss Will, "when I had terrible headaches that I could not do any work for several days. My stomach was in such a bad fix that I could not eat much of anything without suffering intense cramping pains afterwards. My appetite was very poor and I was so run down and weak that I would frequently have dizzy spells and was extremely nervous. My sleep seemed to do me very little good and I always got up in the morning feeling just as tired and worn out as on retiring at night. I have taken many kinds of medicines and doctored for a long time but nothing seemed to do me any good.

"Finally my sister persuaded me to try Tanlac, as she had gotten such splendid results from it, and by the time I had finished my second bottle I had a good appetite and felt better in every way. My stomach never bothers me now no matter what I eat and I never have a headache nor a pain of any kind. Really, I am feeling just fine, better than I have in the past five years, and there's nothing too good for me to say for Tanlac."

There are thousands of people who complain of being nervous and run down. They are not sick exactly, but feel tired-out and good for nothing most of the time. They need something to build them up and throw off the symptoms of this weakened, debilitated condition.

The system, besides being purified by Tanlac is toned up and invigorated as the medicine, aside from assisting the blood, reinvigorates the constitution, overcoming as it seems to quickly do, nervousness, indigestion, non-assimilation of the food, headaches, kidney complaints and many other ailments that are so common to the thousands of half-sick, depressed men and women.

Tanlac is sold in Peterborough by W. B. Warne Drug Co., Ltd., in Havelock by A. C. Denike, in Lakefield by Tanner Drug Co., Ltd., in Fowler's Corners by W. A. Hunter, in Gelert by A. J. Scott, in Westwood by G. Pringle & Son.

APSLEY'S TAX RATE FOR NEXT YEAR 19 MILLS

ISAAC LEAN IS APPOINTED COLLECTED AT SALARY OF $85.00.

Apsley, Aug. 27.—A meeting of the Municipal Council of Burleigh and Anstruther was held in the town hall, Apsley on Saturday, August 23, 1919.

Present — Reeve Norman Lean. Councillors Matthews, Dane and Earnshaw.

Moved by Coun. Matthews and Dane, that Isaacs Lean be appointed collector of rates and taxes for 1919 at a salary of $85.00.

Moved by Coun. Matthews and Earnshaw tht the rates for the municipality for 1919 be 19 mills on the dollar.

Moved by Coun. Matthews and Dane that the reeve see Mr. McCol: about putting new doors on the town hall, also painting same.

Moved by Coun. Dane and Earnshaw that people getting town hall for evening amusements pay the sum of $2.00 for same.

Moved by Coun. Earnshaw and Matthews that the following accounts be paid:

Review printing, voters' lists $25.04; Review printing, $3.08; Dr. Shepherd, salary M.H.O., to end of June, $25.00; A. M. Booth, salary, $22.50; Alf. Dane, salary, $12.00; A. M. Booth postage, stationary and express, $7.25; Geo. Matthews, salary, $10.50.

WET GOODS STOLEN

Quantity of Liquor Disappears From Lindsay Baggage Room.

A story is going the rounds that a considerable quantity of liquor was stolen from the Grand Trunk baggage room at the Lindsay station a few nights ago.

It is also stated that the police heard of the trunk load of "wet goods" arriving, and one member of the force secured a large sample with the view of having it analyzed. On returning to the baggageroom later on, it was discovered that some other party had also discovered the presence of the "shipment," and had purloined the entire trunk load.

ads in the local papers asking patrons who were disappointed in his stock, service and establishment in 1915 to call again.

Cook's Cotton Root Compound.

A safe, reliable regulating medicine. Ladies in three degrees of strength—No. 1, $1; No. 2, $3 per box. No. 3, $5 per box. Sold by all druggists, or sent prepaid on receipt of price and this paper. Free pamphlet. Address: The Cook Medicine Co., Windsor, Ont. (Formerly Chatham, Ont.)

COUNCIL AT HASTINGS STRIKES TAX RATE

PROVISION MADE FOR SUPPORT OF PUBLIC AND SEPARATE SCHOOLS.

Hastings, Aug. 27.—At the town Council meeting for August the following accounts were submitted.

Fowlds Co., electric lights	$99 36
C. P. Doughty, printing	25 00
H. McMullen, streets	4 00
W. M. Fowlds, postage	3 00
John Coughlan, assessment	3 00
Wm. Scriver, fire dept.	1 00
Leo Rivard, fire dept.	1 00
Nelson Scriver, fire dept.	1 00
D. Ellis, fire dept.	1 00
L. B. Scriver, fire dept.	1 00
Fred Dodd, fire dept.	1 00
W. Tate, fire dept.	1 00
Geo Lawson, fire dept.	1 00
S. Scriver, fire dept.	1 00
V. German, fire dept.	1 00
C. Whitred, fire dept.	1 00
C. Blackburn, fire dept.	1 00
Sherman, Scriver, fire dept.	1 00
Herb Shorter, fire dept.	1 00
Ralph McQuade, fire dept.	1 00
H. McMullen, fire dept.	1 00
F. Blackburn, fire dept.	1 00
Norman Rusaw, team	3 00
G.T.R watchman, May and June	16 66
G.T.R. watchman, July and December	16 66
W. West, salary as constable	11 25
Wm. Boyle, salary	8 33
J. Cook, salary, fire dept.	6 25

Moved by Dr. Wilson, seconded by Mr. Doxsee, that the account as read be paid and orders drawn on the treasurer in the usual way for the several amounts. Carried.

A communication was read from the equalizers of the school sections. Mr. John Coughlan, Mr. R. Elmhirst and Mr. A. Wilson, as follows:

For public school purposes—Hastings 29, Asphodel 6, Percy 5—Total 100.

For Separate school purposes — Hastings 8½, Percy 7½, Asphodel 11 —Total 100.

A communication was read from H. B. Wilson, secretary for Public schools, asking the Council to levy and collect the sum of $1998.23 rate 10 mills, and special rate for repairs 2 mills; total 12 mills.

From John Coughlan, asking Council to levy and collect for the Separate school the sum of $750.41, rate 2 mills.

Moved by Mr. Plant, seconded by Mr. Chapman, that the Council adjourn.

At a special meeting the following members were present:—Dr. J. Hess, Reeve; Councillors Wilson, Doxsee, Plant and Chapman.

Moved by Mr. Chapman, seconded by Dr. Wilson, that the following be the rate for 1919:

Public school rate, 10 mills and special 2 mills; Separate school rate, 98 mills.

Cement walk debt, rate	3 mills
Electric light rate	5 mills
County rate	4 mills
Village rate	8½ mills

This motion carried.

Glass of Hot Water Before Breakfast a Splendid Habit

Open sluices of the system each morning and wash away the poisonous, stagnant matter.

Those of us who are accustomed to feel dull and heavy when we arise, splitting headache, stuffy from a cold, foul tongue, nasty breath, acid stomach, lame back, can, instead, both look and feel as fresh as a daisy always by washing the poisons and toxins from the body with phosphated hot fater each morning.

We should drink, before breakfast, a glass of real hot water with a teaspoonful of limestone phosphate in it to flush from the stomach, liver, kidneys and ten yards of bowels the previous day's indigestible waste, sour bile and poisonous toxins; thus cleansing, sweetening and purifying the entire alimentary tract before putting more food into the stomach.

The action of limestone phosphate and hot water on an empty stomach is wonderfully invigorating. It cleans out all the sour fermentations, gases, waste and acidity and gives one a splendid appetite for breakfast and it is said to be but a little while until the roses begin to appear in the cheeks. A quarter pound of limestone phosphate will cost very little at the drug store, but is sufficient to make anyone who is bothered with biliousness, constipation, stomach trouble or rheumatism a real enthusiast on the subject of internal sanitation. Try it and you are assured that you will look better and feel better in every way shortly.

FALL FAIRS 1919

PETERBOROUGH	Sept. 15-17
Toronto	Aug. 25-Sept. 6
Ottawa	Sept. 6-15.
Campbellford	Sept. 23-24.
Bancroft	Oct. 2-3.
Belleville	Sept. 1-2.
Bowmanville	Sept. 16-17
Brighton	Sept. 11-12.
Brockville	Aug. 25-28.
Bobcaygeon	Sept. 26, 27
Cobourg	Sept. 17-18.
Colborne	Sept. 25-26.
Centreville	Sept. 20.
Cobden	Sept. 25, 26.
Demorestville	Sept. 27.
Delta	Sept. 15-17.
Dungannon	Oct. 2-4.
Fenelon Falls	Sept. 18-19.
Harrowsmith	Sept. 18-19.
Keene	Oct. 7-8.
Kingston	Sept. 23-27.
Lakefield	Sept. 23-24.
Lindsay	Sept. 18-20.
Madoc	Oct. 7-8
Merrickville	Sept. 16, 17.
Marmora	Sept. 30.
Maynooth	Sept. 25.
Midland	Sept. 29-Oct. 1.
Millbrook	Oct. 2-3
Napanee	Sept. 9-10.

ADVERTISING RATES.

The rate for Classified Advertisements is one cent a word per first insertion; subsequent insertions half a cent per word. Minimum number of words ten. Special terms for 5,000 words or over.

Advertisements marked "till forbidden" are accepted on the understanding that they will be published until a written or verbal notice to stop them is received.

BIRTH, MARRIAGE, DEATH, MEMORIAL NOTICES AND CARDS OF THANKS, 50c per insertion in Daily and Weekly, not exceeding one inch space. All words over the inch, one cent each.

CHURCH ANNOUNCEMENTS. Sunday Services Announcement in Saturday daily (no reference to concerts allowed) $5 per year per inch. Extra space in this column for the purpose stated, 15c per inch. Regular rates apply for other than Sunday services.

GET YOUR PRINTING DONE at The Review office. Lowest price and best service.

IF YOU HAVE ANYTHING to sell, advertise in The Review. A sure sale.

IF YOU WANT TO BUY anything at a bargain price, let the people know through The Review columns. You're sure to get it.

TO LET—OFFICE IN ROYAL Bank Building. Apply to the Manager.

MALE HELP WANTED.

YOUNG WOMAN OR GIRL for general housework. Apply Review office for address.

LOST.

HOOD FOR FORD CAR, IN front of 782 George street. Finder please notify J. M. Rygott, Lakefield.

LOST—A GREEN LEATHER purse containing sum of money and other articles. Finder please leave at Review. Reward.

FOUND.

FOUND ON SIMCOE STREET, near Park, black enameled frame for holding glass in headlight on motor car. Owner can have same by applying at Review and paying for this notice.

FOR SALE.

FARM FOR SALE.

A first-class farm for sale; four miles from city. Apply Review for address.

FOR SALE — AN OVERLAND roadster, in good running order; price right. Duffus Garage.

THE FOLLOWING CAN BE seen and bought cheaply at 207 Simcoe street: Excavating tools, picks, shovels, wheel - barrows, scrapers, plough, etc., dump cart and harness, stone boat, drop bottom waggon, gravel waggon with 1¾-yard box, contractor's hoisting winch, tackle, etc., whiffletrees, neckyokes, etc., also a lot of window and door frames, handy for alterations and repairs. All in good shape.
Wm. Lytle Cartage Co.

A BRICK HOUSE ON McGILL street; electric light and water in the house. For particulars apply to Review office.

FOR SALE—C. G. E. ¼ H.P. 200 vol. 3 phase 60 cycles motor. Apply at Review office.

Piano Tuning
Phone 595
The GREENE MUSIC Co.

LEGAL CARDS

HALL & HALL
Barristers and Solicitors
Money to Loan at Lowest Rates.
Telephone [illegible] Hunter St

GORDON & O'BRIEN
Barristers, Solicitors and Notaries.
Money to Loan at Lowest Rates.
Telephone 219.
G. N. GORDON J. A. O'BRIEN

C. S. WEDDIFIELD, B.A.
Barrister, Etc.
and Solicitor for the City of Peterborough. Bank of Commerce Building. 'Phone 550

MOORE & WEARING
Barristers and Solicitors
MONEY TO LOAN.
408 Water st. Opposite Post Office

JAMES FORDYCE STRICKLAND
Barrister, Solicitor, Notary Public
MONEY TO LOAN.
395 Water Street Peterborough
PHONE 151.

S. E. WEDD
Barrister, Solicitor, Notary
Office over Dominion Bank
Cor. Simcoe & George Sts
Telephone No. 22
Private funds to loan at current rates upon easy terms

PAUL K. KERR & McELDERRY
Barristers, Solicitors, Notaries, 419 Water street, Peterborough. Money to loan at lowest current rates of interest. Easy terms of repayment.
E. A. Peck. P. D. Kerr.
V. J. McElderry

J. EDMUND L. GOODWILL
Barrister, Solicitor, Notary Public, Etc. Offices 375 Water St. Phone 191
Successor to Roger, Bennet & Goodwill
MONEY TO LOAN at current rates upon easy terms

A. E. DIXON
Barrister, Solicitor, etc.
Offices corner Hunter & George Sts. Entrance next Madill's Drug Store.

O'CONNELL & CORKERY
Barristers, Solicitors, Notaries Public, etc. Money to Loan on Easy Terms of Payment
D. O'Connell, J. R. Corkery,
134½ Hunter St Peterborough,
Telephone 364

H. R. HALL
Barrister, Solicitor, etc.
Peterborough, Ont., office corner Hunter and Water Sts., over Canadian Bank of Commerce. Trust funds to loan on easy terms of payment

MEDICAL CARDS.

DR. E. E. HARVEY
Silver Medalist, University of Toronto
Special attention to diseases of Women and Children
Office: 212 Brock Street
Hours: 1.30 to 5 p.m., 7 to 9 p.m
Phone 333.

DR. BUCHANAN
F.R.S.C., Edin., M.R.C.S., Eng., L.R.C.P., Lon. Eye, Ear, Nose & Throat Specialist. Hours: 9-11 a.m., 2-4 and 7-8 p.m. Phone 519. Office corner Water and Murray streets.

DENTISTRY.

DR. W. N. HAYES
has opened a Dental practice in the Earle Building, George street. 'Phone 652 for appointments.

OSTEOPATHY.

DRS. WALMSLEY & SETTLE
Osteopath Physicians
Office over Crown Building, Hunter and Water Streets. Entrance 124 Hunter street. Office hours: 9 to 12 a.m., 2 to 5 p.m. Evenings by appointment. Office Phone 649.

MONEY TO LOAN.

There has been placed in our hands considerable trust funds to loan at 6½ per cent. on first-class real estate property.
GORDON & O'BRIEN
Phone 219. 395 George St.

Children's Aid Society
—of—
Peterborough City and County
FOR THE CARE OF NEGLECTED AND ILL-TREATED CHILDREN
G. W. POWELL
Asst. Secretary and Inspector
Office, 586 George St. Phone 1044a
Office Hours: 12 to 2 and 6 to 8 p.m.

Canada Food Board License No. 8-2[illegible]

D. M. MINICOLA
Best Fruit—
Cheap
Best Vegetables
Reasonable
Best Groceries
At Right Prices
410½ GEORGE STREET
Bell Phone 93b

NO MORE LEAKS

Leaky tubs and pails are an exasperation and a nuisance. Abolish them! Free your household from this annoyance.

EDDY'S INDURATED FIBREWARE
WASHTUBS AND PAILS

cannot leak, because they are made in one piece, without joint or seam. They are tough and impervious to liquids, yet so light and resilient that they never become battered or dented. They keep the water hot a long time, because they do not conduct heat as metal does, yet they are easy to lift and easy to carry. They cost less than metal, too, and last longer for they are less liable to accidents, and rust will not attack them.

Ask your dealer for Eddy's Indurated Fibreware

The E. B. EDDY CO. LIMITED
HULL, CANADA
Also makers of the famous Eddy Matches

B10

100 FEET BY 20 FEET

LARGE ROOM OR HALL TO LET

This space is not sub-divided and those needing Living Rooms need not Apply. It consists of the former G.W.V.A. Quarters, over

MONCUR DRUG STORE

APPLY C. M. Moncur, 407 George Street

SIX MILLION JEWS THREATENED WITH ANNIHILATION IN THE EAST

Brethren in Canada Organizing to Extend Immediate Relief to Destitute Sufferers

Montreal, Aug. 27. — Thoroughly aroused by the annihilation that threatens the Jewish race in Europe, the Jews of Canada re organizing to extend immediate aid to the destitute sufferers in Poland, Czecho-Slovakia, Lithuania, Jugoslavia, Roumania, the rest of the Balkans, Asia Minor and Siberia, and plans are now under way to raise a fund of one million dollars in the Dominion that will send life-saving shipments of foodstuffs, clothing, medicines and other necessaries of life to stricken Jews in these lands.

Jews in States Help.

This action of the Canadian Jews is taken at the specific request of Jacob H. Schiff, Nathan Straus, Felix M. Warburg and other prominent American Jews, and follows a conference which D. S. Friedman and Samuel Guttman of this city had in New York recently with these men in launching their campaign the Canadian Jews are co-operating with the Jews of the United States, who are seeking a fund of $35,000,000 this year in state-by-state campaigns.

Local Committees.

The Canadian enterprise will be under the auspices of the Associated Jewish War Relief Societies of Canada, of which Sir Mortimer Davis is national chairman. Lyon Cohen is chairman for this city. Local committees will be organized in every province and in each city and many of the larger towns. The aim is to co-ordinate in one campaign all efforts throughout the Dominion for Jewish relief funds.

The determination of Canadian Jews to participate in the enterprise was reached only after careful consideration, according to Mr. Friedman. Briefly, recent investigations show, he says, that some 6,000,000 Jews, principally in Eastern Europe, but also in other war-affected countries, are threatened with virtual annihilation from starvation, disease and the ills attendant upon war's aftermath.

A Great Crisis.

"Reports of investigators who have been sent abroad to about twenty countries," states Mr Friedman, "prove beyond a doubt that Jewry in the old world is at the greatest crisis in its history. Starvation, poverty, idisease, unemployment and general economic ruin are the common lot. Business in Eastern Europe is at a standstill, and vast numbers of people are caught in the grip of unfortunate circumstances and are unable to help themselves. They lack in hundreds of thousands of cases even the bare necessities of life.

Children Suffer.

"The brunt of all this woe falls heariest upon the children. About 500,000 youngsters, according to conservative estimates, are today lacking sufficient food, clothing and care. Orphanages, hospitals and other institutions in Poland and adjacent nations are full to overflowing, and all save a few of the 75,000 orphaned Jewish children in Eastern Europe have no place to live but the streets and no means of livelihood except begging."

ACTORS IN NEW YORK HAVE BEEN ENJO'NED

COURT ISSUES ORDER TO PREVENT INTERFERENCE WITH THEATRES.

New York, Aug. 26.—Justice Peter A. Hendrick announced that Wednesday afternoon he would sign injunctions restraining the Actors' Equity Associatio and its individual members from interfering with the reopening of theatres in this city which have been closed by the actors' strike.

The effect of Justice Hendrick's ruling will be to enioin Francis Wilson, President of the actors' organization, and many of its most prominent members from picketing theatres which have been closed and from attempting to induce actors to break their contracts. He held that "it is illegal to say that there is a higher moral obligation to the fellow-actor than to the sanctity of a contract."

In his connection he declared that while an employee could not be compelled to work if he did not wish to, he could be prevented from working for another person if a working contract existed with the first person.

FORESTERS GREET VISITING MEMBERS

INDEPENDENT ORDER OF FORESTERS, TORONTO, MAKE PROVISION FOR ENTERTAINMENT OF VISITING MEMBERS.

While the outstanding characteristic of Independent Forestry has always been Fraternity combined with Life Insurance on a solid basis at cost to its members, yet the organization's thoughtfulness for its membership upon every occasion has marked its career from its inception Mr. George A. Mitchell, Assistant Supreme Chief Ranger, the enthusiastic superintendent of the organizing department, has with his usual enterprise made provision for the members who will visit Canada's National Exposition. Mr. Mitchell has arranged to place the handsome offices in the Temple Building at the corner of Bay and Richmond streets, of the organization department over which he so ably presides at the disposal of visiting companies and brethren. Here they will find every facility and convenience that will add to the pleasure of their visit to Toronto, and at the same time receive a souvenir besides being provided with attractive literature. Rest rooms, writing desks and materials are provided, thus assisting members to keep in touch with the home circle even when absent.

This accommodation no doubt will be fully appreciated, as it can be made the meeting place for the members and their friends.

In the past ten years the Order has had a tent in Society Row at the Exhibition Grounds, but this new arrangement will not only take the place of that, but it is located in the heart of the city, in the home of Independent Forestry, the Temple Building, from which radiates all the principal car lines, and is in close proximity to the business and entertainment sections of the city. In conversation with Mr Mitchell some very interesting facts were gleaned of the progress of Independent Forestry.

It has Since organization paid out in sick and death and funeral benefits $61,909,673.33. Its assets on December 30th, 1918, were $46,707,709.00, with a membership today of over 176,000 and without any extra premium charge paid all death claims resulting from the great war and are now heartily interested in assisting returned members so that they may get back to the equilibrium of former years as speedily as possible.

Mr. Mitchell, assisted by an able staff, will be found ready to extend a cordial welcome to all who may accept of the order hospitality during Canada's Great National Exhibition and has the superintendent tersely put it, and at all other times.

COL. BARKER FIRST OF RACING AIRMEN

MAKES ROUND TRIP IN CAUTURED GERMAN MACHINE.

Toronto, Aug 27 Col W. G. Barker, V.C., the famous Canadian Air man, flying a captured German "Fokker" machine, completed the round trip from Toronto to New York, and return in the international air derby at 9.35 a.m.

He was the first of the competing aviators to arrive at Leaside today and a crowd at the airdrome gave him a great reception.

Col. Barker declared that his left arm, which was frozen during his eastern flight, was uncomfortable but had not caused him much inconvenience in making the trip from Buffalo this morning.

UNIONIST IS NOMINATED

Sunderland, Aug. 27.—There were more than two hundred delegates, representing every sub-division in North Ontario, at the Unionist convention held here, and on the motion of W. D. Mackinnon, seconded by James Glendenning, two of the four men suggested for nomination as Unionist candidates for the Dominion Parliament, they decided most willingly to make unanimous the nomination of W. J. Cowan, of Leamington, after he had been returned by a strong majority over the other nominees. The Unionist candidate is a native of North Ontario and his home has always been in the riding. He is a farmer and a leading importer of purebred stock, and is well known as an ardent worker in the interests of the farming community.

There ought to be some method of restraining people who dodge in order to avoid getting what is coming to them.

A Century of Temperance Progress is at Stake

THIS advertisement is addressed particularly to friends of organized temperance throughout the Province of Ontario. They have rallied to win many a victory before. They must rally in full strength for the Victory of Victories now, to make The Ontario Temperance Act permanent law.

ONCE, in Ontario, whiskey could be bought at 50 cents a gallon by anybody. Liquor-selling taverns outnumbered the schools. Distilleries outnumbered the grist mills. Within the memory of living citizens of this Province, drunkenness was a feature of well-nigh every fair, and of every election day. Fighting and rioting were common holiday amusements in many an Ontario town and village, in the "good old days."

Shall Ontario go Back?

One day in 1827, just 92 years ago, three brave men in the town of Brockville met together and formed the first pledge-signing temperance society in Ontario. "Milk sops" people called them. But they had courage, they had convictions and their ideal of Temperance has triumphed.

Shall We Give Up?

On April 27, 1916, the Legislature of Ontario enacted a law prohibiting sale and distribution of alcoholic beverages within the Province. Almost a century of struggle lies between those dates—1827 and 1916—a century of slow, painful progress and steady toilsome climb, fighting, fighting every inch of the way. We have fought the good fight and we have won. Ontario is dry.

Shall We Surrender Now?

The Ontario Temperance Act was passed as a war-time measure. The Great War brought home the truth about liquor to our Legislators and our people. Now that the war is over the facts are still the facts. After a century of struggle, and a victorious armistice, Ontario should not relax her vigilance until the terms of the Ontario Temperance Act are written into a Victorious Treaty of Permanent Temperance Peace!

The Ontario Temperance Act is the best piece of Temperance Legislation that has ever become law in this Province. Its repeal is unthinkable!

"NO!"—FOUR TIMES—"NO!"

ANY one of the proposed amendments that will face you on the ballot paper would spoil the Ontario Temperance Act. It would be a slip down hill after an upward climb of a hundred years. Those who love this Province of Ontario and have put heart and soul into its social progress and achievement will make no mistake. Mark your ballot X, four times in the column headed "No," and herein fail not or, in so far as temperance goes, your ballot is spoiled.

Ontario Referendum Committee

JOHN MACDONALD, Chairman — D. A. DUNLAP, Treasurer — ANDREW S. GRANT, Vice-Chairman and Secretary
(1001 Excelsior Life Bldg., Toronto)

11

Belleville Fall Fair will be held September 1-5.

St Catharines will build two new schools costing $58,510 each.

W. A. Ewing, K.C., of St. John, a prominent Mason, died, aged 69.

The American barge Capt. Dunn, loaded with pulpwood, sprang a leak and sank when she collided with the wharf at Quebec.

Chas. A. Simpson was sentenced to two months in the Ontario Reformatory for stealing the clothing of his companions at Belleville.

The Lake Huron Steel Corporation has secured 250 acres of land in Goderich and intend to spend $8,000,000 in establishing a plant.

A book agent is often a woman with a history.

Indians re[illegible] Prince [illegible]

CANADIAN FUEL TO GO TO NORWAY

BIG ORDER PLACED AT SYDNEY FOR CAPE BRETON COAL.

Sydney, N. S., August 26. — Can coal be shipped from this port to Norway cheaper than from English ports?

As an experiment the local Furness-Withey office recently shipped three thousand tons of coal by the steamer Bratland, a Norwegian ship, to Norway, and it must have been found satisfactory, for the local office now has an order for ten thousand tons more.

Two Norwegian boats, the Brand and the Mons, are due in port about Sept. 1 and will dock at the Dominion Coal Co. piers and load three thousand tons of coal each for Norway. Another ship will take the remainder of the order at a later date. Before the war no coal was shipped to Norway, as it could be sent to that country from England cheaper than from here. This would go to show that Sydney can compete with English ports in the coal trade.

It is possible that the Yorkshire strike has something to do with this new demand for Cape Breton coal.

LAST MERRY HALF DAY SALE IN 1919

VALUES THAT WILL ESTABLISH A NEW RECORD FOR THIS EVENT

50c HEMSTITCHED PILLOW CASES 29c Each

Twenty dozen good quality Pillow Cases that will keep their shape after being laundered, because the cotton is torn instead of cut. They are hemstitched and the regular value is 50c. Sizes 40 and 42 ..... Merry Half Day price, each..... 29c

This is our final Merry Half Day Sale for 1919 and the values are truly, exceptional. Each year the merchandise for our last sale of this series of bargain events has been sharply reduced. To-morrow will be no exception. In fact we think the prices are better inducement than those offered a year ago

THIRTY DOZEN LADIES' SUMMER KNIT DRAWERS 39c

"Lenard's" Free-knit Summer Drawers. They have crochet lace trimming and cotton waist bands. To-day's price at the factory is more than our Thursday morning quotation. Last Merry Half Day Sale price 39c

HALF DAY PRICES ON READY-TO-WEAR GARMENTS

From 2nd Floor

$7.50 WHITE WASH SKIRTS $3.75

The material is a fine quality cotton gabardine. The styles are smart gathered backs, belts and pockets. You have a choice of sizes from 24 to 30 inches, band. They were made to sell at $7.50. Merry Half Day price .. $3.75

GIRLS' GINGHAM DRESSES $1.29

The material is an excellent quality Fisher gingham. They are well made and smartly trimmed with pique. For girls from six to fourteen years. Merry Half Day Sale price $1.29

HOUSE DRESSES $2.98

Excellent quality chambray has been employed in the making. There is a good assortment of colors, and the sizes are from 6 to 42. All have full backs, belts, pockets and collars of contrasting color ..... Merry Half Day price $2.98

SERGE SKIRTS $8.95

They are made of an all-wool botany serge, and are new Fall models; consequently they are a little wider and a shade shorter. The backs are fuller, the pockets neatly arranged, and button trimmings are featured. Colors, black and navy. Merry Half Day Sale $8.95

BLOUSES OF HABUTAI SILK $3.98

They are made of a fine Habutai silk and the fronts are finished with tucks and fasten with large pearl buttons. The collars are large and square; cuffs are hemstitched; striped or plain .... Merry Half Day Sale $3.98

PRICE REDUCTIONS from the REDFERN STORE

$10.00 GEORGETTE AND CREPE DE CHINE BLOUSES $7.00

These handsome Blouses have round convertible collars, and are obtainable in the following color combinations: white and black, maize and flesh and black. Regular $10.00 value ..... Last Merry Half Day Sale $7.00

FANCY SILK SKIRTS $6.50

They are made of chiffon taffeta and silk poplin, and have gathered tops, narrow belts and pockets. Colors are navy, black and green. Last Merry Half Day Sale price $6.50

10 DOZEN LA DUCHESS CORSETS 98c PAIR

This is truly a remarkable value for these new La Duchess Corsets. They have the quality and style of any $1.75 line. They are long models, have low busts and have straight cut skirts. All sizes for early buyers ..... Merry Half Day Sale, pair ... 98c

LADIES' 98c COMBINATIONS 69c

They are the popular "Zimmerknit" brand, are pure white, and have cumfy cut neck and shoulders. They are knee length, umbrella style, and are trimmed with lace. Early buyers will find sizes from 32 to 40. Regular 98c value. Last Merry Half Day Sale 69c

MISSES' WHITE SKIRTS $1.98

Misses' White Skirts, made of gabardine, with a wide belt and button trimming. They are well made, stylish garments, and are extremely low in price for the last Merry Half Day Sale $1.98

GOLD and P. & G. NAPTHA SOAP 6 Bars for 49c

This price is less than to-day's actual cost at the factory for these two Proctor and Gamble Soaps. You have a choice of either gold or P. & G. white Naptha. There is a positive limit of two lots to one purchaser and no phone orders. Last Merry Half Day Sale price ..... 6 Bars for 49c

NAINSOOK MILL ENDS 19c Yard

They are a fine quality, even thread nainsook, and will stand plenty of washing. The widths are from 33 to 36 inches, and if we purchased to-day the price would have to be from 30c to 40c yard. Sold by the end only, at, yard 19c

MISCELLANEOUS ARTICLES SHARPLY REDUCED

NEW SHIPMENT, 45c POUND PACKAGE, 5 QUIRES, NOTE PAPER, 27c Package

This is our special pound package of Azure and Principality Note Paper; high grade kid and suede finish parchment. There are five full quires in each package, and the regular selling price is 45c, but the coverings are somewhat soiled, so for the last Merry Half Day Sale the price will be, package .. 27c

YARD WIDE WHITE AND COLORED FLANNELETTES

29c YARD

If we purchased this Flannelette to-day we would have to sell it for 38c a yard. It is a full yard wide and the quality is excellent; 35/36 inches wide. Obtainable in either plain white or striped. Last Merry Half Day Sale price, yard 29c

NEW FALL SHIPMENT 85c CREPE DE CHINES 59c YARD

This handsome material will make into charming dresses for evening wear or any occasion when a light colored dress is required. Obtainable in the following colors: navy, black, stone grey, mauve, shell pink, white, old rose, sand, maize, reseda green, myrtle green, pale blue, tobac brown. Last Merry Half Day Sale, price ... 59c

NEW SHIPMENT 'HOLEPROOF' SECONDS, LADIES' SILK HOSE 39c PAIR—3 PAIRS $1.05

This is a just arrived shipment of black, white and colored silk hose. They are repaired seconds and in most cases are practically as good as firsts. Over six hundred pairs in the lot. All sizes for early buyers. Merry Half Day Sale, pair 59c

3 Pairs for $1.05.

The CRESSMAN Company Limited

NAMES OF PETERBORO BOY SCOUTS REVIEWED BY THE PRINCE TODAY

One Hundred Left for Toronto Exhibition 6.21 this Morning

One hundred Peterborough Boy Scouts left the C.P.R. station at 6.21 this morning for the Toronto Exhibition, where they will be reviewed by His Royal Highness the Prince of Wales.

The boys met on the old Charlotte Street Methodist Church grounds. At six o'clock last evening, and for two hours Secretary Whitesides was kept busy issuing tickets and making other arrangements for the trip. At 8.10 the laddies left for a final march out, but rain was responsible for their dismissal on reaching Central Park by way of Charlotte, Aylmer and Murray streets.

The boys left the city filled with commendable enthusiasm over the prospect of seeing His Royal Highness and their parents can rest assured that they will be will cared for by the officers in charge of this auspicious occasion.

Who Went.

Following are the names of the boy's who left this morning:

Sam's Own—Scout Master H. Blake, Scouts McIntyre, Franks, J. Stratton, McMackners, Willard, Wilson R. Evens, A. Patterson, Morton, Smith, A. Ham, G. Patterson, Courting, Peace, Jones, Lawdon, Kallahy, Derrick, McFadden, Whitcraft.

St. George's Troop—Scouts J. Ward, B. Wells, L. Combes, G. Hutcheson, J. Lesurbi, D. Suen, Sidders.

St. James' Troop—Sout Master H. Carte, Scouts H. Morton, J. Thompson, Monks, G. Hilliard, C. McDonald, W. Launders, A. Rooke, W. Addams, F. Cripps, T. Parsons, W. Prest, T. Church.

Ashburnham Troop—Scout Master Wm. Sedgwick, Scouts T. Montgomery, S. Laws, F. Pullyblank, T. Nelson, W. Wyatt, O. Smith, A. Wyatt, E. Connors, P. Mowny, A. Champion, M. Mealey, H. Elibs, T. Hamilton, T. E. Montgomery, E. Montgomery.

Vimy Troop—Scout Master Tyree Scouts B. Collison, P. McInnes, M. Schwier, H. Sundy, B. Cramfield, C. Preston, T. Smith, W. King, K. Thoddett, H. Camfield, R. Lloyd, J. King, B. Bugg, B. Sims, J. Walton.

St. Andrew's Troop—Scout Master C. Thornton, Scouts M. Harry Buckenridge, Francis, Brunton, Henry, Fraser, Allen, Raper, White, Tairnbeck, Dunlot, Hawley, Pulkinhorn, Robertson, Welbourn.

At the Grounds.

While the boys had to provide their own dinner today, they are guests of the Exhibition Board for supper.

NEW EXPRESS TARIFF

Companies are Given Permission to Increase Rates

Montreal, ug. 27.—In accordance with the judgment of the Board of Railway Commissioners, the tariffs of the express companies have been revised, effective Sept. 1. While the new schedules provide for increased rates on merchandise shipments weighing 100 pounds and over, the charges on the smaller parcels are in some instances reduced. The special scales of rates on shipments over 500 pounds have been cancelled.

VICTORIA FARMERS BUYING TRACTORS

NEW STYLE OF POWER COMING MORE AND MORE INTO VOGUE.

The generous rains which have visreports made by agricultural representatives to the Ontario Department of Agriculture:

The genrous rains which have visited the Province during the last week or ten days have had a reviving effect upon pastures, corn, late potatoes and roots, which crops have been noticeably suffering from the prolonged drouth.

Nearly all spring grains have been cut. In some quarters a part of these crops is still in the stook, but the bulk has been well housed. Where threshed, spring grains as a rule are not going over the estimate in actual weight. Some complaints are being made of rust in oats.

A few beans have been already harvested, and are running rather light in yield.

The rains were timely for those intending to put in winter wheat, and if present intentions and preparations are carried out, last year's area of this crop will be considerably increased this fall.

Plums have been one of the best orchard crops this year, and have come into the market a week earlier than ordinarily.

Grapes also are promising a good yield.

A number of the cattle being marketed are showing the effect of the light pastures. Huron reports that co-operative marketing of live stock, etc., is coming more into vogue, some nine or ten farmers' clubs in that county now selling that way.

Hogs have decreased in value, local sales reported ranging from $20.50 to $22 a cwt. Small pigs are selling at $15 a pair in Frontenac.

Elgin states that lambs are going to market earlier than usual.

Victoria reports that a number of tractors have been purchased by farmers in that county, and that fall work this season will be greatly helped thereby.

APSLEY'S WELCOME TO RETURNED HEROES

VETERANS OS THE WAR ENTERTAINED AT PUBLIC GATHERING.

Apsley, Aug. 27.—A grand reception for the returned soldiers under the auspices of the Women's Auxiliary was held last Tuesday evening on Hales' lawn and proved quite success. The lawn was beautifuly decorated for the occasion with flags, red, white and blue streamers and Japanese lanterns. During the evening a splendid program was rendered. On the platform were seated Col. and Mrs. T. J. Johnston, of Peterborough; Capt. and Mrs. Bygott, of Lakefield, and local clergymen. On the lawn was an ice cream booth under the supervision of Mrs. A. Jones. All returned soldiers received ice cream free of charge, outside funds being donated in aid of the soldiers' monument soon to be erected in the village. A free will offering was also given for the same purpose.

The following was the programme rendered:

Chairman's address—Reeve Lean.
Chorus—"O Canada."
Instrumental—Miss Grant.
Solo—Mrs. John Tucker.
Recitation—Alma Jones.
Solo—Rev. C. Spence.
Address—Col. Johnston.
Recitation—Mrs. W. Staples.
Solo—Miss Marjorie Spence.
Address—Capt. Bygott.
Vocal duet—Rev. J. H. and Mrs. Beck.
Address—Rev. C. Spence.
Solo—Rev. J. H. Beck.
Instrumental—Miss Grant.
Address—Rev. J. H. Beck.

Col. Johnston in his address spoke very highly of the Apsley soldiers in regard to their efficient service and splendid conduct. Both he and Capt. Bygott said it gave them great pleasure to be able to come back and spend a pleasant evening with the returned men and their friends.

Rev. C. Spence made special mention of the work done by the Women's Auxiliary during the war, they having collected $600 in money, sent a large number of boxes overseas as well as knitting so that the boys at the front were not forgotten in their home town.

A vote of thanks was tendered all who had assisted during the evening and three cheers were given for the returned soldiers. The meeting was closed by the singing of the National Anthem.

Before dispersing a free lunch was served by the ladies of the auxiliary.

Dr J. G. Rutherford has been appointed by the Dominion Government to investigate horse racing.

HASTINGS

(Special Correspondence.)

Hastings, Aug. 27.—The annual excursion of the Methodist Sunday School was held on Wednesday via steamer "Rainbow" to Hiawatha. The weather was favorable and all present report a good time.

The steamer "Stoney Lake" passed through on Friday with a party of excursionists from Peterborough en route for Healy Falls. All on board were evidently bent on taking the most of the day.

A number from Hastings motored to Trent Bridge on Friday to attend the annual regatta. A very large crowd was in attendance, and a most enjoyable time spent.

Mr. J. Cameron, of Peterborough, called here during the week.

Hastings was well represented at the tabernacle at "Missionary Heights" on Sunday afternoon and evening. The afternoon meeting was addressed by Dr. Emery, of Toronto, and the evening meeting by Evangelist Sharpe. The meetings will continue throughout the week.

The people of Bethel held a lawn social on the church grounds on Thursday evening. A very large crowd was in attendance and the proceedings were enlivened by the Hastings Band, which added much to the evening's entertainment.

Messrs. Milton and Wilbert Beavis have purchased the Murphy farm in Asphodel and will take possession in the near future.

Dr. King and party left on Friday for their home in Toronto after spending a month's vacation by the River Trent.

to Cobourg during the week to take to Cobourg durin gthe week to take in the annual horse show. Large crowds were in attendance, and a good program is reported.

Miss Laura Smith has returned from a pleasant visit with Port Hope friends.

Miss Ivey Shorter left on Friday for her home in Toronto after a short vacation in Hastings.

Rev. D. A. Thomson has returned from his annual vacation and has resumed his pastoral work.

A meeting in the interests of the referendum campaign was held in the basement of the Methodist Church on Friday evening. Mr. R. C. Doxsee was chairman.

Miss Flossie Carter is holidaying with friends out of town.

An evening party was held on Friday in Dr. King's cottage, in honor of Mr. Neil Sriver and his bride, who have recently returned from overseas.

Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Warner left on Sunday on a motor trip to some of the American cities, and expect to be gone for three weeks.

At the Methodist Church on Sunday evening, Miss Leslie Berry, of Toronto delighted the audience with a vocal solo, "Sun of My Soul."

Mr. Ghent was called to Belleville on Sunday to visit a sick brother.

Mr. and Mrs. Leslie Gould, of Toronto, are guests of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. C. Huycke, Sunny Brae.

Mrs. Robert Oakman is on a visit to friends in the United States.

Miss McFadden has been engaged as teacher in the Separate school here.

Mr. John Armour has purchased a farm in South Monaghan and intends removing his family there.

Miss M. Rhode, of Preston, is the guest of Mr. and Mrs. Doughty.

Mrs. J. Graham is visiting friends in Belleville.

The Misses English are holidaying at the home of their uncle, Mr. J. J. English.

Miss Olive Snowden, of Peterborough, is the guest of Miss Queenie Runnels.

Mr. S. Hawkins is visiting his parents in town.

Mr. Fisher, station agent, is off for a mid-summer holiday.

Rev. and Mrs. Dickenson and sons of Adolphastown, are guests of Mr. and Mrs. N. P. Plant.

Mrs. C. Lynn is visiting friends in Peterborough.

Mr. Nelson Scriver is off work owing to an injury to his hand while at work taking out logs at the mill race.

Mr. Bert Dodd, of Kingston, is visiting friends in town.

The editor of the Hastings Star has returned from his holiday and is once more at business.

Miss Josie Hayden, of Port Hope, is the guest of Miss Laura Smith.

Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Thomson have been holidaying with friends at Stoney Lake.

Miss Bessie Armour, of Toronto, spent the holidays at her home near town.

Mrs. Wm. Maye has returned from a pleasant visit in Warkworth.

Mr. H. C. Hagar, of Hamilton, succeeds Mr. Nuttal on the Toronto Bank staff.

Miss K. Dolman, of Campbellford, has accepted a position on the Public school teaching staff here.

The Misses German are holidaying with friends at Birdsall's Landing.

A severe electric storm visited this district on Sunday morning. The report is to hand that the barn of Mr. E. Peters, of Percy, was struck by the lightning.

A corn roast was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. C. Huycke on Monday evening. An umber from town went down and thoroughly enjoyed the evening.

Pte. Crozier arrived Tuesday morning from service overseas and is being welcomed by his many friends.

The Steel Company of Canada has granted all its Hamilton employes an increase of 10 per cent.

The crew of the Renown are on a five-day trip to Ottawa, Montreal, Toronto and Niagara Falls.

WHEN THEY BREAK YOU MISS THEM

If repairs are a long time delayed, you miss them worse. At Dr. Fowler's modern quick repair department broken glasses are very quickly made as good as new, and you don't have to wait over a day or half a day. If the necessity is great you get your glasses back while you wait within the hour. You'll appreciate the convenience when you try it.

EYESIGHT SPECIALIST A. A. FOWLER DOCTOR OF OPTICS

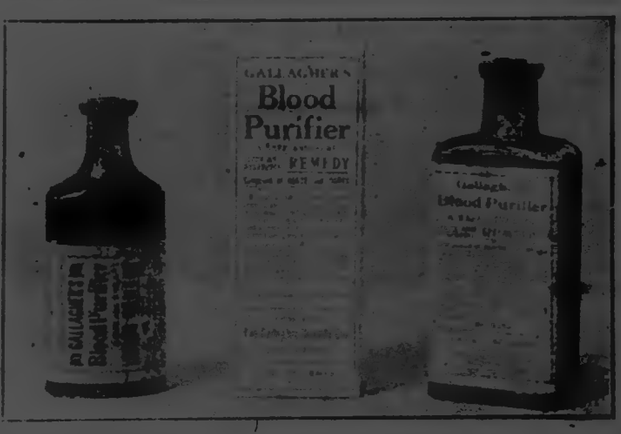
Phm. B. Toronto University.

HAS FITTED 30,000 SATISFIED WEARERS OF PEBLO GLASSES

Most Up-to-date Sanitary Optical Parlors. With Nugent Drug Co.

SINCE 1870 SHILOH 30 DROPS STOPS COUGHS



OLD STYLE BOTTLE NEW STYLE BOTTLE AND BOX

A FAMILY FAVORITE FOR FORTY YEARS

The Great Herb Laxative, digested as food, puts into the Blood elements which restores the stomach, bowels and liver to a natural healthy action. A spoonful at Night will keep your bowels right. The natural way

THEATRICAL

SEVEN DAYS LEAVE NOT PICTURE PLAY

ONE OF THE GREATEST MELO-DRAMAS EVER STAGED YET.

"Seven days' Leave," the ponderous London military spectacle, will play an engagement of one night, Wednesday September 3rd, at the Grand, where the management will offer for public approval what is supposed to be one of the greatest melodramas ever seen on any stage, dealing as it does with the war which is just closed, it shows many of the trials and tribulations of which "our boys" experienced while "over there."

"Seven Days Leave" is the romantic story of a young British officer's vacation passed in England. The attempts of German spies to steal the plans of a submarine destroyer that he has invented set the action in motion and it sweeps on in tense rapidity until the climax is reached on the gun deck of an American cruiser, whose roaring ordnance blow a Hun U-boat out of the water.

BUSHMEN AND RAYNE SEEN IN CLEVER DRAMA

"OUTLAW" AT THE GRAND OPERA HOUSE TODAY.

"Outlaw," a powerful delineation of a man's struggles to regain his lost faith, will be the attraction at the Grand, Thursday, Friday and Saturday, with Francis X. Bushman and Beverly Bayne, the clever co-stars in roles of distinctive character.

The play tells of Andrew Craig, a young lawyer who first loses the girl he loves and then later his mother to whom he was devoted. The double loss embitters him to such an extent that he believes the hand of God is against him and declares himself a religious outlaw. God's outlaw.

He leaves the town of his misfortune and seeks a remote village where he begins life anew. Although his hand is against the church his greatest friend is the priest of the village church who recognizes the splendid qualities of the young man.

It is not long however, before he finds happiness and renewed hope in a beautiful romance which leads him back to the faith he had forsworn.

The play is cleverly enacted and has an exceptional cast which includes Helen Dunbar, Samuel Kramer, Charles A. Fang, Belle Bruce, Valentine Mott and Emily Chichester.

Hillcrest Inn, Port Stanley, was damaged by fire.

A large number of changes took place Monday in the Quebec Provincial Parliament.

J. W. Freeborn has been nominated for the Legislature by the United Farmers of East Middlesex.

hich the Prince is Travelling Porter in charge of "Killarney"

SEVEN KEYS TO BALDPATE

BY EARL DERR BIGGERS

Copyright, 1913, by the Bobbs-Merrill Company

"Ahem—Mr. Cargan," put in Professor Bolton, "you give it as your opinion that woman is no trouble maker and I must admit that I agree with your premise in general, although occasionally she may cause a—a slight annoyance. Undeniably, there is a lot of trouble in the world. To whose efforts do you ascribe it?"

The mayor ran his thick fingers through his hair.

"I got you," he said, "and I got a answer too. Who makes the trouble. Who's made it from the beginning of time? The reformers, Doc. Yes, sir. Who was the first reformer? The snake in the garden of Eden. I—I—hermit guy probably has that all sewed down at woman's door. Not mine. Everything was running all right around the garden, and then the snake came along. It's a twenty to one shot he'd just finished a series of articles on 'The Shame of Eden' for a magazine. 'What d'ye mean?' he says to the woman, 'by letting well enough alone? Things are all wrong here. The present administration is running everything into the ground. I can tell you a few things that will open your eyes. What's that? What you don't know won't hurt you? The old cry, he says, 'the old cry against which progressives got to fight,' he says. 'Wake up. You need a change here. Try this nice red apple, and you'll see things the way I do.' And the woman fell for it. You know what happened."

"An original point of view," said the dazed professor.

"Yes, Doc," went on Mr. Cargan, evidently on a favorite topic, "it's the reformers that have caused all the trouble, from that snake down. Things are running smooth, folks all prosperous and satisfied, then they come along in their gum shoes and white neckties. And they knock away at the existing order until the public begins to believe 'em and gives 'em a chance to run things. What's the result? The world's in a worse tangle than ever before."

"You feel deeply on the subject, Mr. Cargan," remarked Magee.

"I ought to," the mayor replied. "I ain't no writer, but if I was I'd turn out a book that would drive this whiskered hermit's argument to the wall. Woman—bah! The only way women make trouble is by falling for the reform gag."

Mr. Peters here interrupted with the dessert, and through that course Mr. Cargan elaborated on his theory. He pointed out how, in many states, reform had interrupted the smooth flow of life, set everything awhirl and cruelly sent "the boys" who had always been faithful out into the cold world, seeking the stranger, work. While he talked the eyes of Lou Max looked out at him from behind the incongruous gold rimmed glasses, with the devotion of the dog to its master clearly written in them. Watching him now, Mr. Magee marveled at this cheap creature's evident capacity for loyalty.

"It was the reformers that got Napoleon," the mayor finished. "Yes, they sent Napoleon to an island at the end. And him without an equal since the world began!"

"Is your—begging your pardon—is your history just straight?" demurred Professor Bolton timidly.

"Is it?" frowned Cargan. "You can bet it is! I know Napoleon from the cradle to the grave. I ain't an educated man, Doc. I can hire all the educated men I want for $18 a week, but I'm up on Bonaparte."

"It seems to me," Miss Norton put in, "I have heard—did I read it in a paper?—that a picture of Napoleon hangs above your desk. They say that you see in your own career a similarity to his. May I ask—is it true?"

"No, miss," replied Cargan. "That's a joking story some newspaper guy wrote up. No, I ain't no Napoleon. There's lots of differences between us—one in particular." He raised his voice and glared at the company around the table. "One in particular. The reformers got Napoleon at the end."

"But the end is not yet," suggested Mr. Magee, smiling.

Mr. Cargan gave him a sudden and interested look.

"I ain't worrying," he replied. "And don't you, young fellow."

CHAPTER X.

Mr. Max Tells a Tale of Suspicion.

PETERS entered with coffee and was engaged in pouring it when Mr. Bland started up wildly from the table with an expression of alarm on his face.

"What's that?" he cried.

The others looked at him in wonder.

"I heard steps upstairs," he declared.

"Nousense," said Cargan; "you're dreaming. This peace and quiet has got to you, Bland."

Without replying, Mr. Bland rose and ran up the stairs. In his absence the hermit of Baldpate spoke into Magee's ear:

"I ain't one to complain," he said, "Lord knows as much as I do I've sort of got out of the habit, having nobody to complain to. But if folks keep coming and coming to this hotel, I've got to resign as cook. Seems as though every few minutes there's a new face at the table, and it's a vital matter to me."

"Cheer up, Peters," whispered Mr. Magee. "There are only two more keys to the inn. There will be a limit to our guests."

"What I'm getting at is," replied Mr. Peters, "there's a limit to my endurance."

Mr. Bland came downstairs. His face was very pale as he took his seat, but in reply to Cargan's question he remarked that he must have been mistaken.

"It was the wind, I guess," he said.

Mr. Peters shortly bade the company goodby for the night. When he had started off through the snow for his shack Mr. Cargan took out his watch.

"You're been pretty kind to us poor wanderers already," he said. "I got one more favor to ask. I come up here to see Mr Bland. We got some business to transact, and we'd consider it a great kindness if you was to leave us alone here in the office."

Mr Magee hesitated. He saw the girl nod her head slightly and move toward the stairs.

"Certainly, if you wish," he said. "I hope you won't go without saying goodby, Mr. Cargan."

"That all depends," replied the mayor. "I've enjoyed knowing you, one and all. Good night."

The women, the professor and Mr. Magee moved up the broad stairway. On the landing Mr. Magee heard the voice of Mrs. Norton somewhere in the darkness ahead.

"I'm worried, dearie—real worried."

"Hush!" came the girl's voice. "Mr. Magee—we'll meet again—soon."

Mr. Magee seized the professor's arm, and together they stood in the shadows.

"I don't like the looks of things," came Bland's hoarse complaint from below. "What time is it?"

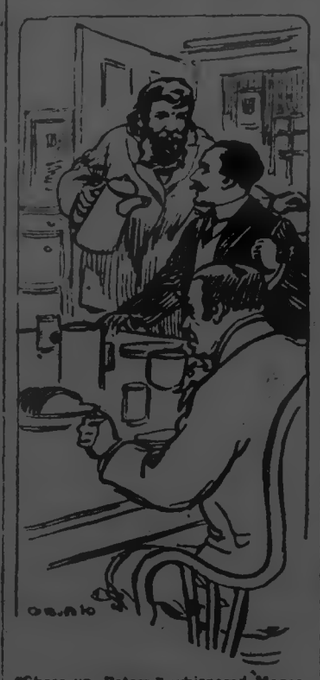
"Seven-thirty," Cargan answered; "a good half hour yet."

"There was somebody on the second floor when I went up," Bland continued. "I saw him run into one of the rooms and lock the door."

"I've got charge now," the mayor reassured him. "Don't you worry."

"There's something doing." This seemed to be Max's voice.

"There sure is," laughed Cargan. "But what do I care? I own young Drayton. I put him where he is. I ain't afraid. Let them gumshoe round as much as they want to. They can't touch me."



"Cheer up, Peters," whispered Magee.

"Maybe not," said Bland. "But Baldpate inn ain't the grand idea it looked at first, is it?"

"It's a h— of an ideal" answered Cargan. "There wasn't any need of all this foldero. I told Hayden so. Does that phone ring?"

"No; it'll just flash a light when they want us," Bland told him.

Mr Magee and Professor Bolton continued softly up the stairs, and in answer to the former's invitation, the old man entered No 7.

"It is an amazing tangle," he remarked, "in which we are involved. I have no idea what your place is in the scheme of things up here. But I assume you grasp what is going on, if I do not."

"If you think," answered Mr. Magee, proffering a cigar, "that I am in on this little game of 'who's who,' then you are vastly mistaken."

The professor smiled.

"Indeed," he said in a tone that showed his unbelief. "Indeed."

He was deep in a discussion of the meters of the poet Chaucer when there came a knock at the door, and Mr. Lou Max's unpleasant head was thrust inside.

"I been assigned," he said, "to sit up here in the hall and keep an eye out for the ghost Bland heard tramping about. And being of a sociable nature, I'd like to sit in your doorway, if you don't mind."

"By all means," replied Magee. "Here's a chair. Do you smoke?"

"Thanks." Mr. Max placed the chair sidewise in the doorway of No. 7 and sat down. From his place he commanded a view of Mr. Magee's apartments and of the head of the stairs. With his yellow teeth he viciously bit the end from the cigar. "Don't let me interrupt the conversation, gentlemen," he pleaded.

"We were speaking," said the professor calmly, "of the versification of Chaucer, Mr. Magee."

He continued his discussion in an even voice. Mr. Magee leaned back in his chair and smiled in a pleased way at the settings of the stage—Mr. Max in a cloud of smoke on guard at his door, the mayor and Mr. Bland keeping vigil by a telephone switchboard in the office below, watching for the flash of light that should tell them some one in the outside world wanted to speak to Baldpate inn; a mysterious figure who flitted about in the dark; a beautiful girl who was going to ask Mr. Magee to do her a service, blindly trusting her.

The professor droned on monotonously.

An hour passed. Mr. Max admitted when pressed that a good cigar soothed the soul and accepted another from Magee's stock. The professor continued to talk. Obviously it was his favorite diversion. He seemed to be quoting from addresses. Mr. Magee pictured him on a Chautauqua platform, the white pitcher by his side.

As he talked Mr. Magee studied that portion of his delicate, scholarly face that the beard left exposed to the world. What part had Thaddeus Bolton, holder of the Crandall chair of comparative literature, in this network of odd alarms? Why was he at Baldpate, and why was he so little moved by the rapid changes in the makeup of the inn colony, changes that left Mr. Magee gasping? He took them as calmly as he would take his grapefruit at the breakfast table. Only that morning Mr. Magee, by way of experiment, had fastened upon him the suspicion of murder, and the old man had not flickered an eyelash.

Mr. Max inserted a loud yawn into the professor's discourse.

"Once I played chess with a German," he said, "and another time I went to a lecture on purifying politics, but I never struck anything so monotonous as this job I got now. I was just thinking as I set here how it all comes of people being suspicious of one another. Now, I've always held that the world would be a better place if there wasn't no suspicion in it. Nine times out of ten the suspicion ain't got a leg to stand on, if suspicion can be said to have a leg."

Evidently Mr. Max desired the floor; graciously Professor Bolton conceded it to him.

"Speaking of suspicion," continued the drab little man on the threshold, turning his cigar thoughtfully between his thin lips, "reminds me of a case told me by Pueblo Sam a few years ago. In some ways it's real funny, and in others it's sad as hades. Pueblo Sam was called in them terms because he'd never been west of Sixth avenue. He was a swell, refined gentleman who lived by his wits, and he had considerable."

"A confidence man," suggested Magee.

"Something along that order," admitted Mr. Max, "but a good sport among his friends, you understand. Well, this case of suspicion Sam tells me about happened something like this: One scorching hot day in summer Sam gets aboard the Coney boat, his idea being to put all business cares away for an hour or two and just float calm and peaceful down the bay and cool off. So he grabs out a camp chair and hustles through the crowd up to the top deck, beside the pilot's pangout, and sits down to get acquainted with the breeze, if such there was.

"Well, he'd been sitting there about ten minutes, Sam tells me, when along came about the easiest picking that ever got loose from the old homestead"—

"I beg your pardon," protested Professor Bolton.

(To Be Continued.)

When a Chinaman wants to write the word "trouble" he makes a rough drawing of a house with two women in it.

Fruit dealers in Scranton, Pa., refuse to purchase any bananas until the quality is improved and prices decreased.

WILSON'S FLY PADS

Kill them all, and the germs too. 10c a packet at Druggists, Grocers and General Stores.

THE MARKETS

(Special to The Review.)

Toronto, Aug. 27.—Cattle market active, receipts heavy, prices:

Export cattle, choice	$13.50	$14.50
Butchers' cattle, choice	12.25	12.50
Butchers' cows, medium	9.00	10.00
Sheep	8.00	9.00
Lambs	15.25	16.00
Hogs, f.a.w.	21.25	21.25
Calves	21.00	21.50

PETERBOROUGH MARKETS

Dressed Pork, lb.	.30	.35
Choice Mutton, lb.	.23	.25
Spring lamb, lb.	.30	.34
Beef (carcase), lb.	.17	.20
Veal (carcase), lb.	.22	.24
Potatoes, pk.	.70	.75
Chickens, lb	.35	.35
Eggs, doz.	.50	.50
Butter, lb.	.60	.60
Raspberries	.27	.30
Green Corn, doz.	.25	.25
Green onions, bunch	.5	.5
Lettuce, bunch	5	.5
Radish, bunch	.5	.5
Grain, Hay and Straw.
Wheat (spring)	2.09	2.12
Wheat (marquis)	2.12	2.17
Buckwheat	1.15	1.25
Oats	.90	1.00
Barley	1.25	1.25
Timothy hay, ton	17.00	20.00
Loose straw, load	7.00	8.00

It is more difficult for some men to collect their wits than their bills.

When a married woman sits for a portrait her husband has to stand for it.

Instead of seeing snakes and other reptiles, the bibulous tramp sees axes and wood saws.

The average man doesn't know his poor relations—and his rich ones don't know him.

Fortunate is the girl who loses her temper and never finds it again.

Many a good man blacks shoes and many a bad one blacks character.

ENGLAND'S KING NEVER DIES.

The Law Simply Admits a Transfer of Royal Authority.

It is a curious point of British law that the king never dies, or, to put it in another way, it would be useless for any barrister to argue that the rights of his predecessors have really died, since the utmost law will admit is that there may be a "demise of the crown," meaning, of course, simply that there has been a transfer of the royal authority from one person to another.

It is a maxim that "the king can do no wrong," and under the law he would not be held personally responsible for any crime or "tort" that he chose to commit at any time. At any rate we are assured by high constitutional authorities, the law should actually and literally be so construed and that the statutes hold that any injury his majesty might inflict upon a subject must be ascribed to the king's advisers. One thing seems to be certain, and that is that his majesty can under no circumstances whatever be arrested. Moreover, could his goods be distrained or taken in execution should he fail to meet his liabilities.

A quaint feature of British law is that in theory the king is present at the law court at every sitting, though he might in point of fact be actually on the continent or elsewhere. It follows, therefore, that it is impossible to "nonsuit" him as plaintiff should he not put in an appearance when his case is called, since the law specifically states that the king is there. In a similar sense the king is always constructively present in parliament, though he be, in fact, thousands of miles from his sheeps.—Exchange.

What He Said.

"I left home when a mere child. I was discharged from home by my father for painting the front door black in a fit of childish mischief."

"What did your father say?"

"Go, and never darken my door again."—Exchange.

Condensed Plots.

"Why are you so fond of moving pictures?"

"My parents wouldn't let me read novels in my youth. I'm making up for lost time."—Washington Star.

Too Much.

Ned—Is she all your fancy painted her? Ted—No. My fancy never would have put the paint on so thick.—Town Topics.

Railway Time Tables

C. P. R. TIMETABLE

Effective May 4th, 1919.

GOING EAST

8.20 p.m.—Indian River, Norwood, Havelock and Tweed.

11.52 p.m.—Norwood, Havelock, Kingston, Smiths Falls, Perth, Montreal, Quebec, St John, N.B., Boston and New York.

*1.30 a.m.—Havelock, Tweed, Kingston, Perth, Smiths Falls and Ottawa.

11.59 a.m.—Norwood, Havelock, Campbellford, Tweed, Perth, Smiths Falls, Ottawa, Montreal and intermediate points.

*11.59 a.m.—Norwood and Havelock.

GOING WEST

*4.53 a.m.—Toronto, Owen Sound, Guelph, Goderich, Hamilton, Buffalo, New York, Galt, Woodstock, St. Thomas, London, Chatham, Detroit and Chicago.

6.21 a.m.—Myrtle and North Toronto.

7.35 a.m.—Toronto, Hamilton, Buffalo, Rochester, Boston, New York and intermediate points between Peterborough and Toronto.

9.35 a.m.—Lindsay, Orillia, Port McNicoll and intermediate points.

3.20—Toronto, Hamilton, Brantford, Buffalo, New York, Galt, Guelph, Woodstock, London, Windsor, Detroit and Chicago and intermediate points between Peterborough and Toronto.

6.00 p.m.—North Toronto, Lindsay and intermediate points.

*3.20 p.m.—Toronto and intermediate points.

*Daily.
Daily except Sunday.
Daily except Saturday.
*Sunday only.

GRAND TRUNK RAILWAY SYSTEM TIMETABLE.

No. 96—8:10 a.m., for Toronto, via Port Hope, also points on Main Line east.

No. 93—8:20 a.m., for Lindsay, Blackwater Jct., Orillia, Midland, North Bay and Toronto.

No. 98—8:25 a.m., for Hastings, Campbellford, Belleville and points on Main Line East.

No. 369—8:30 a.m., for Lakefield.

No. 92—12:04 p.m. for Lindsay, Port Hope, Toronto, Buffalo, making connections with International Limited for London, Detroit and Chicago.

No. 371—12:15 p.m. for Lakefield.

No. 100—2:00 p.m. for Hastings, Campbellford and Belleville.

No. 95—5:40 p.m. for Lindsay, Orillia, Midland, North Bay and Toronto.

No. 373—5:40 p.m. for Lakefield.

No. 99—8:31 p.m. for Lindsay.

No. 94—9:19 p.m. for Port Hope, Montreal and Boston.

Order Your Coal From LOW & Co.

We have all sizes in stock EGG, STOVE, NUT AND PEA. The best and cheapest coal in own Perfectly screened and promptly delivered. Bring your orders in now. Prices advance every month.

LOW & COMPANY
462 Simcoe Street. Phone 697, House 396

Lackawana Coal
Means Economy
Burns freely and is of Best Anthracite.
Trucking Orders Promptly Filled
Peterboro Fuel & Transfer Co.
162 CHARLOTTE ST.
PHONES 270-362

MIXED WOOD
$7.00 Per Cord
HARD WOOD
$10.00 Per Cord
Cutting and Splitting extra.
ORDER NOW
FROM
J. E. A. FITZGERALD
Phone 111

LUMBER
Builders' Materials of all kinds—Shingles, Scantlings, Joist and Bill Stuff, Mouldings, Castings, Base and all kinds of Finish, Boxes and Box Shooks, Slabs and Mill Wood.
Alf. McDonald Estate

Toronto Savings and Loan COMPANY
Peterborough
Head Office: 435-437 George Street
Paid-Up Capital ..$1,000,000.00
Reserve Fund $1,100,000.00

SAVINGS DEPARTMENT: Deposits received of One Dollar and upwards. Interest paid quarterly, accrues from date of deposit to date of withdrawal.
Every facility and convenience is afforded to depositors.

INVESTMENT DEPARTMENT: Debentures issued for sums of $100 & upwards for periods of one to five years, upon which special rates of interest are paid, depending upon the term of investment.

Executors and trustees are authorized by law to invest in the Debentures of this institution.
Money to loan at lowest current rates of interest.

W. G. MORROW,
Managing Director.

The Steamer Naiad
ON AND AFTER MAY 5th 1919
The Steamer Naiad will run as follows:
Leave Lakefield daily on arrival of noon G.T.R. Train for Stony Lake Points connecting at Mt. Julian with the Apsley Stage

PITTSTON COAL
IS THE BEST
ALL SIZES IN STOCK
Also best lines of SOFT COAL at Lowest Prices
McCARTHY & JOHNSTON
COAL DEALERS
111 Hunter Street, East City
Phone 96 TERMS CASH

HARD COAL
EGG, STOVE,
NUT, PEA
N. B. TAYLOR & SON
160 AYLMER ST.
Phone 209

COAL
...AND...
Builders' Supplies
Hardwood Flooring
Robt. Hicks & Co.
LIMITED

GRAND To-Night IS GIVE-AWAY NIGHT

All Local Pictures Taken Will Be Given Away After The Performance PLEASE REMEMBER YOUR NUMBER

MADGE KENNEDY IN "DAY DREAMS" | CARMEL MYERS IN "A SOCIETY SENSATION"

THURSDAY FRIDAY AND SATURDAY

3 BIG MOVIE FEATURES 3

FRACIS X. BUSHMAN AND BEVERLY BAYNE IN "OUTLAW" | CONSTANCE TALMADGE IN "WHO CARES"

EXTRA! THE BIG HIT! EXTRA!

VOD-A-VIL MOVIES

OLYMPIC TRIALS AND CANADIAN CHAMPIONSHIP TESTS OTTAWA

Revival of Amateur Sport to Perpetuate the Spirit of Clean Play and Eliminate the Taint of Professionalism-

Recently there sprang into being an organization which has for its purpose the central control and direction of athletics in Ottawa and the Ottawa Valley. This organization, the Ottawa Amateur Athletic Federation, aims at the revival of amateur sport. Its object is to revive amateurism, to solidify sport, and to perpetuate the spirit of clean play, and eliminate if possible the taint of professionalism which has crept into athletics.

An Initial Success.

Embodying as it does in its personnel many of those whose names were once household words in the realm of sport, it starts out under the most favorable auspices. Although its growth is a recent one—it has only been launched on its career a few weeks—already great success has attended its initial efforts. Through the efforts of Ed. Archibald, associate sports editor of theOttawa Journal, the Olympic trials and Canadian championship tests have been secured for the Capital.

This in itself is considerable of an achievement, as such great sporting centres as Toronto and Winnipeg were angling for these events, and the fact that they were awarded to Ottawa speaks volumes for the regard in which those associated with the Federation are held in Toronto, where the central governing body of the Canadian Amateur Athletic Union is located.

New Organizations.

There has been a tremendous impetus given to amateur sport, and signs of an awakening revival are apparent all along the line. The Ottawa police games, once one of the greatest sporting events of the season, are again being held this year, with the city firemen, the Dominion Police and the Hull police affiliated. New amateur athletic organizations, such as the Ottawa South Amateur Athletic Club, and various other clubs, have sprung into being and are being linked up with the Federation.

Sport in the Capital and throughout the Ottawa Valley has been in a chaotic condition. Partly as a result of the war, but mostly because of the lack of control and the haphazard and slipshod methods formerly in vogue, a semi-professional spirit has been produced, which has threatened to result in the abolition of sport altogether from an amateur standpoint. A registration committee, consising of Guy Boyce, famous as a paddler and hockey player, as well as an organiser of amateur athletics, Controller Frank Plant, one of the foremost athletic devotees in the Capital, and Allan Healey, secretary of the Federation, has been appointed.

Will Enlarge Its Scope.

The powers of the association permit it to issue amateur cards, to sanction athletic meets and to govern its affiliated bodies in accordance with the rules and regulations of the main governing body. Nearly every amateur athletic club in Ottawa embracing every branch of sport has hastened to link up with the organization and cards are being issued daily. The groundwork has been completed, and the Ottawa Amateur Athletic Association is now prepared to enlarge its scope and receive applications from organizations of the Ottawa Valley.

GUNNER A. L. ALLEN AT LAST CLEARED OF THEFT CHARGE

Case Dismissed on Account of Lack of Conclusive Evidence Against Accused.

For the fourth time Gunner A. L. Allen appeared in the police court on a charge of appropriating a $2 subscription which he had sold to Miss Marguerite Hall, formerly of Water street.

Miss Hall paid $2 for her subscription to the Pictorial Review, and on not receiving her journal she wrote the head office, but received no reply until called by Chief Thompson to verify the information which had been forwarded to him by that company.

Harold Gilbert, district agent for the Allard-Brophy Co., and in whose employ Allen was at the time Miss Hall's subscription was taken, was called as a Crown witness. He swore that Miss Hall's subscription had never been handed in to him. Allen had made the statement to him that the book upon which should have been the record of Miss Hall's subscription had been lost. He was given another order book and used up two or three books afterward before being dismissed by Gilbert. Letters were read which were written by Gilbert to the head office praising Allen and vouching for his honesty.

The Defence.

Mr. Strickland, counsel for defendant, pointed out that the records for which the court had been adjourned were not produced.

The Crown had produced the head of the company, H. G. Allard, as a witness, and he swore that he had no access to the files of the company, he having left that concern. He also stated that all the files at the Toronto fice had been transferred to the head office at Buffalo. He, of course, could remember nothing of the subscription mentioned nor of any complaint by Miss Hall. This was quite natural as the company had special complaint clerks to look after such matters.

Accused swore that he had taken Miss Hall's order and had lost the book upon which was the record of the transaction. He had, however, paid the money to Gilbert with a note of the number of the stubs, which, unfortunately, had been lost. At the close of each day's business he gave in all his subscription money to Gilbert and received from him his commission. The agent was never given a receipt from Gilbert.

Magistrate Dumble could not in justice to a soldier of the King convict him on such hazy evidence as had been produced, and he consequently dismissed the case.

HOW THEY STAND

INTERNATIONAL LEAGUE.

	W.	L.	P.C.
Baltimore	89	40	.690
Toronto	8	49	.626
Buffalo	73	55	.570
Newark	65	64	.504
Binghamton	60	67	.472
Rochester	54	75	.419
Reading	43	78	.355
Jersey City	45	83	.352

Yesterday's Results

Toronto 5, Jersey City 3.
Buffalo 3, Newark 2.
Baltimore 6, Rochester 1.
Rochester 3, Baltimore 0.
Reading 8, Binghamton 3.

Games Today.

Chicago at Toronto (exhibition game).
Baltimore at Rochester.
Newark at Buffalo.
Reading at Binghamton.

MICH.-ONTARIO LEAGUE.

	W.	L.	P.C.
Saginaw	67	29	.698
Hamilton	64	31	.674
Brantford	55	37	.598
Battle Creek	58	40	.592
Bay City	38	60	.388
Kitchener	36	60	.375
London	34	64	.347
Flint	32	63	.337

Yesterday's Results

Brantford 4, Hamilton 1.
Battle Creek 13, Flint 7.
London 4, Kitchener 2.
Saginaw 2, Bay City 1.

Games Today.

Hamilton at Kitchener.
Brantford at London.
Bay City at Saginaw.
Battle Creek at Flint.

AMERICAN LEAGUE.

	W.	L.	P.C.
Chicago	73	40	.646
Cleveland	65	46	.586
Detroit	65	47	.580
New York	59	51	.536
St. Louis	59	52	.532
Boston	51	59	.464
Washington	43	68	.387
Philadelphia	28	80	.259

Yesterday's Results

Chicago 4, St. Louis 3.
Cleveland 7, Detroit 2.

Games Today.

Chicago at St. Louis.
Detroit at Cleveland.
Washington at New York.
Philadelphia at Boston.

NATIONAL LEAGUE.

	W.	L.	P.C.
Cincinnati	81	34	.704
New York	69	40	.633
Chicago	60	50	.545
Pittsburg	53	56	.486
Brooklyn	54	57	.486
Boston	42	63	.400
St. Louis	40	68	.370
Philadelphia	38	69	.355

Yesterday's Results

Cincinnati 4, Philadelphia 3.
xCincinnati 8, Philadelphia 3.
Boston 1, Chicago 0.
Boston 7, Chicago 2.
Brooklyn 1, St. Louis 0.
Brooklyn 2, St. Louis 1.
New York 9, Pittsburg 1.
Pittsburg 4, New York 1.
xFifteen innings.

Games Today.

Boston at Brooklyn.
New York at Philadelphia

Eventful Career of Dr. Anna Shaw

In the death of the Rev. Dr. Anna Howard Shaw there was brought to a close a life crowded with activities from her earliest youth until her last illness, a career as remarkable as it was rare. The whole course of her life was bent upon human betterment, and she was for many years a leader, especially in the cause of woman suffrage. Dr. Shaw was born at Newcastle-on-Tyne, England, February 14, 1847, and came to America with her parents in 1853, being nearly shipwrecked on the way over. When she was nine years old her parents went from Massachusetts to Michigan, settling in what was then a wilderness, 40 miles from a post office and 100 miles from a railroad. In "The Story of a Pioneer," which Dr. Shaw published in 1915, she told the interesting story of her life. The family endured many hardships in that sparsely populated region. The little log cabin which they occupied had the earth for a floor, and holes in the walls instead of windows and doors. Her father was without horses or other farm animals, and without farming implements. Dr. Shaw helped plant corn and potatoes by chopping a hole in the ground with an axe. She did most of the work in the digging of a well, chopped wood for the big fireplace, felled trees, and later helped in the laying of a floor in the house and putting in doors and windows and partitions. The father was compelled to leave his wife and children at the mercy of Indians and wild animals while he earned a living for them.

When she was 15 she began teaching school, receiving $4 a week and walking eight miles a day. Later she went to live with a married sister in a northern town. She was determined to have a college education, and by preaching and lecturing, which was frowned upon by members of her family and friends, she managed to pay her way through Albion College, where she studied from 1872 to 1875. She had only $18 in her pocket when she arrived at Albion. She later went to the Theological School of Boston University, where she was graduated in 1878. She suffered extreme poverty during this period, living in an attic in Boston. She often went cold and hungry and knew the exhaustion due to continued insufficient food and hard work. On account of her sex, she was refused when applying for ordination by the New England Conference and by the General Conference of the Methodist Episcopal Church, but in the same year had the honor of being the first woman ordained by the Methodist Protestant Church. In her struggles to become a minister she fought against ridicule, dissension, and lack of the barest necessities.

When the suffrage movement began to show increasing energy in 1885, Dr. Shaw resigned her pastorate to devote her life to a fight for temperance suffrage, and social purity. She became the lecturer for the Massachusetts Woman's Suffrage Association, and from 1886 to 1892 she was national superintendent of franchise of the Women's Christian Temperance Union. Her association through her preaching with such prominent women as Mary A. Livermore and Julia Ward Howe enlarged her view of life and aroused her enthusiasm for the causes of suffrage and liberty. On the resignation of Dr. Shaw's most intimate friend, Susan B. Anthony, in 1900, the presidency of the National Woman's Suffrage Association rested between Dr. Shaw and Mrs. Carrie B. Chapman, whom Miss Anthony finally chose as being the more experienced, while Dr. Shaw was made vice-president-at-large. She had been national lecturer for the organization since 1886 and continued in this work until 1904, when Mrs. Chapman-Catt was compelled to resign the presidency on account of ill-health, and Dr. Shaw succeeded her as head of the National Association. She served in this capacity until 1915, when she declined re-election. Her administration was marked by unprecedented progress. The number of suffrage workers increased from 17,000 to 200,000 and one campaign in ten years was replaced by ten in one year; the expenditures of the association increased from $15,000 to $50,000 annually, while the number of states with full suffrage grew from four to twelve and the whole suffrage movement changed from an academic discussion to a vital political force arousing the attention of the entire nation.

As chairman of the Committee of Women's Defence Work, appointed by the Council of National Defence, in April, 1917, Dr. Shaw performed great services throughout the war, (from the New York Times.

As a minister, Dr. Shaw would not perform a marriage ceremony in in which it was insisted that the word "obey" be used.

In 1913 Dr. Shaw figured in a lively skirmish with the authorities in Delaware County, Penn., where she lived. Dr. Shaw refused to make out a statement of her "personal property, mortgages, stocks," and other property, returning the blank that had been left at her home to be filled out on the ground that taxation without representation was tyranny. The Tax Assessor assessed her property at $30,000, which she declared was excessive, but the Tax Commissioner declined to do anything about the matter unless Dr. Shaw personally made out the declaration. The result was that her automobile, a pale yellow roadster, given her by admiring suffrage workers, was levied upon and sold by the sheriff for the taxes. The car was bought in by her friends and returned to her.

The Review Job Printing Department

Is complete in every respect. We are prepared to print anything from a visiting card to a catalogue at the shortest notice. We use only the best of papers and our work is all guaranteed to . . please . .

PRICES ARE-AS LOW AS IS CONSISTENT WITH CLASS OF WORK WE DO

PHONE 189 AND OUR REPRESENTATIVE WILL CALL

-:- THE REVIEW -:-

Roorback.

"Roorback" is a word that was adopted into the political vocabulary of the United States in the last decade of the first half of the nineteenth century. With "gerrymander," which came into use earlier, and "boom," which was invented later, it has long held a secure place in the dictionary. "Roorback" is defined as a fictitious report intended to influence an election and which hurts its author.—Christian Science Monitor.

Somewhat Different.

Sapleigh — That — aw — pwetty little sculptress I — aw — met at youah weception lawst evening compiewetely turned me head, doncher know. Mrs. Knox —Indeed! I knew she had quite a reputation as a modeler in clay, but I wasn't aware that she worked in wood. —Exchange.

Gold of the Rand.

It is said that during the last ten years the Rand has produced more gold than was produced by the entire world in the first half of the nineteenth century and that its production today is approximately two-fifths of the total output of the world.

Death of a Pearl.

Pearls are almost the only precious gems which are subject to decay, and this happens very rarely. When disease attacks a pearl it turns color and after a time crumbles away. The most valuable pearl ever known is supposed to have become diseased. It belonged to a Russian millionaire who kept it carefully locked in a casket and refused to show it even to his most intimate friends. One day some jewel experts prevailed upon him to let them see the precious gem. When he opened the casket he was dismayed to find that the pearl had been attacked by disease and was already changing color. Soon afterward a heap of white powder was all that was left of the jewel.

Key of Tibaldo.

The "key of death" is a large key which is shown among the weapons at the arsenal at Venice. It was invented by Tibaldo, who, disappointed in love, designed this instrument for the destruction of his rival. The key is so constructed that the handle may be turned around, revealing a small spring, which being pressed a very fine needle is driven with considerable force from the other end. This needle is so very fine that the flesh closes over the wound immediately, leaving no mark, but the death of the victim is almost instantaneous.

Uses For Viscose.

By converting cellulose, one of the elements of wood, into a gelatinous material known as viscose, a wide field is opened up for the utilization of wood waste, and a new line of products, varying all the way from sausage casings to tapestry, is added to the already lengthy list.

Party Affiliation.

"Pa, what's meant by 'party affiliation?'"

"That's a term used by diplomatic persons to conceal the real motive which prompts men to hang together in the hope of sharing in the spoils of office."—Birmingham Age-Herald.

Swatted His Egotism.

An English lady was taken in to supper at a private party by a young Scotchman who had a high estimate of his own mental capacity. The talk drifted to the subject of the Scot abroad.

"I've often heard," said the lady, "that Scotsmen who leave their country are, generally speaking, much cleverer than those who stay at home."

"Oh, yes," replied the Scot, with an attempt at wit. "You see, the reason is that at every outlet there are persons stationed who examine all who pass, so that for the honor of the country no one is allowed to leave who is not able to uphold his own and his country's dignity."

"Oh, then," she said, with a bright smile, "you were smuggled, were you?"

The Pessimist's Notion.

"He's a pessimist."

"Yes. Nothing's as good as it might be, and everything is worse than it ought to be."—Detroit Free Press.

Observe your enemies, for they first find out your faults.—Antisthenes.

National Victory Celebration

TO BE OPENED BY H.R.H., THE PRINCE OF WALES

EXHIBITION

Aug. 23 TORONTO Sept. 6

British Grenadier Guards Band

War Memorial Paintings

Sensation of the art world, recording every phase of Canadian operations overseas.

WAR TROPHIES

Mammoth assemblage of monster guns, aeroplanes and all the instruments of hellish warfare captured by Canadian soldiers from the Hun.

Canada's Flying Circus

Cols. Barker and Bishop and other world famous aces in surrendered German planes.

WHIPPET TANK CAPTURED U BOAT

Festival of Triumph

SEE The remainder of the Canadian Fleet, Venerable Canada—History Aisle, Allenby's entry into Jerusalem, and a score of other entertaining features

Bringing up Father By George McManus

HOW KIN ANY ONE BE THAT LAZY AN' LIVE -
MO-HUM!!
THAT NEW SERVANT OF YOURS IS THE LAZIEST PERSON I EVER SAW-
DONT TALK SO MUCH - GO TELL HER TO HAVE BREAKFAST AT EIGHT O'CLOCK IN THE MORNING!
OH! MARY - WILL YOU HAVE BREAKFAST TOMORROW MORNIN' AT EIGHT?
THANK - YOU SIR-
"DON'T BOTHER ABOUT ME - JUST GET YOUR OWN BREAKFAST - I'LL EAT LATER!

CHILDREN'S EYES

require more careful watching than those of an adult. If your child complains of his eyes, bring him without delay to

W. H. LACEY,
OPTICAL SPECIALIST
410 GEORGE STREET

GENERAL AND LOCAL NEWS

R. M. C., KINGSTON, OPENS

Kingston, Aug. 26. — The Royal Military College opened Monday and forty-eight recruits were received. Remainder of cadets of other classes are not expected until September 8th.

REMEMBER

The regular Weekly Dance of the Peter Robinson Chapter I. O. D. E., Friday evening, August 29th, at Chemong.

RELIC OF THE PAST

Excavation for the new bridge approaches east side of the river has unearthed beneath about fifteen feet of gravel remains of the old corduroy bridge, used when Peterborough was but an insignificant spot on the map of old Ontario. The logs are in perfectly good condition.

Dr. E. V. Frederick, member Royal College of Surgeons, England, late Surgeon No. 1, Canadian Stationery Hospital, Salonica, late Surgical Specialist No. 70 Indian Stationary Hospital, Bagdad, late Clinical Assistant Mayo Clinic, Rochester, Minn., has resumed practice corner Charlotte and Rubidge streets, Peterboro— especially consulting practice in surgical and chronic conditions.

Dr. Free, late house physician Toronto General Hospital, assistant in practice with Dr. Frederick and in charge of laboratory work.

PAINTERS ON STRIKE

In view of the fact that the boss painters refused to grant the increase demanded by their employes, the Kingston painters went out on strike last evening, declaring that they would not return to work until their request was granted. The painters ask for an increase of 15 cents an hour and absolutely refuse to accept the 10 cent advance offered by the bosses.

TIRES VULCANIZED

Because that tire has a hole through it is no reason why you should throw it away. You may yet get several thousand miles out of it by having a sectional repair made. We Vulcanize Auto Tires and Tubes and guarantee our work. Millard's Bicycle Shop, 225 Hunter street, near Aylmer, phone 234j.

LAST BIBLE STUDY

The last of the series of bible studies conducted by Evangelist Kennedy for the benefit of the converts secured during the recent evangelistic services, will be held at eight o'clock Friday evening, at the Y.M.C.A.

LABOR DAY TO HEALEY FALLS.

On Monday, Sept. 1, Labor Day, the steamer Stoney Lake will leave the George St. wharf at 7:45 a.m. for Healey Falls. Tucker's orchestra will supply music. Fare: adults $1, children 50c.

TAX RATE 35 MILLS

The tax rate for Owen Sound for 1920 will be 35 mills. Next year's rate is two mills higher than this year owing chiefly to an increased expenditure by the Board of Education.

"I WAS SEEING NELLIE HOME"

The old-time quilting party is no more, but there are tender memories that Mabel Garrison's rendition of this by-gone song as they listen to it on a Victrola in the beautiful Victrola Parlors of Ye Olde Firme of Heintzman & Co. Limited, George and Hunter streets, Peterborough, and 500 other records from which you can make a selection. The Red Seal Records are now less than half-price. Get list.

93RD BATT. PICNIC AT SOUTH BEACH

BAND AND ORCHESTRA—GOOD PROGRAM OF ATHLETIC SPORTS.

Lt. Col. Johnston, Capt. Widdifield and a committee are arranging for a 93rd battalion picnic at South Beach, Clear Lake, on Saturday, September 6th. Members of this battalion relatives and friends are invited to this outing and it is figured out that quite 500 will invade this popular lake resort Saturday week.

Two boats have been engaged for this trip, the "Empress" and the "Stoney Lake." The former will leave George street wharf at 7.30 a.m. and the latter at 8 o'clock. The G.W.V.A. band will go up with the "Empress" and an orchestra with the "Stoney Lake." Boats will leave South Beach at 4.30 for home.

The committee are preparing an excellent program of sports, which will be announced next week.

REV. THOMAS JOPLIN HERE

Securing Funds for the Shantymen's Christian Association

Rev. Thomas Joplin, field secretary of the Shantymen's Christian Association, is in the city on his annual visit for the purpose of raising funds. The work is being extended and the Association have in mind the purchase of a launch in order to reach the lumber camps on the shores of British Columbia. Mr. Joplin will be in town only a few days and anyone wishing to contribute to the cause may send their offering to the Y.M.C.A. where he is stopping. Any church or Sunday School may secure his services for an address next Sunday.

LIEUT. MIGHT IS HOME.

Lieut. Percy Might, 782 George street, returned home last night. Lieut. Might enlisted with the 93rd Battalion and went overseas with that unit. He served in France with the 18th Battalion, and since the armistice was signed has been engaged as a professor in the Khaki University, Yorkshire.

NOTICE

Miss Dorothy Stuart, pianist of the Peterborough Conservatory staff, will organize a class for piano playing at Keene, beginning Wednesday, Sept. 10th. For terms, phone 355, or write Peterboro Conservatory, or inquire of Miss Pearl McCann, Keene.

VETERANS PROTEST

The Kingston War Veterans' Association passed a resolution protesting against the petitions for the repeal of the M.S.A., sentences.

AUCTION SALE

Of houses and lots, No. 218 Carlisle Ave. also No. 2. and No. 6 Concession street on Saturday, Aug. 30th, at 2 p.m., in Munroe Hotel. Terms to suit purchaser. See posters.

W. J. HANCOCK,
Auctioneer

CANAL TRIP TO STONEY LAKE

On Friday, Aug. 29th, Steamer Stoney Lake will leave the George Street wharf at 8 o'clock for Stoney Lake Points, returning to city about 8 o'clock. Round trip $1.00.

METROPOLITAN LIFE PICNIC

The Metropolitan Life picnic will be held on Saturday, Aug. 30th at T. A. S. Park. Steamer Stoney Lake will run hourly trips, the first from the upper wharf at 8.30 a. m. and after that hourly from the lower wharf. Good music, games and sports of all kinds. Tickets which are free to all policy holders may be had at the Metropolitan Life office.

LAST THURSDAY AFTERNOON TO GORE'S LANDING

On Thursday afternoon, Aug. 28th, the Steamer Stoney Lake will leave the Geo. St. wharf at 1.30 p. m., calling at Mark St. wharf and St. Ry. wharf for Gore's Landing. Round trip 60c.

AUCTION SALE

Of Household Furniture, etc., at the home of Mr. F. A. D. Fry, 204 Westcott Street, on Thursday, Aug. 28thfl at 1.30 p.m. No reserve.

SOCIAL AND PERSONAL

WEAVEN—KELLY.

At 626 George street, Peterborough, on August 25th, Ida May Kelly was united in marriage to Frank M. Weaven. Rev. S. Crookshanks officiated. The young couple were unattended.

Mr. J. H. Burnham, M.P., left for Ottawa today to attend the session of Parliament, which opens next Monday.

Rev. W. H. White, of St. Luke's Church and Mrs. White, left today for Kawartha Park where they have taken a cottage for a few weeks.

Mr. Bert Thompson of Montreal was in the city yesterday, and left last evening for a vacation at Stoney Lake.

Mr. and Mrs. A. F. Knight of Toronto have returned from a fishing outing in the back lakes, and will be guests for a few days of Mr. and Mrs. R. M. Roy, Rubidge Street.

Mr. Chas. Curtis was a visitor at the Toronto Exhibition yesterday. He reports that the War Memorial Display is well worth going up to see.

Mr. and Mrs. G. Goodman of Toronto motored to the city yesterday and spent the day here.

Miss Blackwell of North Bay has returned home after an extended visit with friends in the city.

Miss Beryl Blanchard of Toronto is holidaying in the city.

Mr. Harcourt Downs, of "Bonny Cliffs," Cleveland, O., was a visitor to the city yesterday.

Mr. and Mrs. H. C. Clifford of Hamilton visited with friends in the city over the week-end.

Miss Mabel Smythe of Toronto is holidaying with friends in the city.

Mrs. Watson and Miss Watson of Fairy Lake Cottage were in Peterborough last week.

Miss Mabel Lemay of Stoney Lake is visiting with friends in the city.

Mr. J. F. Linton has been holidaying at Stoney Lake.

Mr. and Mrs. Morrow of Toronto motored to the city today.

Mr. and Mrs. S. S. Rathwell, Merrickville, Ont., are visiting Peterborough friends.

Dr. and Mrs. Smith, Lakefield, were in the city yesterday.

Miss Thompson, nurse-in-training at Nicholls Hospital, is holidaying with her parents at Mount Julian.

Mrs. R. H. Ross and Miss Helen have been visiting friends at Norway Bay, Quebec.

Misses Grace and Joyce Kerr of Toronto were in the city for the Kerr-Pearce wedding which took place yesterday.

Gunner V. Davidson, 857 Water street, is expected to arrive home from overseas today.

Mrs. James McGhee has returned to her home in the city after spending the past three months in Ottawa.

Mr. J. Cameron was a Hastings visitor last week.

Mrs. Collins of Oshawa was in the city yesterday.

Miss Snowden is visiting Hastings friends.

Mr. Wm. Madill returned home last night from a visit to Toronto.

Mr. G. H. Perrin returned to the city last night from Toronto.

LABOR DAY PRIZES FOR INDIAN RIVER

MESSRS. THOMPSON AND GILLESPIE HAVE EACH DONATED SILVER CUP.

G. A. Gillespie, M.L.A., has donated a handsome silver cup for the best all-round athlete who takes part in the contests at Indian River next Monday, Labor Day. Mr. James Thompson, M.L.A., has also donated a valuable trophy of the same description, the prize to go to the winning team in the baseball match. Everything points to a big day, and if the weather is favorable the villagers will be treated to one of the best entertainments of the kind ever offered. The committee, at that, will have to go some to eclipse former records.

CHILD BURNED TO DEATH

Hid in Packing Case After Setting Grass on Fire.

Victoria, Aug. 27.—Hiding in an empty packing case after setting fire to the dry grass in the yard of his home, little Herbert John Wood, aged 4½ years, was burned to death when the case caught fire from the burning grass. Apparently, he was overcome with fright and unable to

NEW ATHLETIC ASSN. IS FORMED

CONNECTED WITH G.W.V.A. AND ALL RETURNED SOLDIERS ELIGIBLE FOR MEMBERSHIP.

WILL ORGANIZE HOCKEY TEAM

OFFICERS AND EXECUTIVE COMMITTEE APPOINTED LAST NIGHT.

An Athletic Association in connection with the G.W.V.A. was organized at the G.W.V.A. hall last night under promising conditions. As Comrade Layfield pointed out, the Veterans' Association has the material for a splendid atheletic organization which would prove a bond between players and fans that cannot be equalled any other way.

The officers elected last evening leave no room for pessimism as to the satisfactory outcome of preliminaries now in hand. These officers are:

President—Comrade Layfield.
First Vice—Comrade Dallady.
Second Vice—Comrade Le Barr.
Secretary—Harry Thornton.
Treasurer—Comrade Hagerman.
Executive—Comrades Holyman, Burrows, Evans, Halpin, Kirn.

Hockey Team

The Executive is to prepare at once bylaws governing the Athletic Association, and to take preliminary steps for a hockey team to play in the O.H.A. series this winter. A report of business done is looked for, a week from tonight.

All returned soldiers are eligible for membership in the G.W.V.A. Athletic Association whether they are members of the G.W.V.A. or not

FUNERAL TOMORROW

The funeral of the late Adelard Guerin, who met death by accident yesterday in the street car barns, will take place from St. Peter's Cathedral tomorrow morning at 8 o'clock

IN MEMORIAM

GRIFFIN—In loving memory of our dear son, Pte. Milton F. Griffin, of the 58th Battalion, who fell in battle on the fields of France, Aug. 27, 1918, at the early age of 18 years.

Oh, we little thought as we said goodbye,
That we parted for ever, and you were to die.
Grief that we felt, words cannot tell,
For we could not be with you to bid you farewell.
You nobly answered duty's call
And gave your life for one and all.
Your unknown death was a bitter blow
That none but an aching heart can know.

Inserted by his parents, Fred and Lillie Griffin.

Bathing Shoes
Low and High. Sizes 2 to 8
PRICES RANGING FROM 85c UP

Bathing Caps
Newest Styles. All Shades
PRICES FROM 40c up

Water Wings
best Quality
Strong and durable
50c PER PAIR
—AT—
Warne Drug Co.
Limited
351 George Street.
Phone 527w

OUTSTANDING VALUES FOR THE LAST OF OUR

THURSDAY 3½ HOUR SALES

These "Specials" For To-morrow Morning's - - Selling Cannot Be Duplicated - -

WOMEN'S AND MISSES' NAVY BLUE AND BLACK SERGE DRESSES, $18.50

IN THE NEWEST FALL STYLES—MODELS THAT HAVE JUST COME TO US FROM NEW YORK

Every one of good quality fine all-wool serge. The styles new and entirely youthful. Rarely have we had an offering of dresses to equal this one. An excellent opportunity in New York, of which we immediately took advantage, allowed us to secure these dresses at an unusually low price. Hence this Thursday Morning offering. At the sale price each dress is a wonderful bargain. A big variety of charming styles to choose from $18.50

20c Towelling, 12½c yard
A most exceptional value in heavy natural Crash Towelling, 18 inches wide. Suitable for roller or dish towels. An odd lot of 20c towelling. A limited quantity while it lasts. Thursday ..... Yard 12½c

Linen Crash Towelling, 25c yard
Another good Thursday morning bargain in pure linen Crash Towelling, 16 inches wide; heavy, strong, durable quality that will give splendid wear. Regular 35c. Thursday Bargain, yard ... 25c

Odd Table Napkins, To Clear, 22½c
Extra good quality Damask Table Napkins. An odd lot of about five dozen, in odd floral patterns; tea and breakfast size. Some plain, some nicely hemmed. To clear Thursday Morning ..... Each 22½c

35c Striped Flannelettes, 25c yard
Pure White Flannelettes, of good weight and fine, soft finish; woven from fine cotton yarns; an exceptionally nice quality, which will make warm and cosy night garments for women and children. Regular 35c. Thursday Morning Bargain, yard 25c

35c and 40c Ginghams and Chambrays, 25c yard
Nice assortment of black and white check Ginghams and plain Chambrays; imported English qualities; 27 inches wide; fast colors; splendid material for girls' dresses and women's house dresses. Regular 35c and 40c yard. Thursday Morning Bargain, yard 25c

30c White Longcloth, 21c yard
Full bleached White Longcloth; a fine, evenly woven cotton; 35 inches wide; suitable for all purposes white cotton can be used for. Regular 30c. Thursday Morning Bargain, yard 21c

$2.00 and $2.50 Combinations, $1.00
Five only women's and misses' counter-soiled lisle thread Combination Suits; medium weight for Fall wear. All good styles. Half price and less. Regular $2 and $2.50. Thursday Morning $1.00

Cotton Knit Drawers, 69c pair
Women's mid-season weight white cotton knit Drawers; closed style, umbrella knee, lace trimmed. Worth to-day 85c. Thursday Morning, pair 69c

COATS AND CAPES—BIG PRICE REDUCTIONS FOR THURSDAY MORNING SALE

$25.00 Tricolette Capes, $8.00
Only two, exclusive New York models, in Tricolette Capes; one in navy blue, the other in sand shade. Regular $25.00. Thursday Bargain ... $8.00

$42.50 and $55.00 Capes, $25.00
Just two, smart model Capes; one in sand shade serge, regular $55.00; one in French blue silvertone, regular $42.50. Thursday Morning ..... Each $25.00

$50.00 and $60.00 Coats, $25.00
Women's Coats, two only, in sand shade pure wool serge; body and sleeves well lined, smart styles. Half price and less. Regular $50.00 and $60.00. Thursday Morning $25.00

Tailored Skirts, $8.50
Smart new up-to-date models, in black and navy blue Separate Skirts; several very smart styles to choose from.. Thursday Morning $8.50

85c Children's Rompers 69c
Gingham Rompers for little children; well made from good check ginghams, in a nice range of dark and light colors. Sizes to fit 1, 2 and 3 years. Regular 85c. Thursday Morning 69c

$1.50 Underskirts, 98c
Black satin and black and navy Moirette Underskirts; new narrow styles, with pleated flounce. Reg. $1.50. Thursday Morning .. 98c

House Dresses, $2.50
These house dresses are made of good percales, in a variety of styls, in various stripe and check patterns. Thursday Morning ..... Each $2.50

STORE OPENS 8.30 a.m. RICHARD HALL & SON LIMITED STORE CLOSES 12 NOON

NOTICE to CONTRACTORS

Owing to September 1st being a public holiday, the time for receiving tenders for the new school is extended until twelve o'clock noon, on TUESDAY, SEPTEMBER, 2nd.

G. H. THOMPSON,
Secretary Board of Education.

TOWNSHIP OF SMITH

Parents having children attending the Public Schools of the Township must have the same vaccinated at once. Trustees are requested to cooperate with the Board in having this order strictly enforced. By order of Board of Health.

J. W. KELLY,
Secretary.

Mrs. Mary Jane Sharp, Belleville, aged 95, died from a fall on a stairway.

Alphonse Racine of Montreal was fined $250 under the M. S. A. for deserting.

VICTORY BONDS

WE PAY
HIGHEST SPOT CASH
PRICE
NO FUSS :-: NO DELAY
Hughson Johnstone
PETERBOROUGH
Suite 202-203, Barrie Building
George St. Next to Customs House
Phone 958
OPEN SATURDAY NIGHTS

Canadian Wholesale Association predict that sugar may go to twenty cents per pound.

Stoney Lake Navigation Company

Steamers leave Lakefield for the Lakes on arrival of all trains from Peterborough.

Steamers leave the Lake to connect with 9.30 a.m. (morning) and 1.40 p.m. (afternoon) trains for Peterborough.

G. T. R. trains leave Peterborough at 8.30 a.m., 12.15 noon and 5.40 p.m.

For excursion rates, information, etc., phone 548, or write

F. G. YOUNG,
Gen. Manager.
497 King St.

Anthony Dumney, Fort William, was fined $400 for operating an illicit still.

Harry Hachey, St. John, N.B., was severely injured by being struck by a street car.

OPENS TUESDAY SEPTEMBER 2nd FALL TERM PETERBORO BUSINESS COLLEGE Office open every day this week

Get Particulars From J. A. McKONE, Principal.

Light winds, fine today and becoming a little warmer Saturday, fresh south-west winds and partly fair but showers in some localities.

The Daily Review

8 PAGES

40th YEAR No. 49 Peterborough's Oldest Newspaper. PETERBOROUGH, ONTARIO, FRIDAY, AUGUST 29, 1919. Price Two Cents per copy

WEDDING HALTED GIRL PROTESTS

BRIDE-TO-BE TOSSES MOANING ON BED AS ORANGE BLOSSOMS WILT.

GROOM IS CONSUMPTIVE

HEAD OF CITY HEALTH DEPARTMENT TOOK ACTION TO STOP THE WEDDING.

Chicago, Aug. 28.—Today the fog was twisting and twirling around in the brain of Mary Fenelon, 5847 Calumet avenue She was bewildered and overwhelmed; she did not understand. This was to have been her wedding day—it seemed to her like a funeral

There on the bed lay her wedding gown. On the dresser was the white headpiece and the lacy veil. A vase of lillies gtood on the bureau, but they had wilted. And on the bed lay Mary Fenelon, crying as if her heart would break.

She was to have been married in Corpus Christi Church at 8 o'clock this morning to William Forestal, a widower, with one daughter. They set the wedding day for today. But Dr. Herman N. Bundesen of the city health department took Forestal to the county hospital last night. Forestal was suffering with an advanced stage of consumption.

"We might be criticized for breaking in on this wedding," apologised the doctor but tuberculosis spreads worse than leprosy. His child might catch the disease.

Woman's Plea Is Vain

Miss Fenelon screamed when they took away the man who was to be her husband. She threw her arms around him, she told the doctor that, tubercular or not, Forestal was her man—she loved him.

"His kiss may have made you consumptive, too," frowned the doctor and he led the man away.

In Mary Fenelon's arms today lay a girl, 2 years old. She was Mary Forestal, and if the marriage had taken place the child would have had Mary Fenelon for stepmother.

"I will keep Mary; she will remind me always of Will," said Mary Fenelon today. "They have taken him to the hospital. They have killed me. But I shall bring up this little girl. I love her, even now. But, oh, why did they have to take him away from me? Why, Why,"

Was a Menace

"Forrestal was a menace, and very contagious," said Dr. John DH Robertson, health commissioner, today. "Even kissing Miss Fenelon and his child may have given them tuberculogis. Consumption killed more people in America last year than all our overseas casualty lists put together.

"There are 900 open cases in Chicago We are trying to put them all in hospitals Forrestal refused to protect himself and others It is too bad."

LOCK COMPANY MOLDERS RETURN TO THEIR PLACES THIS MORNING

Lock-Out Lasted Since May 1—Men Given 45-Hour Week and Increase Asked Practically Conceded—Other Manufacturers Are Expected to Make Terms.

The Moulders who were locked out of the Peterborough Lock Works on May 1st last in common with the moulders employed in the plant of the William Hamilton Company, the Peter Hamilton Company, The G. Walter Greene Company and Adam Hall, returned to work this morning, having been practically conceded all the demands that they submitted to the company before the trouble started They asked for a 44 hour week and are granted 45, eight hours a day for the first five days of every week and five hours on Saturday. They asked for an increase of 25 per cent on board prices and are practically allowed this advance as nearly as an outsider can figure out the raise. The men are naturally well pleased with the result and the concessions made by this company is regarded as a break in the line of deference set up by the manufacturers and that the others will now soon give in and the lockout will be ended.

Of all the molders who have been idle since May 1st on account of the lockout, those who returned to work this morning did work on the piece system. The others are paid by the day. They ask for 75 cents an hour and an eight hour day. Their price is less than the wages the Lock Company's moulders will be able to earn with the new arrangement. The 45 hour week will also be acceptable to those still out.

The International Moulders Union is the oldest labor organization in America with the possible exception of the Typographical Union and it not only anti-dates but survived the war between the North and South. It has a large membership and an inconceivable reserve fund, sufficient to take care of every emergency. The locked out molders in Peterborough have been in receipt of liberal financial assistance from headquarters ever since the beginning of the dispute

In the meantime the manufacturers have been attempting to force the men into submission by having their work done in outside shops. They may have succeeded in some instances but this was an expensive procedure. Two car loads of patterns sent out by local manufacturers have had a long and varied career of travel, first to a city in New York State where the molders refused to handle them and later to Quebec where they met with the same fate The car loads are still "somewhere in transit."

BEST $200 ADVERTISEMENT THAT PETERBOROUGH CITY EVER HAD

Such Is Characterized Boy Scouts' Visit to Toronto For Review by Prince

Sharp on time at 6 a.m. the C.P.R. platform was lined with Scouts, many of whom had been up at 4 a.m. The boys were ordered to fall in, in their own troops, for roll call. At 6.15 inspection of troops took place and as neat and clean a bunch of boys as you would want to see were ready to give honor to His Royal Highness the Prince of Wales. Sharp on time the train started and the boys started on the day which will be remembered for years.

On arrival at Toronto the boys were held up for twenty minutes while the secretary went to get street car tickets. Just then the boys appeared on their life.

As usual, Toronto had opportunity waiting for the Peterborough Scouts the street: many for the first time in Just as they were going to cross the street a carter's horse slipped on the street car track and blocked the traffic, which in 5 minutes was cleared by the help of the Boy Scouts of Peterborough.

On arriving at the corner of Yonge street to take the King street car for the Exhibition, it was found impossible to get a west entrance car and the Scout Masters decided to take the east entrance and march through the Exhibition grounds, which was done. The boys were held up for one hour through orders not being given at the east end to admit Scouts free.

Once admitted the boy swere piloted through the vast crowd of people to the west end, which was a good half hour's march.

"Clear the way; let the Peterborough boys through."

"Here, you get out of the boy's way!"

"Don't they march nice. What a nice lot of boys."

These are some of the speeches which were heard as they marched with their Peterborough banners flying from their staves.

On arrival at headquarters they were dismissed. Two or three boys were detailed off to get lunch boxes, in which was more than enough for the boys. After lunch they went down the grounds till 1.30, when they were called for parade to the grand stand, at which they arrived at 2.30 and waited for the Prince, who arrived at 3 p.m.

Some of the boys said they did not see him, but that is chiefly because they could not distinquish His Royal Highness from the other officers who were all on horse back.

The formal inspection planned could not take place on account of the crowd and the boys were dismissed at 3.30 till 7.30 to see what they could at the Exhibition.

What appeared to be the most exciting time of the day was the race against time to catch the train home Many said they would not make it, but luck was with the boys. Two of them were sick, but all arrived in Peterborough on time.

It was regretted that the boys going south had to walk home in the wee, small hours of the morning as there was only two on three cars to take any of them home that went north and west. So ends the day, never to be forgotten and the best advertisement Peterborough ever got. It was said coming home that the only people in Toronto who did not hear of Peterborough were the ones in the cemetery.

The officers, to whom much credit is due for looking after the boys, had

(Continued on page 8)

J.H. BURNHAM WILL OCCUPY SEAT ON THE CROSS BENCHES IN COMING SESSION

Announces at Ottawa His Opposition to Perpetuation of the Union Party, Elected Only For Duration of War

Mr. J H Burnham, M P., for West Peterborough, announced in Ottawa yesterday, that in the coming session of the Commons he will be found in the cross benches, the parliamentary No Man's Land where sat last session Dr Michael Clark and Hon .W. S. Fielding.

Mr Burnham states: 'I was elected ag a unionist for the period of the war, and I will not betray those Liberals who trusted me by continuing the pretence of unionism beyond the period agreed upon That, in my opinion, would be bringing Canadian politics to the lowest point yet reached in Canada's history I am for keeping faith above all things'

This action of Mr. Burnham is the natural sequence of an announcement that he made some time ago of his well defined opposition to the perpetuation o fthe Union Party, a party created for the duration of the war. It was on this understanding that Unionism wag so generously supported in 1917 There was no intention on the part of the Unionist Liberals among the voters to give any faction an unlimited lease of power. To make Unionism permanent would be nothing short of a gross breach of faith with the men and women who in 1917 placed country above party welfare.

Mr. Burnham's opposition to a perpetual Union party is a reflection of the sentiments of members of both political parties in this city and throughout the riding. It ig in line with the clearly expressed opinions of the Conservative party not only in Toronto but in the Dominion generally. When the question was passed upon by the Unionists in Parliament during the last session the caucus at which it was discussed was by no means representative and the question has yet to be aired Before the next session, which begins Monday, is over, it will likely be a case of every man to his tent or otherwise the cross benches will be overcrowded. The attitude taken by the Liberals at their recent convention has left no other course possible.

PRINCE'S WORK AS STAFF OFFICER

HIS EFFICIENCY APPRECIATED BY COLLEAGUES AND HIGHER MILITARY COMMAND.

PRAISE ALSO FOR GEN. CURRIE

BRIG.-GEN. C. H. MITCHELL TALKS ON WORK OF CANADIAN OFFICERS.

Toronto, Aug. 29.—Speaking of the staff organization of the Canadian army during the war, at the luncheon given by the Ontario Government to the Fire Marshals' Association at the King Edward yesterday, Brig.-General C. H. Mitchell, C.B., C.M.G., D.S.O., dean of the faculty of applied science and engineering of the University of Toronto, said that the first Canadian division was the eleventh division of the Empire's forces in the field

"Sir Arthur Currie," said the speaker, "rising from a private citizen, developed into on of the most brilliant generals of the war. He is a man of great personal courage who has shown that courage on many fields of battle when he commanded the second Canadian division and as commander of the Canadian forces. Now that the war is over people are in a rather critical mood."

Referring to the intelligence work in connection with the Passchendael battle, General Mitchell said it consisted of collecting information, disseminating it and preventing the enemy force getting news concerning the British armies The collection of this information required the assistance of hundreds of thousand of officers and involved considerable sitting and speculating as to the probable movements of the enemy. The laws by which the enemy thought and worked were constantly studied by the intelligence branch of the army; the study of the psychology of the German was the most intricate study of the whole war.

"I want to say how proud we are of the Prince of Wales as a staff officer," said the speaker. "He became, by sheer good honest work, an efficient staff officer. He was one of ourselves and I want to tell you how human he was in that work, doing as he was told as others did. He worked at the job and did not play.

TO ACCEPT SMALL WAGE INCREASE

PRESIDENT WILSON'S OFFER IS ACCEPTABLE TO RAILWAY SHOP UNION'S EXECUTIVE.

Washington., Aug. 29.—Acceptance of President Wilson's offer of a small wage increase pending the outcome of the Government's efforts to reduce the cost of living, was advised by the executive council of the Railway Shop Union in a letter sent yesterday to all union locals.

CONSIDERING AUSTRIA PEACE

Supreme Council in Session Today on This Question.

(Canadian Press Despatch)

Paris, Aug. 29.—The Supreme Council today considered the Austrian peace treaty, a covering letter to accompany the treaty is unofficially announced, and the treaty probably will be given to the Austrians early next week.

MORE BOLSHEVIKI SUCCESSES

Important Towns on Don River Reported Captured.

(Canadian Press Despatch)

London, Aug. 29. The towns of Kupinsk, 61 miles east and south east of Kharov, and Pavlovsk, on the Don river, 90 miles south and southeast of Voronesh, have been captured by Bolsheviki according to statements issued by the Russian Soviet government today.

Tobacco crop near Northampton, Mass., was severely injured by hail.

SIR ARTHUR CURRIE WELCOMED BY SINGING SCHOOL CHILDREN

Toronto in Trim For Another Two Days of Reception Enthusiasm For the Commander-in-Chief of Canada's Fighting Forces.

(Canadian Press Despatch)

Toronto, Aug. 29.—General Sir Arthur Currie, Inspector General of military forces in Canada, and commander of Canada's fighting forces in the great war from 1917 till its victorious finish, reached this city this morning and was given a warm welcome.

Another Two Days

Although Toronto spent the first three days of the week in a tumultuous reception to the Prince of Wales, it has laid itself out for another two days of welcoming enthusiasm for the commander of our Canadian army, to which this city and district contributed about one hundred thousand men

Welcomed by Notables

Sir Arthur was received at the North Toronto station this morning by Mayor Church, Brigadier General Gunn, Commanding this district and other prominent citizens, including Brigadier General Sir Henry Pellatt, at whose famous "Castle on the Hill," Sir Arthur will be guest during his stay here.

Children's Chorus

A children's chorus sang welcoming choruses when the distinguished soldier stepped off the train and a detachment of "Originals," who served with the General in France, formed the guard of honor.

Cheering Citizens

The streets were lined with school children, cadets and cheering citizens.

Civic Reception

Sir Arthur was driven to the City Hall where a civic reception was given. At one o'clock the General addressed a combined gathering of Canadian and empire crowds, with many other citizens, at Massey Hall.

Visits Hospitals

This afternoon he visited the military hospitals and other institutions

Tonight General Currie will be entertained by the Toronto Military officers.

Tomorrow he will visit the Canadian National Exhibition and address various organizations of veterans.

ORDER-IN-COUNCIL COVERING OPERATIONS OF WHEAT BOARD

Canadian Buyers Apart From This Control Board Must Take Out License.

(Canadian Press Despatch)

Ottawa, Aug. 29. —An order in council has been passed covering regulations which will govern operations of the wheat control board.

Provision is made for the holding of regular and special meetings of the board It is also provided that no person, firm or corporation other than this board shall buy wheat, operate any elevator or warehause where meat is carried or handled, on commission or otherwise, unless licensed by this board, except in the cases of registered seed wheat, wheat grown from seed of recognized merit in respect to purity and variety, subject to permit being granted by the Canadian Government seed purchasing committee, wheat bought by one farmer from another for seed or feed purposes, which has not gone through an elevator, or which has not been loaded on cas either through an elevator or over the platform

Payment Guaranteed

When wheat purchased by a licensee of the board arrives in store at a public terminal, elevator, or any other point pursuant to the regulations of the Board ,the board will provide a purchaser of the same and on the production of the proper documents of title will pay or cause to be paid to the holder of such documents of title the cash payments fixed by other regulations of the board for the quantity and grade of wheat represented by such documents of title.

Provision is also made for the payment of such carrying charges as may be fixed by regulations of the board.

JUMP IN STREET CAR FARES TO-DAY

MONTREALERS PAY MORE TO MAKE GOOD SALARIES INCREASE.

(Canadian Press Despatch)

Montreal, Aug. 29.—A general raise in street car fares was announced today. Cash fares will be seven cents instead of six as at present Strip tickets fall from five to four for a quarter during normal hours, and from six to five for a quarter during rush hours.

This increase in fares been imposed so the street railway can pay increase in salaries demanded by the men.

BRITISH BOMBARDMENT

Naval Guns Are Busy in Neighborhood of Kronald.

(Canadian Press Despatch)

London, Aug. 29. A heavy bombardment lasting two hours, was heard in Viborg Finland, on August 27, in the direction of Kronald, the Bolsheviki naval base, near Petrograd, says a Helsingfors message today.

It is supposed that British naval and anr forces were engaged.

HINDENBURG FOR PRESIDENT

Berlin, Aug. 29 The National Liberals are booming Field Marshal von Hindenburg for the Presidency upon plan of nomination under the new constitution.

Democratic Finance Director Jamieson plans to raise $5,000,000 for U. S. presidential election, as high cost has hit politics.

ANSWER OF UNITED STATES TO MEXICO TO BE KEPT A SECRET

Officials Refuse to Disclose Nature of Reply to Protest a Bandit Hunt

Washington, D.C., Aug. 28.—The American government's reply to Mexico's protest against the dispatch of American troops into Mexico in pursuit of bandits who held two American aviators for ransom was sent forward today it was announced at the state department Officials declined to discuss the contents of the note, saying that it probably would be made public in Mexico City.

U. S. To Block Confiscation

It is stated by United Statog officials that Mexico will not be allowed to seize the oil properties owned by foreigners and claimed under article 27 of the new constitution. Arguments for and against the right of its retroactive clause under international law have been carefully weighed by the state department and the decision of the government was stated in the note of April 2, 1918, which protested against the specific article of the constitution as confiscatory The same conclusion was reached by the governments of France, Great Britain and Holland.

Reply to recent statements by members of President Carranza's official family to the effect that retroactive laws were justifiable in international law was made by the American Association of Producers of Petroleum in Mexico in a letter presented to day to the state department.

"The newspapers for several days," the leter says, "have carried statements emanating principally from Mexico City, intended to justify article 27 of the Mexican constitution of 1917, which declares that all petroleum in the republic belongs to the nation

Shift Their Authority

"Cabrera, Schlaffino and the others now plant themselves on the broad ground that in the public interest the Mexican government may confiscate the private property of Americans and other foreigners without violating international law, According to their theory, property rights, such as the oil companies have acquired are subordinate to the welfare of the Mexican public and therefore, may be wiped out

"They started out by citing American law on the subject, but it was shown that American law is precisely the reverse of their contention, and now they cite the French authority, Francois Laurent. He is quoted as follows:

"'Laws may have retroactive effect when public interests are at stake.'"

PRINCE LUNCHED BY GOVERNMENT

TOO TIRED TO VISIT NEW PARLIAMENT BUILDING AT OTTAWA THIS MORNING.

SPEECH BY SIR ROBERT DORDEN

ASSURES HEIR APPARENT HE IS ON VERGE OF CANADIANS' HERITAGE.

(Canadian Press Despatch)

Ottawa, Aug. 29.—The Prince of Wales did not visit the New Parliament buildings this morning as originally intended. He felt rather tired after his busy day yesterday, and decided to rest during the morning.

Wishes Prince God Speed.

At half-past one he attend a Government luncheon in his honor, when Sir Robert Borden spoke briefly, concluding with an assurance to the Prince that His Royal Highness was only on the verge of that immense territory which is the heritage of Canadian people, and wishing him God-speed on the journey which still lays before him.

Achievements of Army.

His Royal Highness replied and referred to the achievements of the Canadian army corps and to these who served at home, commending particularly the "inestimable help of the women, both overseas and on this side."

The Prince will attend Labor day sports here Monday.

O. B. U. MAN EXPELLED

Toronto Carpenters Opposed to One Big Union

Because of Mr. E. Bales' active support of One Big Unionism, the Carpenters' Union of Toronto expelled him from their ranks at their meeting last night Bales was one of the famous committee of fifteen which held sway at the Labor Temple in the spring and has always been regarded as a radical.

WILL SUPPORT ACTORS.

New York, Aug. 29.—The International Alliance of Bill-posters of the United States and Canada, numbering 9,000 members, will refuse to handle advertising paper for theatres which are opposed to the Actors' Equity Association, according to a statement made here by William McCarthy, secretary of the organization.

A man walked into a Detroit hospital last week with his hands frostbitten He had been repairing a frigerating machinery.

THE DAILY REVIEW

ESTABLISHED 1879.

MEMBER OF THE CANADIAN PRESS, LIMITED.

THE DAILY REVIEW is published every afternoon at 4 o'clock (holidays and Sundays excepted) by The Peterborough Review Company, Limited, 166-168 Hunter Street.

SUBSCRIPTION PRICE, $3.00 per year by mail to any part of Canada or Great Britain; $4.00 per year delivered in any part of the city.

THE WEEKLY REVIEW, established 1858, is published every Thursday morning at 10 o'clock. Subscription price $1.50 per year to any part of Canada or Great Britain, or $2.00 a year to the United States.

U. S. Representative—Hibbert E. Douglas, Chicago.

BOARD OF DIRECTORS:

A. H. STRATTON, President and General Manager; E. A. PECK, ex-M.L.A.; T. F. MATTHEWS and JAMES LYNCH.

TELEPHONES:

Business Dept .... 139 Editorial 436
Mr. Stratton's Residence ... 221

"FOR A GREATER PETERBOROUGH."

FRIDAY, AUGUST 29, 1919

THE ONE-MAN STREET CAR.

THE ONE-MAN street car is the reverse of a menace to human life. Had there been in Peterborough none but the modern style of vehicle for city transportation the accident by which an employe of the company met a violent death the other day would have been impossible. Improvement in modern machinery makes for safety, in street cars as in every other line of industry. Once the hand of the motorman is removed from the controller the one-man car becomes an inert object incapable of figuring in such a tragedy as that which shocked the city recently.

THE PLAYGROUNDS DEFICIT.

THE PLAYGROUNDS Association have during the past season scored a signal success except in the matter of finances. The officials report a deficit of $600, and to make this up popular subscriptions are solicited. It would certainly be unfair to ask the members of the association to become personally liable for this amount.

No such condition as this should be possible. An enterprise intended to promote the welfare of the children of the city should not be reduced to the necessity of making an appeal for funds. If the maintenance of our public schools were left to the generosity of the citizens, sufficient funds to carry them on could never be obtained. The playgrounds that have been operated in Peterborough for several years should be made a part of the educational system, supported by public funds, just as are the schools. These playgrounds are just as essential to the proper training of the child as the expensive plan of education itself. That, at least, is the idea of no less an authority than the present Minister of Education himself, and that is likely to be the program of the future, even if it is necessary to make a special legislative grant for the purpose.

BY WAY OF ILLUSTRATION.

SUPPOSE A MAN was entrusted with a sum of money for a certain purpose, the return of that money, when the purpose in view was achieved, being made entirely a point of honor. Suppose further that, having discharged that trust faithfully, the trustee of the fund, even though it was easily within his power to do so, appropriated that fund for his own personal advancement and that of his friends. Would not that course be regarded as a breach of trust, and properly so?

The Union Government was elected for a specific purpose, and that purpose has been attained. The trust which was reposed in the present Administration should not be violated now. There should be no presuming upon the confidence that the electors placed in the men sent to Parliament in 1917, no self or partisan aggrandizement by means of that confidence. The Union party has had its day. The principle involved in its formation should not be prostituted by an attempted conversion to political expediency.

REFLECTING ON THE VETERANS

"JOHN SMITH, a returned soldier, was charged in the police court today with being drunk and was fined $10 and costs." "James Jones, a veteran of the war, pleaded not guilty to a charge of theft."

These are samples of police court chronicles that appear every day in the columns of the Canadian newspapers, and it is an offensive style of journalism that is due to thoughtlessness more than to a desire to cast any reflections upon the veterans as a body. But that is exactly what it does when placed before the reading public.

Why single out the heroes of the war for this special mention? Human frailties are not confined to the men who risked their lives in battle. The very fact of their service should be the highest encomium that could be spoken of, and if any body of men are entitled to special consideration it is those whose sense of duty was paramount when the call came.

The man who during the years of strife remained a non-combatant is never made the subject of this special reportorial mention. For instance, it never seems to occur to the police court scribe to pay heed to such details as Richard Roe, accused of over indulgence or any other misdemeanor or crime, had nothing more than an Artemus Ward interest in the war and was willing to make none but vicarious sacrifices. Or that, like that famous character in fiction, he expressed profanely his determination to stay out of the scrap. Or that at the sight of a recruiting officer he dodged under the barn or took to the woods. Or that the fact that he was married was all that saved him from the draft, being otherwise eligible for service.

This reportorial tendency to make special mention of a veteran who may be temporarily under a cloud is but an extension of a system that prevailed when the war was in actual progress. If the wife of a man overseas got into trouble during the absence of her husband the fact was duly noted that she was the helpmeet of a soldier. It was this class alone who were singled out for special mention of their status. Wives of non-combatants, too, frequently figured in police court proceedings. What reporter ever thought it part of his duty when dealing with these offenders to mention that Mrs. So-and-so was the wife of a man who was fattening on the misfortunes of his country by the receipt of an abnormally high salary or enormous profits on war contracts; that she was the wife of a slacker, or that she had relatives, a son, perhaps, temporarily absent from home, not in the service of the Empire, but in hiding to avoid the draft, or that she had a relative in jail owing to his disinclination to get into the King's uniform?

All that the returned soldiers ask for is a square deal, and they are entitled to it, if not by reason of what they have done, then in the name of common justice.

WHAT HOME RULE ACCOMPLISHED.

WHEN THE BRITISH attempted to govern South Africa from the magnificent distance of Downing Street there was infinite trouble, that essential to harmony, the consent of the governed, being lacking. When the British made a virtue of necessity and modified their policy by making a concession and retained only the rights of a suzerain lord over the distant territory, the situation was little, if any, improved. Eventually the discontent of the South Africans took definite form and the Boer war broke out in the closing year of the last century.

That war cost the British over twenty thousand lives and inestimable treasure. One of the most skilled military leaders with whom the British had to deal, than whom none was more prominent or more to be dreaded, was General Louis Botha, whose death was chronicled yesterday as a misfortune to the British Empire. He was an implacable foe to British sovereignty in South Africa.

General Botha laid down his arms only when autonomy had been assured his race. He became the premier of the new dominion and the firm friend of the British race. When war broke out in 1914 the loyalty of South Africa to the Empire was at the outset problematic, but only for a time. No more devoted adherence to the British cause was found anywhere than that of Louis Botha and his followers. Soon after the war broke out a general election was held in South Africa and the victory of the loyalist party was decisive. That result settled for all time any suspicion with which the distant colony may have been regarded by the rest of the Empire. The Germans were expelled from the Africa continent by the South Africans under the leadership of the late General Botha.

Where would the South Africans have been in the late war if their political relations with Britain had been different? Fighting on the other side without question, and with the aid of General Botha's forces the Germans could have extended their possessions in Africa and driven the last Britisher from the continent. But General Botha guarded that section of the Empire, recognizing the beneficence of British connection.

The late D'Arcy McGee was a disturber of national harmony in Ireland, so much so that he was forced to seek a haven in America. Coming to Canada, he modified his views in new environments to such a degree that his devotion to the Empire cost him his life. General Botha will be classed in history with the Canadian martyr.

THE PASSING OF THE COUNTRY CHURCH.

THERE ARE SEVEN Protestant churches in the Township of Smith alone. Formerly there were eight, but the Presbyterian Church on the Fourth Line near the Selwyn cheese factory has been closed for the past two years or more owing to lack of support, and in a few days the property will be sold at auction. This church was an annex of the Presbyterian congregation at Lakefield, the minister at the latter place officiating at all services.

The country church is passing, losing ground in proportion to its proximity to a large city. The automobile has played an important part in bringing this condition about. The young people in the country, during the summer months at least, are becoming more and more regular attendants at the church services in the city. This cannot be regarded as other than a misfortune, as serious as that of rural depopulation itself. The country church has always been the centre of social as well as religious life in its field, and its passing into history leaves a blank in any community, such as the end of any other institution which has stood for years as a monument to the undaunted spirit of the pioneers.

NOTES AND COMMENT.

THE ROLLING politician may not gather moss, but he acquires many new bumps.

* * * * *

THE MAN or organization who is not for the referendum is against Premier Hearst?

* * * * *

FOR OUR OWN PART we would rather go on strike than figure in some of those modern plays.

* * * * *

UNFORTUNATELY Hartley Dewart's revered father is not alive to kill his son's vote on the referendum.

* * * * *

ARE YOU willing to exchange a tried and trusted public servant like Premier Hearst for a Hartley Dewart?

* * * * *

AFTER ALL those wearying receptions, how the Prince of Wales must long for the domestic calm to be found in a kingly palace.

* * * * *

"PRODUCE MORE" say the economists. And the consumer, confronted with a new increase in prices, digs down a little deeper.

* * * * *

WHY DOES NOT any member of the new league dissociate himself from the party instead of waiting to be thrown out the back door?

* * * * *

"SHOW US an honest man," asks a somewhat pessimistic exchange. Well, what's the matter with the man who does not try to evade his dog tax?

* * * * *

THERE IS NO temporal hope for the man who has been head of the German empire or ruler of one of the various kingdoms. He cannot possibly live down the record.

* * * * *

THE CITY OFFICIAL that contributes $25 to help elect a friendly council that reciprocates later with a substantial salary increase for their friend in need, can at least be credited with an eye to the main chance.

GENERAL MEETING BOARD OF TRADE

WILL MARK THE BEGINNING OF PUBLIC ACTIVITY OF ORGANIZATION.

Members of the local Board of Trade are again reminded of the General meeting on the evening of Tuesday September 4th, when matters of importance to Peterborough are to be discussed.

This meeting will mark the beginning of the public activity of the Board and its allied associations and it is earnestly requested that members reserve that evening for attendance.

A special opportunity is to be given to promote acquaintance. The House Committee has arranged to have supper served at seventy-five cents per cover, from 6.30 o'clock. A special committee on acquaintance will be in charge. Reservations will be made for those for whom requests are received.

The general meetings of the Board are open to members only, but guests of members may be invited. Members are especially asked to extend personal invitations to friends who are eligible for membership, as the meeting will give a full and intimate view of the necessity and value of cooperative work for the upbuilding of Peterborough.

MEDALS, WATCHES FOR WAR HEROES

MARIPOSA TENDERS RECEPTION TO SOLDIERS, SAILORS AND NURSES.

Wednesday, Aug. 27.—will long be remembered as a red letter day in the township of Mariposa, because of the reception tendered to 200 or more returned men ,sailors and nursing sisters at Little Britain.

Despite the inclemency of the weather there was a large gathering from all parts of the township and the programme proceeded as planned, except for the baseball game between a team of returned soldiers and the Lindsay Greys, which had to be cancelled owing to wet grounds.

Ex-Warden A. J. Varcoe occupied the chair, the speakers including : Gen. Sir Sam Hughes, Reeve Chas Jenkins, Dr. J. A. White, T. H. Stinson, Major (Rev.) Dodds, Capt. (Rev.) Latimer, (both overseas men and others. The address was read by Dr. G. W. Hall.

Presentations of gold watches and addresses from the township and county medals were made. Nursing sisters to be honored by the township were Miss Weldon. Miss Ferguson and Miss Hardy.

HOG PRICES WILL FALL IN STATES

REPRESENTATIVES OF BIG PACKERS MAKE STATEMENT TO THIS EFFECT.

Chicago, Aug. 28.—A fall in hog prices to $15 a hundredweight within three days was forecast by representatives at the Stock Yards today, when resumption of trading showed Wednesday's slump still prevalent. Hogs of the canning variety listed at yesterday's close at $17 a drop of 71.50 in one day, were offered today at $16, with few changing hands. The bulk of the sales at the opening of the market was around $17, compared with $23.65 early this month.

The packers remained out of the market and live stock experts predicted the biggest slump since 1917.

BARBER'S HAIR TONIC PROVED TO BE WHISKEY

ROWS OF BOTTLES LINED UP IN PLAIN VIEW ON SHELF.

Gary Ind., Aug. 28.—Who could refuse a tonic like this? James Hutchinson, a barber, had plenty of patronage. There were rows of bottles lined up in front of his mirrors. The bay rum in those bottles, police say, had a maroon tinge and a John Barleycorn taste. The popular barber was arrested when one of his customers walked into the barber shop today, and smacking his lips said, "Give me a little tonic, James."

Harold Lloyd, film comedy star, has his right hand blown off at Los Angeles, when a stage bomb exploded while he was lighting a cigarette from its fuse.

An ice famine is threatening Detroit.

WHY DO YOUNG WOMEN LEAVE THE FARM?

Leona Says They Are Simply Inspired by Ambition to Get Into Life's Game.

(By Leona.)

Oh, the lure of crowd! The insistent appeal of the clear, small voice that, above the hum of the great, busy city, keeps calling—calling—calling. That restless urge of the age that clutches the soul of the modern woman and bids her go join the ranks of the workers! Who can define it? Everywhere we look we see women falling in line, standing shoulder to shoulder with men in the industrial ranks of the world young girls determined to become self-supporting, to stand firmly on their own two sturdy little feet. The spirit of independence? In some cases, yes; in more cases, no. Perhaps it is merely the longing to "live" to the greatest possible extent. Or it may be the ceaseless goading of that fire called mysticism that smolders within each human heart, ever questioning, ever insisting to know the reason for its existence.

Everywhere women are thrusting off the shackles of conventional restraint, and obeying the elusive voice that tells them to take their place in the great world of toilers—to develop their capabilities to the fullest possible extent for the common good. Especially noticeable is the drift from suburban areas to the centres of population.

For how long has this vital problem taxed the best brains of the Dominion? They have earnestly stripped the subject of all fancy "isms" that usually adorn such an issue. They have invented preventatives that would strike at what they believed to be the very root of the trouble, but they have not lessened the steady trend cityward to any noticeable extent.

It is just possible that those entrusted with this work have been boring under a false impression as regards rural life. Such a number of self-assertive individuals have joined in the discussion—so many conflicting opinions have clashed—that the issue has become somewhat confused and misleading. Different reasons have been attributed, some of which are seemingly plausible. For instance, social isolation is given as an outstanding reason for young women leaving the farm. This may apply in a very few cases, but generally speaking, nothing could be further from the truth.

If you are looking for real sociability you will find it among the young people of a rural community.

If you want to see a demonstration of true hospitality, spend your vacation at a farm homestead. Some will say it is a lack of sufficient spending money to satisfy the minor vanities of a young girl's existence, or perhaps too much hard work and too little play.

But considering a great majority of instances, is it not simply a result of that wave of unrest that has swept the country—an expression of that desire to "get into the game" and "find themselves," that has taken such a firm hold on young women of the present generation? Take, for instance, the case of a young woman who was born and raised on a farm. She had a father who doted on her and a mother who disliked to see her soil her hands. She had big brothers who idolized her, who seemed to anticipate her wishes in their efforts to please. The question of whether she should work or not was optional. It rested entirely with her.

Yet she was not "spoiled" as others in her place might have been, for she did work and manifested a deep interest in the doings of her every day, the flowers, the garden, the chickens, etc. The girl was given the opportunity for the highest educational advancement, but the humdrum of school life did not appeal to her. And one day she closed the old-fashioned piano with a "bang," left the half-opened books scattered over the library table. One evening she took a last walk through the sun-flecked cedar groves, over the dew-kissed clover lands, and then she left it all. Left it all for the great grinding, clamoring city. At times when the battle with the world seems to be a losing one how she longs:

"To leave the mean low strife that makes men mad,
The tug for wealth and power;
The passions and the cares that wither life,
And waste its little hour."

But never! That would be a coward's act.

WIT AND WISDOM

A Job Made Easy

Aminister, accompanied by some pretty girls, stood entranced by the beauties of a flowing stream. A fisherman happening to pass and mistaking the minister's occupation, said:

"Ketchin' many, sir?"

"I am a fisher of men," answered the preacher, with dignity.

"Well, replied the fisherman with an admiring glance, "you've got the right bait."

Learning His Lesson

Yells from the nursery brought the mother, who found baby gleefully pulling Billy's curls.

"Never mind, darling," she comforted. "Baby doesn't know how it hurts."

Half an hour later wild shrieks from the baby made her run again to the nursery.

"Why Billy," she cried, "what is the matter with baby?"

"Nothing, mother," said Billy calmly, "only now he knows."

Gallant Mule Owner

"We mustn't overlook the fact that Austria was against us in this war," says Senator Penrose, adding: "We are in the habit of blaming Germany for everything, and if we don't watch out Austria is likely to escape just penalties. Austria reminds me of Percy Joneg.

"'Percy Jones like to be called a regular fellow and quite gallant,' said a mutual friend to another.

"'But is he gallant?' questioned the friend.

"'Well, I'm not sure. He changed his mule's name from Maud to Bill so he wouldn't feel ashamed when he licked it.'"

FEMININE LOGIC

The young lady across the way says she rather deplores the senate's attitude and it ought to consult with the treaty making power before going further.

GOOD OPPORTUNITIES

Study the advertisements in the Daily and Weekly Review. They are replete with attractive opportunities for buying cheaply.

Inadequate housing conditions are blamed for a serious shortage of girl clerical workers in Detroit.

A nurse in a Bay City, Mich., hospital was seriously injured by a delirious patient she was trying to restrain from jumping from a window.

A Modern Mamma

Nurse-Girl: "Oh, ma'am, what shall I do? The twins have fallen down the well."

Fond Parent: "Dear me, how annoying! Just go into the library very gently, so as not to disturb Fido, and get the last number of the Modern Mother's Magazine; it contains an article on 'How to Bring Up Children.'"

POINTED PARAGRAPHS.

The oftener a man is sold the cheaper he feels.

Man a man looks insignificant when his wife is with him.

A handful of common sense is worth a bushel of book learning.

Many lasting friendships are due to the distance between them.

As the chip of the old block is inclined so the twig is bent.

In tying to kill time, women of uncertain years use a lot of powder.

Habits are like porous plasters, easy to acquire and hard to get rid of.

All is fair in love and war—or, in other words, during courtship, and after marriage.

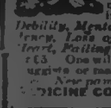
Milliner's bills are the taxes which the male sex has to pay for the beauty of the females.

All the best poets are dead. This should be a solemn warning to the word rhymers of today who have aspirations.

There are better fish in the sea.
That have been ever caught, they say;
And this is doubtless true, because
The big fish always gets away.

No effort will be made to revive interest in the study of German, which was dropped from the curriculum of Detroit High Schools last year.

It is charged that negroes of the U.S. are being organized by the I.W.W. and the "Reds" to overturn the Government and install Soviet rule.



Wood's Phosphodine.

The Great English Remedy.

Tones and invigorates the whole nervous system, makes new blood in old Veins. Cures Nervous Debility, Mental and Brain Worry, Loss of Energy, Palpitation of the Heart, Failing Memory. Price $1 per box, six for $5. One will please, six will cure. Sold by druggists or mailed in plain pkg. on receipt of price. New pamphlet mailed free. THE WOOD MEDICINE CO., TORONTO, ONT. (Formerly

Toronto Savings and Loan COMPANY

Peterborough

Head Office: 435-437 George Street

Paid-Up Capital ..$1,000,000.00
Reserve Fund $1,100,000.00

SAVINGS DEPARTMENT — Deposits received of One Dollar and upwards. Interest paid quarterly, accrues from date of deposit to date of withdrawal.

Every facility and convenience is afforded to depositors.

INVESTMENT DEPARTMENT — Debentures issued for sums of $100 & upwards for periods of one to five years, upon which special rates of interest are paid, depending upon the term of investment.

Executors and trustees are authorized by law to invest in the Debentures of this institution.

Money to loan at lowest current rates of interest.

W. G. MORROW,
Managing Director.

CLOCKS
: the Gift Kind :

Best assortment in the city of French Marble Clocks, Fancy Boudoir Clocks, Mantel Clocks, Bronze and Ornamental Clocks.

Prices moderate; Values defy competition.

Schneider's
367 George St. Next Turnbull's

A REAL MODERN U.S. GHOST STORY

SHADE OF PRETTY WOMAN MAKES MIDNIGHT VISITS TO MINING TOWN HOMES.

Resident of Carbon, a mining village in Pennsylvania, are greatly exercised over the weird fitting about late at night of what is declared to be a ghost clad in a snow white gown. This ghost, it is said, has on three different occasions between midnight and 1 o'clock aroused Peter Oleson, a Norwegian miner who lives alone in a small house, with its strange rappings on his door, more vigorous than those of Poe's raven. Oleson arose promptly on each occasion, and when he opened his front door the figure of what he believed was a young woman in a white robe stood on his step.

"What do you want? Come into my house—I would not hurt you" Oleson declares he told the strange figure, but he failed to get any answer, and when he would attempt to lay hands on it the ghost would give a shrill cry and disappear. On three succeeding nights the hob-goblin appeared at the Oleson home, and three times did the snow white figure refuse the Norwegian's invitation to come into his house and to give him an account of its mysterious presence.

Frank Piso, an Italian neighbor, was also called to his door in response to the "woman in white" rapping. Frank's experience was similar to those of Oleson.

William Mairs, Carbon grocer for many years and a local "ghost" says the nocturnal visitor in the white dress is the ghost of a very pretty young woman captured by the Indians in their flight from Eastern Pennsylvania a century and three-quarters ago, with the intention of making her the bride of one of the Indian chief's sons. In trying to make her third and last attempt to escape from her captors the girl was killed and scalped near where Carbon is built.

He believes the ghost is greatly embarrassed by the changes wrought during the last few decades.

CONSTANCE HAS FITTING ROLE IN "WHO CARES"

"Who Cares," with Miss Constance Talmadge as the star, is the feature picture at the Grand the latter half of this week and it is a picture well worth seeing.

The story is of a young girl who had been brought up by her grandparents who were envious of her youth and would not allow her the freedom which youth craves. She meets a young neighbor and to escape from the influence of the old people she marries him. Thy move to the city where everything is new to the girl and in seeking enjoyment forgets all about the fact that she has a husband. When remonstrated with she laughingly declares that this is all a part of the great adventure and is sure that everything will turn out all right in the end. She meets the husband of a former girl friend and entices her to his cottage for dinner a deux and after the meal declares his love for her. Her husband, however, has been warned that she is with this man and he arrives on the scene in time to save her.

A "real drammer", featuring Francis X. Bushman and Beverly Bayne, pleased the audience, as did the negro comedy film.

The Vod-o-vil Movies presented some very good vaudeville acts, among which might be mentioned the Indian club swinging, the tumbling act and the fancy ice skating.

This program will be repeated today and tomorrow with matinees both days.

DEMPSEY SELECTS DETROIT

Detroit, Mich., Aug. 29. — Jack Dempsey, heavyweight champion, declared he favored holding the next championship bout in Detroit. Dempsey will make his home here. He is appearing in a local theatre this week and says he believes the new Michigan boxing law, permitting ten-round bouts, will make it possible to hold championship contests here and that he will meet the next challenger in Michigan if possible.

Anticipation
The delicious aroma of Rose Brand Bacon is a whet to appetite—then, the pleasure of eating the crisp, rich rashers, makes of breakfast a meal to be relished. There is no need to call folks twice when you serve
ROSE BRAND BACON
Either alone or with eggs, Rose Brand Bacon is the ideal dish.
Cured with exceptional care, its rich flavor, entirely different from any other bacon, has made Rose Brand a favorite throughout the country.
Order some from your grocer or butcher, but be sure to specify Rose Brand. You will more than enjoy its deliciousness.
CANADIAN PACKING COMPANY, LIMITED
SUCCESSORS TO MATTHEWS-BLACKWELL, LIMITED

PRICE OF NEWSPRINT IS CUT TO $66 A TON

MILL OWNERS MUST PAY BACK $150,000 TO CANADIAN NEWSPAPERS.

Ottawa, Aug. 28.—A judgment which means that the paper mills of Canada must refund about $150,000 to the newspapers of the Dominion on bills for newsprint sold between July 1 and Nov. 31, 1918, has been rendered by the Paper Control Tibunal. This is the final pronouncement on the long-drawn-out newsprint enquiry so far as the period in question is concerned, but later periods up to the end of the war have yet to be dealt with. The judgment riduces the price of newsprint in rolls from $69 per ton to $66. The price of $69 was that fixed by Paper Controller R. A. Pringle, and both the manufacturers and the publishers appealed to the Paper Control against it, the manufacturers attempting to have that body impose a price of $80 per ton upon the newspapers. If they had been successful in this demand, the Canadian publishers would have had to pay at the rate of a million and a quarter dollars a year more than they are now directed to pay by the tribunal's judgment, or over half a million dollars more for the five months covered by the judgment.

NOW FREE OF SMALLPOX

Guelph, Aug. 28.—Inspector Maj. Merewether states that the city was now free from the recent outbreak of smallpox. There were no deaths.

OPPOSE CONTRACT SYSTEM

Labor Men Favor Salary for Rural Mail Carriers.

Guelph, Aug. 28.—The local Trades and Labor Council is opposed to the contract system of letting out rural mail routes and will present a resolution to Ottawa calling for the abolition of the contract system, and that instead a rate of sixty cents a mile per annum with permanency of position be guaranteed so long as the service is satisfactory, and that it be made retroactive from 1917. There is a clause in the resolution asking the Government fair-wage officer to investigate and present system, which, it is claimed is most unfair.

GOVERNMENT LIQUOR SALE.

New Brunswick Will Probably Take Over Wholesale Vending.

St. John, N. B., Aug. 29.—It was announced by Premier Foster that the New Brunswick Government will probably take over the wholesale vending of liquor in this province on November 1. The matter will be taken up at a meeting of the Government next week.

Cook's Cotton Root Compound.

A safe, reliable regulating medicine. Sold in three degrees of strength—No. 1, $1; No. 2 $3; No. 3, $5 per box. Sold by all druggists, or sent prepaid on receipt of price. Write for pamphlet. THE COOK MEDICINE CO., Windsor, Ont. (Free Sample)

When a storm blew down a tree near Mobile, Ala., a farmer found a rusty tin box containing several thousands dollars in gold coins, dated 1755.

A highwayman at Sioux City, Ia., held up a crowd of more than 20 persons Sunday on a down-town corner and robbed them.

Motor vehicle registration in New York State Aug. 1 was 504,771, compared with 436,226 a year ago.

FREE DEMONSTRATION
KERO GAS
HEATING & COOKING
AT BANKS' GARAGE, PETERBORO
THURSDAY & FRIDAY

BEAUTIFUL ENGLISH AND FRENCH DINNER WARE

This week we are making a special display of Dinner Ware in the Economy Basement, and invite you to call and see a stock that would be worthy of a place in a store many times larger than this. Prominent in the display are many patterns in Johnson Brothers' famous English Royal Semi-Porcelain. Every piece of this renowned English Dinner Ware is trade-marked, and it cannot be mistaken. You can tell when you are getting the genuine article if you look for the trade mark, a "Crown" with the words "Johnson Brothers, England," underneath.

Johnson Dinner Ware looks good when it is new and it looks good when it is old. It will look good till it wears out, and it takes some wear to wear out.

We show ten or twelve patterns in this quality alone, which means that should any piece get broken the set can sell one piece or the whole 97 pieces. Ten patterns to choose from in this high-class Dinner Ware at, per set ..... These patterns come in sets of 97 pieces or open stock, be kept complete from our permanent stock, as we will $30.00 & $32.00

Genuine Haviland, direct from France. This week has come this beautiful pattern of Haviland's Limoges China. This is a pretty chintz design in French grey and old rose with gold band. The cups have half gold handles. This pattern can be had from open stock, or a set of 96 pieces for .. $85.00

BLUE WILLOW, $22.00 A SET

The ever popular Blue Willow, in good quality semi-porcelain. This is a particularly good set and the most popular design. The 97 pieces for $22.00

Sold from open stock if desired.

Distintive Fall and Winter Coats

Women's and Misses' Stylish Autumn Coats That Are Distinctive Priced at $32.50, $37.50, $45.00 $50.00 up to $110.00

A most comprehensive assemblage of distinctive models in the season's most favored fabrics. Coats of marked distinction and style, some belted, others have deep cuffs and unusually smart collars of self materials, fur or pile fabrics. Warmly and handsomely lined, shown in the correct colorings for this season's wear. Priced at $32.50, $37.50, $45.00, $50.00 Up To $110.00

Winter Coats, $29.50

Here is the best model we are showing this season at this price. The material is excellent quality blanket cloth. The all around belt has fancy separate section in back, fastening with one large bone button, and lined to waist with black twilled lining .. $29.50

At $47.50

For style, attractiveness, or beauty, this coat of urgundy Silvertone cannot be surpassed. Has fur collar, all around belt and lined throughout with black silk lining $47.50

At $50.00

This stylish coat is of all wool velour, made in loose back effect, falling in box pleats from yoke; as large shawl collar, and lined to waist with black satin lining. Coming in all the newest shades $50.00

SWEATER COATS OF STYLE and VALUE

Certainly are good, these Sweater Coats, which you will find on our Ready-to-wear Floor Saturday.

A new model knit of fine zephyr wool; made in pull-over style, has deep sailor collar and turn-back cuffs, with fancy stripe. Colors: green with maize, mauve maize, rose with white ... Price $8.50

Pure Beehive Wool Sweater, in semi-fitted waist effect; has Dutch collar and turn-back cuffs and pockets; trimmed with fancy white stripes; coming in rose only. Price $19.00

Novelty Sweater, in pure zephyr wool Knit in plain stitch, with pretty Dutch collar, turn-back cuffs, and all around belt, fastening with large self-colored buttons. Colors rose and white, and green and white ..... Price $11.50

SERGE SKIRTS $8.50

Beautiful all-wool Serge Skirt, in one of the season's newest styles; has pretty pocket effect belt; trimmed with military braid and self-covered buttons. Colors navy and black only $8.50

Chic little model in men's wear serge gathered at waist with deep belt, has several rows of silk military braid and row of buttons at sides... Colors navy and black ... $13.00

Men's Wear Serge Skirt, coming in black and navy, with fancy cut belt, shirred at back and trimmed prettily with bone buttons $15.00

EARLY FALL MILLINERY

Very attractive styles in Fall Hats for early Fall wear will be shown in the Millinery Department Saturday. These Hats affect the latest New York ideas, and will be just right for the first of the season wear.

KID GLOVES FOR $2.00

Real good quality Kid Gloves, in white or black, and black with white points. Sizes 5½ to 7. At, per pair $2.00

Chamoisette Gloves of extra quality, for, pair $1.25

Chamoisette Gloves of high quality, in grey, white, mastical, black; perfect fitting and durable gloves, at.. Per pair $1.25

AT THE WOOL COUNTER YOU WILL GET THESE

SHETLAND FLOSS 25c

Imported Shetland Floss; full sized skeins. A soft wool, in shades of rose, blue, burnt orange and red.

BEEHIVE WOOL 25c

Baldwin's Beehive Scotch Fingering, in black or white, at ..... Per skein 25c

Two-Ply Factory Wool—Grey only; splendid wool for knitting socks. Saturday only, per skein 25c

ALWAYS A GOOD PLACE TO BUY SOAP

The Economy Basement is making a name for itself as a good place to buy soap. Come Saturday for these:
N. P. Soap, long bar .. 22c
Ivory Soap .. 3 Cakes 25c
Comfort Soap 2 Cakes 17c
Old Dutch Cleanser, the famous cleanser, per can 9c
Turnbull's Famous Laundry Soap, per cake 6c
Toilet Paper, the Basement's own special brand ..... 6 Rolls 25c

NICKEL-PLATED TEAPOTS

In the Basement you will find new nickel-plated Teapots, made from a cold rolled sheet copper of extra heavy weight, heavily nickel plated, well finished as well. Handle of enamelled wood fastened securely to the body which cannot get loose or melt off, and is always cold. One-half pint to five-pint size. Each $1.75 to $2.50

We can give you Coffee Pots in same material and at the same price.

J. C. TURNBULL CO., LTD.

PETERBOROUGH'S GREATEST STORE

CONSOLIDATION THE ONLY CURE IN SIGHT

HON. DR. CODY ADVOCATES CHANGE IN RURAL SCHOOL SYSTEM.

Toronto, Aug. 29.—Speaking before the Ontario Municipal Association at the City Hall Hon. H. J. Cody, Minister of Education gave a general outline of the Consolidated Rural Schools System, declaring that it was the best solution of the problem of the country school. He felt assured that this solution would give the best results in the Province of Ontario. In order to facilitate the matter, he said, a Bill was passed at the last session of the Legislature.

"It has been said that my policy of telling the people and trusting the people was going to fall down on account of the apathy of the farmers" he said "but such a statement is absurd. We have carried on the campaign in a great many places already, and in no case, as far as I know, has the method of consolidated schools been rejected."

In outlining the great advantages attached to the system of consolidated schools, he pointed out that one of the greatest was that they would only be installed where the people wanted them.

A "Voluntary Scheme."

The whole scheme was a voluntary one, although the Government would encourage it by giving financial assistance, giving grants from $800 to $1,200, and also bearing 20 to 40 per cent. of the cost of conveying the pupils to school according to the wealth of the locality. It would solve the old problem of attendance, and the specific subjects which bore a close relation to the district where the school was situated would be taught.

"It will not mean an education which would wean the pupil away from the farm, but one to assist them on the farm." he said.

In pointing out the great strides made in rural school, Dr. Cody pointed out that in 1911 there were only 33 schools in the Province of Ontario where agricultural matters were taught, while last year there were 1,200. He declared that it was not the intention of standing in the way of any ambitious boy, but to give an education that would prove a foundation for the boy to work on. Such a scheme, he was positive, would mean the making of greater community spirit.

"We want your co-operation," he said in conclusion, "and by our united effort I believe we will solve the rural school problem."

GERMAN SPARTACANS WOULD FOMENT WORLD REVOLUTION

Fifty-Two Delegates Meet in Conference at Halls—Claim to Represent Many Thousands of the Workers in Germany.

(Canadian Press Despatch)

Berlin, Aug. 29.—Complaints that German workers no longer possess revolutionary vigor, and that they cannot be induced to strike for any political aims, have featured a two days' conference of 52 delegates of extreme independent Spartacan sections, who claim to represent many thousands of workers.

Would Overthrow Govt

The conference was held in Halls, for the purpose of discussing means to overthrow the government, and to foment world revolution.

A Force Shied At

It was resolved to organize a central bureau in Hasig, but the president of the conference himself admitted that it would be unwise to attempt to use force to overthrow the government because the German Proletariat was not sufficiently revolutionary.

SCENIC RAILWAY INTO THE REGION OF MOUNT ROBSON

Prince George, B.C., Aug. 29.—With a view to developing tourist traffic through the Northern Canadian Rockies and the North Pacific coast country, the British Columbia Government are having surveys made for the construction of a permanent roadway and bridge over the Fraser River to make the Mount Robson country accessible to the rapidly increasing tourist traffic that this Canadian wonderland is attracting. The Hon. Dr. J. H. King, Minister of Public works, is responsible for this much needed improvement and Mr. Hugh Taylor, Bridge and Road Engineer for the Fort George district, went over the ground today with representatives of the Grand Trunk Pacific Railway and selected a site for the bridge at one of the finest scenic points near the junction of the Fraser and Grand Forks River. Construction work on this bridge will be started immediately.

C.P.R. CAN HANDLE THE RUSH TO EUROPE

HEAVY TRAVEL TO BATTLE-FIELDS IS LOOKED FOR NEXT YEAR.

Realizing that next year will see one of the biggest rushes to Europe ever known to modern transportation, the Canadian Pacific Railway and Ocean Services with their usual foresight and up to the minute policy have already begun to make arrangements for these tourists. The C.P.R. have installed one of the cleverest exhibits yet seen at the Toronto Exhibition grounds in the railway building which takes for its motto the phrase "Spans the World," referring to the great transportation service rendered by the company.

To commemorate Canada's part in the great war, one of the pictures, the work of J. S. Muir, a Toronto artist, depicts the whole western front when the Germans made their great bid for the channel ports and were foiled by the heroic work of Canada's army. In the distance on the canvas can be seen the battlefield sown with barb wire entanglements with the enemy trenches in the background. In the foreground bodies of infantry, cavalry, tanks, and great siege guns propelled by electricity are seen moving up the front. Not only are the figures lifelike, but the various battlefront effects such as falling planes, demolished houses and camouflaged roads are carried out with technical correctness which reflects great credit on the painter.

On the other hand of the span, the world tableau is a pastoral scene in Japan, with Mount Fujiyama in the background of a typical Oriental lake in which moving at a fair rate of speed can be seen a model of a C.P.R. steamer, which is also propelled by electricity. A tea house in the foreground, decorated with cheery trees and wistaria gives a quaint touch to the scene. Electrically propelled Japanese figures are seen moving across a cherry bridge, and the whole effect unconsciously forms an effective foil to the scene of war-torn Flanders on the opposite side. The oriental scenes by P. A. Staynes, R. O. I.

It has already been stated, according to a C.P.R. official in charge of the exhibit, that a certain section of land in Flanders has been dedicated to Canada as a burial ground for the heroes who were buried in France.

With their excellent accommodation of steamships and trains, the C.P.R. and Ocean services feel confident that they will be able to handle any amount of people who may take the trip to France next year to view the places made famous in history by the courageous work of Canada's army.

GLASS OF SALTS CLEANS KIDNEYS

If Your Back Hurts or Bladder Bothers you, Drink lots of Water

When your kidneys and your back feels sore, don't get scared and proceed to load your stomach with a lot of drugs that excite the kidneys and irritate the entire urinary tract. Keep your kidneys clean like you keep your bowels clean, by flushing them with a mild, harmless salts which removes the body's urinous waste and stimulates them to their normal activity. The function of the kidneys is to filter the blood. In 24 hours they strain from it 500 grains of acid and waste, so we can readily understand the vital importance of keeping the kidneys active.

Drink lots of water—you can't drink too much; also get from any pharmacist about four ounces of Jad Salts; take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast each morning for a few days and your kidneys will act fine. This famous salts is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for generations to clean and stimulate clogged kidneys; also to neutralize the acids in urine so it no longer is a source of irritation, thus ending bladder weakness.

Jad Salts is inexpensive; cannot injure; makes a delightful effervescent lithia-water drink which everyone should take now and then to keep their kidneys clean and active. Try this, also keep up the water drinking, and no doubt you will wonder what became of your kidney trouble and backache.

HYDRO MAY WAIVE LAND DAMAGES

GIVES CITY OPTION OF PURCHASING PROPERTY ON HUNTER STREET.

Land damages enters largely into the cost of constructing the new Hunter Street bridge, as whatever damages allowed property encroached on by the bridge and its approaches must come out of the appropriation the city has for bridge purposes.

The Auld Allen Estate on Hunter street will be properly so affected and as it now is owned by the Hydro Electric Commission of Ontario Council concluded it worth while to more for that commission's forbearance in the matter of land damages.

With this end in view Ald. Phelan chairman of the City's Bridge Committee, last week interviewed Sir Adam Beck on the question, and to his credit it must be said he succeeded in persuading the honorable gentleman and his commission to waive for the present all claim to one item of damages Council had looked for as chargeable to the new bridge, eventually purchase this Hunter street frontage for municipal needs in connection with the street railway and gas plant when taken over by the city.

The following letter from F. A. Gaby, chief engineer of the Hydro Electric Commission of Ontario speaks for itself in the above connection, and is the result of Ald. Phelan's forceful presentation of the City's position:

"Dear Sir:

"Re encroachment of Hunter St., Bridge Construction on H. E. P. C. property, Hunter Street St., Peterboro.

"We have a copy of Plan No. 632-26, prepared by Mr. Frank Barber, your consulting engineer on the Hunter St. Bridge, showing outline of bridge approach fill on our property fronting on Hunter Street, this property being formerly part of the Allen Estate.

"Owing to the possibility of the purchase of the Gas Plant and Street Railway properties by the City, the Commission is willing to let the question of damages in connection with this property rest in obeyance until a final conclusion is reached:

"Outside of this, there is also the fact that the Commissioners of the opinion that this property would make an ideal location for a substation for the city and feels that it would be in the interests of all concerned for the city to purchase from the commission, the Hunter St. frontage with whatever depth seems most advisable, and on this to locate a substation which will supply all the needs of the city of Peterborough, including power for the street railway and also to include in this building the executive offices and storeroom for the electric and waterworks departments.

"These considerations made the Commission willing to let the matter stand without any present claim for damages providing the city will undertake to provide on the Commission's request, a suitable roadway from the bridge or it's approach to the Commission's property fronting on Hunter street, and to construct at the City's expense a retaining wall at the edge of the fill on the Commission's property should this be desirable."

Pierre Montaux, successor to Karl Muck as leader of the Boston Symphony Orchestra, arrived in New York from France.

Latest fair price food list issued in New York shows a downward trend and further decided reductions are predicted.

EVERY ASTHMATIC INVITED TODAY

To Try the Wonderful Frontier Method FREE OF CHARGE

If you are a victim of Asthma and have never tried the Frontier Method we want you to do so now. We have so much confidence in its wonderful healing and controlling power that we will send you a free trial at our expense. We don't want a single cent of your money. We just want an opportunity to prove to you that it is the long looked for relief from your misery, you have been searching for these many years.

Thousands have reported themselves healed by this plan, so why should anyone continue to suffer the terrible paroxysms this disease causes when it only requires a post card or a stamp to prove its benefit.

No matter in what climate you live, no matter what your age or occupation nor how long you have been troubled if you have Asthma in any form you owe it to yourself to send today for a free trial of the new Frontier Method.

This free offer is too important to neglect a single day. Write now and begin its use at once. Send no money. Simply fill out and mail coupon below. Do it today.

FREE TRIAL COUPON

FRONTIER ASTHMA CO., Room 1751, Niagara and Hudson Streets, Buffalo, N.Y.
Send free trial of your method to:

.....

MRS. DOOLEY'S ADVICE TO WORKING GIRLS

Milwaukee, Wis.—"I wish all girls who work and suffer from functional disorders would profit by my advice and take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. Before I was married, when I came home from work at night, I would be just worn out with pains which dragged me down. I took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and it made me feel like a new woman. I can work from morning until night and it does not bother me, and I wish all girls who suffer as I did would try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound."—Mrs. H. DOOLEY, 1135 25th Street, Milwaukee, Wis.

Working girls everywhere should profit by Mrs. Dooley's experience, and instead of dragging along from day to day with life a burden, give this famous root and herb remedy, Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound a trial. It has overcome just such conditions for thousands of others, and why not for you? For special advice, write Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co., Lynn, Mass. The result of their 40 years experience is at your service.

LAKEFIELD

Miss Elsie Sherin is spending a few days in Toronto.

Miss Wall of Toronto is the guest of Miss Mollie Johnson.

Mr. and Mrs. J. Brown have returned to the village after spending the past week in Toronto, visiting their son, Mr. Walter Brown.

Miss Joan Thompson returned on Wednesday, after spending the past month camping at Stoney Lake.

Mr. Willie Lemay returned on Thursday, after spending the past week the guest of Mr. Ken Brown, Boshink.

Miss Mary Hampton is spending a few weeks outing at the Y. W. C. A. camp at Burleigh Falls.

Mr. N. Ogilvie who has been camping at Stoney Lake for the past month has returned to the village.

Mr. and Mrs. E. Bickell are visiting friends at Port Perry.

Miss Verna Burgess is spending a few days outing at the Y.M.C.A. camp at Burleigh.

Mr. Sam Sherin left on Thursday to spend a few days in Toronto visiting friends.

Mr. and Mrs. Smith motored to Toronto on Wednesday to spend a few days.

Mrs. F. Burgess is at present visiting relatives in Chicago and Rochester.

The many friends of Mr. Wilbert Webster will be pleased to learn that his condition is improved.

Dr. Roger Fraser who has recently returned from overseas is at present visiting his father, Dr. J. R. Fraser.

Mrs. Wesley Sherin spent Thursday in Peterborough.

The following Lakefield pupils passed the upper school examination, E. A. Bailey, W. A. Bailey, A. V. Batten, M. Lemay, G. W. Payne, H. C. Preston, G. D. Simpson.

Miss M. Lemay of Viamede, was in the village on Monday.

Miss Eva McNutt of Hamilton, is visiting friends in the village.

Miss Georgina Everett who has been attending summer school in Kingston is at present at her home, in the village.

Miss Vera Gardiner of Norwood, spent a few days in the village the guest of Miss Olive Northcott.

Rev. M. and Mrs. Spencer and babe of Millbrook are the guests of Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Rygott.

Miss Elsie Sherin entertained a few friends to Progressive 500, and a dance, at her home, on Tuesday evening. Dr. C. Smith and Mrs. Fred Brown were the prize winners.

Miss Melissa Alford attended the Trent Bridge Regatta, being the guest of Mrs. O. A. Sawyer.

Mr. and Mrs. B. Stroud, who has been visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Jackson has returned to their home in Montreal.

ORDER FOR KHAKI FRIEZE.

Meaford, Aug. 29.—The Meaford Woolen Mills has just received an order from the Canadian Woolen Manufacturers' Association for 17,000 yards of kahki frieze representing about $55,000. One of the firm has gone to the United States to purchase additional machinery for the manufacture of the cloth, which will be shipped to Greece for the use of the army.

LIFT BAN ON PRESS.

Dublin, Aug. 29.—The Government has decided to abolish the press censorship in Ireland August 31st.

MENTIONING SOME OF THE NEW MERCHANDISE IN OUR NEW DEPTS.

When you are down town to-morrow, whether you intend to purchase or not, we invite you to inspect this new merchandise in our New Department.s The electric goods will be of interest to every housewife for many of the appliances are innovations and no doubt have not been displayed in the city before. The Cutlery is the product of the celebrated Rogers Bros., including the dignified patterns, of the "1847 Rogers" Series. The travelling goods are present in great array and your every need can be fulfilled . .

Canadian Beauty Electric Appliance

Exclusive features and radical improvements in the New Canadian Beauty Electric Appliances open up a world of new delights for the use of electricity in the home. The Electric Grill, Toaster and Iron have won a deserved and growing popularity nothing short of marvellous. But you have wished for a larger cooking surface on your Grill, for a plug that would not break, for a Iron with cool handle, for a Toaster that would heat evenly and not burn your fingers in handling, for beautilul designs that would grace your table . . . . . .

NEW CANADIAN BEAUTY ELECTRIC TOATSER
The most exclusive refined design ever produced. Has heavy base, won't tip, ebonized feet, won't scratch tables; has convenient toaster rack, won't get hot, easy to handle. Element has graduated winding on finest grade mica, new terminals; gives even heat, long life, simple renewal, toasts two slices at once. Priced at $6.00

CANADIAN BEAUTY ELECTRIC GRILL
Has three heats, laregts cooking surface, 12 square inches over any other grill. Independent rim, keeps cool, retains finish, heating element easily removed. Simplest system of heat control fool proof, uses the standard Canadian Beauty plug; each grill has reflector plate, deep pan, capacity two quarts, and shallow pan capacity one quart. Finish highly polished nickel. Priced at ... $10.00

CANADIAN BEAUTY ELECTRIC IRONS
A standard model Electric Iron, approximately six pounds. Has perfect balance, labor saving back stand, really cool handle, entirely new heating element, wonderfully efficient, economical heat distribution. The finish is different—unusually good. Has a nickel handle. Priced at $6.00

CANADIAN BEAUTY ROUND TOASTER STOVE
This is a handy stove in the round shape. It has the same large cooking surface as the Canadian Beauty Grill; same standard elements. Reflector removable for cleaning. Specially designed for light cooking, heating water, etc. Priced at.. $6.75

CANADIAN BEAUTY DISC STOVES
Have enclosed high grade heating elements, easily removable and finished in highly polished nickel. Priced at... $6.50

"1847 ROGERS" SILVER PLATE

IN EITHER "CROMWELL" OR "OLD COLONY" DESIGN

Butter Knives	Olive Spoons
Sugar Shells	Cheese Servers
Tomato Server	Individual Pastry Forks
Cold Meat Fork	Pie Servers
Cake Fork	Fruit Knives

SPOONS IN PLAIN "CROMWELL"

Dessert Spoons	Coffee Spoon
Table Spoons	5 o'Clock Tea Spoons
Berry Spoons

SPOONS IN "CROMWELL" AND "OLD COLONY"

Salad Spoons	Orange Spoons
Soup Spoons	Bouillion Spoons
Jelly Spoons	Baby Spoons

MISCELLANEOUS PIECES IN EITHER "OLD COLONY" OR "CROMWELL"

Sugar Tongs	Butter Spreader
Fruit Fork	Baby Pusher
Fish Knife	Child's Set
Salad Fork	Bread Knives
Pickle Fork	Game Carver
Individual Salad Fork

"Old Colony" or "Cromwell" Patterns—also Plain, b.

Hollow and Solid Handle Knives and Forks in either Dessert or Table Sizes.

LADLES IN "OLD COLONY" AND "CROMWELL" DESIGNS

Mayonnaise — Gravy
Cream

CANADIAN BEAUTY KITCHEN SCALES
Entirely different in finish and construction from any other scales on the market, has 3-point base, steel beam with highly polished nickel finish. Scoop is one piece aluminum—light, clean, and strong. Weighs up to 24 lbs. Priced at $7.00

CANADIAN BEAUTY FLAT RECTANGULAR TOASTER AND STOVE
Designed for she who wants a toaster that will also heat a kettle; and where low cost is a consideration. Has a removable bottom for cleaning ... Priced at .. $4.50

ELECTRIC PERCOLATORS
A splendid assortment designed for making coffee right on the table. Each piece is equipped with a patent detachable plug, six feet of cord and lamp socket connection Priced from $13.75 To $21.85

HELP WANTED.
INEXPERIENCED
SALESLADIES
FOR THE ANNEX
ON WEDNESDAYS
APPLY AT OFFICE
2ND FLOOR

EXPERIENCED
HELP WANTED
SALESLADIES
FOR OUR MAIN FLOOR
APPLY AT OFFICE
2ND FLOOR

TRAVELLING GOODS AS---TRUNKS, SUIT CASES, CLUB BAGS FOR EXHIBITION TRAVELLING

CLUB BAG OF BLACK IMITATION LEATHER $5.25
This bag is medium size, and the finish is a plain grained surface; has double handles, brass mountings, and is lined with a pebbled surface imitation leather ..... Priced at $5.25

SUIT CASES OF EXTRA HEAVY FIBRE $8.50
This case is of extra heavy tan fibre and has reinforced corners of heavy leather and brass, and is encircled by two straps at either end to strengthen it, brass mountings and lock. Priced at $8.50

SUIT CASES OF TAN RUSSIAN HORSEHIDE $14.75
Durability has been the aim of the maker, and he has met with exceptional success, for this model will give a lifetime of service with its massive reinforcements and heavy stitching. The interior is lined with a cretonne in a rose and grey floral pattern. Priced at $14.75

TAN BAG OF RUSSIAN HORSEHIDE, $25
A substantial, dignified-looking bag that is sewn with heavy stitches, finished with brass mountings and lock, has a leather name tag, with inset piece of celluloid, and the corners are strongly reinforced. Priced at $25.00

SUIT CASES, $2.40 to $31.00 TRUNKS FROM $6.25 to $46.00 CLUB BAGS $5.50 to $25.00

MARTIN-SENOUR PAINTS 100 PER CENT URE

Paints for House, Floor, Porch, Wagons and Carriages, in every shade that Paint is made. Also Inside Spar Varnishes, Old English Floor Wax, Alabastine and Muresco.

When furnishing or re-furnishing you will find it convenient to make up your color scheme by matching your rugs, draperies, wall paper and paint. All of these departments are on the one floor.

The CRESSMAN Company Limited

PROFITEERING A DISEASE TO-DAY

SO SAYS DR. ROBINSON, CHICAGO'S HEALTH COMMISSIONER.

Chicago, Aug. 29 Profiteering is an economic disease, and like any other disease requires expert diagnosis before remedy," said Dr. Robertson, health commissioner today in announcing steps which he and the new foods, markets and farm products bureau of the health department, of which he is head, are taking. All of 1,500 employes of the health department and the co-operating forces in and outside neighboring farming districts are being organized to gather data on crops, shipments and storage of foodstuffs. Dr James T Kilcourse, head of the food inspection bureau of the health department, and Russell J. Poole, director of the food costs bureau, are directing the work The health commissioner and those working with him hope to bring about reduced prices through co-operation between the farmer, the producer and the middleman.

DECORATED FLOATS FOR LOCAL EXHIBITION

ALSO BICYCLES, AUTOMOBILES AND CLOWNS IN BIG PARADE.

The Peterborough Industrial Exhibition is drawing near, the dates being September 15th, 16th and 17th and it is the desire of the Board to make this the best exhibition Peterborough has ever had. Manufacturers, business men and public generally, have been co-operating with the management in a splendid maner, and as a result, the grounds have been greatly improved, new buildings being added and many other little additions have been made.

With a view to working up enthusiasm the directors would like to put on a big parade on Monday afternoon, the opening day, consisting of decorated floats representing various businesses, decorated automobiles, bicycles, with the customary clowns etc., but before going ahead with the advertising of this, they want to make sure that it will be a success and therefore are soliciting co-operation.

The directors are leaving no stone unturned to boast this year's exhibition and hope for strong support in making this special float parade for the opening day a success.

RECORDS BROKEN EVERY DAY AT EX

THIS YEAR PROMISES TO EXCEED ALL OTHERS IN ATTENDANCE.

Toronto, Aug. 29.—The Canadian National Exhibitio nrecords of attendance are still being broken every day of the exhibition this year. Today is press day and publishers and editors from all parts of Ontario are here in force, as well as other people in thousands. The weather today is bright and much warmer than any previous day of the exhibition this so far.

27 AVIATORS IN AIR DERBY FINISH

FIFTY-TWO STARTED, 16 PLANES WERE SLIGHTLY DAMAGED.

(Canadian Press Despatch)

Mineola, N.Y., Aug. 29.—Twenty-seven avaitors in the Toronto-New York aerial derby have finished the race, and nine others are expected to complete the flight by two o'clock this afternoon, according to an official summary of the contest announced at Roosevelt field today.

Fifty-Seven Entered.

Fifty-seven planes were originally entered, but only 52 actually started. During the race thus far 16 machines were slightly damaged, and temporarily put out of commission.

IMPORTED MEN REFUSE TO WORK

Attempt to Back Shipbuilders' Strike at Meaford Fails.

Meaford, Aug. 29 —The strike of the Seaman-Kent yardmen is the all-absorbing topic here at present, for in hope of breaking the strike the company brought in a gang of men from Midland, agreeing to pay them 40c an hour for eight or ten days with free transportation both ways, They were told that the tax would be refunded if the beer was destroyed. The beer was emptied into the streets forming a foamy stream several inches dee,

With Cups and Pitchers.

Men and women hurried to the scene with cups and pitchers, and attempted to salvage some of the beer, but were driven away by Government officials.

They were told that there was a scarcity of labor in Meaford. When the men arrived the situation was explained to them, and upon learning the facts they refused to go to work stating that they would not have come to Meaford had they known that a strike was in progress.

A scow with 140,000 feet of lumber for the company is lying at the dock here with only four men engaged in unloading her, while a number of Grand Trunk cars with lumber are on the siding waiting to be unloaded. The situation will become still more acute when the supply of lumber in the dry kilns runs out.

Some fear is entertained that a sympathetic strike may be called, which would involve all the men employed in the factory.

NP SOAP

The Leader of them all

EARN ENTRANCE INTO THE FACULTIES OF EDUCATION

Candidates from Peterborough and Victoria counties named below have passed one or more parts of the Upper School examination for entrance into the Faculties of Education at the University of Toronto and Queen's University, Kingston. The part of the examination passed is indicated after each name.

The answer papers of each candidate whose marks would appear to justify an appeal have already been reread by the Appeal Examiners Where such a candidate has still failed, the statement of marks will be stamped as reread and no further appeal will be allowed. In all other cases of failure appeals will not be refused if submitted at once, accompanied by a fee of $2.00.

Certificates and statement of the marks obtained by unsuccessful candidates are being sent out to the principals, to whom all candidates are referred for further information.

Successful candidates who desire to attend the coming session of either Faculty of Education, should make application to the Dean of the Faculty of the University concerned, from whom forms of application and all necessary information may be obtained.

Victoria and Peterborough.

A. Alton (Pt. I., with M.S. Anc. Hist.), M. Allen (Pt. I.), I. D. Baird (Pt. II.), M. E. Connal (Pt. II.), M. M. Conner (Pt. II.), A. M. Corran (Pt. I.), M. J. Gilchrist (Pt. I.), M. I. Graham (Pt. II.), I. Lindsay (Pt. II.), M. T. Lehane (Pt. II.), D. G. Maconachie (Pt. I.), R. E. O'Neill (Pt. I.), M. B. O'Leary (Pt. C.), M. C. Overend (Pt. II.), M. W. Perrin (Pt. II.), A. I. Peel (Pt. I.), A. M. Piercey (Pt. II.), K. Thorndyke (Pt. I.), A. J. Thompson (Pt. II.)

FOUR HUNDRED BARRELS OF 2.75 BEER DUMPED INTO THE GUTTERS

One Way of Enabling Chicago Brewery to Escape Tax Men and Women Attempt Salvage Armed With Cups and Pitchers.

(Canadian Press Despatch)

Chicago, Aug. 29. Four hundred barrels of 2.75 per cent. beer, manufactured by the Schlitz Brewing Company of Milwaukee, before war-time prohibition become effective, was dumped into the gutters of the streets today by Otto B. Fugrat, United States Revenue Inspector, to enable the company to recover $2,40 in taxes previously paid the Government.

Couldn't Sell It.

Officials of the brewery recently called the attention of the revenue collector to the fact that after having paid a tax of $6 a barrel on beer, they were prevented by law from selling it.

PEACHES

AT THEIR BEST

FEW CAGES LEFT TOMATOES

FOR PRESERVING

GRAPES, PEARS
MUSK MELON
PEACHES
CUCUMBER
CABBAGE
LETTUCE, ONIONS
CELERY, POTATOES
SPANISH ONIONS
JUICIEST ORANGES IN TOWN
GRAPEFRUIT AND BANANAS
CHOICEST GROCERY

D. M. Minicola

Phone 935 410½ George St.

PROVIDE FOR YOUR OLD AGE

The first years of man must make provision for the last. Such is impossible if your vision is defective.

Keep your earning power right up to the highest standard you possibly can by letting Dr. Fowler care for your eyesight. If the eyes need glasses, his "PEBLO" Lenses give guaranteed service that cannot be excelled.

CONSULTATION FREE.

EYESIGHT SPECIALIST A. A. FOWLER DOCTOR OF OPTICS

Phm. B. Toronto University.

HAS FITTED 30,000 SATISFIED WEARERS OF PEBLO GLASSES

Most Up-to-date Sanitary Optical Parlors. With Nugent Drug Co.

GRAND To-Night AND SATURDAY

3 - GREAT MOVIE FEATURES - 3

FRANCIS X. BUSHMAN AND BEVERLY BAYNE

IN A THRILLING DRAMA THAT TUGS AT THE HEART STRINGS

"OUTLAW"

CONSTANCE TALMADGE In "WHO CARES"

EXTRA!! - THE BIG HIT - EXTRA!!!

VOD-A-VIL MOVIES

PRICES MATINEE 10c 15c EVENING 15c-25c

ONE NIGHT ONLY WEDNESDAY

The Smashing, Crashing, Red-blooded, Scenic Spectacle that stood 'em up for

Two Years Lyceum Theatre London, Eng.

One Year Australia, South Africa and New Zealand.

200 Nights Park Theatre New York.

NOT A MOVING PICTURE

7 DAYS LEAVE

NOT A MOVING PICTURE

Overseas romance of love and valor.
Replete with thrills and laughs—absolutely free.
From war horrors and trench scenes.

Prices:—1.50, 1.00, 75, 50, 25 Seats on Sale Monday

THE ATRICAL

A MELODRAMA THAT HOLDS UNIQUE RECORD

RAN FOR NEARLY TWO YEARS AT LYCEUM THEATRE, LONDON.

When "Seven Days' Leave" is presented in this city at the Grand on Wednesday evening, the playgoers of Peterborough will have an opportunity of seeing a melodrama that holds a unique record in the history of the English-speaking stage. Written by Walter Howard, the most successful of later-day melodramic writers, it ran for nearly two years at Sir Henry Irvin's Lyceum Theatre, London, England, and [illegible] simultaneously played in Australia, South Africa, and Canada, while the company which will present it here is practically the same as appeared in it for over twenty weeks at the Park Theatre, New York City. The production in London played to an average business of about $20,000. The play is essentially British, and the leading character is a young major in the British army, while the big scene of the third act, denotes the gun deck of a British cruiser destroying a German U-Boat. In the last scene a troop of soldiers are seen at the dedication of a shrine in an English churchyard, and their departure for the fighting lines in France.

"Seven Days' Leave," by the way, is the term used in Great Britain for the furlough granted the fighters to cross the Channel for a seven days' visit at home. The action of the play occurs within this seven days and during that time the plans of an invention of the British major are stolen by German spies, and the English heroine and the German girl swim a race to a buoy where the latter attempts to give a signal to the submarine, and in which endeavor she is thwarted by Lady Mary Heather. Altogether "Seven Days' Leave," is a melodrama of the school made popular by George R. Sims, Dion Boucicault, Cecil Raleigh, and even by Augustin Daly and more recently, but with more camouflage by David Belasco, and the producers of such plays as "Within The Law" and others of that type. "Seven Days' Leave," however possesses the virtue of being built around the great world's war, and as such has a tremendous patriotic appeal.

WALTER SHERWIN, in "Seven Days' Leave," Grand, one night only, Wednesday, September 3rd.

THE LIFE OF YOUNG GIRL VIVIDLY TOLD

SCREEN STORY "WHO CARES" GOOD FEATURE AT GRAND.

Charming Constance Talmadge is the personification of youth. Be of that she has never had a agreeable part than that of Joan low, the heroine of "Who Care in which she is presented by Le Selznick. "Who Cares" will be on today at the Grand Sheatre.

Joan is light-hearted and ca she believes in leaping befor looks. She is fond of shruggi shoulders and saying "Who Ca when someone suggests that likely to get into difficulties. So she marries in an offhand way as she does not love her husban dismisses him after marriage, w admitting the obligations of the ried state.

Martin Grey, the young man she marries, at first refuses to be put aside, but when he sees that Joan will not play the game according to the rules, he leaves. Then Joan realizes that she does love him but before she wins him back she learns to know the meaning of heart-ache and disillusionment and she comes to him finally to tell of her love and to say that she is ready to cross the bridge that decides irresponsible youth from womanhood.

Constance Talmadge, with her beauty and acting ability, makes the part of Joan a vital, living force. The girl who has been said to possess a thousand expressions well lives up to her reputation in this picture. From the demure, sweet little girl of seventeen she develops into a sophisticated woman whose one aim in life is to ride the merry-go-round of life as hard and as fast as possible. She does it with disastrous results. The gradual change that takes place in the development of the little girl to the sophisticated women is all plainly shown by Constance's face. It is a picture characteristic of Constance Man, Poor Man," "Prunela" and "Uncle Tom's Cabin."

The balance of the programme will be in keeping with the Allen policy of pictures that excel.

Don't fail to pay your first visit on Monday evening to the house of entertainment, "Allen's new Peterborough Theatre."

NEW ALLEN THEATRE OPENS ON MONDAY

CONTINUANCE PREFORMANCE EVERY DAY FROM TWO TILL ELEVEN.

The New Allen Theatre after being completely renovated and redecorated will be ready to open Monday evening, September 1st. The policy of the theatre will be continuous performance from two o'clock to 11. A full show will be geen regardless of the time you enter.

Matinee prices will prevail until six o'clock and evening prices from then on. A full orchestra will provide music of the better kind every evening and Saturday matinees. Music will also be provided from the time the theatre opens the doors until closing time. No expense has been spared to make this house as comfortable as possible.

The opening picture will feature Marguerite Clark in "Three Men and a Girl." Miss Clark is well known through her success in "Bab," "Rich

SEVEN KEYS TO BALDPATE

BY EARL DERR BIGGERS

Copyright, 1913, by the Bobbs-Merrill Company

He neard Cargan and Max on the randa just above his head. They w speaking of trains to Reuton. In g good humor, evidently, they sta down the steps. Mr. Magee crouc resolved that he would spring the ment they reached the ground. "I were on the last step—now!

Suddenly from the other side of steps a black figure rose, a fist out and Mr. Max went spinning a whirling dervish down the snowy path to land in a heap five feet away. The next instant the mayor of Reuton and the black figure were locked in terrific conflict.

Magee Wrenched the Package From His Hand.

For fifteen seconds, muttering, slipping, grappling, the two figures waltzed grotesquely about in the falling snow. Then the mayor's feet slid from under him on the treacherous white carpet, and the two went down together. As Mr. Magee swooped down upon them he saw the hand of the stranger find the mayor's pocket and draw from it the package that had been placed there in the office a few moments before.

Before that gentleman realized what had happened Magee had wrenched the package from his hand, thrown him back on the prostrate form of the highest official of Reuton and fled up the steps. Quickly the stranger regained his feet and started in pursuit, but he arrived at the great front door of Baldpate inn just in time to hear the lock click inside.

Safe for a moment behind a locked door, Mr. Magee paused to get his breath. The glory of battle filled his soul. It was not until long afterward that he realized the battle had been a mere scuffle in the dark.

With no thought for Mr. Bland, bound in his uneasy chair, Mr. Magee hurried up the broad staircase of Baldpate. Now came the most gorgeous scene of all—a fair haired lady; a knight she had sent forth to battle; the knight returned. "You asked me to bring you this, my lady." Business of surprise and joy on the lady's part, business also perhaps of adoration for the knight.

At the right of the stairs lay 17 and the lady, at the left a supposedly uninhabited land. As Mr. Magee reached the second floor, blithely picturing the scene in which he was to play so satisfactory a part, he paused, for halfway down the corridor to the left an open door threw a faint light into the hall, and in that light stood a woman he had never seen before. In this order came Mr. Magee's impressions of her—fur coated, tall, dark, handsome, with the haughty manner of one engaging a chauffeur.

"I beg your pardon," she said, "but are you by any chance Mr. Magee?"

The knight leaned weakly against the wall and tried to think.

"I—I am," he managed to say.

"I'm so glad I've found you," replied the girl. It seemed to the dazed Magee that her dark eyes were not overly happy. "I cannot ask you in, I'm afraid. I do not know the custom on such an occasion. Does anybody? I am alone with my maid. Hal Bentley, when I wrote to him for a key to this place, told me of your being here and said that I was to put myself under your protection."

"Delighted, I'm sure," he murmured.

"I shall not try to impose on you," she went on. "The whole affair is so unusual as to be almost absurd. I have come here to get something—and I haven't the least idea how to proceed. I came because I must have it—so much depends on it."

Prophetically Mr. Magee clutched to his pocket the package for which he had done battle.

"I may be too late." The girl's eyes grew wide. "That would be terribly unfortunate. I do not wish you to be injured serving me"— She lowered her voice. "But if there is any way in which you can help me—in this difficulty—I can never be grateful enough. Downstairs in the safe there is, I believe, a package containing a large sum of money."

Mr. Magee's hand closed convulsively in his pocket.

"If there is any way possible," said the girl, "I must obtain that package. I give you my word I have as much right to it as any one who will appear at the inn. The honor and happiness of one who is very dear to me are involved."

With the eyes of a man in a dream Mr. Magee looked into the face of the latest comer to Baldpate.

"Hal Bentley is an old friend and a bully chap," he said. "It will be a great pleasure to serve a friend of his." He paused, congratulating himself that these were words, idle words. "When did you arrive, may I ask?"

"I believe you were having dinner when I came," she answered. "Mr Bentley gave me a key to the kitchen door, and we found a back stairway. There seemed to be a company below —I wanted to see only you."

"I repeat," said Mr. Magee, "I shall be happy to help you if I can." His word to another lady, he reflected, was binding. "I suggest that there is no harm in waiting until morning."

"But—I am afraid it was tonight"— she began.

"I understand," Magee replied. "The plans went wrong. You may safely let your worries rest until tomorrow."

"You are very kind," she said. "I hardly expected to be here the night through. It is rather cold, but I am sure we have rugs and coats enough."

Mr. Magee's duty was clear.

"I'll build you a fire," he announced. The girl seemed distressed at the thought.

"No, I couldn't let you," she said. "I am sure it isn't necessary. I will say good night now. I am Myra Thornhill of Reuton. Until tomorrow." She went in and closed the door.

Mr. Magee sat limply down on the cold stair. All the glory was gone from the scene he had pictured a moment ago. He had the money, yes, the money procured in valiant battle, but at the moment he bore the prize to his lady another appeared from the dark to claim it. What should he do?

Mr. Magee unlocked the door of No. 7 and entered. Lighting his candles and presiding the fire, he composed a note to the waiting girl in 17:

"Everything all right. Sleep peacefully. I am on the job. Will see you tomorrow. Mr.—Billy."

Slipping this message under her door, the ex-knight hurried away to avoid an interview and sat down in his chair before the fire.

"I must think," he muttered. "I must get this thing straight."

For an hour he pondered, thrashing out as best he could this mysterious game in which he played a leading part unequipped with a book of rules.

"Tomorrow is another day," he reflected. "I'll solve this whole thing then. They can't go on playing without me. I've got the ball."

He took the package from his pocket. Its seals had already been broken. Untying the strings, he began carefully to unwrap the paper, the thick yellow manilla and then the oiled inner wrapping. So finally he opened up the solid mass of—what? He looked closer. Crisp, beautiful $1,000 bills. Whew! He had never seen a bill of this size before. And here were 200 of them.

He wrapped the package up once more and prepared for bed. Just as he was about to retire he remembered Mr. Bland, bound and gagged below.

(To Be Continued.)

It's all up with the vocalist who can't draw his breath.

Best of all Fly Killers 10c per Packet at all Druggists, Grocers and General Stores

KEYS TO BALDPATE

proceed. I came because I must have it—so much depends on it."

Prophetically Mr. Magee clutched to his pocket the package for which he had done battle.

"I may be too late." The girl's eyes grew wide. "That would be terribly unfortunate. I do not wish you to be injured serving me"— She lowered her voice. "But if there is any way in which you can help me—in this difficulty—I can never be grateful enough. Downstairs in the safe there is, I believe, a package containing a large sum of money."

Mr. Magee's hand closed convulsively in his pocket.

"If there is any way possible," said the girl, "I must obtain that package. I give you my word I have as much right to it as any one who will appear at the inn. The honor and happiness of one who is very dear to me are involved."

With the eyes of a man in a dream Mr. Magee looked into the face of the latest comer to Baldpate.

"Hal Bentley is an old friend and a bully chap," he said. "It will be a great pleasure to serve a friend of his." He paused, congratulating himself that these were words, idle words. "When did you arrive, may I ask?"

"I believe you were having dinner when I came," she answered. "Mr Bentley gave me a key to the kitchen door, and we found a back stairway. There seemed to be a company below —I wanted to see only you."

"I repeat," said Mr. Magee, "I shall be happy to help you if I can." His word to another lady, he reflected, was binding. "I suggest that there is no harm in waiting until morning."

"But—I am afraid it was tonight"— she began.

"I understand," Magee replied. "The plans went wrong. You may safely let your worries rest until tomorrow."

"You are very kind," she said. "I hardly expected to be here the night through. It is rather cold, but I am sure we have rugs and coats enough."

Mr. Magee's duty was clear.

"I'll build you a fire," he announced. The girl seemed distressed at the thought.

"No, I couldn't let you," she said. "I am sure it isn't necessary. I will say good night now. I am Myra Thornhill of Reuton. Until tomorrow." She went in and closed the door.

Mr. Magee sat limply down on the cold stair. All the glory was gone from the scene he had pictured a moment ago. He had the money, yes, the money procured in valiant battle, but at the moment he bore the prize to his lady another appeared from the dark to claim it. What should he do?

Mr. Magee unlocked the door of No. 7 and entered. Lighting his candles and presiding the fire, he composed a note to the waiting girl in 17:

"Everything all right. Sleep peacefully. I am on the job. Will see you tomorrow. Mr.—Billy."

Slipping this message under her door, the ex-knight hurried away to avoid an interview and sat down in his chair before the fire.

"I must think," he muttered. "I must get this thing straight."

For an hour he pondered, thrashing out as best he could this mysterious game in which he played a leading part unequipped with a book of rules.

"Tomorrow is another day," he reflected. "I'll solve this whole thing then. They can't go on playing without me. I've got the ball."

He took the package from his pocket. Its seals had already been broken. Untying the strings, he began carefully to unwrap the paper, the thick yellow manilla and then the oiled inner wrapping. So finally he opened up the solid mass of—what? He looked closer. Crisp, beautiful $1,000 bills. Whew! He had never seen a bill of this size before. And here were 200 of them.

He wrapped the package up once more and prepared for bed. Just as he was about to retire he remembered Mr. Bland, bound and gagged below.

(To Be Continued.)

It's all up with the vocalist who can't draw his breath.

WHEN USING WILSON'S FLY PADS READ DIRECTIONS CAREFULLY AND FOLLOW THEM EXACTLY

Best of all Fly Killers 10c per Packet at all Druggists, Grocers and General Stores

ADVERTISING RATES.

The rate for Classified Advertisements is one cent a word per first insertion; subsequent insertions half a cent per word. Minimum number of words ten. Special terms for 5,000 words or over.

Advertisements marked "till forbidden" are accepted on the understanding that they will be published until a written or verbal notice to stop them is received.

BIRTH, MARRIAGE, DEATH, MEMORIAL NOTICES AND CARDS OF THANKS, 50c per insertion in Daily and Weekly, not exceeding one inch space. All words over the inch, one cent each.

CHURCH ANNOUNCEMENTS. Sunday Services Announcement in Saturday daily (no reference to concerts allowed) $5 per year per inch. Extra space in this column for the purpose stated, 15c per inch. Regular rates apply for other than Sunday services.

GET YOUR PRINTING DONE at The Review office. Lowest price and best service.

IF YOU WANT TO BUY ANYthing at a bargain price, let the people know through The Review columns. You're sure to get it.

IF YOU HAVE ANYTHING to sell, advertise in The Review. A sure sale.

FEMALE HELP WANTED

WANTED — GIRLS. APPLY at Gate House, Canadian General Electric Co., Ltd.

YOUNG WOMAN OR GIRL for general housework. Apply Review office for address.

WANTED.

SALESMEN (NOW CALLING on automobile and accessories dealers) to sell All-Seasons Tops on commission basis. Selling season September to February. An attractive proposition for high-class salesmen. Write to Carriage Factories, Limited, Orillia, Ontario.

LOST.

LOST ON ROAD BETWEEN Crowe's Landing and Peterborough, via Lakefield, black leather club bag. Finder please notify Review office and receive reward.

HOOD FOR FORD CAR, IN front of 782 George street. Finder please notify J. M. Bygott, Lakefield.

FOUND.

FOUND ON SIMCOE STREET, near Park, black enameled frame for holding glass in headlight on motor car. Owner can have same by applying at Review and paying for this notice.

FOR SALE.

FARM FOR SALE.

A first-class farm for sale; four miles from city. Apply Review for address.

PEAR LAWN FARM OFFERS for sale one high grade short horn cow rising 4 years old with a choice red roan heifer calf 7 months old at foot, sired by imported bull; this is a choice calf; cow is bred again to Golden King (imp.) Also one nice bull 6 months old, sired by Escana Mascot, imported, and out of a first prize winning cow, a heavy milker. I have five litters of pure bred imported Yorkshire boars and sows ready to wean; a few nice sows ready to breed. If you want to buy some good breeding stock, come and see these. A few nice registered shorthorn cows and heifers in calf to Golden King (imp.) for sale. Herbert J. Miller, Keene, On-

THE FOLLOWING CAN BE seen and bought cheaply at 207 Simcoe street: Excavating tools, picks, shovels, wheel-barrows, scrapers, plough, etc., dump cart and harness, stone boat, drop bottom wagons, gravel wagon with 1¾-yard box, contractor's hoisting winch, tackle, etc., whiffletrees, neckyokes, etc., also a lot of window and door frames, handy for alterations and repairs. All in good shape.

Wm. Lytle Cartage Co.

A BRICK HOUSE ON McGILL street; electric light and water in the house. For particulars apply to Review office.

FOR SALE—C. G. E. ¼ H.P. 200 vol. 3 phase 60 cycles motor. Apply at Review office.

JULES AND JAY J. ALLEN ANNOUNCE THE OPENING OF THEIR NEW

ALLEN THEATRE

ON MONDAY EVENING SEPTEMBER 1ST

MARGUERITE CLARK IN

Three Men and a Girl

A Paramount Picture

Adapted from the play, "THE THREE BEARS." Three men were pals because they all hated women. Now, they hate each other. See the picture, and find out why.

Performance continues from 2 p.m. to 10.30. Come when you want, and leave when you please. You will always see a full show.

LEGAL CARDS.

HALL & HALL
Barristers and Solicitors
Money to Loan at Lowest Rates.
Telephone 69. 116 Hunter St

GORDON & O'BRIEN
Barristers, Solicitors and Notaries
Money to Loan at Lowest Rates.
Telephone 219.
G. N. GORDON J. A. O'BRIEN

C. R. WIDDIFIELD, B.A.
Barrister, Etc.
and Solicitor for the City of Peterborough. Bank of Commerce Building. 'Phone 550.

MOORE & WEARING
Barristers and Solicitors
MONEY TO LOAN.
108 Water St. Opposite Post Office

JAMES FORDYCE STRICKLAND
Barrister, Solicitor, Notary Public
MONEY TO LOAN.
305 Water Street Peterborough
PHONE 151.

S. F. MEDD
Barrister, Solicitor, Notary
Office over Dominion Bank
Cor Simcoe & George Sts
Telephone No. 23
Private funds to loan at current rates upon easy terms

PECK, KERR & McELDERRY
Barristers, Solicitors, Notaries, 419 Water street, Peterborough. Money to loan at lowest current rates of interest. Easy terms of repayment.
E. A. Peck F. D. Kerr.
V. J. McElderry

J. EDMUND L. GOODWILL
Barrister, Solicitor, Notary Public, etc. Office 375 Water St. Phone 191
Successor to Roger, Bennet & Goodwill
MONEY TO LOAN at current rates upon easy terms

A. E. DIXON
Barrister, Solicitor, etc.
Offices corner Hunter & George Sts. Entrance next Madill's Drug Store.

O'CONNELL & CORKERY
Barristers, Solicitors, Notaries Public, etc. Money to Loan on Easy Terms of Payment
D. O'Connell, J. R. Corkery.
434½ Hunter St. Peterborough
Telephone 364

R. R. HALL
Barrister, Solicitor, etc.
Peterborough, Ont., office corner Hunter and Water Sts., over Canadian Bank of Commerce. Trust funds to loan on easy terms of payment.

MEDICAL CARDS.

DR. E. E. HARVEY
Silver Medalist, University of Toronto
Special attention to diseases of Women and Children
Office: 212 Brock Street
Hours: 1 to 5 p.m., 7 to 8 p.m
Phone 222.

DR. BUCHANAN
F.R.S.C., Edin., M.R.C.S., Eng., L.R.C.P., Lon. Eye, Ear, Nose & Throat Specialist. Hours: 9-11 a.m., 2-4 and 7-8 p.m. Phone 619. Office corner Water and Murray streets.

DENTISTRY.

DR. W. N. HAYES
has opened a Dental practice in the Little Building, George street. 'Phone 652 for appointments.

OSTEOPATHY.

DRS. WAMSLEY & SETTLE
Osteopath Physicians
Office over Crown Building, Hunter and Water Streets. Entrance 124 Hunter street. Office hours: 9 to 12 a.m., 2 to 5 p.m. Evenings by appointment. Office Phone 649.

MONEY TO LOAN.

There has been placed in our hands considerable trust funds to loan at 6½ per cent. on first-class real estate property.

GORDON & O'BRIEN
Phone 219. 305 George St.

Piano Tuning
Phone 595
The GREENE MUSIC Co.

Children's Aid Society

—of—

Peterborough City and County

FOR THE CARE OF NEGLECTED AND ILL-TREATED CHILDREN

G. W. POWELL

Asst. Secretary and Inspector

Office, 588 George St. Phone 1044w

Office Hours: 12 to 2 and 6 to 8 p.m.

Twin brothers, discharged soldiers, who were married the same day, filed suits for divorce at St. Louis.

THE MARKETS

(Special to The Review.)

Toronto, August 28. — Receipts of live stock were light; the cattle trade was active, lambs easy, calves steady. Prices:

Choice export	$13.50	$14.50
Choice butchers	12.25	13.50
Medium butcher cows	9.00	10.00
Ewes	8.00	9.00
Lambs	15.25	15.75
Hogs, f.o.b.	21.25	21.25
Calves	21.00	21.50

PETERBOROUGH MARKETS

Dressed Pork, lb.	.30	.35
ChoiceMutton, lb.	.23	.25
Spring lamb, lb.	.30	.34
Beef (carcase), lb.	.17	.20
Veal (carcase), lb.	.22	.25
Potatoes, pk.	.70	.75
Chickens, lb	.35	.38
Eggs, doz.	.50	.50
Butter, lb.	.60	.60
Raspberries	.27	.30
Green Corn, doz.	.25	.25
Green onions, bunch	.5	.5
Lettuce, bunch	.5	.5
Radish, bunch	.5	.5
Grain, Hay and Straw.
Wheat (spring)	2.09	2.12
Wheat (marquis)	2.12	2.13
Buckwheat	1.15	1.15
Oats	.90	1.00
Barley	1.25	1.25
Timothy hay, ton	17.00	20.00
Loose straw, load	7.00	8.00

National Victory Celebration

TO BE OPENED BY H.R.H., THE PRINCE OF WALES

EXHIBITION

Aug. 23 TORONTO Sept. 6

British Grenadier Guards Band

War Memorial Paintings

Sensation of the art world, recording every phase of Canadian operations overseas.

WAR TROPHIES

Mammoth assemblage of monster guns, aeroplanes and all the instruments of hellish warfare captured by Canadian soldiers from the Hun.

Canada's Flying Circus

Cols. Barker and Bishop and other world famous aces in surrendered German planes.

WHIPPET TANK CAPTURED U BOAT

Festival of Triumph

The Most Stirring of all Grand Stand Spectacles

SEE The surrender of the German Fleet, Versailles Castle—Victory Arch, Allenby's entry into Jerusalem.

And a score of other extraordinary features THE GREATEST EXHIBITION OF ALL TIMES

Massey Silver Ribbon Bicycles

1896 1919

Street Car Delays—

Be Independent—And [redacted]

Ride Massey Bicycles

Figure how much money you have spent and how much time you have lost on street cars and you will be convinced that

You Need a Massey

The MASSEY BICYCLE has led them all since 1896.

Remember—prices will be higher.

WHITE BROS.

174 Hunter Street

Phone : 897 Opp. Oriental

Repairs on ALL makes of Bicycles

BOY CHAMPION IS ELIMINATED

SUFFERS DEFEAT AT HANDS OF R. NORRIS WILLIAMS, FORMER TITLE HOLDER.

COMPENSATION CAN STAND

MEANS ELIMINATION OF EXPENSE ITEM AGAINST COST OF NEW BRIDGE.

Forest Hills, N.Y., Aug. 28.—The greatest surprise in the second round of the National Tennis tourney was the defeat of Vincent Richards, the young indoor champion, by R. Norris Williams, the former title holder, in straight sets.

Connie Doyle of Washington moved forward at the expense of Cecil Donaldson. Watson Washburn won easily from Frank Loughman and meets today Gerald Patterson, the Australian, the latter coming through by the default of his team mate, Lycett. Wm. Johnston, San Francisco, champion in 1915, was forced to play four sets with G. A. Dionne of New York before he could dispose of the steady driving, deep court local player. Nat Niles of Boston eliminated S. Kaghio the Japanese player, in straight sets, with a loss of but seven games, but Ichiya Kumagae returned the compliment by easily defeating Ludlow Vandeventer of Plainfield, N.J., under similar circumstances.

Brookes and Thomas of the Australian team also advanced, the former at the expense of Walter Wegtbrook of Detroit the Australian master dropping but four games in the third set, while Thomas defeated Lyle Mahan of New York in straight sets in the first being the only one in which he was hard pressed. Maurice McLoughulin won from Clyde Curley of Pawtucket in straight sets without extending to any extent.

The other matches o fthe day were not carried forward with equal success for the far coast stars as Clarence Griffin of San Francisco was defeated by Robert Le Ray of New York in a hard five set match, the scores of which were 4-6, 3-6, 6-2, 6-0, 6-5.

The former holder of the doubles championship, with Johnston started out like a winner, but LeRoy's steady gain and constant fight for every point eventually wore Griffin down and although he battled gamely Griffin was decisively beaten in the closing sets. Willis Davis, the other California star, won from W. J. Gallon, New York, 6-2, 6-2, 6-3, and will face Norris Williams today in one of the grandstand matches.

"SIR BARTON" IS GREAT 3-YR. COLT

CANADIAN OWNED, HE HAS WON SEVERAL RACING EVENTS IN SUCCESSION.

New York, Aug. 29.—While on the subject of the pretenders to the three-year-old throne, let it not be forgotten that the Montreal owner, Command J. K. L. Ross, owns and races a certain colt named Sir Barton. In this same identical season Sir Barton tucked away in rapid succession the Kentucky Derby, the Preakness, the Withers and the Belmont Stakes, which constitutes no mean effort.

While it is true that the Commander's colt was beaten once by Purchase, it is also a fact that on that occasion he was giving away a deal of weight to the Hildreth horse, and it is also true that Sir Barton was in poor shape, as was mentioned at the time, and which has since been proven. Taking these factors into consideration, how, then, can Sir Barton be tossed unceremoniously into the discard when three-year-old titles are being issued? Surely this one defeat cannot detract materially from his championship merits when it is recalled that Purchase himself has many defeats on his "dope" card. Eternal took him into camp very nicely in the Brooklyn.

Purchase is a great colt and is perhaps the greatest of the day. Many people think so, but there is no gainsaying the fact that on their respective records Sir Barton's honors bulk larger than those of Purchase, and until the two meet again at equal weights and at a par on condition the claims for the Hildreth star have little real foundation.

The Canadian racing king has "put over" not a few surprises this season. Among them have been Sir Barton, Miss Choice and Constancy. A match race between Sir Barton when in good form and Purchase is not an impossibility by any means, and would certainly prove a most interesting event.

Summer home in Maine of Miss L. S. Parsons, of New York, was robbed of $14,000 in cash and jewels while the occupants were asleep.

$1,000 PURSE FOR RETURN MATCH

TORONTO PROMOTER ENDEAVORS TO BRING EBOR AND ATKINS TOGETHER AGAIN.

SUGGESTS TWENTY ROUND BOUT

WILL POST THE CASH FOR CANADIAN BANTAMWEIGHT CHAMP FIGHT.

Toronto, Aug. 29.—A thousand dollar purse for a return match between "Bobby" Ebor of Hamilton and Fighting "Dick" Atkins of Toronto is being offered by a Toronto promoter. The latter announced today that he was ready to put up such a purse for a fifteen or twenty-round bout between the two for the Canadian bantamweight championship, providing a police permit could be secured.

"I will post the money with anybody the principals choose," stated this gentleman today. "I see no reason why a twenty-round bout should not be allowed in Toronto, and in any event it can be cut down to fifteen rounds. The championship could be decided over that route provided the two principals agree upon it as in the case of Willard and Dempsey when the bout was only scheduled for twelve rounds. The match would have to be at the British bantam weight limit, 118 pounds, at 3 o'clock in the afternoon. This is the only bantamweight limit that can really be called official. The American weight is 116 pounds ringside, but American bantams seldom weigh in at that figure."

If this match could be arranged it is thought that some sportsman might present the winner with a belt emblematic of the title. The only conditions about the splitting of the purse is that it should not be fifty-fifty. The boxers can decide to split sixty-forty, seventy five-twenty-five, or winner take all for that matter. In their last bout the couple did not receive anything like the purse which is being offered, but the view is taken that they are fully entitled to the money. Their last bout was a corker, and many a boxer receives more for putting up a far poorer show.

HOW THEY STAND

INTERNATIONAL LEAGUE.

	W.	L.	P.C.
Baltimore	89	42	.679
Toronto	83	49	.629
Buffalo	75	56	.573
Newark	65	67	.492
Binghamton	61	67	.477
Rochester	57	75	.432
Jersey City	46	83	.357
Reading	43	80	.350

Yesterday's Results

Toronto 5, Newark 0.
Rochester 4, Reading 3.
Rochester 4, Reading 3.
Binghamton 3, Baltimore 1.
Jersey City 5, Buffalo 4.

Games Today.

Newark at Toronto.
Reading at Rochester.
Baltimore at Binghamton
Jersey City at Buffalo.

MICH.-ONTARIO LEAGUE.

	W.	L.	P.C.
Saginaw	68	29	.701
Hamilton	66	31	.680
Battle Creek	59	40	.596
Brantford	55	39	.585
Bay City	38	61	.384
Kitchener	36	.62	.367
London	36	64	.360
Flint	22	64	.333

Yesterday's Results

London 7, Brantford 6
Chicago 6, Hamilton 2

Games Today.

Brantford at London.
Hamilton at Kitchener.
Saginaw at Flint.
Battle Creek at Bay City.

IT'S UP TO "HAP" HARRISON NOW

TO SNATCH VICTORY FOR TORONTO MOOSE FROM THE JUDEAN SLUGGERS.

Toronto, Aug. 29.—The burden of stopping the Judean clouters will rest on "Hap" Harrison Moose's fire ball pitcher, a youth who is pitching his first season, seems certain from this distance. Although Manager Smith will not admit whom he will send against Judeans, it is whispered that Harrison will be the chap that draws down the job, although Moose have one of the best southpaws in town in "Lefty" Hardman.

The game, which will be played [illegible]rboro' Beach Saturday in the second round for the city championship, and the battle between Oslers, playground champs, and the unbeaten Classics, has the fans by the ear. Harrison, if he is sent against Judeans, will have the most serious job that any pitcher was ever called upon to face when he throws against Judeans' hitters. But Harrison is pitching great ball and on his work Saturday he looks like as if he will take some beating before he takes the count. He has a tremendous turn of speed and although it is his first year, he is the coolest pitcher that the critics ever saw working. Moose's great infield will be behind him and they are about the smoothest outfit since the days of St. Mary's Colts, of which Donohue and Stringer were members. The infield is Moose's main defence and if they waver it will spell disaster, but it is a cinch they will not make a slip.

The first game will see Oslers and Classics and down east the Classics are looked upon as contenders for the city flag. Some of the shrewdest baseball men think Classic will be hard to stop, as they have a well-balanced club of veterans who make few mistakes, and with Norman Brown and Bill Ramsay ready to pitch they are going to give Oslers stout opposition. Oslers are going strong and have a shifty team of youngsters and with Joe Spring pitching they will give Classics a hard game, and if Spring strikes his stride he may put Classics out.

LIGHTING PRICE BOOSTED.

Kitchener, Aug. 29.—Owing to the increased cost of coal, gas, oil, and labor, the light commission of this city has decided to increase the price to the consumers from $1.25 to $1.35 per thousand feet. The new rate goes into effect on September 1.

AMERICAN LEAGUE.

	W.	L.	P.C.
Chicago	74	40	.649
Cleveland	66	46	.589
Detroit	65	48	.575
New York	61	51	.545
St. Louis	59	53	.527
Boston	52	61	.460
Washington	43	70	.381
Philadelphia	30	81	.270

Yesterday's Results

xNew York 5, Washington 4
New York 5, Washington 3.
Philadelphia 8, Boston 3
Boston 2, Philadelphia 0.
xFourteen innings.
Detroit at St. Louis.
Chicago at Cleveland

Games Today.

Washington at New York
Philadelphia at Boston.

NATIONAL LEAGUE.

	W.	L.	P.C.
Cincinnati	81	34	.704
New York	70	41	.631
Chicago	60	50	.545
Brooklyn	55	58	.487
Pittsburg	53	57	.482
Boston	43	64	.402
St. Louis	41	68	.376
Philadelphia	39	70	.358

Yesterday's Results

St. Louis 3, Pittsburg 1
Philadelphia 14, New York 2.
Brooklyn 5, Boston 1.
Boston 4, Brooklyn 3.

Games Today.

New York at Brooklyn
Boston at Philadelphia.

BIG BOXING BOUT HERE FRIDAY NEXT

YOUNG KIDD BROMTON, N.Y., MATCHED WITH YOUNG CATTLE OF TORONTO.

Another boxing treat will be provided for Peterborough sporting enthusiasts on Friday evening, September 5th at the Brock street rink. Young Kitt Bromton, of New York, is match to meet Young Cattle, of Toronto, in the lightweight class. Cattle held the lightweight championship of the Canadian corps in France in 1917, and has won many hard fought battles. He is aspiring to the lightweight championship of Canada, and a victory over Bromton here would help him greatly in getting bouts. Bromton has also won many fights and can afford to lose none. This ensures a real battle for local sportsmen on Sept. 5.

FALL FAIRS 1919

PETERBOROUGH—Sept. 15-17
Ottawa—Sept. 6-15.
Campbellford—Sept. 23-24.
Bancroft—Oct. 2-3.
Belleville—Sept. 1-2.
Bowmanville—Sept. 16-17.
Brighton—Sept. 11-12.
Brockville—Aug. 25-28.
Bobcaygeon—Sept. 26, 27.
Cobourg—Sept. 17-18.
Colborne—Sept. 25-26
Campbellville—Sept. 29
Cobden—Sept. 25, 26.
Demorestville—Sept. 27.
Delta—Sept. 15-17.
Dungannon—Oct. 2-4.
Frankford—Sept. 18-19.
Harrowsmith—Sept. 18-19.
Keene—Oct. 7-8.
Kingston—Sept. 23-27.
Lakefield—Sept. 23-24
Lindsay—Sept. 18-20.
Madoc—Oct. 7-8
Merrickville—Sept. 16, 17.
Marmora—Sept. 30.
Maynooth—Sept. 25.
Midland—Sept. 29-Oct. 1.
Millbrook—Oct. 2-3.
Napanee—Sept. 9-10.
Norwood—Oct. 14, 15.
Odessa—Oct. 3.
Orillia—Sept. 16-17.
Oshawa—Sept. 8-10.
Orono—Sept. 25, 26.
Picton—Sept. 16-18.
Port Hope—Sept. 23, 24.
Robbins Mills—Sept. 23, 24.
Shannonville—Sept. 13.
Stirling—Sept. 25, 26.
Stella—Sept. 30.
Tweed—Oct. 2, 3.
Wolfe Island—Sept. 17, 18.
Yarkworth—Oct. 2, 3.

SOUTH ESSEX CANDIDATE.

Windsor, Aug. 29. — The United [illegible] of South Essex unanimously selected Milton Fox of Kingsville to contest the riding in the next election for the Legislative Assembly.

A BOXING TOURNAMENT

WILL BE HELD AT

BROCK ST. RINK

Fri., Sept. 5

AT 8 P.M.

10 ROUNDS

Between

Young Cattle--Toronto

And

Kid Brompton--New York

Lightweight

Good Preliminaries are Being Arranged

PRESIDENT TO START TOUR.

Washington, Aug. 29.—President Wilson will leave Washington next Wednesday on his speech-making tour in the interest of the peace treaty and will deliver his first address in Columbus next Thursday, probably in the evening.

Railway Time Tables

C. P. R. TIMETABLE
Effective May 4th, 1919.
GOING EAST

8.20 p.m.—Indian River, Norwood, Havelock and Tweed.
11.52 p.m.—Norwood, Havelock Kingston, Smiths Falls, Perth, Montreal, Quebec, St John, N.B., Boston and New York.
*1.30 a.m.—Havelock, Tweed, Kingston, Perth, Smiths Falls and Ottawa.
11.59 a.m.—Norwood, Havelock Ottawa, Montreal and Intermediate points.
*11.59 a.m.—Norwood and Havelock.

GOING WEST

*4.53 a.m.—Toronto, Owen Sound Guelph, Godeich, Hamilton, Buffalo New York, Galt, Woodstock, St Thomas, London, Chatham, Detroit and Chicago.
6.21 a.m.—Myrtle and North Toronto.
7.35 a.m.—Toronto, Hamilton Buffalo, Rochester, Boston, New York and Intermediate points between Peterborough and Toronto.
9.35 a.m.—Lindsay, Orillia, Port McNicoll and Intermediate points.
3.20—Toronto, Hamilton, Brantford, Buffalo, New York, Galt, Guelph Woodstock, London, Windsor, Detroit and Chicago and Intermediate point etween Peterborough and Toronto.
5.40 p.m.—North Toronto, Lindsay and Intermediate points.
*3.40 p.m.—Toronto and Intermediate points.
*Daily.
Daily except Sunday.
Daily except Saturday.
*Sunday only.

GRAND TRUNK RAILWAY SYSTEM TIMETABLE.

No. 96—8:10 a.m., for Toronto, via Port Hope, also points on Main Line east.
No. 93—8:20 a.m., for Lindsay Blackwater Jct., Orillia, Midland North Bay and Toronto.
No. 98—8:25 a.m., for Hastings, Campbellford, Belleville and points on Main Line East.
No. 369—8:30 a.m., for Lakefield.
No. 92—12:04 p.m. for Lindsay, Port Hope, Toronto, Buffalo, making connections with International Limited for London, Detroit and Chicago.
No. 371—12:15 p.m. for Lakefield
No. 100—2:00 p.m. for Hastings Campbellford and Belleville.
No. 373—5:40 p.m. for Lakefield
No. 99—8:31 p.m. for Lindsay.
No. 94—9:19 p.m. for Port Hope Montreal and Boston.

Order Your Coal From LOW & Co.

We have all sizes in stock EGG, STOVE, NUT AND PEA

The best and cheapest coal in town. Perfectly screened and promptly delivered. Bring your orders in now.

Prices advance every month.

LOW & COMPANY

262 Simcoe Street. Phone 697 House 296

MIXED WOOD

$7.00 Per Cord

HARD WOOD

$10.00 Per Cord

Cutting and Splitting Extra

ORDER NOW

FROM

J. E. A. FITZGERALD

Phone 111

The Steamer Naiad

ON AND AFTER MAY 5th 1919

The Steamer Naiad will run as follows:—

Leave Lakefield daily on arrival of noon G.T.R. Train for Stony Lake Points connecting at Mt. Julian with the Apsley Stage

PITTSTON COAL

IS THE BEST

ALL SIZES IN STOCK

Also best lines of SOFT COAL at Lowest Prices

McCARTHY & JOHNSTON

COAL DEALERS

111 Hunter Street, East City

Phone 96 TERMS CASH

HARD COAL

EGG, STOVE,

NUT, PEA

H. B. TAYLOR & SON

160 AYLMER ST.

Phone 209

COAL

...AND...

Builders' Supplies

Hardwood Flooring

Robt. Hicks & Co.

LIMITED

Lackawana Coal

Means Economy

Burns freely and is of Best Anthracite.

Trucking Orders Promptly Filled

Peterboro Fuel & Transfer Co.

163 CHARLOTTE ST.

PHONES 270-569

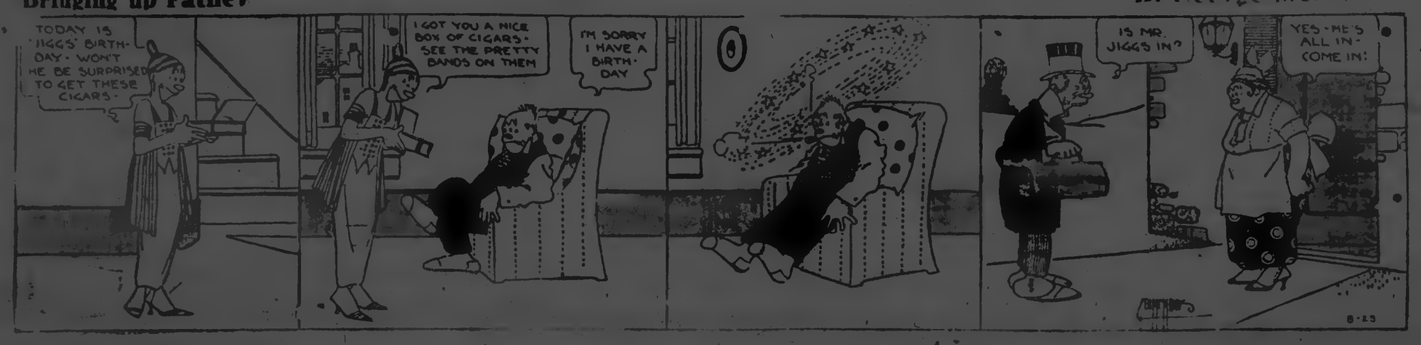
LUMBER

Builders' Materials of all kinds—Shingles, Scantlings, Joist and Bill Stuff, Mouldings, Castings, Base and all kinds of Frame, Boxes and Box Shooks; Slabs and Mill Wood.

Alf. McDonald Estate

Bringing up Father

By George McManus



TODAY IS JIGGS' BIRTHDAY · WON'T HE BE SURPRISED TO GET THESE CIGARS ·
I GOT YOU A NICE BOX OF CIGARS · SEE THE PRETTY BANDS ON THEM
I'M SORRY I HAVE A BIRTHDAY
IS MR. JIGGS IN?
YES · HE'S ALL IN · COME IN!

Barrie's
Peterboro.

LADIES' READY-TO-WEAR DEPARTMENT
(The House With Exclusive Styles.)

Watch For Announcement For Fall Goods

BARRIE BUILDING
312 George Street
Phone 340

CHILDREN'S EYES
require more careful watching than those of an adult. If your child complains of his eyes, bring him without delay to

W. H. LACEY,
OPTICAL SPECIALIST
410 GEORGE STREET

GENERAL AND LOCAL NEWS

$85.25 FOR PLAYGROUNDS

The Peterborough Playgrounds Association wish to thank the employes of the De Laval Co. Ltd., for the sum of $85.25 subscribed by them to the playgrounds fund.

REMEMBER

The regular Weekly Dance of the Peter Robinson Chapter I. O. D. E., Friday evening, August 29th at Chemong.

ST. GEORGE'S CHURCH

Harvest thanksgiving service will be held at St. George's Church, Braidwood avenue, on Wednesday evening, Sept. 17. The special preacher will be the Rev. Dr. Ribourg, St. Alban's Cathedral, Toronto.

Dr. E. V. Frederick, member Royal College of Surgeons, England, late Surgeon No. 1, Canadian Stationery Hospital, Salonica, late Surgical Specialist No. 70 Indian Stationary Hospital, Bagdad, late Clinical Assistant Mayo Clinic, Rochester, Minn., has resumed practice corner Charlotte and Rubidge streets, Peterboro— especially consulting practice in surgical and chronic conditions.

Dr. Free, late house physician Toronto General Hospital, assistant in practice with Dr. Frederick and in charge of laboratory work.

TEMPLE BAND NOTES

Members of the Temple Band are requested to meet for practice tonight at 8 o'clock sharp. Arrangements will then be made for the visit to Fenelon Falls.

TIRES VULCANIZED

Because that tire has a hole through it is no reason why you should throw it away. You may yet get several thousand miles out of it by having a sectional repair made. We Vulcanize Auto Tires and Tubes and guarantee our work. Millard's Bicycle Shop, 225 Hunter street, near Aylmer, phone 234j.

GREEN PROPERTY SOLD

The Green property on Water street opposite the market square, was sold by auction to Wm. Langford yesterday for $6,750.

LABOR DAY TO HEALEY FALLS.

On Monday, Sept. 1, Labor Day, the steamer Stoney Lake will leave the George St. wharf at 7:45 a.m. for Healey Falls. Tucker's orchestra will supply music. Fare: adults $1, children 50c.

OBITUARY

WILLIAM THOMAS MATHER

An old resident of Mathers Corners, near Keene, passed away early this morning in the person of William Thomas Mather in his 70th year.

Although deceased had been in a somewhat impaired condition of health lately, the end was unexpected as he was up and about yesterday, his condition being not at all serious.

The late Mr. Mather is survived by six sons, Lloyd, Fred, Charles and Mervin, at home; Henry, overseas and Wilbert, of Stouffille, and one daughter, Letitia, at home.

The funeral will take place on Sunday afternoon, at 1.30 (old time), to Keene cemetery. The service conducted by Rev. Mr. Honey.

BAND CONCERT TO-NIGHT

Last of the season by G.W.V.A. Band in Victoria Park.

The G. W. V. A. Band will give their last concert for this season in the Victoria Park tonight, when the following programme will be rendered (weather permitting.)

March - Liberty Bell
Overture—Crown Diamonds.
Gavotte Way to the Heart.
Cornet Solo -Beyond.
Soloist Bandmaster Peryer (late 59th Regt.)
Selection Maritana
Vocal solo Somewhere a voice is calling -Soloist, Musician Everett.
Intermezzo The Glow Worm
Overture—Raymond.
March - Comrades.
God Save the King.

ALLAN THEATRE
Wants
Young Man to carry Banner in Labor Day Parade.
Moving Picture Operator Apprentice.

EMERGENCY BRAKES APPLIED

Passengers on the second C.P.R. midnight train, scheduled to arrive here at 1.30 o'clock, report a rude awakening at Myrtle. For some reason that apparently can not be ascertained, the emergency brakes were applied impelling many passengers out of their seats. After about 10 minutes delay the train resumed its trip.

MACHINISTS, TAKE NOTICE.

All Machinists are requested to meet in Central Park at 1 p.m. Monday, Sept. 1st (Labor Day), in order to walk in the Labor Day procession.

F. WIMAN, Rec.-Secy.

ALLEN THEATRE
wants
Girls and Young Men Ushers
Boys to distribute cards
Assistant Cashier

MEN WANTED AT OSHAWA

Local Men Willing to Work in Oshawa But Board not Procurable.

An advertisement appears on the Government labor bureau bulletin asking for 40 brick layers at 78c per hour, 20 carpenters at 70c per hour and 40 laborers at 40c per hour for constuction work on the new automobile factory at Oshawa. Several applications were received from local workers but further information elicited that no place for boarding was available in Oshawa. This fact prevented Peterborough laborers from accepting positions.

VIMY RIDGE SCOUT TROOP PROVIDES ENTERTAINMENT

Large Crowd Enjoy Good Program of Scouts on Lawn of Miss Burg.

A very enjoyable afternoon and evening was spent at the home of Miss Birg, 529 Aylmer street, yesterday. The entertainment was under the auspices of the Vimy Ridge Scouts, and an enjoyable program was prepared by Scout Master Tyrer of the Vimy Ridge troop.

The grounds were beautifully decorated with streamers, etc., and presented a very bright and cheerful aspect.

Miss Cook afforded great pleasure as usual by her various character dances, and Mrs. Scholey delighted the crowd with vocal solos. A very interesting and unusual event was presented by Scout Master Tyrer assisted by his Scouts, in the form of a wild west show. The boys showed their skill as scouts in this feature. "Professor" Bowman represented a wizard and performed very clever stunts. Miss Trickey, in a side show, represented "Elizabeth," the smallest lady in the city of Peterborough. Dorothy Tyrer pleased the audience with her pretty dancing. Keith Meins was

SOCIAL AND PERSONAL

Mr. F. H. Dobbin is in Toronto today and will attend the dinner to be given by the Exhibition Board to the members of the Canadian Press.

Mr. and Mrs. Thos Bailey of Winnipeg have returned home after a two weeks vacation with friends in Peterboro.

Mr. H. Weton of Port Hope, was in the city yesterday.

The many friends of Dr. A. J. Robertson, who has been ill will be glad to know that he has recovered and will resume practice shortly.

Miss M. Perdue visited with friends in Downeyville, on Sunday.

Mr. Newton Staples, has returned home, after a pleasant vacation with friends at Grass Hill and Argyle.

Miss Mary Cassidy of Toronto, was a Peterborough visitor yesterday.

Mr. and Mrs. Ben Simpson and son of Hamilton, returned home yesterday from their cottage on Stoney Lake.

Mr. Claud Rogers returned home from Stoney Lake yesterday.

Mrs. Robt. Neil and daughter Augnus, are spending a few days in the city. They will return to their cottage on Stoney Lake for a short time.

Mr. W. W. Armstrong returned home from Stoney Lake where he has spent his summer vacation near Crowe's Landing.

Mr. and Mrs. R. S. Pollard who have been visiting in Peterboro, the guests of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Pollard, 604 George Street, returned to their home in Winnipeg yesterday.

Dr. and Mrs. Mann, left today for New York, where Dr. Mann will pursue a special line of medical study. Dr. Mann's office will be closed until October 1st.

Mrs. Fred McFadden has returned from a two weeks visit with friends in Detroit and Windsor.

Miss Ellen Raynor of Toronto spent the week end in Peterborough.

Mr. Eddie Hamblin and Mrs. Hamblin, Syracuse, N.Y., are in the city, the guests of Mrs. Hamblin's sister, Mrs. G. W. Fitzgerald, Aylmer St.,

Miss Berta Flynn, of Toronto, spent the past two weeks holidaying with friends in the city.

Miss Helen O'Doyle, of Hamilton, has been visiting with friends in Peterborough.

Mr. D. Maloney returned last evening from Toronto where he has spent the past few days.

Mrs. A. Ford, of Vancouver, B.C., is visiting at her brother's, Mr. Sanderson, 203 Reid street.

Mr. and Mrs. C. Henery of Toronto, motored to Peterborough yesterday.

Miss B. Valentine of North Bay, has returned home, after an extended visit with friends in the city.

COMRADES AS TO BENCHES

When Mr. Burnham and "Red Michael" Clark Sit Together.

(Toronto World.)

It is announced that "Ham" Burnham of Peterborough has decided to join Michael Clark of Red Deer on the cross benches at Ottawa, unto which place they both have already arrived. Also have they decided to speak of one another as "Comrade" Otonabee and "Comrade" Michael. Also intimated that there will be a light out for Comrade Sam of Haliburton—three musketeers of some renown. But comrades all! Pilgrimages are likely to be made from the ends of Canada to see the cross benches when duly "crossed" as untoward developments come along after Monday.

NO INTERFERENCE WITH PLANS OF ENGINEER.

Unfortunately in our reference to the city's bridge committee's meeting Wednesday night the impression was unintentionally conveyed that Contractors Townsend and Navin were interfering with Mr. Barber's plans for the bridge in the matter of finish for the retaining wall of the eastern approaches. Such is not the case. They were invited to the bridge committee's meeting to receive instructions as to the finish for the retaining wall on the east side of the river, about which the intentions of the Council were not quite clear. The contractors have not, and do not intend to, interfere with the engineers plans in any way. Their intention is to follow instructions only.

another feature, representing "Clarance."

Candy booths and such like were on the grounds, and a goodly number of people showed their keen interest in the Boy Scouts by attending the acceptable entertainment provided. The evening closed with all present singing "God Save the King."

GOOD PROGRAMME FOR LABOUR DAY

BASEBALL DOUBLE-HEADERS WITH PORT HOPE.

A fine day of sports is being arranged by the Trades and Labor Council for Monday. At 10 o'clock the Port Hope team will play the local Central Ontario League nine an exhibition game of baseball.

o'clock the big labor parade will start winding up at Riverside Park where running races will be held.

A feature of the afternoon will be the baby show, which forms a part of the day's events. Immediately after the running events the Port Hope team will again take on Jake Solomon's speedy aggregation. The Labor Council has presented a handsome cup for winners of the baseball contest. This looks like a big day for Sept. 1. Don't miss the sports and ball game in the afternoon.

SCHOOLS REOPEN TUESDAY

All Public schools and the Collegiate Institute will open their fall term Tuesday morning, Sept. 2, at 9 o'clock. Officials are very anxious that all students commence on Tuesday to avoid the confusion of entering classes behind time.

BEST $200

(Continued from Page One.)

a very busy time and instead of a holiday, a day of hard work, are as follows:

C. Thornto (S.M.)—St. Andrew's.
C. Carte (S.M.)—St. James'.
V. Sedgwick (S.M.)—Ashburnham
H. Ashmore (A.S.M.)—Vimy.
W. D. Tyrer (S.M.)—Vimy.
H. Blake (S.M.)—Sam's Own.
E. J. Whiteside, District Scout Master in charge, was in charge at parade.

PURE SPICES

CURRIE POWDER
TUMERIC
CLOVES
MACE
WHOLE PICKLING SPICE
MUSTARD
GINGER
GARLIC
ALLSPICE, ETC.

CORKS

All size, best quality, lowest prices.

CANNING WAX
PAROWAX
PARKE'S PICKLE MIXTURE
PARKE'S CATSUP FLAVOR
Everything for the Canning or Pickling Season,

—AT—

Warne's Drug Store
351 George Street.
PHONE 527

Stoney Lake Navigation Company

Steamers leave Lakefield for the Lakes on arrival of all trains from Peterborough.

Steamers leave the Lake to connect with 9.30 a.m. (morning) and 1.40 p.m. (afternoon) trains for Peterborough.

G. T. R. trains leave Peterborough at 8.30 a.m., 12.15 noon and 5.40 p.m.

For excursion rates, information, etc., phone 548, or write

F. G. YOUNG.
Gen. Manager.
497 King St.

WANTED IMMEDIATELY

40 Bricklayers, 75c per hour. 20 Carpenters, 70c per hour, and 50 Laborers, 40c per hour. Long job out of town. Transportation pair.

E. R. CORNEIL.
Forsythe's Garage.
Phone 1050. 211 Hunter St.

Saturday In Our Ready-to-Wear Department

Preliminary Showing of the New Styles in Women's and Misses'
New Fall SUITS, COATS and DRESSES

And we have some very fetching models to show you. Some that have just come to us from New York within the past few days. We have a nice range of styles to choose from, in all the most popular fabrics and colors for fall and winter wear.

We describe two of our new Suit models:

At $75.00

Extremely good style distinguishes this suit of all wool Oxford grey homespun. The coat is 35 inches long and is designed with box pleated back, novelty pockets and long rolling collar; edge bound with braid. Skirt plain tailored, gathered back and pockets.

At $45.00

This lovely model is very smart and it is made from a dark nigger brown unfinished serge. The coat is very plainly tailored and is 35 inches long and silk lined. Plain tailored skirt.

New Fall Dress Goods at Special Saturday Prices

$6.00 Cheviot Suitings, yd. $4.48

54-inch Cheviot Suitings, some of our new goods for Fall suits and coats. Colors of navy, myrtle green, Copenhagen blue, purple, nut and nigger brown. A high-grade fabric that will wear and will not shine. Worth $6.00. Saturday Special ..... Yard $4.48

$2.25 New Skirting, yd. $1.89

Hard wearing Plaid Skirtings, in a range of new Fall plaid designs and color combinations. No other fabric equals the plaids for smart tailored skirts; 40 inches wide. Regular $2.25. See these skirtings to-morrow .... Saturday Special, yard $1.89

Best Values in Women's New Fall Hosiery

Warm Fleece-Lined Hose, pr. 50c

Extra quality fleece lined hose, knitted from strong twisted cotton yarns. The nice soft fleecing makes them very warm and comfortable for fall wear. These stockings are shaped to fit perfectly and have spliced heels and toes. Black only. All sizes. Saturday Special, pair .. 50c

Black Lisle Stockings pr. 60c

Women's superior quality black lisle Stockings. These are excellent stockings for Fall wear, made without seams and full fashioned; heels and toes are double thread, which ensures long wear. Black only. All sizes. Saturday Special.. Pair ... 60c

Pure Thread Silk Stockings, pair $2.00

Pure thread Silk Hose for women. These stockings have a beautiful lustrous sheen and fine even finish. They will wear exceedingly well; made with lisle top and deep garter hem, and reinforced heels and toes. Black, white and all popular colors; all sizes. Saturday Special Pair ... $2.00

High Grade Silk Gloves For Fall Wear Pair 85c

On Saturday we offer you a very special value in Kayser and Queen Quality Silk Gloves. New lines just in for Fall wear. These gloves are cut to fit properly. Fingers made with double tips for long wear. Good range of all popular shades, including black and white. All sizes. Saturday Special Pair ... 85c

New Fall Waists $7.00 Pretty Colored Stripes

On Saturday we are showing some very attractive styles in smart new stripe Silk Waists, in many very snappy tailored styles. These are quite new this season and very appropriate for wear with new Fall suits. The price is $7.00

Sample Dresses For 10 Year Old Girls 98c

School Girls' Wash Dresses, manufacturer's sample lot, in a good range of percales and ginghams, in stripes and checks; medium and dark colors. Mostly 10 year old size. Regular prices $1.50 to $2.00. Saturday Special 98c

Well Made Brassieres 59c

Brassieres of outstanding value at a price that means a decided saving. Carefully made from firm white durable batiste, and cut to fit perfectly and comfortably. Reinforced under arms and finished around top with narrow lace edge ..... Saturday Special 59c

Make Your Own Sheets From This Special English Sheeting $1.00 yard

Snow white bleached English Cotton Sheeting that is woven with especialy twisted yarns. It has a nice linen-like finish and can be relied upon for good service both in wear and laundering. This strong, well woven sheeting is 72 inches wide, and is an extra good bargain at Saturday's price ..... Yard $1.00

STORE OPENS 8.30 a.m. RICHARD HALL & SON LIMITED STORE CLOSES 5.30 p. m.

"It's Confidence That Does It"

WEEK-END GROCERY SPECIALS

For Friday and Saturday we are featuring this big list of most Seasonable Goods.
They represent both superlative quality and price savings.

Fruits and Vegetables

Crawford Peaches for Preserving and Table Fruit, in eleven and six quart baskets.
Plums, Gages Lombards, blue and Damsons.
Pears, large baskets, for $1.00
Celery, Red and Green Peppers, Sweet Corn, Pickling Onions, Green Tomatoes.
TOMATOES—Large baskets, very choice. These are the Port Hope Tomato.
Cauliflowers—Nice Solid Heads, Fesh in.

Tea and Coffee

Our own blends of TEA and COFFEE always please the particular taste, and they are no higher in price than ordinary teas. May as well have yours. Tea and Coffee of the P. S. WHITE QUALITY

Christie's Biscuits

We carry a complete line of these popular BISCUITS. They take the place most acceptably of home cooking.

Peek Frean Short Cake, lb. 60c

This delicious cake is a speciality of ours and is rapidly becoming popular.

PURE PORK

SWIFT'S BROOKFIELD SAUSAGE (IN CARTOONS). REG. 45c. SPECIAL PRICE 39c

Swift's Premium Bacon and Meat. Special for Friday and Saturday:
Premium Breakfast Bacon. Reg. 70c. Special sliced 66c
By the piece 65c
Premium Windsor Boneless. Regular 70c. Special, sliced 66c
By the piece 65c
Premium Regular Hams. Regular 65c. Sliced 60c
By half or whole, per lb. 57c
Premium Clear Back, in casings. Regular 75c. Sliced 70c
By the piece 68c
Premium Cooked Ham. Regular 76c. Sliced 70c
Swift's Baked Meat Loaf, with cheese. Regular 40c. Special lb 36c
Swift's Minced Specialty. Regular 40c. Special lb. 35c

Meats sliced the very thickness the customer wishes by our new slicer.

334 George St. PORTER S. WHITE Phone 208

WEATHER FORECASTS.
Moderate to fresh southwest and south east winds, showers or thunder storms in many places.

The Daily Review

8 PAGES

40th YEAR No. 50 Peterborough's Oldest Newspaper. PETERBOROUGH, ONTARIO, SATURDAY, AUGUST 30, 1919. Price Two Cents per copy

IS THE CITY RESPONSIBLE FOR MR. CHRISTIE'S SERVICES ON BRIDGE

This Is a Problem Now Agitating City Council—To Be Threshed Out Tuesday

A debate arose at the Board of Works meeting last night over the granting of Engineer Christie an increase in pay. The question was whether the city council or Mr. Barber is responsible for Engineer Christie's services.

Last Saturday Ald. Phelan received word that Mr. Christie was leaving the bridge. The Russel Townsend Company requested Ald. Phelan to urge Mr. Christie to remain on the job as his work had been extremely accurate. Ald. Phelan succeeded in doing so by promising a raise in salary for Christie.

City's Agreement

According to the agreement between the city and Mr. Barber the former is to pay for all inspection on the bridge and Mr. Barber is to employ or discharge the same at his discretion. Mr. Barber is, however, to supervise the work and if it is impossible for him to personally do so he is called on to send a representative at his own expense.

Alderman Phelan and Edgar were of the opinion that Mr. Christie was Mr. Barber's substitute in his absence, and as such should be paid by him.

Acting as Inspector

Mr. Barber stated that Mr. Christie was acting in the capacity of chief inspector on the bridge. Because of the fact that he is an engineer does not alter this circumstance. Mr Whitney, engaged by Mr. Barber but paid by the city as an inspector, is also an engineer. Mr. Barber went on to state that he was supervising the bridge construction personally in frequent trips, by phone and letter. He stated that he has supervised as many as 30 bridges in one season. It was impossible for him to be at all of these places at one time. It was possible however, to keep in touch with all such work by frequent trips, by phone, and letter, which he has been doing in the case of the Hunter Street Bridge. He was willing to submit the matter to any well known engineer and content to accept his decision.

Ald. Edgar considered that if Mr. Christie takes the levels and draws the lines he is taking the place of an engineer and acting as Mr. Barber's substitute.

Christie Made Lines

Mr. Barber considered that Mr. Christie had stuck the original lines, but that work had been done at Mr. Barber's expense. After the original lines were drawn his position was that of inspector, to check the work done by the contractor. This was a matter of tradition with engineers asserted Mr. Barber.

Ald. Phelan asserted that in Mr. Christie's unavoidable absence work was delayed for a short time Mr. Barber's answer was that if any inspector had been absent the work would have been delayed.

Drew Comparison

Ald. Turner drew comparison between the question under discussion and that of a patient being attended by a doctor and cared for by a nurse, Barber, he contended, was the doctor of the bridge and Mr. Christie the nurse. The doctor would not be called upon to pay the nurse, neither should Mr. Barber be called upon to pay Christie. Ald. Hamilton's opinion was that Mr. Christie was doing the work of an inspector and should be paid by the city.

The matter was finally left over for the Council meeting next Tuesday night.

ALD. PHELAN CHOSEN TO ACT ON ROAD COMMISSION

Appointed Last Night to Act With County in This Matter.

A request was received from the County at the Board of Works meeting last night to appoint a city representative on the suburban road commission. The county has appointed Mr. Eason, deputy-reeve of Otonabee as their representative and a third should be chosen by him and the city's representative to act with them. Their duty, it was explained, is to determine the extent of road to which the city should contribute to the upkeep but they were not in any way to supervise the work on the road. On a motion by Ald. Hamilton and Crowe, Ald. Phelan was elected to act on behalf of the city on this commission.

DEATH OF BOTHA A SERIOUS LOSS

SOUTH AFRICA WILL MISS GREAT ADVOCATE OF RACE CONCILIATION.

WAS SOLDIER AND STATESMAN

HAD WON ADMIRATION AND RESPECT IN HEARTS OF PEOPLE.

London, Aug. 30.—Reuter Despatch.)—The death of Premier Botha of South Africa is prominently featured in all the papers.

The fact is emphasized that Botha was one of the most romantic figures in the Empire, and a great personality in the African continent, news of his death was immediately made known to the King, the Premier and others and messages of condolence have been sent to the South African Government, and the Botha family.

He began life as a shepherd boy on a Boer farm and became a farmer. He was a member of the first Volksraad of the Transvaal and rose from a Veld Cornet in the Boer army to Generalissimo. The romance of his subsequent career is well known.

Regarded as Calamity.

Everywhere profound regret is manifested at the loss to the Empire in the death of the South African statesman. It is regarded as practically irreparable at present, while his death is regarded as a calamity to South Africa, as it has lost its greatest advocate of racial conciliation.

The Star states that Premier Botha had gained admiration and respect which was unique. "His loss," says The Star, "we can hardly spare."

The Evening Standard recalls that in the meetings of the British Empire Cabinet at Paris his was the dominant voice. President Wilson declared that the speech of Premier Botha to the Supreme War Council on the mandate for German Southwest Africa was the most convincing public utterance he had ever heard.

Leaves Big Gap.

The Westminster Gazette states that the news came as a pang to the whole Empire, and that there are few men whose death could leave such a gap or create such obvious difficulties for those whose task it will be to take up the work he left unfinished. Botha, it is stated, was not only a great soldier in his own manner of fighting, but a great statesman and one of the most powerful forces for reconciling the forces of the Empire. "We can scarcely estimate," says The Gazette, "how much we owe to this man who at the end of the Boer accepted the consequences in so fine a spirit and linked his own and his people's fortunes with those of the British. We can but console ourselves that before his death we laid deep and strong the foundations on which will be built a nobler South African Empire in the future."

BELGIAN KING COMING TO STATES

ALSO QUEEN ELIZABETH AND CROWN PRINCE LEOPOLD SAIL IN SEPTEMBER.

(Canadian Press Despatch)

Brussells, Aug. 30.—King Albert, Queen Elizabeth and Crown Prince Leopold will leave for America between September 20 and September 24, on board the United States warship.

Belgian royalty will board the vessel at Antwerp.

A woman's silence often means more than her words.

CHICAGO WHITE MOBS IN BLACK BELT ARE ONCE AGAIN THREATENING RIOTS

Authorities Taking Preventive Measures—Eight Hundred Police and Huge Squad of Deputies Patrolling the District—Gun Toters Must Go.

Chicago, Aug. 29.—Alarmed by the increasing reports of gun carrying and rumors that threats of new raids on the "black belt" have been made by white mobs living in the stock yards district, Chief of Police Garrity announced that the majority of the 800 new policemen released from the school of instruction today would be assigned to duty in the south side danger zone.

The new policemen will be distributed in the Deering, Cottage Grove avenue and Wabash avenue police districts, the chief said, and have been given specific instruction to watch out for gunmen and race riot agitators. At the same time the chief issued orders that all "gun toters" must go and that all persons found with weapons were to be booked under the new Sadler state law.

Hears Rumors of Riot Threats

"Rumors of renewed organized rioting soon to come have reached me," the chief said. "While there may be no foundation for the threats or cause for real alarm, I am taking no chances. With the new men assigned today I believe I will have sufficient police protection to nip any attempted outbreak in the bud.

"The 800 men placed on duty at this time are all hardy young men, who will be able to handle any trouble makers. If trouble comes the thugs will find us prepared. But too much alarm should not be felt over the new reports. They are probably as groundless as the July 4 rumors."

"I am more concerned just now with the dangerous increase in the number of 'gun toters' that have figured in the police news in recent weeks. They must go, and it is squarely up to the police department to drive them out or place them behind bars. I have issued instructions to the department to make special efforts to round up all gunmen and to book them under the new Sadler law when they are found in possession of weapons."

Deputy Sheriffs Held Ready

The attention of Sheriff Charles W Peters has also been called to the reports of a new outbreak on the south side. After a conference with Chief Deputy Harry Laubenheimer this morning, Sheriff Peters announced that an emergency squad of deputy sheriffs would be held on duty ready to rush to the scene of any trouble in the recent riot zone.

"Reports and threats of new raids by gunmen have reached the colored people during the last week," said Attorney A. L. Williams, representing the Cook County Bar association. "But I believe these reports are exaggerated. I hope they are because the colored people are beginning to feel a sense of safety once more and ominous rumors would be serious at this time."

COAST IS STREWN WITH WRECKAGE

AMERICAN MERCHANT SHIP THOUGHT TO HAVE FOUNDERED.

(Canadian Press Despatch)

Lorient, France, Aug. 30.—The coast of Brittany for miles north and south of here is strewn with wreckage thrown on shore during the great storm which prevailed yesterday.

At Locquelt a life boat and wreckage, apparently from an American merchant ship, was washed ashore. The storm is abating today.

PAVING PLANT FOR CITY URGED

DISCUSSED AT BOARD OF WORKS AND REFERRED TO SPECIAL MEETING.

Circulars were received at the Board of Works meetings last night giving quotations on a paving plant for this city. Ald. McIntyre is determined to obtain this innovation for the city, so that whenever required such work could commence at once without at once having to invite tenders, and thus incurring delay.

Ald. Turner's opinion was that they could procure a repair outfit for $600, which would go along way toward making needed repairs from time to time, and would be something toward getting a permanent plant for the city.

This matter was left over for a special meeting of the Board of Works to be called in the near future, when Engineer Parsons will have quotations on the different plants for consideration.

Sewers and Drainage.

Several petitions and requests of ratepayers in connection with sewers and street drainage were received and turned over to the city engineer with power to act.

A request for oil on Auburn street was dealt with similarly.

City Responsible.

The Grand Trunk Railway's warning that the city would be from now on responsible for the condition of the highway part of their new bridge on Bethune street was referred to the Legal Committee.

Residents on Aylmer street complained of the condition of their lawns and Aylmer street were in caused by sawdust from Mann's planing mill. This matter was referred to the Utilities Commission.

Repair Road.

It was decided by the Board to send a resolution to the Government requesting them to repair the road along the east side of the canal, from Maria street to the Norwood road.

Smith Street Bridge.

Ald. Phelan and the city engineer agreed to attend Smith street bridge needs, to take action to prevent further crumbling or decay, and to put the road into good condition.

Safety First.

The matter of safety and convenience for traffic around the new bridge construction was discussed at length. A motion, moved by Ald Edgar, and seconded by Ald. Garside that the matter of removing the fence and extending the road over part of the old Calcut Malting and Brewing Company's property be left to the chairman of the Board of Works with power to act. Also the matter of additional lights for the dangerous part was left for action by the chairman of the Fire, Water and Light Committee.

Public Liability.

Ald. Turner and Ald. McIntyre moved that the chairman of the Board of Works secure public liability insurance for the bridge with power to act as to the amount he considers necessary to carry. Carried.

Traffic Directors.

A motion by Aldemen Cowe and Edgar that the chairman of the Board of Works be authorized to place posters at the corner of Hunter and Burnham streets and at the corner of the brewery to direct traffic in the proper direction.

On motion by Aldermen McIntyre and Turner, the chairman of the Board of Works was instructed to employ the necessary men to regulate the traffic interfered with by the bridge, and that returned soldiers be employed.

Those present were Aldermen Phelan (chairman), Turner, McIntyre, Hamilton, Gainey, Edgar, Crowe, Garside and Morrison.

CANADIAN SILVER IS DISCOUNTED

SEATTLE STREET CAR LINES REFUSE ITS ACCEPTANCE.

(Canadian Press Despatch)

Seattle, Wash., Aug. 30.—Canadian silver, which is circulated in large quantities in Seattle and other sections of Washington, was being discounted ten per cent. by all dealers and street car lines today, following an announcement that banks intended to charge discount in future.

Restaurats report that at least thirty per cent. of their silver received is Canadian.

The municipal street car line refused to accept Canadian silver at all.

CANUCKS' APPEAL IS DISMISSED

SENTENCES AGAINST RIOTERS IN ENGLAND MUST STAND.

London, Aug. 30.—(Reuter despatch).—The Court of Criminal Appeal composed of the Lord Chief Justice and Justices Bray and Slater, have heard the appeals against the sentences of twelve months' imprisonment passed for rioting at Epsom on Alphonse Massa, David Yerex, Allan McMaster, Frank Harold Wilkie and James Connors. The appeals were dismissed.

LEGAL HOLIDAY FOR ELECTORS

IS PROPOSITION OF CANADIAN FEDTRATION OF LABOR—A GREAT BOOM.

The declaration of a legal holiday for the Provincial and Federal Elections is the striking plank which is included in the agenda of the Canadian Federation of Labor, which meets in annual convention at the Sons of England Hall, Toronto, on September 3 and 4. The plans, according to General Organizer Thomas Watt, are being laid with a view to passing a strong resolution requesting Premier Sir Robert Borden to take the matter up in the interests of Labor throughout the Dominion. It is pointed out that such an innovation would be a great boon to Canadian Organized Labor, inasmuch as it is believed the numbers of laborer voting would increase by at least fifty per cent. The assertion of Labor leaders now is that under the present system many men who hold the franchise fail to register their votes. Especially does this apply to working men.

GERMANS NOW HELP ADMIRAL KOLCHAK

SEND ARMY OF 40,000 MEN, MODERNLY EQUIPPED INTO RUSSIA.

Paris, (Thursday), Aug. 28.—(By Associated Press).—Germany army nearly 40,000 men with modern equipment, including more than 30 air planes, has assembled in lithuania and is apparently marching in Russia ostensibly to reach and help Admiral Kolchak, according to Lithuatia advices here.

Paris, Aug. 30.—Word to this effect was brought to Paris by Chief Engineer Steibikof, of the Lithuanian railway system, who declared that Germans talked freely on a common understanding between Russia and Japan.

In describing the situation to the Associated Press correspondent, M. Stelbiko said that large German forces have re-occupied Lithuanian territory, from which they had been several times ordered away by both the Lithuanian Government and Marshal Foch, were entrenching themselves and making preparations for a march through Russia. They called themselves "Kolchakia" and

(Continued on Page 8)

INCOME TAX LAW FOR MUNICIPALITIES IS WEAKENED BY SERIOUS DEFECTS

Members of Ontario Municipal Association are Unable to Suggest Practical Amendment and Arrive at no Definite Conclusion

City Assessor W. J. Henry returned last night from attending the annual meeting of the Ontario Municipal Association, which was in session in the city of Toronto for the past four days and which was one of the most interesting sessions in the history of the organization. The membership is open to all municipal officers in Ontario, rural and urban.

The main questions discussed at the session of the association related to the assessment problem. First and foremost came the matter of taxing incomes. It has long been recognized as a weakness in this section of the law that men pay tax on income earned the preceding year. At least half the municipal population are in this way able to evade the tax altogether by a change of residence.

The association was unable to solve the problem, and after a long discussion no definite action was taken, and no memorial will be sent to the Legislature. One of the difficulties in framing a new law would be that of exempting the men who had paid this year a tax on their last years earnings, if the income tax was placed on the same basis as that on property. Another difficulty would be in dealing with the case of professional men whose income levy depends upon their business assessment. It is impossible to compute a man's income before the completion of the stipulated year or until the rate for the municipality is struck. This is the real obstacle that stands in the way of amending the law.

Assures Clear Title.

One of the most important recommendations made by the association was the adoption of a resolution favoring an amendment to the law so that no land title can be registered until the tax collector of the municipality furnishes a certificate showing that all taxes have been paid. This is intended as a protection to the purchaser who may innocently purchase property upon which the taxes are in arrears.

The members of the association are in favor of amendments to the law equalizing the assessment system as between professional men and all other lines of business.

CHANGE OF MEETING

The monthly meeting of Wellington L.O.L. No 457, is changed from Monday to Tuesday night, September 2nd. By order R. Bradfield, Master.

Who's Who On The Council Board

ROBERT MORRISON.

Alderman Morrison, twenty-eight years a citizen of Peterborough, is a native of Ennismore, having been born on a farm in that township about ten miles distant from this city. Educated in Peterborough, his inclinations tended toward town life rather than to agricultural pursuits, and in 1901 he permanently located in Peterborough town where he has resided continuously until today, although still holding interests in the township of his birth.

Electrical Expert.

An electrician by trade, Alderman Morrison acquired his knowledge of electricity and its practical application in the Canadian General Electric Co.'s works, where he successively filled several responsible posts, including ing assistant foremanship of the winding department, complete charge of the transformer room, and finally inspector of all electrical apparatus manufactured at that company's branch here. With the outbreak of war against Germany, he acception a position as chief electrician with the Henry Hope Co., this city, where he remained until ushering in of peace.

Alderman Morrison now holds an important post with the Peterborough Cereal Co., Simcoe street, where he has supervised the installation of ten large motors and all electrical apparatus needed in thoroughly and modernly motorizing that mill. Just now he is concentrating his energies on the installation of an electrical switch system which includes the equipping of all machinery with electric circuit-breakers. For the same company he equipped their big grist mill at Campbellford with a complete and up-to-the-hour electric power plant.

First-Year Chairman.

As alderman for the city of Peterborough Robert Morrison is yet in his first term, having been elected on the Labor ticket in January, 1919, ex-Alderman Murray, Gainey, Garside and he heading the polls, pledged to Labor's interests. Although but in his initial year in Peterborough's municipal government, he holds the chairmanship of the Fire, Water and Light Committee, and as civic head of the Fire Department, his expert skill in electrical apparatus stands him in good stead. He applies himself to the calls of this department with commendable vigor and consideration, and under his chairmanship the two-platoon system has been inaugurated. This principle of two shifts for firemen—one night and the other day—increases the staff by six, and makes life more worth living for firemen, without impairing the efficiency of the brigade. The scheme has been adopted by most cities, was introduced by ex-Alderman Dobbin last year, when chairman of the Fire, Water and Light Committee, and put into operation this year by Alderman Morrison in co-operation with his committee. A new electric fire alarm system is now about to be installed, the apparatus is at the fire hall today and. Ald. Morrison, with his knowledge of electricity, is the right man in the right place at this moment. He promises to give this installation personal supervision and expects to have the new system in operation next month. He makes a good committee chairman in that he has confidence in his own conclusions, and does not worry his committee with lengthy sessions over trivial matters that really he within the jurisdiction of the head of a committee.

His Labor Policy.

As a Labor representative, Ald. Morrison tenaciously advocates the eight-hour day, a wage commensurate with the cost of living, and the uplift of working men and their dependents. He has the courage of his convictions on this question, in public or elsewhere. He is a member of the Electricians' Union, and, of course, a delegate to the Trades and Labor Council.

In conclusion, during his brief term of office on the aldermanic board, Ald. Morrison has shown good metal, and aggressively enters into the business of Peterborough's city Council. And while a Labor alderman, he is broad enough in his views to take an active interest in all sorts and conditions of men, and to ever keep in view the city's needs generally.

THE DAILY REVIEW

ESTABLISHED 1870.
MEMBER OF THE CANADIAN PRESS, LIMITED.

THE DAILY REVIEW is published every afternoon at 4 o'clock (holidays and Sundays excepted) by The Peterborough Review Company, Limited, 166-168 Hunter Street.

SUBSCRIPTION PRICE, $3.00 per year by mail to any part of Canada or Great Britain; $4.00 per year delivered to any part of the city.

THE WEEKLY REVIEW, established 1858, is published every Thursday morning at 10 o'clock. Subscription price $1.50 per year to any part of Canada or Great Britain, or $2.00 a year to the United States.

U. S. Representative—Robert E. Douglas, Chicago.

BOARD OF DIRECTORS:
A. H. STRATTON, President and General Manager; E. A. PECK, ex-M.L.A.; T. F. MATTHEWS and JAMES LANCH.

TELEPHONES:
Business Dept .... 189 Editorial 433
Mr. Stratton's Residence ... 321

"FOR A GREATER PETERBOROUGH."

SATURDAY, AUGUST 30, 1919

PLAYING A LONE HAND.

HARTLEY DEWART in his campaign has so far failed to arouse any measure of enthusiasm among the members of his party or to enlist the sympathy and support of the leading Liberal organs. First, the Globe more than hinted that a blunder had been made in his selection. Then the Toronto Star shows the fallacy of his contribution on the nickel question which, in the game Mr. Dewart is playing alone, constitutes his trump card. The temperance element in the party regard him with suspicion if not actually meeting him with open hostility. And now comes the Brantford Expositor, one of the most influential of the provincial Liberal newspapers, in an editorial that shows that the new leader of the Opposition has not a leg upon which to stand. The Expositor speaks on the issues of the day, and what it says is the highest tribute that even a friendly newspaper, friendly in the party sense, could possibly pay to any administration. The Expositor says: "The Hearst Government has not a few things to its credit. First and foremost is the fact that it has kept its skirts extremely free from scandal, while the Premier himself is generally credited with being a man who would like to promote purity in public life. To its credit is the adoption of war-time prohibition, a measure for which it has been given a good deal of adverse criticism from its own political supporters, and its good roads legislation. Nor has its administration of provincial finances been made the subject of any serious attack."

Mr. Dewart's bombastic tirade against the Administration is most effectively answered by the very papers that would be supporting him if his cause were even tinged with righteousness. He stands alone in this campaign just as he found himself without party backing when he assailed the Hearst Government during the various sessions of the Legislature. He cannot mislead the people or the press. Even our neighbor on George street seems to find it impossible to work up any enthusiasm over Mr. Dewart as a leader but pins its hope to his ancestral qualifications rather than to his personal merits or to the merits of his cause.

THE NEW VOTERS OF PETERBOROUGH.

THE WOMEN of Peterborough, banded together in various organizations, have shown themselves possessed of executive ability that will at least measure up to the standard established by the masculine portion of the populaeion. There neves was a militant, hatchet-bearing and window-smashing suffragist in this city, but all these years the women have quietly insisted upon their right to the franchise on the same terms as men; they have worked with that end in view, and their object has been attained. The moral influence that was brought to bear upon the legislators of the day, who finally yielded to the pressure, was exerted here no less effectively than by the women's organizations all over Ontario.

The women of Peterborough, once they set their hand to a task, never stop half way. When they undertake a public measure they see it through to the end. Some of the greatest civic reforms on record have been brought about largely through their efforts. They work quietly but none the less to the purpose, while men talk, adopt resolutions, enlist the co-operation of the press, and let it go at that. The women it was who first conceived the idea of public playgrounds for the children. The worth of this movement has been given practical demonstration for the past six years, the success being more marked as the work was extended year after year. The women worked for years in the interest of public bathing beaches, and have the satisfaction now of seeing practical results to their labors. Some of the best entertainments ever provided in this city have been arranged by the public-spirited women. It is women who have been the real moving spirits in such philanthropic and high-purposed movements as the Health Association. Another of their plans for the betterment of humanity is the baby clinic which will soon be established in this city. There is not a charitable work in Peterborough, not a movement for the advancement of public morals or social conditions in which they have not been actively interested.

When the war broke out the executive ability of the women of Peterborough found a new field. Their work was thorough as it was disinterested. The local Red Cross with its various branches will always stand as an illustration of what women can accomplish when the opportunity arises. No organization formed with war work as the object, even the deservedly lauded Patriotic Fund itself, was not designed on sounder business principles nor more efficiently administered.

These are the citizens who have been denied the franchise all these years, who have been deemed of a lower order of intelligence than the men, who have been regarded as lacking in that degree of ability which is essential in the proper exercise of the right to vote! Forsooth, and then again, forsooth!

When some of the women of Peterborough, in common with those of the rest of the Dominion, were given by special Act of Parliament the right to vote at the general election two years ago, it was held by some masculine synics that they would not know how to exercise the new privilege that had been conferred upon them. Here again the doubting Thomases were silenced by a demonstration. The women of Peterborough got together and on their own initiative formed one of the most thorough and influential organizations ever devised in the interest of a public movement. That organization was the marvel just as it was the centre of admiration of seasoned political campaigners of the opposite sex. The work of the campaign was conducted from the headquarters on George street with rare intelligence. Naturally the women were suspicious of the battle-scarred politician, and would tolerate neither his counsel nor his reproof. There was not a detail overlooked by the new organization. There was not a serious mistake made from beginning to end. Every woman entitled to vote had her name placed on the list. Some of the best and most effective meetings of the campaign were arranged for and conductde by the new voters, conducted, too, with exemplary fidelity to parliamentary and ethical procedure. On election day the thoroughness of the organization was again demonstrated. The entire women vote was brought out and polled, and once more the cynics were dumb if not with admiration, at least with dismay.

For the first time in the history of Ontario women will vote, either on the referendum or at the next provincial election, on the same terms as men. They will work in the coming campaign with the same zeal and to the same purpose as they did two years ago. In the past when a great moral issue was submitted to the electors, only a limited number of women, those enfranchised by the Municipal Act, were allowed to vote. The others met at their homes or gathered in the churches, to pray for the success of the cause, while those with the franchise went to the polls. But the prayers of even the righteous are not always immediately answered. The man, incapable of exertion, who petitions for his daily bread, often goes hungry. It is the one who, in addition to his supplications, can turn out and hustle for a living, who eats three square meals a day. The last handicap has been removed from Ontario womanhood. They can now vote as well as pray.

RELIGIOUS BASEBALL PLAYERS.

BILLY SUNDAY, the noted evangelist, is billed to speak in the Arena in Toronto next Tuesday, in support of the referendum, and it must be admitted that, with characteristic courage, Mr. Sunday, is attacking the enemy in his citadel. Mr. Sunday is popularly known as the "baseball evangelist." For some reason or other it is considered unusual that a man who figured in the national pastime for years should have during his playing career shown any signs of practical religion. The now famous evangelist when he played with the old Chicago team under Captain Anson, used to pray silently, he tells us, in the pinches of a close contest. It is his firm belief that a petition which he uttered as he chased a high fly in Detroit one afternoon in 1886 not only saved the game but the championship to his team. But Billy's faith was always backed up by effective work either in the field or at the bat.

But Mr. Sunday is not alone in baseball history as a devout member of a playing team. The late Jim White, surnamed "the Deacon," was noted for his religious zeal. White away back in the eighties guarded the third corner of the garden for the old Detroit team, and in 1887 helped to carry that club to the National League championship and afterward to the championship of the world, wresting that honor from the old St. Louis Browns. Deacon White took part in the game that has been made historic by Billy Sunday's prayer.

Wherever the Detroit team happened to be on the road on a Sunday, Deacon White attended every possible service and tried to induce his team mates to follow his example. At home he was one of the pillars of his own congregation, an active worker in church and Sunday school. As a fielder he ranked with the best, and when he took his place in the batting order every pitcher who knew his prowess realized that the situation was critical.

The Detroit team, champions of the league and of the world, with Deacon White still on his corner, went all to pieces in 1888. It was one chapter of hard luck after another. First one player was disabled. Then a pitcher's arm went lame. The team faced the best in the league with their men playing out of position. Toward the close of that eventful season the Detroits on the road dropped nineteen games in succession. Their final chance to redeem themselves before returning home was at Chicago. They scored a victory by one run.

The Deacon, who made his work a matter of conscientious endeavor, caught the ball that retired the Chicago team and clinched the victory. He dropped on his knees on third base, and in an historic prayer returned thanks for the victory, a prayer that was regarded as sincere as it was unusual. Deacon White lacked the gift of speech possessed by Billy Sunday, otherwise the national game would have sent out another graduate who would have attained equal success in evangelistic service. Because a man is an athlete is no reason to conclude that he is beset with spiritual indifference.

NOTES AND COMMENT.

THEN AGAIN, with some men politics is not a sideline, but a steady job.

• • • • •

EVER NOTICE that these pugilist-actors never join in a general strike of the profession?

• • • • •

SOME MEN are left who would rather be right than sit in the seats of or with the mighty.

• • • • •

THE CROP of parliamentary eloquence about to be harvested gives promise of being above the average.

• • • • •

THE GERMAN mark may have depreciated, but not to the same extent as either the empire or the dynasty.

• • • • •

IT IS A POOR international policy, like a poor rule, that does not work both ways. The Monroe Doctrine, for instance.

• • • • •

THE sunshine is no longer bright on "My Old Kentucky Home." It's the moonshine that engages popular interest now.

• • • • •

THE ONLY THING of value that can be had for nothing these days is economy, and the cheaper the commodity the less demand for it.

• • • • •

THE UNIVERSITY of London undertakes to produce ready-made journalists, but the long-established School of Hard Knocks will continue to turn out the real graduates.

REVIEW REPORTER'S AMBLES

A farmer is a fellow who works eight hours a day twice a day.

Did you know that a blueberry is green when it is red?

Marry in haste and repent at Winnipeg.

No, dear reader, U. F. O. does not stand for United For Office. It means United Farmers of Ontario.

Toronto is intoxicated with the prince news item: Now watch the United States Senate bar his presence from the U. S.

Somebody said that the sight of a certain member was enough to keep him out of the Peterborough branch of the Citizens' Liberty League.

Just the same, we don't think that the organizer of the Citizens' Liberty Legaue, even if he is successful, will take the title, "The Great Emancipator," away from the late Mr. A. Lincoln.

Well-known come-backs:
Beards.
Anonymous Letters.
Crawfish.
Boomerangs
G. N. Gordon.

Speaking of numbers we have—
The Big Three in English Labor circles.
The Big Four in sporting circles.
The Big Five in Chicago.
The Big Six in Peterborough's Council.

At the last meeting of the Royal Astronomical Society of America it was reported that their business was looking up.

"Ham" Burnham is West Peterborough's member of the Federal House. We wonder if the Liberals will use his last name as their slogan at the next election?

The sooner some German ex-war lords get started on their way to the Twentieth Plane the better for all concerned.

In a recent editorial our contemporary advises us to spend our money in Canada. Now, just where did the Examiner get its new machinery?

Why doesn't the Peterborough Exhibition Board save all the money it gives for horse races in a year, and have one big race meet? In this way Peterborough would have the racing money as exhibition prize year. But, better still, why not use the racing money as Exhibition premiums? In the next Exhibition 24.7 per cent. of the prize money is to go to horse races.

V. D. L.

GOOD OPPORTUNITIES

Study the advertisements in the Daily and Weekly Review. They are replete with attractive opportunities for buying cheaply.

GIVE HER A THRASHING

Novel Advice Offered Husband by London Magistrate.

London, Aug. 30.—"If you had given her a good thrashing it might have effected an improvement," was the novel suggestion of Judge Granger, at Southwark County Court to a man who arrainged his wife for attacking him while she was under the influence of drink.

"I didn't like to do it," replied the husband. "When she is in drink she is awful but when she is sober she is a thoroughly good woman."

The Judge then advised him to keep her sober or get a divorce.

FUTURE OF WOMEN COPS

The British Home Secretary indicates that at a later date a committee will be appointed to consider the employment of women on police duties. The women achieved some success while acting during war times.

WINE IMPORTS INCREASE

Imports of Italian wines into the United Kingdom for the six months ended June 30 amounted to 412,617 gallons, compared with 115,726 gallons for the same period in 1918.

KILLED BY A BUTTON

Mary Schorrock, of London, five years old, died from septic poisoning and inflammation of the throat caused by a button she swallowed.

'A Suggestion for Saving

CASH in the pocket encourages careless spending.

You will find it a much easier task to save if you keep your "Spending" money in a Savings Account with The Bank of Toronto. There it is safe and can be drawn upon when really needed.

A reluctance to draw from that account will grow upon you, and protect you from many needless expenditures.

Once the saving habit is acquired, the account, with its earnings of interest, will steadily grow to a substantial amount.

Many young men and women are working out this scheme with us to advantage.

It is a plan worthy of a trial.

BANKING HOURS:
GENERAL BANKING HOURS
10.00 a.m. to 3.00 p.m.
SATURDAYS:
9.30 a.m. to 12.00 noon
E. J. H. VANSTON, Manager

THE BANK OF TORONTO

Capital $5,000,000 Reserves $6,625,623

WHAT DID FIREMEN EXPECT TO FIND?

(New York Commercial.)

Almost every afternoon paper in the city yesterday made a great feature of the fact that Mayor Hylan's firemen had found "vast hoards" of food in the storage warehouses of the city. Let us thank God that they did! If they had failed to find any it would have been the most serious thing that had ever happened since the city was founded. Why it should have taken the city's firemen from their regular work to make these discoveries is beyond comprehension. The facts could have been ascertained much more quickly by consulting the records of the Bureau of Markets where sworn statements are on file which those making them would have not the slightest interest in falsifying.

This of course would not satisfy Mayor Hylan or those who are seeking to make political capital out of the present hysteria. It is far more spectacular to have the firemen check up on the stocks in storage than to seek the information in a rational way. The wonder is that so much moderation was used. It would have been quite in keeping with the situation if the firemen had rushed to the various storage warehouses with their apparatus, clanking their bells and blowing their horns, and have used scaling ladders to force an entrance instead of going in through the doors.

Among other things they found 557,353,080 eggs. There are 30 dozen, or 360 eggs, to a case, so that the firemen discovered exactly $1,548,2.." cases of eggs at the end of the season of maximum production! This city consumes approximately 100,000 cases of eggs a week, so that we have a reserve supply that will last 15 weeks! If we have a very cold winter they will be a godsend, for without them we would face an egg famine.

It is true that the supply is a little larger than it was at this time last year, as are the supplies of some of the other items on the list. But food dealers have been preparing themselves to ship food to Europe, as they were expected to do. Secretary Redfield reports that for the first half of the current year the exports of foodstuffs to Europe have amounted to more than $1,000,000,000. This immense outflow of food has not been suddenly curtailed and is still going on. It cannot all be placed aboard ships as it arrives here and some of it is obliged to go into storage temporarily. No account is taken of these export supplies in the discoveries made by the firemen.

Now that Mayor Hylan's firemen have discovered that the city has some reserve supplies of food on hand, what is he going to do about it? Are the warehouses to be opened up and the people forced to eat the food or let it spoil? Are we to gorge ourselves now that we may starve later? This is the time of the year when our storage warehouses should be filled to the brim, except that there is the great canned goods supply yet to come. How are we to live through the winter otherwise? And when it comes to counting the egg supply in individual eggs, why isn't the Treasury balance counted in pennies or the wheat supply in grains?

WIT AND WISDOM

NOT FOR HIM

"You are suffering from brain fag and ennui," announced the specialist. "You should take more interest in your business." "I would like to," replied the patient. "Then why don't you?" demanded the specialist. "The law won't let me," replied the patient. "I'm a pawnbroker."

CLOSE QUARTERS

Hewitt—"He wouldn't rent you the flat, eh?"

Jewitt — "No; he said I was so bow-legged that I would be continually rubbing the paper off the walls."

MADE HER NERVOUS

(From London Answers.)

"Do you know of a good dog dealer?" asked Banks, as he met his friend in the street. "My wife wants to sell her toy terrier."

"What? That one you gave her? exclaimed the other man. "Why, I thought that it was said to be the smallest dog in the world."

"That's just the trouble. It is so small that she keeps mistaking it for a mouse."

TOO MUCH

"You love my daughter?" said the old man.

"Love her," he exclaimed passionately. "Why I would die for her. For one soft glance from those sweet eyes I would hurl myself from yonder cliff and perish—a bruised mass upon the rocks 200 feet below."

The old man shook his head. "I'm somewhat of a liar myself," he said, "and one is enough for a small family like mine."

FEMININE LOGIC

The young lady across the way says she guesses her friend in the newspaper business must be getting valuable practice in all kinds of writing now as he told her he was getting out all the miscellany.

A MOTHER'S TRIALS

CARE OF HOME AND CHILDREN OFTEN CAUSES A BREAKDOWN

The woman at home, deep in household duties and the cares of motherhood, needs occasional help to keep her in good health. The demands upon a mother's health are many and severe. Her own health trials and her children's welfare exact heavy tolls, while hurried meals, broken rest and much indoor living tend to weaken her constitution. No wonder that the woman at home is often indisposed through weakness, headaches, backaches and nervousness. Too many women have grown to accept these visitations as a part of the lot of motherhood. But many and varied as her health troubles are, the cause is simple and the cure is at hand. When well, it is the woman's good blood that keeps her well; when ill she must make her blood rich to renew her health. The nursing mother more than any other woman in the world needs rich blood and plenty of it. There is one always unfailing way to get this good blood so necessary to good health, and that is through the use of Dr. William's Pink Pills. These pills make new blood abundantly, and through their use thousands of weak, ailing wives and mothers have been made bright, cheerful and strong. If you are ailing, easily tired or depressed, it is a duty you owe yourself and your family to give Dr. Williams' Pink Pills a fair trial. What this medicine has done for others it will surely do for you

The weigh of the transgressor is invariably light.

MARRYING AT FORTY

Men More Fit Than Women to Wed at That Age.

The large number of marriages of men of 40 to women of 23 or 24 has raised the question in London: "Would children of such a marriage be normally healthy so far as the father's age exercised any influence?" Answering the question a doctor says that there is nothing from the physiological standpoint to prevent such marriages.

"A motion has arisen among men that the children of a father of 40 are not likely to be strong," said he. "Provided the man is in good health, there is no such consequences. Doctors do not look with favor on marriage for the first time of women older than 38. And it is certainly better that a man of 40 should marry a woman of 25 than one of his own age. As a rule, a man, after passing his 34th or 35th year is at least ten years younger physically than a woman of his own age, notwithstanding that women live longer and generally enjoy better health in old age than men."

HAY UP 300 PER CENT.

Against the pre-war price of $20 a ton, $80 at on is now being paid for hay in the North of England, the power quality selling easily at $60 a ton.

Wood's Phosphodine.
The Great English Remedy. Tones and invigorates the whole nervous system, makes new Blood in old Veins. Cures Nervous Debility, Mental and Brain Worry, Impotency, Loss of Energy, Palpitation of the Heart, Failing Memory. Price $1 per box, or $3 for $5. One will please, six will cure. Sold by all druggists or mailed in plain pkg. on receipt of price. Free pamphlet mailed free. THE J. C. DE [illegible] CO., TORONTO, ONT. Formerly [illegible]

Toronto Savings and Loan COMPANY
Peterborough
Head Office: 423-427 George Street
Paid-Up Capital ..$1,000,000.00
Reserve Fund $1,100,000.00

SAVINGS DEPARTMENT — Deposits received of One Dollar and upwards. Interest paid quarterly, accrues from date of deposit to date of withdrawal.

Every facility and convenience is afforded to depositors.

INVESTMENT DEPARTMENT — Debentures issued for sums of $100 & upwards for periods of one to five years, upon which special rates of interest are paid, depending upon the term of investment.

Executors and trustees are authorized by law to invest in the Debentures of this institution.

Money to loan at lowest current rates of interest.

W. G. MORROW,
Managing Director.

CLOCKS
: the Gift Kind :

Best assortment in the city of French Marble Clocks, Fancy Boudoir Clocks, Mantel Clocks, Bronze and Ornamental Clocks.

Prices moderate; Values defy competition.

Schneider's
247 George St. Next Turnbull's

THE MERCHANTS' COLUMN

Edited by
MANSFIELD F. HOUSE
(Copyright.)

(In this column, which appears every Monday, Wednesday and Saturday, will appear news and short articles of special interest to merchants, their salespeople and business men and women in general. All phases of store management—buying, accounting, advertising and retail salesmanship—will be dealt with, not theoretically, but by descriptions of methods actually in use by successful merchants.)

A HARDWARE STORE THAT SELLS DRESS PATTERNS

You have seen drug stores change from place; where only drugs were compounded to stores that compare with department stores in diversity of stock carried, but did you ever see a hardware store that sold dressmaking patterns?

It sounds foolish, of course, and yet one of the largest and most successful hardware stores in the country, Walbridge & Co., of Buffalo, makes it pay.

In addition to dress patterns, Walbridge & Co. have introduced many other new wrinkles into hardware merchandising. They do not believe that because a hardware store used to be limited to certain articles it should never branch out and add new lines when a demand exists or can be created.

Walbridge & Co. operate five big hardware stores in Buffalo, each one of them being a profit-payer. Their largest store is on Main street, in the centre of the best shopping district, and here they occupy a six-story building that extends all the way through to the next street and the outside is as unconventional as the inside.

There are two immense front windows, with a V-shaped entrance. In front of the door is a case of stationery. That in itself is most unusual—a hardware store selling stationery. And a sign at the top of the case calls attention to New Dress Patterns. No wonder people stop, look and enter.

The Diplomacy of Location.

The usual hardware stock—the staples such as general housefurnishings, tools, nails, paints and heavy hardware—is kept in the basement but to get to these everyday necessities the customers have to walk three quarters the length of the store to the stairway going down.

Assuming that they "kep to the right," on the way down they pass cases of sterling and plated ware stationery, party favors (think of that for a hardware store), razors, watches, clocks, to mention only a few of the departments.

Coming from the basement—if they turn to the right on the way out—they will pass cameras, sporting goods, auto accessories, electrical goods, and so on. Signs around the elevator invite them to the departments upstairs.

They will not be interested in the fifth and sixth floors, for these are used only for storage. But on the fourth they will find a big toy department and a large stock of trunks and bags; on the third, stoves, sewing machines and dress patterns; on the second, china, glass and electrical goods, including several small rooms specially fitted up to show people just how the electrical fixtures look in actual use and what ones are needed for the various rooms of the house.

In every department of the store an intelligent attempt has been made to make it easy for people to buy things that naturally go together, such as sewing machines and stoves, razors, soap, strops and talcum, and just because hardware stores do not usually carry talcum powder is no reason why Walbridge should not.

Curiosity Brings Trade.

"I think one of the biggest mistakes that merchants make," said one of the Walbridge executives, "is to allow themselves to be bound too closely by precedent. I know that it held us back for many years, and when we finally did see the light and put our convictions into practice the effect was marvelous. We became the talk of the town almost overnight. Even today many people come into our store out of curiosity, because it looks like such an unusual hardware store. Our regular customers know, of course, that we can supply them with almost everything except wearables and eatables.

"Two other factors have played a tremendous part in building up our business to its present proportions. One is that we have always pushed nationally advertised lines. You will find signs and fixtures in the windows, counters and scattered around the store. We push them in our newspaper advertising and bring the actual good sto the front on the counters and in the cases.

"The other point is that we always take the position that the customer is right. With us it isn't a policy that we preach and then violate in practice. We won't allow our clerks to argue with a dissatisfied customer; what the customer says goes. If a woman brings in a fountain pen that she claims is defective she gets another one withou any quibbling, even though the clerk may know perfectly well that the pen point was damaged by the pen having been dropped on the floor.

"With these three factors as a foundation we have built up what is really a remarkable business in the past few years."

THESE MERCHANTS COULDN'T WRITE—BUT KEPT RECORDS

Back in the ages when the history of the American continent was written only on the cliffs of South America—Peruvians used their own method of keeping track of their flocks, figuring up the price of their wares and doing the other odd sums which were necessary to their extremely cultivated civilization.

Explorers of modern times, finding strange knotted cords in the Peruvian sepulchers, were puzzled as to their significance, until L. Leland Locke, of Columbia University, recently analyzed what is probably the earliest known use of the decimal system and announced that the "quipu" (or "knotted cord") was the combination cash register and adding machine which the Peruvians used upon all occasions.

In spite of the fact that the Incas were considerably more advanced than the other peoples of their time, they developed no system of writing, as understood today. However, they kept accurate track of the birth rate of the empire, census and tribute statements, crop and stock records, retail sales and the like. The "quipu" did it all.

This system consisted of a series of knotted cords, hanging, fringe-like, from a heavier cord in the center. Each of the knots in the hanging cords represented a number, its value dependent upon its position from the main cord and the manner in which it was tied. The section closest to the main cord represented hundreds, the centre section the tens and the one furthest away the single figures.

Quipus with different colored cords were used by storekeepers to designate the accounts of their customers and, from the much-knotted condition in which some of these have been found, it is evident that the question of prompt payment of bills was as much a problem in those days as it is right now.

The Peruvian retailers, however, carried their quipus with them, even into the grave, which is further than a modern merchant would carry his cash register or adding machine, no matter how much he is attached to it. Possibly, though, the Peruvian theology taught that debts left unpaid in this life might be collected in the next, and the storekeeper wanted to be certain of having his records handy so that there would be no dispute.

MOVIES HOLD KIDDIES WHILE MOTHERS SHOP

Frederick & Nelson, the leading department store of Seattle, Wash., have started a weekly motion picture show for children in their splendid auditorium on the fifth floor of their new store building. The shows are given on Saturday morning, starting at 9.30, each performance lasting an hour. The last one starts at 11.30 and they are given free of charge.

The films are selected particularly to suit the child mind, usually featuring one of the child stars—Baby Marie Osborne or Gloria Joy. The idea is giving these children's shows was to give the mothers a safe place to leave their children while they shopped and a place where the child would be contented to stay.

One of the regular employes of the store operates the projection machine, another acts as usher, while still another acts as doorwoman.

These shows have become very popular with the children and the influx of shopping mothers during these hours has become noticeable through the store.

DANGER LURKS IN EVERY ONE OF US

We Are As Full of Deadly Poisons As A Germ Laboratory.

AUTO-INTOXICATION OR SELF-POISONING

"FRUIT-A-TIVES" Absolutely Prevents This Dangerous Condition.

The chief cause of poor health is our neglect of the bowels. Waste matter, instead of passing from the lower intestine regularly every day, is allowed to remain there, generating poisons which are absorbed by the blood.

In other words, a person who is habitually constipated, is poisoning himself. We know now that Auto-intoxication, due to non-action of the bowels, is directly responsible for serious Kidney and Bladder Troubles; that it upsets the Stomach, causes Indigestion, Loss of Appetite and Sleeplessness; that chronic Rheumatism, Gout, Pain In The Back, are relieved as soon as the bowels become regular; and that Pimples, Rashes, Eczema and other Skin Affections disappear when "Fruit-a-tives" are taken to correct Constipation.

"Fruit-a-tives" will protect you against Auto-intoxication because this wonderful fruit medicine acts directly on all the eliminating organs.

50c. a box, 6 for $2.50, trial size 25c. At all dealers or sent on receipt of price by Fruit-a-tives Limited, Ottawa.

"TWO PANTS" SUITS GAINING IN FAVOR

That an era of two-pants suits for men is sure to come soon is the prophecy of a buyer of men's and boys' clothing for one of the leading Chicago street stores.

More and more men are demanding two-pants suits, he says, and they will patronize the stores that are prepared to give this service, even though retailers do not desire it because it slows up trade, and manufacturers look with disfavor upon it on account of its inconvenience in manufacturing.

One of the largest wholesale tailors, however, says he welcomes this kind of trade because their manufacture is no inconvenience when garments are cut singly. The two-pants suit advocates claim that, while a customer may not buy as often, when he does buy it will invariably be at the store which has served him in this manner.

SUMMER COMPLAINTS KILL LITTLE ONES

At the first sign of illness during the hot weather give the little ones Baby's Own Tablets or in a few hours he may be beyond aid. These Tablets will prevent summer complaints if given occasionally to the well child and will promptly relieve these troubles if they come on suddenly. Baby's Own Tablets should always be kept in every home where there are young children. There is no other medicine as good and the mother has the guarantee of a government analyst that they are absolutely safe. The Tablets are sold by medicine dealers or by mail at 25 cents a box from The Dr. Williams Medicine Co., Brockville Ont.

A Long Distance Bard.

A poet was walking with Talleyrand in the street and at the same time reciting some of his own verses. Talleyrand, perceiving at a short distance a man yawning, pointed him out to his friend, saying:

"Not so loud; he hears you."—Exchange.

Where the Blame Belonged.

Judge (to woman asking separation)—How long have your relations been unpleasant?

Woman—Your honor, my relations have always been pleasant! It's his relations that are the old grouches.—Boston Transcript.

The Cause.

"Cholly has a swelled head."

"There is one thing only which with reason could give that idiot a swelled head."

"And what might that be?"

"A good punching." — Baltimore American.

An Observation.

"At what period in life should a man's income be largest?"

"It is usually reported to be largest at the period of his life in which his wife tries to show the court how much alimony he could pay."—St. Louis Post-Dispatch.

Cook's Cotton Root Compound.

A safe, reliable regulating medicine. Sold in three degrees of strength—No. 1, $1; No. 2, $3; No. 3, $5 per box. Sold by all druggists, or sent prepaid on receipt of price. Free pamphlet. Address: THE COOK MEDICINE CO., TORONTO, ONT. (Formerly Windsor.)

COST OF ENGLISH MINERS' STRIKE

YORKSHIRE STRIKE EXHAUSTED THEIR FUND OF OVER A MILLION DOLLARS.

DAMAGES TO MINES $10,000,000

COAL LOST TO INDUSTRY $15,000,000. LOSS TO KINDRED INDUSTRIES $12,500,000.

London, Aug. 29.—The Yorkshire miners' strike has been an expensive bit of business for the Union as well as for the people not directly connected with the dispute. General figures are:

Damages to mines, $10,000,000.
Coal lost to industry, $15,000,000.
Losses to kindred industries, $12,500,000.

The strike fund of the miners, amounting to $1,100,000 was exhausted with the payment of the fourth week's strike benefits. This fund it was stated had taken some 25 years to accumulate.

The local Government Board, it is stated, cut a lot of red tape and with the sympathetic co-operation of the local relief authorities averted dire distress throughout the district. In some cases $2.50 was allowed every married woman, with $1.25 additional for every child. This money, with the strike benefit, averted, the authorities say, much suffering.

HOUSE BURNING CASE DISMISSED

NO EVIDENCE PRODUCED TO IMPLICATE ACCUSED WITH FIRE IN APSLEY.

The charge against Isaac Whitley and Miss Eva Gorey of Apsley of setting fire to the home of Mr. William Jones, also of Apsley were dismissed on account of the lack of evidence against the accused. The house was burnt on the evening of the 31st of July. The only evidence received which caused suspicion that the house was set on fire purposely was that of Mr. Jones who swore he found a bottle of kerosine where the blaze started.

Suspicion fell on the lady accused because of a remark she is alleged to have made on a previous occasion, when the barn of Mr. Jones was burned. On that occasion she had remarked, it is said, that their house would be the next to go; but no evidence could be produced to show that she was in any way connected with setting the property on fire.

Both of the accused live on the adjoining farm to that occupied by Mr. Jones, and in the process of their daily work, invariably pass his house. On the day following the house burning Mr. Jones asserted he saw Isaac Whitney proceed down the road into the fence corner. After he had departed Mr. Jones, growing suspicious, went to the fence corner and found the fence on fire and extinguished the blaze.

The Magistrate ruled that there had been no evidence produced to implicate the accused in any way.

In the opinion of some a fire inquest in that back country would probably be advisable. Of late there have been numerous fires in that vicinity and the feeling among neighbors is daily growing more antagonistic.

Something She'd Never Tried.

"Oh, Mildred," cried one young lady, meeting a school friend of some two summers past, "I've heard the greatest piece of news. Can you keep a secret?"

"I don't know," said the friend. "I never tried. What is it?"—Atlanta Journal.

PRACTICAL HEALTH HINT.

Liquids and Diet.

The amount of liquid consumed in the twenty-four hours is one of the most important questions in connection with diet, especially for any one suffering from headaches, rheumatic pains, malaise, undue fatigue and a variety of like complaints, "minor ailments," as they are called. These ailments are anything but minor, we may observe, in regard to the amount of suffering they cause and the train of symptoms and diseases to which they lead.

Without a sufficient quantity of liquids the waste matter in the tissues is apt to become too condensed and on this account less able to reach the eliminatory organs, whose function it is to throw it off. The liquid may be taken in any form, hot or cold, or in tea, coffee, lemon water or any other beverage the person may prefer. It does not matter how it is taken, so long as it gets into the system.

Railway Time Tables

C. P. R. TIMETABLE
Effective May 4th, 1919.
GOING EAST

8.20 p.m.—Indian River, Norwood, Havelock and Tweed.
11.52 p.m.—Norwood, Havelock Kingston, Smiths Falls, Perth, Montreal, Quebec, St John, N.B., Boston and New York.
*1.30 a.m.—Havelock, Tweed, Kingston, Perth, Smiths Falls and Ottawa.
11.59 a.m.—Norwood, Havelock Bonarlaw, Tweed, Perth, Smiths Falls Ottawa, Montreal and intermediate points.
*11.59 a.m.—Norwood and Havelock.

GOING WEST

*4.53 a.m.—Toronto, Owen Sound Guelph, Godarich, Hamilton, Buffalo New York, Galt, Woodstock, St Thomas, London, Chatham, Detroit and Chicago.
6.21 a.m.—Myrtle and North Toronto.
7.35 a.m.—Toronto, Hamilton Buffalo, Rochester, Boston, New York and intermediate points between Peterborough and Toronto.
9.35 a.m.—Lindsay, Orillia, Port McNicoll and intermediate points.
3.20—Toronto, Hamilton, Brantford, Buffalo, New York, Galt, Guelph Woodstock, London, Windsor, Detroit and Chicago and intermediate point etween Peterborough and Toronto
5.60 p.m.—North Toronto, Lindsay and intermediate points.
*3.20 p.m.—Toronto and intermediate points.
*Daily.
Daily except Sunday
Daily except Saturday.
*Sunday only.

GRAND TRUNK RAILWAY SYSTEM TIMETABLE.

No. 86—8:10 a.m., for Toronto, via Port Hope, also points on Main Line east.
No. 93—8:20 a.m., for Lindsay, Blackwater Jct., Orillia, Midland, North Bay and Toronto.
No. 88—8:25 a.m., for Hastings, Campbellford, Belleville and points on Main Line East.
No. 369—8:30 a.m., for Lakefield.
No. 92—12:04 p.m. for Lindsay, Port Hope, Toronto, Buffalo, making connections with International Limited for London, Detroit and Chicago.
No. 371—12:15 p.m. for Lakefield.
No. 100—2:00 p.m. for Hastings Campbellford and Belleville.
No. 95—5:40 p.m. for Lindsay, Orillia, Midland, North Bay and Toronto.
No. 373—5:40 p.m. for Lakefield
No. 99—8:31 p.m. for Lindsay.
No. 94—9:10 p.m. for Port Hope, Montreal and Boston.

A Chinese Superstition.

It is not at all uncommon for the dead bodies of Chinese infants to be cast away, instead of being buried. The charitable explanation is that this is done to save burial expenses.

The true reason, however, is said to be the deep-rooted superstitious belief among them that the death of a baby arises out of punishment to its soul for sins committed in a previous state of existence. It is an accursed creature, whose coffin no one will follow. It is, therefore, a common sight in China to see dying babies laid down by the roadside to breathe their last.

The parents will not allow them to die in the house, the belief being that infants, after their death, become wicked spirits. To allow them to died under the parents' roof will bring nothing but evil upon the family.—Tit-Bits.

Soap from Oil-bearing Nut?

Government scientists in the Philippines are investigating the soap-making possibilities of an oil-bearing nut that has been discovered there.

FALL FAIRS 1919

PETERBOROUGH—Sept. 15-17.
Ottawa—Sept. 6-15.
Campbellford—Sept. 23-24.
Bancroft—Oct. 2-3.
Belleville—Sept. 1-3.
Bowmanville—Sept. 16-17.
Brighton—Sept. 11-12.
Brockville—Aug. 25-28.
Bobcaygeon—Sept. 26, 27.
Cobourg—Sept. 17-18.
Colborne—Sept. 25-26.
Centreville—Sept. 20.
Cobden—Sept. 25, 26.
Demorestville—Sept. 27.
Delta—Sept. 15-17.
Dungannon—Oct. 2-4.
Frankford—Sept. 18-19.
Harrowsmith—Sept. 18-19.
Keene—Oct. 7-8.
Kingston—Sept. 23-27.
Lakefield—Sept. 23-24.
Lindsay—Sept. 18-20.
Madoc—Oct. 7-8.
Merrickville—Sept. 16, 17.
Marmora—Sept. 30.
Maynooth—Sept. 25.
Midland—Sept. 29-Oct. 1.
Millbrook—Oct. 2-3.
Napanee—Sept. 9-10.
Norwood—Oct. 14, 15.
Odessa—Oct. 3.
Orillia—Sept. 16-17.
Oshawa—Sept. 8-10.
Orono—Sept. 25, 26.
Picton—Sept. 16-18.
Port Hope—Sept. 23, 24.
Roblins Mills—Sept. 23, 24.
Shannonville—Sept. 18.
Stirling—Sept. 25 26.
Stella—Sept. 30.
Tweed—Oct. 2, 3.
Wolfe Island—Sept. 17, 18.
Warkworth—Oct. 2, 3.

ADVERTISING RATES.

The rate for Classified Advertisements is one cent a word per first insertion; subsequent insertions half a cent per word. Minimum number of words ten. Special terms for 5,000 words or over.

Advertisements marked "till forbidden" are accepted on the understanding that they will be published until a written or verbal notice to stop them is received.

BIRTH, MARRIAGE, DEATH, MEMORIAL NOTICES AND CARDS OF THANKS, 50c per insertion in Daily and Weekly, not exceeding one inch space. All words over the inch, one cent each.

CHURCH ANNOUNCEMENTS.
Sunday Services Announcement in Saturday daily (no reference to concerts allowed) $5 per year per inch. Extra space in this column for the purpose stated, 15c per inch. Regular rates apply for other than Sunday services.

GET YOUR PRINTING DONE at The Review office. Lowest price and best service.

IF YOU WANT TO BUY ANYthing at a bargain price, let the people know through The Review columns. You're sure to get it.

IF YOU HAVE ANYTHING to sell, advertise in The Review. A sure sale.

FEMALE HELP WANTED.

LADIES WANTED, TO DO plain and light sewing at home, whole or spare time, good pay; work sent any distance; charges paid. Send stamps for particulars to the National Manufacturing Co., Montreal.

WANTED — GIRLS. APPLY at Gate House, Canadian General Electric Co., Ltd.

YOUNG WOMAN OR GIRL for general housework. Apply Review office for address.

WANTED.

SALESMEN (NOW CALLING on automobile and accessories dealers) to sell All-Seasons Tops on commission basis. Selling season September to February. An attractive proposition for high-class salesmen. Write to Carriage Factories, Limited, Orillia, Ontario.

AGENTS WANTED.

BY CANADIANS FOR CANAdians. "Canada's Sons in the World War," by Col. George Nasmith. Introduction by General Sir Arthur Currie. Only satisfactory Canadian book. Profusely illustrated. Wonderful opportunity for money making for returned soldiers and others, men or women. Representatives are having marvelous success. Special terms; freight paid; credit given; exclusive territory; outfit free. Winston Co., Toronto.

LOST.

LOST—ON ROAD BETWEEN Crowe's Landing and Peterborough, via Lakefield, black leather club bag. Finder please notify Review office and receive reward.

FOUND.

FOUND ON SIMCOE STREET, near Park, black enameled frame for holding glass in headlight on motor car. Owner can have same by applying at Review and paying for this notice.

FOR SALE.

FARM FOR SALE.

A first-class farm for sale; four miles from city. Apply Review for address.

THE FOLLOWING CAN BE seen and bought cheaply at 207 Simcoe street: Excavating tools, picks, shovels, wheel-barrows, scrapers, plough, etc., dump cart and harness, stone boat, drop bottom wagons, gravel wagon with 1¾-yard box, contractor's hoisting winch, tackle, etc., whiffletrees, neckyokes, etc., also a lot of window and door frames, handy for alterations and repairs. All in good shape.
Wm. Lytle Cartage Co.

A BRICK HOUSE ON McGILL street; electric light and water in the house. For particulars apply to Review office.

FOR SALE—C. G. E. ¼ H.P. 200 vol. 2 phase 60 cycles motor. Apply at Review office.

LEGAL CARDS.

HALL & HALL
Barristers and Solicitors
Money to Loan at Lowest Rates.
Telephone 69. 116 Hunter St.

GORDON & O'BRIEN
Barristers, Solicitors and Notaries.
Money to Loan at Lowest Rates.
Telephone 219.
G. N. GORDON J. A. O'BRIEN

C. R. WIDDIFIELD, B.A.
Barrister, Etc.
and Solicitor for the City of Peterborough. Bank of Commerce Building. Phone 550.

MOORE & WEARING
Barristers and Solicitors
MONEY TO LOAN.
308 Water St. Opposite Post Office

JAMES FORDYCE STRICKLAND
Barrister, Solicitor, Notary Public
MONEY TO LOAN.
305 Water Street Peterborough
PHONE 151.

S. T. MEDD
Barrister, Solicitor, Notary
Office over Dominion Bank
Cor. Simcoe & George Sts.
Telephone No. 23
Private funds to loan at current rates upon easy terms

PECK, KERR & McELDERRY
Barristers, Solicitors, Notaries, 419 Water street, Peterborough. Money to loan at lowest current rates of interest. Easy terms of repayment.
K. A. Peck. F. D. Kerr.
V. J. McElderry

J. EDMUND L. GOODWILL
Barrister, Solicitor, Notary Public, Etc. Office 375 Water St. Phone 101
Successor to Roger, Hennel & Goodwill
MONEY TO LOAN at current rates upon easy terms

A. E. DIXON
Barrister, Solicitor, etc.
Offices corner Hunter & George Sts. Entrance next Madill's Drug Store.

O'CONNELL & CORKERY
Barristers, Solicitors, Notaries Public etc. Money to Loan on Easy Terms of Payment
D. O'Connell, J. R. Corkery.
130½ Hunter St Peterborough.
Telephone 344

R. R. HALL
Barrister, Solicitor, etc.
Peterborough, Ont., office corner Hunter and Water Sts., over Canadian Bank of Commerce. Trust funds to loan on easy terms of payment.

MEDICAL CARDS.

L.R.C.P. E. HARVEY
Silver Medalist, University of Toronto
Special attention to diseases of Women and Children
Office: 213 Brock Street
Hours: 1.30 to 5 p.m., 7 to 8 p.m.
Phone 123.

DR. BUCHANAN
F.R.S.C., Edin., M.R.C.S., Eng., L.R.C.P., Lon. Eye, Ear, Nose & Throat Specialist Hours: 9-11 a.m., 2-4 and 7-8 p.m. Phone 519. Office corner Water and Murray streets

DENTISTRY.

DR. W. N. HAYES
has opened a Dental practice in the Fairlie Building, George street.
Phone 652 for appointments.

OSTEOPATHY.

DRS. WALMSLEY & SETTLE
Osteopath Physicians
Office over Crown Building, Hunter and Water Streets. Entrance 124 Hunter street. Office hours: 9 to 12 a.m., 2 to 5 p.m. Evenings by appointment. Office Phone 649.

MONEY TO LOAN.

There has been placed in our hands considerable trust funds to loan at 6½ per cent. on first-class real estate property.
GORDON & O'BRIEN
Phone 219. 395 George St.

Piano Tuning
Phone 595
The GREENE MUSIC Co.

HARD COAL
EGG, STOVE,
NUT, PEA
H. B. TAYLOR & SON
160 AYLMER ST.
Phone 200

CONDUCTOR PAID OUT HUNDREDS

NOTHING HELPED HIM TILL HE TOOK TANLAC—GAINS TWENTY-TWO POUNDS

"I have not only gotten rid of one of the worst cases of stomach trouble a man ever had, but I have also gained twenty-two pounds in weight besides, and you may know by that what I think of Tanlac," said Robert Surges of 663 Herman street, Buelington, [Wisconsin, in a conversation with a special Tanlac representative at the Central Drug Store in Milwaukee, recently.

Mr. Surges, who is running as conductor on the East Troy and Burlington Electric Line, between Milwaukee and Burlington, had been with his company for many years.

"For the past thirteen years, that is until Tanlac straightened me up," he continued, "my stomach had been bloating all up with gas and many a night I have been up walking the floor on account of the misery caused by it. Last winter I was in such a bad shape and so run down that it took me twenty minutes after leaving my run to walk home, a distance of four blocks. I was dreadfully short winded and the gas pressure on my heart was frightful. I was very bilious and had frequent dizzy spells and terrible headaches. I couldn't sleep, was afraid to eat, and had dropped down fifty pounds in weight and hardly had energy and strength to ring up the fares on my car.

"I have been treated by specialists, took all sorts of medicines, and paid out hundreds of dollars trying to get something to set me right but nothing seemed to reach my trouble until I got hold of Tanlac, and this medicine has proven to be just what I have needed so long. I am never troubled with gas on my stomach pains, shortness of breath or any other bad feelings after meals now, and I can sit down to the table and eat just anything and enjoy it. I sleep good and sound every night and have gotten so strong and well that my work is no trouble to me any more. I am just like a new man and have heard lots of people who ride my car remark about the wonderful improvement. Tanlac is great and I have the best reasons for praising it."

Tanlac is sold in Peterborough by W. D. Warne Drug Co. Ltd., in Havelock by A. C. Denike, in Lakefield by Tanner Drug Co. Ltd., in Fowlers' Corners by W. A. Hunter, in Gelert by A. J. Scott, in Westwood by G. Pringle & Son.

BARBER SHOP FOR WOMEN

New York's first barber shop for women has been opened at Hotel Majestic. It is under the management of Mme. Blanche Tredeaux. The bobbed hair of the residents of Greenwich village caused jealous pangs among the inhabitants of the less bohemian sections of the city. Hence the shop.

DANGER SIGNALS ON ROADS IN ONT

URGED IN TORONTO BY ONTARIO MUNICIPAL ASSOCIATION.

Toronto, Aug. 31.—The twenty-first annual convention of the Ontario Municipal Association, which has been in session at the City Hall for the past three days, was brought to a close yesterday. The chief item of interest was the report of the committee on resolutions. Twenty-six resolutions were submitted of which twenty-one were carried. Those adopted involved several important municipal questions, one of which was to the effect that the Legislature of Ontario and the Department of Highways be requested to enact legislation to provide for the standardization and erection of danger signals on roads and highways throughout the Province. Another resolution called for the placing of gongs at railways crossings. Other resolutions were:

"That rural municipalities be granted the power now enjoyed by urban municipalities regarding the opening of sand and gravel pits.

"That the tax rate for road construction and maintenance on urban municipalities be at the same rate as rural municipalities.

"That the Assessment Act be so amended as to exempt income from personal earnings of non-householders, and be the same as that in urban municipalities.

"That the Provincial authorities provide for an optional system of municipal government.

"For the appointment of a Provincial Assessor.

"That the Registry and Land Title Act be so amended that no deed or title can be registered unless a certificate is signed by the Tax Collector or Treasurer of the Municipality.

"That the Municipal Act be amended that taxes due for business and income may be levied the same year as the assessment is made.

"That all by-laws, plans and specifications providing for the construction of permanent improvements be approved by the Municipal Bureau."

During the morning, Mr. W. A. McLean, Deputy Minister of the Department of Public Highways, was present, and read a paper on "Good Roads."

BILLY SUNDAY TO SPEAK SEPT. 2ND

FAMOUS BASEBALL EVANGELIST WILL ADDRESS TORONTO AUDIENCE ON THAT DATE.

Billy Sunday, the base ball evangelist, plays a return engagement in Toronto on September 2nd in the arena at 2.30 p.m. This prophet of righteousness will unleash his power for two hours next week. He was persuaded to give a couple of days in the "rest time" between campaigns for a flying visit to Toronto. The power which drew him was his admiration for Canada's splendid fighters. However, in speaking of the war in his recent campaign at Winona Lake, he said: "Civilization has been saved many times as you will discover when you peer down the aisle of time, yet some of the great turning points are almost unnoticed. We point to Thermopylae and the three hundred who rolled back the Persian army and saved the day; at Tours, Charles Martel piled up the Mohammendans and heaved them across the Mediterranean never to return, and, to my mind, you need to place another mark after Vimy Ridge where the Canadians not only turned the tide and set the standard of fighting but gave expression to the moralle which spelled utter defeat to the enemy. Fighters? Say! They are the real thing."

Sunday is a human dynamo of tremendous energy. He speaks with violent enthusiasm and the same abandon with which he played base ball. No modern voice has spoken to such great and varied audiences, nor interested so large a following. He speaks more rapidly than any living public man. The words cascade from his lips like the rush of the mighty Niagara. He gives his opinions in sentences that crackle. His words spatter his audience with the rush of machine-gun bullets.

He is absolutely fearless—a perfect hurricane against the evils which afflict society. He knows no middle course. He travels on the single track and, with the goal in view, he is never side tracked, by any petty considerations. He flings his dynamic personality at the mark with the velocity of a siege gun shell. That is why he has become the greatest modern prophet of righteousness.

"What the world supremely needs today in the aftermath of war and reconstruction is vision, spiritual vision. There is absolutely no unrest, no ill, no trouble, which a common sense application of the gospel of Jesus Christ will not settle. Nation to nation peaceful adjustment and harmonious relationship is the gospel," thunders the evangelist. His belief is poured out in a perfect torrent of language. He moves like a flash of lightning. He gives one the impression of being seized by the ideas which surge through him and to which he gives expression. Regardless of one's opinion of Billy Sunday or his methods, this remains true, "Thousands come to scoff, and remain to pray."

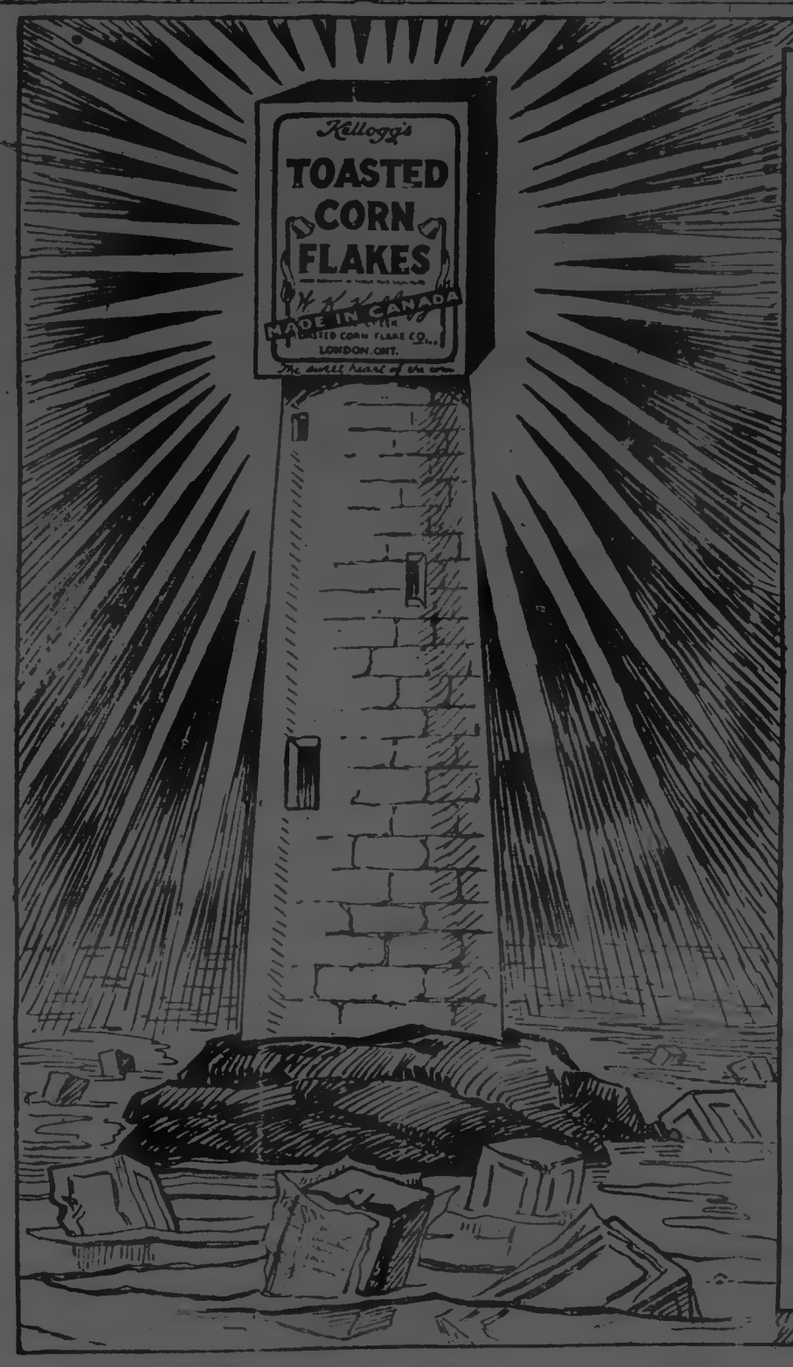
Glass of Hot Water Before Breakfast a Splendid Habit

Open sluices of the system each morning and wash away the poisonous, stagnant matter.

Those of us who are accustomed to feel dull and heavy when we arise, splitting headache, stuffy from a cold, foul tongue, nasty breath, acid stomach, lame back, can, instead, both look and feel as fresh as a daisy always by washing the poisons and toxins from the body with phosphated hot fater each morning.

We should drink, before breakfast, a glass of real hot water with a teaspoonful of limestone phosphate in it to flush from the stomach, liver, kidneys and ten yards of bowels the previous day's indigestible waste, sour bile and poisonous toxins; thus cleansing, sweetening and purifying the entire alimentary tract before putting more food into the stomach.

The action of limestone phosphate and hot water on an empty stomach is wonderfully invigorating. It cleans out all the sour fermentations, gase, waste and acidity and gives one a splendid appetite for breakfast and it is said to be but a little while until the roses begin to appear in the cheeks. A quarter pound of limestone phosphate will cost very little at the drug store, but is sufficient to make anyone who is hotherd with biliousness, constipation, stomach trouble or rheumatism a real enthusiast on the subject of internal sanitation. Try it and you are assured that you will look better and feel better in every way shortly.



LONDON KELLOGG'S
Outshine All Imitations

THE package may be imitated but the flakes inside cannot be equalled.

That is why

The Genuine Original
"MADE IN LONDON"

Kellogg's TOASTED CORN FLAKES
Outshine All Imitations

BE sure the words "Made in Canada" and "London, Ont." are printed in red on the face of every red, white and green package. This is your guarantee of quality unequalled and unvarying.

The Big Package
Only Made in Canada by

The Battle Creek Toasted Corn Flake Company, Limited
HEAD OFFICE AND PLANT
LONDON, ONT.

BABY SHOW WILL BE BIG FEATURE OF THE LABOR DAY CELEBRATION

Mesdames W. R. Morris and R. H. Parsons and Ald. Morrison to Act as Judges—Full Programme For Every Stage of the Holiday.

Monday is Labor Day. Also it is the great Labor holiday, when all the Labor world gives itself over to enjoyment and merry-making. It is a day on which the Labor world all over the continent turns out in force in an endeavor to demonstrate its united strength, and this year bids fair to witness the greatest demonstration of its kind ever staged in this city. There are many more unions in existence and hundreds of recruits have been added to the great army of union workingmen since the last demonstration of this nature, which was held prior to the breaking out of the great war. All Labor asks is consideration from the weather man, and its success is assured. No one need go out of the city on the holiday in order to spend an enjoyable day. There has been provided by the committee in charge interesting events for all. In the morning at 10 o'clock there will be a ball game between Peterborough and Port Hope O. H. A. teams. Both these clubs will put their strongest line-ups in the field. Immediately after dinner, the parade is scheduled to leave Central Park, proceeding to Riverside Park by way of Murray, George, Charlotte, Aylmer and Hunter streets. This parade will be headed by the 57th Regimental Band followed by members of the only ladies' union in the city, that of the Electrical Workers, who will be conveyed in cars. Then will come the members of the Trades and Labor Council, followed by the local unions in the order of their charter dates, the Molders' Union being given first place in respect of their being the oldest charterd body among Labor in this city.

On arrival at Riverside Park, the sports will be run off, and the second ball game of the day, Peterborough versus Port Hope, will be called as soon after the sports as possible.

The Baby Show will be held immediately after the procession of labor men reaches the park. The Trades Council have been fortunate in the selection of judges for this important event, having secured the consent of Mrs. W. R. Morris, Mrs. R. H. Parsons and Alderman Robert Morrison to act in this capacity. It is expected that a number of proud mothers will be seeking the great honor of having their little ones awarded first place. A section of the grand stand will be reserved for this part of the programme.

The list of events is as follows:

Baby Show—Six months and under, and over six month to one year. The prize in each case is $4 in cash. This is a slight change from the program.

Tug-of-War, between local unions, for a silver cup.

Hundred Yards Dash, open—1st prize, order for goods, value $4. 2nd prize, order for goda value $3.

Hundred Yard Dash (Union men only)—Contestants must show their card or button—1st prize, order for goods, value $4; 2nd prize, order for goods, value $3.

Married Ladies' Race—1st prize, order for gods, value $3. 2nd prize, order for goods, value $2.

Young Ladies' Race—1st prize, order for goods, value $3. 2nd prize, order for goods, value $2.

Married Men's Race—1st prize, order for goods, value $3. 2nd prize, order for goods, value $2.

Three-legged Race—Open—Prize: An order for goods to the value of $4 will be divided between the winning pair.

Girls' Race, 12 years and under 16—1st prize, order for goods, value $1.50. 2nd prize, order for goods, value 75c.

Girls' Race, under 12 years—1st prize, order for goods, value $1.50. 2nd prize, order for goods, value 75c.

Boys' Race, 12 years and under 16—1st prize, order for goods, value $1.50. 2nd prize, order for goods, value 75c.

Boys' Race, under 12 years—1st prize, order for goods, value $1.50. 2nd prize, order for goods, value 75c.

In order to be fair to the advertisers who patronized the Labor program, the prize orders will be made on those merchants who are represented in the program.

In the evening, commencing at 8:30 o'clock, the big dance will be held in the Armories, and this event is expected to be a great success. A first-class orchestra will dispense live music, and there will be refreshments served. Also cloak rooms are provided, and those in attendance will find every accommodation. A percentage of the receipts will go to the band fund of the 57th Regiment.

Stay in your own home town and give Labor a hand in making this great holiday the biggest success on record in this city.

WOMEN VOTE IN JERSEY

The King has sanctioned the Jersey Franchise Bill granting a vote to men over 20 and women over 30. Women over 20 may vote at municipal elections.

Would not be Without Zutoo Tablets At Any Cost

Such is the statement of Mr. A. O. Norton, of Boston, the largest Jack Manufacturer in the world. His voluntary testimonial regarding ZUTOO follows:

286 Congress St., Boston, Mass.

"I have been a sufferer from Headache since childhood and have used all, or nearly all the so-called 'cures' on the market. Some months since my attention was called to Zutoo Tablets and I have been using them ever since with the most gratifying results. I find they cure a 'sick' or 'nervous' headache in a few minutes and leave no bad effects. My family use them whenever needed with equally good results. I have frequently given them to friends who were suffering from Headache and they never failed to give quick relief. I always carry Zutoo Tablets in my grip on the road and WOULD NOT BE WITHOUT THEM AT ANY COST."

A. O. NORTON.

25 cents per box—at all dealers

LUNATICS ON DECREASE

Higher wages and the almost total disappearance of unemployment, with the consequent removal of domestic worry, are reason ascribed for the continued decrease in insanity in Scotland. The report for last year shows 17,765 instane persons in Scotland against 18,326 the previous year.

FLOOD OF GERMAN PIANOS

In spite of their war activities the Germans managed to make pianos. A surplus of 40,000 of these instruments is now lying in German factories ready to be dumped into England at one-half the price of the British pianos.

MORE PRACTICAL EDUCATION

Changes to be Made in School System of Quebec

Quebec, Aug. 30.—Important and almost drastic changes in the primary schools system of teaching in Quebec Province are expected at the meeting of the sub-cimmittee of the Catholic branch of the council of public instruction at the Parliament Buildings on Tuesday next. The Hon. G. E. Delage, superintendent of public instruction, will preside. A large number of matters will be eliminated from the schools' programme of studies so that the studying children will get a deeper knowledge of certain matters supposed to be more in accord with the needs of the day

BUY W.S.S. WAR-SAVINGS STAMPS

GET THE COUNTRY GLOW OF HEALTH BY USING MILK

MILK PASTEURIZED AND CLARIFIED puts the glow of health in your cheeks, a sparkle in your eye. It makes children more fit for school and their minds more receptive. To yourself it will import keenness for your work and a real pleasure in life's calls.

FRESH EVERY DAY

Peterborough Milk comes direct from sanitary farms, is bottled by sanitary machines, after all objectionable ingredients have been removed by costly modern methods.

DELIVERED BEFORE BREAKFAST

Guaranteed pure, guaranteed clean, guaranteed safe for the most delicate of constitutions—order it a-plenty.

PETERBORO MILK PRODUCTS LTD.

377 AYLMER ST. Phone 650

NOW is the time to consider the purchase of Electrical Fixtures:—

JUST ARRIVED

A complete new line of Electrical Fixtures and Table Lamps, All Latest Designs, Your inspection respectfully invited.

We also carry a complete and Up-to-the-minute Stock of Automobile Accessories, and are Agents for K. & S. Tires. The highest guaranteed Tire in the whole Universe

GRANT & THORPE

Telephone 798

WILLARD SERVICE STATION—418 GEORGE ST. PETERBORO

SERVICES IN THE LOCAL CHURCHES TO-MORROW

ST. JOHN'S ANGLICAN
Major the Rev. Canon Davidson, Rector
Rectory: Corner of Brock and Sheridan streets.
12th Sunday After Trinity
8.30 Holy Communion.
11 a.m.—Morning prayer and sermon.
7.00 p.m.—Evening Prayer (Sung) and Sermon.
Richard J. Devey, Organist and Choirmaster.
Mr. George H. King will preside at the organ.
Seats Free. Strangers Welcome

ALL SAINTS' CHURCH
Rubidge and Sherbrooke
RECTOR:—REV. R. B. GROBB, M.A.
10 a.m. Sunday School and Bible Classes.
11 a.m.—Morning prayer.
7 p.m.—Evening service

ST. LUKE'S CHURCH
Rogers Street
Ashburnham—East City
Rev. W. H. White, M.A., Rector
Rectory 344 Rogers Street
11th Sunday After Trinity
8 a.m.—Holy Communion.
10 a.m.—Sunday School.
11 a.m.—Matins and Sermon.
7 p.m.—Evensong and Sermon.
The Rev. Professor Cosgrave will officiate.

ST. GEORGE'S CHURCH
Rev. Jas. Price, Rector
10 a.m.—Sunday School.
11 a.m.—Matins and sermon.
7 p.m.—Evensong and sermon.
Wednesday, Sept. 17 — Harvest Thanksgiving service. Preacher The Rev. Dr. Ribourg of St. Albans' Cathedral, Toronto.
Thursday, 7 p.m.—Ladies' Guild.
Thursday, 8 p.m.—Choir practice.
Friday, 7.30—Boy Scouts
Organist—Miss Beatrice Blake.

ST. ALBAN'S, BROWNTON
Brownton
(Adjoining Mays' School House)
3 p.m.—Sunday School
7 p.m.—Evening Service and Sermon.
Wednesday 7.30—Boy Scouts
Organist—Miss Toone.

ST. PETER'S ROMAN CATHOLIC
Low Mass, 8 a.m.
High Mass, 10.30 a.m.
Vespers, 7 p.m., with sermon.

ST. ANDREW'S PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH
Corner of Rubidge and Brock Streets
Rev. James Rollins, B.A., Minister
Residence—St. Andrew's Manse.
439 Rubidge street.
Usual services with Trinity Methodist Church.
Service 11 a.m. in St. Andrew's Church. 7 p.m. in Trinity Church.
Rev. James Rollins will preach at both services.
Mrs King, soloist.

SINCE 1870
SHILOH
30 DROPS STOPS COUGHS

ST. PAUL'S PRESBYTERIAN
Rev. Robert Pogue, Minister
10 a.m.—Sunday school.
11 a.m.—Morning service.
The Minister will preach
The Minister will preach
Solo—The Outcast (Inde)—Miss Hinchliffe.
7 p.m.—Evening service.
Mr. Frank Tattersall will preside at the organ at both services.

KNOX CHURCH, PRESBYTERIAN
Rev. J. A. MacKenzie, B.D., Minister
9.45 a.m.—Sunday School.
11 a.m.—Morning service.
Minister will preach.
7 p.m.—Evening service.
Minister will preach.
Good music at all services.
8 p.m., Wednesday—Prayer meeting.
Geo Kenyon, "L. Mus." Organist and Choirmaster.
Seats Free. Strangers Welcome

MURRAY ST. BAPTIST CHURCH
Rev. J. R. Webb, Pastor
Residence—544 Aylmer Street
Sunday School 10 a.m.—for three summer months.
11 a.m.—Morning Service.
7 p.m.—Evening service.
The pastor will preach.

PARK STREET BAPTIST
Rev. Dougald Brown, Pastor
255 Reid Street
Sunday, Aug. 31st, 1919
Joseph Wearing, esq., M.A., will preach morning and evening.
9.45 a.m.—Sunday school.
11 a.m.—Morning service.
7 p.m.—Evening Service.

GEORGE STREET METHODIST
Rev. A. J. Thomas, M.A., B.D., Pastor
11 a.m.—Combination Church and Sunday School Service.
7 p.m.—Evening service.
Subject—Ideals.
Rev. B. Greatrix will occupy the pulpit at both services.

TRINITY METHODIST CHURCH
Rev. F. E. Malott, Pastor
Parsonage 802 Reid St.
Phone 705
Union services with St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church.
Morning Service—St. Andrews' Church.
Evening Service—Trinity Church
Rev. James Rollins will preach at both services.
All are welcome.

MARK STREET METHODIST
Rev. G. E. Ross, Pastor.
10 a.m.—Class Meeting and Junior League.
10 a.m.—Sunday School and Bible Bible Class.
11 a.m.—Morning service.
7 p.m.—Evening service.
Organist and Directress, Miss E. Kemp.

ST. JAMES' METHODIST
Corner Romaine and Aylmer Streets.
Rev. F. L. Chapman, pastor
10 a.m.—Sunday School and Bible Classes.
11 a.m.—Morning Service.
7 p.m.—Evening Service.
Monday—Young People's Meeting.
Wednesday, 8 p.m.—prayer meeting.
Thursday—Choir practice.
Friday—Boy Scouts.
A. Nicholls, organist and choirmaster.
Cordial invitation is extended to all.

SALVATION ARMY TEMPLE
Simcoe Street
Adjutant and Mrs. Bunton in charge
515 King St. Phone 440w
7 a.m.—Knee drill
11 a.m.—Holiness Meeting.
2 p.m.—Sunday School and Bible Classes.
Those who do not attend any other Sunday School are cordially invited.
3.15 p.m.—Praise Service in Victoria Park.
6.15 p.m.—Open air Hunter and George.
8 p.m.—Salvation meeting.

SALVATION ARMY, BROWNTON
Chamberlain street
Lieut. Chivers in charge.
Saturday meeting, 8 p.m.
Sunday, Kneedrill, 7 a.m.
Holiness meeting, 11 a.m.
Sunday School, 2.30 p.m.
Salvation meeting, 7 p.m.
Monday 8 p.m.
Friday, 7.30 p.m.—Guard Practice

GOSPEL HALL
Corner George and Brock Streets
10 a.m.—Sunday School.
Wednesday, 8 p.m.—Prayer meeting.
A hearty welcome to all.

ASSEMBLY HALL
First Floor Old Opera House Building, George Street
Meetings on Lord's Day:—
10 a.m.—Sunday School.
11 a.m.—Breaking of Bread
A hearty welcome to all.
"Christ died for the ungodly."

BETHANY TABERNACLE
459 George Street
Pastor, Rev. A. J. Doner, 535 Aylmer Street
10 a.m.—Sunday School.
Pastor Doner, Supt.
11 a.m.—Preaching
7 p.m.—Evening Service.
Thursday 8 p.m.—Prayer meeting

LAKEFIELD METHODIST CHURCH
Major Rev. Hough A. Frost, B.A., B.D., Pastor
Mr. Waldon, organist and choirleader.
10 a.m.—Sunday School.
11 a.m.—Morning service.
8 p.m. Evening Service.
Monday, 8 p.m.—Epworth League
Saturday, 8 p.m.—Choir practice
A cordial invitation is extended to all these services

PROVIDE FOR YOUR OLD AGE.

The first years of man must make provision for the last. Such is impossible if your vision is defective.

Keep your earning power right up to the highest standard you possibly can by letting Dr. Fowler care for your eyesight. If the eyes need glasses, his "PEBLO" Lenses give guaranteed service that cannot be excelled.

CONSULTATION FREE.

EYESIGHT SPECIALIST A. A. FOWLER DOCTOR OF OPTICS
Phm. B. Toronto University.
HAS FITTED 30,000 SATISFIED WEARERS OF PEBLO GLASSES
Most Up-to-date Sanitary Optical Parlors. With Nugent Drug Co.

TO THE VOTERS OF THE CITY OF PETERBOROUGH

Notice is hereby given that the Voters' Lists for the City of Peterborough, have been printed, and that the Lists for the various areas described below, have been deposited at the addresses indicated, where they are held open for inspection by the public.

Only the lists for the area described will be found at the address given for that area. If you wish to find if your name is on the list, read the descriptions below till you find the area in which you live; then go to the address indicated, where you will find the lists for that area, and also forms and rules for appealing, if an appeal is necessary. Information cannot be obtained by telephone from these various addresses; it would interfere too much with the private business of those persons with whom the lists have been deposited, and its accuracy could not be guaranteed. The only way to make sure that your name is on the list is to make a personal inspection of same.

The city has been divided into the following areas:

1.—All of the South Ward south of the centre of Lake Street and east centre of Park Street.

Voters' List at W. G. Freeburn's store, 168 Lock Street

2.—All of South Ward, south of centre of Albert Street and the southern limits of Lots 31 and 32, Plan 30, Peterborough, and west of centre of Park Street.

Voters' List at Earnest Benson's store, 100 Park Street south.

3.—All of the South Ward, south of centre of Townsend Street, east centre of Rubidge Street and Park Street between Rink and Lake streets and north of centre of Lake Street.

Voters' List at Halpin's store, 37-39 George street.

4.—All of South Ward south centre Sherbrooke Street, east centre Rubidge and north of centre of Townsend.

Voters' List at Co-operative Store, 200 Rubidge Street.

5.—All of South Ward, north of centre of Albert and Lots 31 and 42, Plan 30, City west of centre of Rubidge and north of centre of Townsend and south centre of Sherbrooke

Voters' Lists at James Garside's house, 490 Reid Street

6.—All of Centre Ward, north centre of Sherbrooke, east centre of Water, and south centre of McDonell

6.—All of Centre Ward, north centre of Brock, between Water and Chambers, south centre of Hunter between Chambers and Bethune, east centre Bethune and west centre of Water.

Voters' Lists at Paskin's grocery store, 233 Hunter Street.

9.—All of Centre Ward, west of centre of Water Street between centres McDonell and Brock and north centre of Hunter between Chambers and centre Bethune and east centre Bethune.

Voters' List at Goohen's store, 481 Aylmer street.

10.—All of West Ward, north centre of Sherbrooke, south centre of King and west centre Bethune.

Voters' Lists at Matthews' store, corner Park and Sherbrook.

11.—All of West Ward, south centre of Hunter, east centre of Park, north centre of King and west centre Bethune.

Voters' List at Kemp's store, corner Charlotte and Downie.

12.—All of West Ward, west centre of Park, south centre Hunter and Homewood and north centre of King.

Voters' List at Lillico's grocery, 356 Charlotte Street.

13.—All of West Ward, north centre Hunter, east centre Park, south centre McDonell and west centre Bethune.

Voters' List at Routley's shop, corner Brock and Park.

14.—All of West Ward, west centre Park, south centre McDonell and north centre of Hunter and Homewood.

Voters' List at J. J. Lynch's shop, corner Park and Elm.

15.—All of North Ward, south centre of Smith, east centre of George and north centre of McDonnel.

Voters' List at William Petries' shop, corner Smith and Water.

16.—All of North Ward, south of the centre of Dublin, west centre George, north centre McDonnel and east centre Stewart.

Voters' List at Dawson Bros. store, corner London and George.

17.—All of North Ward, north centre McDonnel, west centre of Stewart.

Voters' List at Kennedy's grocery, 332 McDonnel Street.

18.—All of the North Ward, south centre of Smith, east centre of Stewart, north centre of Dublin and west centre George.

Voters' List at Albert Tennyson's shop, corner George and Edinburgh.

19.—All of North Ward, east centre of Stewart and north centre Smith.

Voters' List at Jordan Bros. grocer house, 99 Argyle Street.

20.—All of East Ward, west centre of Mark Street, south centre of Douro.

Voters' List at Sulivan's grocery store, 57 Hunter Street east.

21.—All of East Ward, east centre Mark, south centre of Douro and division line between Blocks U and V.

Voters' List at T. I. Hill's shop, 127 Hunter Street east.

22.—All of East Ward, north of centre of Douro and division line between Blocks U and V.

Voters' List at D. Rice's shop, 550 Concession Street.

Appeals in the forms prescribed by statute must be filed with the Revising Officers' Clerk on or before Monday, the 8th day of September, 1919. The Revising Officer's clerks are as follows: For areas numbered 1, 2, 3, 4 and 5 above—W. F. Johnston, 435 George Street; for areas numbered 6, 7, 8, 9, 20, 21 and 22 above—Wilfred F. Huycke, Engleburne Avenue, and for areas numbered 10, 11, 12, 13, 14, 15, 16, 17, 18 and 19 above—Fred Morrow, 469 Water Street.

If an appeal is necessary it is advisable to use the forms provided by the Board, and to carefully observe the rules governing the entering and hearing of appeals. Forms of the appeal and copies of the rules may be obtained at any of the above addresses.

Dated at Peterborough, this 28th day of August, 1919.

E. C. S. HUYCKE,
Chairman of the Voters' Registration Board.

W.S.S.

DURING the last few years people have had to be content with many lines of goods that were inferior in quality to those procurable before the war.

To-day, people are demanding the better grades again. Those who from a mistaken idea of economy tried to be satisfied with common teas are coming back to Red Rose Tea. They realize that they cannot be satisfied with anything less than Red Rose Quality.

And Red Rose probably will cost them no more than common tea, because Red Rose not only tastes better—it goes farther.

Consisting chiefly of Assam teas—the richest and strongest grown—three teaspoonfuls of Red Rose goes as far as five of ordinary tea. A brewing will prove it.

Sold only in sealed packages.

T. H. ESTABROOKS CO., LIMITED
St. John, Montreal, Toronto, Winnipeg, Calgary, Edmonton, St. John's, Nfld., Portland, Maine

167

Man a man looks insignificant when his wife is with him.

A handful of common sense is worth a bushel of book learning.

Many lasting friendships are due to the distance between them.

As the chip of the old block is inclined so the twig is bent.

The oftener a man is sold the cheaper he feels.

Habits are like porous plasters, easy to acquire and hard to get rid

An old bachelor says being possessed is nine points of the law with women.

DOUBLE BILL AT GRAND MONDAY

TWO FEATURES AT EVERY PERFORMANCE THIS THEATRES POLICY.

In keeping with the well known policy that the management of the Grand have established of double features at every performance, for the same price of admission, a special double feature programme has been arranged for Labor Day, Monday, and Tuesday. The favorite little star Mae Marsh will be seen in the World's Greatest Racing Story, "The Racing Strain," a beautiful romance of the Blue Grass, teeming over with added feature etaoishrdluetaoinhaoi thrilling scenes and situations.

As an added feature Exquisite Emmy Whelan will be seen in the latest Vihular in five acts "The Belle of the Season," produced by the Metro Co'y, with the screen best dressed actress Emmy Welben as its star. The play is an original adaptation of an original poem by Ellar Vilhular Wilcox. It is an entirely different sort of play from the usual run and is of vital interest just at this time. Suitable music will be rendered by the Grand Symphony Orchestra, and seats for all evening performances can be reserved by telephone, and same will be held until 8 p.m. evening of performance. Prices matinee 10-15c Evening, 15-25c

Our motto—Service First.

100 FEET BY 20 FEET

LARGE ROOM OR HALL TO LET

This space is not sub-divided and those needing Living Rooms need not Apply. It consists of the former G.W.V.A. Quarters, over

MONCUR DRUG STORE

APPLY C. M. Moncur, 407 George Street

ONTARIO ELECTION ACTS 1918 and 1919

NOTICE OF SITTINGS OF REVISING OFFICERS

Electoral District of West Peterborough, City of Peterborough

To Wit:

Take notice that the lists of voters for polling subdivisions Numbers 1 to 22, both inclusive, comprising the City of Peterborough, have been prepared by the enumerators and have been delivered to the Clerk of this Board by the Chief Enumerator and Returning Officer, and that GEORGE W. HATTON, of the City of Peterborough, has been appointed Revising Officer for Polling Subdivisions Numbers 1, 2, 3, 4 and 5 (South Ward of City); EDWARD C. S. HUYCKE, Revising Officer for Polling Subdivisions 6, 7, 8, and 9, and 20 and 21 (East and Centre Wards of City) and GEORGE J. SHERRY, Revising Officer for Polling Subdivisions 10, 11, 12, 13, 14, 15, 16, 17, 18 and 19, (West and North Wards of City) to hear complaints and appeals as to the lists of voters aforesaid.

And further take notice that the sittings of the said several Revising Officers will take place as to the South Ward (Nos 1, 2, 3, 4, and 5) above, at the County Council Chamber in the Court House, in the City of Peterborough, as to the Centre and East Wards (No 6, 7, 8, 9 and 21 and 22 above) in the Judges' Chambers in the said Court House and as to the West and North Wards (Nos 10, 11, 12, 13, 14, 15, 16, 17, 18 and 19 above) in the Court Room in the said Court House, on SATURDAY the THIRTEENTH day of September, 1919.

Each sittings will commence at 10 o'clock in the forenoon and will continue until the appeals fixed for the day have been disposed of.

And further take notice that any voter who desires to complain that the name of any persons entitled to be entered on any of the said lists have been omitted from same, or that the names of persons who are not entitled to be voters, have been entered thereon, may on or before MONDAY, the EIGHTH DAY OF SEPTEMBER, 1919, apply, complain of or appeal to have his own name or the name of any other person, corrected in, entered on, or removed from, the lists prepared under the Ontario Elections Acts, 1918 and 1919.

And further take notice that such appeals must be by notice in writing in the prescribed form, signed by the complainant in duplicate and given to the clerk of the proper revising officer, or left for said Clerk at his residence or place of business on or before the said date. The clerk to Mr. Geo. W. Hatton is W. F. Johnston, place of business, 435 George St., residence, 310 McDonnel St.; the Clerk to Mr. E. C. S. Huycke is Wilfred Huycke, Residence, Engleburn Ave., and the Clerk to Mr. Geo. J. Sherry, Mr. Fred Morrow, residence, 469 Water St., business address, Registry Office, all in Peterborough.

Dated at Peterborough, this 29th day of August, 1919.

E. C. S. HUYCKE,
Chairman of the Voters' Registration Board, for the County of Peterborough

TOO LATE FOR CLASSIFICATION

LOST — FRIDAY AFTERNOON between Hunter street and Hall's store, on George street, small purse containing small sum of money and samples. Kindly leave at this newspaper office. Reward.

GRAND

TO-DAY
FRANCIS X. BUSHMAN
AND BEVERLY BAYNE
IN
"OUTLAW"
VOD-O-VIL MOVIES
CONSTANCE TALMADGE
— "WHO CARES"

MONDAY - TUESDAY - TWICE DAILY 2.30-8 p.m.
SPECIAL HOLIDAY PROGRAMME
15 REELS OF THE BEST PICTURES---DOUBLE FEATURES 2 in 1
MAE MARSH in "The Racing Strain"
The World's Greatest Racing Play---Teeming With Thrilling Events
THRILLS! THROBS! SIGHS! SOBS!
CHARLIE CHAPLIN in "THE MASHER"
PRICES REMAIN THE SAME 10c MATINEE 2.30 15c---15c EVENINGS 8 p.m. 25c

ONE NIGHT ONLY WEDNESDAY
THE SMASHING, CRASHING, RED-BLOODED SCENIC SPEC THAT STOOD 'EM UP FOR
Two Years Lyceum Theatre London, Eng.
One Year Australia, South Africa and New Zealand.
200 Nights Park Theatre New York.
NOT A MOVING PICTURE
7 DAYS' LEAVE
NOT A MOVING PICTURE
OVERSEAS ROMANCE OF LOVE AND VALOUR REPLETE WITH THRILLS AND LAUGHS, BUT ABSOLUTELY FREE FROM WAR HORRORS AND TRENCH SCENES
Prices:—1.50, 1.00, 75, 50, 25 Seats on Sale Monday

THEATRICAL

"Give me ranch chow every time"
Thos. H. Ince presents Wm S. HART in "Branding Broadway"
An ARTCRAFT Picture
appearing next week at the Allen Theatre in "Branding Broadway"

"HOUSE OF COMFORT AND PICTURES THAT EXCEL" SLOGAN OF THE ALLEN'S

Local Manager, Morris Rosenthal, Promises This Policy Will Prevail.

The theatrical career of Jule and J. J. Allen, heads of the Allen Theatrical Company who will open a theatre in this city on Monday, is one of extraordinary success and rapid rise to fame. A little over 10 years ago they opened a small theatre in the city of Brantford. Their theatrical genius and inexhaustible ambition has placed them today not only at the head of the company, but the sole owners of 85 theatres in Canada and the United States. They hope to have within the next few months 100 theatres operating under their direction. They have in operation seven theatres in the city of Toronto, two in London, one in Hamilton, two in Kitchener, one in Windsor, Cobourg, Ottawa, Brandon, Calgary, Moose Jaw, Swift Current, two in Regina, three in Winnipeg, three in Montreal and two in Quebec. They have under construction three in Toronto and one in Detroit, Cleveland, Montreal, Winnipeg, London, Halifax, Vancouver and this city.

They compete with such famous theatrical companies as the United Booking Office of Keith and Proctor, Pantageon circuit, Loew's circuit, Western vaudeville and a great many other large independent houses such as the Regent of Toronto.

Through all their success the Allen's have according to their friends avoided the usual egotism of the successful man, but have retained a friendly sociable disposition. They show an equable policy to their employes and whenever possible employ only union men. They have never had the slightest trouble with their or with labor.

The whole circuit is under the musical supervision of the famous Tullio Romanelli, who was here days ago to train and instal chestra in the local Allen which sures good music for the people of Peterborough.

Mr. Morris Rosenthal, manager of the local theatre is a man of experience in vaudeville in New York city and other parts of the United States, and also as booking agent [illegible]

At the Grand, Monday and Tuesday

LARGE MARKET THIS MORNING

Prices Show Little Variation Farmers Take Advantage of Slack Season.

[illegible] farmers' market was crowded this morning. The farmers' busies[illegible] is practically over and large numbers of them are taking the advantage of coming to market.

Produce sold at the following prices:

Butter, lb.	.52
Eggs, lb.	.40
Chickens, lb.	.35
Peaches, basket	1.75
Pears, baskets	1.35
Tomatoes, basket	.75

[illegible] spends half the time [illegible] parking [illegible]

A man's opinions have more or [illegible] with his wife—usually [illegible]

There are moments in the life of every married man when he wishes he didn't.

THE GREAT GAMBLE
What is it? OIL, STOCKS or GOLD

SEVEN KEYS TO BALDPATE

BY EARL DERR BIGGERS

Copyright, 1913, by the Bobbs-Merrill Company

He went into the hall with the idea of releasing the unlucky haberdasher, but from the office rose the voices of the mayor, Max and Blaud himself. Peace evidently had been declared between them. Mr. Magee returned to No 7, locked all the windows, placed the much sought package beneath his pillow and after a half hour of puzzling and tossing fell asleep.

CHAPTER XII.

The Cold Gray Dawn.

IT was still quite dark when he awoke with a start. In the blackness he could make out a figure standing by the side of his bed. He put his hand quickly beneath his pillow—the package was still there.

"What do you want?" he asked, sitting up in bed.

For answer the intruder sprang through the door and disappeared in the darkness of the outer room. Mr. Magee followed. One of his windows slammed back and forth in the wind. Slipping on a dressing gown and lighting a candle, he made an investigation. The glass above the lock had been broken. Outside, in the snow on the balcony, were recent footprints.

Sleepily, Mr. Magee procured the precious package and put it in the pocket of his gown. Then drawing on his shoes he added a greatcoat to his equipment, took a candle and went out on to the balcony.

Mr Magee followed the footprints along the east side of the inn to the corner, then along the more sheltered rear and finally to the west side. On the west was a rather unlovely annex to the main building, which increasing patronage had made necessary. Mr. Magee made his way to the door of the annex. It was locked. But as he turned away he heard voices on the other side.

Mr Magee had barely enough time to extinguish his candle and slip into the shadows of the corner. The door of the annex opened. A man stepped out into the passageway. He stood there. The light from a candle held by some one in the doorway behind Mr. Magee could not see fell full upon his face—the bespectacled, wise face of Professor Thaddeus Bolton.

"Better luck next time," said the professor.

"Keep an eye on him," said the voice from inside. "If he tries to leave the inn there'll be a big row. We must be in on it—and win."

"I imagine," said Professor Bolton, smiling his academic smile, "that the inmates of Baldpate will make tomorrow a rather interesting day for him."

"It will be an interesting day for every one," answered the voice.

"If I should manage to secure the package by any chance," the professor went on, "I shall undoubtedly need your help in getting away with it. Let us arrange a signal. Should a window of my room be open at any time tomorrow you will know the money is in my hands."

"Very good," replied the other. "Good night—and good luck."

The old man moved off down the passageway.

After him crept Mr. Magee. He followed the professor to the east balcony and saw him pause at the open window of No. 7. There the old man looked slyly about, as though in doubt. He peered into the room and one foot was across the sill when Mr. Magee came up and touched him on the arm.

Professor Bolton leaped in evident fright out upon the balcony.

"It's—it's a wonderful night," he said. "I was out for a little walk on the balcony enjoying it. Seeing your open window I was afraid"—

"The night you speak so highly of," replied Mr. Magee, "is at your left. You have lost your way. Good night, professor."

He stepped inside and closed the window. Then he pulled down the curtains in both rooms of his suit and spent some time exploring. Finally he paused before the fireplace, and with the aid of a knife unloosed a brick. Under this he placed the package of money, removing the traces of his act as best he could.

"They can't play without me—I've got the ball," he repeated, with a smile. And, safe in this thought, he closed his eyes and slumbered.

The gayest knight must have a morning after. Mr. Magee awakened to his to find suit 7 wrapped again in its favorite polar atmosphere. Filling the door leading to the outer room, he beheld the cause of his awakening—the mayor of Benton. Mr. Cargan regarded him with the cold steely eye of a Disraeli in action, but when he spoke he opened the jaws of a cocktail mixer.

"Well, young fellow," he remarked, "it seems to me it was time you got up and faced the responsibilities of the day. First of which, I may mention, is a little talk with me."

He stepped into the room, and through the doorway he vacated Mr. Max came slinking. The unlovely face of the foe of suspicion was badly bruised, and he looked upon the world with no cheerful eye.

"You used us pretty rough last night in the snow," Cargan went on. "That's why I ain't disposed to go in for kid gloves and diplomacy this morning. It's my experience that when you're dealing with a man who's got the good old Irish name of Magee it's best to hit first and debate afterward."

"I—I used you roughly, Mr. Cargan?" said Magee.

"No debate, mind you," protested the mayor. "Lou and me are making this morning call to inquire after a little package that went astray somewhere last night. There's two courses open to you—hand over the package or let us take it. I'll give you a tip—the first is the best. If we have to take it we might get real rough in our actions."

Mr. Max slipped closer to the bed, an ugly look on his face. The mayor glared fixedly into Magee's eyes. The knight who fought for fair ladies in the snow lay on his pillow and considered briefly.

"I get what I go after," remarked Cargan emphatically.

"Yes," sparred Magee, "but the real point is keeping what you get after you're gone after it. You didn't make much of an impression on me last night in that line, Mr. Cargan."

"I never cared much for humor," replied the mayor, "especially at this early hour of the morning."

"And I hate a fresh guy," put in Max, "like poison."

"I'm not fresh," Mr. Magee smiled. "I'm stating facts. You say you've come for that package. All right—but you're come to the wrong room. I haven't got it."

"The h— you haven't!" roared the mayor. "Lou, look about a bit."

"Look about all you like," agreed Magee. "You won't find it. Mr. Cargan, I admit that I laid for you last night. I saw you open the safe according to the latest approved methods, and I saw you come forth with a package of money. But I wasn't rough with you. I might have been, to be frank, but somebody beat me to it."

"Who?"

(To Be Continued.)

IRON WORKERS BACK

Accepting an offer of seventy-five cents an hour with an eight hour day, made by a large iron foundry, about twenty iron workers returned to their work in Toronto yesterday and more will return as soon as production is back to nomal. A brass working plant has also settled with the men, but, with these exceptions, the situation remains unchanged.

POISONED BY COFFEE.

Chicago, Aug. 29. — More than thirty persons in a downtown lunch room were poisoned after drinking coffee, and it was said that several of those afflicted were in a serious condition. Samples of the coffee have been turned over to the health department for analysis, and the head of the local food board also has begun an investigation.

Every Box Packet of WILSON'S FLY PADS
WILL KILL MORE FLIES THAN $8.00 WORTH OF ANY STICKY FLY CATCHER
Clean to handle. Sold by all Druggists, Grocers and General Stores

Two aviators were killed near Belleville, Ill., when their machine caught fire and fell from a height of 200 feet.

Two persons were killed and number injured in a labor riot at the Allegheny Coal Co.'s mine near Brackenridge, Pa.

National Victory Celebration
TO BE OPENED BY H.R.H., THE PRINCE OF WALES
EXHIBITION
Aug. 23 TORONTO Sept. 6
British Grenadier Guards Band
War Memorial Paintings
Sensation of the art world, recording every phase of Canadian operations overseas.
WAR TROPHIES
Mammoth assemblage of monster guns, aeroplanes and all the instruments of hellish warfare captured by Canadian soldiers from the Hun.
Canada's Flying Circus
Cols. Barker and Bishop and other world famous aces in surrendered German planes.
WHIPPET TANK CAPTURED U BOAT
Festival of Triumph
The Most Stirring of all Grand Stand Spectacles
SEE The surrender of the German Fleet Versailles Castle—Victory Arch. Allenby's entry into Jerusalem.
And a score of other extraordinary features
THE GREATEST EXHIBITION OF ALL TIMES

Canada Food Board License No. 8-1888
D. M. MINICOLA
Best Fruit—
Cheap
Best Vegetables—
Reasonable
Best Groceries
At Right Prices
410½ GEORGESTREET
Bell Phone 93o

THE FORMAL OPENING
OF THE NEW
ALLEN THEATRE
Is set for Monday evening Labor Day, September 1st.
Invitations have been extended to His Worship The Mayor, His Honor Judge Huycke, The City Council, The Labor Leaders and several of the Prominent Business Men.
As this will be the Banner Event of the day, we advise the Citizens of Peterborough to apply early in the evening for seats, as we cannot make any reservations.
Mr. J. Allen and Luigi Romanelli will be present on the Night together with the General Manager, Mr. J. B. Cronk.
Dont forget the date of the opening of the ALLEN THEATRE
MONDAY EVENING, September 1st.
A PROGRAMME OF PICTURES THAT EXCEL WITH A FULL ORCHESTRA
COME AND SEE THE EVENT THAT WILL NOT BE FORGOTTEN SOON

Massey Silver Ribbon Bicycles

1896 1919

Street Car Delays—

Be independent—and

Ride Massey Bicycles

Figure how much money you have spent and how much time you have lost on street cars and you will be convinced that

You Need a Massey

The MASSEY BICYCLE has led them all since 1896.

Remember—prices will be higher.

WHITE BROS.

174 Hunter Street

Phone : 897 Opp. Oriental

Repairs on ALL makes of Bicycles

CHANGES IN PENSION LEGISLATION

Provisions of New Law That Becomes Effective on the First of September of This Year.

The Pension Act, which passed through both Houses during the last Parliamentary Session, provides for the pensioning of Canada's disabled ex-soldiers, their dependents and the dependents of those who were killed, and is one of the most important enactments the Dominion Government has ever passed.

The Act consolidates various orders-in-council relating to pensions passed in Canada during the war and in addition gives effect to recommendations made by the special committee which was appointed early in the last session of Parliament to consider the question of pensions and Pension Regulations.

A number of modifications to the existing "Pensions Regulations" which comprise the present law on pensions are to be found in the new Act, and the changes created will have an important effect on future dicisions, with regard to pensions.

The most important change which has been made is that authorizing the payment of a bonus, for one year to disabled company sergent majors and lower ranks and to widows and other dependents of members of the forces holding such ranks who have died or been killed.

There are, however, other important amendments, such as, the clause which states that the earnings from personal employment of a widowed mother shall not be taken into consideration when an award of persion to such a person is made. Formerly the Pension Commissioners were compelled, under the Pension Regulations, to take earnings or income from any source whatever into consideration when awarding pension in cases of this nature.

This clause also effects beneficiaries of Municipal Insurance which was given in some Canadian cities to citizens who enlisted in the Canadian Expeditionary Force. The dependents of a soldier so insured became, in the event of his death through military service, entitled to Municipal Insurance in addition to pension, but under the Pension Regulations, income from the Municipal Insurance had to be considered as income and the award of pension, if made, varied accordingly. This will no longer be the case under the Pension Act which states that Municipal Insurance shall not be taken into consideration when pension is being awarded.

Another amendment states that voluntary reversion from a rank held in the C.E.F. to a lower rank for the purpose of proceeding to a scene of hostilities will entitle the particular member of the forces if disabled, or his dependents, if he is killed, to the pension prescribed for the rank from which he reverted. Under the present regulations provision is made for the reversion in England only and payment of pension at the higher rate is restricted to the dependents of a deceased soldier. The principle is now extended to include disability cases and also cases of reversion in Canada. Disability pensioners who are affected by this claim should communicate with the Board of Pension Commissioners, as, although all cases will be reviewed as quickly as possible, the Board states, the filing of a claim by the pensioner will facilitate the rapid completion of the work.

When it is considered that Canada with her comparatively small population is already paying well over 80,000 pensions on account of the great war and is still awarding pensions at the rate of over 130 per day, the necessity for sane and equitable legislation, such as the Pension Act appears to provide, is manifest.

Hot! Tired! Thirsty!

This warm weather certainly takes all the starch out of you. You feel thirsty, yet water doesn't seem to satisfy your craving for something to drink. Try a thirst-quencher that trickles into all the dry places, dispelling the dust and heat.

O'Keefe's IMPERIAL

LAGER, ALE, STOUT

are delightfully cooling and refreshing warm weather beverages that add zest and pleasure to drinking. O'Keefe's are ideal beers for all occasions. They combine to perfection the healthful properties of Malt and Hops.

On sale at Hotels, Restaurants and Refreshment Booths, or order by the case.—Don't accept substitutes.

O'KEEFE'S TORONTO

J. M. BROOKS. Distributor, 195½ Charlotte St., Peterborough, Ont.

SOME TALES OF PITCHER JOE BENZ

Clarence Rowland, manager of the Milwaukee baseball club in the American Association, according to Fred A. Hayner, thinks a lot of Joe Benz, the ex-White Sox pitcher, and tells some good humored stories about him. Says the little manager:

"Hughey Jennings used to chortle with glee when Joe Benz appeared on the mound for us in Tiger town. As soon as Joe would wipe the perspiration from his face and start to pitch Jennings would start:

"'What round is it going to be today, Joey? I want to know what inning you are going to blow. I want to have the water hot in the shower. If you don't let me know it will be cold water for your plunge. Come on, tell me what inning are you going up? I'll tell your trainer Buckner off to get the water hot, come now, tell a fellow when you ascend. I must have a little warning, Joey. Play fair with me and I'll play fair with you.'

"Joe would come back to the bench red faced and growling:

"'I don't pay any attention to that ice. red faced lobster.'

"So it would go until Jennings had Joe wavering.

"One time with the White Sox I was up against it and on a Thursday put Benz in against a general protest. He won the game.

"Well, I went in to see Comiskey right after the game. I always did that. If we won we got the praise and if we lost we took what was coming. You had to see him sometime before the next game so I always saw him right after the game to get my day's work over with. Well, he hopped me about pitching Benz.

"You should't have done it; you shouldn't have done it," he shouted. "You pitched him on a Thursday. He's a Monday pitcher, when there ain't anybody else."

Now Joe's a Sunday pitcher in semi-pro and winning his games in which there is lots of hitting. Maybe Joe's learning something on the prairies.

NAVY ENTERS BALLOON RACE

Three U. S. Air Stations to Participate in Missouri Duration Contest.

Washington, D. C., Aug. 30.—The navy will be represented by three entries in the Missouri Aeronautical Societies' duration free balloon race starting Sept. 26, Acting Secretary Roosevelt announced today he had accepted the societies' invitation for naval crews to compete.

The race will start from the societies' grounds in St. Louis. Army and navy, as well as civilian, crews will compete for the prizes. The navy's entrants will be selected from three air stations to stimulate competition in the service. The balloons will be of 40,000 cubic feet gas capacity and will be filled with refined coal gas.

COBOURG BALL CLUB PROSPERS

Cobourg, Aug. 29.—Although the high cost of ball playing has ascended along wit hthe high cost of living the Cobourg team in the Central Ontario Baseball League came through with a nice little balance to their credit. Their receipts including subscriptions at the beginning of the season, were $637.73, and their expenses $568.84.

MORE STABLES AT LEXINGTON

Enlargements Projected in Preparation for the Fall Race Meeting.

Lexington, Ky., Aug. 29.—In order to accommodate the large number of horses expected here at the fall race meeting, the Kentucky Jockey club is making plans for building additional stables and also improving the grand stand and clubhouse at the Kentucky Racing Association track here. Manager R. L. Baker and Track Superintendent John M. Keegan went over the grounds yesterday, and Col. Baker states that he took up with President Camden when he was here Saturday the subject of more stalls and was instructed to have specifications made and bide on work to be submitted to board of directors of the Kentucky Jockey club at a meeting to be held in Louisville in September.

VERY HOT

First One—"Who broke that pane of glass in your house last night, old bean?"

Second One—"Oh, it was only a burglar getting in at the bedroom window."

First One—"I bet he caught it hot. What?"

Second One—"Yes' rather! The wife mistook him for me."

GREAT PATRIOTIC SPECTACLE BILLED

"SEVEN DAYS' LEAVE" AT GRAND—WAR PLAY OF GUNPOWDER TYPE.

The big patriotic spectacle "Seven Days' Leave" is the first play attraction of the season at the Grand, Wednesday evening.

"Seven Days' Leave is a war play of the most pronounced gunpowder type and it has proved so thoroughly with the psychology of the hour that it is now being played simultaneously with great success in London South Africa, Australia, Canada and the United States.

"Seven Days' Leave" was written by Walter Howard, an English actor, and takes its name from the term used in Britain for the furlough granted soldiers to run across the channel for a brief visit at home. The action of the play takes place within the seven days of the usual soldier's leave and has as its locale rural England and the sea coast and channel. The leading character is a young major in the British army; and the big scene of the third act is on the gun deck of a cruiser, which

The Dramatic Scenic Spectacle "7 DAYS' LEAVE," Grand Opera House one night only, Wednesday, September 3.

Lots of men seem to think that there is a patent on honest labor and they don't want to risk being infringers.

Strike of school teachers at Springfield, O., ended when they were given the 20 per cent. increase demanded.

It improves some men to get a piece of a woman's vocabulary.

Never tell a girl she is pretty unless you intend to keep it up.

Order Your Coal From LOW & Co.

We have all sizes in stock EGG, STOVE, NUT AND PEA

The best and cheapest coal in town. Perfectly screened and promptly delivered. Bring your orders in now.

Prices advance every month.

LOW & COMPANY

262 Simcoe Street. Phone 697 House 396

Children's Aid Society

—of—

Peterborough City and County

FOR THE CARE OF NEGLECTED AND ILL-TREATED CHILDREN

G. W. POWELL

Asst. Secretary and Inspector

Office, 588 George St. Phone 1044

Office Hours: 12 to 2 and 6 to 8 p.m.

PITTSTON COAL

IS THE BEST

ALL SIZES IN STOCK

Also best lines of SOFT COAL at Lowest Prices

McCARTHY & JOHNSTON

COAL DEALERS

111 Hunter Street, East City

Phone 96 TERMS CASH

MIXED WOOD

$7.00 Per Cord

HARD WOOD

$10.00 Per Cord

Cutting and Splitting extra.

ORDER NOW

FROM

J. E. A. FITZGERALD

Phone 111

COAL

...AND...

Builders' Supplies

Hardwood Flooring

Robt. Hicks & Co.

LIMITED

A BOXING TOURNAMENT

WILL BE HELD

BROCK ST. RINK

Fri., Sept. 5

AT 8 P.M.

10 ROUNDS

Between

Young Cattle--Toronto

And

Kid Brompton--New York

Lightweight

Good Preliminaries are Being Arranged

The Steamer Naiad

ON AND AFTER MAY 5th 1919

The Steamer Naiad will run as follows:—

Leave Lakefield daily on arrival of noon G.T.R. Train for Stony Lake Points connecting at Mt. Julian with the Apsley Stage

Lackawana Coal Means Economy

Burns freely and is of Best Anthracite.

Trucking Orders Promptly Filled

Peterboro Fuel & Transfer Co.

161 CHARLOTTE ST.

PHONES 270-262

LUMBER

Builders' Materials of all kinds—Shingles, Scantlings, Joist and Bill Stuff, Mouldings, Castings, Base and all kinds of Finish, Boxes and Box Shooks; Slabs and Mill Wood.

Alf. McDonald Estate

Bringing up Father By George McManus

BY GOLLY-IF I GO HOME NOW MAGGIE WILL BEAT ME UP SO I CAN'T SLEEP-
I CAN'T SLEEP HERE VERY WELL-
WELL-WHO ARE YOU?
SAY-WILL YOU GIVE ME A QUARTER FOR A BED?
SURE-BRING THE BED RIGHT HERE-
BMcM 3-30

OPENS TUESDAY SEPTEMBER 2nd FALL TERM PETERBORO BUSINESS COLLEGE Office open every day this week
Get Particulars From J. A. McKONE, Principal.

CHILDREN'S EYES
require more careful watching than those of an adult. If your child complains of his eyes, bring him without delay to
W. H. LACEY,
OPTICAL SPECIALIST
410 GEORGE STREET

GENERAL AND LOCAL NEWS

TERMINATE ADVANCED TIME

Lindsay, Aug 29. — It is understood that at the next session of the Council a resolution will be introduced commending the adoption of the old time before the period when daylight saving expires.

Dr. E. V. Frederick, member Royal College of Surgeons, England, late Surgeon No. 1, Canadian Stationery Hospital, Salonica, late Surgical Specialist No. 70 Indian Stationary Hospital, Bagdad, late Clinical Assistant Mayo Clinic, Rochester, Minn., has resumed practice corner Charlotte and Rubidge streets, Peterboro— especially consulting practice in surgical and chronic conditions.

Dr. Free, late house physician Toronto General Hospital, assistant in practice with Dr. Frederick and in charge of laboratory work.

TIRES VULCANIZED

Because that tire has a hole through it is no reason why you should throw it away. You may yet get several thousand miles out of it by having a sectional repair made. We Vulcanize Auto Tires and Tubes and guarantee our work. Millard's Bicycle Shop, 225 Hunter street, near Aylmer, phone 234j.

LABOR DAY TO HEALEY FALLS.

On Monday, Sept. 1, Labor Day, the steamer Stoney Lake will leave the George St. wharf at 7:45 a.m. for Healey Falls. Tucker's orchestra will supply music. Fare: adults $1, children 50c.

AUCTION SALE OF FARM STOCK

Mr. Gordon K. Fraser, of Burleigh Falls, has instructed me to sell by public auction on Tuesday, September 2nd, at 2 p.m., new time, at his barn at Burleigh Falls.

19 cows.

3 and four year old heifer, 2 year old and year old.

Also, young horses and colts, and other articles. These colts are well bred, and this is a good opportunity for farmers to buy. Terms, $10 and under cash, over that amount, ten months' credit, by furnishing approved paper, or six per cent off for cash.

R. H. ALFORD, Auct.
Lakefield, Aug. 23rd.

"FROM THE LAND OF THE SKY BLUE WATER"

For the lover of vocal music who appreciates pure beauty of tone and artistic interpretation nothing can excel this Victor Record of Evan Williams. Ask Heintzman & Co., Limited, George and Hunter streets, Peterborough, for lists containing this Victor Record, Nancy Lee, Flower Song and many others.

NOTICE

Mrs. Hazel Dean Anderson, has accepted a position on the staff of the Conservatory of Music as teacher of Kindergarten, (not musical), succeeding Miss Warner, who has gone to Havergal College, Toronto. Classes will be organized next week. Parents wishing to send their little ones please communicate with the Conservatory, Tel. 355

CARD OF THANKS

Mrs. William Long and family desire to thank the Canadian Packing Co. Office, Shipping Dept., and Peterborough Canoe Co., employes and friends for floral tributes and sympathy shown in their recent bereavement.

Milliner's bills are the taxes which the male sex has to pay for the beauty of the females.

PUNCTURE PROOF AUTO TIRES FOR CITY FORDS

Matter Left With Ald. Phelan and Morrison.

Puncture proof lining for Ford auto tires was submitted for the inspection of the Board of Works last night, one set of these lining costs $42 but they prevent all punctures or tire trouble. In the opinion of most of the aldermen these would be of great value to the fire chief when his present new tires become dangerously worn out. On motion of Ald. Edgar seconded by Ald. Turner the matter of puncture proof linings was left in the hands of the chairman of the Board of Works and Fire Water and Light Committee to purchase is advisable.

A WORD TO VETERANS

Returned men who have completed Vocational Training under the Department of Soldiers' Civil Re-Establishment or whose course has been discontinued, are advised to hand in any change of address to the vocational officer in their district. This is for the purpose of notifying the Pensions' Board.

Failure to report removal from one city to another, often results in Pension checks going astray and, apart from the loss of time to Departments concerned, may result in inconvenience and hardship for the men and their families.

LOCAL NO. 437 International Hodcarriers' and Laborers' Union.

Every member is requested to be at the Armories on Monday at 1 o'clock sharp to attend and make a success of the Labor Day Parade to Riverside Park. A. E. MILLER, Cor.-Sec.

NOTICE.

The regular meeting of St. Peter's Court, No. 225, Catholic Order of Foresters, will be held Tuesday, Sept. 2nd, 1919. Important business.

POST OFFICE TO CLOSE

The Post Office will be closed on Labor Day, with the exception that from 10.30 a.m. to 12.30 p.m. the lobby will be open and the stamp wicket general delivery and registry wickets will be open.

There will be no delivery by letter carriers—the collection from the street letter boxes will be—one beginning at 8.30 a.m. and one beginning at 8.30 p.m. There will be no after noon collection.

AUCTION SALE

I will sell by public auction at the home of Mrs. (Dr.) McGrath, 539 George street, on Thursday, Sept. 4th, her household furniture and furnishings, including walnut wardrobe, walnut bedroom suite, refrigerator, kitchen range, gas range, lawn mower, garden tools, etc. J. F. Thornton, Auctioneer.

LABOR DAY PARADE.
Monday, September 1st.
Peterborough Laborers' Union No. 437

All members please turn out. Meet at Central Park at 1 p.m. sharp. A. MILLER, Cor.-Secy.

GERMANS NOW HELP

(Continued from Page One.)

pretended that their immediate object was to reach and cooperate with that Admiral's forces. Germans had partly evacuated the region, but since August 11, according to Stelbiko, they have been concentrating troops anew in Western Lithuania, with their base, at Shavli, where they also have established a general staff.

LOCAL FIRE BRIGADE TO USE EQUIPMENT IN PARADE

Received Permission to Appear in Full Force in Labor Day Parade.

At the meeting of the Board of Works last night the chairman of the Fire, Water and Light Committee, Ald. Morrison, was given authority to instruct the fire department to use their equipment in the Labor parade on Labor Day.

SOCIAL AND PERSONAL

CARTER—WEST

The residence of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Moore, 160 Shanley street, Toronto, was the scene of a quiet wedding when Miss Minnie Sydney West was married to Mr. Hubert Neal Carter, second son of Mrs. and the late Mr. James D. Carter of Yarmouth road. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. Wallace Buntin of Peterborough. The bride, who was given away by her father, was gowned in white charmeuse and carried sweetheart roses. She wore a platinum and pearl brooch, the gift of the groom. Miss Sara Moore, as maid of honor, wore a frock of blue taffeta and carried ophelia roses. Her gift from the bridegroom was a pearl brooch. Mr. W. F. Carter, brother of the groom, was best man. The wedding music was played by Miss Helen Carter. Mr. and Mrs. Carter left later for the east, the e traveling in a navy chiffo, broadcloth suit and hat to match. On their return they will reside in Tyrrell avenue.

The Rev. W. H. Harvey is staying with his brother, Dr. E. E. Harvey, for a couple of days on his way to the World Brotherhood Conference, which is held in London, England, in September.

Rev. R. Pogue and family have returned from their holidays. Mr. Pogue will preach in St. Paul's church tomorrow at both services.

Dr. and Mrs. Alexander J. Robertson Peterborough, announce the engagement of their daughter, Ruth, MacDonald to Mr. Reginald Alexander Lockhart, son of Mr. and Mrs. Reginald R. Lockhart, Rosedale, Toronto, the marriage to take place early in October.

Mr. and Mrs. H. S. McDuffy, Miss Jean, Master Kenneth and James are spending a few days in Toronto for the exhibition.

Mr. and Mrs. John Kenny and family of Toronto motored to the city yesterday.

Miss McCoy of Hamilton spent the past week in Peterborough the guest of relatives in the city.

Mr. J. J. Drayton of Akron, Ohio, spent the past week visiting friends in the city.

Miss Mary Walsh of Hamilton, has returned home after a pleasant visit with friends in Peterborough.

Miss Mary Hatton, of Toronto, is holidaying in the city.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Wilson, of Oshawa, spent the week-end in Peterborough.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Kingan, Mr and Mrs. Dickson Hall, Master Crawford and Miss Alice Dawson returned from a motor trip to New York City by way of the Aderoudacks and Iroquois Trails.

When in New York Mr. S. Dickson Hall, of Richard Hall & Son, Ltd. purchased many of the very newest and most exclusive suits, coats, afternoon and evening dresses for the fall and winter season. These charming New York importations are now on display in the Read-to-Wear Department of the Hall store.

Miss A. Dawson, who accompanied Mr. and Mrs. S. D. Hall, was in New York in the interests of the Millinery Department. The Headgear this season promises to be very charming and the "Hall Displays" will show a complete range of all the smartest and most becoming styles.

Miss Edna Tylor, of Keene, spent the past week visiting friends in Peterborough.

Mr. and Mrs. Melville Collins, of Toronto, motored to Peterborough and spent the week-end in the city.

Mr. and Mrs. Hauken and Miss Kathleen of Norwood have been visiting friends in the city.

Mr. H. Rorabeck, City, has been holidaying with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. T. Rorabeck, Norwood.

Mr. Ernest Hall, city, was home for the week end.

Mr. and Mrs. Casey Conlon, of Toledo, O., have returned home after an extended visit with friends in Peterborough and vicinity.

Miss Agnes Lumsden of Keene was a visitor to the city this week.

Mrs. McLachlan and her father, Mr Cutlar, of Keene spent the week end with friends in the city.

Mr. and Mrs. Chapman of Hamilton, are visiting in the city, the guests of Mr. and Mrs. Gates, 307 Margaret Ave.

Mrs. Osborne of Lakefield was a visitor to the city, yesterday.

Miss Dora Baker left today on a trip to Buffalo, N.Y.

Mr. and Mrs. F. B. Campbell left yesterday on a motor trip to Toronto Hamilton and Niagara.

Miss Ethel Eagleson, city, has been holidaying at Stoney Lake.

PARTING OF THE WAYS BETWEEN SCOTTISH EARL AND HIS TENANTS

House of Aberdeen Greatly Beloved by Tenantry—The Earl Opened Peterborough Exhibition, September 22nd, 1896—Was Then Gov.-General of Canada.

On September 22, 1896, their Excellencies Lord and Lady Aberdeen honored Peterborough with a visit. His Lordship was at that time Governor-General of Canada, and this was the first occasion in the Dominion's history that Peterborough, then a town had the opportunity of entertaining His Majesty's representative in Canada.

The Earl of Aberdeen and his lady on September 22nd, twenty-three years ago, formally opened the Peterborough Industrial Exhibition.

Mayor Yelland was then mayor, and in company with a civic reception committee, extended Peterborough's warm-hearted welcome to Their Excellencies at Victoria Park where school children sang several patriotic numbers.

His excellency also inspected several local institutions and the Earl was lunched at the Oriental Hotel on Hunter street, where he was also entertained by the town and county councils, military authorities and officers of the local exhibition board. Lady Aberdeen was entertained by Mrs. James Kendry, Mrs. J. R. Stratton and a committee of ladies. In the afternoon her ladyship addressed a meeting of women in St. Paul's Church in regards to organizing a branch of the National Council of Women.

Farewell to Tenants.

This digging up of past history is impelled by a touching reference in an English paper to the disposal of a portion of the Aberdeen estates. The writer of that event says:

August 2nd, 1919, was a double celebration at Haddo House, Scotland—it marked the advent of peace and a handshaking between old friends, the landlord and tenant, who had just ceased to be in that relation to each other, as well as those who yet stood in that position. The feudal life of a great house like Hadoo is tempered by many benignities. There were a good many tenants who had no wish to be lairds, yet had ceased to be tenants; there was a multitude of little crofters who, in the time to come, might possibly miss the protecting hand of the landlord who was one of his people.

Fifteen hundred of the tenantry their wives and children, passed Lord and Lady Aberdeen where they stood their children gathered about them, with what was to many of the tenants for Lord Aberdeen has sold only a portion of his estates hail and farewell. Hardly farewell in the fullest sense, for one feels that the severance of one tie is not necessarily the severance of all. Besides the tenants, past and present, there were gathered the notabilities of the town and county of Aberdeen, the local gentry, the Provost of Aberdeen—a very kay and cheerful personality—the Principal of the University, many townsfolk, many ministers; the cast of the hospitable net had been wide.

The emotion and tenderness with which one old farmer—eighty-one years old, and a man of wealth and importance, who is still a tenant spoke of "that angel," Lord Aberdeen's mother, the tone of the references to Lord and Lady Aberdeen and their children, the manifest pride in "the Premier Earl," "the Great Earl," and the sense of participation in all that was great and good in history of the family, was surprising—to an Irishwoman. All day long one kept saying to one's self: "It could not happen in Ireland." Not that there are not, and have not been, some good landlords in Ireland, but I know nothing like this. Someone said of one of the big farmers: "He spoke wonderfully well, especially considering that he was sore about ceasing to be 'a tenant.'" He was a big man, one who might really be called a laird, but he did not want to be a laird; he wanted to be a tenant. Just imagine the farmer in Ireland whose long dream was to own the land. And here are men sick because ownership has come to them.

NEW ALLEN THEATRE OPENING BANNER EVENT

AN OCCASION OF CEREMONY TO BE ATTENDED BY PROMINENT CITIZENS.

No expense is being spared to rush the work through for the Allen Theatre in order to be open on Labor Day for the evening performance. The men are working night and day, and an extra crew has been put to work.

The opening night will be the banner event of the year. Many of Peterborough's most prominent citizens will be present for the occasion. Mr. J. Allen will personally appear. Prof. Luigi Romanelli, who is well known throughout the country for his excellent musical work, is expected to be present, together with Mr. J. B. Cronk, the Allen's general manager.

The entire theatre is being re-decorated and renovated, making this playhouse, when completed, the citizen's pride, and an ornament of art to the city.

An exceptional program of good pictures and music has been provided for. The opening will be the same feature event that marks all of the Allen Theatre openings.

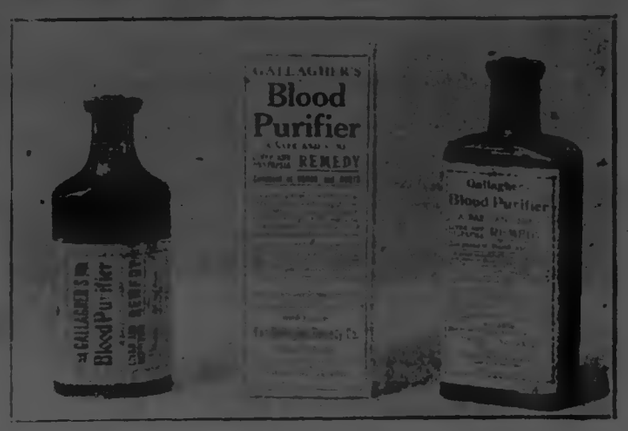
Those having the pleasure of witnessing the Allen's Danforth Theatre's opening in Toronto, will long remember the occasion.

The local theatre's opening will be in accordance with the Allen's policy of comfort and entertainment.

As the demand for seats will be greater than the seating capacity of the theatre, the management advises those wishing to witness the innaugural ceremony to come early.

Wise is the candidate who knows his own backers.

VICTORY BONDS
May Drop Again Before the Next Victory Loan in October.
WE STILL PAY HIGHEST PRICE
SPOT CASH
NO FUSS :-: NO DELAY
HUGHSON JOHNSTONE
PETERBOROUGH
Suite 202-203, Barrie Building
George St. Next to Customs House
Phone 168
OPEN SATURDAY NIGHTS



OLD STYLE BOTTLE NEW STYLE BOTTLE AND CARTON
A FAMILY FAVORITE FOR FORTY YEARS
The Great Herb Laxative, digested as food, puts into the Blood elements which restores the stomach, bowels and liver to a natural healthy action. A spoonful at Night will keep your bowels right. The natural way

Stoney Lake Navigation Company
Steamers leave Lakefield for the Lakes on arrival of all trains from Peterborough.
Steamers leave the Lake to connect with 9.30 a.m. (morning) and 4.40 p.m. (afternoon) trains for Peterborough.
G. T. R. trains leave Peterborough at 8.30 a.m., 12.15 noon and 5.40 p.m.
For excursion rates, information, etc., phone 548, or write
F. G. YOUNG, Gen. Manager, 497 King St.

H.P. Lindsay Agency Co.
Real Estate and Insurance
Automobile Licenses
District Agents for Security Life
MOTORISTS
Do You Want to Save Gas?
Do You Want More Power?
Do You Want Your Car Cleaned While you Run?
Do You Want Real Pleasure in Motoring?
THEN BY ALL MEANS BUY
"LENEOGAS"
REFERENCE GIVEN
Sold by Best Dealers
H. P. LINDSAY AGENCY CO., Phone 341. 393 Water St.
REVIEW "WANTS ADS." PAY.

$16,000 FOR PICTURE

Holman Hunt's famous picture "The Lady of Shalott," was sold for $16,000 at Christie's, in London. His "May Morning on Magdalen Tower, Oxford," realized $9,500.

NOTICE

Tenders will be received by the undersigned up to NOON, SEPT. 10, 1919, for the erection of a concrete culvert at Fowler's Corners. Tenders addressed to G. B. Nichols, Reeve of Smith, R. R. No. 3, Lakefield. Quantities, etc., to be approved of by Mr. Nichols.

ED. M. ELLIOTT, County Clerk.

NOTICE TO CREDITORS

Patrick McAvella, late of the City of Peterborough, in the County of Peterborough, deceased.

Notice is hereby given pursuant to the Trustee Act that all creditors and others having claims against the Estate of the said Patrick McAvella, who died on or about the tenth day of August, 1918, are required, on or before the Thirteenth day of September, 1919, to send by post prepaid or deliver to the undersigned, Solicitors for the Administrator of the Estate of the said deceased, their Christian and surnames, addresses and descriptions, the full particulars of their claims, the statement of their accounts and the nature of the securities, if any, held by them.

And further take notice, that after such last mentioned date the said Administrator will proceed to distribute the assets of the deceased among the parties entitled thereto, having regard only to the claims of which they shall then have notice, and that the said Administrator will not be liable for the said assets or any part thereof to any person or persons of whose claims notice shall not have been received by him at the time of such distribution.

Dated, the 22nd day of August, 1919.

PECK, KERR & McELDERRY, 415 Water Street, Peterborough, Ont. Solicitors for The Trusts and Guarantee Company, Limited, the Administrator.

"It's Confidence That Does It"
WEEK-END GROCERY SPECIALS
For Friday and Saturday we are featuring this big list of most Seasonable Goods. They represent both superlative quality and price savings.

Fruits and Vegetables
Crawford Peaches for Preserving and Table Fruit, in eleven and six quart baskets.
Plums, Gages Lombards, blue and Damsons.
Pears, large baskets, for $1.00
Celery, Red and Green Peppers, Sweet Corn, Pickling Onions, Green Tomatoes.
TOMATOES—Large baskets, very choice. These are the Port Hope Tomato.
Cauliflowers—Nice Solid Heads, Fresh in.

Tea and Coffee
Our own blends of TEA and COFFEE always please the particular taste, and they are no higher in price than ordinary teas. May as well have your Tea and Coffee of the P. S. WHITE QUALITY

Christie's Biscuits
We carry a complete line of these popular BISCUITS. They take the place most acceptably of home cooking.

Peek Frean Short Cake, lb. 60c
This delicious Cake is a speciality of ours and is rapidly becoming popular.

PURE PORK
SWIFT'S BROOKFIELD SAUSAGE (IN CARTOONS). REG. 45c. SPECIAL PRICE 39c
Swift's Premium Bacon and Meat. Special for Friday and Saturday:
Premium Breakfast Bacon. Reg. 70c. Special sliced 66c
By the piece 65c
Premium Windsor Boneless, Regular 70c. Special, sliced 66c
By the piece 65c
Premium Regular Hams. Regular 65c. Sliced 60c
By half or whole, per lb. 57c
Premium Clear Back, in casings. Regular 75c. Sliced 70c
By the piece 68c
Premium Cooked Ham. Regular 75c. Sliced 70c
Swift's Baked Meat Loaf, with cheese. Regular 40c. Special lb 36c
Swift's Minced Specialty. Regular 40c. Special lb. 36c
Meats sliced the very thickness the customer wishes, by our new slicer.
334 George St. PORTER S. WHITE Phone 208

SEPTEMBER

1919

WEATHER FORECASTS.
Moderate winds, mostly fair and cool today and on Wednesday.

The Daily Review

8 PAGES

40th YEAR No. 51 Peterborough's Oldest Newspaper. PETERBOROUGH, ONTARIO, TUESDAY, SEPTEMBER 2, 1919. Price Two Cents per copy

SUPREME COUNCIL AGREED ON PEACE TREATY TERMS WITH AUSTRIAN STATE

Little Chance For Austria to Terminate Her Existence as an Independent Power —France Bitterly Opposed to Her Union With Germany Vienna Doomed to Comparative C mmercial Insignificance.

(Canadian Press Despatch)

Paris, Sept. 2.—The peace treaty is now virtually completed by the Supreme Council for submission to Austrian plenitpentiaries leaves the future of Austria very largely in the hands of the League of Nations.

League to Decide.

The league, this is, will or not, be able to decide whether Austria shall be permitted to join Germany, and as France is opposed to such a union as are Switzerland and many other countries, there would appear to be little chance of Austria's securing permission to terminate her existence as a separate state, should she so desire in the future. There seems to be a general feeling of dissatisfaction in Peace Conference circles with the treaty, which was adapted from the German treaty and does not fit such a small power very well.

General Weariness.

The Council, however, had agreed today on virtually all sections of the treaty because there is a general weariness with discussion.

Under terms of the treaty Vienna, with its two million inhabitants, seems doomed to lapse into comparative commercial insignificance, as there is a population of only four million within the country outside this city to support the capital, while with Juda Slavia, Czecho Slovakia, and Hungary existing as separate powers, Vienna can hardly hope to recover the business formerly drawn from their territories

ALLIES THREATEN FURTHER ADVANCE

GERMANS NOW GUILTY OF BREACH OF THE PEACE TREATY OF VERSAILLES.

NEW GERMAN CONSTITUTION

ALLOWS FOR AUSTRIAN REPRESENTATION ON THE REICHSTAG.

(Canadian Press Despatch)

Paris, Sept. 2. The Supreme Council of the Peace Conference decided today to send a note in forceful terms to the German Government, pointing out a breach of the Versailles' treaty by the provision in the new German constitution providing for representation of Austria in German Reitchstag

Suppress Article.

The Council demands a suppression of the article within a fortnight, declaring that otherwise the Allies will be compelled to undertake further occupation of the left bank of the Rhine.

HIS ROYAL HIGHNESS BARES HIS HEAD TO 93 YEARS OLD VETERAN OF CRIMEA

Stupendous Ovation Greeted the Prince in Canada's Great Metropolis Church Bells, Factory Whistles, Steamboat Sirens and Acclaiming Thousands Rent the Air With a Joyous Welcome.

Montreal, Sept. 2. — With church bells ringing and hundreds of factory whistles blowing, the special train with the Prince of Wales on board, steamed into Windsor Street station this morning from Ottawa.

Few Hours in City.

The Prince will pass a few hours in this city today before departing on his western trip. Most of his time here will be spent in an automobile tour of the city and this will conclude on Mount Royal, where His Royal Highness will be entertained at lunch by the corporation.

Cartier Memorial

His Royal Highness' tour was broken for a few moments at the home of Mederick Martin, Mayor of Montreal, where a little [illegible] of his worship presented the Prince with a bouquet of flowers; and the Cartier memorial to be unveiled by cable by King George next Saturday, where the Prince was given a medal struck for the celebration of the centenaire of this Canadian statesman.

Acclaimed by All.

Hundreds of thousands of people acclaimed the Prince of Wales as he rode through the streets of Montreal today, on a short tour of the city's sights, before he goes on his western trip. He arrived in the city from Ottawa at 10:30 o'clock this morning and got his first taste of welcome prepared for him at the C. P. R. station.

A large force of policemen was called upon to keep the people in line As the train pulled in, bells in all churches began to ring, while factory whistles sounded in the distance in competition with the notes and screams of sirens from the craft on the river.

In Civilian Attire.

Dressed in plain business suit, with soft hat, the Prince did not make so dashing a figure as he has in other cities, where he appeared in uniform. He had the same cheery smile, however the same quick step and the same keen glance which took in everything as he passed along

Meets Crimean Veterans.

Among those presented to him was Lieut. Patrick Matthews formerly of Dublin, Ireland, ninety-three years of age. The old soldier presented a picturesque figure in his navy blue uniform of days of the Crimea. The old gentleman was a member of the guard of honour in 1848, when Queen Victoria laid the corner stone for the great Portsmouth docks. Later in Canada, he had the honour to be one of the first men chosen as a personal body guard of the late King Edward when he visited Canada as Prince of Wales.

The old Veteran said to the Prince: "I am the only remaining member of the body guard of your grandfather when he was here."

The Prince took off his hat to the old soldier, and shook his hand cordially.

The line of route followed through the city by the Prince and his party took in all the best features of Montreal's business, residential and sighting sections. The route was crowded with enthusiastic people along almost the entire thirty miles At the Cartier Monument on Fletcher's Field, the Prince was presented with a special medal struck in commemoration of the Centennial of that great Canadian statesman, and elebrations being held here this week. This statue has had a romantic career. It was in Brussels, when war broke out, and was buried so that it would not fall into the hands of the Germans.

Luncheon Served.

A luncheon tendered to His Royal Highness by the city, was served in a marquee nearby.

This afternoon the Prince will visit Dixie Golf Links, where he will be the guest of the Royal Montreal Golf Club. After the game he will board the royal train and leave for the west.

TWELVE HUNDRED KNIGHTS OF LABOR PARADE STREETS OF PETERBOROUGH

Gaily Decorated Fire Rigs and City Aldermen in the Van Molder's Float a Feature

LABOR DAY parade in this city yesterday offered to the public in sufficient representation of organized labor, to give some idea of the unity of working men and working girls, in Peterborough community. Of course every member of every union was not seen in the parade any more than were every interest now unionized in evidence; for the same principle of unionism which had its birth with artisans, has now invaded the ranks of professionalism throughout the world. Neither should the public comprise the ranks of toilers who paraded the city yesterday with the one big union scheme of the west. They neither are nor do they represent any such thing. The twelve hundred or more workers parading, were members of 21 unions, working under 21 separate charters, in protection and strength of this powerful international advancement of 21 individual interests, the whole represented by delegates from each union or Trades and Labor Council organized to advocate local and country-wide improvements in the trade and economic conditions of workingmen and unions generally.

Creditable in Appearance.

The parade as a whole presented a creditable appearance, although no callithumpian features were attempted. The moulders, however, contributed a gaily decorated motor-driven float, dominated by both British and American ensigns, the whole outfit being in charge of Victor Veamer's, while English bull dog of the "have and to hold" kind, that solemnly perched on a blood-red dais, presented a fitting symbol of the financial and numerical organization. The oldest trade union in Peterborough was the only one apart from the 57th. Band, which displayed any insigna of its trade, each man carrying a light sand rammer in his hand.

All in the parade, of course, wore elaborate badges, while a few of the organizations were headed by beautifully worked banners, that of the Machinists' Union exceeding in colour and design and finish.

The Steam Operating and Hoisting Engineers were under the protecting eye of a guardian, in the august person of H. Dodd's English brindle bulldog, swarthed in a white linen coat one side of which bore the slogan "what we have we hold," while the other conveyed the warning "what we haven't got we'll go after."

The Typographics Union—printers in plain language, you know — not very strong in numbers locally, but a vertable army nationally and internationally, and also one of the wealthiest trade organizations in the world turned out in commendable strength This is the second eldest union in Peterborough, its president, A. J. Bolwell is also president of the Trades and Labour Council and he took an indefatigable part in the preparations for yesterday's labour doings.

The Fire Fighter's Union is all but the youngest in this city having been organized February 3rd, 1919. With their abundantly decorative fire rigs and natty uniforms, they gave a touch of colour to the whole parade, which appealed to all.

The Hodcarriers, Builders and Common Labourers' Union gave the greatest number of any organization to the parade and Ed. Tighe headed these men in top hat and Prince Albert coat.

Leaving the Central Park at 1:45, [illegible] south on street to George, thence south to Charlotte, west to Aylmer, up Aylmer to Hunter street, and east over the bridge to Riverside Park, where sports and a baseball match and baby show were billed. The whole route of march was thronged with spectators.

Unions Represented.

The order of the parade was as follows

Marshal Welford, in khaki, on white horse.

Marshal Fireman LeBarr, in uniform, on black horse.

57th. Battalion Band, under the leadership of Bandmaster Rupert Gliddon.

Ald. Morrison, chairman of city's Fire, Water and Light Committee in the Fire Chief's runabout.

Motor fire truck

Chemical waggon.

Fire Chief's old horse-drawn runabout.

Horse-drawnhook and ladder truck.

International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers, (ladies) in motor cars

Park Marshal Peter MacArthur, officials of Trades and Labour Council and Aldermen McIntyre, Garside and Gainey. Alderman Crowe walked with his union, the Moulders' International Union.

International Typographical Union.

Pattern Makers' League of North America.

Bricklayers' Masons and Plasterers' International Union.

Barbers' International Union

Journeymen Tailors' International Union.

Federal Association of Letter Carriers'.

International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers.

Street and Electric Railway Employees' International Union of America.

International Association of Machinists.

International Brotherhood of Carpenters and Joiners of America.

American Federation of Musicians

Stage Employees International Alliance.

Hodcarriers, Builders and Common Labourers International Union.

Steam Operating and Hoisting Engineers' International Union.

Bakery and Confectionery Workers' International Union.

Dominion Express Emloyees Brotherhood.

Metal Polishers International Union

SIR SAM HUGHES ON THE WAR PATH

RAKES UP ROSS RIFLE QUESTION AGAIN AND ASKS RETURNS OF CASUALTIES.

(Canadian Press Despatch)

Sir Sam Hughes is on the warpath again in the Commons, and has given notice that he will move on Wednesday for the production of a circular, supposedly of German origin, and distributed among Canadian troops at [illegible] depreciating the Canadian Ross rifles.

Sir Sam also asks for reports on the Lee-Enfield rifle, and why certain changes were made in England to the Ross rifle. Further, he demands a statement of housing conditions of the Canadian troops during the winter of 1918 and 1919, and a return of casualties at various battles including Cambrai and the second Mons.

PRIZE LIST FOR FAIR

Copies of the prize list for the Peterborough Exhibition are now ready for distribution and may be had by calling at The Review office

NEW HUNGARIAN CABINET

Berlin Press Declares it Unreservedly Reactionary and Speculates on Outcome.

(Canadian Press Despatch)

Berlin, Sept. 2.—The press of this city declares the new Hungarian Cabinet as "unreservedly reactionary" and speculates upon the reception which will be given it by the Entente, and, the probable course of Hungarian socialists and working men

BOLSHEVIKI SURROUNDED

(Canadian Press Despatch)

Copenhagen, Sept. 2.—The Lithuanian Legation announces that the Bolsheviki have been shurrounded on the Lithuanina front, and are offering to make peace with Lithuania, whose advance continues.

PRINCE TO VISIT NEW YORK CITY

CONSENTS TO ACCEPT FREEDOM OF GREATEST METROPOLIS IN UNIED STATES.

WARM WELCOME AWAITING HIM

FIRST OF BRITAIN'S ROYAL HOUSE INVITED TO ACCEPT AMERICAN CITIZENSSHIP.

London, Sept. 1. — The Daily Chronicle in its leading editorial yesterday said: "Everyone in this country who appreciates the value of Anglo-American friendship will be glad to learn that the Prince of Wales has been offered, and has consented to accept, the freedom of the City of New York, in the course of his approaching visit to the United States. Is there any other foreign country but the United States which has in its power to pay the visitor such a characteically British compliment? Is there any other visitor to whom Americans could offer it with such imposing significance? Just as President Wilson is the first chief of the American Republic to be made a freeman not only of London, but of many other British cities, so is the Prince of Wales the first member of the British royal family to be offered the freedom of the principal city of America.

SIR THOMAS WHITE LOGICAL LEADER OF PROPOSED CONSERVATIVE PARTY

J. H. Burnham so Maintains in Letter to Montreal Gazette Hon. Robert Rogers Has Put Himself Out of the Running.

The Montreal Gazette of September 1st, says: "Mr. J. H. Burnham, of West Peterborough, seems to be partly of the same view, and announces that at the coming session of Parliament he will sit on the cross benches, where each man is his own leader. There, beside Dr. Michael Clark, he may have Sir Sam Hughes as a side-partner.

This refers to the rapidly growing feeling amonst Conservatives as well as Liberals that a Union Government in time of war, when all parties are or should be of one mind is one thing but Union Government when its members are not of one mind, as upon the tariff policy, is quite another.

Mr. Burnham has written to the Gazette explaining that while he thinks a continuance of Union Government an impossibility he is not for a Conervative party to be led by Hon. Robert Rogers at all. Mr. Burnham says in his letter to the Gazette that while Hon. Robert Rogers is a large hearted and very able man, he showed the hoof when he replied to a taunt of the Opposition by stating that the Opposition would at least acknowledge that he knew how to win elections. This was after Chateaugay and it aroused much unfavorable comment.

"It comes to most men," I suppose," says Mr. Burnham, "to put on the ass's skin at some time, and certainly when I heard Mr. Rogers make his boast, I felt that his time had come."

If Sir Robert Borden had committed himself to a continuance of Unionism, Sir Thomas White would be welcomed as the new leader of the Conservative party.

Mr Burnham's announcement that he would not betray those Liberals who had voted for him by continuing to support Sir Robert Borden and his permanent scheme.

After the period of the war has been most favourable commented upon by leading journals, some of them publishing a cut of him accompanied by his now well-known statement.

GAMBLING ON FOOD SALES CAUSE OF HIGH COST OF LIVING IN WHOLE WORLD

Such is Declaration of Herbert Hoover, Chairman of Inter-Allied Relief Organization.

Paris, Sept. 2.—A distressing era of speculation in foodstuff in the United States and throughout the world's primary food markets, is largely responsible for the high food costs, in the opinion of Herbert Hoover, chairman of the Inter-Allied Relief organization, on the evening of his departure from the United States

Overflowing With Food.

Warehouses in northern European ports are overflowing with foodstuffs, principally meats, fats and dairy products, sent by merchants all over the world, Mr. Hoover said.

Gambled on Sales.

These merchants, he declared, had gambled on sales in Poland, Czecho Slovakia, the Baltic States and Germany, at high prices, but these states have only depreciated local currency and many commodities were in danger of spoiling as certain European market foodstuffs are limited to the ability of the population to buy on credit

GERALD WHALEY WOUNDED IN SHOOTING ACCIDENT

Received Bullet Aimed at Target in right chest.

A very serious accident occurred to Gerald Whatley, eldest son of Mr Fred. Whatley, 182 Rubidge street, Saturday afternoon.

As the boy was walking along the street a bullet, apparently came from a 32 rifle in the hands of a youth indulging in target practice behind nearby fence, struck him in the chest inflicting a severe wound.

Although the victim is able to be around as usual the bullet has not yet been located even after an Xray examination

SMUTTS FOR PREMIER

Johannesburg, Sept. 2. — Lt.-Gen. Jan Christian Smuts has accepted the invitation of Viscount Buxton, Governor-General of the Union of South Africa, to form a new Cabinet. This is made necessary by the recent death of Gen. Louis Botha, who had held the office of premier.

DECIDED TO DIE WITH HIS WIFE

HORRIBLE TRAGEDY ON LEVEL RAILWAY CROSSING AT CHICAGO TODAY.

"I WILL STAY WITH YOU, MARY"

SAYS LOYAL HUSBAND AS HE EMBRACES WIFE AND AWAITS ONCOMING TRAIN.

(Canadian Press Despatch)

Chicago, Sept. 2.—"I will stay wit. you Mary."

With these words William F. Tanner, cashier in the offices of the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad here, closed his eyes, embraced his wife, whose foot was caught in a railroad frog and was killed with her when a limited train on the Chicago and Northwestern Railroad crashed into them last night on a level crossing.

Attempt at Rescue.

John Miller flagman, in attempting to rescue the couple, lost his left leg and sustained a fracture of his right arm.

Three little children are orphan today because of the fateful decision of Tanner to die with his wife.

BRITISH DESTROYER SUNK

Torpedoed in the Baltic Saturday—Eight of Crew Missing.

(Canadian Press Despatch)

London, Sept 2.—The British destroyer Victoria was torpedoed and sunk in the Baltic Sea on Saturday last, August 30, the Admiralty announced today. Eight of her complement are missing.

MOTOR CAR PLUNGES DOWN EMBANKMENT

OCCUPANTS THROWN INTO RIVER AND DROWNED BE-FORE HELP ARRIVED.

(Canadian Press Despatch)

Montreal, Sept 2.—Alfred Marcette, of Drummondville, Omer Castonguey, of the same place, and latter's two children were instantly killed and Catonguey's wife and another child seriously hurt Sunday night, when their auto, dashing down a hill in the darkness missed the bridge and plunged down an embankment into the river Desvanches The story reached this city last night.

The victims were drowned before help could reach them.

Jewelry valued at $10,000 was stolen from the York, Me., of John C. Brekenridge, of New York.

Paper Boxmakers' Union, 10,000 strong in Greater New York, voted to go on strike.

FIFTEEN THOUSAND MEN GO ON STRIKE

ASK TEN HOURS' PAY FOR AN EIGHT-HOUR DAY IN MONTREAL.

(Canadian Press Despatch)

Montreal, Sept. 2. Fifteen thousand men connected with the building industry in this district went on strike this morning for an eight-hour day with a ten-hour day pay

A report received at Union headquarters this morning stated that every man connected with the industry is out, but some of the contractors claim their men are merely taking advantage of the Civic holiday ordered by the Mayor because of the visit of the Prince of Wales, to stop work.

[illegible] Gary chairman of the Board of the United States Steel Corporation, declined to meet personally John Fitzpatrick and other representatives of the American Federation of Labour appointed to organize the workers in the steel industry.

SCOUTS' LAWN SOCIAL

Entertaining Event Given Vimy Ridge Boys by Mrs. Bugg.

The lawn social held at the home of Mrs R Bugg, at 249 Aylmer, in aid of Vimy Ridge Boy Scouts, was a splendid success. A very interestin gentertainment was furnished under the able supervision of Mrs Bugg, and was immensely enjoyed by all present. The program was as follows:

Mrs. Scholey—Song.

Mr. Chas. Coleman—Song

Mrs J. Bugg—Song.

Miss Barbara Cook—Butterfly dance.

Miss Betty Cooke—Song and dance

Mrs A McKinley—Song.

Mr A Seeger—Piano selection.

Mr H Whitlow—Magic entertainer.

Miss D Tyrer—Sailor's horapipe.

B Simms and K. Mein—Comic clows

Scot Master Tyrer and boys—Wild west show and boxing turnout

Miss M Trickle—Elizabeth (small-

(Continued on Page Five.)

THE DAILY REVIEW

ESTABLISHED 1870.

MEMBER OF THE CANADIAN PRESS, LIMITED.

THE DAILY REVIEW is published every afternoon at 4 o'clock (holidays and Sundays excepted) by The Peterborough Review Company, Limited, 164-168 Hunter Street.

SUBSCRIPTION PRICE, $3.00 per year by mail to any part of Canada or Great Britain; $4.00 per year delivered to any part of the city.

THE WEEKLY REVIEW, established 1853, is published every Thursday morning at 10 o'clock. Subscription price $1.50 per year to any part of Canada or Great Britain, or $2.00 a year to the United States.

U. S. Representative—Robert E. Douglas, Chicago.

BOARD OF DIRECTORS:

A. H. STRATTON, President and General Manager; E. A. PECK, ex-M.L.A.; T. F. MATTHEWS and JAMES LYNCH.

TELEPHONES:

Business Dept .... 139 Editorial 436
Mr. Stratton's Residence ... 331

"FOR A GREATER PETERBOROUGH."

TUESDAY, SEPT. 2, 1919.

THE EVOLUTION OF THE LABOR MOVEMENT.

FOR THE FIRST TIME since before the war the workingmen of Peterborough held a Labor Day demonstration yesterday, and the creditable showing that they made in the parade establishes the fact that they have grown both in numbers and in influence during the past five years. Yesterday's celebration marks another stage in the evolution of Union Labor from a modest beginning away back in the eighties to its present status as an element in the industrial machinery of the world.

The first organization of workingmen in America was the Knights of Labor. This was really based on the same general plan as the proposed One Big Union of today, as no distinction was made as to the different occupations. The only condition of membership required was that every candidate should earn his living by some form of labor. Naturally this organization fell apart, and the different crafts formed their own unions as a plain matter of self-protection and in order to advance their own interests. The early nineties of the last century saw the finish of the parent organization, the Knights of Labor. To attempt to foster the One Big Union idea now would be simply a reversion to a system that has been tried out and found wanting.

The idea of a general annual holiday for Labor originated with the Knights of Labor, when on the first Monday in September, 1882, they held a public parade in New York and surprised the public by a display of their numerical strength. Two years later another parade was held in the same place, and it was decided to make such celebrations yearly affairs throughout the United States, this without any legislative action setting the date apart as a legal holiday.

In 1887 the state government of Colorado took the lead in the matter and declared September 1st a legal holiday. State after state of the American Union fell into line, until in 1909 the day was recognized as a holiday everywhere except in Wyoming and North Dakota. It is a statutory holiday now in every state except in Maryland, Wyoming and New Mexico, but in each of these it is declared so every year by proclamation of the government.

The first official recognition that the Labor movement in Canada ever received was the action of the Federal Government in declaring the first Monday in September a legal holiday every year. Then special legislation in the interest of Labor was adopted and the votes of the workingmen are now regarded as a factor in every election, something that becomes an object of attainment among the candidates for office. Labor's representation in Legislature and Parliament has been a mooted problem for years, but it has been found a difficult matter to overcome long-established custom. However, a beginning has been made, and Labor now has its own party with its own candidates in the field, both Federal and Provincial.

"THE BRANDING IRON."

MR. THOMAS ALLEN of Toronto, who has been instrumental in putting in circulation in Canada some of the best fiction of the day, has another offering for the reading public, "The Branding Iron," written by that well-known artist in novel-writing, Katharine Newlin Burt.

In "The Branding Iron" we have the most promising "first" novel of years; a romance of East and West that will appeal equally to lovers of the best fiction and to those who crave the thrill of the untamed wilderness. The character of Joan Landis, the passionate and primitive woman of the mountains, and of the two men who mould her destiny, one her cowboy husband, the other the over-civilized man of the city; the brilliantly colored scenes, ranging from the Wyoming wilderness to the stage of a great New York theatre; the thrilling plot of love, hate, wrong and atonement; and the curiously vivid style that makes you read on and on regardless of time; all combine to make a story that once read will never be forgotten.

Mrs. Burt writes of the West from experience instead of hearsay, and is equally at home in New York or at her Bar B C Ranch in Wyoming. With this novel she takes her place as one of the leading fiction writers of the present generation.

MR. BURNHAM ON THE CROSS BENCHES.

AN ESTEEMED but somewhat prejudiced contemporary says that Mr. J. H. Burnham was not elected as a Unionist in West Peterborough two years ago, but as a straight Conservative. So then it must be that he normal Conservative majority in this riding is approximately four thousand. Is that the idea?

Some one is always thoughtlessly taking the joy out of life by raising these perplexing problems just as the child, thirsting for knowledge, drives its parents to the verge of distraction by raising issues that were never before dreamed of in human philosophy.

The renowned and self-satisfied Mr. Snow, in the Dickens story, floored David Copperfield by gravely asserting that when the price of a bushel of wheat was highest in England business in Doctors' Commons was briskest. David, like many another well-intentioned philosopher, never could reason out that statement to his own satisfaction. Probably like some of those who came after him and tackled the same proposition, the original victims of the problem could not fail to be impressed with the modesty of Mr. Spenlow is not reversing his claim and making it appear that the department of the law business which he represented regulated the agricultural condition of the country instead of tacitly admitting the reverse to be the case.

The esteemed contemporary above referred to some time ago said that Mr. Burnham in 1917 had been elected on a principle, and, that being the case, he could not boast of a personal triumph. Is it possible that a man who stands for a principle, a principle, too, that has been popularly vindicated, is to be made the subject of reproach? If principle does not figure in modern elections, then what is to be regarded as the main qualifications of a candidate for office?

Mr. Burnham was elected as a Unionist, endorsed as such by a public gathering in this city, and by Sir Robert Borden himself. The issues between him and his opponent were clearly defined. He must have received over three thousand Liberal votes to pile up that tremendous majority. Still, even under other conditions, with Unionism left out of the question, the Conservative party could have carried the riding.

The Liberals who voted for Mr. Burnham in 1917 did so with the understanding that Union Government was to be only for the duration of the war. They did not propose to perpetuate a system introduced for a specific object, an object which has already been achieved. Mr. Burnham recognizes this fact and does not propose to commercialize the confidence that was reposed in him two years ago. His action in taking his place among the cross-benchers in Parliament is simply another exemplification of the principle which our contemporary opposed to the limit of its powers in 1917 and which even now it appears unable to appreciate.

EDUCATE THE PUBLIC.

(Brockville Recorder-Times.)

THE INTERNATIONAL Fire Marshals' Convention, now in session at Toronto, has discussed many matters of importance concerning the fighting of a very dangerous menace and one that is always present. It is the enemy of fire with its consequential results in loss of life and property. The convention has emphasized a theory frequently urged in these columns and that is fire prevention. The public should be educated to the importance of preventing fire wastage. The per capita loss from fire in Canada is said to be the highest in the world. Many a fire of large proportions might have been curtailed in the beginning by proper equipment, good judgment on the part of fire fighters, and above all if precautions had been taken before the fire broke out to remove aids to the progress of the blaze. There is no denying the fact that people take too many chances by carelessness. If even ordinary care were taken many a fire would never have started and the losses would not have been recorded. It is not alone the property loss that is involved. How frequently human lives are needlessly sacrificed. By a display of high regard for the preservation of life and property. Hardly a day passes but some form of fire or accident from it is recounted. Tracing the source of such things, carelessness is usually the cause. Let the public mind be aroused and a start will be made in the right direction of preventing fires. A molecule of prevention is worth tons of cure. All premises should be made free of inflammable material.

NOTES AND COMMENT.

UNEASY LIES the king's head that is denied the opportunity of wearing a crown.

• • • • •

SCHOOLS re-opened today as usual, with no talk of strike among either pupils or teachers.

• • • • •

THERE WILL BE a hot time in many a cold storage plant when the new Court of Commerce gets down to business.

• • • • •

THERE IS trouble in the Balkans again, and it was trouble in the Balkans that bred the bloodiest war in the history of the world.

• • • • •

NOW THAT the Prince of Wales has left Toronto, Mayor Tommy Church resumes his old position on the pedestal as the popular idol.

• • • • •

THE NEW COURT of Commerce may be able to do something with the prevailing prices if the members are able to reach high enough.

• • • • •

EVERY SERIOUS situation has its element of comfort. If the dollar is worth only fifty cents, then the man who is broke is not so badly off as he used to be.

• • • • •

THE CHAMPION mean man is the citizen who "stops his paper" because he does not like the policy, but borrows it from a neighbor to see what is going on that is really worth while.

OUR NEIGHBORS across the line who read that the Prince was called to the Bar in Toronto need not conclude that there has been any relaxation of the Ontario Temperance Act for even the most auspicious occasion.

• • • • •

WE NEVER make war on individuals. It is only the principle behind or the system represented that concerns us. But when the individual is actuated by nothing save an inordinate craving for publicity, then some relaxation of his rule is permissible.

OPINIONS OF OTHER EDITORS.

ACTION NEEDED.

(Galt Reporter.)

All this fuss isn't making the cold storage dealer uneasy. He hasn't altered his plans for holding foodstuffs for winter prices.

TIRED WAITING.

(Kingston Whig.)

A Canadian official is going to Washington to get pointers for prosecuting profiteers and hoarders. Hope he will carry them out here, for the people have grown tired waiting to see the Government do vigorous work in cutting down the high cost of living.

HE'LL GET HIS.

(Atlanta Constitution.)

Mrs. William Hohenzollern says "the Lord is leading her husband." If that's the case he'll sure get what's coming to him.

LABOR DAY BABY SHOW A FEATURE

WILLIAM GEORGE STAUNTON WINNER OF FIRST CLASS.

The Baby Show at the Labor Day sports at Riverside Park yesterday proved the feature event of the afternoon. A very large number of entries were on hand and so many handsome babies among the competitors that the judges had great difficulty in deciding the winners in the different classes. The final result of the competition was as follows:

Class 1—Six months and under—One prize, $4.00.—Seven entries — Mrs. Harvey Staunton, Baby Wm. George, aged three months.

Class 2—Six months and under 12—Seven entries. Mrs. D. Corkery, Baby Jack, aged 11 months; Mrs. John Pirie, Baby Mary, aged 11 months. Each participant in this class was awarded a prize of $2.50, the judges deciding on a tie.

A special prize of $1.00 was added to Class 2, owing to the number of entries of really fine babies. Mrs. Earl Warde, Baby Ernest, age seven months, received the award.

The judges of the babies were Mrs. W. R. Morris, Mrs. R. H. Parsons and Alderman R. Morrison. It was only at almost the last moment that these worthy citizens were called upon to act, and the readiness with which they came forward with their services and the able manner in which they handled one of the most delicate tasks that can be given any one to perform are worthy of the highest commendation.

EDITOR'S MAIL

HANG OUT THE FLAGS

Editor Review: Yesterday's parade would have been greatly improved by a display of flags along the route. The Grafton clothing store, splendidly flagged, was the only decoration visible outside the parade to the crowd on George street.

Another year, a courteous request from the Trades an dLabor Council to the business men along the route, to put out their flags, would, no doubt, lead to an equally courteous response. Thanking you for inserting this, if you think it worth while.

CITIZEN.

FORESTERS GIVE UP TEMPLE TO VISITORS

When Mr. G. A. Mitchell, Assistant Supreme Chief Ranger, conceived the idea of providing for the pleasure and comfort of visiting companions and brethren of the Order during their visit to the fair by placing the handsome organization offices in the Temple building at their disposal, besides providing writing material, reading matter, etc., he touched a very popular idea, for, since the beginning of Canada's Great fair the membership have expressed their approval of the hospitality thus afforded by responding to the invitation in large numbers. Visiting members of his great fraternal and insurance organization are high in their praise of the consideration shown them, and the many kindnesses unostentatiously accorded them. In conversation with Mr. Mitchell it was learned that already this month over one million dollars of insurance has been written, which evidences the confidence that the public have in the stability of the Independent Order of Foresters.

The general public, who have not given this organization any study would be surprised if they knew more fully of the many benefits the order is conferring upon mankind. It provides life insurance at cost based on safe, scientific rates, thus eliminating any guesswork about its protection. It paid all war and fit claims in full. Besides the fraternal benefits and the regular insurance, they provide sick, funeral, disability and old age benefits, as well as maintaining a sanitarium and orphans' home for the benefit of the sick members. In fact, it is a golden circle, formed for the protection of yourself and family. The desire of Superintendent Mitchell is that no member or friend will neglect to call at the organization offices on the ground floor of the Independent Order of Foresters, Temple Building, corner of Richmond and Bay streets, Toronto, and receive a souvenir.

COMES TO PETERBORO

Rev. E. J. Lee was appointed pastor of the Free Methodist Church, this city, at the district conference of that denomination held recently in Toronto. Rev. C. Cunningham, formerly of this city, goes to Bracebridge.

Sometimes a man misleads people by being honest with them.

STOP LOOK and LISTEN

before purchasing a baking powder that may possibly contain injurious ingredients. Many food scientists claim that baking powder containing alum is unsafe for use in food. The mere fact that some brands of baking powder have the words "No Alum" on the label is not sufficient proof that they are what they are represented to be. Our chemists find a good many have "No Alum" on the outside but large quantities of it inside.

MAGIC BAKING POWDER

Contains No Alum

Pure Wholesome Economical

One Way To Curb Profiteering

(New York Commercial.)

While Attorney-General Palmer is asking Congress to give him new laws with teeth in them to curb profiteering, consumers have right at hand law with all the teeth in it that are necessary, and which, properly invoked, will be surer in its operation than any statute passed by Congress. It is the law of supply and demand. The consumer has the demand end of it in his own hands and supply will do the rest. If prices are too high, let the consumer refuse to buy. Our experiences during the war have taught us that we can do without a great many things which we thought were essential. It may be argued now that the war is over and we do not need to stint ourselves. This may be true, but it is because of this very fact and our willingness to pay the prices asked, no matter what we think of them, that profiteering is possible.

It is human nature for every one to get all he can for that which he has to offer. The farmer is doing it, the wholesaler is doing it, the commission merchant is doing it, the laborer is doing it, and one may be quite sure that the retailer is doing it. The retailer may be a restaurantkeeper or a hotelkeeper, but he is doing it just the same. For example, a party of two went to the roof garden of a prominent Broadway hotel. They had two plates of ice cream and two "soft" drinks, and two cigars that could have been obtained across the way for 20 cents; the bill was $4.40, whereas $1.40 would have been considered ample in that same place in pre-war days. Yet the most conspicuous feature was not the bill itself, but that there were scores of patrons waiting for tables to be vacated.

If eggs are too dear, let the housewife stop buying them for the time being. Let her use butter substitutes and less meat. Prices will come down forthwith. If there were concerted action of this kind, or in other words, a boycott, high prices would soon fall. This is not a theory, for it has been demonstrated in times past. It would be excellent discipline for the consumer as well as for the dealer. If retailers were made to realize that as soon as they put prices up beyond a reasonable figure they had killed their market they would hesitate. Shoe dealers and clothing dealers could be made to feel the same sort of discipline. But the trouble is that the public will do nothing of the kind. It goes right on paying high prices often for things it does not want, or could get along without, and rants about the high cost of living and profiteering.

To get prices back into proper relationship the law of supply and demand should be invoked. It would involve increased production to increase the supply and greater economy of living to reduce the demand. If these things are not undertaken voluntarily they have a way of adjusting themselves anyway. High prices stimulate production and decrease consumption, slowly, perhaps, but reaching a correct relationship in the end.

WIT AND WISDOM

Dead Loss.

She—I can never be yours. Here are your presents.

He—All very fine. But what about those cigars I gave your father and those quarters I gave your little brother?

Taking No Chances.

"Dick, Darling," hinted Mrs. Youngbride, "do you remember how we used to sit on one chair at papa's?"

"That was all right at papa's," replied the practical Dick, "but I'm not going to forget that these chairs cost me good money."

Failed To Co-operate.

"You are an hour late this morning, Sam," said a captain to his orderly.

"Yas, sah, I know it, sah; I was kicked by a mule on my way, sah."

"That ought not to make you late an hour, Sam."

"Well, you see, Cap'n, it wouldn't have if he'd only have kicked me in this direction, but he kicked me the other way."

What Papa Said.

Herb—I hear that you called upon old Grumper yesterday and asked his consent to your marriage with his daughter.

Sid—That so?

Herb—What was the outcome?

Sid—Well, he imposed rather too severe a condition, which, fond as I am of Miss Grumper, I cannot see my way to accept.

Herb — Indeed! And what was that, if it is a fair question?

Sid—Oh, I'll tell you. It's no secret. He said he'd see me hanged first!

Accustomed To It.

A man took a friend to an opera. The music, grand as it was, sounded a little noisy, more especially when the bang of drums and the crash of cymbals occurred at intervals. But the friend's face remained unmoved.

"Doesn't this glorious volume of sound affect you?"

"Oh, not in the least," was the calm reply. "You forget I am a boilermaker."

FEMININE LOGIC

The young lady across the way says millions of pounds of fish are caught every year on the Newfoundland banks, and she supposes the fido goes out before they realize it and leaves them there an easy prey.

Where there is a will there is usually a lot of lawyers in the way.

DODD'S KIDNEY PILLS

FOR ALL KIDNEY DISEASES

RHEUMATISM BRIGHT'S DISEASE BACKACHE DIABETES

23 THE

POINTED PARAGRAPHS.

Talk is cheap, but it's votes that count.

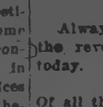
The favorite word with a woman is the last one.

All men are born illiterates, and many never outgrow it.

If some people would make it a rule to pay as they go, they would never get very far from home.

Always put off until tomorrow the revenge you could accomplish today.

Of all the rare things on this earth,
About the hardest one to find
Is a man who makes love to his wife
When there's trouble on his mind.



Wood's Phosphodine.

The Great English Remedy. Tones and invigorates the whole nervous system, makes new blood in old veins. Cures Nervous Debility, Mental and Brain Worry, Despondency, Loss of Energy, Palpitation of the Heart, Failing Memory. Price $1 per box, or five for $5. One will please, six will cure. Sold by all druggists or mailed in plain pkg. on receipt of price. A pamphlet mailed free. THE [illegible] MEDICINE CO., Toronto, Ont. (Formerly

NOTICE

Tenders will be received by the undersigned up to NOON, SEPT. 10, 1919, for the erection of a concrete culvert at Fowler's Corners. Tenders addressed to G. B. Nichols, Reeve of Smith, R. R. No. 3, Lakefield. Quantities, etc., to be approved of by Mr. Nichols.

ED. M. ELLIOTT,
County Clerk.

Toronto Savings and Loan COMPANY

Peterborough

Head Office: 425-427 George Street

Paid-Up Capital ..$1,000,000.00
Reserve Fund $1,100,000.00

SAVINGS DEPARTMENT — Deposits received of One Dollar and upwards. Interest paid quarterly, accrues from date of deposit to date of withdrawal.

Every facility and convenience is afforded to depositors.

INVESTMENT DEPARTMENT — Debentures issued for sums of $100 & upwards for periods of one to five years, upon which special rates of interest are paid, depending upon the term of investment.

Executors and trustees are authorized by law to invest in the Debentures of this institution.

Money to loan at lowest current rates of interest.

W. G. MORROW,
Managing Director.

CLOCKS : the Gift Kind :

Best assortment in the city of French Marble Clocks, Fancy Boudoir Clocks, Mantel Clocks, Bronze and Ornamental Clocks.

Prices moderate; Values defy competition.

Schneider's

367 George St. Next Turnbull's

WRIGLEY'S

5c a package before the war

5c a package during the war

5c a package NOW

THE FLAVOUR LASTS
SO DOES THE PRICE!

182

BEAUTIFY NEW BRIDGE WITH GRANITE FINISH

BOARD OF WORKS DECIDE TO ACCEPT ENGINEER BARBER'S RECOMMENDATION.

At the Board of Works meeting last night the question of the granite finish on the bridge was again discussed and again another conclusion arrived at.

At a previous meeting of the Board of Works held early in the month, it will be remembered it was decided to put the chipped granite finish on all the facings of the brigdidge except the sophets or under sides of the arches, which are to be in ordinar granite.

At a meeting of the special bridge committee last Wednesday it was decided to leave off all granite finish on the bridge.

Last night Mr. Barber was on hand to submit his views to the Board o Works. He considered the chipped granite finish essential to the good appearance of the bridge and recommended that if economy were necessary the red tile could be left off the hand rail to better advantage both from an economic and beauty standpoint.

After a heated discussion some of the aldermen realizing Mr. Barber was the man from whom to receive suggestions relented of their previous resolution. Ald. Phelan declared that last night's resolution was passed over his head and strictly against his wishes. He stated he was tired of passing resolutions and rescinding them.

Ald. Turner moved the following resolution to be submitted to the Council and it was seconded by Ald Morrison: The resolution was that the Council be recommended to rescind the resolution of the bridge committee in reference to the finish of the bridge and that the sophets of the arches of the bridge be finished in smooth concrete as it comes from the forms with the exception of 18 ins. on the edge, which will be the chipped granite finish and all outside facings except those of the retaining walls east of the river be finished in chipped granite according to specifications. This carried.

The earth is believed to be flat at the poles, and some candidates are flattened at the polls.

H.P. Lindsay Agency Co.
Real Estate and Insurance
Automobile Licenses
District Agents for Security Life

MOTORISTS

Do You Want to Save Gas?
Do You Want More Power?
Do You Want Your Car Cleaned While you Run?
Do You Want Real Pleasure in Motoring?
THEN BY ALL MEANS BUY
"ENEOGAS"
REFERENCE GIVEN
Sold by Best Dealers

H. P. LINDSAY AGENCY CO.,
Phone 311. 392 Water St.

Sir Wilfrid Laurier Said:

[illegible] has money is to invest, and [illegible] than in Life Insurance.
As an ESTATE BUILDER [illegible] to equal Life Insurance

TAKE THE FOLLOWING ACTUAL RESULT

A [illegible] sixteen years of age took out a 15 years Endowment [illegible] in the Sun Life of Canada, which matured on the first day of April. The young man paid annually $66.30 for fifteen years and to-day [illegible] through that investment, an immediate estate [illegible] in case of death.

DO YOU KNOW THAT THIS AMOUNTS TO ALMOST 15 PER CENT COMPOUND INTEREST ON EVERY DOLLAR PAID?

No wonder Sir Wilfrid said he might have added (no better place than the Sun Life of Canada) "there is no better way to invest it than in LIFE INSURANCE."

SUN LIFE INSURANCE COMPANY OF CANADA
Crown Chambers Building, 402 Water St., Peterboro
PHONE 14

W. H. HILL, Manager, Central Ontario
A. WEDDELL, J. D. CAMERON, INSPECTORS, H. S. McDUFFEE, D. H. MOORE

Seven Keys TO Baldpate

By EARL DERR BIGGERS

Copyright, 1913, by the Bobbs-Merrill Company

"The man with the seventh key, I suppose—that man Bland heard walking about last night when we were at dinner. Don't tell me you didn't see him in that mixup at the foot of the steps."

"Well, I did think there was another guy," the mayor answered, "but Lou said I was crazy."

"Lou does you an injustice. There was another guy, and if you are anxious to recover your precious package I advise you to wake him up to the responsibilities of the day, not me."

The mayor considered. Mr. Max, who had hastily made the rounds of the three rooms, came back with empty hands.

"Well," said the mayor, "I might as well admit it—I'm up in the air. I don't know just at this minute where to get off. But that state of affairs don't last long with me, young fellow. I'll go to the bottom of this before the day is out, believe me. And if I can't do anything else I'll take you back to Reuton myself and throw you in jail for robbery."

"I wouldn't do that," smiled Magee. "Think of the awful job of explaining to the white necktie crowd how you happened to be dynamiting a safe on Baldpate mountain at midnight."

"Oh, I guess I can get around that," said the mayor. "That money belongs to a friend of mine—Andy Rutter. I happen to go to the inn for a little rest and I grab you dynamiting the safe. I'll keep an eye on you today, Mr. Magee. And let me tell you now that if I catch you or any of the bunch that's with you trying to make a getaway from Baldpate there's going to be a war break out."

"I don't know about the other hermits," laughed Magee, "but personally I expect to be here for several weeks to come. Whew! It's cold in here. Where's the hermit? Why hasn't he been up to fix my fire?"

"Yes, where is he?" repeated Mr. Cargan. "That's what everybody'd like to know. He hasn't showed up. Not a sign of breakfast, and me as hollow as a reformer's victory."

"He's backslid," cried Magee.

"The quitter," sneered Max. "It's only a quitter would live on the mountain in a shack anyhow."

"You're rather hard on poor old Peters," remarked Magee, "but when I think that I have to get up and dress in a refrigerating plant I can't say I blame you. If only the fire were lighted"—

He smiled his most ingratiating smile on his companion.

"By the way, Mr. Cargan, you're up and dressed. I've read a lot of magazine articles about you, and they one and all agree that you're a good fellow. You'll find kindling and paper beside the hearth."

"What!" The mayor's roar seemed to shake the windows. "Young man, with a nerve like yours, you could wheedle the price of a battleship from Carnegie. I—I"— He stood for a moment gazing almost in awe at Magee. Then he burst forth into a whole souled laugh. "I am a good fellow," he said. "I'll show you."

He went into the other room and despite the horrified protests of Lou Max hauled himself amid the ashes of the fireplace. When he had a blaze under way Mr Magee came shivering from the other room and held out his hand.

"Mr. Cargan," he laughed, "you're a prince." He noted with interest that the mayor's broad shoes were mighty near $200,000.

While Mr. Magee drew on his clothes the mayor and Max sat thoughtfully before the fire, the former with his pudgy hands folded over the vast expanse where no breakfast reposed. Mr. Magee explained to them that the holder of the sixth key had arrived.

"A handsome young lady," he remarked. "Her name is Myra Thornhill."

"Old Henry Thornhill's daughter," reflected the mayor. "Well, seems I've sort of lost the habit of being surprised now. I tell you, Lou, we're breaking into the orchid division up here."

While Mr. Magee shaved—in ice cold water, another black mark against the hermit of Baldpate—he turned over in his mind the events of the night before.

He was ready to descend at last and came into the parlor of his suit with greatcoat and hat. In reply to Mr. Cargan's unasked question, he said:

"I'm going up the mountain presently to reason with our striking cook."

"You ain't going to leave this inn, Magee," said the mayor.

"Not even to bring back a cook! Come, Mr. Cargan, be reasonable. You may go with me if you suspect my [illegible]"

They went out into the hall and Mr. Magee passed down the corridor to the farther end, where he rapped on the door of Miss Thornhill's room. She appeared almost immediately, buried beneath furs and wraps.

"You must be nearly frozen," remarked Mr. Magee pityingly. "You and your maid come down to the office. I want you to meet the other guests."

"I'll come," she replied. "Mr. Magee, I've a confession to make. I invented the maid. It seemed so horridly unconventional and shocking—I couldn't admit that I was alone. That was why I wouldn't let you build a fire for me."

"Don't worry," smiled Magee. "You'll find we have all the conveniences up here. I'll present you to a chaperon shortly—a Mrs. Norton, who is here with her daughter. Allow me to introduce Mr. Cargan and Mr Max."

The girl bowed with a rather startled air, and Mr. Cargan mumbled something that had "pleasure" in it. In the office they found Professor Bolton and Mr. Bland sitting gloomily before the fireplace.

"Got the news, Magee?" asked the haberdasher. "Peters has done a disappearing act."

It was evident to Magee that everybody looked upon Peters as his creature and laid the hermit's sins at his door. He laughed.

"I'm going to head a search party shortly," he said. "Don't I detect the odor of coffee in the distance?"

"Mrs. Norton," remarked Professor Bolton dolefully, "has kindly consented to do what she can."

The girl of the station came through the dining room door. It was evident she had no share in the general gloom that the hermit's absence cast over Baldpate. Her eyes were bright with the glories of morning on a mountain. In their depths there was no room for petty annoyances.

"Good morning," she said to Mr. Magee. "Isn't it bracing? Have you been outside? Oh, I"—

"Miss Norton—Miss Thornhill," explained Magee. "Miss Thornhill has the sixth key, you know. She came last night without any of us knowing."

With lukewarm smiles, the two girls shook hands. Outwardly the glances they exchanged were nonchalant and casual, but somehow Mr. Magee felt that among the matters they established were social position, wit, cunning, guile and taste in dress.

When the rather unsatisfactory substitute for breakfast was consumed, Mr. Magee rose briskly.

"Now," he said, "I'm going to run up to the hermit's shack and reason with him as best I can. I shall paint in touching colors our sad plight. If the man has an atom of decency—"

"A walk on the mountain in the morning," said Miss Thornhill quickly. "Splendid. I"—

"Wonderful," put in Miss Norton. "I, for one, can't resist. Even though I haven't been invited, I'm going along." She smiled sweetly. She had beaten the other girl by the breadth of a hair, and she knew it. New glories shone in her eyes.

"Good for you!" said Magee. The evil hour of explanations was at hand surely. "Run up and get your things."

While Miss Norton was gone Mr. Cargan and Lou Max engaged in earnest converse near a window. After which Mr. Max pulled on his overcoat.

"I ain't been invited either," he said, "but I reckon I'll go along. I always wanted to see what a hermit lived like when he's really buckled down to the hermit business. And then a walk in the morning has always been my first rule for health. You don't mind, do you?"

"Who am I," asked Magee, "that I should stand between you and health? Come along, by all means."

The three went out through the front door and found under the snow a hint of the path that led to the shack of the post card merchant.

"Will you go ahead?" asked Magee of Max.

"Sorry," grinned Max, "but I guess I'll bring up the rear."

"Suspicion," said Mr. Magee, shaking his head, "has caused a lot of trouble in the world. Remember the cruelty practiced on Pueblo Sam."

"I do," replied Mr. Max, "and it nearly breaks my heart. But there's a little matter I forgot to mention last night. Suspicion is all right in its place."

"Where's that?" asked Mr. Magee.

Mr. Max tapped his narrow chest. "Here," he said. So the three began the climb, Mr. Magee and the girl ahead, Mr. Max leering at their heels.

(To Be Continued.)

Cook's Cotton Root Compound.

A safe, reliable regulating medicine. Sold in three degrees of strength—No. 1, $1; No. 2 $3, No. 3, $5 per box. Sold by all druggists, or sent prepaid on receipt of price. Free pamphlet. Address: THE COOK MEDICINE CO., TORONTO, ONT. (Formerly Windsor.)

CONSTANT PAIN AFTER EATING

The Tortures of Dyspepsia Corrected by "Fruit-a-tives"

ST. MARTIN'S, N.B.

"For two years, I suffered tortures from Severe Dyspepsia. I had constant pains after eating; pains down the sides and back; and horrible bitter stuff often came up in my mouth.

I tried doctors, but they did not help me. But as soon as I started taking "Fruit-a-tives", I began to improve and this medicine, made of fruit juices, relieved me when everything else failed."

MRS. HUDSON MARSHBANK.

50c. a box, 6 for $2.50, trial size 25c. At all dealers or sent postpaid by Fruit-a-tives Limited, Ottawa.

INTERESTING STORY TOLD BY VETERAN OF MESOPOTAMIA

Corp. A. Smythe Returns After Very Interesting Experiences.

Corp. Arthur Smythe returned home from overseas a few days ago. His experiences are vast and varied. He went to France serving in the infantry but later took a tiller engineer's course and was sent to Mesopotamia to help remedy the terrible situation the troops were in after the campaign of 1916. Corp. Smythe is a veteran of the Boer war when he was wounded and captured by the enemy.

He has in his possession a collection of interesting souvenirs from Egypt, Mesopotamia, India and France. From these many interesting facts can be learned about these far-away countries.

The city of Alexandria, the seaport of Egypt, resembles our modern cities. From the pictures and Corp. Smythe's description, it is a handsome city of stately architecture.

The conditions of Mesopotamia are infinitely different. In this country very few reforms have been introduced. The tilers of the soil are the old fashioned wooden ploughs, similar to those used by the earliest settlers of this province. The people live in low huts of mud and thatch and dress in the old robes and turbans of the Arab. Corp. Smythe has pictures taken by himself showing the natives filling their goat-skin water bottles from a stream, and many other such interesting pictures.

He reports that Mesopotamia is not suitable for a white man to live in. As a part of his uniform he wore a large shade attached to his helmet, and on his back to protect his spine from the intense heat and wore short, loose trousers, leaving his knees bare. The work done in Mesopotamia was wonderfully accomplished under extremely difficult circumstances.

FIFTIETH ANNIVERSARY

Mr. and Mrs. John Smith Celebrate Golden Wedding.

Mr. and Mrs. John Smith of the township of Harvey celebrated their golden wedding on the afternoon of August 22.

Mr. and Mrs. Smith were married fifty years ago in the township of Otonabee, and moved to the township of Harvey forty-eight years ago. They cleared the farm out of a forest, and have resided on it ever since.

Mr. and Mrs. Smith have a family of nine, four sons and five daughters, all of whom were home for the golden wedding, together with a company of about seventy-five neighbors and relatives. The weather was ideal, and all gathered on the lawn in the afternoon, when many old-time incidents were related.

Tea was served from 4 to 6, after which good music was dispensed and short speeches delivered hoping that Mr. and Mrs. Smith be spared a few more years of health and strength. After the singing of Auld Lang Syne and God Save the King, all departed for their homes.

Let a woman have her will, and she'll give herself away.

If a man looks upon the wine when it is red, it is very likely to cast reflections upon his nose.

WILSON'S FLY PADS

Kill them all, and the germs too. 10c a packet at Druggists, Grocers and General Stores.

The Ontario Railway and Municipal Board

IN THE MATTER of the Application of Mary A. Robinson and Jemima Chamberlain, of the Township of North Monaghan, and Elizabeth R. Winch, of the City of Peterborough, all in the County of Peterborough, for an order for the annexation of certain land in the Township of North Monaghan, to the City of Peterborough.

APPOINTMENT FOR HEARING

The Ontario Railway and Municipal Board hereby appoints TUESDAY, THE NINTH DAY OF SEPTEMBER, A.D., 1919, at the hour of HALF-PAST ONE O'CLOCK (Railway Time), in the afternoon, at the Court House, in the City of Peterborough, for the hearing herein.

DATED at Toronto, this Twentieth day of August, A.D., 1919.

D. M. McINTYRE, Chairman.
(SEAL)

ADVERTISING RATES.

The rate for Classified Advertisements is one cent a word per first insertion; subsequent insertions half a cent per word. Minimum number of words ten. Special terms for 5,000 words or over.

Advertisements marked "till forbidden" are accepted on the understanding that they will be published until a written or verbal notice to stop them is received.

BIRTH, MARRIAGE, DEATH, MEMORIAL NOTICES AND CARDS OF THANKS, 50c per insertion in Daily and Weekly, not exceeding one inch space. All words over the inch, one cent each.

CHURCH ANNOUNCEMENTS.

Sunday Services Announcement in Saturday daily (no reference to concerts allowed) $5 per year per inch. Extra space in this column for the purpose stated, 15c per inch. Regular rates apply for other than Sunday services.

FEMALE HELP WANTED.

WANTED, MAID FOR APARTMENT. Apply 373 Park St. Phone 1381.

WANTED — HOUSEKEEPER, between 30 and 45 years of age, to cook for two, and look after aged woman. Apply between 5 and 7 o'clock at 690 Ross street.

WANTED — GIRLS. APPLY at Gate House, Canadian General Electric Co., Ltd.

YOUNG WOMAN OR GIRL for general housework. Apply Review office for address.

LOST.

LOST POCKETBOOK containing a sum of money. Ten dollars reward on returning to Review office.

LOST ON ROAD BETWEEN Crowe's Landing and Peterborough, via Lakefield, black leather club bag. Finder please notify Review office and receive reward.

STRAYED

STRAYED INTO THE PREMISES of Lot 18, Concession 6, Otonabee, 1 yearling steer, red with horns. Owner may have same by proving property and paying expenses.

FOUND.

FOUND ON SIMCOE STREET, near Park, black enameled frame for holding glass in headlight on motor car. Owner can have same by applying at Review and paying for this notice.

FOR SALE.

FOR SALE—THREE THOROUGHBRED Persian kittens. Apply Mrs Wright, 466 Weller street.

PEAR LAWN FARM OFFERS for sale one high grade short horn cow rising 4 years old with a choice red roan heifer calf 7 months old at foot, sired by imported bull; this is a choice calf; cow is bred again to Golden King (imp.) Also one nice bull 6 months old, sired by Escana Mascot, imported, and out of a first prize winning cow, a heavy milker. I have five litters of pure bred imported Yorkshire boars and sows ready to wean; a few nice sows ready to breed. If you want to buy some good breeding stock, come and see these. A few nice registered shorthorn cows and heifers in calf to Golden King (imp.) for sale. Herbert J. Miller, Keene, Ont.

FARM FOR SALE.

A first-class farm for sale; four miles from city. Apply Review for address.

THE FOLLOWING CAN BE seen and bought cheaply at 207 Simcoe street: Excavating tools, picks, shovels, wheel-barrows, scrapers, plough, etc., dump cart and harness, stone boat, drop bottom wagons, gravel wagon with 1¾-yard box, contractor's hoisting winch, tackle, etc., whiffletrees, neckyokes, etc., also a lot of window and door frames, handy for alterations and repairs. All in good shape.
Wm. Lytle Cartage Co.

A BRICK HOUSE ON McGILL street; electric light and water in the house. For particulars apply to Review office.

FOR SALE—C. G. E. ¼ H.P. 200 vol. 2 phase 60 cycles motor. Apply at Review office.

LEGAL CARDS.

HALL & HALL
Barristers and Solicitors
Money to Loan at Lowest Rates.
Telephone 59. 118 Hunter St.

GORDON & O'BRIEN
Barristers, Solicitors and Notaries.
Money to Loan at Lowest Rates.
Telephone 219.
G. N. GORDON J. A. O'BRIEN

C. R. WIDDIFIELD, B.A.
Barrister, Etc.
and Solicitor for the City of Peterborough. Bank of Commerce Building. 'Phone 550.

MOORE & WEARING
Barristers and Solicitors
MONEY TO LOAN.
408 Water St. Opposite Post Office

JAMES FORDYCE STRICKLAND
Barrister, Solicitor, Notary Public
MONEY TO LOAN.
395 Water Street Peterborough
PHONE 181.

S. T. MEDD
Barrister, Solicitor, Notary
Office over Dominion Bank
Cor. Simcoe & George Sts.
Telephone No. 23
Private funds to loan at current rates upon easy terms.

PECK, KERR & McELDERRY
Barristers, Solicitors, Notaries, 419 Water street, Peterborough. Money to loan at lowest current rates of interest. Easy terms of repayment.
E. A. Peck. F. D. Kerr.
V. J. McElderry

J. EDMUND L. GOODWILL
Barrister, Solicitor, Notary Public, Etc. Office 375 Water St. Phone 101
Successor to Roger, Bennet & Goodwill
MONEY TO LOAN at current rates upon easy terms

A. E. DIXON
Barrister, Solicitor, etc.
Offices corner Hunter & George Sts. Entrance next Madill's Drug Store.

O'CONNELL & CORKERY
Barristers, Solicitors, Notaries Public, etc. Money to Loan on Easy Terms of Payment
D. O'Connell, J. M. Corkery,
131½ Hunter St Peterborough,
Telephone 344

R. H. HALL,
Barrister, Solicitor, etc.
Peterborough Ont., office corner Hunter and Water Sts., over Canadian Bank of Commerce. Trust funds to loan on easy terms of payment.

MEDICAL CARDS.

DR. E. E. HARVEY
Silver Medalist, University of Toronto
Special attention to diseases of Women and Children
Office: 213 Brock Street
Hours: 1.30 to 5 p.m., 7 to 8 p.m
Phone 333.

DR. BUCHANAN
F.R.S.C., Edin., M.R.C.S., Eng., L.R.C.P., Lon. Eye, Ear, Nose & Throat Specialist. Hours: 9-11 a.m., 2-4 and 7-8 p.m. Phone 519. Office corner Water and Murray streets.

DENTISTRY.

DR. W. N. HAYES
has opened a Dental practice in the Parrie Building, George street.
'Phone 652 for appointments.

OSTEOPATHY.

DRS. WALMSLEY & SETTLE
Osteopath Physicians
Office over Crown Building, Hunter and Water Streets. Entrance 124 Hunter street. Office hours: 9 to 12 a.m., 2 to 5 p.m. Evenings by appointment. Office Phone 649.

MONEY TO LOAN.

There has been placed in our hands considerable trust funds to loan at 6½ per cent. on first-class real estate property.
GORDON & O'BRIEN
Phone 219. 395 George St.

Piano Tuning
Phone 595
The GREENE MUSIC Co.

HARD COAL
EGG, STOVE,
NUT, PEA
H. B. TAYLOR & SON
160 AYLMER-ST.
Phone 200

Overdoing

How Women Break Down

Owing to the modern manner of living and the nervous haste of every woman to accomplish just so much each day, they overdo, and as a consequence develop ailments peculiar to their sex, as is indicated by backache, headache, nervousness, the blues, displacements and weakness.

Women who find themselves in this condition should slow down, and depend upon that good old fashioned root and herb remedy, Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, to restore them to health and strength, for there is no other remedy known that so quickly restores a healthy, normal condition.

Here is the Story of a Most Remarkable Recovery

Minneapolis, Minn.—"I was run down and nervous, could not rest at night, and was more tired in the morning than when I went to bed. I have two children, the youngest three months old, and it was drudgery to care for them as I felt so irritable and generally worn out. From lack of rest and appetite my baby did not get enough nourishment from me, so I started to give him two bottle feedings a day. After taking three bottles of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound I felt like a new woman, full of life and energy. It is a pleasure to care for my children and I am very happy with them and feel fine. I nurse my baby exclusively again, and can't say too much for your medicine."
Mrs. A. L. MILLER, 2633 East 24th St.

Surely this proves the curative value of

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

LYDIA E. PINKHAM MEDICINE CO., LYNN, MASS.

Hard-Wearing Stockings that Require Less Mending

That's what Buster Brown Stockings are, for we designed them specially to stand the boisterous games your boy loves. Made them with a two-ply leg and three-ply heel and toe. Made them from extra-long yarn spun in our own factory.

Our employees have had years of special training in knitting Buster Brown quality and good looks into hosiery. Your boy will appreciate their snug-fitting comfort and neat appearance.

Buster Brown Stockings are young gentlemen's stockings—suitable for all occasions. And you'll find they do wear longer—they require less mending. You'll find it takes less money to clothe your boy.

Ask your dealer for "Buster Brown" durable hosiery. Sold everywhere.

The Chipman-Holton Knitting Co., Limited
Hamilton, Ont.—Mills also at Welland

BUSTER BROWN'S SISTER'S STOCKING

Buster Brown's Sister's Stocking for the girls is a splendid looking stocking at a moderate price. A two-thread English mercerized lisle stocking, that is shaped to fit and wears very well indeed.
Colors: Black, Leather Shade, Tan, Pink, Blue and White.

The BUSTER BROWN STOCKING

PETERBOROUGH BEAT PORT HOPE BY ONE RUN IN DOUBLE HEADER

Large Labor Day Crowd Witness Two of Best Games of Season—Scores 4—4 4—3.

After tieing the score in the morning's game of yesterday's double header by a spirited ninth inning rally, the Petes went out and beat the Port Hope team in the afternoon fixture by a score of 4 to 3.

The afternoon game was especially interesting as it brought together the old rivals, Kirn and "Canon Ball" Scott, who came down from Lindsay to do the slab work for Port Hope. It was a pitchers' duel from the start and it proved who was the better pitcher as Kirn allowed only four hits to Scot's eleven but it must be admitted that some of these were of the scratchy variety that would have been cut off by a more speedier infield. Kirn's support was very ragged, his team making seven errors while he himself grabbed seven assists without a boot. No one can deny that Kirn can field his position next thing to perfectly.

The locals opened up the scoring in the third when they got a runner accross the plate with too hits, a stolen base and an error. The Port Hope team got it back and one extra in their innings of the fourth stanza by means of a hit, batsman a hit and two errors. From that on the game went along quietly with both teams losing good chances until the seventh when the locals evened it up and turned around in the eighth and made it two runs to the good when Swanston whaled out a three bagger with Kirn and Cherett on the bases. Then in the ninth the game was nearly thrown away when Cherett tossed wide to first on R. Hill's grounder and Weir and Sleemon followed with two clean singles. Lorney Rose was put in to stop the onslaught at this dangerous point, in spite of the fact that he had pitched the morning's game, and retired the next three batters by the strike-out route. Rose made himself a favorite with the fans by his work on the mound on Saturday, especially by the way he saved the afternoon game when it appeared to be all but lost.

R. Rose, at second, played good ball, although he was hampered by a very sore ankle in the second game which probably to a large extent accounts for his two errors. But everything considered, they were great games of baseball and the large afternoon crowd stayed till the last man was out.

The game by innings:

First Inning.

Port Hope—Rowden popped to R. Rose; A. Hill fanned and F. Chalk grounded to Kirn. No runs, hits or errors.

Peterborough—Cherett filed out to the centre fielder who was playing in close; R. Rose hit safely and was sent to second on a balk by Scott and took third on a pass ball; Swanston drew a pass and after Jackson had struck out, Murray was hit, filling the bases; Heenan popped to the short stop. No runs, one hit, no errors.

Second Inning.

Port Hope—R. Chalk was safe on Cherett's error; R. Hill hit a single and the bases were full when Cherett booted Weir's grounder. Then Kirn came to the rescue, struck out Sleemon, forced Maher to pop a fouitly, which L. Rose made a nice catch of and fanned Scott. No runs, one hit, two errors.

Peterborough—L. Rose and Kirn popped to Maher and McCarney struck out. No runs, hits or errors.

Third Inning.

Port Hope—Rowden was safe on R. Rose's error; A. Hill sacrificed him to second but their chance was lost when F. Chalk and R. Chalk grounded out. No runs, no hits, one error.

Peterborough—Cherett beat out a nice bunt and stole second; R. Rose struck out; Swanston single, sending Cherett to third and stole second; Jackson missed three, but Murray was safe when Scott let his grounder get away from him and Cherett scored; Heenan struck out. One run, two hits, one error.

Fourth Inning.

Port Hope—R. Hills got in the way of one of Kirn's curves; Weir was safe when R. Rose missed Kirn's thrown in an attempt at a double play; Sleemon singled, scoring R. Hills and L. Rose missed Swanston's throw to third and Weir scored; Maher grounded to L. Rose who threw Sleemon out at the plat; Scott hit into a fast double play, Rose to Cherett to Jackson. Two runs, one hit, two errors.

Peterborough—L. Rose opened up with a single; Kirn sacrificed him to second and McCarney sacrificed him to third. Cherett missed a wide one on a hit-and-run play for his third strike. No runs, one hit, no errors.

Fifth Inning.

Port Hope—Rowden and A. Hill grounded to Kirn and F. Chalk filed to A. Hill. No runs, hits or errors.

Peterborough — R. Rose started with a single but Swanston and Jackson struck out and Murray popped to the catcher. No runs, one hit, no errors.

Sixth Inning.

Port Hope—R. Chalk grounded to Cherett and R. Hills and Weir grounded to Kirn. No runs, hits or errors.

Peterborough—Heenan went to grounded; L. Rose singled and Kirn fanned; McCarney hit an easy one to the pitcher and Heenan was thrown out at the plate; Cherett went out bunting a foul on his third strike. No runs, one hit, one error.

Seventh Inning.

Port Hope—Sleemon grounded to L. Rose; Maher popped to Cherett and Scott grounded out to R. Rose. No runs, hits or errors.

Peterborough—R. Rose drew the first pass of the game; Swanston and Jackson followed with singles; Murray fanned; Heenan was out for hitting an infield fly, but when Rowden missed it R. Rose came home with the tieing run; L. Rose made the third out, Scott to A. Hill. One run, two hits, one error.

Eighth Inning.

Port Hope—Rowden received Kirn's only pass of the game; A. Hill grounded to Kirn; F. Chalk struck out and R. Chalk grounded to Cherett. No runs, hits or errors.

Peterborough—Kirn started the fireworks with a single; McCaney attempted to sacrifice but popped to the pitcher; Cherett hit a single down the third base line; R. Rose struck out, but Swanston came through with a mighty wallop to centre that went for three bases, scoring Kirn and Cherett with the runs which eventually saved and won the game; Jackson weakly popped to the first baseman. Two runs, three hits, no errors.

Ninth Inning.

Port Hope—R. Hills went to second when Cherett threw wild to first and went to third on a wild pitch; Weir scored him on a nice single to left and Sleemon followed by a hard hit over second. Then Manager Solomon chased Kirn to left field, putting Murray on third and L. Rose in the box. Maher, Scott and Rowden fell victims to Rose's slants with the tieing and probable winning run. One run, two hits, one error.

Morning Game.

Port Hope	AB	R	H	PO	A	E
Rowden, 2b	5	1	2	1	4	0
A. Hills, 1b	4	0	1	12	1	0
*Weir, lf	3	0	0	2	0	0
F. Chalk, 3b	4	0	1	3	2	1
R. Chalk, c	4	0	1	5	0	0
Sleemon, m	3	0	0	1	0	1
R. Hills, rf	4	1	2	0	0	0
Maher, ss	4	1	0	2	1	1
W. Hills, p	4	1	1	1	4	1
Total	35	4	8	27	12	4

Peterborough	AB	R	H	PO	A	E
Cherett, ss	5	0	1	2	1	0
R. Rose, 2b	4	1	2	1	2	2
Swanston, c	4	0	3	8	0	0
Jackson, 1b	5	0	1	15	0	0
Murray, lf, 3b	3	0	0	0	0	1
Heenan, rf	4	0	0	0	0	0
L. Rose, 3b, p	4	0	2	1	3	1
Kirn, p, lf	3	1	1	0	7	1
McCarney, m	3	0	0	0	0	0
Total	35	4	11	27	16	7

*Cherett out bunting foul on third strike.

Heenan called out on an infield fly.

Sacrifice hits—A. Hills, Kirn, McCarney.

Three-base hits—Swanston.

Double play—Rose to Cherett to Jackson.

Struck out—By Scott 11, by Kirn 4, by Rose 3.

Bases on balls—Off Scott 2, off Kirn 1.

Hit batsman—By Scott (Murray), by Kirn (R. Hills).

Wild pitch—Kirn.

Balk—Scott.

Umpires—Kay and Johnston.

Afternoon Game.

Port Hope	AB	R	H	PO	A	E
R. Rose, 2b	4	1	1	4	3	0
Swanston, c	4	0	1	9	2	0
Jackson, 1b	5	0	0	4	0	1
Murray, 3b	4	2	2	3	1	0
Heenan, lf	4	0	2	0	0	0
L. Rose, p	4	0	1	0	0	1
Clancy, lf	2	1	0	3	0	1
McCarney, m	3	0	0	1	0	1
Solomon	1	0	0	0	0	0
Total	35	4	8	*26	7	4

*Weir out bunting foul on third strike.

Solomon batted for McCarney in the ninth.

Sacrifice hits—Weir.

Two-base hit—Cherett, Murray.

Three-base hits—Heenan.

Double play—Murray (unassisted).

Struck out—By Rose 9, by Hill 4.

Bases on balls—Off Rose 1, off Hill 2.

Umpire—Russel.

Peterborough	AB	R	H	PO	A	E
Cherett, ss	5	2	2	2	4	3
R. Rose, 2b	4	1	2	1	2	2
Swanston, c	4	0	3	8	0	0
Jackson, 1b	5	0	1	15	0	0
Murray, lf, 3b	3	0	0	0	0	1
Heenan, rf	4	0	0	0	0	0
L. Rose, 3b, p	4	0	2	1	3	1
Kirn, p, lf	3	1	1	0	7	1
McCarney, m	3	0	0	0	0	0
Total	34	3	4	*22	4	4

*Cherett out bunting foul on third strike.

Heenan called out on an infield fly.

Sacrifice hits—A. Hills, Kirn, McCarney.

Three-base hits—Swanston.

Double play—Rose to Cherett to Jackson.

Struck out—By Scott 11, by Kirn 4, by Rose 3.

Bases on balls—Off Scott 2, off Kirn 1.

Hit batsman—By Scott (Murray), by Kirn (R. Hills).

Wild pitch—Kirn.

Balk—Scott.

Umpires—Kay and Johnston.

Japanese Government sent a diplomatic agent to Rika to take charge of Japanese interests there until the arrival of a permanent representative.

Victory Bonds Bought

Those who may desire to sell Victory Bonds should come to my office or communicate with me. I buy Victory or War Bonds of all maturities, in any amount, and I am prepared to pay the best price.

W. H. Taylor, 397½ George St. Peterboro, Ont.

THE MARKETS

(Special to The Review.)

Toronto, Sept. 2. — Live stock receipts were heavy; trade fair; cattle and hog prices still declining, and it is expected will continue to decline, some traders say, to something approaching pre-war prices.

Choice export	$13.00	$14.00
Choice butchers	12.00	13.00
Medium butcher cows	9.00	10.00
Ewes	8.00	9.50
Lambs	15.00	15.25
Hogs, f.a.w.	20.25	20.75
Calves	20.00	21.00

BRIGHTON GAME THURSDAY NIGHT

WILL PLAY THE LOCALS AN EXHIBITION GAME HERE AT 6.15 O'CLOCK SHARP.

The baseball game with Brighton announced for Wednesday evening will be played Thursday evening at 6.15 o'clock. The Brighton team is composed chiefly of college boys from the states and they are apparently very fast, having beat both Belleville and the locals by the score of 3 to 2. Lefty Allen and Hugh Strong, their battery, are reported to be as good as any in this district and a battle royal can be expected for Thursday night. After the two exciting games yesterday a large crowd will undoubtedly find their way to Riverside Park for this game.

The man with anticollapsible views must indulge in vestibule trains of tohught.

O.R.F.U. HOLD SEMI-ANNUAL SATURDAY

MEET IN TORONTO—CERTIFICATES AND RULE BOOKS TO BE DISTRIBUTED.

Toronto, Sept. 1.—Certificates and rules books will be distributed to O.R.F.U. clubs at the semi-anual meeting of the old union next Saturday, September 6, at the Central Y.M.C.A. Toronto. Certificates will not be available before that and none will be given out until fees are paid. The entrance fee to all series of the O.R.F.U. for new clubs is $2 and the annual subscription as follows: Senior $10, intermediate and junior, $5, and interscholatic $2. There is no age limit in the senior and intermediate. Players in the junior must be under 21 years of age on the first day of September of the playing year. In the interscholastic, players must be bona fide students of the High School or Collegiate for which they intend to play. One master, who has never played football, is alowed to play with interscholastic teams.

At the semi-annual meeting clubs will be accepted into membership and the season's prospects will be discussed. Immediately after the semi-annual meeting a date will be set for grouping the teams and belated entries will be received up to that time. The secretary of the O.R.F.U. is R. Hewitson, Evening Telegram, Toronto, Adelaide 2600.

Peace treaty with Germany and other conventions simultaneously signed at Versailles, were presented for ratification to the Chamber of Deputies by Premier Clemenceau.

716th Bargain Annex Event

Bargain Annex Registered

Wednesday, September 3rd, 1919

We sell Butterick Patterns because they can be relied upon. They are based on the newest French styls.

The Butterick Autumn Quarterly can be seen at the Pattern Counter. It illustrates the mode for Fall, 1919.

A LABOR DAY ANNEX One Price 49c SALE

A 49c One Price Sale to give us two days business To-morrow. Every Annex Value is extraordinary. A few weeks ago we featured a 69c Sale and many housewifes reduced their expenditure on household and personal needs.
Remember that, To-morrow, 49c has exceptional buying power

UNDERWEAR AND HOSIERY

LEADER.

Ladies' 85c "Fall Weight" Balbriggan Vests and Drawers, 49c Garment

You can buy to-morrow at less than mill cost. Every garment is the reliable "Zimmerknit Brand." The vests are made with cumfy cut neck and no sleeves and the drawers umbrella style. Sizes 36 and 38. Regular 85c. One Price Sale, garment 49c

LEADER.

HALF PRICE SALE

"Mill Seconds" Ladies' 50c Black Lisle Hose, 2 pair for 49c

Black lisle seamless stockings of extra good qualities, although they are seconds. We have examined many pairs, and find it difficult to locate the imperfections. This is your opportunity to practice economy. One Price Sale ..... 2 Pairs 49c

"FACTORY SECONDS" LADIES' & MISSES' COMBINATIONS 49c

Only about half price, and in some cases less, for these Combinations. They are factory seconds, but the imperfections are very slight. Many have only a small oil spot. There is a variety of styles for early buyers, for women and older girls. One Price Sale, garment 49c

BOYS' AND GIRLS' 35c and 45c RIBBED SCHOOL HOSE 2 PAIRS FOR 49c

"Leader Brand" Black Ribbed School Hose. They are strong, durable stockings with seamless feet. Early buyers will find all sizes, 6½ to 9, and the every day prices are 35c to 45c, according to size ..... One Price Sale ..... 2 Pairs for 49c

LEADER.

Ladies' 69c and 75c O.S. and Extra O.S. Knit Drawers, 49c

Ladies' fine knit Drawers, made umbrella style, and are knee length. They are lace trimmed, and there are about fifty dozen in the lot. They are regular O. S. and extra O. S. sizes. One Price Sale, pair 49c

LEADER.

Three Hundred Yards--27 inch Habutai Wash Silks, 49c yard

There is a selection of seven colors in this three hundred yard lot of Annex Wash Silks. Shades are: Navy, Burgundy, tan, cardinal, pale blue, Royal blue and maize. The quality is excellent. It will make into handsome dresses and blouses. The wholesale cost to-day is 55c a yard. Worth coming early for to-morrow morning. One Price Sale, yard 49c

25c WHITE COTTON 3 Yards for 49c

The width is 35/36, and the quality is the regular 25c sort. It is needless to tell you that cotton prices are still advancing, for no doubt you have realized it on many occasions. One Price Sale ..... 3 Yards for 49c

$4.50 LARGEST SIZE FLANNELETTE BLANKETS $3.49 Pair

A good quality blanket in an extra large size. Obtainable in either white, fawn or grey, with stripes and borders of contrasting colors. The regular price is $4.50. One Price Sale, pair $3.49

30c CANADIAN PRINTS 2½ Yards for 49c

A good quality print that is 29/30 inches wide and is easily worth 30c a yard. The grounds are mostly light with striped patterns ..... One Price Sale ..... 2½ Yards 49c

LEADER.

35c Heavy White Flannelette, 2 yards for 49c

Ten pieces only of this splendid quality. It has a soft combed Saxony finish, special weight, and is thirty inches wide. The regular price is 35c yard. You can buy up to 20 yards in the Annex to-morrow. One Price Annex Sale No 'phone orders. ..... 2 Yards for 49c

LEADER.

New Shipment 300 Corn Brooms, 49c

This is truly a remarkable price for a four-string green corn broom. It is only about half of the regular value. One hundred dozen was the total Annex order for this broom, and it is only Annex quantity buying that makes this price possible. No 'phone orders. One Price Annex Sale 49c

17c IMPERIAL LINEN WRITING TABLETS 4 for 49c

"Cressman's" Imperial Linen Writing Tablets, Empress fold-over style; 60 sheets, splendid quality, linen finish. It is our regular 17c value. One Price Sale ..... 4 for 49c

40-INCH FACTORY COTTON 2 YARDS FOR 49c

This is a splendid weight 40-inch Factory. It will bleach perfectly and is free from specks. It is a regular 35c quality anywhere. One Price Annex Sale ..... 2 Yards for 49c

LEADER.

Less Than Half-Price--Ladies' $1.19 White Mull Blouses, 49c

They are this season's stock and are made of a fine mercerized mull with embroidery trimmed fronts, collars and cuffs. Neat black velvet bow at neck. Early buyers will have a choice of all sizes from 36 to 42. The regular price is $1.19. One Price Sale ..... Each 49c

JAPANESE FLOOR MATS 2 for 49c

There is an excellent range of colorings and attractive designs. They measure 27 x 54 inches. They are strong, durable mats and are particularly good value at the One Price Sale figure of ..... 2 for 49c

BUY TOILET SOAPS, LAUNDRY SOAPS AND LUX AT THIS GREAT HOLIDAY ONE PRICE 49c SALE

We cannot take phone orders for these lines, and there is a limit of two lots of one kind to a customer.

"Infant's Delight" Toilet Soap ..... 6 for 49c	P. & G. White Naptha Soap 6 for 49c
"Ivory" Floating Soap ... 7 for 49c	"Fairy" Floating Bath ... 6 for 49c
"Lifebuoy" Medicated Soap 7 for 49c	"Snowflake" Ammonia Powder ..... 7 for 49c
"Bargain Annex" Laundry Soap ..... 9 for 49c	"Canada" Corn Starch ... 4 for 49c
"Lemon" Small Bar ... 12 for 49c	"Lux" Washing Compound 5 for 49c

TWENTY-FIVE CASES "VICTORIA" TOILET PAPER 12 ROLLS FOR 49c

They are good sized rolls and are the finest crepe. A soft finish, soluble paper, made in Canada, and entirely free from injurious chemicals. A particularly low price. One Price Sale ..... 12 Rolls for 49c

THE WEEKLY ANENX SHOE VALUES OFFER EXCEPTIONAL OPPORTUNITIES

There will be about 400 pairs in the Annex to-morrow. They are broken lines of this season's goods and clear-away lots from former seasons. Only a few sizes in each line, but a good range of sizes in the lot. Four groups for to-morrow's selling:

GROUP 1—70 Pairs	95c Pair
GROUP 2—130 Pairs	$1.95 Pair
GROUP 3—115 Pairs	$2.95 Pair
GROUP 4—85 Pairs	$3.95 Pair

The CRESSMAN Company Limited

HONOR MATRICULATION RESULTS

The results of the examination for Honor Matriculation are given below. The standing obtained in each subject is indicated after each candidate's name—I., indicating first-class honors; II., second-class honors, and III., third-class honors, respectively.

The statements of standing of all candidates will be mailed in the course of a few days to the principals or inspectors concerned. In the case of those who wrote at the University of Toronto, their statements will be sent to the Registrar of that Institution. Candidaes should apply to these parties for further information.

Hastings and Peterboro'.

W. J. E. Barrie (Eng. III., Fr. III., Germ. III.); R. E. Collip (Gr III.); R. B. Cowan (Eng III., Maths. III., Phys. II.); A. Fitzgerald (Eng. III., Maths. III., Chem. III.); A. Horn (Maths. III., Fr. III.); W. P. Marshall (Chem. II.); A. Mikel (Eng. III.-Lat. III., Fr. III.); R. R. Pogue (Maths II., Fr. III., Phys. III.); L. H. Sloggett (Maths. II., Lat. III., Fr. III., Phys. III.).

LABOR DAY SPORTS PLEASE VAST CROWD OF SPECTATORS

Many Events Closely Contested, Causing Keen Interest and Enthusiasm.

The Labour Day sports under the auspices of the Trades and Labour Council yesterday, were a huge success in every way. A very large crowd witnessed the excellent list of closely contested sporting events, for prizes that were well worth winning.

The committee in charge of the occasion are to be congratulated on the success of the whole commendable programme.

Events and Winners.

100 Yards Dash (Union men) — 1st, F. Scates; 2nd, R. Brady.

100 Yards Dash (open)—1st, Roy Garrett; 2nd, Allen Hill (Port Hope).

Married Ladies' Race—1st, Mrs. L. Thompson; 2nd, Mrs. John Pirie.

Married Men's Race — 1st, J. McMartin; 2nd, W. Jackson.

Three-Legged Race—Roy Henry and Clifford Reynolds.

Girls' Race (12 to 16 years) — 1st, Helen Conroy; 2nd, Lizzie Ridyard.

Girls' Race (under 12 years) — 1st, Annie Shaw; 2nd, Mary Lipsett.

Boys' Race (12 to 16 years) — 1st, F. Wolff, 2nd, R. Clancy.

Boys' Race (under 12 years) — 1st, Kenneth Graham; 2nd, Ernest Wolff.

MEAT CAUSE OF KIDNEY TROUBLE

Take Salts to Flush Kidneys If Back Hurts or Bladder Bothers

If you must have your meat every day, eat it, but flush your kidneys with salts occasionally, says a noted authority who tells us that meat form uric acid which almost paralyses the kidneys in their efforts to expel it from the blood. They become sluggish and weaken, then you suffer with a dull misery in the kidney region, sharp pains in the back or sick headache, dizziness, your stomach sours, tongue is coated and when the weather is bad you have rheumatic twinges. The urine gets cloudy, full of sediment, the channels often get sore and irritated, obliging you to seek relief two or three times during the night.

To neutralize these irritating acids, to cleanse the kidneys and flush off the body's urinous waste get four ounces of Jad Salts fro many pharmacy here; take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for few days and your kidneys will then act fine. This famous salts is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for generations to flush and stimulate sluggish kidneys, also to neutralize the acids in urine, so it no longer irritates, thus ending bladder weakness.

Jad Salts is inexpensive; cannot injure, and makes a delightful effervescent lithia-water drink.

W. C. H. U. TO MEET.

A meeting of the W. C. T. U. will be held in the green room of the Y. W. C. A. on Wednesday afternoon at 3 o'clock. All members are requested to be present.

VITAL STATISTICS

Births.
Aug., 1919	33
Aug., 1918	32
Deaths.
Aug., 1919	14
Aug., 1918	12
Marriages.
Aug., 1919	13
Aug., 1918	11

Fifteen building permits were issued for a total of $9,875. The total building permits for the year now amount to $76,990.

THE CHIMES RANG

In connection with the celebration of Labor Day in Riverside Park a special gromra of music was played on the "Peoples' Chimes" by Mr. R. J. Devey, at 3 p.m.

SCOUTS LAWN SOCIAL

(Continued from Page One.)

lest lady in Peterboro.)

Mrs. Cook—Accompaniest

Mrs. Bugg specially wishes to thank the following donaters for their generous contributions:

Heintzman—Gramaphone.
Gillespie—ice cream.
Manager of Woolworth's — 200 cones.
Turner—Flags.
Rishor—1 box gum.
John's—Tea.
Burnham Bros.—1 box gum.
A friend—Lace yoke.
Fligg—1 box candy.
J. H. Burnham—$1.00.
Jopling—Piece of ham.
Stock—Bread.
Victor—Bread.
Mrs. Saunders—Flowers.
Mrs. Poole—Pears.
Oake—2 baskets grapes.
Kinnear—1 box candy.

The lady in charge takes this opportunity of thanking all those who contributed cake, also the assistants who by their kind services helped largely in making the affair the splendid success it was. They are as follows:

Mr. and Mrs. Tyrer.
Miss Roadhouse.
Mrs. Bradshaw.
Miss E. Nesbitt.
Miss Hawkins.
Mrs. G. McKinley.
Mrs. F. McKinley.
Mrs. S. M. Bugg.
Miss Watkins.

Aside from the pleasure which this unique function afforded our sturdy Boy Scouts and their friends, it is pleasin gto note that a goodly sum was realized in aid of the cause.

TO ALL CITY MERCHANTS.

Merchants are requested to honor any orders that may be presented to them, made out on Trades Council stationery and signed by the president of that body. Accounts to be forwarded to the Trades and Labor Council. A. J. BOLWELL, Pres.

BOARD FOR STUDENTS.

The Peterborough Normal School will re-open on Tuesday, Sept. 15th. Householders who have accommodation for students should send their names and addresses to the principal.

ST. JOHN'S NOTICES

Thursday, 8—Choir practice for harvest festival at 8. Boys at 7.30.

On Sunday next the Sunday School re-opens at 3 p.m. The memorial shield, presented by the M.S.C.C. for the victory bonds subscribed for in the spring, will be dedicated at the offertory in the communion service at 11 a.m. next Sunday. All teachers and scholars are asked to be present at that service.

The harvest festival will be held on Thursday, September 18th, at 8 p.m. Special preacher, Rev. A. Canon Plumptree, St. James, Toronto.

How the shades of the ancient prophets must sneer at the man who grinds out our weather predictions.

NP SOAP

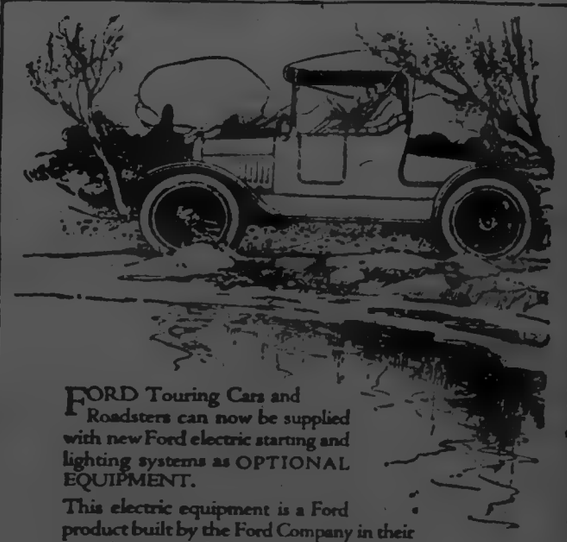
Weighs more than three Cakes of the heaviest Cake Soaps, try it and see!

Do You want them CHEAP or want them, GOOD

The man who buys cheap glasses is one who goes out for wool but comes home shorn himself. You can't expect more than a 25c service from 25c glasses.

With a pair of Dr. Fowler's "PEBLO" Glasses at a fair price for quality and experienced fitting you get fully the worth of your money and you are not trifling with your eyesight.

EYESIGHT SPECIALIST A. A. FOWLER DOCTOR OF OPTICS
Phm. B. Toronto University.
HAS FITTED 30,000 SATISFIED WEARERS OF PEBLO GLASSES
Most Up-to-date Sanitary Optical Parlors. With Nugent Drug Co.



FORD Touring Cars and Roadsters can now be supplied with new Ford electric starting and lighting systems as OPTIONAL EQUIPMENT.

This electric equipment is a Ford product built by the Ford Company in their own factory, and consisting of Generator, Starting Motor and Storage Battery. 116

It is as reliable and efficient as the Ford Motor, into which it is built.

The Ford Standard Magneto also supplies ignition independent of the batteries.

Ford Runabout, $660. Touring, $690
On open models the Electric Starting and Lighting Equipment is $100 extra.
Coupe, $975. Sedan, $1175. (Closed model prices include Electric Starting and Lighting Equipment).
These prices are f. o. b. Ford, Ont., and do not include War Tax.

Ford
Electric Starting and Lighting
J. J. DUFFUS, Dealer,
PETERBORO, MILBROOK AND NORWOOD

GRAND TO-DAY

MAE MARSH IN "THE RACING STRAIN"

MAY ALLISON IN "HER INSPIRATION"

CHARLIE CHAPLIN IN "THE MASHER"

Grand Orchestra--Prices MAT. 10c, 15c EVE. 15c, 25c

ONE NIGHT ONLY WEDNESDAY

THE SMASHING, CRASHING, RED-BLOODED SCENIC SPECTACLE THAT STOOD 'EM UP EVERYWHERE

Two Years Lyceum Theatre London, Eng.

One Year Australia, South Africa and New Zealand.

200 Nights Park Theatre New York.

NOT A MOVING PICTURE

7 DAYS' LEAVE

NOT A MOVING PICTURE

OVERSEAS ROMANCE OF LOVE AND VALOUR REPLETE WITH THRILLS AND LAUGHS, BUT ABSOLUTELY FREE FROM WAR HORRORS AND TRENCH SCENES

Prices:—1.50, 1.00, 75, 50, 25 Seats on Sale Now

THEATRICALS

SEVEN DAYS LEAVE

At the Grand. Tomorow Evening

FRANCIS X. BUSHMAN AND BEVERLY BAYNE

They Are Back Again in Big Vitagraph Super-Feature of Love, Adventure and Thrills—Those Who Have Been Absent From Screen For Awhile Are Seen in Slashing Picture, "Daring Hearts," at the Grand Thursday, Friday and Saturday.

What constitutes one of the big news incidents of the motion picture world just now is the reappearance of Francis X Bushman and Beverly Bayne. These two stars have been missing from the screen for virtually an entire season.

Vitagraph comes forward with the announcement that the stars have made their long deferred bow to the public in a new superfilm. The picture is entitled "Daring Hearts."

It is a production that tells a tremendous tale of love and adventure. It is one which required many months of effort, genius and money to produce.

"Daring Hearts," will stand unique among the big films of the day by reason of the deftness with which it suggests historical events under the cloak of its human story. There is just the bare framework of recent history apparent in its narrative through the gauze of love tale.

The picture thus has a background of war without actualy being a war picture. And the war element is presented only in the form of the social facts that began and ended the great cataclysm. The spectators are enabled to read cause and effect without the confusing mesh of detail that has obscured the record of black years.

"Daring Hearts" is notable also by reason of its authors and its director. They are persons whose names carry a magic assurance of big things.

Albert E. Smith, president of the Vitagraph, and Cyrus Townsend Brady colaborated in the writing of the subject. Henry-Houry, one of the greatest of the French film directors and a war hero who served France through the maeltrom, directed it.

Besides all the foregoing Vitagraph's new film will have a further bid to fame. It will serve as visual evidence of matters that will have to be passed upon by the greatest diplomats in the world.

GREAT ALLIED VICTORY PLAY AT THE GRAND

MILITARY-NAVAL MELODRAMA TOMORROW, SEPTEMBER THE 3RD

It is estimated that already three million people have seen Walter Howard's military-naval melodrama "Seven Days' Leave" although this play is only three years old. It ran at Sir Henry Irving's Lyceum Theatre, London, for very nearly three years, and has played to capacity during that extended period; this means that considerably over a million people have seen it there, as the Lyceum is one of London's largest playhouses. In New York during a twenty weeks engagement at the big Park Theatre it was seen by probably 150,000 and all this time it was being played in Canada for an entire year; in Melbourne and Sydney, Australia, simultaneously, and in South Africa.

When "Seven Days' Leave" comes to the Grand on Wednesday evening the playgoers will see a play, where in the hero is a young major in the British army—Major Terry Fielding, whose submarine detector plans are stolen by two German spies—a man and a woman. It also shows the gun deck of a Yankee cruiser, with its real guns destroying a German U-boat and a race to a buoy in the English Chanel between the heroine and the German spy. The last act shows the departure of the British troops from England for the fighting line in France. The intense patriotism for the Allies is everywhere in evidence and as such it was seen during its New York run by every soldier and sailor of the United States and her Allies who could get into the Park Theatre. Fully 35,000 men in the service saw the play in those twenty weeks, and among them were major generals of the British, American, French and Italian armies, and admirals of the same nations.

ALLEN'S THEATRE IS FORMALLY DEDICATED BY JUDGE HUYCKE

Capacity House, Eight Piece Orchestra and Good Bill Mark Opening Night.

The Allen Theatre (late Royal) formerly opened to a capacity house, afternoon and evening at 7.30 last evening.

His Honor Judge Huycke, in a few well-chosen words, dedicated the newly decorated theatre to Peterborough entertainment. He was sure this beautiful and comfortable building would prove an acceptable addition to Peterborough's houses of amusement, as each and every one of Allen's fifty theatres are high class in every particular. He congratulated the Allens on their sure venture here and also Peterborough citizens on their acquisition of that accepted circuit of motion picture and vaudeville offerings controlled by these popular theatre magnates. In conclusion His Honor hinted at still more improvements to come in the buildings than those generous decorations and alterations in evidence last night, and expressed confidence that Peterborough's Allen Theatre would measure up to and be maintained at that high standard of efficiency refinement and public appreciation which is characteristic of all their houses in Toronto and other cities.

First-Class Orchestra.

An eight-piece orchestra last evening was heard to splendid advantage and impressionably accompanied the action in the pictures as irresistibly as is looked for in stage productions.

Professor Luigi Romanelli, the orchestra's talented conductor, contributed a violin solo in clear, sweet, high keys, which simply brought down the big house.

Yet Glaringly Ornate.

The theatre, in its new decorative rose, is not glaringly ornate, but presents a refreshing appearance and affords an atmosphere of comfort, exhilaration and refinement.

The Program.

Scenes from the picturesque south west of England were faithful in the extreme, and conveyed a vivid realization of that ideal country the British have so victoriously fought and died for.

Pretty, vivacious and charming Margaret Clark, always a favorite star with Peterborough audiences, was seen at a full measure of advantage in "Three Men and a Girl." Her support is on a par with her high standing in the screen world today, and the story, replete with refined and captivating humor, proved an attraction in keeping with the occasion. Margaret Clark is always a welcome picture visitor here.

A side-splitting comedy, "Fatty Arbuckle the Cook," completed a pleasing first night bill. In this story a belligerent bull dog, diving tunts and an endless army of mirth-provoking incidents furnished fun and merriment galore.

MAY ALLISON TRIUMPHS IN NEW METRO PLAY

Favorite Star in "Her Inspiration" at Grand Theatre

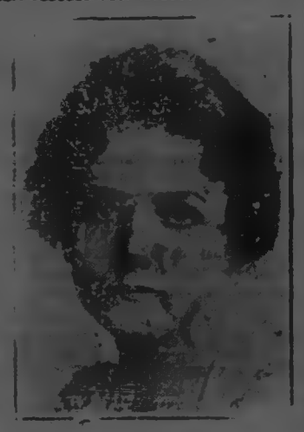
Always a great favorite with motion picture audiences, charming May Alison will be seen in a new Metro play at the Grand Theatre today in a role which gives her every opportunity to display the abilities, which have endeared her to so many thousands.

"Her inspiration," written expressly for Miss Allison by George D. Baker and Tom J. Geraghty, is the story of the Kentucky Hills—a fine sweet romance adds charm to the many adventures which befall the young playwright, who goes up into the hills to get the necessary "local color," for his forthcoming play.

That there is a mystery which adds to the charm of the distinctly original plot, which possesses, besides humor and love adventure and thrilling suspense.

Miss Allison is supported by Herbert Heyes who plays the part of Harold Montague the playwright and others of the excellent cast are Charles Elder, Allen D. Sears and Jack Drammull.

The play was directed by Robert Thornby under the personal supervision of George D. Baker.



CONSTANZA ROBINSON

In "7 Days Leave," one Night Only Wednesday, Sept. 3, at The Grand

THREE FAMOUS STARS AT GRAND

A FULL HOUSE ENJOYS GENEROUS PICTURE PROGRAM

Last night's programme at the Grand included no less than three of the most famous stars of the picture world, viz. Mae Marsh, May Allison and Charlie Chaplin.

Mae Marsh was seen in a splendid sporting picture entitled "The Racing Strain," a story of the good old days when racing was a recognized sport. The story opens at a real estate sale at the southern home of the heroine, Lucille Cameron, where a race horse is being raffled for the benefit of this organization. The horse which was generally supposed to be a flipper has won by Miss Cameron. An old trainer who had handled the horse's mother, appears on the scene and declares that he can get her into condition to win any race and this he does. In the last chapter we find the mare winning the Saratoga Handicap. A schemer named DeLuce, who had sold Lucille's father a lot of worthless oil stock and who had designs on the girl as well, has a horse entered in the handicap upon which he had bet his last dollar. He had Lucille's trainer doped and after having overpowered the girl was trying to dope the mare when her father and lover appeared in the stable. They prevent him from accomplishing his miserable trick and after giving him a few words of good advice let him go. Southern Honor, the Cameron's horse easily wins the race and although the owners had lost practically everything they owned through DeLuce's wildcat schemes, they win enough money on the race to offset this loss. Lucille marries her soldier lover on the eve of his departure for France and everything finaliy ends as it should.

May Allison is seen to good advantage in a picture of old Kentucky, entitled "Her Inspiration," a story of moonshiners and revenue men.

Charlie Chaplin is at his best in "The Rival Mashers" and the audience was convulsed with laughter while this comedian was on the screen.

The Grand Orchestra played several good numbers in first class style and helped to make a most entertaining programme, which will be repeated again tonight.

THE GREAT GAMBLE

IT WILL KEEP YOU THINKING NIGHTS

ALLEN THEATRE

Showing To-Day

Marguerite Clark

IN

THREE MEN AND A GIRL

Roscoe "Fatty" Arbuckle

—IN—

The Hilarious Comedy

The Cook

Coming To-Morrow

Wm. S. Hart

IN—

Branding Broadway

Admission Prices

Matinees: 16c

Evenings: 27c & 22c

Children: 11c & 16c

Continuous Policy From 2 P.M. to 11 P.M.

TO THE VOTERS OF THE CITY OF PETERBOROUGH

Notice is hereby given that the Voters' Lists for the City of Peterborough, have been printed, and that the Lists for the various areas described below, have been deposited at the addresses indicated, where they are held open for inspection by the public.

Only the lists for the area described will be found at the address given for that area. If you wish to find if your name is on the list, read the descriptions below till you find the area in which you live; then go to the address indicated, where you will find the lists for that area, and also forms and rules for appealing, if an appeal is necessary. Information cannot be obtained by telephone from these various addresses; it would interfere too much with the private business of those persons with whom the lists have been deposited, and its accuracy could not be guaranteed. The only way to make sure that your name is on the list is to make a personal inspection of same.

The city has been divided into the following areas:

1.—All of the South Ward south of the centre of Lake Street and east centre of Park Street.

Voters' List at W. G. Freeburn's store, 168 Lock Street.

2.—All of South Ward, south of centre of Albert Street and the southern limits of Lots 31 and 32, Plan 30, Peterborough, and west of centre of Park Street.

Voters' List at Earnest Benson's store, 100 Park Street south.

3.—All of the South Ward, south of centre of Townsend Street, east centre of Rubidge Street and Park Street between Rink and Lake streets and north of centre of Lake Street.

Voters' List at Halpin's store, 37 George street.

4.—All of South Ward, south centre Sherbrooke Street, east centre Rubidge and north of centre of Townsend.

Voters' List at Co.-operative Store, 200 Rubidge Street.

5.—All of South Ward, north of centre of Albert and Lots 31 and 42, Plan 30, City, west of centre of Rubidge and north of centre of Townsend and south centre of Sherbrooke.

Voters' Lists at James Garside's house, 199 Reid Street.

6.—All of Centre Ward, north centre of Sherbrooke, east centre of Water, and south centre of McDonell.

Voters' List at James Sutherland's store, 352½ Water Street.

7.—All of Centre Ward, south of centre of Simcoe, east centre Bethune north centre of Sherbrooke and west of centre of Water.

Voters' List at office of City Clerk, Simcoe Street.

8.—All of Centre Ward, south centre of Brock, between Water and Chambers, south centre of Hunter betwee nChambers and Bethune, east centre Bethune and west centre of Water.

Voters' Lists at Paskin's grocery store, 233 Hunter Street.

9.—All of Centre Ward, west of centre of Water Street between centres McDonell and Brock and north centre of Hunter between Chambers and centre Bethune and east centre Bethune.

Voters' List at Gooheh's store, 481 Aylmer street.

10.—All of West Ward, north centre of Sherbrooke, south centre of King and west centre Bethune.

Voters' Lists at Matthews' store, corner Park and Sherbrook.

11.—All of West Ward, south centre of Hunter, east centre of Park, north centre of King and west centre Bethune.

Voters' List at Kemp's store, corner Charlotte and Downie.

12.—All of West Ward, west centre of Park, south centre Hunter and Homewood and north centre of King.

Voters' List at Lillico's grocery, 156 Charlotte Street.

13.—All of West Ward, north centre Hunter, east centre Park, south centre McDonell and west centre Bethune.

Voters' List at Routley's shop, corner Brock and Park.

14.—All of West Ward, west centre Park, south centre McDonell and north centre of Hunter and Homewood.

Voters' List at J. J. Lynch's shop corner Park and Elm.

15.—All of North Ward, south centre of Smith, east centre of George and north centre of McDonnel.

Voters' List at William Petries' shop, corner Smith and Water.

16.—All of North Ward, south of the centre of Dublin, west centre George, north centre McDonnel and east centre Stewart.

Voters' List at Dawson Bros. store, corner London and George.

17.—All of North Ward, north centre McDonnel, west centre of Stewart.

Voters' List at Kennedy's grocery 332 McDonnel Street.

18.—All of the North Ward, south centre of Smith, east centre of Stewart, north centre of Dublin and west centre George.

Voters' List at Albert Tennyson's shop, corner George and Edinburgh.

19.—All of North Ward, east centre of Stewart and north centre Smith.

Voters' List at Jordan Bros. green house, 99 Argyle Street.

20.—All of East Ward, west centre of Mark Street south centre of Douro.

Voters' List at Sulivan's grocery store, 57 Hunter Street east.

21.—All of East Ward, east centre Mark south centre of Douro and division line between Blocks U and V.

Voters' List at T. I. Hill's shop 137 Hunter Street east.

22.—All of East Ward, north of centre of Douro and division line between Blocks U and V.

Voters' List at D. Rice's shop, 550 Concession Street.

Appeals in the forms prescribed by statute must be filed with the Revising Officers' Clerk on or before Monday, the 8th day of September, 1919. The Revising Officer's clerks are as follows: For areas numbered 1, 2, 3, 4 and 5 above—W. F. Johnston, 435 George Street; for areas numbered 6, 7, 8, 9, 20, 21 and 22 above Wilfred E. Huycke, Engleburne Avenue; and, for areas numbered 10, 11, 12, 13, 14, 15, 16, 17, 18 and 19 above Fred Morrow, 469 Water Street.

If an appeal is necessary it is advisable to use the forms provided by the Board, and to carefully observe the rules governing the entering and hearing of appeals. Forms of the appeal and copies of the rules may be obtained at any of the above addresses.

Dated at Peterborough, this 28th day of August, 1919.

E. C. S. HUYCKE,
Chairman of the Voters' Registration Board.

ONTARIO ELECTION ACTS 1915 and 1919

NOTICE OF SITTINGS OF REVISING OFFICERS

Electoral District of West Peterborough, City of Peterborough

To Wit:

Take notice that the lists of voters for polling subdivisions Numbers 1 to 22, both inclusive, comprising the City of Peterborough, have been prepared by the enumerators and have been delivered to the Clerk of this Board by the Chief Enumerator and returning Officer, and that GEORGE W. HATTON, of the City of Peterborough, has been appointed Revising Officer for Polling Subdivisions Numbers 1, 2, 3, 4 and 5 (South Ward of City); EDWARD C. S. HUYCKE, Revising Officer for Polling Subdivisions 6, 7, 8, and 9, and 20 and 21 (East and Centre Wards of City) and GEORGE J. SHERRY, Revising Officer for Polling Subdivisions 10, 11, 12, 13, 14, 15, 16, 17, 18 and 19, (West and North Wards of City) to hear complaints and appeals as to the lists of voters aforesaid.

And further take notice that the sittings of the said several Revising Officers will take place as to the South Ward (Nos. 1, 2, 3, 4, and 5) above, at the County Council Chamber in the Court House, in the City of Peterborough, as to the Centre and East Wards (No. 6, 7, 8, 9, 20, 21 and 22 above) in the Judges' Chambers in the said Court House and as to the West and North Wards (Nos. 10, 11, 12, 13, 14, 15, 16, 17, 18 and 19 above) in the Court Room in the said Court House on SATURDAY, the THIRTEENTH day of September, 1919.

Each sittings will commence at 10 o'clock in the forenoon and will continue until the appeals fixed for the day have been disposed of.

And further take notice that any voter who desires to complain that the names of any persons entitled to be entered on any of the said lists have been omitted from same, or that the names of persons who are not entitled to be voters, have been entered thereon, may on or before MONDAY, the EIGHTH DAY OF SEPTEMBER, 1919, apply, complain of or appeal to have his own name or the name of any other person, corrected in, entered on, or removed from, the lists prepared under the Ontario Elections Acts, 1918 and 1919.

And further take notice that such appeals must be by notice in writing in the prescribed form, signed by the complainant in duplicate and given to the clerk of the proper revising officer, or left for said Clerk at his residence or place of business on or before the said date. The clerk to Mr. Geo. W. Hatton is W. F. Johnston, place of business, 435 George St., residence, 310 McDonnel St.; the Clerk to Mr. E. C. S. Huycke is Wilfred Huycke, Residence, Engleburn Ave., and the Clerk to Mr. Geo. J. Sherry, Mr. Fred Morrow, residence, 469 Water St., business address, Registry Office, all in Peterborough.

Dated at Peterborough, this 29th day of August, 1919.

E. C. S. HUYCKE,
Chairman of the Voters' Registration Board, for the County of Peterborough.

MIXED WOOD $7.00 Per Cord

HARD WOOD $10.00 Per Cord

Cutting and Splitting extra.

ORDER NOW

FROM

J. E. A. FITZGERALD

Phone 111

CP LOS

SAILINGS—RATES

EMPRESS OF FRANCE

Fast, Luxurious, 6-Day Steamship. Less than 4 Days at Sea.

QUEBEC TO LIVERPOOL

4 p.m. October 9th

Special train leaves Windsor St. Station 9.45 a.m. direct to ship

1st Class	2nd Class	3rd Class
$170. up	$100 up	$62.75
War Tax 5	5	3.00

Special Suites and Rooms with Baths

Apply Local Agents

H. M. Bland-Outhwaite, Gen. Agt., Toronto.

CANADIAN PACIFIC OCEAN SERVICES

The Legacy of War

Canada's Dead and Missing	63,038
Canada's Wounded.....	149,709
Canada's National Debt...	$1,670,263,691
Soldiers' Annual Pensions.	$35,000,000

THE world to-day is staggering with debt. Some of the leading countries are verging on bankruptcy. The British pound shrunk from $4.86 to as low as $4.12¼ in New York and the Canadian dollar to 95 cents.

Five years ago Canada had never dreamed of the financial burden she carries to-day.

Canada entered the Great war with a national debt of $337,000,000 or $42 per head of population. Canada emerges with a national debt to date of $1,670,263,691, which is expected to approximate $2,000,000,000 by the end of the fiscal year — or about $250 for every man, woman and child in the country.

Interest charges alone will eat up nearly one-half our present national revenue and soldiers' pensions will have to be provided as well.

Can Ontario Afford $36,000,000 a Year on Drink?

TO Canada's effort Ontario contributed one-third of the men and nearly one-half the money. And she will bear a chief share of Canada's burden of annual charges. If efficiency was necessary to win the war, it is necessary to reconstruct for peace.

"I say without hesitation," declared Premier Hearst, "that I do not know of one act or measure in this province that increased the efficiency of our people, conserved our national strength, aided thrift and generally contributed to our fighting power to a greater extent than the Ontario Temperance Act."

Previous to the Ontario Temperance Act the drink bill of the province approximated $36,000,000 per year, an amount about equal to Ontario's share of the annual interest on our national debt. In the face of our financial responsibilities alone is this the time to repeal the Ontario Temperance Act or relax a single one of its restrictions upon waste of money and man power? To every question on the Referendum Ballot vote—

"No!"—Four Times—"No!"

No Repeal; No Government Beer Shops; No Intoxicating Beers in Standard Hotel Bars; No Government Beer and Whiskey Shops

THE Referendum will put four questions squarely up to every man and woman in the province qualified to vote. Be sure you answer every question. Be sure you mark your ballot with an X after each question under the column headed "NO" or your vote will be lost to Temperance.

Ontario Referendum Committee

JOHN MACDONALD, Chairman.
D. A. DUNLAP, Treasurer.
ANDREW S. GRANT, Vice-Chairman and Secretary.
(1001 Excelsior Life Bldg., Toronto)

A BOXING TOURNAMENT
WILL BE HELD AT
BROCK ST. RINK
Fri., Sept. 5
AT 8 P.M.
10 ROUNDS
Between
Young Cattle--Toronto
And
Kid Brompton--New York
Lightweight
Good Preliminaries are Being Arranged for
ADMISSION--$1.00, 75c, 50c
Ringside seats now on sale at Dan McAbe's Cigar Store and at Spence's Barber Shop.

Canada Food Board License No. 8-2000-F
D. M. MINICOLA
Best Fruit— Cheap
Best Vegetables— Reasonable
Best Groceries At Right Prices
410½ GEORGE STREET
Bell Phone 93b

Order Your Coal From LOW & Co.
We have all sizes in stock
EGG, STOVE, NUT AND PEA
The best and cheapest coal in town. Perfectly screened and promptly delivered. Bring your orders in now.
Prices advance every month.
LOW & COMPANY
262 Simcoe Street. Phone 697 House 396

The Steamer Naiad
ON AND AFTER MAY 5th 1919
The Steamer Naiad will run as follows:—
Leave Lakefield daily on arrival of noon G.T.R. Train for Stony Lake Points connecting at Mt. Julian with the Apsley Stage

COAL
—AND—
Builders' Supplies
Hardwood Flooring
Robt. Hicks & Co.
LIMITED

Railway Time Tables

C. P. R. TIMETABLE
Effective May 4th, 1919.
GOING EAST
8.20 p.m.—Indian River, Norwood, Havelock and Tweed.
11.52 p.m.—Norwood, Havelock Kingston, Smiths Falls Perth, Montreal, Quebec St John N.B., Boston and New York.
*1.30 a.m.—Havelock, Tweed, Kingston, Perth, Smiths Falls and Ottawa
11.59 a.m.—Norwood Havelock Cobourg, Tweed, Perth, Smiths Falls Ottawa, Montreal and intermediate points.
*11.59 a.m.—Norwood and Havelock.

GOING WEST
*4.53 a.m.—Toronto, Owen Sound Guelph, Goderich, Hamilton, Buffalo New York, Galt, Woodstock, St Thomas, London, Chatham, Detroit and Chicago.
6.21 a.m.—Myrtle and North Toronto
7.35 a.m.—Toronto, Hamilton Buffalo, Rochester, Boston, New York and intermediate points between Peterborough and Toronto.
9.35 a.m.—Lindsay, Orillia, Port McNicoll and intermediate points
3.20—Toronto, Hamilton, Brantford, Buffalo, New York, Galt, Guelph Woodstock, London, Windsor, Detroit and Chicago and intermediate points between Peterborough and Toronto
6.00 p.m.—North Toronto, Lindsay and intermediate points.
*3.20 p.m.—Toronto and intermediate points.
*Daily.
Daily except Sunday.
Daily except Saturday.
*Sunday only.

GRAND TRUNK RAILWAY SYSTEM
TIMETABLE.
No. 94—8:10 a.m., for Toronto, via Port Hope, also points on Main Line east.
No. 93—8:20 a.m., for Lindsay Blackwater Jct., Orillia, Midland North Bay and Toronto.
No. 98—8:25 a.m., for Hastings, Campbellford, Belleville and points on Main Line East.
No. 95—9:30 a.m., for Lakefield.
No. 92—12:04 p.m. for Lindsay, Port Hope, Toronto, Buffalo, making connections with International Limited for London, Detroit and Chicago.
No. 371—12:15 p.m. for Lakefield.
No. 100—2:00 p.m. for Hastings Campbellford and Belleville.
No. 95—5:40 p.m. for Lindsay, Orillia Midland, North Bay and Toronto
No. 371—5:40 p.m. for Lakefield
No. 93—8:31 p.m. for Lindsay
No. 94—9:19 p.m. for Port Hope Montreal and Boston

Lackawana Coal Means Economy
Burns freely and is of Best Anthracite.
Trucking Orders Promptly Filled
Peterboro Fuel & Transfer Co.
162 CHARLOTTE ST.
PHONES 270-562

PITTSTON COAL
IS THE BEST
ALL SIZES IN STOCK
Also best lines of SOFT COAL at Lowest Prices
McCARTHY & JOHNSTON
COAL DEALERS
111 Hunter Street, East City
Phone 96 TERMS CASH

LUMBER
Builders' Materials of all kinds—Shingles, Scantlings, Joist and Bill Stuff, Mouldings, Cartage, Base and all kinds of Finish, Boxes and Box Shooks; Slabs and Mill Wood.
Alf. McDonald Estate

Children's Aid Society
—of—
Peterborough City and County
FOR THE CARE OF NEGLECTED AND ILL-TREATED CHILDREN
G. W. POWELL
Asst. Secretary and Inspector
Office, 586 George St. Phone 1044w
Office Hours: 12 to 2 and 6 to 8 p.m.

GOOD OPPORTUNITIES

Study the advertisements in the Daily and Weekly Review. They are replete with attractive opportunities for buying cheaply.

Some women are unable to appreciate a gentleman at any stage of the game.

The average man thinks it is up to him to purchase a larger hat every time he has ten cents' worth of fame thrust upon him.

STARTS HITTING AS SEASON WANES

HOLLOCHER WAKES UP TO GOOD WORK, BUT A BIT LATE.

Buffalo, N.Y., Aug. 29.—Charles Hollocher has just struck his stride in hitting. It may be too late to assist the Cubs in winning the pennant of the National League, but it is not too late for him to prove conclusively that his .316 average of 1918 was not a fluke. He is again driving the ball in the manner that made him one of the most feared hitters in the league in the past summer and one is inclined to believe that he will come close to reaching the .300 mark again, as the Cubs have thirty games more to play.

At the opening of the season Hollocher struck a .300 gait, but soon thereafter he fell into evil ways at the plate, hitting at the ball too soon or too late, with the result that his average dropped with rapidity. Then he met a serious accident, breaking his finger, that kept him out of the game for a solid month. That period of iddleness put him completely off his stride and his mark fell to .216, where it was when the Cubs started on their last tour of the east.

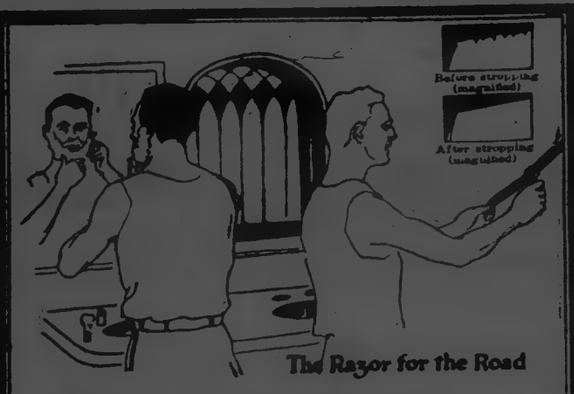
It was on the recent incursion of the eastern cities that Hollocher finally found himself, and it was not until after he had done most everything to discover what ailed him.

Meets the Ball Better.

When asked how he got back in shape he declared he did not know other than he began to meet the ball better and pull it to right field.

On the journey that terminated with two defeats at the hands of the Boston club by the scores of 1 to 0 and 7 to 2. Hollocher drove the sphere for an average of .339, giving his mark a boost of thirty-two points. His average is now .248, and if there is no let up in his terrific swatting he will probably achieve his ambition to hit .300 again.

The Cubs broke even on their ultimate swing around the east and Hollocher was greatly instrumental in bringing this about. Max Flack cracked the ball for better than a .300 average on the trip, and this was a tremendous aid to the team, as Hollocher's hitting drove him within scoring distance and he counted more runs than on any other journey to the Atlantic coast towns. Along with Hollocher and Flack's fine hitting, there was the commendable slugging of Killefer, who is near the .300 mark again and is giving the right fielder and shortstop a run for batting honors of the club.

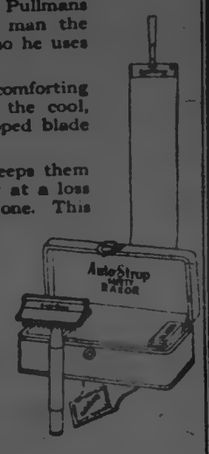


The Razor for the Road

SHAVING in swaying, jerking Pullmans has taught the travelling man the value of "safety first" and so he uses an AutoStrop Razor.

Wherever he goes he enjoys the comforting sense of cleanliness that follows the cool, satiny shave such as only a stropped blade can give.

Stropping saves his blades and keeps them in perfect condition. He is never at a loss for a keen blade for he always has one. This and the fact that the AutoStrop Razor sharpens its own blades and doesn't need to be taken apart for cleaning has lead thousands of travelling men everywhere to speak highly of the AutoStrop Razor to their friends.



Any dealer will sell you an AutoStrop Razor, strop and 12 blades complete for $5.00, on a come-back money-back basis.

AUTOSTROP SAFETY RAZOR CO., Limited
AutoStrop Building, Toronto, Canada

AutoStrop Safety Razor

CHILDREN'S EYES

require more careful watching than those of an adult. If your child complains of his eyes, bring him without delay to

W. H. LACEY,
OPTICAL SPECIALIST
410 GEORGE STREET

GENERAL AND LOCAL NEWS

FOR PLAYGROUNDS

The Peterborough Playgrounds Association acknowledge with thanks a subscription of thirty-two dollars from the employees of the Auburn Woollen Co., Ltd.

Dr. E. V. Frederick, member Royal College of Surgeons, England, late Surgeon No. 1, Canadian Stationery Hospital, Salonica, late Surgical Specialist No. 70 Indian Stationary Hospital, Bagdad, late Clinical Assistant Mayo Clinic, Rochester, Minn., has resumed practice corner Charlotte and Rubidge streets, Peterboro— especially consulting practice in surgical and chronic conditions.

Dr. Free, late house physician Toronto General Hospital, assistant in practice with Dr. Frederick and in charge of laboratory work.

BOY SCOUT NOTES

The Boy Scout swimming competition will be held on the east side of Smith street bridge, Sept. 2nd, at 7.30, weather permitting.

Will the Scout masters of Sam's Own troop, Vimy, St. Andrew's and Ashburnham, please have their teams on hand.

TIRES VULCANIZED

Because that tire has a hole through it is no reason why you should throw it away. You may yet get several thousand miles out of it by having a sectional repair made. We Vulcanize Auto Tires and Tubes and guarantee our work. Millard's Bicycle Shop, 225 Hunter street, near Aylmer, phone 234j.

MURRAY STREET SUNDAY

Will all the teachers and officers of Murray Street Baptist Sunday School kindly arrange to be present at the Wednesday evening service this week. A meeting of the deacons will follow the service.

CHANGE OF TIME TABLE

STONEY LAKE NAVIGATION COMPANY.

Sept. 1st steamers will leave Lakefield for the Lakes on the arrial of the morning and noon trains, and will leave Lakes to connect with morning and afternoon trains for Peterboro.

Barrie's LIMITED Peterboro.

LADIES' READY-TO-WEAR DEPARTMENT

(The House With Exclusive Styles.)

A WARNING

Every Fall, just as the cold weather is setting in, scores of people suddenly remember that they intended to have some alterations or work done on their Furs. Then they rush them to us and wonder why we cannot give them prompt service. They sometimes forget that others have made the same mistake of delaying. Can we ask you now to help us to give you perfect satisfaction?

Can we have your Furs NOW?

BARRIE BUILDING
312 George Street
Phone 340

PALMISTRY.

Madame Alise famous Scotch palmist at Golops Hotel. Here only for a short time. Hours from 10 a.m. to 10 p.m. All readings $1.00.

EVERY-WORKER CANVAS.

A. S. Cunningham, chairman of the City Referendum Committee, and H. B. Cowan, chairman of the County Temperance Association, are in Toronto today attending a meeting of the Provincial Referendum Committee, preparatory to the every-voter canvas of the entire province.

PROPERTY CHANGES HANDS

Mr. Chas. Ackerman yesterday purchased the desirable family residence at the corner of Homewood and Belmont avenues, formerly the property of the late Mr. W. H. Denham.

VETS MEET TONIGHT

A regular meeting of the G.W.V.A. will be held in the Murray street assembly hall tonight at 8 o'clock sharp. Every member having tickets for the car draw must report this evening

SOUTH BEACH DANCE.

A dance has been arranged for at beautiful South Beach, Clear Lake, Friday evening, Sept. 5th. Music by the Pavlowa Orchestra, Toronto. Comfort and convenience of guests assured.

K. OF C. NOTICE.

Regular meeting tonight (Tuesday), 8:30 sharp. Election of officers and other business.

SOCIAL AND PERSONAL

Miss Cecil Clementi, of Toronto, is the guest of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Clementi, 434 Park street.

Miss Margaret Willard, 566 Albert street, is the guest of friends in Toronto.

Miss Annie Gamble, of Thomas street, is spending a few days in Toronto.

Mr. and Mrs. Clayton Willard, who have been visiting the former's parents here, have returned to their home in Chicago.

Mrs. Laidley is visiting in Lindsay for a few days.

Miss Saxby, city, is holidaying with friends in Toronto and Kitchener.

Mr. and Mrs. H. Waye, of Toronto visited over the week end in the city.

Mrs. Bert Conney, of Chicago, has returned home after spending a pleasant vacation with friends in the city.

Mr. and Mrs. A. F. Knight are visiting in the city, the guests of Mrs. Fred Roy.

Miss Irene Ruth, city, is holidaying in Toronto.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Cavalier and children, 546 Chamberlain street, left last week for Montreal, wheer they will sail on the "Leita" for England.

Mr. F. H. Dobbin has been in the city from Peterborough.—Globe.

Mr. and Mrs. J. Anderson and Miss Mabel Anderson, 612 Concession St., and Mrs. M. L. Jarvis have returned from a visit to the Toronto Fair.

Mr. and Mrs. J. J. Brooks and family of Toronto motored to Peterborough for the holiday.

Mr. A. McNab, G. T. R. agent at Peterborough, renewed acquaintances in Lindsay on Friday. — Daily Warder.

Mrs. Henry Waterman of Toronto spent the week-end in Peterborough.

Miss Annie Bolwell, of the staff of Bellevue Hospital, New York City, was the week-end guest of her brother and sister-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Bolwell, Ashburnham.

Miss W. Brickman visited with friends in the city over the week-end.

Mr. and Mrs. H. McCallum of Toronto motored to Peterborough for the holiday.

Mr. and Mrs. Alex. McGregor spent the holiday with relatives at Streetsville.

Mr. W. W. Armstrong left this morning for Toronto to attend the Ontario College of Pharmacy.

Mr. Bruce Beatty of Bridgeburg spent the holiday with his parents.

Mr. P. Alexander is at Woodbridge installing a farm lighting plant. Mr. Alexander will be absent for some days.

Mr. and Mrs. E. L. Berry and little son, of Chicago, are visiting in the city the guests of Mrs. Berry's parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. Rountree, Grand Central Apartments.

Mrs. John Osborne, Miss Dorothy Hollingsworth and Miss H. Thompson, who have been visiting friends in the city, have returned home to Philadelphia.

Miss Baynard of Toronto was a Peterborough guest over the week-end.

Mr. and Mrs. Harris of Toronto motored to Peterborough for the holiday.

Mr. and Mrs. James White and family of Toronto spent the holiday with friends in the city.

Mrs. Drain was a week-end visitor in Lakefield.

Misses Lillian and Margaret Spiers of Toronto are visiting in the city the guests of Miss Mabel Crane, Rogers street.

Mr. and Mrs. K. G. Lech are visitors at "Kinmore," Stoney Lake.

AUCTION SALE

I will sell by public auction at the home of Mrs. (Dr.) McGrath, 539 George street, on Thursday, Sept. 4th, her household furniture and furnishings, including walnut wardrobe, walnut bedroom suite, refrigerator, kitchen range, gas range, lawn mower, garden tools, etc. This will be a very large and important sale. Sale will commence at 10 o'clock a.m., and will continue until all is sold. No reserve.

J. F. Thornton, Auctioneer.

OPENING FALL TERM.

Mr. Geo. H. King, Organist and Choirmaster of Trinity Methodist Church, Teacher of Piano, Organ, Singing; Mrs. King, Soprano Soloist and Teacher of Singing, wish to announce the opening of the Fall term Tuesday, Sept. 2nd. Reasonable terms. Beginners accepted. Studio, 418 Rubidge St. Phone 941w.

At this stage of the game the lightweight championship is conceded to the icemen.

STONEY LAKE PERSONALS

A large number of cottagers have closed their cottages for the season.

Judge and Mrs. Roger Lair returned to Cobourg.

Mr. A. Armstrong and family, of Cobourg, who have been summering at Boschlad, leave for home this week.

Mrs. Fasbox, of Toronto, entertained on Thursday evening, dancing and bon-fire.

Mr. and Mrs. F. Mackay, Mr. F. J. Combo and Miss Ames, of Toronto; Mrs. C. A. Cone, of New York, are guests at "Oakdene," Mr. W. O. Mann's island.

Rev. Mr. Mackenzie and Mrs. Mackenzie, of Knox Church, Peterborough, spent the week-end with Mr. Guillett at the lake.

Dr. and Mrs. Watson are leaving for their home in Baltimore early next week.

OBITUARY

MRS. JOHN NICHOLLS.

The death occurred on Sunday last of Mrs. John Nicholls, 119 Robinson street, Ashburnham. Deceased was a daughter of the late Henry Carette and was beloved and respected by all who knew her. The funeral will take place on Wednesday to Little Lake Cemetery.

ARCHIBALD H. ROBINSON.

The death occurred Sunday of Archibald Herbert Robinson, aged 16, son of H. C. Robinson, Monaghan road. Funeral will take place from the residence of the father on Wednesday at 2 o'clock to Little Lake Cemetery. Services to be conducted by Rev. Mr. Chapman of St. James' Church.

ELIZABETH PHILPOTT KITNEY

An old resident of Otonabee departed this life early this morning in the person of Elizabeth Philpott, beloved wife of Charles Kitney, in her 68th year.

Mrs. Kitney was born at Stockbury, Kent, England, but has resided in this country for the past number of years. She leaves to mourn her loss, besides her husband, two daughters, Mrs Stokes, of Otonabee, and Miss Florence, at home, and three sons, Mr. C. F., Fred M. and Earnest, all at home. The funeral will take place from the family residence, lot 26, concession 13, Otonabee, across the Locks bridge, on Thursday afternoon, at 3 o'clock, to Little Lake cemetery, for interment.

Services at the house at 2.30 will be conducted by Rev. Mr. Chapman and Greatrix.

(Flowers gratefully declined.)

It is folly to tell a man who has the toothache that misery likes company.

PURE SPICES

CURRIE POWDER
TUMERIC
CLOVES
MACE
WHOLE PICKLING SPICE
MUSTARD
GINGER
GARLIC
ALLSPICE, ETC.

CORKS

All size, best quality, lowest prices.

CANNING WAX
PAROWAX
PARKE'S PICKLE MIXTURE
PARKE'S CATSUP FLAVOR

Everything for the Canning or Pickling Season.

—AT—

Warne's Drug Store
351 George Street.
PHONE 527

Stoney Lake Navigation Company

Steamers leave Lakefield for the Lakes on arrival of morning and noon trains.

Steamers leave the Lake to connect with 9.30 a.m. (morning) and 1.40 p.m. (afternoon) trains for Peterborough.

G. T. R. trains leave Peterborough at 8.30 a.m., 12.15 noon

For excursion rates, information, etc., phone 548, or write

F. G. YOUNG.
Gen. Manager.
497 King St.

Women's Smart Velvet Hats

Specially Priced for Wednesday at $6.50

Imagine being able to get yourself a new Fall Velvet Hat for $6.50. Wednesday's sale will afford you that opportunity, for we have collected a splendid assortment of very smart models from which you may make a most satisfactory choice. There are velvet sailors, and velvet close fitting hats, in black, brown, taupe, blue and sand; some with soft and cushion brims. The trimming as a rule is a simple band and bow of silk ribbon; sometimes a pretty flower perched on one side. Each hat is exceptional value, indeed a good bargain at Wednesday's price $6.50

Linen Towels—For General Use 60c each

Here's your chance to secure at a very low price some splendid Linen Towels. These semi-bleached towels are closely and carefully woven from all-linen threads and are very absorbent; the ends are nicely hemmed and are just the towelf or general use. These are high-class towels and will be sure to please. Size 38 x 18 inches. Wednesday Bargian, ea. 60c

$3.50 Embroidered Pillow Cases, $2.89 pair

Attractive pillow cases for day or night use; made from circular pillow cotton. The deep borders are nicely hemstiched and a pretty design is embroidered on the end. These cases are strong, will wear splendidly, and keep their good appearance after many washings. Don't let this chance slip by. Regular $3.50. Get a pair to-morrow. Wednesday Bargain $2.89

Wash Cloths, 9c—3 for 25c

Good quality White Terry Wash Cloths of fine soft cotton yarns, with overlock stitched edges. Large and small sizes. Wednesday Bargain, each—3 for 25c

$3.00 Heatherbloom and Moirette Underskirts, $2.39

Very useful and practical Underskirts, in soft moirette and heatherbloom, in black and colors. These petticoats are serviceable and will outwear several silk skirts. Made in the new narrow style with sectional and pleated flounce; splendid value at our regular price of $3.00. Wednesday Bargain .. $2.39

$4.50 Fine Imported Navy Serge Suiting, $2.98 yard

This fine English Serge is an all pure wool and fine twill, and ideal for Fall suiting. Only a limited stock of this big value suiting left; 40 inches wide, in a nice navy blue shade. To-day's value for this suiting is $4.50. Wednesday Bargain, yard $2.98

$1.25 Habutai Silk, 97c yard

36-inch Habutai Silk, in colors of black and ivory. An all-pure silk quality and one of the best silks we know of for wearing and washing. Suitable for waists, dresses, skirts and slip-linings. Regular $1.25. Wednesday Bargain, yard 97c

TRAY CLOTHS—DRESSER SCARFS and PILLOW SHAMS

AT BARGAIN PRICES FOR WEDNESDAY SELLING

Scalloped Damask Tray Cloths, size 27 x 19 inches. Regular $1.25 ... for 98c

Hemstitched Damask Tray Cloths, size 26 x 19 inches. Regular $1.00 ... for 79c

Hemstitched Tray Cloths, one-inch hem all around, size 18 x 28 inches. Regular $1.25, for 98c

Embroidered and Hemstitched Dresser Scarfs, size 42 x 18 inches. Regular $1.00, for ... 79c

Plain Cotton Hemstitched Pillow Shams, size 30 x 30 inches. Regular 60c for 48c

Lace trimmed Dresser Scarfs, size 18 x 45 inches, for $1.25

Lace trimmed Pillow Shams to match; size 29 x 29 inches $1.25

A few odd small size Battenburg Lace Centre Pieces, slightly soiled. Regular 25c to 50c. To clear at 15c

$1.50 and $2.00 White Voile Blouses, Clearing at $1.29

Wednesday brings an offering of a big assortment of Voile Blouses in various smart and becoming styles. Some are embroidered, some are tucked, others are lace trimmed; V, square and round neck styles. Well made and of excellent quality. Sizes 36 to 44, but not all sizes in any one particular style. Regular values $1.50 and $2.00. Wednesday Bargain, each $1.29

40c Durable Grey Flannelette, 35c yard

If you are looking for a high-grade flannelette for Bed Sheets, as well as for women's and children's wear, that will give exceptional wear, you will be satisfied with this heavy grey flannelette. It is firmly woven from very strong cotton yarn, and has a fine, soft, downy finish. Very durable quality and full 36 inches wide. Regular 40c, and big value at that price 35c
Wednesday Bargain, yard

DRESSMAKING AND LADIES' TAILORING DEPARTMENTS

Our Dressmaking and Ladies' Tailoring Departments are re-opened for the Fall season, and we would advise customers making their appointments for Autumn's orders at once.

Prompt and careful attention given to all orders. Satisfaction guaranteed in every detail.

RICHARD HALL & SON LIMITED

BIRTH

LUNDY— On Saturday, Aug. 3, at Nichols Hospital, to Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Lundy, a daughter.

WESLEY—At Nichols Hospital, Peterboro, Monday, Sept. 1st., to Rev. and Mrs. T. M. Wesley, a son.

RATTENBURY—On Saturday, at Nichols Hospital, August 30th, 1919, to Mr. and Mrs. Rattenbury, a daughter, Dorothy Jean.

TEMPLE BAND PRACTICE.

The Temple Band will meet for practice tonight at 8 o'clock sharp. Full attendance requested.

DEATH

RATTENBURY—The infant daughter, Dorothy Jean, of Mr. and Mrs. Rattenbury, Sunday, August 31st, 1919.

Referendum Committee

Attention Voters!

IS YOUR NAME ON THE VOTERS' LIST

Only Seven Days remain in which it is possible to have your name added to the List.

To make sure, call up the Organizer, T. M. Wesley, He will tell you. PHONE 1496

A. B. Cunningham,
Chairman Ref. Com.

WEATHER FORECASTS.
Moderate northerly winds, fair today and on Friday, cool tonight.

The Daily Review

8 PAGES

40th YEAR No. 53 Peterborough's Oldest Newspaper. PETERBOROUGH, ONTARIO, THURSDAY, SEPTEMBER 4, 1919. Price Two Cents per copy

CONSERVATIVES OF E. PETERBORO AGAIN NOMINATE J. THOMPSON FOR LEGISLATURE

Choice Was Unanimous at Convention of the Party in Norwood Yesterday—Many Women Attend as Delegates—Mr. Thompson and Minister of Agriculture Henry Defend Record of the Hearst Government.

The Conservative of East Peterborough took up the U.F.O. gauntlet yesterday afternoon when at their convention in Norwood they unanimously nominated Mr. James Thompson, M.P.P., as their representative in the approaching provincial elections. If the Farmers' party has made any impression in this conspicuously and predominantly rural constituency it was not indicated by any gaps in the ranks of the delegates. Nor was there any apparent defection among the ordinary electors for the attendance of perhaps three hundred or more filled the hall to all corners. The townships and villages were represented not only by prosperous looking men whose automobiles were parked in the hotel yards and along the side streets, but also by eager women, who in the full possession of their franchise exhibited an interest and enthusiasm that had a marked effect. Incidentally, they contributed an unfamiliar soprano note in the rounds of cheering for the King, the Conservative party and the candidate, Mr. Thompson.

His renomination, without a sign of opposition and the rousing acclaiming welcome, were proofs of the unshaken confidence in which he is held throughout his riding. His address of acceptance outlined the accomplishments of the Hearst administration and also discussed some of the claims and the platform of the United Farmers. To the co-operative movement in the country, he extended his heartiest wishes for success and promise of continued assistance in every way possible to him, but Mr. Thompson deprecated the intrusion into politics of a scheme that was regarded as purely economic in its original purpose.

THE MINISTER OF AGRICULTURE.

Hon. W. S. Henry, Minister of Agriculture in the Provincial Government, appeared for the first time in Norwood. He made an excellent impression. Unassuming and kindly in his manner, he delivered a fighting speech, the recurring theme of which was an appeal to the Conservatives of this Province and to the other electors who desired the maintenance of a Government that had shown the steadines, soundness, progressiveness and vision required in these unsettled times. In the Conservative party there was the assurance of stability in the midst of dangerous unrest. Not once, but at least four times, Hon. Mr. Henry emphasized the need of that unity that had concentrated and directed the efforts of the people during the war.

OFFICERS ELECTED.

Mr. Harry Fitzgerald, of Lakefield, presided and in a few words expressed his pleasure at the large attendance of women at the first convention in which they had a direct influence and interest. During the preliminary meeting of the East Riding Liberal-Conservative Association the following officers were elected:

Hon. Vice-Presidents—Dr. Fraser, of Lakefield, and James Andrews, of Norwood.

President—Harry G. Fitzgerald.

Associate President—Mrs. R. E. Birdsall.

Vice-President—Dr. Ford.

Associate Vice-President — Mrs. Samuel Spence, Lakefield.

Secretary—E. C. Squire, Havelock.

Treasurer—C. A. Ghent, Havelock.

Executive—Otonabee, Major D. W. Johnston and Mrs. Wm. Elmhurst; Havelock, C. H. Brewster and Mrs. Edward Williams; Norwood, C. E. Packenham and Mrs. E. P. Cuffe; Lakefield, Capt. Bygott and Mrs. R. Garbutt; Methuen, Norris Whitney and Mrs. Robt. Vanskiele; Douro, Thos. Miller and Mrs. Harry Ingram; Chandos, Allan Caldwell and Mrs. Aaron Post; Burleigh, Cecil Shewen and Mrs. Chas. Lauder; Belmont, James Russell, Matthew Petherick and Mrs. George Smith; Asphodel, R. N. Drain and Mrs. Robert Fennell; Anstruther, John Lane and Thomas Stevens; Drummer, Levi Payne, Matthew Elliott and Mrs. J. Greystock.

MR. THOMPSON CHOSEN.

When the convention was thrown open for nominations, Mr. James Thompson was the only candidate proposed. He was nominated by Mr. J. W. Russell, of Belmont, and seconded by Mr. Fred J. Squire, of Havelock.

Mr. Fitzgerald's announcement that Mr. Thompson was the unanimous choice of the convention as standard bearer in the Provincial elections was greeted with prolonged applause.

MR. THOMPSON'S ADDRESS.

Acknowledging his re-nomination and the prolonged applause that greeted the chairman's announcement Mr. Thompson thanked the convention for this new evidence of their confidence, stating that he could not express the emotion of appreciation and gratefulness that overwhelmed him. "I did not look for this honor," he said. "During the past two or three years I notified the executive and hundreds of farmers of this Riding that if they had any other candidate in view I was perfectly willing to step aside. However, I cannot refuse this unanimous choice. I have much to be thankful for during the past eleven years in which I have represented the good old constituency of East Peterborough, and I feel now that this is an obligation to the people who have supported me."

Mr. Thompson disposed of a number of rumors that had been circulated criticising him for one alleged complaint or another. "They have said that I am never in this Riding but there has been scarcely a week in which I was not here three or four days. In 1916 I was absent for a time, but I assure you that if I am elected I will be in a position to give this Riding my best attention. It has also been said that I am opposed to Farmers' Club. I wish to den ythat emphatically." Mr. Thompsoan read from an address he delivered in the Legislature in 1911 in which he reported the splendid progress that had been made by the egg circles in East Peterborough. The co-operative movement in the country had received his whole-hearted support and he was delighted at the promises of success that appeared eight or nine years ago.

Clubs and Politics.

"But they did not follow those lines of success," Mr. Thompson continued, "and the reason was that a certain gentleman from Western Ontario came here and tried to turn these clubs into an organization of another kind, a political organization if you will. Mr. Drury was that gentleman. In Prince Edward County the clubs were broken up in the same way. The one thing that reacted against the success of carrying out of this co-operative movement is that many of the members discover that they are expected to give up their freedom and independence. I am not altogether familiar with what happens but members of the clubs have intimated that they do not feel free to do as they like. In the press you observe that some people are dictating to the Farmers' Clubs and the members are told to vote as these persons say. They are told that they must vote for the United Farmers' candidates. I am in favor of co-operation in buying and selling among farmers, but why cannot any farmer belong to a club without being compelled to do what they don't wish to do."

Mr. Thompson pointed out that co-operation has made big strides in Quebec, but that the farmers did not put up candidates to oppose the Liberal Government, and in the west the Grain Growers likewise confined their activities to agricultural and economic affairs.

"I believe that the farmers should have a good representation in the Legislature. We have twenty-five farmers now and there are plenty of others capable of representing you and the rest of the people, but I realize that you don't want a man

(Continued on Page Five.)

James Thompson, M. L. A., unanimously nominated for the Legislature by Conservative of East Peterborough at Norwood yesterday.

BOMB THROWING IN KOREA

Governor-General Attacked—Former Mayor of Chicago Wounded.

(Canadian Press Despatch)

Tokio, Japan, Sept. 4 — Seoul, the capital of Korea, reports that a bomb was thrown at Governor-General Saito and that many persons were wounded, including an American woman named Harrison, who is believed to be related to Carter Harrison, former Mayor of Chicago. Governor-General Saito was not wounded. No further details were received.

ULTIMATUM FOR RUMANIA

Must Answer to Allies for Her Course in Hungary.

(Canadian Press Despatch)

Paris, Sept. 4 — The Supreme Council today decided to send an ultimatum to the Roumanian Government regarding her course in Hungary.

CONFERRING ON PURCHASE G.T.R.

NEGOTIATIONS WERE OPENED IN LONDON SOME TIME AGO.

(Canadian Press Despatch)

Ottawa, Sept. 4.—Important conference involving the possible purchase of the Grand Trunk Railway by the Dominion Government, opened in Ottawa today.

The Government is represented by Sir Robert Borden, Sir Harry Drayton and others. Sir Alfred Smithers, chairman, and Howard G. Kelley, president of the G.T.R., represent the company.

Negotiations looking to the acquisition of the road by the Government were opened in London some time ago, but no satisfactory agreement reached

GERMAN NEWSPAPERS WHINE

(Canadian Press Despatch)

Berlin, Sept. 4—The Taegliche Rundschau declares today that the demand of the Entente supreme council that the German constitution be altered is hardly calculated to induce the German people to respect their new character, and warns the Entente of the danger of precipitating new internal disruption.

A FLAT REFUSAL.

The Vossische Zeitung says that a flat refusal is the only possible answer to the demand of the Entente, while the Kreuz Zeitung remarks that the amateurs of Weimar must now put up with constant intervention by the Entente in Germany's international affairs.

NO INTENTION TO CRUSH ANY ONE GREAT PEOPLE BY PEACE TREATY

But Germany Must be Punished—To Resume Business Relations With Former Enemies

(Canadian Press Despatch)

Washington, Sept. 4 The peace treaty undertakes to punish Germany but has no intention of overwhelmingly crushing any great people, declared President Wilson today, in opening his country-wide campaign for the adoption of the treaty.

He spoke to four thousand people and secured an enthusiastic reception.

In addition said President Wilson, the treaty tore away the chains of oppression and gave small nations a right to live

Resume Business Relations.

Boston, Sept. 4—The immediate resumption of business relations with Germany and Austria was advocated today by Elbert N. Gary, chairman of the United States Steel Corporation, in an address before the American Bar Association.

Gary prefaced his speech by declaring that the majority of the people of America were in favor of the peace treaty and the League of Nations without any material change

TANK EXPLODED DEATH RESULTS

BURNED TERRIBLY ABOUT FACE AND HEAD, VETERAN POP CORN VENDOR DIES.

VICTIM A GREEK AND PRO-ALLY

GON FOUGHT IN WAR — WIDESPREAD REGRET AT FATHER'S DEATH.

(Canadian Press Despatch)

Kingston, Sept. 4.—Terrible burns about the face and head which Geo Gitzas, a veteran Greek pop corn vender, received here yesterday afternoon when a tank attached to his roaster exploded as he was pumping air into it, resulted in his death a eleven-forty last night.

Well-Known Figure.

The deceased was for many years a well-known figure in Kingston, and his death has occasioned wide-spread regret on all sides. He was a strong pro-Ally, and one of his sons fought in the Grecian army. His family reside in Greece.

THE RENOWN AT HALIFAX

(Canadian Press Despatch)

Halifax, Sept 4 H.M.S. Renown arrived in harbor early this morning She will take on fuel oil before proceeding on her southern trip.

The battle cruiser will sail for St Kitts, British West Indies, tomorrow morning, as originally announced

TO VOTE AGAINST GERMAN TREATY

THIRTY-FIVE SOCIALIST MEMBERS OPPOSE RATIFICATION.

(Canadian Press Despatch)

Paris, Sept. 4 — Paul Mistral, Minority Socialist, during a debate in the Chamber of Deputies this afternoon on the ratification of the peace treaty with Germany, declared that he and his party of about 35 members would vote against ratification of treaty.

TWO DAYS DELAY GRANTED AUSTRIA

REQUEST FOR MORE TIME TO REPLY TO PEACE TERMS ALLOWED.

(Canadian Press Despatch)

Paris, Sept. 4.—The Supreme Council of Peace Conference has decided to grant the request of the Austrian peace delegation for two days' delay in time for the presenting of the Austrian answer to the terms of peace.

MET U.S. RAILWAY WAGE BOARD

THREE HUNDRED THOUSAND WORKERS AFFECTED BY DECISION.

(Canadian Press Despatch)

Washington, Sept 4 — Representatives of three hundred thousand members of the United Brotherhood of Maintance of Way and Railroad Shop Laborers met the Railway Wage Board today, to adjust their wages in accordance with the principle laid down by President Wilson in approving adjustments last week for railroad shopmen

AGED 83 YEARS BURNED TO DEATH

ASSISTED ALL HIS HOUSEHOLD TO ESCAPE, HIMSELF ONLY VICTIM.

(Canadian Press Despatch)

Jamestown, N. Y., Sept 4—Jno. Peterson, eighty years of age, was burned to death at Riverside, near here, this morning, after having aroused all others in his household and assisted in their escape when his house was destroyed.

NEW INTERNATIONAL EUROPEAN EXPRESS TRAIN SERVICE TODAY

Connect With the Orient-Via Simplon Tunnel—Central Europe Britain, France and Belgium are Interested—Conference in Paris the Past Three Weeks

(Canadian Press Despatch)

Paris, Sept. 4—International train representatives of British, French, Belgian and Central European railways have been in conference in Paris for the past three weeks with the object of establishing a new service of international trains.

Through Cars.

Subject to confirmation of final meeting of all delegates, it has been decided to run an Orient express, via Simplon Tunnel, with through carriages between Paris and Bucharest and between Paris and Belgrade. A portion of the train will go on Athens, Greece.

Ostend to Milan.

In connection with this express, there will be a train from Ostend to Milan, Italy, and vice versa, via Brussels. Another international express is to run between Paris, Prague and Warsaw, by way of Strassbourg and Nuremboug, in place of the former northern express.

The delegates have also debated a Paris convention to take the place of the former Berne convention, dealing with waybill, tariffs and other international traffic questions.

THOUSAND PERSONS EXECUTED BY BOLSHEVIKI IN RUSSIAN CITY

Bayoneted Wounded in Streets and Pillaged Wholesale Prior to Evacuation—Workmen and Chinese at Head of the Organizations in Yekaterinoslav—Officer Miraculously Escaped

(Canadian Press Despatch)

Constantinople, Sept. 4. — More than a thousand persons were executed by the Bolsheviki before they evacuated the city of Yekaterinoslav in Southern Russia, according to a despatch received here from that city giving an account of the massacres

How Officer Escaped.

A physician tells of the case of one officer who missed being struck by a firing squad's bullets and escaped the Bolsheviki, who came along bayonetting the wounded, by mutilating death.

Chinese In It.

Bolsheviki organizations in the city had been headed by a workman named Vallavka and various Chinese, the report adds, and the principal posts of the Soviet administration under them were in the hands of young men and women. Wholesale pillaging is said to have occurred in the town before its evacuation.

Evacuated the City.

The evacuation of Yekaterinoslav by the Bolsheviki apparently occurred more than two months ago. A Russian wireless despatch from Moscow on July 1, which reported the capture by Cossacks of Kharkov, announced also that the Bolsheviki had lost Yekaterinoslav, 115 miles south of Kharkov.

ONE GOOD BAND IS ALD. CROWE'S IDEA

CHINKS CITY'S APPROPRIATION WOULD BE BETTER APPLIED IN THAT DIRECTION.

BAND CONCERTS APPRECIATED

MUSIC IN THE PARKS COST THE CITY BUT $400 THIS YEAR.

Ald. Edgar moved in Council that now the band concerts are finished for this season the S. A. Temple and the G. W. V. A. Bands be paid the $200 each granted them for playing in the parks. Council's appropriation for band music was $600, to be divided equally among the three bands—the G. W. V. A., S. A. Temple and the 57th Regt. Band. The latter, however, declined acceptance of the $200 grant offered them on condition that they give open-air band concerts during the summer as and where designated by Council, and Ald. Edgar urged that the $200 thus saved be divided equally between the G. W. V. A. and the S. A. Temple Bands, whose quality of music had been good. The concerts by both bands he said had been well rendered, and generously patronized by an appreciative public. South end residents in particular were, in his opinion, more than satisfied with the band concerts in King Edward Park.

One Good Band.

Ald. Crowe opined that the $200 saved in music could be applied to better use. He was sorry the city had not one really good band instead of its band talent being distributed among three organizations and he declared that were Council to continue contributing financially to every band organized, Peterborough would eventually have nothing whatever of a high-class and creditable nature to point to in the way of a band. Let the three bands organize into one city band, is the advice of Ald. Crowe who eulogizes Mr. Rupert Gliddon of the 57th as a director of exceptional ability, capable of training and conducting a first-class musical organization.

Stand by Agreement.

Ald. Turner thought the Council should be businesslike and stand by its original agreement of $200 for each band which gave concerts in the parks. The $200 saved, he remarked, could be applied toward improvements and painting of the band stands, or to make good the $200 voted the Boy Scouts for their trip to Toronto.

No seconder for Ald. Edgar's original motion being forthcoming, a resolution by him that the $200 grants be now paid the G. W. V. A. and the S. A. Temple Bands carried.

[illegible] a Grand River Railway section foreman, died of injuries received Tuesday when a passenger car struck a boarding machine car.

WILL NOT JOIN IN A GENERAL STRIKE

BUT LOCAL LABOR PROTESTS AGAINST ARRESTS OF WINNIPEG LEADERS.

At the meeting of the Trades and Labor Council last night a communication was received from Winnipeg asking Organized Labor in Peterborough to join in a protest to the Government against the arrest of the leaders in the general strike in Winnipeg last spring and their detention without bail. The letter also contained a request for co-operation in a general cessation of work on September 17th to emphasize the protest.

The local council decided to send a protest to Premier Borden and to J. H. Burnham, M.P., the latter to be asked to take the matter up on the floor of the House. That part of the communication referring to a general stoppage of work was left in abeyance.

The Labor Day committee submitted a partial report, but full details of the result of the celebration will be given at a special meeting on Monday evening. At this session the question of sending a delegate to the Dominion Trades Congress convention which meets at Hamilton during the week of September 22nd, will be considered.

Ald Harry Gainey will represent the Peterborough barbers at the international convention of the trade in Buffalo during the week of September 8, and Ed. Quinn will go to the Carpenters' convention at Hamilton on the 23rd inst. to represent the local union.

BRIG. GEN. J. ROSS DENIES CHARGES

(Canadian Press Despatch)

Ottawa, Sept. 4.—Brigadier-General J. G. Ross, paymaster general of the overseas forces, today denied emphatically the statement of J. M. McMillan, of Seaforth that thirty-two thousand soldiers who never enlisted were on the pay list, at a cost to the country of thirty million dollars. The general said that the method of accounting and auditing in overseas forces made it impossible for such things to occur.

ELECTION DATE NOT YET SETTLED

(Canadian Press Despatch)

Toronto, Sept. 4.—The World this morning says that the Provincial general election will probably take place on October 13, with the referendum on the same day.

Emphatically Denied.

Toronto, Sept. ..—Ontario Provincial Cabinet Ministers, interviewed this morning, deny emphatically the statement in this morning's paper that October 13 has been selected by the Ontario Government for the general elections and the referendum. They say no date is settled on yet.

THE DAILY REVIEW

ESTABLISHED 1879.
MEMBER OF THE CANADIAN PRESS, LIMITED.

THE DAILY REVIEW is published every afternoon at 4 o'clock (holidays and Sundays excepted) by The Peterborough Review Company, Limited, 166-168 Hunter Street.

SUBSCRIPTION PRICE, $3.00 per year by mail to any part of Canada or Great Britain; $4.00 per year delivered in any part of the city.

THE WEEKLY REVIEW, established 1852, is published every Thursday morning at 10 o'clock. Subscription price $1.50 per year to any part of Canada or Great Britain, or $2.00 a year to the United States.

U. S. Representative—Robert E. Douglas, Chicago.

BOARD OF DIRECTORS:
A. H. STRATTON, President and General Manager; W. A. PECK, ex-M.L.A.; T. F. MATTHEWS and JAMES LYNCH

TELEPHONES:
Business Dept .... 139 Editorial 433
Mr. Stratton's Residence ... 221

"FOR A GREATER PETERBOROUGH."

THURSDAY, SEPT. 4, 1919.

MR. THOMPSON RE-NOMINATED.

MR. JAMES THOMPSON has represented East Peterborough in the Ontario Legislature for the past fifteen years. Yesterday, at Norwood, he was again the unanimous choice of the party convention, a convention that contained new elements of representation, women for the first time appearing as delegates. The unanimity with which Mr. Thompson was chosen is the highest compliment that can be paid him. His record as the representative of he riding is all to the good. They have a strong farmers' club in East Peterborough and yet on the official records nothing appears in the shape of criticism of any of Mr. Thompson's public acts. He has carefully looked after the interests of all classes in the community. East Peterborough has a representative who stands high with the members of the Government which he supports. Mr. Thompson's re-nomination, under the circumstances, means his re-election.

The Conservatives of East Peterborough have a candidate for whose record no apologies or explanations are required. As much can be claimed on behalf of the Government which he supports. In his address, yesterday, accepting the nomination, Mr. Thompson gave a resume of his own record and that of the Government and the result in both counts was entirely satisfactory in everything in the way of criticism of the Hearst administration was disposed of.

The speaker of the day, brought in from outside, was no less a personage than Minister of Agriculture Henry, who held that important position in the Ontario Cabinet for over a year. Mr. Henry is a practical, not a so-called joy farmer. The interests of the agriculturalists of Ontario are his interests. The coming of Mr. Henry to Norwood to talk to a gathering composed largely of farmers was a fitting arrangement. It is especially so where there is a U. F. O. candidate in the field, where there is a disposition to plead that the interests of the farmers has been neglected by the Government. In a plain statement of actual facts Mr. Henry shows that this is not the case. The Government have always recognized the fact that agriculture is the most important industry in the province, and have shaped all their legislative acts with that end in view.

Mr. Thompson stated yesterday that with one exception he can heartily subscribe to every plank in the platform of the U. F. O. That exception is the pripciple of recall which he believes would practically rob a representative of the right of independent action. Mr. Henry said practicalyy as much. What then have the farmers of Ontario to gain by political action on their own account, especially if that action looks like nothing so much as a union of forces with the party in the minority as a means to unhorsing a man who has represented the riding, with general approval, for the past eleven years? What is in effect a transference of their support means an alliance with the political party to whom they owe nothing in the way of favor when that party was in power and had an opportunity to serve them.

A PROPHET IN HIS OWN COUNTRY.

AN ARTICLE under the above heading in these columns, yesterday, suffered by the omission of a line. Sir Robert Borden was nominated for the position of honorary president of the Liberal-Comervative Association in Winnipeg, and was defeated by a vote of four to one.

What struck us as significant about the incident was the fact that the fine Italian hand of Hon. Robert Rogers was manifest in the affair, especially when considered in connection with the fact that only the other day Mr Rogers issued a call for a made-over party. Hon. Robert is not without honor and prestige in his own country. That was the idea we had in mind. Sir Robert Borden is far removed from his own native heath when he figures in an affair of this kind in Winnipeg.

A HISTORY OF THE WAR.

A NEW CANADIAN War History is now ready for circulation. The author is Col. George G. Nasmith, C.M.G., and the title of the book is "Canada's Sons and Great Britain in the World War. The best possible recommendation that can be given the new work is the mention of its authorship, as Col. Nasmith is in every sense eminently fitted for the task.

Col. Nasmith was born in Toronto in 1877, and gained his bachelor's degree from the University of Toronto in 1900; M.A. in 1903; Ph.D., 1903; D.Sc., 1916; D.P.H., 1918. He was chemist for the Provincial Board of Health of Toronto, 1903-09; Director of Laboratories, Department of Health, Toronto, 1909-18. He went overseas with the Canadian forces in the World War and was in the thick of the fighting, in the first gas attack of the Germans at Ypres, and in many subsequent engagements. It was he who first reported the nature of the poison gas used by the Germans in 1915, and suggested the use of the protective masks. He first suggested the use of chlorine for purifying water for an army in the field (1909). The mobile filter now used by the British army is the result of his suggestions. Besides many technical papers, Col. Nasmith published "On the Fringe of the Great Fight." in 1918.

General Currie says of the author: "I know him to be a true Canadian and one who has played a gallant part in the recent struggle. To me it seems a good thing that soldiers like Col. George Nasmith, C.M.G., should record what they themselves have seen on the battlefields of France and Flanders. Because it is almost impossible to recover the spirit of past years, official histories, though correct in fact, often lack the personal touch of the eye-witness. I therefore welcome his work, and confidently recommend it to the Canadian public."

EDUCATION BY THE POUND.

A GIRL of fourteen years was on her way to the Collegiate Institute yesterday to begin a new chapter in her educational career, having passed the entrance examinations last summer. She was carrying an armful of books and it was evident that the weight of these was out of all proportion to her physical strength, still she was bravely working her way under her burden. A prominent resident of the city, who was passing in his automobile, noticed her predicament and took the books into his car. Going down town with these, he had them carefully weighed. The books tipped the scales at exactly seventeen pounds fourteen ounces, or only two ounces short of eighteen pounds. Every book was needed in the class work which the girl is about to undertake in the Collegiate, and the system of home work will necessitate the daily carrying of at least a portion of them from school to residence every day and back again in the morning.

The citizen who interested himself in this matter will carry it further and lay the case before Minister of Education Cody, who has already put himself on record as being in favor of a simplification of the course of study in Public and High schools. Unless something is done in this regard it may be necessary to furnish the students with small express wagons in order to transport the equipment which is required in their class work.

NOTES AND COMMENT.

MANY A CIVIC board has more words than works to its credit.

* * * * *

THE GIRL carrying eighteen pounds of books to school certainly becomes a subject for parental solicitude.

* * * * *

PROVIDING he has read both sides of the referendum issue the average citizen may be forgiven if he admits perplexity.

* * * * *

THE HOTELKEEPERS and boarding-house proprietors of Ottawa will at least reap some good from that extra session.

* * * * *

IT IS ANNOUNCED that the cost of funerals is bound to go up, but no one is likely to anticipate such events in order to save money.

* * * * *

IF ANY MEMBER of the Canadian Parliament refuses to vote for the ratification of the peace treaty, what has he in mind? A renewal of hostilities?

OPINIONS OF OTHER EDITORS.

WORTH FIVE DOLLARS!

(Toronto Times.)

In Salem, Mass., a restaurant pie is cut into seven pieces and sold at fifteen cents a piece. The Salem News declares roundly that no pie is worth $1.05. How about Aunt Jane's country pumpkin pie, two inches thick, with whipped cream on the top?

NEVER MISSED.

(Guelph Herald.)

The country will hear with equanimity the news that the Canadian Official Record is about to cease publication. How it ever came to be issued is a mystery, except that it was meant to be a reflection of bureautic minds at Ottawa who couldn't get heard in any other way. At any rate it was a costly venure which is well dispensed with.

THE HOME NEWSPAPER.

(Kingston Whig.)

The home newspaper is the expression and voice of the community in its relation to the nation of which it forms a part. The editorial utterances of local newspapers and the opinions expressed therein by correspondence, should be followed with the closest attention by politicians and leaders of thought. They reveal more clearly than anything else the trend of public opinion.

TWO GOOD EXAMPLES.

(London Advertiser.)

Some one wrote a poem on "Stupidity Street." He might have taken a row of government offices in Toronto or Ottawa as his model.

A SAFE BET.

(Guelph Mercury.)

It's dollars to doughnuts the Prince of Wales would like to be a sightseer instead of having to pose for the endless ceremonies in his honor.

A DANGEROUS COURSE.

(Manitoba Free Press.)

Nothing but industry and frugality can make the world safe for democracy—the course we are steering it is more likely to make it safe for licentiousness.

SELF-DETERMNATION.

(Toronto Star.)

We stand for Canadian control of hte Canadian tariff, and we desire that the people of Great Britain shall maintain the kind of tariff that will best serve the people of the United Kingdom.

A PESSIMIST.

(Galt Reporter.)

In their hunt for profiteers in the United States they are not beating about the bush. They get right into the thickest of scoundrelism and tree the scoundrels without loss of time. That is not Ottawa's way, and the chances are that the Fall shows will be over before a conviction is had under the Board of Commerce.

MAKES IMPRESSION TODAY.

(Winchester Press.)

The newspapers announce that Senator John Webster of Brockville was severely bruised by a kick from a horse. It was not so very long ago when Senator John was only an M.P., and although he received many a thump, or a "mule kick," as he used to term them, they made little impression on him.

MILLBROOK

(Special Correspondence.)

Millbrook, Sept. 4.—Mr. and Mrs. Charles Stanton and daughter, of Peterborough, were guests of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. R. E. Stanton, over the week-end.

Mr. and Mrs. G. W. Sayles and party spent the holiday at Twelve O'clock Point.

Miss Hein McKim, of Peterborough, is visiting her cousins, the Misses Gertrude and Cordelia Richards.

Mrs. G. E. Burnham and daughter, Ina Mary, are visiting friends at Lindsay.

essrs. Alvin and asil Richards were visitors to Toronto last week.

Miss Lizzie Lang, of Peterborough, was a guest of Miss Emma Francey, on Sunday.

Mr. Martin Brock and daughter, Miss Amy, motored to Toronto on Tuesday.

Mr. Jack Wilcock, of Toronto, was a gfiuest of Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Richards, over Sunday.

Mr. Fred Budd is visiting his parents, Mr. and Mrs. William Budd.

Mr. Harry Lord, of Kingston was home over the holiday.

Mrs. (Dr.) Bruce Whyte, of Port Hope, is a guest of her mother, Mrs. A. Wood.

Mr. and Mrs. McKeeley have returned to Peterborough after a pleasant visit with Mr. John Gardner.

Miss Eva Gillott left on Monday for Oklahoma where she will take a course in chiropractic

Miss Alice Elson, of Peterborough, was a guest of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. H. Elson, over the holiday.

Messrs. M. Davidson and R. Doak were visitors to Toronto on Monday.

Mr. J. H. Wilson, of Port Hope, was in town on Monday.

Mrs. W. H. Higgs and daughter, Miss Hein, of Madoc, were guests of Mrs. C. W. Richards last week.

Messrs. W. E. Ball and George Fowler were visitors to the Ex this week.

Messrs. B. Richards and T. Armstrong were guests of Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Wilson, of Port Hope, on Monday.

Two rinks of Millbrook bowlers attended the Port Hope bowling tourney, on Labor Day, but failed to bring home any trophies.

Mr. W. B. McCrirkick was in town over Sunday. He has been appointed manager at Shelburne branch of the Bank of Toronto.

Miss Ella Elson, of Millbrook, and Miss E. Outram, of Peterborough, have returned from a ten days' boat trip from Toronto through the Thousand Islands to Montreal, Quebec City and St. Anne De Baupre.

Mr. A. Needler was a guest of his cousin at Lindsay last week.

Messrs. L. Sutton and W. J. Collins and Mr. and Mrs. J. J. Clarke motored to Toronto last week.

Miss Moretta White, of New York, returned home on Tuesday after a pleasant visit with her aunt, Miss White.

Messrs. N. S. Henderson and E. L. Bushnell, of the Bank of Toronto, Omemee, were visitors at the home of the Misses Myrtle and Margaret Swain on Wednesday.

Miss Carrie Crookshanks of Peterborough, has returned to her school at Frazerville for the ensuing term.

Messrs. Harry Elson, Wilfred and George Elson, Howard Lancashire and Allan Wood left Tuesday for a motor trip to Toronto Exhibition and will visit St. Catharines and other points in the Niagara district before returning.

Mr. H. J. Griffin and Mr Fred Pendrie were in Toronto over the holiday.

Mr. Joseph H. Edward and son, Mr. Wm. George, were guests of the former's brother-in-law, Mr. James Hales, last week.

Mrs. Alf. Holloway and daughter, Marjory, of Toronto, were guests of Mr. and Mrs. C. Robinson, over the holiday.

Miss Sybil Robertson, of Springville, had a successful operation at Dr. Turner's Hospital, having a large piece of glass removed from her foot which had been there for over a year.

Miss Keitha Kidd, of Fragerville, will leave next week to take a nurse's course in Nicholl's Hospital.

Mrs. J. E. Robeson has returned to Athens after a pleasant visit with Frazerville friends.

Grace Church, Sept. 7, 1919.
10.30—"Gifts."
7.00—"Wayside Religion."
9.30—S. School and Bible classes.

Wood's Phosphodine.

The Great English Remedy. Tones and invigorates the whole nervous system, makes new Blood in old Veins. Cures Nervous Debility, Mental and Brain Worry, Despondency, Loss of Energy, Palpitation of the Heart, Failing Memory. Price $1 per box, six for $5. One will please, six will cure. Sold by all druggists or mailed in plain pkg. on receipt of price. New pamphlet mailed free. THE GREAT MEDICINE CO., TORONTO, Ont. (Formerly Windsor, Ont.)

CANADIAN CHOCOLATES EXPORTED TO BRITAIN

Peterborough Chiclet Co. Has Received Large Orders for Chocolates.

Previous to the war British chocolates enjoyed a reputation for quality equalled by few. British chocolates were exported in large quantities to all parts of the world.

During the war and since the war this condition has gradually been changing. Now Great Britain appears to be importing large quantities of chocolates and the Canadian Chiclet Company of this city has large orders of chocolates for Great Britain. They report that there are two apparent reasons for the export of their chocolates or all Canadian chocolates to Great Britain. During the war it was impossible for the British manufacturer to attend properly to the manufacture of chocolates. This, naturally, has had a decided effect upon the quantity and quality of chocolates made in Great Britain. The result has been, judging by the orders received by the local company, that Canadian chocolates are now in demand in Great Britain rather than British chocolates in Canada.

By reports from London, we learn that Great Britain is looking toward Canada for great quantities of delicacies of all kinds. If one orders from in England now the likelihood is that Canadian jam will be received. This is a decided change to pre-war conditions when Britain was considered pre-eminently an eporter of fine jams.

Great Britain has suffered seriously in these lines during the war, but Canada has leaped to her assistance and incidentally has placed herself in the position of an exporter of fine goods. As usual, this city is moving along with other Canadian cities and adding its exports of fine quality chocolates to the others.

St. Enoch's Church.
2.30—"What Hast Thou in the House."
1.30—S. School and Bible class.

The Children's Aid Society of Northumberland and Durham will hold its shelter anniversary at the shelter, Bruton street, Port Hope, on Thursday, Sept. 18.

This is the annual donation party when the many friends of the shelter and its young occupants combine to help fill the cellar and pantry. Such gifts as vegetables of all kinds, groceries and foodstuffs, clothing for boys and girls up to about 14 years of age are always acceptable and help to provide for winter needs. The public schools have shown a very practical interest in this matter by contributions of vegetables of all kinds. We hope other schools will join the ranks of helpers.

It is to be hoped that many persons will make this the occasion of a visit to the shelter. A personal inspection always increases interest.

In the afternoon, beginning at three o'clock, several short addresses will be delivered by persons interested in the work.

Your presence and co-operation are invited.

Mr. T. Ingram and son, Master Lawrence, of Omemee, were guests of Mr. Davidson, Anne St., this week.

Councillor and Mrs. Harry Bland, of Mt. Pleasant, were guests of Mr. and Mrs. Jas. Lancashire on Tuesday.

Mr. William Thompson and Mr Ivan Jones, of Galt, spent the week-end with Mrs. Jameta Howden.

Miss Marjorie Finney, of South Monaghan, is visiting friends in town.

Epworth League Re-Opening.

On Monday evening, next, Sept. 8, the Epworth League will re-open for the fall and winter work.

"Holiday Reminiscenes" will enliven the program. A social good time for all who come. Everybody welcome. Service at 8 o'clock.

Miss Mabel Howden, of Toronto, spent the holiday with her mother, Mrs. Howden..

GOOD OPPORTUNITIES

Study the advertisements in the Daily and Weekly Review. They are replete with attractive opportunities for buying cheaply.

For fying his airplane within 2 feet of the roof of a farmer's house an airman at Kansas City, Mo., was find $25 for disturbing the peace.

Jewels valued at $60,000 were stolen from the summer home of Mr. Jos. Paterno, at Aleinhurst, N.J.

A longshoreman arrested at Brooklyn, N.Y., is charged with stealing 2,000 wrist watches, valued at $40,000 from the army supply base.

"High rents and no liquor," were the reasons given the Roumanians who stood in line all day at New York waiting passports to take them home.

EDITOR'S MAIL

THE ONTARIO TEMPERANCE ACT.

Editor Review: Do you think the Temperance cause is helped by leading articles in the press attacking the Citizens' Liberty League and making gross misstatements? A leading article appears in a city newspaper in which it is stated that the citizens' Liberty League is in favour of the return of the bar because it advises voters to mark their ballots with four times "yes" and quotes Mr. Hearst as saying that if the vote of the referendum gives a majority in favour of the repeal of the O. T. A. he will restore the bar with all its horors. his is a grossly inaccurate statement. Mr. Hearst has neither the will nor the power to restore the bar. The country does not want it and will not have it, and Mr. Hearst knows it.

The repeal of the O.T.A. without any other legislation would not have the efect of restoring licensed bars. To restore the bars there would have to be substantive legislation, and Sir Wiliam Hearst could not pass such an act, for it would be defeated. The statement that he has made a threat to do so is not and cannot be true, for the best of all reasons—that he is not such a fool as to make it, and I do not believe anyone is fool enough to believe it.

The answer "yes" to the question "do you want the O. T. A. repealed?" merely means "I want the law as it now stands altered." It is a request for repeal and new legislation. The other three questions point out the new legislation desired.

I understand all the "no's" and all the "yes's" will be counted up, and the majority will be so ascertained so that if one puts his mark to two yes's and two no's his ballot will be spoiled as the yes and no will neutralize each other.

The Citizens Liberty League is opposed to the return of the bar, but it in favour of repeal of the O. T. A. as it now stands and a new sane law put on the statute book.

JAS. G. GUISE-BAGLEY.
Secrtary, Citizens' Liberty Leagu.

FITTING MEMENTO COMING?

Gunner Michael Garvey Perdue Gave Life For Empire.

A solemn anniversary High Mass of Requiem was celebrated at St. Martin's Church, Enismore, on Wednesday morning, at 8 o'clock, for the repose of the sons of the late Gunner Michael, Garvey Perdue, who was killed in action on Sept. 1st., 1918.

This noble young man who was of a quiet and unassuming disposition and a gifted schollar, did not hesitate to go forward and lay down his life for the honor of Ennismoer and the freedom of the world. The citizens of Ennismore have been very generous to their returned heroes and should be no less generous to the one that shall never return.

Gunner Perdue was the only one from that little township called upon to make the supreme sacrifice. It is hoped by many that Ennismore will, in the near future provide a fitting and lasting momento to the memory of the late hero.

FALL FAIRS 1919

PETERBOROUGH—Sept. 15-17
Ottawa—Sept. 6-15.
Campbellford—Sept. 23-24.
Bancroft—Oct. 2-3.
Belleville—Sept. 1-5.
Bowmanville—Sept. 16-17
Brighton—Sept. 11-12.
Brockville—Aug. 25-28.
Bobcaygeon—Sept. 26, 27.
Cobourg—Sept. 17-18.
Colborne—Sept. 25-26.
Centreville—Sept. 20.
Cobden—Sept. 25, 26.
Demorestville—Sept. 27.
Delta—Sept. 15-17.
Dungannon—Oct. 2-4.
Frankford—Sept. 18-19.
Harrowsmith—Sept. 18-19.
Keene—Oct. 7-8.
Kingston—Sept. 23-27.
Lakefield—Sept. 23-24.
Lindsay—Sept. 18-20.
Madoc—Oct. 7-8.
Merrickville—Sept. 16, 17.
Marmora—Sept. 30.
Maynooth—Sept. 25.
Midland—Sept. 29-Oct. 1.
Millbrook—Oct. 2-3.
Napanee—Sept. 9-10.
Norwood—Oct. 14, 15.
Odessa—Oct. 3.
Orillia—Sept. 16-17.
Oshawa—Sept. 8-10.
Orono—Sept. 25, 26.
Picton—Sept. 16-18.
Port Hope—Sept. 23, 24.
Robling Mills—Sept. 23, 24.
Shannonville—Sept. 18.
Stirling—Sept. 25, 26.
Stella—Sept. 30.
Tweed—Oct. 2, 3.
Wolfe Island—Sept. 17, 18.
Warkworth—Oct. 2, 3.

During the race rioting in July, 7 were killed and 100 injured at Washington, while 25 were killed and 1,000 injured in Chicago.

Roosevelt Memorial Association will meet in New York to arrange a campaign to raise $5,000,000 to build a monument and park in honor of the memory of Theodore Roosevelt. Line vessel to escape destruction during the war, arrived in New York, in charge of Capt. Blaikie, who rammed a U-boat, but was saved from death at the hands of the Germans by Ambassador Gerard.

Toronto Savings and Loan COMPANY

Peterborough

Head Office: 485-487 George Street
Paid-Up Capital ..$1,000,000.00
Reserve Fund $1,100,000.00

SAVINGS DEPARTMENT — Deposits received of One Dollar and upwards. Interest paid quarterly, accrues from date of deposit to date of withdrawal.

Every facility and convenience is afforded to depositors.

INVESTMENT DEPARTMENT — Debentures issued for sums of $100 & upwards for periods of one to five years, upon which special rates of interest are paid, depending upon the term of investment.

Executors and trustees are authorized by law to invest in the Debentures of this institution.

Money to loan at lowest current rates of interest.

W. G. MORROW,
Managing Director.

Railway Time Tables

C. P. R. TIMETABLE
Effective May 4th, 1919.

GOING EAST

8.20 p.m.—Indian River, Norwood, Havelock and Tweed.

11.52 p.m.—Norwood, Havelock Kingston, Smiths Falls Perth, Montreal, Quebec, St John, N.B, Boston and New York.

*1.30 a.m.—Havelock, Tweed, Kington, Perth, Smiths Falls and Ottawa

11.59 a.m.—Norwood Ravelock onarlaw, Tweed, Perth, Smiths Falls ttawa, Montreal and intermediat oints.

*11.59 a.m.—Norwood and Havelock.

GOING WEST

*4.53 a.m.—Toronto, Owen Sound uelph, Godsrich, Hamilton, Buffalo ew York, Galt, Woodstock, St homas, London, Chatham, Detroit nd Chicago.

6.21 a.m.—Myrtle and North Toonto.

7.35 a.m.—Toronto, Hamilton uffalo, Rochester, Boston, New Yorj nd intermediate points between Pet dorough and Toronto.

9.35 a.m.—Lindsay, Orillia, Por McNicoll and intermediate points.

3.20—Toronto, Hamilton, Brantord, Buffalo, New York, Galt, Guelph Woodstock, London, Windsor, Detroit nd Chicago and intermediate point etween Peterborough and Toronto.

8.00 p.m.—North Toronto, Lindsay nd intermediate points.

*3.20 p.m.—Toronto and intermediate points.

*Daily.
Daily except Sunday.
Daily except Saturday.
*Sunday only.

GRAND TRUNK RAILWAY SYSTEM TIMETABLE.

No. 96—8:10 a.m., for Toronto, via Port Hope, also points on Main Line east.
No. 92—8:20 a.m., for Lindsay, Blackwater Jct., Orillia, Midland, North Bay and Toronto.
No. 98—8:25 a.m., for Hastings, Campbellford, Belleville and points on Main Line East.
No. 368—8:30 a.m., for Lakefield.
No. 92—12:04 p.m. for Lindsay, Port Hope, Toronto, Buffalo, making connections with International Limited for London, Detroit and Chicago.
No. 371—12:15 p.m. for Lakefield.
No. 100—2:00 p.m. for Hastings Campbellford and Belleville.
No. 95—5:40 p.m. for Lindsay, Orillia, Midland, North Bay and Toronto.
No. 373—5:40 p.m. for Lakefield.
No. 99—8:31 p.m. for Lindsay.
No. 94—9:19 p.m. for Port Hope Montreal and Boston.

CLOCKS
: the Gift Kind :

Best assortment in the city of French Marble Clocks, Fancy Boudoir Clocks, Mantel Clocks, Bronze and Ornamental Clocks.

Prices moderate; Values defy competition.

Schneider's
247 George St. Next Turnbull's

HUNTING WHALES.

Traveler Tells About an Interesting Experience.

It was six o'clock when I came on deck, and the sun was just rising out of the sea, a great red ball of fire. The man in the "barrel" at the mast-head was swinging about watching the water ahead. Suddenly he clapped the glasses to his eyes, gazed toward the open sea, and shouted excitedly, "Kujira!" (whale), writes Roy Chapman Andrews in Asia. I jumped as though a bomb had been exploded on the bridge and whirled around just in time to see a silvery fountain of spray shoot up almost in the eye of the sun. It hung a moment in the air, then drifted away on the wind just as two other white jets spurted out of the water near the first. A moment later I saw three black bodies which revolved slowly and then disappeared in the hollow of a great swell. Instantly the ship was all astir. Members of the crew were rushing back and forth along the deck. The little vessel leaped forward, describing a long swing, and headed for the whales. In five minutes the ship had reached the mirror-like patches of water where the whales had gone down, and with her engines at "dead slow" was swinging in a wide circle waiting for the animals to come up and blow. Suddenly three snow-white jets shot up about a quarter of a mile away. The engine-room bell clanged impatiently, and the vessel leaped through the water at full speed. The whales came up astern next time and we swung about to intercept them, but they spouted only once and slipped under water and headed towards the beach.

The Main was now twisting and writhing about as though possessed of a demon. We circled about, each time coming closed to the whales, but the animals were still heading for the rocks not more than half a mile away.

Then something happened which made me forget my seasickness and the cold and the wind. The man in the "barrel" with both hands to his mouth was bellowing "Takamatsu! Takamatsu!" and pointed wildly out to sea. Melson wheeled around, his face red with excitement and shouted: "Killers! Now we'll get 'em. The killers are coming. Stand by and you'll see some fun."

I jumped on the gun platform by the side of the captain and when the ship rose to the crest of a huge billow we saw half a dozen scythe-like black fins cutting the water in streaks of white foam. On they came, six abreast, their high dorsals aloft like the standards over a charging cavalry troop. They were the dreaded killer whales, the savage sea wolves, which hunt in packs and are the terror of everything that swims.

Just then the gray whales spouted two hundred fathoms away. The killers darted forward after the gray whales like bloodhounds. They seemed literally to fly through the water toward their victims, who were now blowing lazily. Suddenly one of the gray whales spied the killers, and, hurling his gigantic body half out of the water, he turned head-down in a long dive. The others followed, but by this time the racing killers had nearly reached them and all went down together. The ship was running at full speed in the wake of the whales, but lay to with engines stopped at the spot. We hovered for fifteen minutes over the spot where the killers went down, the Main rolling drunkenly on the swell. About fifty fathoms off the water was beginning to smooth itself into a glassy green patch within two circles described by the animals swimming just beneath the surface. A devil fish shot to the surface followed by two killers. The huge black whale thrust itself half clear of the water, falling back in a shower of spray as the killer dashed for its head. The devil-fish twisted about, threshed the water with its ponderous flukes, tried to dive and escape, but the killer closed in on it.

Instantly it rolled to the surface, this time almost under the bows of the ship. I saw the captain bend over the gun, the tip of the harpoon drop a little, and the next instant a blinding cloud of vapor shot into our faces. The blast of the gun was deafening. Through the clearing cloud of smoke I saw black flukes hurtling out of the sea, and the devil-fish fell back with a tremendous, smashing blow upon the water. Then the gigantic figure quivered, straightened out, and slowly sank. For a moment there was not a sound on the ship save the measured "flop, flop, flop" of the line on the deck as the dead-weight of forty tons dragged it from the winch. The killers had disappeared at the flash of the gun, but before the winch brought the carcass of the devil fish to the surface we saw all six of them in full pursuit of the other two gray whales which were racing for the shore. I tried to follow them with my glasses, but they were lost in the surf and I never saw them again.

An Italian poet is seven feet three inches tall. What a swell boilermaker that chap would have made!

INDIGESTION AND CONSTIPATION

Quickly Relieved By "Fruit-a-tives"

Rockon, P.Q.

"I suffered for many years with terrible Indigestion and Constipation. A neighbor advised me to try "Fruit-a-tives". I did so and to the surprise of my doctor, I began to improve and he advised me to go on with "Fruit-a-tives".

I consider that I owe my life to "Fruit-a-tives" and I want to say to those who suffer from Indigestion, Constipation or Headaches — try "Fruit-a-tives" and you will get well".

CORISE GAUDREAU.

50c. a box, 6 for $2.50, trial size 25c. At all dealers or sent postpaid by Fruit-a-tives Limited, Ottawa.

A PROPHECY BY HEINE.

He Foretold Germany's Madness 80 Years Ago.

The war Germany waged against the rest of humanity was prophesied about eighty years ago by a great poet of Germany, Heinrich Heine, according to an article by Alfred Panzini, which appeared in the Giornale D'Italia, a newspaper published in Rome, Italy.

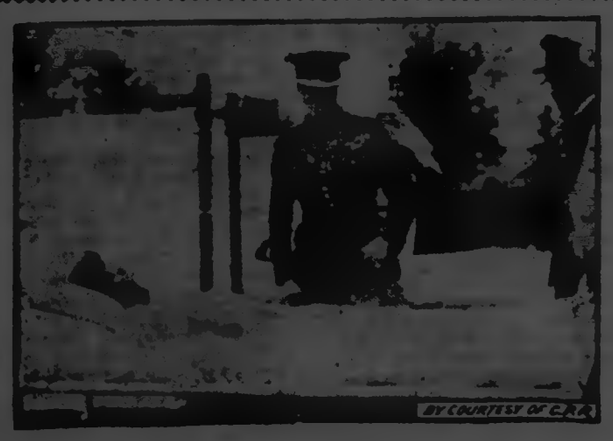
The writer quotes, in a translation direct from the German, Heine's prophecy. Following are the most significant parts of the quotation:—

"You have, oh Frenchmen, no suspicion of what it (the German revolution) will be like; the German revolution will be neither milder nor sweeter because the criticism of Kant, the transcendental idealism of Fichte, the philosophy of the philosophers of nature, preceded it. Those doctrines have developed revolutionary forces, and are only awaiting the opportune moment to explode and fill the world with terror and adulteration. Then will appear the followers of Kant, who will no longer wish to hear piety mentioned when referring to the world of facts any more than they allowed of it in the world of ideas; and they will turn upside down with club and hatchet our entire European life in order to eradicate the very last root of the past. Onto the same scene, will come the followers of Fichte and, will be impossible for vain volatile fanaticism to be dominated either by fear or by self-interest, for these philosophers live in the pure idea, and disdain material things, similar in this to those primitive Christians who were to be conquered neither by corporal punishment nor by the allurement of terrestial joys. The philosophers of nature will be terrible in that he puts himself in connection with all the original powers of the earth, evokes the occult forces of German tradition, calls to life again the forces of the entire German pantheism, revivifies that fury of battle, which we find in the ancient Teutonic peoples which wished to fight not in order to overcome his enemy, but to fight simply for the sake of fighting.

"Then in that day, ah me! You will see! The God Thor will rise with his gigantic hammer and demolish the Gothic cathedrals. When you, oh, near neighbor of France, shall hear the uproar and the tumult, be on your guard, and do not occupy yourselves at all with that which we in Germany will be doing, for you might get into grave trouble. Take care not to blow on the fire, take care also not to attempt to put it out, for you might burn your fingers. The peoples of Europe will group themselves as upon the steps of an amphitheatre around Germany to see a great and terrible game. I advise you, oh Frenchmen, to keep quiet, and above all, to take care not to applaud! We could so easily misinterpret your intentions, and push you a little brutally according to our coarse and impolite way.

"You understand perfectly that when the wish comes to fight with you, the Germans will have no difficulty in finding an excuse on that occasion. I counsel you to be on the alert. Whatever happens in Germany, whether the royal prince of Prussia or Doctor Werth becomes dictator does not matter. You, oh Frenchman remain always armed, and remain quietly in your place but at attention. I have for you only good intentions, and was almost terrified when I heard just lately that your ministers were contemplating the disarmament of France."

Fragmentary bits of the prophecy were quoted by French and Italian newspapers at the time of the bombardment of the Rheims Cathedral, but in that form it lost its significance. Alfredo Panzini was the first to quote it in its entirety.



BY COURTESY OF C.P.R.

Prince Visits St. Andrew's Hospital, Toronto, Officers' Section.

SEVEN KEYS TO BALDPATE

BY EARL DERR BIGGERS

Copyright, 1913, by the Bobbs-Merrill Company

"I haven't always been on Baldpate mountain," replied the hermit. "Once I, too, paid taxes and wore a derby hat and sat in barbers' chairs. Yes, I sat in 'em in many towns, in many corners of this little round globe. But that's all over now."

The three visitors gazed at Mr. Peters with a new interest.

"New York," said Mr. Max softly, as a better man might have spoken the name of the girl he loved. "It's a great little Christmas tree. The candles are always burning, and the tinsel presents always look good to me."

The hermit's eyes strayed far away down the mountain and beyond.

"New York," said he, and his tone was that in which Max had said the words, "a great little Christmas tree it is, with fine presents for the reaching. Sometimes at night here I see it as it was four years ago. I see the candles lit on the great white way. I hear the elevated roar and the newsboys shout and 'Diamond Jim' Brady applauding at a musical comedy's first night. New York!"

Mr. Max rose pompously and pointed a yellow finger at the hermit of Baldpate mountain.

"I got you!" he cried in triumph. "I'm wise! You want to go back."

A half hearted smile crossed the visible portion of the hermit's face.

"I guess I'm about the poorest liar in the world," he said. "I never got away with but one lie in my life and that was only for a little while. It was a masterpiece while it lasted too. But it was my only hit as a liar. Usually I fail, as I have failed now. I lied when I said I couldn't cook for you because I had to be true to my hermit's oath. That isn't the reason. I'm afraid."

"Afraid?" echoed Mr. Magee.

"Scared," said Mr Peters, "of temptation. Your seventh son of a seventh son friend here has read my palm O. K. I want to go back. Not in the summer, when the lion blazes like Broadway every evening, and I can sit here and listen to the latest comic opera tunes come drifting up from the casino and go down and mingle with the muslin brigade any time I want and see the sympathetic look in their eyes as they buy my postals. It ain't then I want to go back. It's when fall comes and the trees on the mountain are bare and Quimby locks up the inn and there's only the wind and me on the mountain—then I get the fever. I haven't the postcard trade to think of—so I think of Ellen and New York. She's—my wife. New York—it's my town.

"That's why I can't come among you to cook. It'd be leading me into temptation greater than I could stand. I'd hear your talk and like as not when you went away I'd shave off this beard and burn the manuscript of 'Woman' and go down into the marts of trade. Last night I walked the floor till 2. I can't stand such temptation."

Mr. Peters' auditors regarded him in silence. He rose and moved toward the kitchen door.

"Now you understand how it is," he said. "Perhaps you will go and leave me to my baking."

"One minute," objected Mr. Magee. "You spoke of one lie—your masterpiece. We must hear about that."

"It was like this," he began. "Five years ago I worked for a fruit company, and business sent me sliding along the edges of strange seas and picture book lands. I met little brown men and listened to the soft swish of the banana growing and had an orchestra seat at a revolution or two. Don't look for a magazine story about overthrown tyrants or anything like that. It's just a quiet little lie I'm speaking of, told on a quiet little afternoon by the sands of a sea as blue as Baldpate inn must have been this morning when I didn't show up with breakfast.

"Sitting on those yellow sands the afternoon I speak of, wearing carpet slippers made for me by loving, so to speak, hands, I saw Alexander McMann come along. He was tall and straight and young and free, and I envied him, for even in those days my figure would never have done in a clothing advertisement owing to the heritage of too many table d'hotes about the middle. Well, McMann sat at my side, and little by little, with the sea washing sadlike near by, I got from him the story of his exile and why.

"I don't need to tell you it was woman had sent him off for the equator. This one's name was Marie, I think, and she worked at a lunch counter in Kansas City. From the young man's [illegible] of her I

Cook's Cotton Root Compound.

[illegible] pills [illegible] in three degrees of strength, No. 1, No. 2 and No. 3. No. 1 and No. 2 are sold by all druggists in Canada, or by mail, [illegible] Address: THE COOK MEDICINE CO., TORONTO, ONT. (Formerly Windsor.)

[illegible] on the wings of love. It was two blocks, but I went on the wings of love. We've been married twenty years. Forgive me, McMann!"

"McMann turned around. He picked up the bag. I asked where he was going. 'Ashore,' he said, 'to think. I may go back to Kansas City—I may. But I'll just think a bit first.' And he climbed into the ship's boat. I never saw him again."

The hermit paused and gazed dreamily into space.

"That," he said, "was my one great lie, my masterpiece. A year afterward I came up here on the mountain to be a hermit."

"As a result of it?" asked Miss Norton.

"Yes," answered Mr. Peters, "I told the story to a friend. I thought he was a friend. So he was, but married. My wife got to hear of it. 'So you denied my existence?' she said. 'As a joke,' I told her. 'The joke's on you,' she says. That was the end. She went her way, and I went mine. I'd just unanimously gone her way so long I was a little dazed at first with my freedom. After fighting for a living alone for a time I came up here. It's cheap. I get the solitude I need for my book. Not long ago I heard I could go back to her if I apologized."

"Stick to your guns," advised Mr. Max.

Miss Norton rose and stood before Mr. Peters. She fixed him with her eyes—eyes into which no man could gaze and go his way unmoved.

"Just one tiny day," she pleaded.

Mr. Peters sighed. He rose.

"I'm a fool," he said. "I can't help it. I'll take chances on another day, though nobody knows where it'll lead."

"Brooklyn, maybe," whispered Lou Max to Magee in much horror.

The hermit donned his coat, attended to a few household duties and led the delegation outside. Dolefully he locked the door of his shack. The four started down the mountain.

"Back to Baldpate with our cook," said Mr. Magee into the girl's ear. "I know now how Caesar felt when he rode through Rome with his ex-foes festooned about his chariot wheels."

Mr. Max again chose the rear, triumphantly escorting Mr. Peters. As Mr. Magee and the girl swung into the lead the former was moved to recur to the topic he had handled so amateurishly a short time before.

"I'll make you believe in me yet," he said.

She did not turn her head.

"The moment we reach the inn," he went on, "I shall come to you with the package of money in my hand. Then you'll believe I want to help you. Tell me you'll believe then."

"Very likely I shall," answered the girl without interest. "If you really do intend to give me that money no one must know about it."

"No one shall know," he answered, "but you and me."

They walked on in silence. Then shyly the girl turned her head. Oh, most assuredly she was desirable. Clumsy as had been his declaration Mr. Magee resolved to stick to it through eternity.

"I'm sorry I spoke as I did," she said. "Will you forgive me?"

"Forgive you?" he cried. "Why, I"—

"And now," she interrupted, "let us talk of other things—of ships and shoes and sealing wax"—

"All the topics in the world," he replied, "can lead to but one with me"—

"Ships?" asked the girl.

"For honeymoons," he suggested.

"Shoes?"

"In some circles of society I believe they are flung at bridal parties."

"And sealing wax?"

"On the license, isn't it?" he queried.

They were then at the great front door of Baldpate inn.

Inside, before the office fire, Miss Thornhill read a magazine in the indolent fashion so much affected at Baldpate inn during the heated term, while the mayor of Renton chatted amiably with the ponderously coy Mrs. Norton. Into this circle burst the envoys to the hermitage, flushed, energetic, snowflaked.

"Hail to the chef who in triumph advances!" cried Mr. Magee.

Myra Thornhill laid down her magazine and fixed her great black eyes upon the radiant girl in corduroy.

"And was the walk in the morning air," she asked, "all you expected?"

"All and much more," laughed Miss Norton, mischievously regarding the man who had babbled to her of love on the mountain. "By the way, enjoy Mr. Peters while you can. He's back for just one day."

"Eat, drink and be merry, for tomorrow the cook leaves, as the fellow says," supplemented Mr. Max, removing his overcoat.

"How about a quick lunch, Peters?" inquired Magee.

"Out of what, I'd like to know," put in Mrs. Norton. "Not a thing in the house to eat. Just like a man."

"You didn't look in the right place, ma'am," replied Mr. Peters, with relish. "I got supplies for a couple of days in the kitchen."

"Well, what's the sense in hiding 'em?" the large lady inquired.

"It ain't hiding—it's system," explained Mr. Peters. "Something women don't understand." He came close to Mr. Magee and whispered low, "You didn't warn me there was another of 'em."

"The last, on my word of honor," Magee told him.

"The last," sneered Mr. Peters. "There isn't any last up here." And with a sidelong glance at the new Eve in his mountain Eden he turned away to the kitchen.

"Now," whispered Magee to Miss Norton, "I'll get you that package. I'll prove that it was for you I fought and bled the mayor of Renton. Watch for our chance. When I see you again I'll have it in my pocket."

(To Be Continued.)

CHAPTER XIV.

A Falsehood Under the Palms.

"WELL, it seems he'd bought a ticket for that loud colored country where I met him and come down there to forget. 'I could buy the ticket,' he said, 'as soon as I learned how to pronounce the name of this town. But I can't forget. I've tried. It's hopeless.' And he sat there looking like a man whose best friend had died owing him money. I won't go into his emotions. Mr. Bland, up at the inn, is suffering them at the present moment, I'm told. They are unimportant: I'll hurry on to the lie. I simply say he was sorrowful, and it seemed to me a crime, what with the sun so bright and the sea so blue and the world so full of a number of things. Yes, it certainly was a crime, and I decided he had to be cheered up at any cost. How? I thought awhile, gazing up at the sky, and then it came to me—the lie—the great, glorious lie—and I told it."

The hermit looked in defiance round the listening circle.

"'You're chock full of sorrow now,' I said to McMann, 'but it won't last long.' He shook his head. 'Nonsense,' I told him. 'Look at me. Do you see me doing a heart bowed down act under the palms?' And he couldn't, the lie unfolding itself in such splendor to me. 'You?' he asked. 'Me,' I said. 'Ten years ago I was where you are today. A woman had spoken to me as Mabel—or Marie—or what was it?—spoke to you.'

"I could see I had the boy interested. I unfolded my story as it occurred to me at the moment. 'Yes,' said I, 'ten years ago I saw her first. Dancing as a butterfly dances from flower to flower, dancing on the stage—a fairy sprite—I loved her, worshiped her. It could never be. There in the dark of the wings she told me so. And she shed a tear—a sweet tear of sorrow at parting.

"'I went to my room,' I told McMann, 'with a lot of time tables and steamship books—bright red books; the color came off on my eager hands. I picked out a country and sailed away. Like you, I thought I could never be happy, never even smile again. Look at me.'

"He looked. I guess my face radiated bliss. The idea was so lovely. He was impressed—I could see it. 'I'm supremely happy,' I told him. 'I am my own master. I wander where I will. No woman tells me my hour for going out or my hour for coming in. I wander. For company I have her picture—as I saw her last—with twinkling feet that never touched earth. As the spirit moves I go. You can move the memory of a woman in a flash, my boy, but it takes two months to get the real article started, and then, like as not, she's forgot everything of importance. Ever thought of that? You should. You're going to be as happy as I am. Study me. Reflect.' I waved my carpet slippered feet toward the palms. I had certainly made an impression on Alexander McMann.

"As we walked back over the sands and grass grown streets to the hotel his heart got away from that cupid's lunch counter, and he was almost cheerful. I was gay to the last, but as I parted from him my own heart sank. I knew I had to go back to her and that she would probably give me a scolding about the carpet slippers. I parted from McMann with a last word of cheer. Then I went to the ship—to her, my wife. That was the lie, you understand. She traveled everywhere with me. She never trusted me.

"We were due to sail that night, and I was glad, for I worried some over what I had done. Suppose my wife and Alexander McMann should meet. An estimable woman, but large, determined, but little suggesting the butterfly of the footlights I married long before. We had a bad session over the carpet slippers. The boat was ready to sail when McMann came aboard. He carried a bag, and his face shone.

"'She's sent for me,' he said. 'Marie wants me. I got a letter from my brother. I'll blow into Kansas like a cyclone and claim her.'

"I was paralyzed. At that minute a large black figure appeared on deck. It headed for me. 'Jake,' it says, 'you've sat up long enough. Go below now.'

"McMann's face was terrible. I saw it was all up. 'I lied, McMann,' I explained. 'The idea just came to me, it fascinated me, and I lied. She did turn me down—there in the wings. And she shed that tear I spoke of, too. But when I was looking over the railroad folders she sent for me. I w[illegible]

ADVERTISING RATES.

The rate for Classified Advertisements is one cent a word per first insertion; subsequent insertions half a cent per word. Minimum number of words ten. Special terms for 5,000 words or over.

Advertisements marked till forbidden" are accepted on the understanding that they will be published until a written or verbal notice to stop them is received.

BIRTH, MARRIAGE, DEATH, MEMORIAL NOTICES AND CARDS OF THANKS, 50c per insertion in Daily and Weekly, not exceeding one inch space. All words over the inch, one cent each.

CHURCH ANNOUNCEMENTS.

Sunday Services Announcement in Saturday daily (no reference to concerts allowed) $5 per year per inch. Extra space in this column for the purpose stated, 15c per inch. Regular rates apply for other than Sunday services.

GET YOUR PRINTING DONE at The Review office. Lowest price and best service.

IF YOU WANT TO BUY anything at a bargain price, let the people know through The Review columns. You're sure to get it.

IF YOU HAVE ANYTHING to sell, advertise in The Review. A sure sale.

FEMALE HELP WANTED.

WANTED MAID FOR PLAIN cooking and general housework. Apply Mrs. Rollins, 439 Rubidge street.

WANTED, MAID FOR APARTment. Apply 373 Park St. Phone 1381.

WANTED — GIRLS. APPLY at Gate House, Canadian General Electric Co., Ltd.

YOUNG WOMAN OR GIRL for general housework. Apply Review office for address.

BOARDERS WANTED.

HOMELIKE BOARDING place; $6.00 per week. Apply 72 Monaghan road.

HELP WANTED.

HARDWARE CLERK, WITH three or more years' experience, wanted for good hardware store in a live country town. (address)

WANTED — BOY. APPLY 261 Charlotte street.

LOST.

LOST — POCKETBOOK CONtaining a sum of money. Ten dollars reward on returning to Review office.

FOUND.

FOUND ON SIMCOE STREET, near Park, black enameled frame for holding glass in headlight on motor car. Owner can have same by applying at Review and paying for this notice.

TO LET.

TO RENT — TWO GARAGE sheds back of White Rose Garage. For further particulars apply Thos. Lane, 186 Hunter street.

FOR SALE.

FOR SALE—AN OVERLAND roadster, in good running order; price right. Duffus Garage.

FOR SALE—THREE THOROughbred Persian kittens. Apply Mrs. Wright, 466 Weller street.

FARM FOR SALE.

A first-class farm for sale; four miles from city. Apply Review for address.

THE FOLLOWING CAN BE seen and bought cheaply at 207 Simcoe street: Excavating tools, picks, shovels, wheel - barrows, scrapers, plough, etc., dump cart and harness, stone boat, drop bottom wagons, gravel wagon with 1¾-yard box, contractor's hoisting winch, tackle, etc., whiffletrees, neckyokes, etc., also a lot of window and door frames, handy for alterations and repairs. All in good shape.

Wm. Lytle Cartage Co.

Soldier influence will be brought to bear to have inserted in the U.S. war risk insurance bill a provision allowing discharged men two years in which to pay insurance premiums.

LEGAL CARDS.

HALL & HALL
Barristers and Solicitors
Money to loan at lowest Rates.
Telephone 68. 140 Hunter St.

GORDON & O'BRIEN
Barristers, Solicitors and Notaries.
Money to loan at lowest Rates.
Telephone 219.
G. N. GORDON J. A. O'BRIEN

C. R. WIDDIFIELD, B.A.
Barrister, Etc.
and Solicitor for the City of Peterborough. Bank of Commerce Building. Phone 550

MOORE & WEARING
Barristers and Solicitors
MONEY TO LOAN.
108 Water St. Opposite Post Office

JAMES FORDYCE STRICKLAND
Barrister, Solicitor, Notary Public
MONEY TO LOAN.
393 Water Street Peterborough
PHONE 151.

S. L. SMALL
Barrister, Solicitor, Notary
Office over Dominion Bank Cor. Simcoe & George Sts
Telephone No. 230
Private funds to loan at current rates upon easy terms

PECK, KERR & McKILLOP
Barristers, Solicitors, Notaries, 410 Water street, Peterborough. Money to loan at lowest current rates of interest. Easy terms of repayment.
E. A. Peck, K.C. P. D. Kerr.
N. J. McKillop

J. EDMUND L. GOODWILL
Barrister, Solicitor, Notary Public, Etc. Office 575 Water St. Phone 191
Successor to Rogers, Bennet & Goodwill
MONEY TO LOAN at current rates upon easy terms

A. E. DIXON
Barrister, Solicitor, etc.
Offices corner Hunter & George Sts. Entrance next Madill's Drug Store.

O'CONNELL & CORKERY
Barristers, Solicitors, Notaries Public, etc. Money to Loan on Easy Terms of Payment
D. O'Connell. J. R. Corkery.
134½ Hunter St. Peterborough.
Telephone 455

R. R. HALL
Barrister, Solicitor, etc.
Peterborough, Ont., office corner Hunter and Water Sts., over Canadian Bank of Commerce. Trust funds to loan on easy terms of payment.

MEDICAL CARDS.

DR. E. E. HARVEY
Silver Medalist, University of Toronto
Special attention to diseases of Women and Children
Office: 212 Brock Street
Hours: 1.30 to 3 p.m., 7 to 8 p.m
Phone 333.

DR. BUCHANAN
F.R.S.C., Edin., M.R.C.S., Eng., L.R.C.P., Lon. Eye, Ear, Nose & Throat Specialist. Hours: 9-11 a.m., 2-4 and 7-8 p.m. Phone 619 Office corner Water and Murray streets.

DENTISTRY.

DR. W. N. HAYES
has opened a Dental practice in the Parrie Building, George street. 'Phone 652 for appointments.

OSTEOPATHY.

DRS. WALMSLEY & SETTLE
Osteopath Physicians
Office over Crown Building, Hunter and Water Streets. Entrance 124 Hunter street. Office hours: 9 to 12 a.m., 2 to 5 p.m. Evenings by appointment. Office Phone 649.

MONEY TO LOAN.

There has been placed in our hands considerable trust funds to loan at 6½ per cent. on first-class real estate property.
GORDON & O'BRIEN
Phone 219. 366 George St.

Piano Tuning
Phone 505
The GREENE MUSIC Co.

HARD COAL
EGG, STOVE,
NUT, PEA
H. B. TAYLOR & SON
100 AYLMER-ST.
Phone 280

IS ICE-COLD WATER BAD FOR RHEUMATISM?

A BRITISH SEAMAN'S EXPERIENCE

This story of Wm Rogers, a seaman in the Mine Sweeping Branch of the Royal Navy, is absolutely true and can be readily verified.

At Niagara Camp, in 1914, Rogers contracted Rheumatism. He was sent to the Toronto General Hospital, where for over 19 months he was a patient, finally being discharged as incurable. In despair he took a friend's advice and tried Templeton's Rheumatic Capsules. The results were astounding. In a short time he was able to pass the stiff examination set by the Navy, and became an A.B. in the Mine Sweeping Branch.

For 17½ months he did service in the North Sea. On three occasions he was blown into the sea and remained in the ice-cold water as long as eleven hours at a stretch. Despite these hardships Rogers had no return of his previous trouble. Think about it. If T.R.C.'S did so much for Rogers will they not do the same for you?

Ask your Druggist or write us for our new booklet. It is interesting and costs you nothing. (Templetons, 142 King West, Toronto) We mail T.R.C.'S everywhere on receipt of $1.00.

Sole Agents for Peterboro, Motherall & Jury, Prescription Specialists. for Lakefield, Tanner Drug Co. for Havelock, A. D. Denike, for Hastings, T. W. Coughlan for Campbellford, T. W. Cairns.

WILL ATTACK BY ARMY AND NAVY

BRITISH PREPARING TO REDUCE PETROGRAD BY BIG OPERATIONS.

(Canadian Press Despatch)

Helsingfords, Finland, Sept. 3.—Admiral Cowan, commander of the British squadron in the Baltic, has arrived here in connection. It is understood with preparation for an attack on Petrograd. The Admiral intends, it is said, to confer with members of the British military mission on plans for the attack.

A Berlin despatch on Tuesday carried German reports from Riga that General Gough of the British army had issued a proclamation to the people of Petrograd, declaring that an attack was about to be made on that city and adding that as soon as Petrograd had been freed from Bolshevik, food supplies would be sent in.

CHARGED WITH HORSE STEALING

Chas. Spencer, of Lindsay, Alleged to Have Stolen Outfit.

Charles Spencer, of Lindsay, was remanded for a week this morning on a charge of stealing a horse, buggy and harness from George Dinnis, also of Lindsay. The report is that the accused rented the horse from the Lindsay livery, drove to Peterborough and was attempting to sell the outfit to local horsemen at about half the actual price. This made them suspicious and they called the police sergeant, who immediately placed Spencer under arrest. The accused asked for a remand to secure a lawyer to help him fight his case.

ALL SAINTS' CHOIR.

There will be no practice of All Saints' choir tonight.

ST. JOHN'S CHOIR.

St. John's Choir meets for practice in the church tonight at 8. Boys at 7.30. Music for the Harvest Festival on September 18th, will be rehearsed.

FRUGAL CONGRESSMEN.

They Live on "Mileage and Mucilage" and Save Their Salaries.

The average senator or representative who accumulates what to him means a comfortable fortune while serving a couple of terms does it by living on his "mileage and mucilage."

There are at least a score of representatives who are living on $1,500 a year and supporting families. There are one or two senators whose expenditures for household expenses do not run over $2,500 a year. The perquisites attached to their offices furnish the sum necessary for their living expenses, and their salaries of $7,500 a year are "salted" away.

The mileage allowance of members of congress varies according to the distance they have to travel to get to Washington, but the average is between $400 and $500 a session. It usually costs about a quarter of this sum to make the round trip.

Every representative and senator gets a stationery allowance of $125 a session, but as any member can get all the stationery he needs from his committee without cost a frugal member can draw this amount in cash.

Representatives are allowed one clerk at $1,500 a year and senators have two, ranging from $1,500 to $2,500 a year. The frugal representative appoints his wife or some other member of the family as his clerk and gets along by writing the necessary letters himself.

Both senators and representatives get "free shaves" and "free baths," and the stationery room furnishes most of the household necessities, except food and clothing, at cost price.

The senator or representative who attempts to live on his "perquisites" may not have his residence in the fashionable part of Washington, where rents are high and where it is expensive even to board, but within a few blocks of the capitol the economic member may obtain rooms for light housekeeping for $15 to $30 a month.—Chicago Tribune.

A Fresh-water Seal.

The seal is a typical marine animal, and hence the occurrence of a species of phoca in Lake Baikal, which is of fresh water and has no connection with the sea, is of special interest. Dr. Charles Hose has obtained skins and skulls of two specimens of the Baikal seal, which have been offered to the Museum of Natural History, where the species has not hitherto been represented. It is the only seal which habitually lives in fresh water, though the common seal will often resort to estuaries, and even ascend rivers, as one did some time ago in the Trent, as far up as Hazleford, where it was shot. The Vikare seal, again common in the Arctic regions, and also found in the north of the Baltic, occurs in Lakes Ladoga and Onega. It is able, however, to reach these from the Baltic by means of the Rivers Neva and Svir. The Baikal seals, on the other hand, have no communication with the ocean. Their occurrences in Lake Baikal, along with abundant salmon, point to a change in the physical geography of the district. They suggest that in former times an arm of the sea stretched from the Arctic Ocean sea stretched from the Arctic Ocean to the site of the present lake.—Family Herald.

An Elephant's Teeth.

The elephant has what a dentist calls "magazine gun teeth" because of the curious fact that when the big pachyderm wears off a front tooth it is replaced by the one just behind it, the whole row moving up a tooth. It is said this takes place continually, so Jumbo always is guaranteed a set of teeth, no matter how many he wears out.

A wise and considerate wife is one who never makes suggestions while her husband is putting up a stovepipe.

In 1913 the powers spent $800,000,000 for warships, this being what might be termed the high cost of peaceful living.

Every once in awhile an aviator's wife obtains a divorce, presumably on the grounds that her husband was too flighty.

A noted tenor declared in court that many women are in love with him. Funny how some of these tenors hate themselves.

GLAD SHE TOOK SISTER'S ADVICE

MISS ELMA WILL FEELS LIKE A NEW PERSON SINCE TAKING TANLAC.

Nothing ever helped me until I got Tanlac and now I am just like a different person," said Miss Selma Will, residing at 789 Lawson street, St. Paul, Minn., in an interview, recently.

"There were times before I began taking Tanlac," continued Miss Will, "when I had such terrible headaches that I could not do any work for several days. My stomach was in such a bad fix that I could not eat much of anything without suffering intense cramping pains afterwards. My appetite was very poor and I was so run down and weak that I would frequently have dizzy spells and was extremely nervous. My sleep seemed to do me very little good and as I always got up in the mornings feeling just as tired and worn out as on retiring at night. I have taken many kinds of medicines and doctored for a long time but nothing seemed to do me any good.

"Finally my sister persuaded me to try Tanlac, as she had gotten such splendid results from it, and by the time I had finished my second bottle I had a good appetite and felt better in every way. My stomach never bothers me now no matter what I eat and I never have a headache nor a pain of any kind. Really, I am feeling just fine, better than I have in the past five years, and there's nothing too good for me to say for Tanlac."

There are thousands of people who complain of being nervous and run down. They are not sick exactly, but feel tire-out and good for nothing most of the time. They need something to build them up and throw off the symptoms of weakened, debilitated condition.

The system, besided being purified by Tanlac, is toned up and invigorated as the medicine, aside from assisting the blood reinvigorates the constitution, overcoming as it seems to quickly do, nervousness, indigestion, non-assimilation of the food, headaches, backache, kidney complaints and many other ailments that are so common to the thousands of half-sick depressed men and women.

Tanlac is sold in Peterborough by W. B. Warne Drug Co., Ltd., in Havelock by A. C. Denike, in Lakefield by Tanner Drug Co., Ltd., in Fowler's Corners by W. A. Hunter, in Gelert by A. J. Scott, in Westwood by G. Pringle & Son.

A Prelude to Oblivion.

Religious fanatics are again busy prophesying the end of the world, arguing that the four years of war-horror is but a prelude to oblivion for everyone.

Meanwhile, however, the man in the street is not worrying. Perhaps he remembers the many occasions when the prophets have tried to make his flesh creep with similar bogies.

Now and again, however, people have taken them seriously. The appearance of comets has often been thought to foretell the speedy dissolution of this world. If the tail of a comet touched the earth we should all go up in smoke is the fantastic rumor which has been revived at intervals during recent years.

The story of the comet spread great alarm, however, throughout Europe in 1832, and many persons refrained from undertaking or concluding any business during that year, in consequence solely of their apprehension that the terrible comet would dash us and our world to atoms.

October 13th has been a favorite day for prophesying the end of the world. This has its origin in the prophecy of the famous mathematical divine, Dr. Whiston, who, in 1736, said the world would be destroyed in that year on October 13th.

Crowds of people assembled in the big open spaces of London on that date, nothing happened, and Winston became the laughing stock of the metropolis.

Gas From Fuel Waste.

Fuel waste from locomotive smoke boxes of a European railroad is used to produce gas to drive generators in an electric plant.

The beverages of the sixteenth century were water, mead, sack and ale.

The Strong Man of Mexico

GEN. ALVARO OBREGON, "the strong man of Mexico," has announced that he will be a candidate for the Presidency of Mexico in the elections set for July, 1920. In his manifesto he says that if elected he will accord fair treatment to all classes and will give facilities for capital which seeks investment in Mexico.

Also he pledges complete recognition of all rights in Mexico acquired by foreigners legitimately and guarantees them all the prerogatives which the Mexican laws permit. Moreover, he says he is going to reform Mexico's international relations and establish them on the basis "previously existing."

Obregon is the man who whipped Villa, scattered Pancho's army and made it possible for Carranza to establish a government in Mexico City. In that fight, which occurred at Leon, a piece of shrapnel tore away Gen. Obregon's arm below the elbow.

A fine looking, upstanding man is Alvaro Obregon. Six feet tall and weighing 180 pounds, he is a person to attract attention wherever he goes, and among undersized Mexicans he is especially conspicuous. His black moustachios are upward pointing, and despite the Yaqui blood that flows in his veins he is light of complexion. Obregon, in short, is handsome.

In Sonora the Obregons are a noted family, but they were no longer a rich family when in 1910 Alvero, student and farmer thirty years old, acquired a small ranch which he named "Quinta Chilla," which freely translated means "In the last stage of bankruptcy."

When Madero rose against Porfirio Diaz, Obregon showed no especial interest in the revolution. He just continued to devote himself to his crops and a small machine shop. But when Orozco with bands of looters passed through Sonora, laying waste that then peaceful agricultural community, Obregon swung himself across the back of his strongest, fleetest horse and "took the field." At his own expense Obregon collected and armed about 400 volunteers, mostly Indians located in his neighborhood. It was an effective force opposed to the scattered bands of bullies who hailed Orozco as their chief, and it wasn't long before Sonora was almost peaceful.

Then Obregon withdrew once more to his small estate and thought himself through with military life forever. While he was visiting Hermosillo the news came of the murder of President Madero and Huerta's coup in seizing control of the government. This treacherous act inflamed Obregon and he became one of the parties to the now famous Plan of Guadaloupe, where the rebels against Huerta's provisional government gain the name Constitutionalists.

Obregon and Carranza met there, and Carranza thought well of the young colonel.

In that year, 1913, Obregon made himself a real military man. He was opposed by Gen. Ojeda, one of the most efficient fighters on the Federal side. Ojeda, outnumbered in a hostile country and shut off from supplies, kept the Constitutionalist forces in their saddles almost steadily. It was nearly all work for cavalry, but Ojeda had infantry and artillery as well. He fought Indian style and according to the books, and in trying to outguess him Obregon developed amazing ability as a strategist. It was a practical West Point education.

Francisco Villa, heading the Constitutionalist forces in Chihuahua, represented a big share of Gen. Carranza's strength, and eventually Villa quarrelled with the Constitutionalist chief. It was not an open break, but Carranza decided he could not trust Villa to lead an army into Mexico City, and that was why Obregon was given command of the western army of the Constitutionalists, with instructions to take Mexico City.

That western army didn't exist. Carranza simply appointed Obregon commander, and then it was up to Obregon to raise the army. He did this, using his band of Indians as a nucleus, and recruiting it principally with deserters from Huerta's forces.

Finally, when his total force numbered close to 25,000 men, Obregon marched into Mexico City, driving Emiliano Zapata before him.

When the break came between Carranza and Villa, Obregon again took the field, and after several indecisive engagements scattered Villa's army, killing 3,000 of them and capturing about 500. Obregon's losses were about 500 men and his own right arm.

But with Villa routed there was only one strong man in Mexico, and that was Obregon.

In 1916, when Gen. Pershing headed a punitive expedition into Mexico after Villa, Obregon, as Minister of War, came to the border and negotiated with Gen. Hugh Scott and Gen. Frederick Funston for the withdrawal of the American forces. At one time it was reported that he was preparing to attack Gen. Pershing's army.

Obregon's first wife died before he became a soldier. They had two children. Obregon married again shortly after his triumphant entry into Mexico City and the bride was considered one of the most beautiful women of the capital.

When Gen. Carranza was inaugurated as the first Constitutional President of Mexico, in 1917, Gen. Obregon resigned his post as Minister of War. He rode in the carriage beside Carranza in the inaugural procession.

Only one couple in more than 11,000 live long enough to celebrate their diamond wedding.

ADVERTISE IN THE REVIEW

Too Ill to Work

Scores of Women

in homes, stores, offices and factories are not fit to be at work. They toil on day after day and year after year suffering with distressing weaknesses and derangements, hoping against hope that they will soon feel better, but how can they hope to do good work or escape permanent invalidism?

Such women are in danger of derangement of women's functions. They owe it to themselves to try that good old fashioned root and herb remedy Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, which for more than forty years has been restoring Women to health and strength.

Here is a Notable Example

St. John, N.B.—"I have used Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound for bladder and kidney troubles and backache and find it the best medicine I ever took. I used many other remedies with very little result. I had two miscarriages and would have been in my grave ere this if it had not been for your medicine. I always keep a bottle of Vegetable Compound in the house, and I feel fine to do my work for five in the family. I have recommended your Compound to many people, and you may use this testimonial if you like. It may help some other woman."

MRS. ALBERT S. GILL,
17 St. Andrew St.,
St. John, N.B.

And Another

Regina, Sask.—"I was going through the Change of Life and suffered two years with headaches, nervousness, sleepless nights and general weakness. Some days I felt tired and unfit to do my work. I gave Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound a trial and found good results. I also find it a very helpful spring tonic and useful for constipation from which I suffer much. I have recommended Vegetable Compound to several friends and am willing you should publish this."

MRS. MARTHA W. LINDSAY,
810 Robinson St., Regina, Sask.

Thousands of such Letters Prove the Curative Value of

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

LYDIA E. PINKHAM MEDICINE CO., LYNN, MASS.

Prince Visits St. Andrew's Hospital, Officers' Section.

ONTARIO FARMERS TO SOW LARGER ACREAGE OF FALL WHEAT THIS YEAR

Weather Has Been Favourable and Crop Will be got in in Excellent Condition—Tractors in General Use

The following is a summary of reports made by agricultural representatives to the Ontario Department of Agriculture:

Fall plowing is being pushed vigorously, and a larger acreage than usual will probably be turned under. Many farmers are using tractors. The land has worked well as a result of recent rains.

An increased area of fall wheat will likely be sown this year. Some has been got in already.

Some fields of late oats still remain to be cut. Some of this crop has required the mower, owing to the short straw.

Threshing of spring grains is proceeding actively, but in many cases the result is disappointing to expectations.

Potatoes so far dug have given comparatively light yields, taking the province over. The rains of the last two or three weeks, however, have done good to late varieties. Roots are picking up well from the same cause.

Corn has revived with the rains, but is a more or less uneven crop, returns varying greatly as to its condition. On the whole, however it will approach a fair general yield. The wonderful improvement of pastures during the past two weeks has been most encouraging to owners of cattle, some of whom were letting their feeders go to market owing to poor grass and the light yields of spring grains. The decrease in the yield of milk has been stayed, and in many instances the flow has been improved.

Potatoes that are like has yielded well, and that some farmers have sold their seed at $25 a bushel. Dufferin reports that the threshing of grain closer for seed has turned out satisfactorily.

Live stock are in normal condition with comparatively light marketing. Grenville states that a large number of heifers are being shipped from Brockville to the United States to be exchanged to Belgium.

Peaches, which are light in yield this season owing to the heavy August drop, will be marketed a week or two earlier than usual. Lincoln states that grapes are selling at from $60 to $75 a ton, and plums at 8½ cents a pound. Huron reports large shipments of plums from that county during the week.

REVIEW "WANTS ADS." PAY.

Victory Bonds Bought

Those who may desire to sell Victory Bonds should come to my office or communicate with me. I buy Victory or War Bonds of all maturities, in any amount, and I am prepared to pay the best price.

W. H. Taylor, 397½ George St Peterboro, Ont.

OLD STYLE BOTTLE NEW STYLE BOTTLE AND CARTON

A FAMILY FAVORITE FOR FORTY YEARS

The Great Herb Laxative, digested as food, puts into the Blood elements which restores the stomach, bowels and liver to a natural healthy action. A spoonful at Night will keep your bowels right. The natural way

CONSERVATIVES OF EAST PETERBOROUGH

(Continued from Page One.)

simply because he resides on the farm. You have delegates here from the villages and towns in the riding in addition to the rural section and you have always shown that you realize that all the people should be represented in the Legislature. I am convinced that no country can be a success if one class tries to get control. I may say that the Farmers' Clubs have been here a year and a half and they have never passed a vote of censure against me."

Keep Out Federal Issues.

Mr. Thompson urged the electors to be on the alert against the campaign by which it is intended to shift the so-called sins of the Union Government upon the Provincial Legislature. An attempt was being made to mix Federal and Provincial affairs for the purpose of injuring the Hearst administration. The scheme was obvious enough, but there was the possibility that some of the people might be misled.

Replying to the rumor that he was a lumberman, Mr. Thompson stated that when he was first elected he held certain timber limits but had to sacrifice them because of the heavily increased carrying charges which had become a burden to him.

Referring to the U.F.O. statement, Mr. Thompson said that its preamble asserted that the Provincial debt had grown to one hundred million dollars." They have erred by only twenty-five million. On March 6th the Provincial treasurer showed that the debt was then seventy-five million dollars. You may think that that is a very large debt. But consider forty-four millions have been loaned to the Hydro-electric Commission."

Mr. Thompson mentioned the big asset the Hydro had been during the war when the munitions factories of this province had been supplied with the power that had helped immeasurably in supply the materials of victory.

Continuing, he said: "In the U.F.O. seventh plank they declare that they are in favor of Hydro. Sir Adam Beck said the other day that Sir James Whitney had signified his intention of defraying one-third of the cost of equipping rural districts with Hydro. Sir Adam is advocating along this line the paying of one-third of the cost of rural equipment. In a few months you will have a substation within a mile of where I am speaking. It will distribute power all over East Peterborough. What will be better for the electors than the improvements this will bring."

Electricity on the Farm.

Quoting from a report of the cost of installing complete electrically driven machinery on the farm of W. D. Clarke, West Oxford, in 1916, Mr. Thompson showed that all the equipment had been installed at a total cost of $1,250, and the annual power charge was $96. Since then the cost of materials had advanced considerably but the use of power on the farms had become so practicable that it was used not only to light the entire premises, but to drive a threshing machine, milker, choppers and other implements, thereby greatly reducing the labor required for the regular work about the farm.

"We are doing the best we can to bring these things to the farms. The city people have them and why shouldn't the farmers?" Mr. Thompson added.

Why Ontario Is in Debt.

Of the Provincial debt, besides the loan to the Hydro-electric Commission of forty-four millions, there was twenty-two millions of an investment in the T. and N. O. railway. This line was not only developing northern Ontario, but would shortly be yielding a revenue from the timber and other resources to be handled. Another million dollars represented a drainage debt in Western Ontario and $600,000 was for mortgages on property that had been sold.

"But we have liquid assets worth seventy-one millions that can be sold in 24 hours," Mr. Thompson declared. "We have twenty-two millions spent in fifteen years on public buildings and our total assets are more than six hundred millions. When we put our assets alongside it, isn't that a satisfactory debt?"

"The U.F.O. says we should cut out unnecessary expenditures. That may mean something or nothing. In 1904 our revenue was $4,600,000 and last year it was nineteen millions of dollars. There was two millions raised by a direct tax for war purposes. How did we raise the remainder of more than seventeen millions? Not by taxing the poor people. We raised $3,177,000 from the estates of rich men and we increased the corporation tax to $1,800,000. It was $100,000 when we came into power. We also secured $531,000 from amusements. That is over one-third of our revenue from just three sources. We are accused by some persons of being in league with the corporations and capitalists although we have increased their taxes by more than 100 per cent.

Cannot Subscribe to Recall.

"I can subscribe to every plank in the U.F.O. platform except one, for the reason that they are accomplished facts. I can't subscribe to the recall. I can't find out even what they mean by the recall. From the information I have received they propose different systems in different places. But provided the recall means that this power shall be in the hands of the U.F.O. executive or a few club members I cannot agree with it. I don't approve of a few men exercising the recall of a member who has been elected by all the people of a Riding. I have observed that at some of the recent conventions men have refused to subscribe to this recall plank. Do you think that a member should have any strings tied to him when he enters the House? A member should fully represent the free people of this country. I am elected to represent the U.F.O. as much as any other farmers or the people of the towns and villages."

"I hope the co-operative movement will develop in this country," Mr. Thompson said, "but the objection I take is that members should be considered traitors if they didn't do so and so that they didn't expect they were to be required to do. We should work together without any division of any kind in these trying times."

Prosperity for the Farmer.

Recalling the low prices of farm produce when he was a boy, Mr. Thompson compared them with the prevailing prices of today. "The farmer and the working man is coming into his own and I do not feel that it is time to change things that are moving along giving fair and just conditions to wage earners."

Farmers in East Peterborough had considerably increased in value, and Mr. Thompson promised that his vote would never interfere with this prosperity.

Speaking of goods roads, he stated that Peterborough County had experienced considerable difficulty in securing the Provincial system because certain influences had poisoned the minds of the people. The county had lost $10,000 yearly by not adopting the system. Next year Belmont Township would obtain $2,300 more to spend on its roads without increasing its taxes one dollar.

Mr. Thompson concluded with an explanation of the prohibition referendum. "I don't know why no Liberal candidate has been put up in this Riding or why no U.F.O. man is coming forward in West Peterborough. I am not throwing any stones, but I ask the people to give me their very best support."

HON. MR. HENRY'S ADDRESS.

"It is five years since the Legislature was dissolved and the Government appealed to the country for endorsation," Hon. Mr. Henry recalled in opening his address. "The Legislature has not yet been dissolved but the prohibition referendum will be held in October. The date of the election hasn't been decided yet, but it will be held on the voters' lists now being prepared. Five weeks after the last election has been leared away we were thrown into the great strugige from which we have just emerged victorious. Questions of finances, agriculture and of general development had to be set back and our minds were fixed on only one thing. I am happy to say that we have got back to peace as far as the warring nations are concerned, but we are not on a peace basis socially, industrially or financially. There are momentous times ahead of us until we get back on to a sound and lasting peace basis, and we will get back surely and strongly only as we stand together as a people. We stood together in the war and it is just as essential that we stand together in these days of reconstruction of doubt and misgiving. Don't allow ourselves to be driven off into camps. As a government, we have been proud in the leadership of such a people as we have in Ontario, at the same time the Government has felt that it has given satisfactory leadership, and in a direction in which the people of this province were anxious we should lead. We ask the people to be prepared for an election, to be conscious of what they may expect in the future from the Government as judged by its past."

A Fair Voters' List.

Speaking of the new voters' list Hon Mr. Henry stated that they were being brought absolutely up to date. They contained the names of everybody who had been a resident for three months and who had a right to be on the list. There was no intention of putting on some names and leaving others off. Every facility was being provided whereby every name should be enumerated. Mr. Henry reviewed the work of the Department of Agriculture. U.F.O. critics had referred to the increased number of officers engaged, but they failed to mention the money expended by the department had increased from half a million dollars in 1904 to one million and one-half in 1918. The system of county representatives had been developed by the Government and was so successful that there are many applications for representatives for other counties that are aware of the splendid results of the agricultural representatives. But J. J. Morrison would turn the hands of the clock back fifteen years. He says we had better days in the first years of this country."

The Farmers' College.

Mr Henry spoke of the results of the Agricultural College at Guelph. Considered a fad when he was a young man it is now regarded as a necessity by farmers who realize that science has an important place in their world. They make use of scientific ideas on their farms, plant better seed and generally find many advantages that revive from the college.

The school fairs were another development the Government had made. They would revolutionize agricultural life in a generation. The short courses provided up and down the country were also proving a great help to the young farmers who could not attend the college.

"Our U.F.O. friends will tell you the Government is antagonistic to them," Mr. Henry continued, "but declared that the Government was doing everything in its power to better rural conditions, foster a healthy social spirit in the country and improve the working conditions. "We are opposed to the introduction of politics into the co-operative movement just as we were into the Women's Institutes. We believed we could be of use to the women of the country irrespective of politics. The same is true of the United Farmers. Once the U.F.O. goes into politics it means the disruption of the clubs. History bears out that fact. You can't talk to Morrison and his type but experience will teach them better if they will ignore history.

In South Essex there was a peculiar resolution that no U.F.O. candidate should be a man who had sat in Parliament. It looks as if they don't want successful men. We had two U.F.O. men in the last session. Members who were interested of them spoke of them as having a string tied around their necks. They appeared to be kept in their seats as if some one was pulling from behind, and they were afraid to get up and express themselves."

"Wouldn't it be a strange condition that I, as a farmer, should espouse the keeping of farmers out of the Legislature. As a matter of fact we have more farmers than the U.F.O. Morrison and Halbert both left the farm. Burnaby has just come to the farm from other activities and Doherty has no less than three residences, one in the city and another on the lake at

In regard to highways improvement, Halbert says we don't want Provincial roads. He advises that we go back to the township roads and build them up to a Provincial system. We are building the roads that carry the bulk of the traffic and we will soon reach out to the last side road, but Halbert says, let the main road stand still, we get that mile built on the side road. The way we are working is the most comprehensive and thorough system that can be devised."

The Aid to Agriculture.

Hon. Mr. Henry dealt with the Department of Education, of which Hon Dr. Cody is at the head. By the plan of bonusing teachers of agriculture there were more applications for the special summer course for teachers this year than could be accommodated at Guelph and another class had to be opened at Whitby. By this means teachers were being especially trained for giving special help, the children of the rural schools. The department was encouraging community halls in connection with consolidated schools. These and other plans in project were designed to improve the conditions in the country through the medium of the schools.

Touching upon the referendum Mr. Henry explained that if the first clause obtained a majority the Temperance Act would be repealed and the Province would go back to the local option period. Communities that had local option would still be dry under that plan, but the licensed areas would automatically revert to the old conditions.

Reiterating his appeal for unity, Mr. Henry stated that there was no hope in any other party but the Conservative at the present time. "Against us there are two or three parties that have neither organization or leadership. The people of this Province depend on us to carry on the affairs of this country and to make us the heirs of the progress and victory we have dearly earned."

Sir Wilfrid Laurier Said:

"After all what a man does with his money is to invest, and there is no better way to do it than in Life Insurance."

As an ESTATE BUILDER there is nothing to equal Life Insurance.

TAKE THE FOLLOWING ACTUAL RESULT

A young man sixteen years of age took out a 15 years Endowment (No. 210350) in the Sun Life of Canada, which matured on the first of April. This young man paid annually $66.30 for fifteen years and he now has, through that investment, an immediate estate of $3495.00 in case of death.

DO YOU KNOW THAT THIS AMOUNTS TO ALMOST 15 PER CENT COMPOUND INTEREST ON EVERY DOLLAR PAID?

No wonder Sir Wilfrid said—and he might have added (no better place than the Sun Life of Canada)—"there is no better way to invest it than in LIFE INSURANCE."

SUN LIFE INSURANCE COMPANY OF CANADA

Crown Chambers Building, 402 Water St., Peterboro

PHONE 14

W. H. HILL, Manager, Central Ontario

A. W. BODELL, J. D. CAMERON — INSPECTORS — M. S. McDUFFEE, D. H. MOORE

OMEMEE

(Special Correspondence.)

Omemee, Sept 4—Mr. and Mrs. E. Adams, of Lindsay, motored to Omemee last week.

Miss Gwendolyn James was a visitor to Toronto on Labor Day.

The funeral of the late Mrs. Jacob McBrien, which was held on Monday afternoon, was very largely attended.

Mrs. H. R. Murray, of Peterboro, paid a brief visit to Omemee friends last week.

Mrs. Warry and son, of Lindsay, visited Mrs. T. B. Laidley on Labor Day.

Mr. and Mrs. Horace Grandy and children, of Lindsay, motored to Omemee on Friday.

Lieut. Harry Hart returned home on Friday after a three year so-journ overseas. Harry is looking "hale and hearty" and is receiving a warm welcome from his many old friends.

Miss Lulu Bushnell left on Sunday for West Hill where she has been teaching for some time.

Miss Lillian Graham was a visitor to the National Exhibition last week.

Mr. Wilbert Clement spent Monday in the Queen City.

Mr. Walter Sunson left last week for his home in Detroit.

Miss Laura Graham left on Monday to teach school near Kinmount.

Mr. and Mrs. Percy Robinson, of Toronto, spent the week-end with Mr. and Mrs. D. H. Cornell.

Miss Grace Laidley left on Monday to take up her work as teacher at Belleville.

The induction of the Rev. Mr. Scott will take place in the Presbyterian Church on Sept. 5th.

Miss Kiel, of Toronto, spent the week-end with Mrs. McCrea.

Mr. Joseph Edwards and son, of Montreal, spent the week-end with Mr. and Mrs. Edwards.

Rev. W. J. Smyth, of Toronto, is holidaying in and around Omemee.

Mr. and Mrs. A. Scott spent the week-end with Rev. Mr. and Mrs. Clare, of Colborne.

Mr. Arthur McCrea, of Toronto was a holiday visitor to Omemee.

Reeves Wilson, of Emily, Patterson of Ops and Parsons of Omemee are on the good roads committee, which this week visited Hamilton.

Alderman Harry Lamb spent Labor Day in Toronto.

Miss Jennie Smyth left on Monday to teach near Oakwood.

Friends of Rev. Mr. and Mrs. Cook (nee Mabel Thompson), who are at present on furlough from China, will rejoice with them in the arrival of a baby girl (Elva Mary), on August 29th. Mr and Mrs. Cook leave shortly to take up their work again in China.

Congratulations are in order to our popular young barber, Mr. Fred Parke, on the winning of a fifty dollar prize in a competition put on by the United Cigar Co. for Ontario.

Mrs. Frost and son, of Edmonton, Alta., are visiting the parents of the former, Mr. and Mrs. R. Carey.

A farewell service was held in St. James' Church on Monday evening on August 4th, when, on behalf of the parish of Omemee and Emily, a purse containing $110, was presented to Miss Clarke of Emily. The service was conducted by the rector, Rev. E. R. James. Miss Clarke, in a few words of thanks, asked for the prayers of her friends in support of her work. Miss Clarke is a graduate of the Church of England deaconess and missionary training house and is now under orders for China expecting to leave for her new and distant sphere of labor in the early part of September. Having taught school in our village for some time, Miss Clarke leaves many warm friends in Omemee who join in wishing her a pleasant voyage and great success in her work.

Mr. and Mrs. Hicks, of Toronto, spent the week-end with Mr and Mrs. Larkin.

Mrs. W. G. Stephenson and family returned last week from Thorsonia where they have spent the month of August.

News of the death of Mrs. Johnson (nee Margaret Tims), wife of the manager of the Choutia Indian school at Carcross, July 21st. The funeral took place the 23rd. Archdeacon Whittaker officiating. She was buried beside her son, Sheridan, who was accidently shot a few years ago. Not only to the family but also to the church this sad loss will be grevious for. Mrs. Johnson has given herself so unselfishly to the work of the school through the years. Miss Tims as she was better known to Omemee people, was well and favorably known here, where previous to her going as a missionary to Hay River, Mackenzie River diocese, she was an active memeber of Christ Church, a teacher in the Sunday School and a superintendent of the Mission Band and her memory will be forever green in her old home town.

School re-opened on Monday morning with three new teachers on the staff. Miss Wark, assistant High School teacher; Mrs. Jarvis, principal of the Public School, and Miss Knox, assistant Public School teacher.

Mr. and Mrs. Ormond Hayes and son, of Toronto, motored to Omemee last week.

Mr. Harold Cunningham was a visitor to Toronto on Wednesday.

Mr. Arthur Southworth attended the "Big Fair" in Toronto last week.

Mrs. L. A. Mahood and little son, Donald, returned home on Tuesday after a pleasant visit with Lindsay friends.

Mr. Lorne Mahood is in Toronto this week.

Dr. and Mrs. Cook and children, accompanied by Mrs. Grandy and Miss Lee left on Wednesday morning by motor for Sudbury.

Mrs. Day and little son returned home on Tuesday after a pleasant visit at Muskoka.

Mr. Fred Evans returned this week from a trip to Edmonton.

Pte. Roy Braden, of Bobcaygeon, recently returned from overseas visited his aunt, Mrs. Harry Magee, last week.

Mr. William Curry returned last week from a most enjoyable holiday spent at the summer home of his niece, Mrs. Shepherd, near Coldwater.

Mr. Lewis James left a week ago for Kingston where he will enter on a course at the Military College.

Miss Lillian Parsons, of Toronto, who has been the guest of her grandparents, is spending a few days with the Misses Rehill, of Peterborough.

Among the arrivals from overseas this week are Ptes. Jack Bent and George Latchford, both boys are receiving a warm welcome from their many friends.

Rev. W. Woodger, of Marmora, accompanied by his wife and little daughter, were the guests of Miss Robinson last week.

Congratulations are in order for Mr and Mrs. Allie Fee on the arrival of a baby girl on Aug. 22.

Nurse Susan Clarke, who has just completed her course at the Ross oHspital is enjoying a well-earned rest with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. S. P. Clarke.

Little Miss "Buddie" Parker, of Peterborough, is visiting her brother, Mr. Fred Parker.

Mrs. Kennedy, of Toronto, is the guest of Mrs. Wm McQuade.

The stork called on Mr. and Mrs. Norman Laidley (nee Bella Fee), leaving a fine baby girl.

Mrs. Fred. Rowan left on Friday morning for her home in the West after a pleasant visit with friends here.

Miss Sara Adams left on Friday for Philadelphia after spending a pleasant vacation with friends here.

Mr. and Mrs. Mathew Wilson, accompanied their son, Mr. Bert Wilson and wife, home to Chicago, Ill., where they will spend a well-earned vacation.

Rev. Mr. and Mrs. McCutcheon, of Bloomfield, are the guests of Mr. and Mrs. Francis Fee.

A pleasant evening was spent at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Tom Rice on Friday when the many friends and neighbors of the popular young soldier and his English bride, gathered to present them with a miscellaneous shower. The gifts were many and beautiful and with each gift went the sincere wishes of their friends for a long and happy wedded life.

Dr. Cook, of Sudbury, is enjoying a well-earned vacation in Omemee.

Messrs. F. Beasley and H. Kemp, of Toronto are among the duck shooters from a distance to come to Omemee.

AN OLD RECIPE TO BARKEN HAIR

Sage Tea and Sulphur Turns Gray, Faded Hair Dark and Glossy

Almost everyone knows that Sage Tea and Sulphur, properly compounded, brings back the natural color and lustre to the hair when faded, streaked or gray. Years ago the only way to get this mixture was to make it at home, which is mussy and troublesome.

Nowadays we simply ask at any drug store for "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound." You will get a large bottle of this old time recipe improved by the addition of other ingredients at very little cost. Everybody uses this preparation now, because no one can possibly tell that you darkened your hair, as it does it so naturally and evenly. You dampen a sponge or soft brush with it and draw this through your hair, taking one small strand at a time; by morning the gray hair disappears, and after another application or two, your hair becomes beautifully dark, thick and glossy and you look years younger.

ANOTHER STRIKE OF GOLD AND ORE

CHICAGO SALESMAN LUCKY MAN —YIELD $200,000 THE TON.

(Canadian Press Despatch)

Winnipeg Sept. 3.—News of another sensation gold strike, this time in Contract Bay district, seventy miles from Kenora, was brought here today by Robert Wachman, Chicago, a salesman who claims to have made the find.

The strike is a pay streak, says Wachman, containing two hundred thousand dollars the ton, surrounded by other ore that will yield one hundred dollars a ton.

Food placed in cold storage cannot be kept there longer than 12 months, under the provisions of a bill now before the U. S. Agricultural Committee.

"Will Wilson run for a third term?" is the question other possible Democratic nominees are asking, and they hope the President will answer it on his coming western trip.

DOES THIS STRIKE YOU?

"Our very eyes are sometimes like our judgments, blind." Eyes that are not blind, but plainly failing, can be saved and helped by Dr. Fowler, if he is given an opportunity in time. Show that your judgment is not blind, by consulting Dr. Fowler at the first sign of eye trouble.

CONSULTATION FREE.

EYESIGHT SPECIALIST A. A. FOWLER DOCTOR OF OPTICS

Phm. B. Toronto University.

HAS FITTED 30,000 SATISFIED WEARERS OF PEBLO GLASSES

Most Up-to-date Sanitary Optical Parlors. With Nugent Drug Co.

Children's Aid Society

—of—

Peterborough City and County

FOR THE CARE OF NEGLECTED AND ILL-TREATED CHILDREN

G. W. FOWELL,

Asst. Secretary and Inspector

Office, 383 George St. Phone 1048

Office Hours: 12 to 2 and 6 to 8

GRAND To-day FRIDAY SATURDAY

SPECIAL TRIPLE FEATURE PROGRAMME

FRANCIS X. BUSHMAN and BEVERLY BAYNE

IN THE SUPERB SUPER-FEATURE

"DARING HEARTS"

THE BIG HIT!

VOD-A-VIL MOVIES

EMMY WEHLEN in

"THE BELLE OF THE SEASON"

THEATRICAL

"MY SOLDIER GIRL," A GORGEOUS MUSICAL SPECTACLE, IS COMING

Grand New Production With Lavish Expenditure at Grand Theatre

The good news reaches Peterboro, that theatregoers are to have an opportunity to see at an early date the gorgeous musical spectacle "My Soldier Girl" before it is even presented in New York or Chicago. This brand new production with a lavish expenditure in costumes and scenery comes at an opportune time for the story offers a surprising novelty, and the three scenes offer the lover of musical plays bewildering effects, novel stage settings, gorgeous scenery, a great cast and a brigade of as clever dancers as ever graced any stage. The piece is chuck full of musical numbers, the story snappy and brisque and the difficult dancing novelties and march numbers are a revelation. There is an excellent cast of clever musical comedy artists and the score of big song hits are sufficiently popular to make it show a success, including "My Soldier Girl," "Ragtime Band" "Keep Me Up" "Bundle of Love" "Just For You" "You're my Loving Sugar Baby" and "That Dixie Wedding Tune."

My Soldier Girl.

LeComte and Flesher, who have produced many pleasing musical productions that have brought happiness to theatregoers, have ventured forth this season with a big musical spectacle that is within keeping with the Winter Garden productions, entitled "My Soldier Girl." These energetic showmen have spared no expense to make this their latest production, a success and money has been invested at every angle. The costumes are gorgeous, the scenery a work of art and is within keeping with the artistic environment. The novelties are no doubt a surprise is in store for the theatre patron when this big success is presented here. The producers have engaged a clever New York cast and have gotten together a wonderful "pony ballet to carry out the novelty dancing numbers and ensemble. There are twenty some numbers including a score of song hits. The music is by Charles George, and this score does him credit — so cleverly worked out are his compositions. The book is by J. Lorch Baber and comes up to the expectations, pleasing the most severe critics.

"BIG BILL" HART HITS FOR BIG CITY IN GREAT PLAY "BRANDING BROADWAY"

Showing at New Allen Theatre This Week—Full of Tense Situations

A band of cowboys, headed by Bob Reeds, gallop into Whetstone, Ariz., and make straight for the only saloon the town boasts of. They are determined to spend every cent they have on a hilarious holiday. They take possession of the saloon which forms, somehow, sadly changed with signs of unfamiliar beverages plastered on the walls and a bartender in the last stages of melancholia. Arizona has gone dry.

From here on "Big Bill" Hart is seen at his best in this play of comedy, excitement and thrills. To tell the rest of the story would spoil the picture for those seeing it.

In addition to the feature the Allen Theatre is showing the first chapter of the smashing serial, "The Great Gamble." In their advance notice Pathe has to say that it is the greatest "stunt" serial ever produced. It was directed by Mr. Joseph A. Golden, who will be remembered for his success in directing "Wolf of Kultur," "The Libertine" "Redemption" and "Would You Forgive."

Following the serial is a Harold Lloyd Comedy, entitled, "Jazzing Up," making up a program of features that really excel.

New York, home of Otto Gordon opera director, was looted by thief of thousands of dollars' worth jewelry, silverware and clothes while he was at a rehearsal.

Control of production in the business shops of the Rock Island Arsenal has been turned over to workmen, with the result of increased efficiency, reduction in production costs, and greater contentment among workers.

An airplane, an auto and a special train will race from Omaha to Lincoln. The plane will be handicapped 15 minutes.

ALLEN THEATRE

SHOWING TO-DAY

Wm. S. HART in

"BRANDING BROADWAY"

In Chaps or Full Dress he proves a match for the clever Easterner

— COMMENCING TO-DAY —

"The Great Gamble"

With ANNE LUTHER AND CHAS. HUTCHISON

In The Greatest "Stunt" Serial Ever Produced

ALSO A HAROLD LLOYD COMEDY AND A WEEKLY

ALL PICTURES THAT EXCEL

A CONTINUOUS PERFORMANCE FROM 2 p.m. TO 11 p.m.

PRICES - - Matinees 15c Evenings 25c and 35c.

C.P.O.S.

SAILING RATES

QUEBEC—LIVERPOOL

EMPRESS OF FRANCE

4 p.m., October 9th

Special train from Windsor St. Station, 9.15 a.m., direct to ship.

Fast Luxurious Steamship—less than 6 days at sea.

Suites and rooms with bath—1st, $170 up; 2nd, $100 up; 3rd, $63.75.

	10 a.m.	Cabin	Third
Missanabie	Sept. 16	$100 up	$62.50
Scandinavian	Sept. 23	95 up	61.25
Metagama	Sept. 24	100 up	62.50
Wolfe	Oct. 1	100 up	62.50

MONTREAL—GLASGOW

Section	Sept. 19	$95 up	$61.25
Cerabus	Sept. 26	95 up	61.25

MONTREAL—AVONMOUTH

Sicilian	Sept. 17	$90 up	$61.25
War Tax		5	3.00

Apply Local Agents

H. M. MacCallum, Gen. Agt., Toronto.

CANADIAN PACIFIC OCEAN SERVICES

PACKED HOUSE AT GRAND THEATRE

"SEVEN DAYS' LEAVE" HAS LOST NONE OF ITS POPULARITY.

The theatrical season opened last night at the Grand to a packed house when "Seven Days' Leave," a play of England during war time, was the offering. This is not the first time this play has been seen in Peterboro and to judge from the size of last night's audience it has lost none of its popularity.

The play is of the thriller variety, but is replete with humor and pathos as well as the more exciting periods. Dick's son who, by his efforts on the field of battle has become a captain and an earl's son who is but a private arrive home on leave together. These two provide most of the comedy in the piece. A major of artillery who has invented an instrument to combat the submarines also arrives to have his invention tested. A couple of German spies, who have wormed their way into the confidence of the people under the guise of Belgian refugees endeavor to steal the plans of the major's invention and had intended taking them back to Germany in a submarine, which was waiting near.

Their plot is discovered and frustrated by the major who makes violent love to his female spy, even though his own fiancee not understanding his motive breaks off the engagement and pledges herself to another. The spies were about to swim off to the submarine after having had the major's plans conveyed to a boat when the major denounces them. Soldiers enter and seize the couple but in the mix-up the woman escapes through the window to swim to the U-boat. She is followed by the Lady Mary, and a struggle takes place in the water.

The next scene is from the deck of a cruiser. The submarine is sighted and the guns manned and put into action. The audience is treated to a sight of a quick-firer at work and finally a loud explosion is heard which marks the end of the submarine.

In the last act the soldiers are seen on their way back to the firing line. The cook's son has become engaged to the vicar's daughter. The major arranges everything satisfactorily with the Lady Mary, who for her bravery has been complimented by the King.

All in all the play was well produced by an exceptionally strong company and the huge audience by its applause, clearly showed that the players had won their sympathy from the first.

A SPECIAL TRIPLE FEATURE PROGRAM

AMUSING HIGH CLASS OFFERING AT GRAND THEATRE.

Commencing today the Grand will offer for the next three days a special triple feature programme. A super feature "Daring Hearts," featuring two of the most famous people on the screen, Francis X. Bushman, and Beverly Bayne. This picture will be the talk of the town, inasmuch as it is one of the most stupendous Vitagraph features ever produced. As an added feature beautiful Emily Wehlen will be seen in the five-act comedy romance, "The Belle of the Season." Of course no program at this house of amusement would be complete without the Vod-a-vil movies which are making such a big hit with the many patrons. Special music will be played by the Grand Orchestra and the prices remain the same; matinees 10c, 15c, evening 15c and 25c. Seats reserved in advance for the evening performance.

ROMANTIC OLD EMPIRE

AUSTRIA BROKEN ASUNDER BY PEACE PACT.

History of the Country Was That of the Hapsburg Dynasty and Austria Was Never a Nation In the Modern Sense of That Word—The Rise and Fall of the Holy Roman Empire.

THE handing over of the peace treaty to the Austrian delegates at St. Germain-en-Laye marked the end of what was perhaps the proudest and most romantic of modern empires. Unlike modern Germany, the loyalty with which Austria inspired its subjects and partisans did not lean on superior material grandeur and technical organization but on a sentimental background of historical memories and associations. Austria as the successor of the Holy Roman Empire—that is, the successor of a nation, the supreme political anachronism in the twentieth century.

Austria has never been a nation. It begins in the ninth century as a military frontier of the Frankish Empire; it became later the family estate, first of the Babenbergs, then of the Hapsburgs. In the first half of the seventeenth century it was the armed camp of counter reformation of militant Catholicism; in the second half the standard bearer of Christian Europe against the Turk; in the first half of the nineteenth century, the spirit behind the Holy Alliance, in the last fifty years the outpost of German militarism on its road to Constantinople. But it has never been a nation; rather, its existence was a negation of the national idea, and it saw the victory of the principle of nationality, also called the self-determination of peoples, which sealed its fate.

The history of Austria is the history of the Hapsburgs. The Babenbergs, who in the tenth century received the "Ostmark," or Eastern marchvate, of Bavaria as a fief from Emperor Otto the Great, built up, in the struggles of three centuries, the nucleus of the Austrian state merely to prepare the way for the advent of the Hapsburgs. Austrian history begins in 1282 when Rudolf, the first Hapsburg emperor, installed his sons Rudolf and Albert as dukes of Austria and Styria.

From that time Austria was, in spite of good fortune, the main base of Hapsburg campaigns for continental supremacy, in periods of adversity their last refuge and stronghold. With the Emperor Frederick II. in the middle of the fifteenth century, Austrian ascendency in Europe begins. Characteristically, this ruler, who was beaten in all his wars, laid the cornerstone of the glory that was to come. His son, Maximilian, one of the most brilliant rulers in European history, made the prestige and machinery of the Holy Roman Empire an instrument of Austrian grandeur, and founded Hapsburg world power in the treaties which insured his sons the succession to the dominions of Burgundy, Spain, Hungary and Bohemia. His grandson, Charles V., German King, Roman Emperor, was also the ruler of Spain, the Netherlands, the larger part of Italy and the Americas. But the consolidation of the future Hapsburg realm was accomplished by Charles' brother, Ferdinand, King of Hungary and Bohemia and Archduke of the Austrian.

The century preceding the Treaty of Westphalia in 1648 received its stamp from two great historic events, one, the Reformation, the other the aspiration of the House of Austria for continental supremacy. In the first decade of the Thirty Years' War from 1620 to 1630, this aspiration was realized in full. Bohemia was crushed by the Imperial armies, Denmark and the North German princes were humiliated, and for a brief time even the Baltic became an Austrian lake. The cause of Roman Catholicism was saved on the verge of catastrophe by the triumph of Austria.

The alliance of Roman Catholic France and Lutheran Sweden, while ending the religious character of the struggle, wrested most of the fruits of the victory from Austria in the peace of Westphalia, which also sealed the disintegration of the Holy Roman Empire. This event also marked the beginning of a more purely Austrian, as distinguished from German, orientation of the Hapsburgs. Between the years 1663, the battle of St Gotthard, and 1699, the Peace of Karlovitz, falls what is perhaps the most glorious period in Austrian history, that of the wars of Liberation which ended in breaking forever Turkish hegemony in Europe.

With the attack of Frederick the Great on Maria Theresa, in the middle of the eighteenth century, began the struggle for the leadership of Germany between the Houses of Hohenzollern and Hapsburg, which ended in 1866 in the full victory of the former.

The victories of Napoleon crushed the last vestiges of life from the anaemic body of the Holy Roman Empire and prompted Francis I. to abandon the older title and console himself with that of Emperor of Austria.

The expulsion of the Hapsburgs from the German Confederacy in 1866, and the simultaneous loss of the last Italian dependencies, ushers in the last epoch of Austrian history, that of the Austro-Hungarian monarchy. Through this period the German financiers and industrials of Vienna and the Magyar landholding aristocracy oppressed and exploited the Slav majority of the population. This drove Austria-Hungary into the arms of German imperialism, a combination which challenged the mortal enmity of Russia.

The more far-sighted statesmen of the dual empire perceived the danger and recognized that only by placing its Slav subjects on a basis of equality and inaugurating federalism could the monarchy hope for survival.

It is said that Francis Ferdinand, the assassinated heir to the throne, was himself of that opinion; his death, which loosened the furies of the greatest war upon the peoples of Europe, signalled also the end of the monarchy. For the rulers of Austria-Hungary the war on Serbia was the last desperate attempt to stem the tide of renascent Slav nationalism.

Tisza staked the destiny of a mighty empire on one card—German victory—and lost. When last October the Emperor Charles made his ultimate attempt to introduce federalism it was too late—by four years at least. Austria was doomed the minute it entered the war. Had Germany been victorious Austria would have been absorbed by Prussian Germany instead dissolved its ancient empire into its component parts.

SOME WAR DATES.

Cut These Out to Keep In Your Scrap Book.

Austria declared war on Serbia, July 28, 1914.

Germany declared war on Russia, August 1, 1914.

Germany declared war on France, August 3, 1914.

Germany declared war on Belgium, August 4, 1914.

Great Britain declared war on Germany, August 4, 1914.

France declared war on Austria, August 4, 1914.

Japan declared war on Germany, August 23, 1914.

Serbia declared war on Germany, August 9, 1914.

Great Britain declared war on Austria, August 13, 1914.

China declared war on Germany, August 14, 1914.

Austria declared war on Montenegro, August 9, 1914.

Austria declared war on Belgium, August 28, 1914.

Austria declared war on Japan, August 28, 1914.

Great Britain declared war on Turkey, November 5, 1914.

Turkey declared war on the Allies, November 23, 1914.

Germany declared war on Portugal, March 9, 1915.

Italy declared war on Austria, May 14, 1915.

Italy declared war on Turkey, August 21, 1915.

Bulgaria declared war on Serbia, October 14, 1915.

Italy declared war on Bulgaria, October 19, 1915.

Roumania declared war on Bulgaria, October 19, 1915.

Germany declared war on Roumania, August 28, 1916.

Italy declared war on Germany, August 28, 1916.

Turkey declared war on Roumania, August 29, 1916.

Bulgaria declared war on Roumania, September 1, 1916.

Great Britain declared war on Bulgaria, October 15, 1916.

Greece declared war on Bulgaria, November 23, 1916.

United States declared war on Germany, April 6, 1917.

Cuba declared war on Germany, April 7, 1917.

Greece declared war on Bulgaria, July 2, 1917.

Siam declared war on Austria, July 22, 1917.

Siam declared war on Germany, July 22, 1917.

Liberia declared war on Germany, August 4, 1917.

China declared war on Austria, August 14, 1917.

Brazil declared war on Germany, October 26, 1917.

United States declared war on Austria, December 7, 1917.

Panama declared war on Germany April 7, 1917.

Panama declared war on Austria, December 10, 1917.

Guatemala declared war on Germany, April 21, 1918.

Hayti declared war on Germany, July 12, 1918.

Honduras declared war on Germany, July 19, 1918.

Armistice signed November 11, 1918.

Peace treaty signed by the Germans, June 28, 1919.

He Obeyed His Wife.

An amusing story is told by a woman who was at Bournemouth on the occasion of the recent visit of the King and Queen, says the Toronto Mail and Empire. It happened when Cadbury was showing them round his model village. Mr. Cadbury is not young, and the day was not a very warm one. "Put you hat on, Mr. Cadbury," said the queen, considerate as usual. "I will not, ma'am," said the manufacturer, respectfully, but firmly. Then the queen turned to the king with "Will you please command Mr. Cadbury to put on his hat?" The king at once directed Mr. Cadbury to be covered, adding: "It is a royal command." Still he would not put on his hat. With true feminine resource the queen then tackled Mrs. Cadbury. "Your husband will not obey a royal command to put on his hat," she said. "Will you tell him to?" "Put your hat on, George," said Mrs. Cadbury, and on the hat went.

ADVERTISE IN THE REVIEW

TO THE VOTERS OF THE CITY OF PETERBOROUGH

Notice is hereby given that the Voters' Lists for the City of Peterborough have been printed, and that the Lists for the various areas described below, have been deposited at the addresses indicated, where they are held open for inspection by the public.

Only the lists for the area described will be found at the address given for that area. If you wish to find if your name is on the list, read the descriptions below till you find the area in which you live; then go to the address indicated, where you will find the lists for that area, and also forms and rules for appealing, if an appeal is necessary. Information cannot be obtained by telephone from these various addresses; it would interfere too much with the private business of those persons with whom the lists have been deposited, and its accuracy could not be guaranteed. The only way to make sure that your name is on the list is to make a personal inspection of same.

The city has been divided into the following areas:

1.—All of the South Ward south of the centre of Lake Street and east centre of Park Street.

Voters' List at W. G. Freeburn's store, 168 Lock Street.

2.—All of South Ward, south of centre of Albert Street and the southern limits of Lots 31 and 32, Plan 30, Peterborough, and west of centre of Park Street.

Voters' List at Earnest Benson's store, 100 Park Street south.

3.—All of the South Ward, south of centre of Townsend Street, east centre of Rubidge Street and Park Street between Rink and Lake streets and north of centre of Lake Street.

Voters' List at Halpin's store, 37, 39 George street.

4.—All of South Ward, south centre Sherbrooke Street, east centre Rubidge and north of centre of Townsend.

Voters' List at Co.-operative Store, 200 Rubidge Street.

5.—All of South Ward, north of centre of Albert and Lots 31 and 42 Plan 30, City, west of centre of Rubidge and north of centre of Townsend and south centre of Sherbrooke.

Voters' Lists at James Garside's house, 199 Reid Street.

6.—All of Centre Ward, north centre of Sherbrooke, east centre of Water, and south centre of McDonell.

Voters' List at James Sutherland's store, 352½ Water Street.

7.—All of Centre Ward, south of centre of Simcoe, east centre Bethune, north centre of Sherbrooke and west of centre of Water.

Voters' List at office of City Clerk, Simcoe Street.

8.—All of Centre Ward, south centre of Brock, between Water and Chambers, south centre of Hunter betwee nChambers and Bethune, east centre Bethune and west centre of Water.

Voters' Lists at Paskin's grocery store, 233 Hunter Street.

9.—All of Centre Ward, west of centre of Water Street between centres McDonell and Brock and north centre of Hunter between Chambers and centre Bethune and east centre Bethune.

Voters' List at Goohen's store, 481 Aylmer street.

10.—All of West Ward, north centre of Sherbrooke, south centre of King and west centre Bethune.

Voters' Lists at Matthews' store, corner Park and Sherbrook.

11.—All of West Ward, south centre of Hunter, east centre of Park, north centre of King and west centre Bethune.

Voters' List at Kemp's store, corner Charlotte and Downie.

12.—All of West Ward, west centre of Park, south centre Hunter and Homewood and north centre of King.

Voters' List at Lillico's grocery, 276 Charlotte Street.

13.—All of West Ward, north centre Hunter, east centre Park, south centre McDonell and west centre Bethune.

Voters' List at Routley's shop, corner Brock and Park.

14.—All of West Ward, west centre Park, south centre McDonell and north centre of Hunter and Homewood.

Voters' List at J. J. Lynch's shop corner Park and Elm.

15.—All of North Ward, south centre of Smith, east centre of George and north centre of McDonnel.

Voters' List at William Petries' shop, corner Smith and Water.

16.—All of North Ward, south of the centre of Dublin, west centre George, north centre McDonnel and east centre Stewart.

Voters' List at Dawson Bros. store, corner London and George.

17.—All of North Ward, north centre McDonnel, west centre of Stewart.

Voters' List at Kennedy's grocery 332 McDonnel Street.

18.—All of the North Ward, south centre of Smith, east centre of Stewart, north centre of Dublin and west centre George.

Voters' List at Albert Tennyson's shop, corner George and Edinburgh.

19.—All of North Ward, east centre of Stewart and north centre Smith.

Voters' List at Jordan Bros. green house, 99 Argyle Street.

20.—All of East Ward, west centre of Mark Street, south centre of Douro.

Voters' List at Sulivan's grocery store, 57 Hunter Street east.

21.—All of East Ward, east centre Mark, south centre of Douro and division line between Blocks U and V.

Voters' List at T. I. Hill's shop 127 Hunter Street east.

22.—All of East Ward, north centre of Douro and division line between Blocks U and V.

Voters' List at D. Rice's shop, 550 Concession Street.

Appeals in the forms prescribed by statute must be filed with the Revising Officers' Clerk on or before Monday, the 8th day of September, 1919. The Revising Officer's clerks are as follows: For areas numbered 1, 2, 3, 4 and 5 above—W. F. Johnston, 435 George Street; for areas numbered 6, 7, 8, 9, 20, 21 and 22 above—Wilfred E. Huycke, Engleburne Avenue, and, for areas numbered 10, 11, 12, 13, 14, 15, 16, 17, 18 and 19 above—Fred Morrow, 469 Water Street.

If an appeal is necessary it is advisable to use the forms provided by the Board, and to carefully observe the rules governing the entering and hearing of appeals. Forms of the appeal and copies of the rules may be obtained at any of the above addresses.

Dated at Peterborough, this 28th day of August, 1919.

E. C. S. HUYCKE,
Chairman of the Voters' Registration Board.

ONTARIO ELECTION ACTS 1918 and 1919

NOTICE OF SITTINGS OF REVISING OFFICERS

Electoral District of West Peterborough, City of Peterborough

To Wit:

Take notice that the lists of voters for polling subdivisions Numbers 1 to 22, both inclusive, comprising the City of Peterborough, have been prepared by the enumerators and have been delivered to the Clerk of this Board by the Chief Enumerator and Returning Officer, and that GEORGE W. HATTON, of the City of Peterborough, has been appointed Revising Officer for Polling Subdivisions Numbers 1, 2, 3, 4 and 5 (South Ward of City); EDWARD C. S. HUYCKE, Revising Officer for Polling Subdivisions 6, 7, 8, and 9, and 20 and 21 (East and Centre Wards of City) and GEORGE J. SHERRY, Revising Officer for Polling Subdivisions 10, 11, 12, 13, 14, 15, 16, 17, 18 and 19, (West and North Wards of City) to hear complaints and appeals as to the lists of voters aforesaid.

And further take notice that the sittings of the said several Revising Officers will take place as to the South Ward (Nos. 1, 2, 3, 4, and 5) above, at the County Council Chamber, in the Court House, in the City of Peterborough, as to the Centre and East Wards (No 6, 7, 8, 9, 20, 21 and 22 above) in the Judges' Chambers in the said Court House and as to the West and North Wards (Nos. 10, 11, 12, 13, 14, 15, 16, 17, 18 and 19 above) in the Court Room in the said Court House on SATURDAY, the THIRTEENTH day of September, 1919.

Each sittings will commence at 10 o'clock in the forenoon and will continue until the appeals fixed for the day have been disposed of.

And further take notice that any voter who desires to complain that the names of any persons entitled to be entered on any of the said lists have been omitted from same, or that the names of persons who are not entitled to be voters, have been entered thereon, may on or before MONDAY, the EIGHTH DAY OF SEPTEMBER, 1919, apply, complain of or appeal to have his own name or the name of any other person, corrected in, entered on, or removed from, the lists prepared under the Ontario Elections Acts, 1918 and 1919.

And further take notice that such appeals must be by notice in writing in the prescribed form, signed by the complainant in duplicate and given to the clerk of the proper revising officer, or left for said Clerk at his residence or place of business on or before the said date. The clerk to Mr. Geo. W. Hatton is W. F. Johnston, place of business, 435 George St., residence, 310 McDonnel St.; the Clerk to Mr. E. C. S. Huycke is Wilfred Huycke, Residence, Engleburn Ave., and the Clerk to Mr. Geo. J. Sherry, Mr. Fred Morrow, residence, 469 Water St., business address, Registry Office, all in Peterborough.

Dated at Peterborough, this 29th day of August, 1919.

E. C. S. HUYCKE,
Chairman of the Voters' Registration Board, for the County of Peterborough.

Count Rantzau.

The latest mot about the recent head of the German negotiators at Paris, Count Rantzau, comes from ex-Minister Maurice Francis Egan, who knew him well. He says: "I found Count Rantzau a very clever man; he played his game fairly; it was a game, and he was a colleague worth any man's respect." Minister Egan found him delightful, but he infuriated most other people. Some day, Egan expects to him consciously exasperate somebody to fury, so as to escape the trouble of committing suicide himself. "I shall always miss him," writes Mr. Egan, in his new book. "He is the kind of man whose society you covet on this earth, because, if all signs prove true, you are not likely to meet him in heaven—until late in eternity. • • • When Rantzau was Voltaire," he goes on to say, "he was frightfully diabolical; when he was Heine, he was delightfully diabolical; but when he was just Rantzau, he was the devil himself." He evidently met his match occasionally, in Egan. One day Rantzau asked him to tell him frankly what was wrong with the Germans having Schleswig, to which Egan answered, "Everything."

Babcock Test Very Useful.

The Babcock test is a device for determining the fat content of milk or cream. With this test and a milk scale one can determine the best cows in the herd. By using the Babcock test and the lactometer together the composition of the milk can be determined for total solids.

A Gentleman's Game.

Two golf fiends—an Englishman and a Scot—were playing a round together. After the first hole the Englishman said: "How many did you take?" "Eight," replied the Scot. "Oh! I only took seven so it's my hole!" exclaimed the Englishman triumphantly. After the second hole the Englishman put the same question again. But the Scot smiled knowingly: "Na, na, na man," said he, "It's ma turn tae ask first."

The Prince Salutes the Guard's March Past at Govern ment House, Toronto.

SECOND DRAW FOR R R. HALL TROPHY PLAYED BY SEPT. 8

The second draw for the R. R. Hall golf trophy has been made up as follows, the games to be played by Monday, September 8th:

W. Eastwood v. McDermid.
P. Trebilcock v. Dr. McPherson
Copping v. Dr. Eastwood.
W. Stevenson v. A. Stevenson.
Thompson v. Cook.
Dr. Buchanan v. Weber.
Bond v. E. G. Patterson.
Gilman v. R. B. Hamilton.
Campbell v. Dr. Holloway.
Villeneuve v. S. Hamilton
Cherry v. F. Patterson.
Morphet v. Rogers.
Hal Crane v. G. Hamilton.
F. Bradburn v. Laurie.
W. C. Ackerman v. Sangster.
Medd v. Dr. Cameron.
Brown v. Wearing.
Stansfield a bye.

Note.—Handicap for match play is three-quarters of medal handicap.

W. C. ACKERMAN,
J. P. BOND,
F. M. DELAFOSSE,
Match Committee.

RUGBY PRACTICE

The Y.M.C.A. rugby team will hold their initial practice of the season this evening at 6.45 o'clock. All players who have had experience on the local Collegiate team are especially requested to turn out as well as any others who would like to join the club.

BRIGHTON TEAM HERE TO-NIGHT

BRING STRONG TEAM TO TAKE ON LOCAL BOYS IN BASE-BALL GAME.

The baseball game tonight promises to be a hummer. Reports from Brighton show that they are sparing no efforts to bring a hard hitting, fast fielding team for the game with the local Central Ontario League team. The double header on Labor Day showed the fans just how much fight is left in the locals and a large crowd will undoubtedly have an early supper to be on hand for the game called for 6.15 o'clock sharp.

BOXING BOUT ON FRIDAY NIGHT

Everything is being put in readiness for the big entertainment at the Brock street rink for Friday evening. Young Cattle is already in the city and reports feeling in fine shape for his 10-round match with Kid Brompton, which is to be the main bout of the evening. Young Cattle is 4 lbs. over the 135 lbs., the scheduled weight of the fight, but no objections will be raised to that as it is not a championship contest. He has been in civics for about two months and during that time has won decisions over Kid Curtis of London and Kid Mason of Kitchener, both well-known and clever boxers. Irish Jordon and Murray will oppose each other in one of the local preliminaries and both local boys are confident of winning. This promises to be a real live program and a large crowd will undoubtedly be on hand.

DANGEROUS BERRIES.

Men Are Blinded by Australian "Finger Cherry."

Sixteen years ago a young man was brought into the hospital at Cairns in Queensland, suffering from a strange paralysis of the optic nerves, says Tit-Bits. In spite of skilled treatment he became blind.

Other cases occurred in the same district, and were traced to the eating of a wild fruit known as the finger cherry, a long bright red berry, which has nothing in common with our cherry.

The effects of certain vegetable poisons are at present beyond scientific explanation. The finger cherry is not the only Australian plant which has a baneful effect upon the optic nerves.

Some years ago W. H. Morrison, a well-known Australian horse breeder, wrote to the Sydney Morning Herald pointing out that numbers of horses were being blinded by eating the wild melon, which is common in many parts of Australia, and which grows in great profusion after the breaking of a long drought.

One of the most terrible plants in existence is the Asclepias gigantea, which is common in Abyssinia, and grows also in Ceylon. When cut, a milky sap exudes from the stem and leaves and the least drop of this will cause total blindness if it comes in contact with the eyes.

The asclepias is used largely for firewood, but the men who cut it have to exercise extreme care. If a man accidentally rubs his eye with his hand while engaged in cutting this wood, acute ophthalmia is certain and the sight of the eye is gone for good. There is no cure. Yet the strangest thing is that goats eat the asclepias without suffering harm.

Goats, too, can eat the Texas loco weed, which kills horses and cattle. This poisonous plants drives horses mad. They run in circles, and sometimes are seized by a sort of mania.

There are plants even in this country, which are none to safe to meddle with. Reference is not made to the regular poison plants such as hemlock, deadly nightshade, or wild parsnip. There are plants which are popularly supposed to be harmless or even wholesome, yet which have very queer effects on certain [illegible]

Mountain ash, for instance. The pretty fruit of this tree is made into jam, jelly and a kind of spirit. It has the extraordinary power of destroying the memory.

Mixtures of fruits or leaves are harmless in themselves, but may yet have unpleasant consequences. Be careful not to eat spinach and an orange at the same meal. The oxalic acid of the former is freed by the citric acid of the latter, and the result is a more or less sharp case of poisoning. Tomato must not be followed by lemon or the result may be death.

Some fruits are injurious in an unripe condition. The [illegible] pineapple if injested under the most dangerous [illegible]

Facts of the Great War.

These are some of the amazing facts in Sir Douglas Haig's final despatches:

General Headquarters received 9,000 telegrams in one day, and 3,400 letters by despatch-riders. Army headquarters had 10,000 telegrams in a day, and the daily telegrams on the lines of communications were 23,000.

There were 1,500 miles of telegraphs and telephones and 2,6 miles of railways, on which 1,8 trains ran weekly.

In six weeks 5,000,000 rations were supplied, by our [illegible] France, to 800,000 civilians in [illegible] areas.

Two hundred tons dead weight supplies and stores were [illegible] daily for the maintenance of [illegible] division.

The total daily ration strength [illegible] our armies was 2,760,000. An [illegible] of one ounce to each [illegible] represented an extra 71 [illegible]

Over 400,000 horses and mules [illegible]

47,000 motor vehicles were used, and 4,500 miles of road made or maintained.

In 1914 there was one machine-gun to 500 infantrymen in the British army; at the armistice there was one machine-gun to 20 infantrymen.

Over 700,000 tons of ammunition were fired by our artillery on the Western front from last August to the armistice.

The number of individual landings at the ports managed by the British armies in France exceeded 10,000,000 up to the armistice; while in the last eleven months of the war the average weekly tonnage landed at those ports was 175,000 tons.—Tit-Bits.

By treating fish oil with hydrogen a chemist has produced an oil suitable for food purposes and a solid substance closely resembling lard, which is tasteless.

THE MARKETS

TORONTO MARKETS

(Special to The Review.)

Toronto, Sept. 4.—Receipts of live stock were heavy; trade fair. Hogs were light and lower.

Choice export cattle	$13.00	$14.00
Medium butchers	10.50	11.00
Medium butcher cows	9.50	10.00
Sheep	8.00	10.00
Lambs	14.00	14.50
Hogs, f.a.w.	19.75	19.75
Calves	18.00	19.00

PETERBOROUGH MARKETS

Dressed Pork, lb.	.30	.35
ChoiceMutton, lb.	.23	.25
Spring lamb, lb.	.30	.34
Beef (carcase), lb.	.17	.20
Veal (carcase), lb.	.22	.25
Potatoes, pk.	.70	.70
Chickens, lb	.35	.38
Eggs, doz.	.50	.50
Butter, lb.	.60	.60
Raspberries	.27	.30
Green Corn, doz.	.25	.25
Green onions, bunch	.5	.5
Lettuce, bunch	.5	.5
Radish, bunch	.5	.5

Grain, Hay and Straw.

Wheat (spring)	2.09	2.12
Wheat (marquis)	2.12	2.15
Buckwheat	1.15	1.15
Oats	.90	1.00
Barley	1.25	1.25
Timothy hay, ton	17.00	20.00
Loose straw, load	7.00	8.00

The Review Job Printing Department

Is complete in every respect. We are prepared to print anything from a visiting card to a catalogue at the shortest notice. We use only the best of papers and our work is all guaranteed to . . please . .

PRICES ARE AS LOW AS IS CONSISTENT WITH CLASS OF WORK WE DO

PHONE 189 AND OUR REPRESENTATIVE WILL CALL

-:- THE REVIEW -:-

Prince Visits Orthopedic Hospital, Toronto.

Bringing up Father

By George McManus

MAGGIE - SAVE A FEW DISHES - SO WE KIN USE 'EM FOR DINNER -
I DON'T KNOW HOW I MANAGE TO KEEP OUT OF THE HOSPITAL!
NOW FER A LITTLE PEACE AN' COMFORT-
O-W!! A BEE !!!
BY GOLLY - THIS IS NIC PLACE ON EARTH FER A MARRIED MAN -

A BOXING TOURNAMENT
WILL BE HELD AT
BROCK ST. RINK
Fri., Sept. 5
AT 8 P.M.
10 ROUNDS
Between
Young Cattle--Toronto
And
Kid Brompton--New York
Lightweight
Good Preliminaries are Being Arranged for
ADMISSION--$1.00, 75c, 50c
Ringside seats now on sale at Dan McCabe's Cigar Store and at Spence's Barber Shop.

The Steamer Naiad
ON AND AFTER MAY 5th 1919
The Steamer Naiad will run as follows:—
Leave Lakefield daily on arrival of noon G.T.R. Train for Stony Lake Points connecting at Mt. Julian with the Apsley Stage

Canada Food Board License No. 8-[illegible]
D. M. MINICOLA
Best Fruit—Cheap
Best Vegetables—Reasonable
Best Groceries
At Right Prices
410½ GEORGE STREET
Bell Phone 938

Order Your Coal From LOW & Co.
We have all sizes in stock
EGG, STOVE, NUT AND PEA
The best and cheapest coal in town. Perfectly screened and promptly delivered. Bring your orders in now.
Prices advance every month.
LOW & COMPANY
262 Simcoe Street. Phone 697
House 396

COAL
...AND...
Builders' Supplies
Hardwood Flooring
Robt. Hicks & Co.
LIMITED

Lackawana Coal
Means Economy
Burns freely and is of Best Anthracite.
Trucking Orders Promptly Filled
Peterboro Fuel & Transfer Co.
162 CHARLOTTE ST.
PHONES 270-563

PITTSTON COAL
IS THE BEST
ALL SIZES IN STOCK
Also best lines of SOFT COAL at Lowest Prices
McCARTHY & JOHNSTON
COAL DEALERS
111 Hunter Street, East City
Phone 96 TERMS CASH

LUMBER
Builders' Materials of all kinds—Shingles, Scantlings, Joist and Bill Stuff, Mouldings, Castings, Base and all kinds of Finish, Boxes and Box Shooks; Slabs and Mill Wood.
Alf. McDonald Estate

MIXED WOOD
$7.00 Per Cord
HARD WOOD
$10.00 Per Cord
Cutting and Splitting extra.
ORDER NOW
FROM
J. E. A. FITZGERALD
Phone 111

THE BOARD OF TRADE MEETS TO-NIGHT AT 8 O'CLOCK

SUPPER SERVED IN COUNCIL ROOM 6.30—7.30

SAFEGUARD YOUR EYESIGHT

When you accept our invitation to a consultation regarding the condition of your eyes, you need not feel concerned about what we will tell you. You will learn only the truth. "See Us and See Better."

W. H. LACEY
Optical Specialist.
410 George St.

DISTRICT AND LOCAL NEWS

SEWAGE DISPOSAL.

Mayor Duncan and Ald Phelan are in Toronto today for an interview with the Provincial Board of Health on the question of a sewage disposal plant for this city.

Dr. E. V. Frederick, member Royal College of Surgeons, England, late Surgeon No. 1, Canadian Stationery Hospital, Salonica, late Surgical Specialist No. 70 Indian Stationary Hospital, Bagdad, late Clinical Assistant Mayo Clinic, Rochester, Minn., has resumed practice corner Charlotte and Rubidge streets, Peterboro— especially consulting practice in surgical and chronic conditions.

Dr. Free, late house physician Toronto General Hospital, assistant in practice with Dr. Frederick and in charge of laboratory work.

FELLOWSHIP TEA.

Tonight at Gospel Hall the Christians will hold a fellowship tea after which Mr. Charles Innes of Toronto will give an address on "Practical Fellowship." He will also hold a meeting for Christians tomorrow night. Mr. Innes will preach on Sunday night in the hall.

TIRES VULCANIZED

Because that tire has a hole through it is no reason why you should throw it away. You may yet get several thousand miles out of it by having a sectional repair made. We Vulcanize Auto Tires and Tubes and guarantee our work. Millard's Bicycle Shop, 225 Hunter street, near Aylmer, phone 234j.

TEMPLE SONGSTERS.

The Temple Songsters will practice this evening. Members are requested to bring green books.

PALMISTRY.

Madame Alise famous Scotch palmist at Gollop's Hotel opposite Grand Opera House. Here only for a short time. Hours from 10 a.m. to 10 p.m. All readings $1.00.

SOUTH BEACH DANCE.

A dance has been arranged for at beautiful South Beach, Clear Lake, Friday evening, Sept. 5th. Music by the Pavlowa Orchestra, Toronto. Comfort and convenience of guests assured.

NOTICE.

The regular monthly meeting of the Peter Robinson Chapter, I. O. D. E., will be held in the Public Library Friday evening, Sept. 5th, at 7:30. As this is a very important meeting all the members are requested to attend.

BOARD FOR STUDENTS.

The Peterborough Normal School will re-open on Tuesday, Sept. 15th. Householders who have accommodation for students should send their names and addresses to the principal.

PRIVATE SALE.

The household effects of Miss A. Turner, 801 Water street; fine rugs, stoves and furnishings; sale private, commencing Monday night, Sept. 8th, at 6 o'clock.

GIVE NEW LIFE TO THAT VICTROLA

Of course your Victrola is a dead thing if it remains shoved away in a corner. Keep it alive always by freshening up with the new records as they appear from month to month. The new list contain among others the following: "Dear Old Boy o' Mine," "Sweet Hawaiian Moonlight," "Rockin' the Boat" and "Canadian Gans," which can be obtained from Ye Olde Firme of Heintzman & Co., Limited, George and Hunter streets, Peterborough.

MONSTER PARADE FOR EXHIBITION

CITIZENS ARE FALLING IN LINE WITH THE FLOATS PROPOSITION.

The Amusement Committee under Mr. Webber Turner, for the Exhibition Board, is arranging for a monster parade forthe opening day of the Fair, Monday, September 15.

An invitation extended to the business houses, manufacturing concern and others, to put in floats or decorated automobiles, has already brought out the following names, who have agreed to do so:

The Canadian General Electric Co.
The Quaker Oats. (two.)
The De Laval Co.
Archie Larbeau.
The Cressman Co.
Peterboro Business College.
Singer Sewing Machine Co.
J. M. Greene Music Co.
Peterboro Bread Co.
And others who have not returned their cards.

Everyone is invited to participate in the parade and to send their names in to Mr. F. J. A. Hall, secretary.

This will be Peterboro's bigest Fair, and everyone is getting right behind it to even exceed expectations

THE DILIVERY BOY

He Has Acquired a Dignity and Elegance All His Own.

I walked down the street and saw a boy on a little Buster Brown wagon. He sailed along nicely, one hand on the handle which was his rudder and one leg over the side propelling this side-wheeler, and one hand holding in its fingers an ice cream cone. Thus devourously and gracefully he propelled his load, incidentally, of groceries and such like, and I thought of the earlier days when the boys carried their loads in their arms and with the aid of the Buster Brown side wheel and ice cream cone, labor has taken on a dignity formerly not dreamed of. But this is an age of progress, customs will change, and where the end will reach, no one can imagine. Labor wil be done by aeroplane and angel wings and labor will come to its own in elegance and dignity.

PRIZES FOR BEST FLOAT

The parade that is being organized for the Exhibition's opening on Monday, September 15th, promises to be a big event. Business houses, manufacturers and others are coming in all the time, and the Exhibition Board has decided to give the following prizes as an incentive to ge the best possible results in decoration, on the floats, automobiles, and comic make-up.

A prize of $25.00 will be paid for the best gotten up Advertising Float; $15.00 for the best decorated automobile; and $10.00 for the best comic get up in any sort of a conveyance.

These are good prizes, and no doubt the contestants will make extra special efforts.

ST. PAUL'S CHOIR

There will be no practice this evening. A full attendance of the choir is requested for Sunday morning. Practice for evening service will be held at the close of the morning service. Mr. Tattersall will preside at the organ.

MISCHIEVOUS BOYS PLACE R.R. TIE ACROSS TRACKS

A very serious accident was averted when the section men on the C. P. R removed a tie from the track, shortly before the appearance of passenger trains.

The tie had been placed there by two mischievous boys, 12 and 15 years of age, and these were brought before Acting Magistrates Ruah and Eastwood this morning, and severely reprimanded.

A strike of electrical workers employed by the Toronto Electric Light Company ttied up the street car service from 5 to 9.30 o'clock last night. Strikers are back at work.

Guelph reverts to standard time next Monday morning.

All records for attendance at the Ontario Agricultural College and Macdonald Hall, Guelph, will be broken this fall.

SOCIAL AND PERSONAL

M'FADDEN—HEARD.

At the George Street Methodist parsonage, on September third, by Rev. S Crookshanks, Miss Ellie Heard and Percival McFadden, both of Smith Township, were united in marriage. The contracting parties were unattended. After a short wedding trip the happy couple will reside at Bridgenorth.

Miss A. Pritchard is visiting with friends in Toronto.

Dr. Stoness of Sharbot Lake has been visiting friends in the city.

Miss Marguerite Patterson of the S.R.S. Hospital of Montreal, is visiting Peterborough friends.

Mrs. M. M. Anderson of Glen Ross, Ont. has returned home after visiting with friends in the city.

Mrs. Foote, of Parry Sound, is visiting with friends in the city.

Miss Mary Sloane, of Hamilton, spent the week end with friends in the city.

Mrs. A. Campbell, city has been visiting with friends in Keene.

Mr. English spent the week end with friends in Keene.

Miss Emily Myles, of Toronto, spent the week end with friends in the city.

Mrs. Clegg is holidaying at her cottage at Kawartha Park.

Mrs. C. B. Routley has closed her summer cottage at Stoney Lake and returned to the city.

Mr. and Mrs. H. B. Runnels of Toronto motored to the city yesterday.

Mr. and Mrs. G. A. Macdonald and children, Homewood avenue, returned home from a two weeks' visit in Western Ontario.

Mrs. F. M. DelaFosse and Mrs. Phillips King left yesterday for their home in California, after spending the summer at Deer Bay.

Mrs. Hall of Toronto was a week-end visitor in the city.

Mr. P. H. Bender, Niagara Falls, is visiting in the city the guest of his sister, Mrs. Fraser, 332 Rubidge street. Mr. Bender has recently returned from overseas, having spent four years in active service.

Mr. J. Murphy and Miss J. V. Murphy, of Lindsay, are spending a few days with friends inthe city.

Miss Greta Giles, city, is spending a few days with her grandfather, Mr. John Giles, of Oakwood.

Mr and Mrs. Howard Robinson of Toronto are visiting Mr. and Mrs. T. W. Robinson, Weller street.

DR. M'PHEARSON PRESIDENT G.W.V.A. SPORTS COMMITTEE

The recenly organized sports committee of the Great War Veterans held a meeting at their rooms last night Comrade Layfield withdrew from the presidency of the committee, and Dr. McPherson was chosen to fill his place. The committee are to be congratulated upon their choice of a president, as Dr. McPherson has always been a very active sporting enthusiast in this city. The object of this committee is to promote sports of all kinds in the association. They will present their plans to the G. W. V. A. executive next Tuesday night and later to an open meeting of the association.

SHOWER FOR SOLDIER AND ENGLISH BRIDE

NEPHTW OF THOS. RICE, EMILY, PRACTICALLY REMEMBERED BY FRIENDS..

On Friday evening, a miscellaneous shower passed over the home of Mr. Thomas Rice, Emily, leaving as a remembrance, many costly and useful presents.

His nephew, Thomas H. Rice, who has faithfully served his country for four years, returned from overseas, bringing his bride.

After music, the happy pair were called forward and the bride was presented with a beautiful bouquet of mixed flowers by little Loraine Irwin followed by a shower of useful presents.

Although taken by surprise Mr. Rice made a very suitable reply thanking all present for their kindness showing much pleased to feel that she was being made so warmly welcome in Canada.

After a short address by Reeve Wilson, the solo "How Ya Gonna Keep 'em down on the Farm," was rendered in a firm tone by Myra Wiliamson, cousin of the groom.

Luncheon was then served and the remainder of the evening spent in music, games and dancing.

OBITUARY

MRS. G. W. PEARCE.

The death occurred in Battle Creek, Mich., on Tuesday, Sept. 2, of Mrs. G. W. Pearce, of that city, after a lingering illness.

Deceasd was a daughter of the late Frederick Henback, formerly of Peterborough.

The remains will arrive here on the G. T. R. train tomorrow morning and be taken to the home of her cousin, Mr. David Pearce, 538 Bethune street, whence the funeral will take place tomorrow at 2:30 o'clock to Little Lake Cemetery

Kindly omit flowers. Private funeral.

EDWARD T. CARR.

The death occurred last evening shortly after 6 o'clock of Edward Thomas Carr, 269 Rubidge street. Deceased was 35 ytars of age, and leaves a wife and two-year-old son. He is mourned also by his mother and father, Mr. and Mrs. Edward Carr, of this city, two sisters, Mrs. Lake, of Toronto, and Miss Ruby, city, and one brother, Mr. Harry Carr, city.

The late Mr. Carr was a very popular young man and always took a keen interest in sport. He was an officer of the Charlotte Street Guild hockey and baseball clubs when they won their respective leagues, and an officer of the Peterborough club in the old Canadian Baseball League.

FIRE IN SHED IN EAST CITY

Fire from an unknown cause broke out in the shed of Mr. P. Loesher, 135 Hunter east street, at 7.10 p.m. yesterday.

In spite of the fact that the fire brigade were forced to go around by Smith street bridge ,the blaze was extinguished before much damage resulted.

The Prince alks Wtih Officers of the Guards at oronto.

Referendum Committee

Attention Voters!

IS YOUR NAME ON THE VOTERS' LIST

Monday, September 8th is the last day on which it is possible to have your name added to the List.

To make sure, call up the Organizer, T. M. Wesley, He will tell you. PHONE Y.M.C.A. 246

ONE HUNDRED AUTOS WANTED FOR VOTING DAY

A. B. Cunningham,
Chairman Ref. Com.

KEENE

(Special Correspondence.)

Keene, Sept. 4 Mrs. Peter Hewie left last Wednesday for Calgary where she will visit friends.

Mr. R. H. Campbell returned the past week from overseas where she spent the past two years.

Mrs. R. N. Johnston returned last Wednesday from a ten days' trip to Montreal and the thousand Islands.

Mr. Walter Bryce and family, after a pleasant summer vacation at their cottage on Main St., returned on Friday to their home in Toronto.

Mrs. Alex Campbell of Peterborough, spent a few days last week with Keene friends.

Mrs. Robert Castle, of Peterborough, was the guest of Mrs. Benjamine Kindred over the week-end and Labor Day.

Miss Leona Johnston, of Washington, is visiting her mother, Mrs R N. Johnston.

Mr. A. D. Cutler, who spent the past month at the home of his daughter, Mrs. H. McLachlan, has returned to his home at Delaware, Ohio.

Mrs. Fred English spent the week-end with Peterborough friends.

Miss Margaret Bryce is in Toronto this week.

Mrs. Roots and daughter, of Peterborough, were the guests of Mrs. Andrew Rennie over the week-end.

Messrs. James and William Dickson, of Toronto, were in the village over the week-end and holiday for the opening of the hunting season

Mr. and Mrs. Wallis Wood, of Toronto, are guests at the home of Mrs. Wood's parents, Mr. and Mrs William Campbell.

Dr. James Campbell, of New York has been visiting at the home of his father, Mr William Campbell.

Mr. Thomas Wallis and family have returned to their home at Toronto after a pleasant summer spent at their cottage on Rice Lake.

Mr. Lewis Roche, of Peterborough, and Miss Howley, of Toronto, spent Sunday with Mr. Roche's parents, Mr and Mrs. P. Roche

Mr. Fred English, of Ottawa, spent a few days at his summer home on Main St.

Mrs. C. H. Byers left on Saturday for Feelton where Mr. and Mrs. Byers will make their future home.

Misses Pearl McCann, Josephine Kennealley and Osabell McCarthey spent the week-end with Toronto friends.

Mr. James Madder, of Toronto, is visiting friends at the Victoria House.

Miss Clara Roche, of Rochester, and Miss Richards, of Oswego, N.Y., are visiting at the home of Miss Roche's parents.

Mr. and Mrs. Galivan and family, of North Bay, visited Mr. and Mrs. William Bell the past week.

Mr. and Mrs. Rev. McEachern and son, Ronald, have returned from Uxbridge where they spent a month's holidays.

Miss Lillian Moore returned on Tuesday to Norwood where she will attend High School this year.

Mr. and Mrs. William Campbell returned last Friday from Oxbo where they spent the past month with their daughter, Mrs. Thomas Wiymore.

Mr. George T Gall is in Toronto this week on business.

The Misses MacFarlane, of Peterborough, spent a few days this week at their home on Main St.

The Late Thomas Mather.

On Sunday afternoon at 1 30 p.m. the funeral of Mr. Thomas Mather was held from his late residence at Mather's Corners, Rev. Honey conducting the services. The late Mr. Mather was most highly respected and loved by all who knew him The funeral was a very large one. The floral tributes were numerous and beautiful. The pall-bearers were Messrs. Robert Adamson, Dennis O'Toole, G. Honson, J. Smithson, Richard Dins and John Mather.

Mr. Elmer Plunkett, who has been visiting Keene friends, has returned to his home at Peterborough.

Dr. C. F. Ross and family, who spent the past two weeks at Toronto, returned home last Friday.

Miss Mollie Boyle ,who spent the past month at the Victoria House, has returned to her home at Ottawa.

Mr. T. B. Sharpe, of Toronto, spent the week-end and holiday with friends at Bralesford Cedars.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Moher, of Belleville, were guests on Sunday at the Victoria House.

Mr. William Warrington, returned from overseas last wek, having been on active service the past three years in France Mr. Warrington enlisted with the 93rd Battalion.

Mr. and Mrs. arry McLachlan were in Peterborough on Tuesday.

SCHOOL BOARD'S FINANCE BUDGET

ACCOUNTS SUBMITTED BY COMMITTEE CHAIRMAN PATTERSON.

The Board of Education have authorized payment of the following bills, accruing during the holiday season:

Alex Gibson, clock, etc.	$11 00
Review Printing Co., advertising	5 12
Peterborough Hardware Co., hardware	5 17
W. R. Turner, repair, Edward School	4 87
Peterborough Utilities Com., turning off and on water at King Edward School	1 00
Alexander & Miller, repairs	4 50
Wm. Madill, disinfectant	25
Campbell & Best, hardware	48 30
H T Millard, sharpening mowers	5 85
W Lytle Cartage Co., carting	4 50
W. S Sindon, for paste	40
Peterborough Utilities Com., light and power	24 91
Bell Telephone Co., phone inspector office and long distance	13 20
W H Hamilton ,seed	30
Jordan Bros., plants	1 50
Nelson's Typewriter Co., typing art and music work	5 25
Miss L. A. Sanderson, supplies Collegiate Institute	10 40
Mail & Empire, advertising	15 40
Globe Printing Co., advertising	15 40
G.N.W. Telegraph Co., telegraph account	1 17

The committee also recommended that the treasurer be paid the sum of $15.00 for petty cash.

CROWDS GREETED PRINCE AT ZOO

(Canadian Press Despatch)

Soo, Ont., Sept. 4.—Blameless weather and large crowds greeted the Prince of Wales when he reached here today.

Reverence for Pioneers.

In his reply to the mayor's address, the Prince said the more he travelled in Canada the more reverence did he feel for those pioneers who laid the foundations for the Dominion

The Prince and his party spent some time inspecting the great locks, pulp mills and other features here.

Stoney Lake Navigation Company

Steamers leave Lakefield for the Lakes on arrival of morning and noon trains.

Steamers leave the Lake to connect with 9.30 a.m. (morning) and 1.40 p.m. (afternoon) trains for Peterborough.

G. T. R. trains leave Peterborough at 8.30 a.m., 12.15 noon

For excursion rates, information, etc., phone 548, or write

F. G. YOUNG,
Gen. Manager.
497 King St.

H.P. Lindsay Agency Co.
Real Estate and Insurance
Automobile Licenses
District Agents for Security Life

MOTORISTS

Do You Want to Save Gas?
Do You Want More Power?
Do You Want Your Car Cleaned While you Run?
Do You Want Real Pleasure in Motoring?
THEN BY ALL MEANS BUY
"LENEOGAS"
REFERENCE GIVEN
Sold by Best Dealers

H. P. LINDSAY AGENCY CO.,
Phone 341. 302 Water St.

NOTICE TO CREDITORS

NOTICE is hereby given pursuant to the provisions of Section 56 of the Trustee Act, that all persons having any claims against the Estate of Agnes B. Spence, late of the City of Peterborough, in the County of Peterborough, Widow, deceased, who died on or about the Thirteenth day of June, 1919, are required to deliver or send by post, prepaid, to the undersigned Solicitors for the Executor of the Estate of the said deceased, on or before the Twenty-second day of September, 1919, their christian and surnames and addresses, full particulars of their claims, a statement of their accounts and the nature of the security, if any, held by them.

AND TAKE NOTICE that after the said Twenty-second day of September, 1919, the said Executor will proceed to distribute the assets of the said deceased, among the parties entitled thereto, having regard only to the claims of which said Executor shall then have notice, and the said Executor will not be liable for the said assets or any part thereof so distributed to any person or persons of whose claims notice shall not have been received at the time of such distribution.

DATED at Peterborough, this twelfth day of August, 1919.

ECK, KERR & McELDERRY, 413 Water street, Peterborough, Solicitors of said Executor.

WEATHER FORECASTS.
Light to moderate winds. Fine Saturday moderate to fresh winds and mostly fair.

The Daily Review

8 PAGES

40th YEAR No. 54 Peterborough's Oldest Newspaper. PETERBOROUGH, ONTARIO, FRIDAY, SEPTEMBER 5, 1919. Price Two Cents per copy

GENERAL MEETING BOARD OF TRADE MARKED BY COMMENDABLE ENTHUSIASM

Seventy-Five Sit Down to Delectable Supper and one Hundred and Four Take Part in Business of the Evening Energetic Work is Slated for Board This Winter

The first general meeting of the local Board of Trade since May, this year, was held last evening in the Business College main class room, top floor, of the Dominion Bank building, and was marked by keen interest and commendable enthusiasm in matters pertaining to the community's welfare generally. The various reports submitted showed energetic committee work during vacation months, and offered opportunity for direct action by the Board in many directions affecting the future growth and prosperity of Peterborough city. As a result of these reports recommendations for civic improvements and aggressive action in certain lines will unquestionably be submitted to the City Council at no distant date; and the Board of Trade, it may be concluded from the spirit of last night's gathering, intends this winter actively engaging in work calculated to foster and develop Peterborough's resources and opportunities.

Seventy-five sat down to a tasty supper served in the Board's council room at 6.30 by Percy Hooper.

At 7.45 adjournment was made to the big school room above, and by the time the members had settled down to business an attendance of 104 was in evidence.

The roll was call by G. O. Cameron, and each man stood up in response so that all could see who's who on the Board. The preliminary proceedings were punctured by two vocal solos from Douglas Carlisle to accompaniment by John Crane, and two banjo numbers by Frank Clarke, and these entertaining gentlemen were applauded to the echo as they always are. The minutes of the last regular session of May 9th were read and confirmed.

Oh, What a Difference.

President J. J. Turner, in a brief openin gaddress contrasted the large attendance facing him with the meetings of but 12 or 15 members which characterized the board's gatherings prior to re-organization. He was sure that present members appreciate the work in hand, which work can be satisfactorily accomplished in the welfare of the city by that hearty co-operation by one and all, of which he was optimistic. He likened the Board of Trade to a human body having connecting members with individual functions of their own, but all serving in the interests of the whole; so each of the Board's committees has its own particular function, and any one function failing affects the whole organization.

In conclusion the president opened that the members would find from reports submitted that their committees are very much alive, with all functions in healthy operation; and he felt that all would leave for home concluding that the Board of Trade is striving to carry out its important duties in the city's interests faithfully and well.

Civic Education.

R. M. Roy reported for his committee on Civic Education. The holiday months, he said, had been a draw-back to progress, but for all that some real live committee meetings had been attended by a live bunch of enthusiasts. He wanted to be assured of the Board's backing and co-operation in work ahead. His committee assumes the duty of correcting wrong impressions about the city which get abroad and substituting them with correct versions. As to beauty spots, they expect to give them due publicity, together with public eye-sores which should be converted into presentable appearance.

Industrial Welfare.

J. J. Hartley talked on this question, and declared that today men are living too far apart and know not each other. The object of the Board, he contended should be to eliminate any selfishness which may prevade the community, draw

(Continued on page 2)

GERMAN REPLY TO ALLIES' NOTE

HAS NO INTENTION TO MODIFY AUSTRO-GERMAN BOUNDARIES BY VIOLENCE.

CANNOT OPPOSE UNION SCHEME

MUST CONCEDE TO SPONTANEOUS DESIRE FOR UNITY OF TWO NATIONS CONCERNED.

(Canadian Press Despatch)

Berlin, Sept 5.—The German reply to the note of the Allies with regard to representation of Austria in the German Reichstag, says the German peace delegation, informed the Allies on May 27th that Germany had no intention to modify Austro-German boundaries by violence, but could not undertake to oppose German-Austrian spontaneous desire for union with Germany.

MEXICAN TROOPS FIRED ON PLANE

CONSUL AT LAREDO DECLARES ATTACK WAS OUTSIDE OF AMERICAN TERRITORY.

Laredo, Texas, Sept. 5.—Mexican Federal soldiers made the attack on Tuesday on an American army airplane fired upon near here while on border patrol duty, but the machine was one kilometre (five-eighths of a mile) within Mexican territory at the time, according to Mexican Consul Garcia of Laredo.

Says Firing Was Unwarranted.

The firing was "unwarranted," the consul said, and was done in the absence of the detachment's commander, and the case has been reported to the superior authorities for instructions in regard to punishment of those guilty.

The consul also said that General Garza, the Mexican commander in the Nuevo Laredo district opposite here, "emphatically denies giving orders to his troops to fire at American troops or aircraft, even if they are on the Mexican side of the boundary."

U.S. INDIANS KILL DRIVER OF TRUCK

WAS CARTING SUPPLIES AND POWDER TO MINES WHEN MURDERED BY YAQUIS.

Nogales, Ariz., Sept. 5. — A P Hennessey, an American truck driver formerly employed in the immigration service at Nogales, and four Mexican Federal soldiers, acting as escort to a truck operated by the San Javier Mining Company, were killed by Yaquis Tuesday, according to reliable information received by forwardin gagents of the Laughlin Mining Company here today.

The Indians attacked a truck carrying powder and supplies to the San Xavier mine, according to the message.

COURT FOR THIEVES

Special Judge Appointed to Handle Nothing but Machine Cases.

Chicago, Sept. 5 — Chicago's criminal Court has completed special arrangements for trial of automobile thieves. The old wheels of justice which revolved so successfully in last winter's emergency court were geared up again today and Judge Oscar Hebel was placed in charge by Chief Justice Robert E. Crowe.

Re establishment of the emergency automoile thieves' court folowed a visit Chief Garrity and prominent automobile agents and manufacturers paid to Chief Justice Crowe yesterday when they told him that it is necessary to devote the entire time of one Criminal Court to Chief awaiting trial for stealing automobiles here.

IMPORTS TO GT. BRITAIN ARE LESS

,000,000 TONS MONTHLY IS THE SUBSTANTIAL DECREASE IN MOTHER COUNTRY.

CONSIDERABLE ADVANCE IN FOOD

ROM $85 A TON IN 1913 THE PRICE HAS RISEN TO $315 LAST JULY.

London, Sept. 5.—Great Britain's greatest economic problems are decreased production and port and transit congestion, says the monthly report of the American Chamber of Commerce. The congestion directly affects American exporters. The chamber's experts point out that the congestion has created confusion in delivery, while the delay in unloading and in turning back of ships from British ports lessens the world's shipping service.

The Government is trying to revise coastal shipping in order to clear the ports and relieve the overburdened railroads. Although Great Britain removed the import restrictions on September 1, the Government will prohibit dumping, the report says, while exports wil be stimulated by the granting of acredit of $130,000,000 to promote trade with disorganized Europe.

Attention is called to the publicity given in the British press to the Chamber's warning to American exporters not to rush the British market with unessentials, and to invest in British securities in order to raise the pound sterling rate, and it is pointed out that financial restrictions have been removed so that American owned British securities may be sold on the British market if desired.

The monthly imports of foodstuffs and raw material are still 800,000 tons less than in 1913, but the average cost of imported food, mostly from the United States, has risen from $85 a ton in 1913, to $315 last from $40 to $125 a ton.

POLICY OF DIRECT ACTION BY UNIONS MAY BE REJECTED BY TRADES CONGRESS

Nationalization of Industries Among the Resolutions to be Considered at Glasgow—Arthur Henderson Visualizes Possibility of Call on Labor to Form Government in Great Britain.

(Canadian Press Despatch)

London, Sept. 5. — Among scores of resolutions which will be submitted before the Glasgow Congress of Trades Unions, which will open Monday next, there will be two outstanding subjects that have been topics of the liveliest debate at all Labor gatherings in recent months. They are the nationalization of industries, such as coal mines and railways, and a policy of "direct action," or the employment of a national strike as a weapon to enforce political demands.

No Direct Action.

It is now virtually certain that the policy of "direct action" will be rejected, as it was originally advocated to compel the Government to abolish conscription, withdraw from Russian military enterprise, liberate conscientious objectors, and abstain from employing troops in industrial disputes.

Reforms Promised.

The Government has already promised these reforms at yesterday's meeting of the Triple Alliance of Railway Employes, Transport Workers and Miners when the majority of railwaymen supported the proposal to postpone a vote on the question of direct action.

Commendable Action.

Arthur Henderson, leader of the Labor party in the House of Commons, speaking in London last night, characterized it as "a wise and a commendable decision." He admitted that the workers must retain the right to strike for industrial betterment until society is better organized, but they must not "set a bad example by substituting direct action for the constitutional measures which are provided."

A Labor Government.

Mr. Henderson said they had to "visualize the possibility of organized labor being called on to form a government, and to ask themselves whether, in that case, they would allow the minority in opposition to Labor's program for social and economic betterment to defeat that policy by unconstitutional means."

NEW FEDERAL DISTRICT

Peterborough Grouped With Three Other Counties for Income Tax.

Belleville, Sept. 5 —A new district has been created of Hastings, Prince Edward, Peterborough and Northumberland counties for the purpose of Federal income taxation. The district office will now be at Belleville, and William L. Boyle, who has been Assistant Inspector in the Kingston district, has been made Inspector for the new district. He was formerly City Tax Collector of Belleville.

INDUSTRIAL SITUATION IN GREAT BRITAIN REDUCED IN GRAVITY

Revelation of Country's Financial Position Has Had Moderating Effect on Workers—Only Accasional Miner Strikes Now—Tramway Men Ask More Pay.

(Canadian Press Despatch)

London, Sept. 5 — The industrial situation in Great Britain at the present moment appears far less grave than a few months ago when, there was the threat of a complete upheaval of labour.

Tramway Men Threaten.

Since settlement of the Yorkshire strike, there has been no trouble of great magnitude, although small strikes in various industrial centres are still frequent, and tramway workers are threatening a national walk out if a wage advance is not granted.

Revelations Effective.

Generally, however, unrest throughout the country has been lessened since ministerial revelations of the nation's grave financial danger, which seem to have had a moderating effect.

Influential labour leaders have done their utmost to impress workers with the imperative need of speeding up industrial output, and moreover, the Government has promised early legislation providing for a forty-eight hour week, and a minimum wage for all industries.

Much will now depend on whether the coming winter brings serious advance in the cost of living.

MR. BURNHAM REPLIES TO LOCAL PETITION THAT HE RESIGNS SEAT

"Go To It Now and Crawl" Is His Challenge to Originators, if There Be Any.

(Canadian Press Despatch)

Ottawa, Sept. 5.—Mr. J. H. Burnham, M.P. for West Peterborough, has made reply to a despatch sent last night from his native city, in which it was stated that a petition was being circulated requesting his resignation because of his having taken his seat on cross-benches of the House of Commons.

Go to People First.

Mr. Burnham has wired Peterborough as follows: "A telegraphic despatch states that a petition is circulating in Peterborough for my retirement owing to my going to cross-benches in protest to the continuance of the new Unionist party in power without going to the people first.

"Since I regard it as a breach of faith with those who voted for Unionism while the war lasted, I challenge the petitioners, if there are any, to get the announced backing of the Union Government, whereupon I will immediately resign my seat and appeal to the people.

"Go to it now or crawl!"

FIRE IN OIL STILL

Narrow Escape From Serious Explosion This Morning.

Halifax, Sept. 5. Fire breaking out this morning in one of the stills of the Imperial Oil Co., at Woodside, across the harbor from Halifax, was extinguished without great difficulty by the company's fire fighting force.

Officials state that the damaged occasioned was slight.

UNITED STATES SEC'Y. OF COMMERCE RESIGNS

ACCEPTED BY PRES. WILSON — BECOMES EFFECTIVE NOV. 1.

(Canadian Press Despatch)

Washington, Sept. 5.—William C. Redfield, United States Secretary of Commerce, has tendered his resignation to President Wilson. It has been accepted and becomes effective November 1st.

This was announced today officially.

DEATH PENALTY FOR THIS TRAITOR

ASKS THAT BETRAYOR OF NURSE CAVELL BE FITTINGLY PUNISHED.

Paris, Sept. 5.—Sentence of death against Georges Gaston Quien was requested of the court martial which is trying Quien by Prosecutor Wagner today.

Quien is charged with having had treasonable dealings with the enemy and of betraying Edith Cavell, the English nurse who was executed by the Germans in 1915.

SENTENCED TO DEATH

(Canadian Press Despatch)

Paris, Sept. 5.—Georges Gaston Quien, on trial before a court martial charged with having had treasonable dealings with the Germans and of having betrayed Edith Cavell to them, was today convicted and condemned to death.

DEVELOP THE KAWARTHA LAKES DISTRICT IS ADVOCATED NOW

Would Benefit Peterborough and Neighboring Municipalities, Says Secretary Fraser of Peterborough Board of Trade Warm Eulogy For President Turner.

The concluding business of the Board of Trade's general session last night included a report from Mr. John Crane on membership. The objective set for his committee, he said, was 500 members, and a little more than half that number had been enrolled.

He advocated general work by the Board in this connection, and a membership campaign with a strong workin. gteam. The ultimate membership objective is 1,000 members, including representation from adjacent districts.

J. J. TURNER,
President Board of Trade.

Advertise Peterborough.

Secretary Fraser showed a large plan of the Kawartha district yet undeveloped, and suggested an advertising campaign in this connection. Prizes might be offered, he thought, for avuatic sports on our back waters by visitors. Americans would then have inducement to travel in launches and other boats over our beautiful Trent water course, through Peterborough to Kawath Lakes and thus advertise Peterborough and its adjacent opportunities in a better way than by any magazine medium. The railways neighboring municipalities and rural representatives should interest themselves in developing this lake district at our doors in the interests of all generally.

This matter met with the Board's hearty approval and a movement in the direction offered may be expected this winter.

Resolutions.

Resolution of thanks were tendered Messrs. Carlisle, Crane and Clarke for musical entertainment.

In support of a resolution by J. J. Hartley in appreciation of the president's work, M. Ryerson Ritchie said President Turner had never failed in his obligations, "and," he concluded, "you have a president of whom you might well be proud."

This carried by a standing vote, and the rafters rang with "He's a Jolly Good Fellow."

Mr. Fisk's Reply.

In reply to Mr. Brownlee's criticism of interruptions in electric power service and the burning of lamps all day long Mr. Fiske, manager Peterborough's Utilities Commission, explained that the latter entails but small cost, and will be eliminated when the new system for street lighting is installed shortly. As to interruptions in power, that is being remedied. Anyway, in his opinion, Peterborough is head and shoulders over any place in the Niagara district in this respect. Peterborough people notice the interruptions complained of because they are so rare.

STEAMER WESTMORELAND DISABLED BY TURBINE TROUBLE IN N. ATLANTIC

Being Towed Into Halifax by the Mackinaw—Series of Marine Mishaps.

Halifax, Sept. 5. — Another was added to the series of recent marine mishaps on the North Atlantic with the wireless repotr that the U. S. Shipping Board steamer Westmoreland was disabled seven hundred miles off Halifax and is being towed to this port by the steamer Mackinaw of the Atlantic Transport Line.

The Westmoreland, which sailed from Baltimore on August 29 for Rotterdam, first wirelessed the White Star agents here that she had developed trouble in her turbine engines and was heading for Halifax. Later the Westmoreland reported that she was totally disabled in lat. 41.44 N., and lon 44.31 W.

Subsequently, word was received that the Mackinaw which had caught the distress calls of the Westmoreland had gone to the rescue and had taken the disabled ship in tow at 4 o'clock this afternoon. As both steamers are heavily laden, the program of the tow will be slow, and the steamers are not expected to reach Halifax before Saturday night. The Westmoreland has a dead weight tonnage of 9,500. She is under charter to the Atlantic Transport Line.

AMERICAN BAR GREETS BRITISH

VISCOUNT FINLAY ADDRESSES AMERICAN BAR ASSOCIATION AT BOSTON.

WILL PROBABLY TRY KAISER

FINLAY LIKELY TO BE CHOSEN TO PRESIDE AT TRIAL OF WHILHELM.

Boston, Sept. 4 — The greetings of the bench and bar of England were brought to the American Bar Association at its annual meeting here today by Viscount Finlay, former lord chancellor of England, who has been mentioned as likely to be Great Britain's choice for presiding officer at the possible trial of William Hohenzollern, if the former German Emperor is brought before an international tribunal.

Lord Finlay said that the legal profession of England was proud of the development which the common law of England had received in the United States.

"It is indeed a great heritage, that of the common law of England, to which we of both sides of the Atlantic have fallen heir," Viscount Finlay stated. "You, like ourselves, are proud of its traditions and of the spirit of liberty which it breeds."

COUNCIL TAKES REST.

Paris Sept. 5.—The Supreme Council of Peace Conference will not meet again before Monday.

THE DAILY REVIEW

ESTABLISHED 1870.
MEMBER OF THE CANADIAN PRESS, LIMITED.

THE DAILY REVIEW is published every afternoon at 4 o'clock (holidays and Sundays excepted) by The Peterborough Review Company, Limited, 166-168 Hunter Street.

SUBSCRIPTION PRICE, $3.00 per year by mail to any part of Canada or Great Britain; $4.00 per year delivered in any part of the city.

THE WEEKLY REVIEW, established 1855, is published every Thursday morning at 10 o'clock. Subscription price $1.50 per year to any part of Canada or Great Britain or $2.00 a year to the United States.

U. S. Representative—Robert E. Douglas, Chicago.

BOARD OF DIRECTORS:

A. H. STRATTON, President and General Manager; E. A. PECK, ex-M.L.A.; T. F. MATTHEWS and JAMES LYNCH

TELEPHONES:

Business Dept .... 139 Editorial 488
Mr. Stratton's Residence ... 231

"FOR A GREATER PETERBOROUGH."

FRIDAY, SEPT. 5, 1919.

IRISH SETTLEMENT.

A CORRESPONDENT well acquainted with Irish affairs sends us the following criticisms of the scheme of settlement set out in a series of articles in the Times:

The London Times' outline of a settlement, which is to be welcomed as a basis of discussion, attained after a preliminary examination of the problem in a series of articles admirable in scope, temper, and sense of political realities, falls short of a Dominion solution in the following particulars, which are of fundamental importance:

1. While appreciating the fact that recognition of the unity of Ireland, by the creation of an All-Ireland Parliament and Executive responsible to it, is an essential element in any solution, this concession to the national aspirations of the vast majority of the Irish race at home and abroad is vitiated by the proviso that the central authority, legislative and executive, is only to have such powers as the Ulster Provincial Assembly may eventually delegate to it.

2. While appreciating the fact that an essential element in any solution is the provision of such safeguards for the moral and material interests of Ulster as will justify public opinion in Great Britain in urging Ulster to co-operate with the rest of Ireland in working the new constitution, and that those safeguards must be such as Ulster will accept, the character of the actual safeguards suggested in the Times' solution is such as to put it in the power of the Ulster Provincial Legislature to prevent the new constitution functioning at all, not only in Ulster but in any part of Ireland, should the Ulster Provincial Legislature desire to bring about a deadlock, e.g., by vetoing a budget.

3. The retention of Irish representatives in the British House of Commons is incompatible with the Dominion status which we claim for our country. Furthermore, it perpetuates the anomaly of which some British Unionists themselves have complained—viz., that it is possible for legislation affecting Great Britain to be forced through the House of Commons by the Irish vote against the will of a majority of members representing British constituencies.

The Irish Dominion League, in its manifesto, advocates a settlement which is simpler in conception and more in harmony with the democratic basis of the age we live in than is that of the Times. The Times' settlement divides Ireland into a nation and a super-nation, as Sir Horace Plunket has pointed out in his letter in the Times of August 6th, and further puts the democracy of Great Britain under the possible yoke of a chance majority composed of representatives of a country which does not wish to interfere with the affairs of Great Britain. Instead of this complex and unnatural solution we ask that our country be set up as a Dominion in the fullest sense of the word compatible with unified naval and military control. The Ulster difficulty we are prepared to meet, but as we have stated in our manifesto, we are of opinion that the time has come for Ulster to state definitely what safeguards she herself desires within the framework of a Dominion constitution. The simplest plan would be for the Prime Minister to summon a conference representative of all interests in the nine counties of Ulster to consider and report what safeguards of the moral and material interests of the Province are desired. The terms of reference should preclude a demand for powers which would enable a minority of Irishmen to wreck all legislation which may be supported by the majority of their fellow countrymen. For instance, the veto of an Ulster Provincial Assembly should not be operative as against a normal budget, while leaving it open for the Ulster conference to consider and propose expedients for meeting a hypothetical case of financial legislation prejudicial to industrial interest.

A COMMON SENSE VIEW OF THE LEAGUE.

BRIG.-GENERAL Charles G. Dawes, says the Chicago Daily News, who has just been discharged from his important service in the United States army, signalizes his return to private and business life by a persuasive appeal to the American people on behalf of the League of Nations. He addresses himself to common sense as well as to the national sense of moral obligation and honor.

The German peace treaty, he says, may be faulty in several respects, but it is the best treaty the situation in Paris during the protracted negotiations made it possible to evolve. In this treaty "thirty nations have composed their differences after the most terrible war of all time." There is, as General Dawes says, no alternative to the treaty. None has been pointed out by the subtlest among its opponents.

The United States cannot evade its responsibilities as a world power. We Americans cannot isolate ourselves and cherish the delusion that the problems of Europe and the old world generally do not concern us. If we fail to co-operate with the liberal and free nations of Europe, we shall gain nothing and shall lose all the benefits, material and moral, of such co-operation.

As to the proposed League of Nations, it alone "embodies" the hope of a better future for ourselves and the world," as General Dawes truly says. It alone can put an end to frenzied rivalry in preparations for another war. It alone can turn the minds of governments and peoples undividedly to constructive problems. To reject the League idea would be to encourage reactionary militarism on the one hand and revolutionary fanaticism on the other.

The League is an experiment. With proper reservations and interpretative declarations made part of the covenant, it is, for America, a wise experiment. The League is an absolute necessity as well as a splendid opportunity. Defects in its constitution can and will be cured, as the years pass, under the guidance of experience and helpful criticism. This is no time for small objections and fanciful alarms. It is a time for action—prudent, deliberate action, but action. It is not a time for partisan politics or indulgence in personal animosities.

HOW TO AVOID MOTOR ACCIDENTS.

HOW OFTEN we read of serious motor accidents! They are happening every day in our lives, and every one ought to do all in his power to avert such mishaps at the present time, when the chances of accident are so many and varied. Accidents may often be avoided by keeping the phrase "Safety first" always in mind.

Children especially, in the thoughtlessness of play, dash across the street without stopping to think of the silent automobiles gliding along. To prevent probable accidents here, I should say to all children, "Do not play games on the public streets at all." Most cities have some nice park near, where games can be played. Then again, before starting to cross a street, every child should glance to right and left to make sure there are no autos near enough to harm him. Children should remember not to step out suddenly from behind a car or other vehicle, and they ought never to cross a street diagonally, especially at intersections.

DEATH FROM WOOD ALCOHOL.

OWING TO the heavy increase recently noted in the number of deaths and cases of blindness resulting from the drinking of wood alcohol by those ignorant of its dangers, the National Committee for the Prevention of Blindness, in New York City, is sending broadcast special warnings of the tragic consequences which may follow the use of wood alcohol, denatured alcohol and medicated alcohol for beverage purposes.

Occasional cases of this nature have been occurring from time to time for many years, but since national prohibition went into effect there has been an alarming increase in all sections of the country due to the preparations of drinks in which wood alcohol has been used or in some cases where it has been taken straight.

The harmful action of this poison comes not only from taking it internally, but may likewise be induced by breathing its fumes and by absorption through the mucous membranes of the body. Its effect is usually noticeable very shortly after exposure. Within a few hours after drinking, acute headache is noted, usually accompanied by violent attacks of vomiting, body pains, extending over the region of the kidneys, and excessive dizziness. Vision may become impaired, total blindness occur, and death itself result.

The wood alcohol used in the United States is obtained chiefly from the destructive distillation of wood—hard wood, birch, beech, maple, oak, elm and alder being those most frequently used. The chief uses to which it is put are for the denaturing of grain alcohol; for various purposes in lines of common manufacture especially as a solvent in the preparation of shellac, varnish, dyes, etc.) as an ingredient in medical and pharmaceutical preparations; in the chemical industries and as a fuel and illuminant.

Only within recent years has wood alcohol become so dangerous to life and sight. Formerly it was a dark, bad-smelling, bad-tasting fluid which no one was tempted to drink. Later a process was developed by which this color smell and taste are removed. Wood alcohol, when purified in this way, looks, smells and tastes like grain alcohol, and may thus be easily substituted for it by unscrupulous persons.

In 1906 the American Congress, following the lead of European countries, enacted a law permitting the general use of a tax-free industrial (denatured) domestic alcohol in order to stimulate industrial purposes for which the high cost of grain alcohol was prohibitive. Denatured alcohol usually consists of ninety per cent. grain alcohol and ten per cent. wood alcohol, thus rendering it unfit for drinking. It is being increasingly substituted for wood alcohol in many industrial uses, to eliminate the great dangers attendant upon the use of the latter.

Pharmacists who hold permits and have given bond are allowed to medicate alcohol and sell it for non-beverage purposes in quantities not exceeding one pint, provided they first medicate it in accordance with any one of nine formulas specified by the Commissioner of Internal Revenue, U. S. Treasury Department. Carbolic acid, formaldehyde, and bichloride of mercury are the chief of these denaturing agents. The container of such medicated alcohol must bear a "poison" label. The sale by pharmacists of medicated alcohol for industrial purposes is prohibited. It is sold chiefly for rubbing purposes.

In spite of these regulations and precautions, some persons are using these poisons for drinking purposes, even at time completely disregarding the "poison" label which may have appeared on the bottle. In other instances the victims have been ignorant of the dangers of that which they were using—the beverage having been prepared by others and sold under false pretences or under some misleading name. When the original manufacturer of mixtures of this nature can be apprehended he has been, in many instances, subjected to severe punishments by the courts.

One teaspoonful of wood alcohol taken internally is sufficient to cause blindness—a larger quantity often causes death. If you value your eyesight or your life, never use wood alcohol, denatured alcohol or medicated alcohol for drinking purposes. Pass this knowledge on if you would assist in reducing the fatalities which are occurring from this cause.

Canada might well emulate the above commendable example.

"PADDY ON THE STAMPS."

(Cleveland Plaindealer.)

Polish postage stamps now bear a portrait of Paderewski, but it is said that he had his hair cut before he had his picture taken, so that the stamps, so that the stamps would not have to be enlarged.

General Meeting

(Continued from Page One.)

men together in amity and united interests, and put forth every effort to help not only members of the organization but all classes. We have now, he said, the best of Peterborough's citizens on its Board of Trade, but its membership would be, he hoped, considerably enlarged. The object of every member, in his opinion, should be to strive for an ideal community. In conclusion, Mr. Hartley warmly eulogized Mr. Ryerson Ritchie's work in re-organizing the Board.

Manufacturing Interests.

W. R. Breyfogle reported verbally for the Manufacturers' Committee that several problems, not serious, had been satisfactorily solved since last meeting. One hundred per cent. of Peterborough's manufacturers are members of the Board, and the entire membership of this section has energetically interested themselves in the city's weal. It has been no sinecure he declared for industries to keep their wheels turning these days of reconstruction, but they have done so at considerable sacrifice, in many cases to keep old and reliable hands on their pay rolls.

Turning to industrial unrest, Mr. Breyfogle contended most of such problems were engendered by outside influences and did not generate in the city. A majority of the men, in fact, have been entirely loyal, co-operated with the manufacturers, and done their part in solving re-construction difficulties.

Outlook Promising.

Mr Breyfogle was exceedingly optimistic of Peterborough's future, and asserted that he had been told by the United States' consul that during the past three months $1,000,000 worth of merchandise had been exported to the States, the largest three months' exportation in this city's history. This, he thought, exceptionally gratifying in the face of adverse conditions in Canada and in her sister country to the south.

As to the depreciation in Canadian money in the States, Canada, he considered, is favored with a 4 per cent. discount when the rate of German exchange is 75 and other nations graded down to 6 per cent.

Export Trade.

Continuing, Mr. Breyfogle advocated the development of export trade, which will at any rate during these times of reconstruction take care of overhead charges allow some profit, and help in maintaining a trade balance. During the last 12 months, he said, the De Laval Co. had exported to Siberia, Argentine, Brazil, Peru, England, France, and last week filled an order from Bombay, Indian. This trade had developed by correspondence.

Labor Troubles.

In this connection the speaker commended the attitude of the American Federation of Labor in agreeing that for six months there shall be no more strikes, and inaugurated a get-to-gether movement with employers and the government, to solve industrial problems, declaring that the disturbing element shall have no place in America. In the past six months there had been, he declared, more illegal strikes than ever before—illegal because not endorsed by the heads of the Unions affected.

Industrial Sites.

Eulogizing Sir Robert Borden for his decision to call a meeting of 70 members of the Dominion House and 70 representatives of industry and trade, to sit with the cabinet in an effort to iron out the rough spots in industrial life and to eliminate strikes and labor warfare in keeping with the newly inaugurated policy in the States, the speaker passed on to industrial city growth. He favored a trust fund invested in sites for manufactories in desirable locations. Three men, he said, were here recently looking for location, and they represented millions of dollars. But the only two sites controlled by the city were one out beyond the Little Lake cemetery, and another beyond St. Peter's cemetery; and one gentleman declared that to take either of them would be like choosing a home beyond the grave.

To secure reliable industries, Mr. Breyfogle went on to say, Peterborough must have to offer good location, transportation and power that is reliable—without annoying breaks in its supply. Peterborough should have an alternate power supply in case of trouble or repairs. As to street lighting, the speaker took a rap at the Utilities Commission, when he quoted a visitor's amazement at seeing street lamps wasting electricity by burning all day long. He could not give the reason for this, and the visitor suggested a lighting circuit, whatever that may be.

City Expenditure.

Characterizing our taxes as high, Mr. Breyfogle said all city work should be done under the supervision of a capable engineer—and he believed Peterborough's to be such—free to hire and discharge, untrammelled by politics or creed. Public work should be done by competent men only irrespective of age or long citizenship, and this city's business conducted in a business-like way.

In conclusion, he contended that the housing and schools problems offer scope for the Board of Trade in the way of co-operation with city authorities. He characterized the new school to be built as a "dandy". Complimented the School Board on putting a three-story fire escape on the King Edward School, and urged this Board to boost the city and do its part in reaching out for new industries.

Reports of Committees.

Reports of other committees were here read and adopted, and will be found under separate headings in this issue. That of Vice-President Thomas Barry will appear tomorrow, and the concluding proceedings of this session are covered separately in today's edition.

More people are pinched by poverty than by the police.

The more some people tell you the less you remember.

NO EXPERIENCE NECESSARY

The idea that bread making is a long and difficult operation is a mistake, as bread may now be included in the list of quickly prepared foods, for with light, sweet bread can be baked and ready for use within four hours from the time the sponge is set. Full detailed instructions are contained in Royal Yeast Bake Book which will be sent free upon request.

ROYAL YEAST CAKES

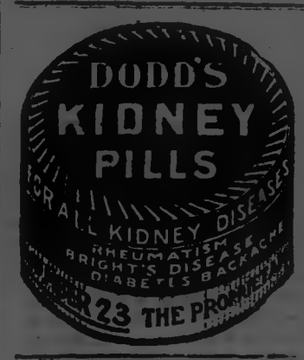
E. W. Gillett Company Limited. Toronto. Canada



EDITOR'S MAIL

THE BAND QUESTION

Editor Review: On looking down your evening paper of September 3rd, I was surprised at the suggestion of Ald. Crowe to have one good band instead of three poor ones. It puts me in mind of the man that walked into the piano store and asked the price of the piano and was told four hundred dollars, ($400.00), and, in looking round, he saw a piano stool and asked what that was, and received the reply that it was a piano stool. "What is the price of that?" "One dollar and fifty cents, ($1.50). He asked how it worked and was told when he wanted to go high turn to the right and when he wanted to go low, turn to the left. So, the piano stool was delivered to the house and when he was about to give a tune to the family, he turned to the left then to the right but no tune came. It was surprising to find that we had such a man in our Council with such musical ability as the man referred to.

Thanking you, Mr. Editor, for your space, I remain,

A BANDSMAN.

REPLY TO GUISE-BAGLEY.

Editor of the Review. Sir: With regard to the letter in yesterday's paper from Mr. Guise-Bagley, it would be well that clearer light is thrown on the two points he takes up. The ballot paper it not an easy one to understand, and his letter does not make it any more clear in the minds of the public.

Mr. Guise-Bagley says: "Mr Hearst has not the power to restore the bar. The public does not want it. The repeal of the O. T. A. without any other legislation would not have the effect of restoring licensed bars."

The purpose of the referendum is just to find out if the public do want the bars again. In introducing the bill before the House, Mr. Hearst said: "if the first question is answered in the affirmative, the O. T. A. will be repealed, and the old license law, as it existed before 1916, will be revived. In that event there will be no necessity for further consideration of the answers to the other questions, for the greater will include the less, and liquer would be sold in bars and shops as in years gone by." Thus no substantive legislation will be necessary to restore the bars, as they will be legally in existence at once should the act be repealed.

In his second point Mr. Guise-Bagley is even more misleading, and here again I would contrast his words with those of the Premier. He said yesterday, "I understand all the no's and all the yes's will be counted up, and the majority will be so ascertained so that if one puts his mark to two yes's and two no's his ballot will be spoiled as the yes and the no will neutralize each other."

Regarding this Mr. Hearst says: "You will note that the questions are submitted in such a way as not to split either the wet or the dry vote, each question sands by itself." "In the days of unrest, or turmoil, and reconstruction through which we are passing, I believe the Act is a source of safety and strength, and that its repeal or any weakening of its provisions would be unwise."

Obviously, then, it is not true that all the no's and all the yes's will be added up, as our Opponent suggests and such looke statements are only an effort to becloud the issue. The Premier has definitely stated that each question stands by itself. It will also be decided by itself, and a yes and a no cannot neutralize each other.

T. M. WESLEY,
Organizer for the Referendum Com.

POINTED PARAGRAPHS.

Even the unmusical fish dealer knows the scales.

Love knows nothing about philosophy and cares less.

Domestic differences should always be settled in the kitchen. The dining room is no place for scraps.

After-war conditions, and the telephone

No. 1

Reconstruction and Telephone Service!

WHILE meeting and solving the problems of reconstruction, we are most anxious that our service should be up to the highest standard and that courtesy and helpfulness should characterize all our relations with our subscribers.

Back of the switchboard operator who handles your call, is needed the united effort of an army of skilled workers to keep intricate apparatus in order and to extend the service.

Over 840 of our trained men went overseas. There was a world-wide demand for the materials that go to make up a telephone system, making the problem of maintenance and extension of our plant during the war very difficult.

Now, although the majority of our men are back at work, the business world has sprung into intense activity and the problems of reconstruction, of getting back to normal, confront us.

We shall endeavor to tell you frankly what some of these problems are.

The Bell Telephone Company of Canada

Wood's Phosphodine.

The Great English Remedy. Tones and invigorates the whole nervous system, makes new Blood in old Veins. Cures Nervous Debility, Mental and Brain Worry, Despondency, Loss of Energy, Palpitation of the Heart, Failing Memory. Price $1 per box, six for $5. One will please, six will cure. Sold by all druggists or mailed in plain pkg. on receipt of price. New pamphlet mailed free. THE WOOD CHEMICAL CO., TORONTO, ONT. (Formerly Windsor, Ont.)

There's actually more soap for your money in the Big Bar of than in three cakes of any Cake Soaps.

NP SOAP

GOOD CHANCE FOR WINDOW CLEANERS

EXPERIENCED MEN OFFERED $7.50 A DAY IN UNITED STATES.

An advertiser in New York says the Times of that city announces that window cleaners are wanted only those with experience need apply; wages $7.50 per day. He should have no trouble in hiring as many as he wants, for his advertisement will bring good news to most of the clergymen and college teachers in these United States. A wage of $7.50 a day is a little more than $2,300 a year. Full professors at many universities, associate professors at some, get more than that; but to the young instructor who wants to get married, to the assistant professor who has made the mistake of trying to raise a family indeed to full professors in many a small college which has done its creditable part in turning out educated men—$2,300 a year is unheard-of affluence. As for the preachers, few of them ever expect to see a salary of such size.

Moreover, the professor and the clergyman have to keep up appearances; they have to buy many books, and expensive books. A salary of $2,300 is very much less when the cost of books is deducted. Window cleaning, fortunately, is an empirical occupation; its practitioners need no books.

To be sure, applicants must be experienced. But what clergyman or college teacher is inexperienced in window cleaning. When the professor's wife is sick and even professor's wives succumb to human weakness occasionally—the professor in many cases, not only cleans the windows, but sweeps and dusts and does whatever else is needed around the house till she is well again. The average college teacher or minister of the gospel can qualify as an expert in general housekeeping. If this call for window cleaners does not strip these two professions of some of their most promising members, it will be proof that there are still men who are willing to starve in work they like. New blood ought to improve the art of window cleaning; as for teaching and the ministry, they may suffer, but that it is to be expected in a society which makes window cleaning so much more attractive as a life work.

WOMAN SUFFERED 12 YEARS

Finally Made Well by Taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Emmitsburg, Md.—"I suffered for twelve or fifteen years, and was treated by a physician, but got little relief. I saw an advertisement of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound in my newspaper, so thought I would try it, and it did me more good than all the doctor's medicine. I am a farmer's wife and do my housework all the time, and I am better now than I have been for years. I am never without Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound in the house, and have recommended it to several of my friends. You are perfectly welcome to publish my letter for the good it may do other women."—Mrs. ETTIE WARREN, Emmitsburg, Md.

Backache and nervousness are symptoms of nature's warnings, which indicate a functional disturbance or an unhealthy condition which often develops into a more serious ailment.

Women in this condition should not continue to drag along without help, but profit by Mrs. Warren's experience, and try this famous root and herb remedy, Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound—and for special advice write to Lydia E. Pinkham Med. Co., Lynn, Mass.

BIG HYDRO-ELEC. WORK IS STATED

Toronto, Sept. 4.—Encouraged by the success of the Hydro-electric cordial campaign in Hamilton and Guelph, members of the Hydro-electric Railway Union from many parts of Ontario gathered today at the City Hall here.

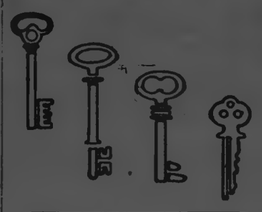
Big Representation

About 150 municipalities were present to hear Sir Adam Beck speak on the Hydro radial situation in this Province.

Big Work Ahead.

The treasurer said in his report that "as soon as the Ontario Government lifts its ban on the construction the amount of work which will be underway almost immediately will be remarkable."

KEYS TO BALDPATE



"It will be a $200,000 story."

"You mustn't fail me," she replied. "It means so much."

Mr. Magee started for the stairs. Between him and them loomed suddenly the great bulk of Mr. Cargan. His hard menacing eyes looked full into Magee's.

"I want to speak to you, young fellow," he remarked.

"I'm flattered," said Magee, "that you find my company so enchanting. In ten minutes I'll be ready for another interview."

"You're ready now," answered the mayor, "even if you don't know it. I've been trying to dope you out, and I think I've got you. I've seen your kind before. Every few months one of 'em comes into Reuton, spends a whole day talking to a few rats I've had to exterminate from politics and then flies back to New York with a ten page story of my vicious career all ready for the linotypers. Yes, sir, I got you. You write sweet things for the magazines."

"Think so?" inquired Magee.

"Know it," returned the mayor heartily. "So you're out after old Jim Cargan's scalp again, are you? I thought that now, seeing stories on the corruption of the courts is so plentiful, you'd let the name of the city halls alone for awhile. But—well, I guess I'm what you guys call good copy. Big, brutal, uneducated, picturesque—you see I read them stories myself. How long will the American public stand being ruled by a man like this, when it might be authorising pretty boys with kid gloves to get next to the good things? That's the dope, ain't it—the old dope of the reform gang, the ballyhoo of the bunch that can't let the existing order stand? Don't worry. I ain't going to get started on that again. But I want to talk to you serious—like a father. There was a young fellow like you once"—

"Like me?"

"Exactly. He was out working on long hours and short pay for the reform gang, and he happened to get hold of something that a man I knew—a man high up in public office—wanted and wanted bad. The young fellow was going to get $200 for the article he was writing. My friend offered him $20,000 to call it off. What'd the young fellow do?"

"Wrote the article, of course," said Magee.

"Now—now," reproved Cargan. "That remark don't fit in with the estimate I've made of you. I think you're a smart boy. Don't disappoint me. This young fellow I speak of—he was smart, all right. He thought it over, Magee, the same as you're going to do. 'You're on,' says this lad and added five figures to his roll as easy as we'd add a nickel. He had brains, that guy."

"And no conscience," commented Magee.

"Conscience," said Mr. Cargan, "ain't worth much except as an excuse for a man that hasn't made good to give his wife. How much did you say you was going to get for this article?"

Mr. Magee looked him coolly in the eye.

"If it's ever written," he said, "it will be a $200,000 story."

"There ain't anything like that in it for you," replied the mayor. "Think over what I've told you."

"I'm afraid," smiled Magee, "I'm too busy to think."

He again crossed the office floor to the stairway. Before the fire sat the girl of the station, her big eyes upon him pleadingly. With a reassuring smile in her direction, he darted up the stairs.

"And now," he thought as he closed and locked the door of No. 7 behind him, "for the swag. So Cargan would give $20,000 for that little package. I don't blame him."

He knelt by the fireplace and dug up the brick under which lay the package so dear to many hearts on Baldpate mountain.

"I might have known," he muttered.

For the money was gone. He dug up several of the bricks and rummaged about beneath them. No use. The fat little bundle of bills had flown. Only an ugly hole gaped up at him.

CHAPTER XV.

Woe in Number Seven.

His rage blazed forth. So they had "got to him" after all. Who? He thought of the smooth, crafty mountain of a man who had detained him a moment ago. Who but Cargan and Max, of course? They had found his childish hiding place, and the money had come home to their eager hands. No doubt they were laughing girls at him now

(Canadian Press Despatch)

Federal agents in the U. S. have discovered sales of 3,000,000 pounds of sugar at profiteering prices in a deal between Chicago and New York wholesale firms.

President Chas. A. Comiskey of the White Sox is opposed to the proposal of the Cincinnati Club that the World's Series be increased from seven to nine games.

Every 10c Packet of WILSON'S FLY PADS WILL KILL MORE FLIES THAN $8.00 WORTH OF ANY STICKY FLY CATCHER

Clean to handle. Sold by all Druggists, Grocers and General Stores

SHOES SCHOOL DRESS FALLWEAR

TAKE A LOOK AT THE FINE DISPLAY OF NEW FALL FOOTWEAR IN OUR WINDOW BEFORE BUYING SHOES FOR SCHOOL OR THE CHANGING SEASON. FOR THE OPENING OF THE FALL SEASON WE ARE MAKING SPECIALLY ATTRACTIVE PRICES, PARTICULARLY IN STRONG SCHOOL BOOTS FOR BOYS OR GIRLS.

LADIES' HIGH TOP BOOTS—The newest Fall style, in black vici kid and brown Russian calf; high heels, with steel plates perforated or plain toe; all widths. A very dressy boot, and is a genuine $12.00 value. Our Fall Opening price is only $9.98

LADIES' ALL-PURPOSE BOOTS — In brown and black vici kid, long toe, medium walking heel, Goodyear welt. A high grade boot worth $10.00. Our Season Opening prices are only $7.98 & $8.98

LADIES' OXFORDS—The popular style for this Fall's wear, in black and greys; perforated or plain vamps, in vici, Dongola and Russian calf. All sizes, all grades of heels and all widths. Prices range from $4.98 to $8.98

BOOTS FOR THE COLLEGIATE GIRLS — In black kid or calf with comfortable walking heels, toes or cap. Should be $6.00. We put them on sale at ..... Per pair $4.98

LADIES' FINE BOOTS—Black kid, long toes, high tops, high heels, some with stitching and white welts. These are well finished and give splendid satisfaction. Two prices $4.98 & $5.98

MISSES' SCHOOL SHOES—In splendid assortment and lots of wear and satisfaction in them. Sizes 11 to 2. Prices range from ..... $2.50, $2.98 & $3.98

YOUTHS' AND BOYS' BOOTS—We have a line with exceptional value in them for the boys' school wear. We can't replace them at our prices ..... $1.98, $2.98 & $3.50

MEN'S BOOTS—We have a complete range for the men, and our prices are extremely reasonable. There's a boot for every purpose, and a price ranging anywhere from $4.50 to $7.98

Bring the little gents and the little girls here for their new Fall Boots. We have some extra specials for them.

PETERBORO SHOE STORE

291 George Street — Opposite Opera House

Cook's Cotton Root Compound.

A safe, reliable regulating medicine. Use it in three degrees of strength—No. 1, $1; No. 2, $3; No. 3, $5 per box. Sold by all druggists, or sent prepaid on receipt of price. Free pamphlet. Address THE COOK MEDICINE CO., TORONTO, ONT. (Formerly Windsor.)

The Steamer Naiad ON AND AFTER MAY 5th 1919

The Steamer Naiad will run as follows:

Leave Lakefield daily on arrival of noon G.T.R. Train for Stony Lake Points connecting at Mt. Julian with the Apsley Stage

COAL ...AND... Builders' Supplies — Hardwood Flooring

Robt. Hicks & Co. LIMITED

PITTSTON COAL IS THE BEST ALL SIZES IN STOCK

Also best lines of SOFT COAL at Lowest Prices

McCARTHY & JOHNSTON COAL DEALERS

111 Hunter Street, East City

Phone 96 TERMS CASH

HARD COAL

EGG, STOVE, NUT, PEA

H. B. TAYLOR & SON 160 AYLMER-ST. Phone 209

Order Your Coal From LOW & Co.

We have all sizes in stock EGG, STOVE, NUT AND PEA

The best and cheapest coal in town. Perfectly screened and promptly delivered. Bring your orders in now.

Prices advance every month.

LOW & COMPANY 262 Simcoe Street. Phone 687 House 398

Guelph returned men on the fire brigade object to serve under Lt. Steffen, who is of Austrian birth, but a resident of Canada since infancy, and an efficient fireman. The Chief stands by him, refusing to dismiss him.

Prospectors in Western Australia New South Wales and Victoria have found gold reefs in new localities and on old fields.

The campaign for administrative economy in Great Britain is gaining momentum daily. The Cabinet Ministers are in London for special sessions.

ADVERTISING RATES.

The rate for Classified Advertisements is one cent a word per first insertion; subsequent insertions half a cent per word. Minimum number of words ten. Special terms for 5,000 words or over

Advertisements marked "till forbidden" are accepted on the understanding that they will be published until a written or verbal notice to stop them is received.

BIRTH, MARRIAGE, DEATH, MEMORIAL NOTICES AND CARDS OF THANKS, 50c per insertion in Daily and Weekly, not exceeding one inch space. All words over the inch, one cent each

FEMALE HELP WANTED.

WANTED—2 SMART GIRLS. Apply Lavoie Knitting Co., 84 Hunter street.

WANTED—MAID FOR PLAIN cooking and general housework. Apply Mrs. Rollins, 439 Rubidge street.

WANTED—MAID FOR SMALL family. Apply Mrs. G. H. Thompson, 373 Park street, phone 1381.

WANTED—GIRLS. APPLY at Gate House, Canadian General Electric Co., Ltd.

BOARDERS WANTED.

HOMELIKE BOARDING place; $6.00 per week. Apply 72 Monaghan road.

HELP WANTED.

WANTED — BOY. APPLY 261 Charlotte street.

HARDWARE CLERK, WITH three or more years' experience, wanted for good hardware store in a live country town. Apply Review for address.

WANTED—BRIGHT YOUNG man to learn the newspaper business. Apply Review office.

FOUND.

FOUND—ON GEORGE ST., ON August 30, purse containing sum of money. Owner can have same by proving property and paying for this ad Apply 259 Reid street.

TO LET.

TO RENT — TWO GARAGE sheds back of White Rose Garage. For further particulars apply Thos. Lane, 186 Hunter street.

FOR SALE.

FOR SALE—AN OVERLAND roadster, in good running order; price right Duffus Garage.

FARM FOR SALE.

A first-class farm for sale; four miles from city. Apply Review for address.

THE FOLLOWING CAN BE seen and bought cheaply at 207 Simcoe street: Excavating tools, picks, shovels, wheel-barrows, scrapers, plough, etc., dump cart and harness, stone boat, drop bottom wagons, gravel wagon with 1¾-yard box, contractor's hoisting winch, tackle, etc., whiffletrees, neckyokes, etc., also a lot of window and door frames, handy for alterations and repairs. All in good shape.

Wm. Lytle Cartage Co.

Toronto Savings and Loan COMPANY Peterborough

Head Office: 485-487 George Street

Paid-Up Capital .. $1,000,000.00

Reserve Fund $1,100,000.00

SAVINGS DEPARTMENT — Deposits received of One Dollar and upwards. Interest paid quarterly, accrues from date of deposit to date of withdrawal.

Every facility and convenience is afforded to depositors.

INVESTMENT DEPARTMENT — Debentures issued for sums of $100 & upwards for periods of one to five years, upon which special rates of interest are paid, depending upon the term of investment.

Executors and trustees are authorized by law to invest in the Debentures of this institution.

Money to loan at lowest current rates of interest.

W. G. MORROW, Managing Director.

LEGAL CARDS.

HALL & HALL
Barristers and Solicitors.
Money to Loan at Lowest Rates.
Telephone 69. 116 Hunter St.

GORDON & O'BRIEN
Barristers, Solicitors & Notaries.
Money to Loan at Lowest Rates
Telephone 219.
G. N. GORDON. J. A. O'BRIEN.

C. R. WIDDIFIELD, B. A.
Barrister, Etc.
and Solicitor for the City of Peterborough. Bank of Commerce Building. 'Phone 550.

MOORE & WEARING.
Barristers and Solicitors.
MONEY TO LOAN.
408 Water St. Opposite Post Office.

JAMES FORDYCE STRICLAND
Barrister, Solicitor, Notary Public.
MONEY TO LOAN.
395 Water St. Peterborough.
PHONE 451.

S. T. MEDD.
Barrister, Solicitor, Notary.
Office Over Dominion Bank.
Cor. Simcoe & George Sts.
Telephone No. 22.
Private Funds to Loan at Current Rates Upon Easy Terms.

PECK, KERR & McELDERRY.
Barristers, Solicitors, Notaries. 419 Water Street, Peterborough. Money to loan at lowest current rates of interest. Easy terms of payment.
E. A. Peck. F. D. Kerr.
V. J. McElderry.

J. EDMUND L. GOODWILL.
Barrister, Solicitor, Notary Public, Etc. Office 375 Water St., Phone 191.
Successor to Roger, Bennet & Goodwill.
MONEY TO LOAN at current rates upon easy terms.

A. E. DIXON.
Barrister, Solicitor, Etc.
Offices corner Hunter & George Sts. Entrance next Madill's Drug Store.

O'CONNELL & CORKERY
Barristers, Solicitors Notaries Public, etc. Money to Loan on Easy Terms of Payment
D. O'Connell J. R. Corkery.
134½ Hunter St. Peterborough.
Telephone 364.

R. R. HALL.
Barrister, Solicitor, Etc.
Peterborough, Ont., offices corner Hunter and Water Sts., over Canadian Bank of Commerce. Trust funds to loan on easy terms of payment.

MEDICAL CARDS.

DR. E. E. HARVEY.
Silver Medallist University of Toronto
Special attention to diseases of Women and Children.
Office: 212 Brock Street.
Hours: 1.30 to 5 p.m., 7 to 8 p.m.
Phone 222.

DR. BUCHANAN
F. R. S. C. Edin., M.R.C.S., Eng. L. R. C. P. Lon. Eye, Ear, Nose & Throat Specialist. Hours: 9-11 a.m. 2-4 and 7-8p.m. Phone 519 Office corner Water and Murray Streets.

DENTISTRY.

DR. W. N. HAYES.
has opened a Dental practice in the Barrie Building, corGge Street.
'Phone 652 for appointments.

OSTEOPATHY.

DRS. WALMSLEY & SETTLE.
Osteopath Physicians.
Office over Crown Building, Hunter and Water Streets. Entrance 124 Hunter street. Office hours: 9 to 12 a.m., 2 to 5 p.m. Evenings by appointment. Office Phone 649.

MONEY TO LOAN.

There has been placed in our hands considerable trust funds to loan at 6½ per cent. on first class real estate property.
GORDON & O'BRIEN.
Phone 219. 395 George St.

Lackawana Coal Means Economy

Burns freely and is of Best Anthracite.

Trucking Orders Promptly Filled

Peterboro Fuel & Transfer Co.

163 CHARLOTTE ST.
PHONES 270-262

There is no man so ignorant that you can not learn something from him.

MAKE USE OF THE STORE'S CONVENIENCES

FIRST FLOOR:
Checking Desk, Information Desk and Phone

BALCONY FLOOR:
Rest Room and Writing Room. This is a good place to meet your friends; USE IT

FIFTH FLOOR:
Ladies' Wash Room.

Three Special Numbers in Medium Priced Winter Coats, Specially Featured For Saturday

OUR COLLECTION of Winter Coats abounds with goods things. There is not a poor style or a poor Garment in it. Whatever the price you count on paying for your Winter Coat you are reasonably sure of finding just the Garment you want if you come here. Here are Three Extras in popular priced Garments specially selected for Saturday Selling

WINTER COATS
American wool blanket cloth coat made in straight lines, with double pleated belt, trimmed with four large bone buttons in back. Has deep shawl collar and cuffs. Prettily trimmed with small buttons. Shades, brown, grey and navy. Price $25.00

AT $26.50
Another charming model of grey blanket cloth. Made in the season's newest lines. Has large chin-chin collar and deep all-around belt. The back being pleated prettily from a yoke gives it the full ripple effect. Lined to waist with black twilled lining. Priced at $26.50

AT $40.00
All-wool velour coat in the very newest cut. The back hangs in full ripples to the bottom. The belt extends from the sides and buttons in front. The round collar, deep cuffs and slash pockets make this one of our best coats and is lined to the waist with black satin lining. Price $40.00

Bedding Extras

Special showing of Bedding for this month. September nights begin to get nippy. An extra covering is desired. Take advantage of these offerings:

COMFORTERS $3.75
This is a batt filled comforter and the covering is net silkoline, in pretty color effects. Light weight but warm. At, each $3.75

AN EXTRA QUALITY At $7.50
This is a high grade comforter; with pretty art covering. At, each $7.50

CHINTZ COMFORTER, $5.00
These comforters are filled with clean, pure, sanitary batting especially made for the purpose. The cover is the old reliable Turkey red chintz. At, each $5.00

DOWN FILLED COMFORTERS, $9.00
Splendid comforter, real down filled. Covering of pretty art patterns. Specially priced at $9.00

AN EXTRA SPECIAL, $12.50
This is a pure down filled comforter. The down is clean and free from all impurities. Covering in pretty art sateens. Full double bed size. At, each $12.50

HIGH GRADE ENGLISH COMFORTERS $23.00
These are high grade comforters, imported direct from England, best of down filled, with coverings of high grade art sateens .... At, each $23.00

WHITE BLANKETS $6.45
These are double bed blankets, in white wool with cotton mixture. They are very much over to-day's price; with pink or blue borders.. At, per pair ... $6.45

HIGH GRADE ALL-WOOL BLANKETS $17.50
These are high grade, pure wool blankets of splendid quality They have soft, fluffy finish. Can be had with pink or blue borders. At, per pair .. $17.50

AN EXTRA BEDDING VALUE $25.00
These blankets are pure, clean, soft wool, soft, nappy finish, double bed size, and really exceedingly good value. Pair .. $25.00

WOOLNAP BLANKETS $7.00
These are the genuine Woolnap Blankets. They can be had in grey only, with pink or blue borders. Double bed size. At ..... $7.00 Per pair .....

PLAID BLANKETS $8.50
These are an American blanket for which we are finding a ready sale. They come in an assortment of pretty colorings and are very serviceable. Size 66 x 80 inches .. At, per pair $8.50

FLANNELETTE BLANKETS
Flannelette Blankets, in various weights and in every wanted size; grey or white, at, per pair ..... $2.69 to $4.25

You Should Buy Your Dinner Service At The Economy Basement and It Should be a Johnson Bros. Famous Dinner Service

The Body of the ware, which is the foundation of a dinner service, is acknowledged by all makers to be the best semi-porcelain in the world. We absolutely guarantee it against crazing

The Shapes are modeled by expert artists in pottery, and are very pleasing to the eye.

The Decorations are in many cases reproductions from such noted makers as Coalport, Haviland and others equally famous.

Open Stock. Every service is kept in open stock and can be replaced from us as long as it is manufactured.

This is one of our strongest points.

The disappointed customer, whom we meet every day, who has purchased dinner services from other houses and cannot get matchings, proves to us the wisdom of our policy of keeping all services in open stock.

Extra Pieces. For almost every service we carry extra pieces, such as cream soups, oatmeals, five sizes of platters, covered toast dishes, covered butters, three sizes of milk jugs, eggcups, etc These extra pieces add wonderfully to a service and are quite inexpensive.

12 Patterns in English Dinnerware to select from Sold by the set or from open stock. Price per set of 97 pieces

$22.50 to $32.00

Good Quality Sweaters

These Sweaters are made from extra quality wool. Can be had in either the coat or pull-over style, and prices are much under to-day's value.

AT $8.00
Pure bee-hive wool sweater, in rose, with square collar, deep cuffs, and pockets, caught in centre with small button; has wide sash with tassels, and buttoned to neck with wool-covered buttons. Price $8.00

AT $5.00
A new model of fine pure zephyr wool, in pull-over style, with deep sailor collar and turn-back cuffs. Shades: Emerald and white, rose and white, gold and white, mauve and white, purple and grey, Copen and white. Price .. $5.00

AT $7.98
Medium weight fancy rack stitch sweater of pure zephyr wool; has Dutch collar, turn-back cuffs, and sash, and buttoning with self-covered buttons. Color, gold $7.98

TWO SATURDAY SPECIALS IN HOUSE DRESSES

A smart and simple House Dress of Indigo print, with small white figure. Has square collar, four-inch belt, pockets, and long sleeves with turn-back cuffs; prettily edged with white rick-rack braid $1.79
Price .....

Pretty Bungalow House Dresses, in light shades, with plain blue belt. Have square neck and pockets piped with blue, also stripe up side fastening. Price .. 90c

NEW MIDDIES
Nothing to equal the Middy for school. We have them in plain white, with or without collar. Colors plain Copenhagen or plain blue; are extra good quality cloth.
Cotton drill Middy, made in slip-over style, with navy detachable collar, trimmed with three rows of white braid; has patch pockets, and cuffs buttoning with one large button. Price ..... $2.50 & $2.95

For school or general wear this smart Middy is particularly attractive Made in regular sailor style; collar, cuffs and pockets trimmed with rows of white braid. Shades navy and Copen. Price $2.95

NEW VELVETEENS $1.50
Good quality Velveteens. Can be found very serviceable for general wear. Can be had in the following shades: Taupe, grey, green, Burgundy, light and dark navy, mid brown, nigger brown and electric blue. Twenty-two inches wide $1.50
Yard .....

PRETTY PLAID DRESS GOODS
Some very pretty Plaids just opened. These are suitable for children's wear, separate skirts, or combining with plain materials. They are of double fold, of excellent quality and sell at, per yard ..... 60c, 90c, $1.25 & $2.00

SUITING TWEEDS, $5.50 Yard
Suiting of heavy mixture tweeds in beautiful colorings, suitable for suits or separate skirts; pure wool, at .. $5.50
Per yard .....

J. C. Turnbull Co., Ltd.
PETERBOROUGH'S GREATEST STORE

PRESERVATION OF WATER FRONT ESSENTIAL TO PETERBOROUGH

City Plan Com. of Board of Trade Reports Progressive Policy for Peterborough

The City Plan Committee submitted the following report at the Board of Trade's general meeting last night:

Gentlemen,—

In presenting this, the report of your City Plan Committee, we beg to say, at the outset, that any comprehensive plan suggesting certain lines along which our city should be developed, must embrace a period—not of one year, but of one hundred—not of one generation but of three or four; consequently in this—our first report—we will enunciate general considerations only, trusting in later ones to deal fully with technique, variation and multiplicity—the modus operandi, the estimations of cost, the methods of procedure, the delineation of advantages—aesthetic or utilitarian and all matters of infinite detail—but of infinite importance.

Beautifully Situated.

Our task is rendered the more difficult, as well as the more delightful, by the fact that scarcely any city in Canada has more beauty of situation, or greater natural advantages. Bounded on the west, the north, and the east by lofty hills at whose feet the city nestles—a scene of cyclonic beauty—its southern aspect is enclosed by the windings of a magnificent river. Every variety of landscape combine in a riot of natural beauty—needin only artistic development to make our city one of the most delightful and attractive in the land. And as a climax in aesthetic delight the river expands into a lake, one whose beach, when properly prepared, the people of a city ten times our size might enjoy the advantages and pleasures of summer bathing, while their little children disported themselves in clean and healthy sand.

Carefully Planned Campaign.

At the outset we submit that one of the most essential things is a persistent, carefully planned campaign to cultivate the aesthetic sense of all of our citizens. Unless the people learn to appreciate and delight in civic beauty, our efforts will be fruitless. Unless the civic soul is educated, until the citizen becomes proud of his city; unless the eyes of the citizen are opened to the wonderful possibilities of development in his city, he will not be willing to undergo the necessary sacrifices to ensure such development; but once he realizes these possibilities, once he can see in his mind's eye the cultural and structural achievements of physical and architectural effort—his city made beautiful—amost pleasant place in which to live; once he becomes proud of his city, he will become not only willing but eager to help to his utmost. Men find their greatest pleasure in contributing to a cause or project of which they are proud—one in which they are most greatly interested through sympathy, or affection, or sentimental interest.

Entrance Scenic Beauty.

Surpassing everything else in importance to Peterborough is the enhancement of the scenic value and preservation of our water fronts.

With regards to scenic driveways, the riverside road to Lakefield might probably to be first mentioned as being the one of greatest magnitude and yet of easiest accomplishment. It may be taken up immediately and still fit into any plan that may be evolved. The road belongs to the government that co-operation of the government surely is attainable. Secondly, the Boards of Education of Peterborough, Lakefield and the townships intervening may co-operate through the school children who could plant trees as momentoes and as designated along this parkway. The government will doubtless be willing to supply the striplings for such purpose.

A scenic driveway of rare beauty is also practical along the north side of the creek from Jackson Park to Park street. It is believed that the owners of the land will be more than willing to give land for such a driveway because of the material benefits that would accrue to them from such an undertaking, but the whole city will benefit.

Improvements ought soon to be made in the accessability of Jackson Park, to those who do not or cannot conveniently travel by electric car. The walking along Monaghan Road during the spring is decidedly bad. This should, of course, be taken into consideration in connection with the proposed driveway along the creek from McDonnell street to the Park. A bathing pond may be constructed on the creek through the park This is needed in this locality and with a running, delightfully clean creek and natural valley at our disposal such a pond could readily be produced.

Beautify Boulevards.

Too many towns have lost sight of the natural advantages which they possessed, and when they did realize what had been lost, the expense for recovery has been excessive, with a corresponding increase in the tax rates. It will probably save thousands of dollars to future generations if some arrangement can be made with the County Council to preserve the river fronts for boulevards along that portion of the river outside of the city limits. It will mean money in the city's coffers if, as soon as possible, possession is acquired of both sides of the river front, particularly that portion of land known as Burnham's Point. On the east side of the river the boulevard could merge into the Riverside Road to Lakefield. The present bridges across the canal, creeks, etc., will probably have to be utilized and several diversions made to pass around manufacturing sites and the Hunter street bridge. On the west side the boulevard may begin below the Auburn power house and there continue to London street. As the river forms part of the canal system and there is a possibility that the Quaker Oats may load into barges, etc., the boulevard should be diverted around their plant and back to the river at some convenient point below Hunter street. The banks of Water street and Crescent street should be filled in to permit of a continuous boulevard.

Keep Street Out of Lake.

At present the street know as Crescent, is prevented from falling into Little Lake by means of timber work. It is only a question of time when this will decay, and at best, it is an unsightly and dangerous piece of work. There is, by filling in room here for a broad and beautiful driveway or parkway.

If the city authorities would dump ashes at this point to make the foundation of a long sloping beach, and then cover it with sand and gravel, four objects would be gained—a saving in maintenance of walls, a dumping place for ashes, an improvement in property conditions in that neighborhood and a fine bathin beach for the children and citizens. The expense, outside of the sand and gravel, should be slight but the value of such a beach as a source of enjoyment and as a "thing of beauty" in the city cannot be overestimated.

With reference to the proposed street from Isolation Hospital to Old Folks' Home, there is apparently small benefit to be gained in running a street between these two institutions. The employees use the street cars and follow the sidewalk along Water street to the cinder path A street running across the property will apparently waste a strip about 50 feet wide with little benefit to anyone.

In our efforts on behalf of the development of our city we are inclined to think only of material affairs. Parks do not appear to contribute directly to the material welfare of the municipality and consequently on account of short sightedness with which many of us are afflicted, they are given little consideration. As a matter of fact the most substantial factor in the healthy growth and substantial improvement of the city makes it desirable as a place in which to live, and there is no more important factor contributing to this end than the city's parks and parkways, its water fronts and beaches.

They afford an agreeable break in the usually over congested building areas, enhance the general appearance of the locality, afford breathing and resting spaces, provide for play grounds and accommodation for large gatherings, they contribute to the health, happiness and better living of the whole people.

Planning Parks.

They should be well distributed in order that all may be able to make use of them, and locate so that better use may be made of the natural advantages with which Peterborough has been endowed. They should be accessible and so placed and planned as to provide accommodation for all of our people.

Let us view our situation Thanks to the generosity of a few of our public spirited citizens, now deceased, in addition to what the city possessed we have some attractive parks fairly well located. We have three parks in the north, two in the centre and one in the south. It will at once appear that section not well provided for are the south end of the city on the east of the river and the rapidly rowing west and what will be the south-west sections To overcome this condition we would strongly recommend that the City Council be asked to take steps to acquire Riverside Park to be used as an athletic field and to form part of a driveway along the east side of the river continuing around the north and east shores of the Little Lake.

We readily recall the feeling of general and keen regret openly expressed when all property between King and Charlott streets was divided and built upon without providing for any park space whatever. This part of the city is rapidly filling up and no doubt before very long the property west of Monaghan Road will be built upon. Steps ought to be taken before it is too late to acquire space for a park, somewhere in the vicinity of the new public school We should also keep in mind that that district now called Brownton will probably before long become part of the city. We are pleased to note the substantial improvements being made in the property now leased by the Exhibition Board, and trust that eventually it may be rescued permanently by the city to be used both for the purpose for which it is now used and also as a park and recreation ground for which it is so admirably adapted.

Attention Needed Here.

We regret very much to note the discreditable condition in which the King Edward Park now finds itself. A dilapitated wire fence still skirts the east and west ends giving one the impression that the grounds are not yet open to the public. When trees were first planted, after the property was decided upon as a park, it would appear that the guiding principle was that no space should be left large enough to permit of any games being played thereon. Nature attempted to remedy the defect by killing off about half of the trees which have never been removed or replaced. The ground was not properly levelled for the furrows, and in many places the individual scores of the last ploughman are quite noticeable. The whole park has grown up with milkweed, goldenrod and sweet clover so that it presents the appearance of an abandoned meadow. The condition of King Edward Park is such as not to command respect, hence everyone makes a path wherever he or she finds it convenient, so we now have as many paths through that park as there are houses on the south side of Princess street opposite it

Nor is the condition of King Edward School grounds any better. They, with the exception of a small plot directly in front of the school which has the usual "keep off" sign in evidence, are anything but what we imagine they should be—grounds intended for children to enjoy and grow strong and healthy on, to have a love of the beautiful engrained in their beings. The conditions referred to is doubly regrettable since it spoils the very favorable impression made upon one by the well cared for grounds of the De Laval Co., below the school grounds on Park street.

Small Triangular Plots.

We would call attention to the possibilities afforded by the small triangular plots, too small for building, which afford excellent opportunities of being made into beauty spots and creating pleasing open spaces. Many of these are found along Park street for instance, created by the angle at which Park street meets a number of those east of it running north and south. Up to the present, with the exception of the former of Park and Hunter streets, these spots have been absolutely neglected; they are capable of being greatly improved at little outlay. After being put into shape and seeded by the city it would not be difficult to secure volunteers for keeping them in condition or distributed among the schools for care.

Trees on Streets.

A very decided improvement can be effected by proper care and use of trees along the street. We would advocate the adoption of a systematic method of planting, cutting and caring for trees. The city should be much more interested in the proper care, culture, spacing and varieties of street trees than they are in their removal

We would recommend to the general consideration of philanthropic citizens the donation of small spaces to be used as squares or parks. There is no better way in which to contribute to the general welfare of their fellowmen, and perpetrate their memory through future generations.

Aerial Transportation.

The very rapid strides being made in aerial transportation commands our attention; we ought now to make proper provision for the safety landing and flying of the flying machine. Immediate steps should be taken to provide an airdrome for Peterborough This will, of course, require considerable space for a safe landing and "chop off" as well as providing for hangars and accommodation of mechanics, pilots, etc., and also electric car service to and from the airdrome.

In conclusion, we may say that while it will take many years before fruition of these plans can be expected, they are all feasible, and, in our opinion, of the utmost importance.

We are glad to be able to state, also, that Mr. Thomas Adams, the Government City Plan Specialist, has promised to go over the whole situation with your committee and give the Board and the City Council the benefit of the valuable information he possesses and the much more valuable advice he can render concerning our own situation.

Respectfully submitted — Russell V. Copping, William Sangster, Chas. E. Sisson, Joseph W. Worth.

E. E. HARVEY, M.D.
Chairman.

IF BACK HURTS BEGIN ON SALTS

Flush Your Kidneys Occasionally If You Eat Meat Regularly

No man or woman who eats meat regularly can make a mistake by flushing the kidneys occasionally, says a well-known authority. Meat forms uric acid which clogs the kidney pores so they sluggishly filter or strain only part of the waste and poisons from the blood, then you get sick. Nearly all rheumatism, headaches, liver trouble, nervousness, constipation, dizziness, sleeplessness, bladder disorders come from sluggish kidneys.

The moment you feel a dull ache in the kidneys or your back hurts, or if the urine is cloudy, offensive, full of sediment, irregular of passage or attended by a sensation of scalding, get about four ounces of Jad Salts from any reliable pharmacy and take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days and your kidneys will then act fine. This famous salts is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia and has been used for generations to flush clogged kidneys and stimulate them to activity, also to neutralize the acids in urine so it no longer causes irritation, thus ending bladder disorders.

Jad Salts is inexpensive and cannot injure; makes a delightful effervescent lithia-water drink which all regular meat eaters should take now and then of keep the kidneys clean and the blood pure, thereby avoiding serious kidney complications.

CLOCKS
: the Gift Kind :

Best assortment in the city of French Marble Clocks, Fancy Boudoir Clocks, Mantel Clocks, Bronze and Ornamental Clocks.

Prices moderate; Values defy competition.

Schneider's
367 George St. Next Turnbull's

An Exposition Of Modish Coats Whose Huge Collars And Snug Materials Are Particularly Inviting On Bleak Days

AN ADVANCE FALL SHOWING OF NEW MERCHANDISE

The cold cannot penetrate these smart coats of wool with their huge collars of seal or cloth. They are made to fit snugly around the neck. Comfort has sacrificed nothing to style nor has style to comfort. They embody the maximum of both. If you were to visit the exclusive shops of the world's style centres you would find duplicates of these, for it was there they were designed.

The popularity of silver-tone velour is indisputable, and Delphine blue is one of the most desirable shades in which it is produced. The back is formed of a deep yoke from which fall graceful folds that get their fulness from the Dolman sleeves. There is a snug fitting large collar of the material itself, a string belt, jutted pockets and large bone buttons contribute to its charm. Price $55.00

If one is partial to brown you will find this new shade, "elk," to be doubly enticing. This garment has a high yoke from which fall three box pleats at the back, and is trimmed with two rows of five self-covered buttons. The Dolman sleeves contribute plenty of fulness under the arms and across the back, which is gathered in with a string belt. The collar is large and square and of black seal. The entire garment is lined and interlined. The outer lining is of flowered Nipon silk. Price $120.00

This Coat is of Liberia brown English velour and is made on the slightly bloused Russian effect. At the back and just above the belt on either side is a row of five velour covered buttons. The cuffs are five inches deep and finished with a row of four buttons. The collar is of black Baltic seal and can be buttoned to fit closely. The pockets are jutted. The entire garment is lined with a floral Nipon silk $100.00
Price .....

This garment is not only stylish but serviceable. The material, velour, is a rich shade of dark green, "cathedral" it is called. The back is formed of a wide panel, with a yoke, high up, close to the collar, which is black seal. Both panel and yoke are trimmed with clock stitching. The pockets are cut in with flaps and the cuffs are set on with button trimming; string belt. Half lined with grey floral poplin $59.00
Price .....

The straight lines full back and raglan sleeves of this model will captivate you straightway. The material is Burgundy velour. Beneath the pockets on both sides is a row of ten pin tucks, running crosswise, and at the end of each is a cloth covered button. There is a large square convertible collar of mole, and a belt encircles the waist and crosses in front. $59.00
Price .....

SOME JAUNITY READY-TO-WEAR MILLINERY MODELS

These new ready-to-wear models here described were carefully selected from our stocks, because we consider that they are suitable for immediate use and represent the most stylish of their kind.

Velour Sailors, in black, navy, sand, jay blue and coral. Price $12.00
Shirred Velvet Tams with ribbon bow on top and short, loose ends. Obtainable in taupe, purple, black. Price $5.25
Velvet Plush Tams, in navy, kangaroo or black. Price $7.00
Smart Sailors of black hatter's plush, with velvet facing of black, sand, or purple. Price $5.00
Tricones of hatter's plush and facings of navy, taupe or black. Price $6.00
New Rolling Brim Sailors, combining plush and velvet. Can be had in navy, black or brown. Price $6.00

FOR SATURDAY "MONARCH," "GLORY" BONNER-WORTH FLOSS FULL OUNCE BALLS, FOR 29c

Our entire new Fall shipment of the above well-known brands of ounce balls of knitting floss, in a range of twenty colors, at this price for Saturday. See the window display. The regular price is 35c ball. Saturday, ball 29c

Street Floor, 4th Circle.

IN OUR NEW SHOE DEPT. ON SECOND FLOOR YOU WILL FIND—

Black Patent Colonial Pumps, with Louis heels 2¼ inches in height; welted sole and long vamp. Obtainable in A, AA, B, C and D widths. This is a smart, fashionable model that will do credit to your costume. Price $12.00

This boot has a long narrow vamp of black kid and a grey kid upper, hidden eyelets and high Louis heels $14.00
Price .....

This number is a black walking boot with a black calf vamp and grey buck top; medium heel. Price ... $13.00

In our Shoe Department you will find a list of foot comforts containing all that is known to correct foot ailments. Mr. Grant, who is in charge of this section, holds certificates from Dr. Scholles' Practipedic and Orthopedic Schools in Chicago.

The GRESSMAN & Company Limited

PREVENT FIRES BY EDUCATION

SUCH IS OPINION OF DR. CODY AND HIS DEPARTMENT.

Toronto, Sept. 5.—Carelessness and uncleanliness are the two greatest causes of fire loss, declared Hon. Dr. H. J. Cody, addressing the annual meeting of the Ontario Fire Prevention League, at the Parliament Buildings yesterday afternoon. Both, Dr. Cody told the meeting, could be remedied by propaganda and education, and he told them some of the things the Department of Education proposed doing along that line.

"It is much better to prevent than to cure," he said, "and to bring about a change that will be permanent it will be much better to deal with the child than with the parents. Whatever a child becomes enthused over that child will talk about to its parents, and the parents in turn will become interested. If we can get the minds of our children interested they will be the best possible kind of propaganda on fire prevention."

Prizes for Essays.

"To stimulate the interest of the children we are giving one thousand gold plated medals for the best essays on "Fire Protection," he continued. "These are to be prepared by children in the third and fourth classes. This means that several thousand children will study the subject, and will thus be educating themselves."

Destruction of property by the owner in order to get the insurance, Dr. Cody characterized as treason against the nation. "The great objection of a fire insurance company," he said, "is not to encourage fire, but to assist the owners to recover from their loss. The destruction of property to obtain the insurance is an economic loss to the nation, and the owner is a traitor to his country."

As a result of fires, the speaker declared, twelve thousand people die every year in the United States and Canada. "Ontario's $6 per capita fire loss is too much," asserted the Minister of Education, "and our Department of Education will be only too glad to render our support."

NOT FOR BULGARS

Bulgarian Treaty Virtually Completed —Do Not Get Dobrudja.

Paris, Sept. 5.—The Bulgarian Peace Treaty has been virtually completed. Apparently the problem concerning Thrace will be left unsolved, except that a Commission will be named to study means for granting Bulgaria access to the Aegean Sea.

The question of giving Bulcaria the southern section of Dobrudja, which is populated largely by Bulgarians, probably will not be mentioned in the treaty because of the opposition of Roumania to giving up the territory.

The American delegation favors the return of Dobrudja to Bulgaria, but in this they are virtually unsupported, as is the case with regard to Thrace.

CONSERVATORY NOTES

Department of Literature and Expressions. If a sufficiently large number of pupils can be secured, it will be possible to have a department under the direction of the Margaret Eaton School of Literature and Expression at the Peterborough Conservatory of Music. For information telephone 355.

Mr. Harry Adaskin, of Toronto, has been appointed head of the Violin Department at the Peterborough Conservatory of Music and will begin duties Friday, Sept. 12. Telephone 355.

Private Kindergarten classes (not musical) will begin Sept. 8, Monday afternoon, at 1.30 o'clock. Parents wishing to send their little ones will please telephone the Conservatory, 355, for terms and particulars.

Arrangements are being made at the Conservatory for a Senior Vocal Master. Announcement to be made later.

WOULD INSURE LIFE AT 131

Uncle Johnny Shell Observes Birthday and Sends for Agent.

Lexington, Ky., Sept. 4.—Uncle "Johnny" Shell, said to be the oldest man in the United States, today celebrated the 131st anniversary of his birth here.

Yesterday he sent for a life insurance agent.

"You never can tell what'll happen, sonny," he told the agent. "And I want to prepare for the worst."

The agent looked over his rate card and found that it covered only the first 105 years of a man's life. The agent is busy with his headquarters trying to learn whether he can insure "Uncle Johnny."

TECHNICAL HIGH SCHOOL AS A MEMORIAL TO FALLEN SOLDIERS

CAUGHT IN SHAFTING

Narrow Escape From Serious if Not Fatal Injuries.

Lindsay, Sept. 4.—Mr. Leslie Mark of Oakwood, who is employed at Hogg and Lytle's Mariposa Station, had a narrow escape from a very serious if not fatal, accident on Tuesday evening shortly before six o'clock. He was engaged in shutting down the engine when his foot caught in the shafting and was badly crushed. Had the foot went any further Mr. Mark would have been entangled in the shafting. Dr. Rich, of Lindsay, was summoned and attended the injured man, who was afterwards moved to his home at Oakwood.

HOW TRENTON GOT IT'S NAME

The good town of Trenton was formerly a place where there were one or two thousand Frenchmen from the lumber camps and timber rafts in the spring when making rafts of timber float to Quebec City. It was a rough place, with plenty of the good old whiskey of that day. It was commonly known as "River Trent." The citizens, having occasion to petition the governor at Ottawa, started their petition thus, "We, the inhabitants of River Trent, humbly petition, etc." The then governor, Lord Monk, if I am right, took the petition and read, "We the inhabitants of River Trent," he adjusted his spectacles and read it again, "We, the inhabitants of River Trent." Then looking over his spectacles, paused and ejaculated, "By God, but these are queer fish."

The citizens reported this when they returned home, and a meeting was called, the incident told, and then the determination was reached that they would change the name of their town. This they did, and since then the inhabitants say they live in Trenton, a pretty and appropriate appelation, and that is the origin of their new name "Trenton."

HORSES SLIP ON WET PAVEMENT

Fire Team Hampered by the Slippery Streets—Team Fell.

The danger of continually watering the pavements was clearly shown this morning, when the horses on the hook and ladder wagon of the fire brigade were seen to slip, endeavor to gain their ballance and then slip again narrowly escaping a nasty accident. This difficulty hampers the Fire Department in the persuance of their duty and is another good reason why the city should take immediate action in adopting some new method of flushing the streets so as not to have them wet for so long a period each.

The fire rig skidded almost half a block, and the team was thrown to the ground.

$6,000,000 DEAL CALIFORNIA OIL

CORPORATION PAID $100 SHARE FOR 37,500 SHARES OWNED BY WEIR.

San Francisco, Cal., Sept. 5.—The interests of Andrew Weir, now Lord Inverforth, one of the largest shareholders in the Union Oil Company of California, have been acquired by the Commonwealth Petroleum Corporation, a newly-formed New York body, according to announcement today by Alfred C. Wilkes, San Francisco representative of Henry Lockhart, jr., of the Commonwealth Corporation.

Wilkes said the Corporation paid $100 a share for the 37,500 shares owned by the Weir interests.

Also Memorial Certificate to Next of Kin, Advocated by Com. of Board of Trade.

The Board of Trade's committee on War Memorials reported to the general meeting last night as follows:

Gentlemen,

We, the members of the committee on War Memorials, beg leave to report and recommend as follows:

That a memorial certificate be presented by the Board of Trade, as being the most representative body of the city, to the next-of-kin of each of the Peterborough soldiers who in the great war offered up his life as a sacrifice upon the altar of his country.

That the Board of Trade urge upon the Board of Education the erection in the immediate future of a Technical High School to be known as the Peterborough Memorial Institue of Technology as a permanent memorial to Peterborough's "Unreturning Brave."

War Certificate.

With reference to the former your committee secured a suitable design as the result of a competition open to the residents of the city. We recommend that a sufficient number of this design be lithographed and a copy presented to those who are to receive them at a grand patriotic rally to be held in the Opera House on Nov. 11th, next, the first anniversary of Armistice Day.

While we are not yet ready to present for your consideration and approval the details of this meeting we may say that the following items are under consideration: Throwing on a screen the photographs of each of our brave dead; a movie film showing the Canadian troops at the front; presentations of the memorial certificates; suitable musical numbers, and one or two short addresses suitable to the occasion.

Permanent Memorial.

With reference to the latter, your committee are of the opinion that the permanent memorial should be one, every way, worthy of the heroic and undying achievements of those who went forth to battle never to return. The proposed building should be of such outstanding architectural beauty that the citizens of Peterborough would point to it with pride. The memorial should not only be beautiful, but it should also be useful. What at the present time could be more useful than a Technical High School? We are of the opinion that education is the hope of the future. The most terrible of revolutions have taken place where ignorance has been greatest, and if anything will save the world from chaos it will be sound education. Russia is reaping the results of ignorance. France before the revolution despised her common people as beasts of the field. It is not education that has made industry restless, but the spread of dangerous ideas whose only antidote is sound education. Destructive principles are to be combated by minds trained to reject sophistry and expose fallacy. It is when national education is inadequate that society threatens to crumble. We, therefore, strongly recommend the erection of a Technical High School as the best permanent memorial to our fallen soldiers.

Signed on behalf of the committee,
H. R. H. Kenner, W. A. Logan,
W. MacPherson.

DOES THIS STRIKE YOU?

"Our very eyes are sometimes like our judgments, blind." Eyes that are not blind, but plainly failing, can be saved and helped by Dr. Fowler, if he is given an opportunity in time. Show that your judgment is not blind, by consulting Dr. Fowler at the first sign of eye trouble.

CONSULTATION FREE.

EYESIGHT SPECIALIST A. A. FOWLER DOCTOR OF OPTICS
Phm. B. Toronto University.
HAS FITTED 30,000 SATISFIED WEARERS OF PERLO GLASSES
Most Up-to-date Sanitary Optical Parlors. With Nugent Drug Co.

GRAND To-day TO-DAY and SATURDAY
A TRULY WONDERFUL PICTURE
"DARING HEARTS"
ALL STAR CAST
—VOD-A-VIL MOVIES—
EMMY WEHLEN IN "The Belle of the Season"
Prices to Suit Everybody —— Matinee 10c-15c; Evening 15c-25c

THEATRICAL

PAULINE FREDERICK EXPLAINS TITLE OF GREATEST TRIUMPH

Famous Goldwyn Artiste Divulges Big Moments of "The Woman on the Index," But Leaves it to the Screen to Tell of the Many Surprises.

What does "The Woman on the Index" mean? No sooner had the Broadway success of George Broadhurst been announced as Pauline Frederick's first Goldwyn Picture than photoplay enthusiasts began asking the meaning of the arresting title. Held in New York because of its success, the play has not had the time to familiarize audiences throughout the country with the significance of its title. Miss Frederick herself suggested that she tell her friends what the play means. This is what she dictated for publication:

"The Woman on the Index' is Sylvia Martin and the index is the police record of New York City. Her name is on it, though she does not dream that she is so marked until she is happily married. Then she makes the discovery. To explain how undeserving is Sylvia of the disgrace, it is necessary to tell how her name happened to be in a criminal record.

"Fainting from exhaustion, she is carried into a tenement maintained by denizens of the underworld. She is ignorant of their calling and [illegible] marries one of them only to discover the truth. This man is wounded [illegible] a daring escapade and, with [illegible] on the Index" comes to the Grand inevitable, he kills himself. Sylvia is Theatre, starting Monday, Tuesday accused of his murder as well as the and Wednesday.

robbery he committed. She is arrested, but is released finally when a defective testifies in her behalf.

"After many vicissitudes she marries well. Her husband has no inkling of her past and all might have gone on smoothly had it not been for a foreigner, Hugo Declasse. She repulses his attentions until the chief of the Federal Secret Service bureau appeals to her patriotism. He tells her that Declasse is a dangerous spy and that by encouraging him she can obtain invaluable information. It is this Declasse who witnesses Sylvia's discovery of her name on the index, and he uses the information to further his evil ends.

"In all sincerity I think it best not to divulge the subsequent events. The plot is really extraordinarily adroit, engrossing. It offers surprise after surprise. For its full enjoyment I do not believe the climax of the story should be known before one sees the play. At least, I hope to have made clear the bearing of the title has and we, who worked hard to interpret the story on the screen, feel sure that it will afford entertainment in full measure."

It is announced that "The Woman on the Index" comes to the Grand Theatre, starting Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday.

DOROTHY DALTON SEEN TO ADVANTAGE IN HER NEW PHOTOPLAY "QUICKSANDS"

Special Feature at New Allen Theatre—one Continuous Performance Afternoon and Night

John Lynch has written an exceedingly interesting story for Dorothy Dalton's new Thomas H. Ince Paramount picture in "Quicksands" which will be presented at the Allen Theatre on Friday and Saturday. In this picture Miss Dalton returns to the emotional in a drama of the city showing the trials of a young woman whose husband is falsely accused of forging a check on his firm and sent to prison for five years.

To provide a livelihood for herself and her little girl, the wife goes to work in a cabaret conducted by a ward boss, who admires her. To this place comes the junior member of the firm for which her husband worked and is smitten with her charms.

Seeing that she may find out something to advantage, she leads the young bounder on, and on the very night her husband escapes from prison and is in hiding, the former follows her to her apparment. There too, comes the ward boss and in a fight, he is struck down by the younger man. The wife makes him believe he has killed the man and confesses a confession of the forgery for which her husband is being pursued. Then the cafe proprietor comes and orders the arrest of the profligate and promises to exert his influences in behalf of the wrongly accused man.

The story is said to afford Miss Dalton abundant opportunities for splendid emotional acting, while the happy ending will send the spectators away in a comfortable frame of mind. A good cast supports the star with Ed. Cohen as leading man.

The Allen's policy of continued performance allows the audience to come at any time and always see a full show.

FEATURE PLAYS AT GRAND THEATRE

FRANCIS X. BUSHMAN AND BEVERLY BAYNE PRESENT REALISTIC WAR PICTURE.

The feature picture at the Grand the last half of this week, "Daring Hearts," starring Francis X. Bushman and Beverly Bayne, is one of those war pictures which will live forever. There is not much of the actual warfare shown in the picture but a great deal of the brutality of the Hun soldiery. The photography is as good as the acting and some of the scenes are most realistic. It is a picture well worth seeing.

If capital and labour could only get together in real life as they do in Emmy Wehlen's latest picture, "The Belle of the Season," it is safe to say that the strife between the classes would be a thing of the past. This picture should be seen by all who take an interest in labour questions. People who look at this question from the side of capital too would do well to see this story.

GIVES BLOOD TO SAVE SON

Father Submits to Transfusion, Boy Victim of Train.

Chicago, Sept. 5.—John Cornell, 8 years old, 835 Oakwood Avenue, Wilmette, is fighting for his life in the Evanston Hospital today. He was crushed beneath the trucks of a car of the Chicago, North Shore and Milwaukee Electric railroad yesterday at the Greenleaf avenue crossing. His chum, Robert Ault, 8 years old 18 Oakwood avenue, lies on a cot a few feet away severely bruised, but he will leave the hospital soon, the doctors state.

John's father, Paul B. Cornell, submitted to a blood transfusion operation last night and kept his son alive. The boy's left leg was amputated below the knee this morning. Evanston says that the father's blood will save the boy.

The Vod-o-vil Movies present some very clever acrobatics' work and tumbling by some of vaudeville's cleverest artists. This feature is rapidly becoming popular with the picture fans.

BARTFIELD LOSES TO BEN LEONARD

CHAMPION WINS ROUGH BATTLE AT PHILADELPHIA WITH ACTION FROM END TO END.

Philadelphia, Sept. 4.—Benny Leonard, world's lightweight champion, won a newspaper decision over Soldier Bartfield in a six-round bout at the Philadelphia Nation League baseball park tonight.

It was a very rough bout and there was action from bell to bell. Bartfield started with a rush in the first round and led several times without a return. Before the bout was a minute old, Leonard had Bartfield covering up, and there were frequent exchanges and clinches. The first round was Leonard's by a shade. Leonard did most of the boxing in the second round, although Bartfield did not seem to fear the champion. In this 3rd round Bartfield cut loose. He rushed Leonard all over the ring, landing frequent rights and lefts to Leonard's face.

Leonard took the fourth and fifth rounds, and in the sixth almost had Bartfield out. The other bouts resulted as follows.

Willie Jackson of New York beat Joe Phillips of Philadelphia, who substituted for Eddie Wallace.

Johnny Murray of New York won over Joe O'Donnell of Philadelphia.

Max Williamson defeated Patsy Wallace, both of Philadelphia.

Joe Benjamin, California, stopped Joe Koons, Philadelphia, in the third round.

FIRE ON SMITH STREET

A small fire broke out at the home of Mrs. A. Rosebury, 17 Smith street, caused by a spark from a chimney this morning. No damage resulted.

Railway Time Tables

C. P. R. TIMETABLE
Effective May 4th, 1919

GOING EAST

8.20 p.m.—Indian River, Norwood, Havelock and Tweed.

11.52 p.m.—Norwood, Havelock, Kingston, Smiths Falls, Perth, Montreal, Quebec, St John, N.B., Boston and New York.

*1.30 a.m.—Havelock, Tweed, Kingston, Perth, Smiths Falls and Ottawa.

11.59 a.m.—Norwood, Havelock, Peterborough, Tweed, Perth, Smiths Falls, Ottawa, Montreal and intermediate points.

*11.59 a.m.—Norwood and Havelock.

GOING WEST

*1.53 a.m.—Toronto, Owen Sound, Guelph, Goderich, Hamilton, Buffalo, New York, Galt, Woodstock, St Thomas, London, Chatham, Detroit and Chicago.

6.21 a.m.—Myrtle and North Toronto.

7.35 a.m.—Toronto, Hamilton, Buffalo, Rochester, Boston, New York and intermediate points between Peterborough and Toronto.

9.35 a.m.—Lindsay, Orillia, Port McNicoll and intermediate points.

3.20—Toronto, Hamilton, Brantford, Buffalo, New York, Galt, Guelph, Woodstock, London, Windsor, Detroit and Chicago and intermediate points between Peterborough and Toronto.

5.60 p.m.—North Toronto, Lindsay and intermediate points.

*8.20 p.m.—Toronto and intermediate points.

*Daily.
Daily except Sunday.
Daily except Saturday.
*Sunday only.

GRAND TRUNK RAILWAY SYSTEM TIMETABLE.

No 98—8:10 a.m., for Toronto, via Port Hope, also points on Main Line east.
No. 93—8:20 a.m., for Lindsay Blackwater Jct., Orillia, Midland North Bay and Toronto.
No. 98—8:25 a.m., for Hastings, Campbellford, Belleville and points on Main Line East.
No. 369—8:30 a.m., for Lakefield.
No. 92—12:04 p.m. for Lindsay, Port Hope, Toronto, Buffalo, making connections with International Limited for London, Detroit and Chicago.
No 371—12:15 p.m. for Lakefield
No 100—2:00 p.m. for Hastings, Campbellford and Belleville.
No 95—5:40 p.m. for Lindsay, Orillia, Midland, North Bay and Toronto.
No. 373—5:40 p.m. for Lakefield
No 99—8:31 p.m for Lindsay.
No 94—9:19 p.m. for Port Hope, Montreal and Boston

TO THE VOTERS OF THE CITY OF PETERBOROUGH

Notice is hereby given that the Voters' Lists for the City of Peterborough, have been printed, and that the Lists for the various areas described below, have been deposited at the addresses indicated, where they are held open for inspection by the public.

Only the lists for the area described will be found at the address given for that area. If you wish to find if your name is on the list, read the descriptions below till you find the area in which you live; then go to the address indicated, where you will find the lists for that area, and also forms and rules for appealing, if an appeal is necessary. Information cannot be obtained by telephone from these various addresses; it would interfere too much with the private business of those persons with whom the lists have been deposited, and its accuracy could not be guaranteed. The only way to make sure that your name is on the list is to make a personal inspection of same.

The city has been divided into the following areas:

1.—All of the South Ward south of the centre of Lake Street and east centre of Park Street.

Voters' List at W. G. Freeburn's store, 168 Lock Street.

2.—All of South Ward, south of centre of Albert Street and the southern limits of Lots 31 and 32, Plan 30 Peterborough, and west of centre of Park Street.

Voters' List at Earnest Benson's store, 100 Park Street south.

3.—All of the South Ward south of centre of Townsend Street, east centre of Rubidge Street and Park Street between Rink and Lake streets and north of centre of Lake Street.

Voters' List at Halpin's store, 37, 39 George street.

4.—All of South Ward, south centre Sherbrooke Street, east centre Rubidge and north of centre of Townsend.

Voters' List at Co.-operative Store, 200 Rubidge Street.

5.—All of South Ward, north of centre of Albert and Lots 31 and 42 Plan 30, City, west of centre of Rubidge and north of centre of Townsend and south centre of Sherbrooke.

Voters' Lists at James Garside's house, 199 Reid Street.

6.—All of Centre Ward, north centre of Sherbrooke, east centre of Waterand south centre of McDonell.

Voters' List at James Sutherland's store, 352½ Water Street.

7.—All of Centre Ward, south of centre of Simcoe, east centre Bethune north centre of Sherbrooke and west of centre of Water.

Voters' List at office of City Clerk, Simcoe Street.

8.—All of Centre Ward, south centre of Brock, between Water and Chambers, south centre of Hunter between Chambers and Bethune, east centre Bethune and west centre of Water.

Voters' Lists at Paskin's grocery store, 233 Hunter Street.

9.—All of Centre Ward, west of centre of Water Street between centres McDonell and Brock and north centre of Hunter between Chambers and centre Bethune and east centre Bethune.

Voters' List at Goohen's store, 481 Aylmer street.

10.—All of West Ward, north centre of Sherbrooke, south centre of King and west centre Bethune.

Voters' Lists at Matthews' store corner Park and Sherbrooke.

11.—All of West Ward, south centre of Hunter, east centre of Park north centre of King and west centre Bethune.

Voters' List at Kemp's store, corner Charlotte and Downie.

12.—All of West Ward, west centre of Park, south centre Hunter and Homewood and north centre of King.

Voters' List at Lillico's grocery, 256 Charlotte Street.

13.—All of West Ward, north centre Hunter, east centre Park, south centre McDonell and west centre Bethune.

Voters' List at Routley's shop, corner Brock and Park.

14.—All of West Ward, west centre Park, south centre McDonell and north centre of Hunter and Homewood.

Voters' List at J. J. Lynch's shop corner Park and Elm.

15.—All of North Ward, south centre of Smith, east centre of George and north centre of McDonnel.

Voters' List at William Petries' shop, corner Smith and Water.

16.—All of North Ward, south of the centre of Dublin, west centre George, north centre McDonnel and east centre Stewart.

Voters' List at Dawson Bros. store, corner London and George.

17.—All of North Ward, north centre McDonnel, west centre of Stewart.

Voters' List at Kennedy's grocery 332 McDonnel Street.

18.—All of the North Ward, south centre of Smith, east centre of Stewart, north centre of Dublin and west centre George.

Voters' List at Albert Tennyson's shop, corner George and Edinburgh.

19.—All of North Ward, east centre of Stewart and north centre Smith.

Voters' List at Jordan Bros. green house, 99 Argyle Street.

20.—All of East Ward, west centre of Mark Street, south centre of Douro.

Voters' List at Sulivan's grocery store, 57 Hunter Street east.

21.—All of East Ward, east centre Mark, south centre of Douro and division line between Blocks U and V.

Voters' List at T. I. Hill's shop 127 Hunter Street east.

22.—All of East Ward, north of centre of Douro and division line between Blocks U and V.

Voters' List at D. Rice's shop, 550 Concession Street.

Appeals in the forms prescribed by statute must be filed with the Revising Officers' Clerk on or before Monday, the 8th day of September, 1919. The Revising Officer's clerks are as follows: For areas numbered 1, 2, 3, 4 and 5 above—W. F. Johnston, 435 George Street; for areas numbered 6, 7, 8, 9, 20, 21 and 22 above—Wilfred E. Huycke, Engleburne Avenue, and for areas numbered 10, 11, 12, 13, 14, 15, 16, 17, 18 and 19 above—Fred Morrow, 469 Water Street.

If an appeal is necessary it is advisable to use the forms provided by the Board, and to carefully observe the rules governing the entering and hearing of appeals. Forms of the appeal and copies of the rules may be obtained at any of the above addresses.

Dated at Peterborough, this 28th day of August, 1919.

E. C. S. HUYCKE,
Chairman of the Voters' Registration Board.

ONTARIO ELECTION ACTS 1918 and 1919

NOTICE OF SITTINGS OF REVISING OFFICERS

Electoral District of West Peterborough, City of Peterborough

To Wit:

Take notice that the lists of voters for polling subdivisions Numbers 1 to 22, both inclusive, comprising the City of Peterborough, have been prepared by the enumerators and have been delivered to the Clerk of this Board by the Chief Enumerator and Returning Officer, and that GEORGE W. HATTON, of the City of Peterborough, has been appointed Revising Officer for Polling Subdivisions Numbers 1, 2, 3, 4 and 5 (South Ward of City); EDWARD C. S. HUYCKE, Revising Officer for Polling Subdivisions 6, 7, 8, and 9, and 20 and 21 (East and Centre Wards of City) and GEORGE J. SHERRY, Revising Officer for Polling Subdivisions 10, 11, 12, 13, 14, 15, 16, 17, 18 and 19, (West and North Wards of City) to hear complaints and appeals as to the lists of voters aforesaid.

And further take notice that the sittings of the said several Revising Officers will take place as to the South Ward (Nos. 1, 2, 3, 4, and 5) above, at the County Council Chamber, in the Court House, in the City of Peterborough, as to the Centre and East Wards (No. 6, 7, 8, 9, 20, 21 and 22 above) in the Judges' Chambers in the said Court House and as to the West and North Wards (Nos. 10, 11, 12, 13, 14, 15, 16, 17, 18 and 19 above) in the Court Room in the said Court House on SATURDAY, the THIRTEENTH day of September, 1919.

Each sittings will commence at 10 o'clock in the forenoon and will continue until the appeals fixed for the day have been disposed of.

And further take notice that any voter who desires to complain that the names of any persons entitled to be entered on any of the said lists have been omitted from same, or that the names of persons who are not entitled to be voters, have been entered thereon, may on or before MONDAY, the EIGHTH DAY OF SEPTEMBER, 1919, apply, complain of or appeal to have his own name or the name of any other person, corrected in, entered on, or removed from, the lists prepared under the Ontario Elections Acts, 1918 and 1919.

And further take notice that such appeals must be by notice in writing in the prescribed form, signed by the complainant in duplicate and given to the clerk of the proper revising officer, or left for said Clerk at his residence or place of business on or before the said date. The clerk to Mr. Geo. W. Hatton is W. F. Johnston, place of business, 435 George St., residence, 310 McDonnel St.; the Clerk to Mr. E. C. S. Huycke is Wilfred Huycke, Residence, Engleburn Ave., and the Clerk to Mr. Geo. J. Sherry, Mr. Fred Morrow, residence, 469 Water St., business address, Registry Office, all in Peterborough.

Dated at Peterborough, this 29th day of August, 1919.

E. C. S. HUYCKE,
Chairman of the Voters' Registration Board, for the County of Peterborough.

The famous "Pony" Ballet with the big musical spectacle, and night, on September the 13th, 1919.

SOLDIER GIRL" coming to the G[illegible] Opera House, Saturday, matinee

"MY SOLDIER GIRL"

"My Soldier Girl," the brilliant musical spectacle, coming to Grand Theatre, matinee and evening, Saturday, Sept. 13th, is the cleverest, brightest, wittiest entertainment ever seen on any stage. It sparkles—it has humor, color, melody and a score that holds the auditor with swinging lilting airs. The book is by J. Lorch Baber, who has contributed to many successes in the past. Others, in this latest version, comedy that induces tired people to forget their troubles. You never have time to sit back and rest so contagious is the humor and so persistant is the merry revelling. One of the features of "My Soldier Girl" is the remarkable ballet, so clever do the girls render their big dance numbers and ensembles that the audience is spell-bound, giving them encore after encore. The cast includes several New York musical comedy artists and theatre-goers may rest assured of a rare treat in music, comedy, dancing, scenery and a wonderful ballet all combined to make "My Soldier Girl" the remarkable success it really is. There are twenty-seven big song hits, including "My Soldier Girl," "Wrap Me Up in a Bundle of Love," "Jasper's Ragtime Band," "Won't You be My Bean," "Just for You," "That Dixie Wedding Tune" and many others equally as tuneful.

Any man who buys a mule is sure to have a kick coming.

ED. CARSON RAPS LD. NORTHCLIFFE

VIGOROUSLY ASSAILS THE VISCOUNT AS ANTI-HOME-RULE STIRRER AS ABSENTEE.

Belfast, Ireland, Sept. 4.—Sir Edward Carson, in opening a new anti-home-rule campaign here tonight, made a fierce attack upon Viscount Northcliffe, the newspaper proprietor, calling him "the greatest absentee Irish capitalist and the greatest example of an Irishman who under the union has made untold wealth in England."

"He dearly loves man hunting," said Sir Edward. "He hunted Earl Kitchener, Field Marshal Viscount French, Viscount Jellicoe, Viscount Milner and J. Austen Chamberlain and more recently Premier Lloyd George. I have thought this over and believe I have found a solution to the question. It is to make Viscount Northcliffe prime minister. The only disadvantage would be that as prime minister he would have to meet in Parliament face to face those he assails and could not attack them from the editorial armchair. What is a statesman? It is a man who when he pleases Viscount Northcliffe betrays every interest instrusted to him."

CABLE LINES CHOKED

New York, Sept. 5. — The Commercial Cable Company announced to-day that messages for Great Britain and points beyond can only be accepted subject to delay.

GOVT. WILL FIX FOOD PROFITS

BOARD OF COMMERCE TO INVESTIGATE COST OF NECESSARIES OF LIFE.

Ottawa, Sept. 5.— The Board of Commerce is forthwith to investigate profits on necessaries of life. According to a ruling of the Board today, the special object of the enquiry "Shall be to accumulate evidence for the purpose of ascertaining what (with allowance in each case for locality) shall be deemed to be fair profits and to fix a date after which the taking of profits in excess of a rate to be determined shall be deemed unfair under the Combines and Fair Prices Act."

The enquiry will emrace all matters which incidentally arise, or which indicate the breach of any provision of the Act or any other or antecedent laws, orders or regulations.

The Chief Comimssioner, Judge Robson, and Commissioner O'Connor are each authorized individually to report to the Board "Each of the said Commissioners sitting for said purposes at such time and place as he shall determine."

REWARDED RESEARCH

"Charley, dear," said young Mrs Torkins, "I wish they wouldn't investigate the high cost of living any further."

"Why?"

"Every time they hold a new inquiry they seem to discover more of it."—Washington Evening Star.

ALLEN THEATRE
Showing Friday and Saturday
Thos. H. Ince Presents.... Dorothy Dalton in "Quicksand"
Only a Cabaret Singer? Mothers, Fathers and Sisters, too! See what life really is for a Cabaret Girl! See if it is all gay music, bright and sparkling champagne!
Also A Travelogue, A Christie Comedy, and A Serial.
Don't forget Our Policy of Pictures That Excell.
A CONTINUOUS PERFORMANCE ALL DAY FROM 2 p.m. TO 11 p.m.
PRICES - - Matinees 10c Evenings 22c and 27c

MIXED WOOD
$7.00 Per Cord
HARD WOOD
$10.00 Per Cord
Cutting and Splitting extra.
ORDER NOW
FROM
J. E. A. FITZGERALD
Phone 111

Children's Aid Society
—of—
Peterborough City and County
FOR THE CARE OF NEGLECTED AND ILL-TREATED CHILDREN
G. W. POWELL
Asst. Secretary and Inspector
Office, 568 George St. Phone 1044w
Office Hours: 12 to 2 and 6 to 8 p.m.

Piano Tuning
Phone 595
The GREENE MUSIC Co.

PEACHES
AT THEIR BEST
FEW CAGES LEFT
TOMATOES
FOR PRESERVING
GRAPES, PEARS
MUSK MELON
CUCUMBER
CABBAGE
LETTUCE, ONIONS
CELERY, POTATOES
SPANISH ONIONS
JUICIEST ORANGES IN TOWN
GRAPEFRUIT AND BANANAS
CHOICEST GROCERY
D. M. Minicola
Phone 935 410½ George St.

We Help YOU to Fight The High Cost of Living

By Keeping Down the Price of Clothes

Since we made the announcement a few weeks ago that we would keep down the price of clothes just as long as we could, thousands of men have called and left their order. They appreciated the opportunity to save money on their fall and winter clothing needs.

The offer is still good. We are the one tailoring firm in Canada which is not raising its prices at present. We happened to have bought our stock of suitings and overcoatings months ago, when prices were almost half what they are to-day, and we determined to let the public have these goods at the original price. There would be no profiteering so far as we were concerned. So while this stock lasts we offer you a

Give Us 15 Minutes of your time —you will save at least $1 a minute.

Suit or Overcoat
Made to Your Order and Guaranteed $21.00

But we again want to warn you that just as soon as this stock is exhausted we will have to pay more for goods, and you will have to pay us more for your clothes. We are telling you about it now in order that you cannot say to us afterwards that we did not give you fair notice.

Our stock of materials for fall and winter is very large and complete, including some of the most beautiful materials, colorings and designs you can find anywhere. Everything is the very latest—and we will make you a suit or an overcoat to measure, in whatever style you select from the latest fashion plate, for only $21.00. Come at once—don't delay.

If you cannot wait for suit or overcoat to be made don't forget that the models in our windows and stores are for sale. We always have a full range of sizes and style at the same price.

THE REGENT TAILORS

HEAD OFFICE: 86-88 RICHMOND ST., WEST, TORONTO, BRANCHES ALL OVER CANADA

186½ Charlotte St. Peterborough

BRIGHTON AND PETERBOROUGH PLAY FAST EIGHT INNING GAME

Game Called at End of Eight on Account of Darkness With the Score 2-2—Lorney Rose's Pitching and Hitting Featured.

In one of the snappiest and best games of the season, the Brighton and local baseball teams played a treat to watch with Brighton having innings to a tie at Riverside Park a shade on the fielding and dividing last night. The game was fast and interesting throughout, both teams showing a brand of ball that was the hitting honours with five each.

Lorney Rose did the star work for the locals, having to his credit 14 strikeouts and getting out of some difficult holes. His speed had the Brighton boys at his mercy and his curves appeared very baffling. Allen also pitched well taking good advantage of the local's weakness to his left-hand twirlers. He was given sensational support especially by Bullock who shapes up like a real third baseman getting hold of a couple that were labelled for hits.

The hitting was light and scattered. Jackson getting the only long drive of the game and it was pulled down by Walt who had backed up early to the barns. Rose tried hard to win his own game being the only local player to get two hits while Bullock was the only other to do out two safeties.

Brighton started the scoring in the second when by means of an error a stolen base and a single, he chased McKee across with the first [illegible] locals came right back in their half of the same inning and by means of two singles, a sacrifice and two errors scored twice. In the fourth Brighton tied it up with two singles and a stolen base. From there on both pitchers held the opposition safe though in one or two innings they emerged from difficult situations.

The game was called at the end of the eighth, on account of darkness.

First Inning.

Brighton—Hanks fanned. Whittier singled but went out stealing. Bullock struck out.

No runs, one hit, no errors.

Peterborough—Cherett flied out to third. Holyman struck out and Hanks knocked down Swanston's drive.

No runs, hits or errors.

Second Inning.

Brighton—McKee was safe on Holyman's error and stole second. Allen popped to Holyman and Hart struck out. Langdon came through with a timely single that scored McKee. Langdon was thrown out trying to steal third.

One run, one hit, one error.

Peterborough—Kirn opened up with a single and was sacrificed also by Murray. Jackson got a life when Bullock dropped the throw to Kirn at third. Solomon hit to Allen who threw out Kirn at the plate. Rose hit a hard one down the first base line scoring Jackson and Solomon. Hart gummed up McCarney's grounder and Cherett grounded to the pitcher.

Two runs, two hits, two errors.

Third Inning.

Brighton—Walt struck out, Robbins grounded to Rose and Hanks lifted one to Holyman.

No runs, hits or errors.

Peterborough — Holyman walked and stole second. Swanston drove one at Bullock who tagged Holyman on the line for a double. Kirn walked but Murray popped to Allen.

No runs, hits or errors.

Fourth Inning.

Brighton— Whittier fanned. Bullock singled and stole second, McKee fanned. Allen singled scoring Bullock but was thrown out at second by a fast return of the throw to the plate.

One run, two hits, no errors.

Peterborough — Jackson drove a hard one to left but Walt made a nice catch of it. Solomon grounded to second. Rose singled but McCarney grounded to first.

No runs, one hit, no errors.

Fifth Inning.

Brighton. Hart struck out. Langdon was safe on Murray's error, stole second but was caught with too big a lead. Walt got a life on Holyman's fumble and Robins struck out.

No runs, no hits, no errors.

Peterborough— Cherett bunted a foul on his third strike. Holyman singled and stole second to die a victim of a double play on Swanston's caught drive for the second time.

No runs, one hit, no errors.

Sixth Inning.

Brighton—Hanks struckout, Whittier was safe on Murray's error. Bullock singled and stole second putting a man on second and third. Rose got out of the hole by striking out McKee and Allen.

No runs, one hit, one error.

Peterborough — Kirn and Murray struck out and Jackson grounded to short.

No runs, hits or errors.

Seventh Inning.

Brighton—Hart struck out. Cherett made a one handed stop of Langdon's grounder and Walt grounded to Rose.

No runs, hits or errors.

Peterborough — Bullock made a nice play on Solomon's nasty bounder. Rose fanned and McCarney grounded to Allen.

No runs, hits or errors.

Eighth Inning.

Brighton—Robbins hit one in trying to dodge and Rose caught it. Hanks walked and stole second as watch Whittier and Bullock strike out.

Peterborough — Cherett went out to Landgdon and Holyman and Swanston fanned.

The game was called on account of darkeness.

Brighton	AB	R	H	PO	A	E
Hanks, s.s.	3	0	0	3	1	1
Whittier, m	4	0	1	0	0	0
Bullock, 2b	4	1	2	3	2	1
McKee, c.	3	1	0	6	1	0
Allen, p.	3	1	0	1	3	0
Hart, 2b.	3	0	0	0	1	0
Langdon, 1b	3	0	1	9	0	0
Walt, lf.	3	0	0	1	0	0
Robbins, rf.	3	0	0	0	0	0
Total	29	2	5	23	8	2

Peterboro	AB.	R.	H.	PO.	A.	E.
Cherett, s.s.	4	0	0	3	1	0
Holyman, 3b	3	0	1	3	0	2
Swanston, c	4	0	0	4	3	0
Kirn, lf.	2	0	1	0	0	0
Murray, 2b	2	0	0	0	0	2
Jackson, 1b	3	1	1	8	0	0
Solomon, rf.	3	1	0	0	0	0
Rose, p.	3	0	2	1	3	0
McCarney, m.	3	0	0	0	0	0
Total	27	2	5	24	7	4

Cherett out bunting foul on third strike.

Sacrifice hits, Murray; stolen bases Hanks, Bullock, McKee, Langdon, Holyman 2, Solomon; struck out, by Allen, 6; by Rose, 14. Bases on balls off Allen 2; off Rose, 1; double plays Bullock unassisted, Hanks unassisted.

By Innings.

	R	H	E
Brighton:	0 1 0 1 0 0 0 0	2	5 2
Peterboro:	0 2 0 0 0 0 0 0	2	5 4

A BOXING TOURNAMENT

WILL BE HELD AT

BROCK ST. RINK

Fri., Sept. 5

AT 8 P.M.

10 ROUNDS

Between

Young Cattle—Toronto

And

Kid Brompton—New York

Lightweight

Good Preliminaries are being Arranged for

ADMISSION—$1.00, 75c, 50c

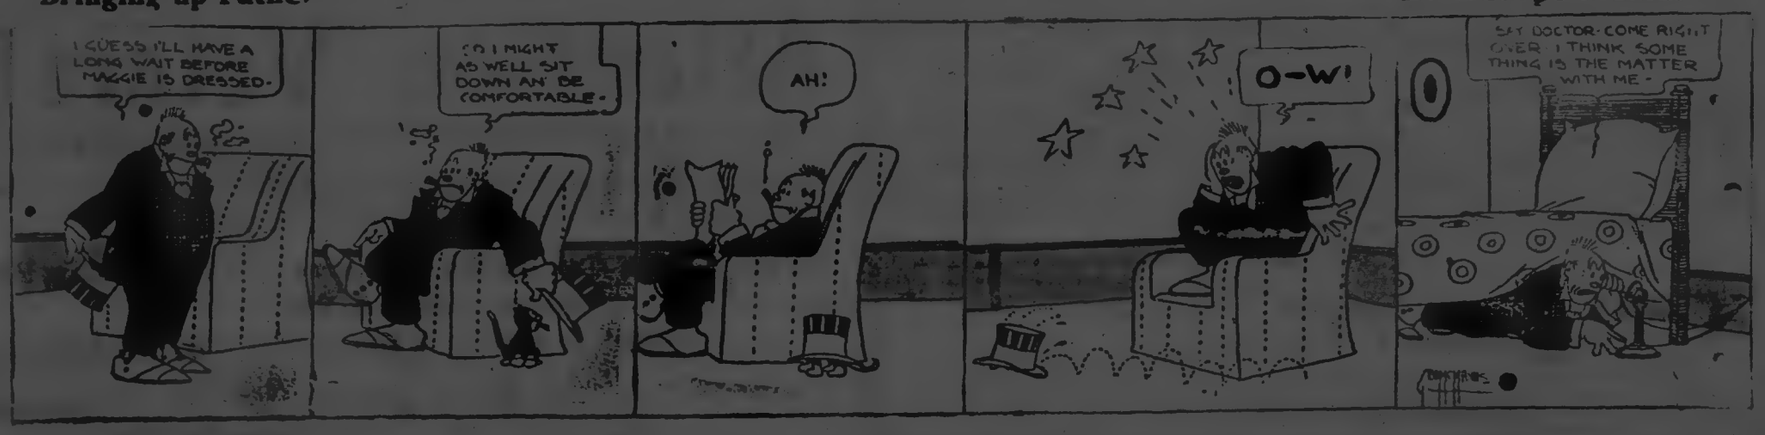
Ringside seats now on sale at Dan McCabe's Cigar Store and at Spence's Barber Shop.

LUMBER

Builders' Materials of all kinds—Shingles, Scantlings, Joist and All Stuff, Mouldings, Casings, Base and all kinds of Finish, Doors and Sash Blocks; Slabs and Mill Wood.

Alf. McDonald Estate

Bringing up Father — By George McManus



I GUESS I'LL HAVE A LONG WAIT BEFORE MAGGIE IS DRESSED.
SO I MIGHT AS WELL SIT DOWN AN' BE COMFORTABLE.
AH!
O-W!
SAY DOCTOR COME RIGHT OVER I THINK SOME THING IS THE MATTER WITH ME.

Barrie's
Peterboro.

LADIES' READY-TO-WEAR DEPARTMENT

(The House With Exclusive Styles.)

A WARNING

Every Fall, just as the cold weather is setting in, scores of people suddenly remember that they intended to have some alterations or work done on their Furs. Then they rush them to us and wonder why we cannot give them prompt service. They sometimes forget that others have made the same mistake of delaying. Can we ask you now to help us to give you perfect satisfaction?

Can we have your Furs NOW?

BARRIE BUILDING

512 George Street
Phone 340

SAFEGUARD YOUR EYESIGHT

When you accept our invitation to a consultation regarding the condition of your eyes, you need not feel concerned about what we will tell you. You will learn only the truth.

"See Us and See Better."

W. H. LACEY
Optical Specialist.
410 George St.

DISTRICT AND LOCAL NEWS

RESUMED TEACHING

Miss Bessie Elcome, A.T.C.M., of the Conservatory of Music staff, has resumed her classes in Piano and Theory (in it's several branches).

NOTICE

Lessons in primary reading for adults, or, backward children. Apply Review for address.

Dr. E. V. Frederick, member Royal College of Surgeons, England, late Surgeon No. 1, Canadian Stationery Hospital, Salonica, late Surgical Specialist No. 70 Indian Stationary Hospital, Bagdad, late Clinical Assistant Mayo Clinic, Rochester, Minn., has resumed practice corner Charlotte and Rubidge streets, Peterboro— especially consulting practice in surgical and chronic conditions.

Dr. Free, late house physician Toronto General Hospital, assistant id practice with Dr. Frederick and in charge of laboratory work.

FARMER CANDIDATE

A convention of the United Farmers of North Victoria will be held at Fenelon Falls on Sept. 17., when a candidate will likely be selected to contest the riding in the forthcoming Provincial election.

TIRES VULCANIZED

Because that tire has a hole through it is no reason why you should throw it away. You may yet get several thousand miles out of it by having a sectional repair made. We Vulcanize Auto Tires and Tubes and guarantee our work. Millard's Bicycle Shop, 225 Hunter street, near Aylmer, phone 234j.

LINDSAY CONSERVATIVES TO MEET IN CONVENTION.

It is announced that a convention of the Liberal-Conservatives of South Victoria will be held in the Academy of Music, Lindsay, on Saturday, September 13, to nominate a candidate for the Provincial Legislature.

EAST DURHAM LIB.-CON. TO MEET.

The East Durham Liberal-Conservative Association will hold their annual meeting, Thursday, Sept. 11th. Hon. Mr. Henry will address the meeting held in Millbrook.

PRIVATE SALE.

The household effects of Miss A. Turner, 801 Water street; fine rugs, stoves and furnishings; sale private, commencing Monday night, Sept. 8th, at 6 o'clock.

MEMORIAL SHIELD FOR SUNDAY SCHOOL

IMPORTANT EVENT IN ST. JOHN'S HISTORY SUNDAY NEXT.

A most important event in the history of St. John's Sunday School will take place next Sunday afternoon at 3 p.m. The memorial shield, which has been presented to the school by the M.S.C.C. in recognition of Victory Bonds subscribed for last spring, will be unveiled in the presence of the whole school. The shield is of solid oak, and the names of the scholars who gave their lives in the great war are engraved on maple leaves stamped out of gun metal. As this is also the opening session of the Sunday School after the summer holidays, officers, teachers and scholars are earnestly requested by the superintendent, Mr R. J. Devey, to be in their places promptly at 3 o'clock.

The shield will be dedicated at the 11 a.m. communion service on Sunday, and an offertory hymn sung by the choir boys. All subscribers are cordially invited to be present at both of these services.

WM. HENDERSON TO SPEAK AT BETHANY TABERNACLE

Founder of Shantymen's Christian Association to Deliver Addresses.

Mr. Wm. Henderson, founder and superintendent of the Shantymen' Christian Association, will speak a Bethany Tabernacle at 11 o'clock a.m and 7 o'clock p.m. Mr. Henderson's services have been much in demand and this is a great opportunity to hear one of the world's great missionaries. Mr. Henderson's work for the sailors has been highly recommended by all classes. Mr. Henderson's "Bible Hints" have been widely read and appreciated and all should hear this wonderful man. He will be assisted by the field secretary of the Shantymen's Christian Association.

HOUSE-BREAKING CHARGE

Alleged to Have Broken Into Summer Cottages.

Lindsay, Sept. 4.—The village constable from Bobcaygeon brought two prisoners to Lindsay yesterday morning charged with breaking into summer cottages near that village. Owing to the fact that they were not properly remanded, they could not be placed in the County Jail until they appeared before County Police Magistrate Moore.

SUCCUMBS TO BURNS

Thirteen-year-Old Had Used Coal Oil to Hasten Fire.

Belleville, Sept. 5.—Terribly burned by an exploding can of coal oil Reginald Clement, thirteen-year-old son of Lewis Clement, died this morning in Belleville General Hospital. He had been building a fire at 6.30 yesterday morning, and used coal oil to hasten it. The blaze followed the oil to the can, causing it to explode, and the boy's face head, neck and chest were badly burned.

AUCTION SALE

Overland Roadster, in good order, will be sold by auction on the market Saturday morning 11 o'clock. W. J. Hancock, Auctioneer.

ACKNOWLEDGMENT

Mrs. R. Bugg wishes to thank the G.W.V.A. for cheque for $8.25, also a friend for $2.00, and Ed. Cooney whose name was omitted for carting, regarding the Boy Scout lawn social.

PALMISTRY.

Madame Alice, famous Scotch palmist at Gollop's Hotel opposite Grand Opera House. Here only for a short time. Hours from 10 a.m. to 10 p.m. All readings $1.00.

RATTLING CAR DOOR

In the case of a rattling door the defective part can be detected by the simple expedient of holding each in turn while the car is running. Adjustment of the clearance between the spring bolt and its recess will cure the trouble.

NEW SWITCHBOARD

Smith's Falls, Sept. 5.—The new switchboard for the Hydro-electric has arrived in town and the work of installing will be proceeded with by the Station Department of the Hydro Commission of Ontario early next week. It will be installed in the Gould plant, and will greatly facilitate the handling of the service.

SOCIAL AND PERSONAL

Mr. Percy Might, whose home is in this city and who returned recently from overseas, has taken up his pre-war duties as principal of the Lansdown Street School, Toronto.

Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Cairns, of Toronto, have been visiting in Peterborough over the week-end.

Mrs. M. Wallace, of Hamilton, has returned home after an extended visit with friends in the city.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Brown, of Port Hope, were Peterborough visitors yesterday.

Mrs. James H. Dixon and Mrs. Fannie Dixon, have gone to their cottage at Kawartha Park.

Mr. B. G. Dench, of Lakefield, was in the city last week.

Miss M. Eastwood, city is visiting friends in Lakefield.

Mrs. George Martin and Mrs. John Millage, city were visiting friends in Lakefield last week.

Miss Ethel Eagleson, of Peterborough was a week end visitor at E.E.E. Cottage, Lake Katchewanooka, last week.

Miss Moore, of Toronto, was a Peterboro visitor yesterday.

Mr. Howard Hamilton of Hall's Glen, was in the city yesterday, the guest of Miss Anna Cavanagh, 252 Charlotte street.

Mrs. Osborne, of Lakefield was a Peterborough guest on Friday.

Mrs. Carl Wallinger, Boston, is visiting Mrs. R. R. Hall, Read street.

Miss Gallivan of New York is holidaying with Dr. and Mrs. Gallivan, Hunter street.

Mrs. P. Carroll, 190 Reid street, is visiting with friends in Toronto and Buffalo.

Mr. C. McDermid of Startford is the guest of his brother, Mr. J. A. McDermid.

Miss Mabel Patterson has returned to Toronto after spending her holidays with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. C. G. Patterson.

Mr. H. Colwell visited friends in Omemee last week.

Mr. and Mrs. W. Atkinson were in Hastings visiting friends last week.

Mr. B. Emmerson of Toronto has returned home after spending a few days with friends in the city.

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Heffernan and children, of Rochester, N. Y., have returned home after an extended visit with friends in the city.

Miss Irene Munro was the guest of Hastings friends last week.

Miss Jean Horsfield has returned to business after a trip to New York and Toronto.

Miss Mabel Lemay of Hastings has returned home after visiting friends in the city.

Mr. and Mrs. H. Robertson, of Buffalo, have returned home after visiting with friends in the city.

Mr. C. Blackburn, of Toronto, was a Peterborough visitor yesterday.

BABY SHOW PRIZES.

Those mothers whose little tots won prizes in the Baby Show on Labor Day may secure their prizes at Gainey Bros. store, George street, at any time.

RE-OPENING STORE.

The Lavoie Knitting Co. are re-opening their retail store tomorrow in the old stand at 84 Hunter street, and will continue to do business from now on.

REDUCED PRICES

Cooked Hams
70c Per lb.

Rose Brand Lard
43c Per lb.

Pure Lard
40c Per lb.

3 STORES
Canadian Packing Co. Ltd
SUCCESSORS TO
Matthews-Blackwell Ltd

OBITUARY

STANLEY LOCHLIN McLEAN

The funeral of the late Stanley Lochlin McLean took place in Lindsay today under Masonic auspices.

The late Stanley L. McLean, who was in his twenty-ninth year, was born in Lindsay, and was a son of the late John McLean. For the past fifteen years deceased was employed at Gregory's drug store, save for the period spent overseas "Dukey," as he was affectionately known by his many friends and associates, was a young man who had earned the esteem and respect of all by his genial and courteous disposition. He enlisted for military service in the 109th Battalion, going overseas with that organization. He saw service as a stretcher-bearer with a field ambulance company. On his return to Lindsay the deceased again entered the employ of Mr. Gregory, and had planned to enter the School of Pharmacy on Tuesday (the day of his death).

The passing of Stanley McLean has evoked expressions of regret from all classes of the community, and all will condole with his sorrowing mother, brothers and sisters in their hour of sorrow. Left to mourn his loss is his mother, two brothers, John, of Lindsay, and Bruce, of Peterborough; three sisters, Mrs. C. Blewett, of Peterborough; Mrs. G. Armstrong, of Toronto, and Miss Florence, of Lindsay.

MRS. LUCY WHITE.

Mrs. Lucy White widow of the late Rev. William White, a superannuated Presbyterian minister, a former resident of Albert Street in this city, passed peacefully away at the family residence, 468 Dupont Street, Toronto, on Friday, August 22, 1919, after a prolonged illness. She was a devoted and consistent member of the Presbyterian church. She left to mourn her loss one son, William J. White and two daughters. Her remains were interred in Mount Pleasant cemetery, Toronto.

THRESSE McGRAW

The death occurred last night of Thresse McGraw, an inmate of the House of Refuge. Deceased was 75 years of age and has no friends in the city.

HILD LEVASSEUR

The death occurred this morning of Hild Levasseur, the five-month old child of Louis Levasseur, 28 Brown street. The many friends of the family will regret to learn of this misfortune.

PURE SPICES

CURRIE POWDER
TUMERIC
CLOVES
MACE
WHOLE PICKLING SPICE
MUSTARD
GINGER
GARLIC
ALLSPICE, ETC.

CORKS

All size, best quality, lowest prices.

CANNING WAX
PARAFFINE WAX
PAROWAX
PARKE'S PICKLE MIXTURE
PARKE'S CATSUP FLAVOR
Everything for the Canning or Pickling Season.

—AT—

Warne's Drug Store
351 George Street.
PHONE 527

Stoney Lake Navigation Company

Steamers leave Lakefield for the Lakes on arrival of morning and noon trains.

Steamers leave the Lake to connect with 9.30 a.m. (morning) and 4.40 p.m. (afternoon) trains for Peterborough.

G. T. R. trains leave Peterborough at 8.30 a.m., 12.15 noon

For excursion rates, information, etc., phone 548, or write

F. G. YOUNG.
Gen. Manager.
497 King St.

ARRIVING DAILY

Women's Exclusive New York Suits

And they are going out so quickly that you will need to shop at once to be sure of obtaining what you will best like for Fall and Winter Wear

Such Stunning Suits are they so superply Tailored and finished and of such exclusive styles You will just have to see them to renlize their Smartness

HERE ARE FOUR OF OUR NEWEST MODELS

IN brown unfinished serge we are showing a very snappy model. The coat is smartly tailored, with small tucks and button trimming; the skirt plain tailored style with pockets and deep girdle. The price $65.00

A VERY exclusive New York model suit is shown in navy blue broadcloth; novelty tailored style, with seal collar, skirt tailored on straight lines, with two pockets. The price $110.00

ANOTHER smart stylish suit is obtainable in grey homespun. The coat in semi-Norfolk style. The skirt strictly tailored on straight lines. The price ... $50.00

TAUPE velour is used in the making of this very stylish garmetn. The coat is designed with inverted pleated back, with small cluster tucks and button trimmed. Plain tailored skirt with deep girdle. Price $90.00

As Fall Brings Them NEW TRIMMED HATS Tailored and Ready-to-Wear Styles to Sell To-morrow at $6.50

They seem to anticipate the autumn days of Fall with their many varied styles and colors that are really allurring, and they are so well made. We believe a distinct surprise awaits you. There are many lines of silk and velvet, some trimmed with ribbon, flowers, ostrich, and some with embroidered designs; soft brims, roll sailors and pokes. In fact, you will find just the Fall Hat you want here, in colors of black, beaver, brown, taupe and Wilson grey. All one price. Each a bargain. Saturday $6.50

Gloves and Hosiery

Washable Suede Gloves, $1.00 Pair

The popular fabric glove for Fall wear; washable Suede Gloves. Colors of white, black, grey, beaver and mastic. Plain backs. All sizes. Saturday Special, pair $1.00

Silk Gloves, 85c Pair

New Fall Silk Gloves, in either Queen Quality or Kayser make. All the popular new shades; plain points; double finger tips for extra wear. Saturday Special, pair 85c

Women's Fall Stockings, 75c Pair

Women's fine Cashmere finish Stockings; medium weight for mid-season wear; fashioned and seamless; black or white; all sizes. Saturday Special, pair 75c

Lisle Stockings, 65c Pair

Fall weight lisle Stockings for women, in colors of brown and grey; shaped leg; no seams; with double reinforcements where most wear occurs. All sizes. Saturday Special, pair 65c

PURE WHITE FLANNELETTE BLANKETS—REGULAR $4.50 SATURDAY $3.48 PAIR

60 Pairs only, the largest size and very best quality pure white Flannelette Blankets. These blankets have a nice soft fluffy finish, are very warm and exceptionally durable. Ends finished with lock stitching. Regular $4.50. Save a dollar. Saturday Bargain, pair .. $3.48

OUR DRESSMAKING AND LADIES' TAILORING DEPT.

Are now ready to book orders for the Autumn and Winter season and would emphasize to our customers the importance of having their orders in early so as to save disappointments later on in the season. We have on hand a nice selection of new Fall Silks and Suitings to choose from.

NEW FALL AND WINTER COATS

In styles that reveal the charm of the new Fall models. The most beautiful new novelty materials in all the new colors. Some have just come to us yesterday. We have a splendid big stock to choose from at prices ranging from $25.00 to $125.00

Corsets and Vests

Corsets For Fall Wear, $1.00 Pair

New Fall model Corsets, made from white coutil; medium high bust style, and finished with four strong elastic hose supporters. Saturday Special, pair $1.00

Cumfy Cut Vests, 23c

Saturday's price is much below the regular value. Women's white cotton knit Vests, in cumfy cut style, low neck and strap over shoulder. To clear, Saturday Special 23c

STORE OPENS 8.30 a.m. RICHARD HALL & SON LIMITED STORE CLOSES 9.30 p.m.

TORONTO DETECTIVE VISITS LINDSAY AFTER THIEVES

Lindsay, Sept. 5.—A detective was in town yesterday morning on his way to the north country in search of a party wanted in the city for theft and who, it was believed, was holidaying at a northern hamlet.

The accused and his wife had been carrying on systematic thieving on a large scale for some time, their loot consisting of an automobile, bonds, etc. The woman was arested in Toronto.

BIRTH

COCKS—At Nicholls Hospital, Sept. 4th, 1919, to Mr. and Mrs. J. J. Cocks, a daughter, Eleanor.

DIED

COCKS—At Nicholls Hospital, on Sept. 5th, 1919, Eleanor, infant daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. J. Cocks, 614 Reid street.

Referendum Committee

Attention Voters!

IS YOUR NAME ON THE VOTERS' LIST

Monday, September 8th is the last day on which it is possible to have your name added to the List.

To make sure, call up the Organizer, T. M. Wesley, He will tell you. PHONE Y.M.C.A. 246

ONE HUNDRED AUTOS WANTED FOR VOTING DAY

A. B. Cunningham,
Chairman Ref. Com.

Fresh south and southwest winds, showers in a few localities; mostly fair and quite warm today and on Sunday.

The Daily Review

8 PAGES

40th YEAR No. 55 Peterborough's Oldest Newspaper. PETERBOROUGH, ONTARIO, SATURDAY, SEPTEMBER 6, 1919. Price Two Cents per copy

CHANCELLOR OF AUSTRIA WILL SIGN TREATY WITH ALLIES EARLY NEXT WEEK

Austrian Press Vigorously Protests Against Terms of Pact—Dr. Karl Renner Says Entente Appreciates Austria's Economic Condition and Will Be Benevolent Towards Her.

Vienna, Sept. 6.—Dr. Karl Renner, head of the Austrian Peace delegation has informed newspapers correspondents here that he would return to St. Germain on Sunday, and sign the peace treaty handed Austria this week.

Benevolent Attitude.

The foregoing despatch reporting Dr. Rener, who is also Austrian Chancellor, as having decided to sign the Austrian peace treaty, comes in the face of numerous protests by the Austrian press against the treaty's terms. It seems in line, however, with remarks the chancellor is quoted as having made in St. Germain, Tuesday night, on the final draft of the treaty. He then declared that, while he thought that Austria in her reply should protest against the rigor of territorial clauses in the treaty, Allied communications showed that the economic situation of Austria was understood perfectly well by the peace conference, and that a benevolent attitude had been adopted in this connection, which has appeared to be a governing one in Austria's case.

The signing of the Austrian treaty now indicated as near at hand, will go far towards completing the work of the Peace Conference, the German treaty already having been disposed of, cleaning up of negotiations with Austria will leave little to be concluded.

WANT WOMEN IN NATIONS' LEAGUE

RESOLUTION TO THIS EFFECT ADOPTED AT CONFERENCE IN OLD LONDON.

MARY McARTHUR PRIME MOVER

DEVOTED HER LIFE TO CAUSE OF INDUSTRIAL WOMEN IN ENGLAND.

London, Sept. 6.—At a conference of women's organizations in London, on motion of Mary McArthur a resolution was adopted urging representation of women on each of the governing bodies of the League of Nations, and also that Governments of the various countries consult the most representative women's organizations in making the appointments.

Miss Mary MacArthur, who is Mrs. W. C. Anderson, in private life is secretary of the National Federation of Women Workers and secretary of the Women's Trade Union League. She has devoted her life to industrial women in England, and it was through Miss McArthur's efforts that the women chain makers' conditions at Cradley Heath were greatly improved.

Trade unions for women in England sprang into existence through Mary McArthur, who was instrumental, too, in securing an eight-hour day for munition workers during the war. One of the strongest points of the unions has been that the women have been paid the same wages as the men.

It was also Miss MacArthur who prophesied that at the conclusion of the war women would play an important part in the solution of the problems which would confront England.

FRENCH FARMERS SCOPE MOVEMENT

COMPLAIN THEY ALONE ARE VICTIMS OF PRICE FIXING BY GOVERNMENT.

KICK AT REDUCTION MEASURES

ORGANIZE IN DEFENCE OF INTERESTS BY CO-ORDINATING WORK OF ASSOCIATIONS.

Blois, France, Sept. 6.—Delegates representing 110,000 farmers in Central and Western France, in session here today, protested against "arbitrary measures to reduce the cost of living of which the farmers are alone the victims," denounced all "measures for fixing prices, real or disguised," and asked that on all committees charged with establishing selling prices of foodstuffs farmers should have the same representation as consumers.

The delegates condemned any limitation of the hours of work in farming, advocating unremitting toil to increase production and the limitation of selling prices of crops to a strictly equitable remuneration to farmers for their exacting work. The meeting decided to organize in defence of farmers' interests by co-ordinating the work of all agricultural associations, which will be federated into regional committees.

BOARD OF TRADE IN TOUCH WITH INDUSTRIES SEEKING SITES

Commendable Activities for Industrial and Civic Development of Peterboro City

At the Board of Trade's general meeting Thursday evening Vice-President Thos. Barrie, chairman of the Executive Committee, submitted a comprehensive report of work accomplished during the holiday season, and of the Board's standing in general. He prefaced his report with general remarks covering the various activities of the Board since the last meeting, May 9th, which included the fact that sixty-four meetings had been held in the council room by various committees of the Board.

He then went on to say that the committee felt that a well devised and satisfactory plan of organization and action has been envolved to guide the course of the Board for the future. He then touched on finances of the Board. He stated that the Board has now a membership of two hundred and eighty-eight but there was no reason whatever why this should not be increased to one thousand, this number including memberships from surrounding districts.

Industrial Growth.

Incorporation of the said administration much attention had been given to manufacturing industries, chiefly American, seeking location in Canada. Negotiations are now in progress and every facility of the Board has been used in analyzing the adaptability of Peterborough and specifying its advantages as a centre of specialized industry before enquiring corporations. The growth of industrial Peterborough is not dependent upon the competency of our Board of Trade or its staff of workers; it is dependent upon our collective concern and help. Much may be accomplished by united sympathy and practical helpfulness backed by the intelligence and business-like management of those we employ for actual negotiations. Without the former the latter is helpless.

Policies and Procedure.

He remarked that no spontaneous burst of enthusiasm could possibly have a lasting effect to attain the ideal, aggressive, purposeful and persistent Board of Trade but that the activities of the Board should be based on the best principles concerning the industrial and civic development of Peterborough, on a line that will gradually make the citizens of Peterborough feel their responsibility in their city and support any organization which has this object in view.

Public Work.

It is hoped in the future that each week may see the assembly of our members and their associations at luncheon or in meeting to discuss the many problems that have to do not only with our moral and industrial welfare but with the many problems touching the government and administration of our affairs as a city.

GENERAL HERTZOG WAS ROTTEN EGGED

MAN WHO WOULD SEVER SOUTH AFRICA MEETS WITH A HOT RECEPTION.

Pretoria, Sept. 6.—General Hertzog, South African Nationalist leader, who recently visited Europe to obtain sympathy for a project to cut off the South African Dominion from the British Empire, and make it an independent republic, was given a discouraging reception recently in Pietermaritzburg, where he was to have been banquetted.

Banquet Called Off.

The banquet was called off, and a crowd of workmen and others rotten-egged the Hertzog party, afterwards making a quiet demonstration of loyalty to Britain, singing the National Anthem, etc.

SUCCESSFUL CANDIDATES IN JUNIOR MATRICULATION EXAMS

Names Given Are Students in Peterborough City and County.

(Canadian Press Despatch)

Toronto, Sept. 6. — The following list contains the names of candidates who were successful in whole or in part on pass in the junior matriculation examination. Middle School Normal entrance candidates who were also candidates for matriculation have been considered in result.

The names of candidates writing the pass junior scholarship exams. for McMaster University, Toronto and for Queen's University, Kingston are not reported in this list(but will be published in a separate list at an early date.

Group 1.—Names of those who have passed.

Group 2 and 3.—Names are starred in subjects mentioned.

Group 1.

E. M. Allin, K. Anderson, C. A. R. Armstrong, H. Borland, M. Bridge, A. V. Batten, I. L. Bourk, A. C. Conway, D. T. Currie, R. M. Dixon, J. B. Elliott, M E. Garden, L. C. Howson, C. G. Hewson, A. Hood, G. D. Hodd, R. G. Huff, H. E. Jackson, A. A. McIntosh, F. G. Marshall, D. Mills, W. H. Mowatt, B. E. Park, J. A. Porteous, H. G. Pretty, M. B. Plumbett, H. C. Preston, M. G. Stinson, C. J. Theobald, A. B Zacks.

Group 2.

L. B. Gillespie (Anc. His.), M. E. Hunter (Alg), M. A. Stenton (Anc. Hist. Geom.), V. C. Stock (Anc. Hist.), H. N. Young (Anc Hist.).

Group 3.

E. T. W. alley (Lat. C. Fr. C.), M. A. M Bailey (Lat A.L.C. Fr. C.), B. G. Ballard (Lat. A. Lat. C. Fr. C.), M. Cavanaugh (B. and C. Hist., Alg., Lat. A.), F. L. Doupe (Lat. A.), M. E. Finn (B. and C. Hist., Anc. Hist., Lat. C.), M. H. Guerin (B. and C. Hist., Lat. A., Fr. C.), P. M. Irwin (Anc. Hist., Lat. A., Lat. C., Fr. C.), P. J. Lynch (B. and C. Hist.), J. A. Macdonald (Anc. Hist., Fr. C.), A R. McMillan (Lat. A., Lat. C.), M. A. Malott (Lat. A., Lat. C.), E. E Murphy (Eng. Lit., Lat. A., Lat C. Fr. C.), A. M. O'Connor (B. and C. Hist.), G. W. Payne (Fr. C.), G. F. Ross (Anc. Hist.), B. R. Scollard (Lat A.), E. F Sheehy (Alg. Lat. A., Lat. C., Fr. C.), G. D. Simpson (Phys., Fr. C.), A. F. White (Lat. A., Lat. C.).

SHOT GUNS QUELL MOB OF STRIKERS

THREE THOUSAND THREATENED ATTACK ON THREE WORKING MEN.

Hammond, Ind., Sept. 5.—Disorderly scenes were enacted in the Standard Steel Car strike zone here today when Hammond policemen with sawed off shot-guns dispersed a mob of strikers, who rushed to prevent the arrest of Paul Lukowski, a foreigner, who had narrowly missed wrecking an automobile by throwing a log beneath it from the roadside. Lukowski was arrested.

Guards of the Standard plant last night, at the point of their guns prevented a mob of 3,000 strikers from attacking three power plant men who were on their way home.

GIVE THEM BAIL OR WE'LL STRIKE

UNION ULTIMATUM IN SYMPATHY WITH INCARCERATED WINNIPEG STRIKE LEADERS.

GRAVE MENACE FACES COUNTRY

MAY HARDLY BE A WHEEL TURNING IN CANADA AFTER SEPT. 17TH.

Sydney, N.S., Sept. 6.—Unless the Winnipeg strike leaders now imprisoned in the west are released on bail before the 17th of this month, Canada will be tied up from coast to coast by a gigantic strike, embracing every industry under union control, according to a statement made to the Canadian Press to-day by J. B MacLachlan, United Mine Workers district Secretary.

Mr. MacLachlan represented the situation as serious in the extreme unless the authorities grant the Winnipeg men bail. The threatened strike will tie up the coal mines of this district and practically close down industry in Sydney. A gigantic mass meeting of district 26 is being arranged for Sunday next at Glace Bay, to be addressed by R. F. Blackstone of San Francisco, and Mr. MacLachlan.

Mr. MacLauchlan is authority for the information that four out of six of the board members of the district U. M. W. are prepared at the present time to advise striking here if bail is not granted to the western men before the time limit expires.

Great Menace.

The proposed strike is the most gigantic menace of the kind which ever threatened industry in Canada. If the plans of union officials as stated by Mr. MacLachlan, are carried out and the western authorities prove inflexible, there will hardly be a wheel turning across the whole breadth of the country from Vancouver east after the 17th.

Everything now depends upon the question of what action the western authorities will take toward meeting of opposing the nation-wide tareat of the union. Only 13 days remain for that question to be answered one way or the other. If both sides prove inflexible, only 13 days remain between Canada and the most gigantic walk-out the world has ever seen.

BETTER AID FOR RETURNED MEN

LIEUT.-COL. W. P. PURNEY, PRES. DOMINION G.W.V.A. STARTS ON TOUR.

(Canadian Press Despatch)

Ottawa, Sept. 6.—With view to obtaining for returned men of Canada considerable more financial aid than already given, Lieut.-Col. W. P. Purney, president of the Dominion G.W.V.A., will start immediately on speaking tour in Ontario and then to other provinces.

To Criticize Government.

Purney will address meetings of citizens and roundly criticize the Government for delay in settling establishment problems, etc. Converted action will then follow by the G.W.V.A. irf the Government does not shortly remedy things, said Purney today.

WILL PROSECUTE FIVE U. S. PACKERS

PECIAL GRAND JURY IN CHICAGO PAVING THE WAY TO THIS END.

Chicago, Sept. 6.—Despite earlier denials, it became positively known today that the Government, with a special grand jury, session here, is paving the way for prosecution of the "Big Five" Chicago packers, on charges of violations of the Sherman anti-trust law. Oliver E. Pagan, special assistant to United States Attorney General Palmer, who arrived in Chicago yesterday, to prepare the way for the court action, so stated.

The special food grand jury is rapidly disposing of the minor food profiteering, hoarding, liquor and routine cases and preparing for the big case which awaits them.

The jurors were heard discussing the packers' case, the presentation of which they await with impatience as they entered the star chamber in which their secret sessions are heard.

The steamer McGonagie took on at the port of Toledo a cargo of 15 16 tons of coal, besides 380 tons of fu

An impresive memorial service for the late General Botha was held in Westminster Abbey.

ALLEGED MURDERER GETS AWAY

Escapes While Being Taken to Edson on a Railway Speeder.

(Canadian Press Despatch)

Edmonton, Sept. 6. J. G. Larsen, who was arrested with the aid of an airplane and gasoline speeder on the charge of fatally shooting Police Constable Nixon, formerly of North Oxford, Ont., escaped from custody while being taken from mountain plains to Edson on a railway speeder. He is still at large.

"ZEP" NEWS BY WIRELESS

Warning of Coming Raids Before Airships Left Their Sheds.

London, Sept. 6. — Speaking at Burlington House, Col. H. de Watteville, R. E. gave some interesting information about air raids in England.

During the war 120 Zeppelins were built, and yet there were no more than 15 or 16 fit to take the air, he said.

"Wireless telegraphy played a very considerable part in the navigation of those ships over the water. We discovered this in 1915, and made full use of it.

"The actual apparatus had better not be described, but I can assure you that some of us in London actually knew half an hour before a ship left the sheds in Germany that a raid was coming to these shores."

MEMORIAL TO AIR RAIDS VICTIMS

KEEP MEMORY OF EIGHTEEN CHILDREN EVER GREEN.

London, Sept. 6.—More secrets of London's defences against raids by Gothas and Zeppelins were revealed by Major-General E. B. Ashmore, when he unveiled a memorial at Poplar to the eighteen children who were killed in their class room at the corner North-street L. C. C. school during the raid on June 13, 1917.

Speaking as the officer to whom was entrusted the duty of organizing London's air defences, Major-General Ashmore said the authorities did not know at the time how decisive was their victory.

Personally, he felt at the time of the last raid that the enemy would not try to get to London again.

Between that day and the signing of the armistice he had perfected a new system of defences, and

When November 11, 1918, came the defence of London were at least four times as strong as they were on the previous May 19.

Convincing the Huns.

Up to the raid which killed the children at Poplar, the enemy had come in the day time with impunity.

It was after this that the deefnces more day raids made with a view they were in progress there were two more day raids wade with a view reaching London. One was stopped at Southend, and the other at Ramsgate, and at the latter place the guns shot down two of the raiders.

ACTORS' STRIKE IS DECLARED OFF

VIRTUALLY A COMPLETE VICTORY FOR ACTORS' EQUITY ASSOCIATION.

BUT OPEN SHOP IS ACCEPTED

200 THEATRES OPEN TO-DAY AFTER DARKENED HOUSES FOR FOUR WEEKS.

(Canadian Press Despatch)

New York, Sept. 6.—The actors' strike, which started nearly four weeks ago in New York, and resulted in the closing of nearly two hundred theatres in this and other United States cities, was called off early this morning under an agreement which was declared to be virtually a complete victory for the Actors' Equity Association.

Agree to Open Shop.

Augusts Thomas, playwright, who arranged the conference, announced that the actors had agreed to an "open shop" and that all other differences had been adjusted.

Francias Wilson, president of the Equity, stated that the settlement was satisfactory to both sides.

Theares Open Today.

It is expected that theatres will reopen today. It was the action of stage hands late last night in ordering its members out of theatres throughout the country where Shubert shows are playing, it was said, that has broken the back of managers' of the opposition.

During the past week dogs have killed almost 200 sheep in the district around Kingston, one farmer losing thirty Thursday night.

WILL STAY ON JOB TILL HE SIGNS PEACE TREATY FOR ROUMANIA

Premier Will Then Resign Luxuries Are Forbidden in Austria.

(Canadian Press Despatch)

Vienna, Friday, Sept 25).—J. J. C. Bratiano, Roumanian premier, declares that in spite of his desire to retire before the coming elections, he has decided to retain office in order to take personal responsibility for not signing the treaty of peace for Roumania, according to special telegrams from Bucharest. He says that following this action in regard to the treaty with Austria he will resign from office.

Luxuries Forbidden.

Vienna, Sept. 6. Bulgaria has issued a decree forbidding importations of all luxuries, including liquors and furniture, and permitting the export only of tobacco, attar of roses, lamb and goat skins and wool.

Active Communist.

Vienna, Sept. 6.—Kurt Rade, described as a German Spartacist, has been arrested by the police here. It being charged that he has been active in Communist circles in this city and was organizer of several recent demonstrations here.

BAV. COMMUNISTS CHARGED WITH KILLING HOSTAGES, ON TRIAL

PETITION DOUBTFUL!

Ottawa, Sept. 6.—The report of a petition being signed in Peterborough for the recall of its member, and the acceptance of the challenge by Mr. Burnham, is regarded here as placing the Government in an embarrassing position. It is naturally not desired to run a bye-election on an issue of the continuation in office.

Mr. Burnham informed the Government yesterday that it was not his fault.

U. S. RHINE ZONE ENLARGED

Foch Doubles Amount of Territory Under American Control.

Coblenz, Germany, Sept. 5.—Marshal Foch, the allies' commander in chief, has decided upon the extent of the territory in the Rhineland to be held permanently by American troops. Its area is twice that under the jurisdiction of American forces since the departure of the last combat division.

Man and Woman, in Danger of Execution, Openly Engaged in Flirtation in Court

(Canadian Press Despatch)

Munich, Bavaria, Sept. 6.—The examination of Bavarian Communist leaders charged with killing of Hostages during the uprising of last February ended with the taking of testimony of the last two of the defendents, Voelkel and a student named Peter Neier. The last named evoked great interest on account of his relations with Hill Cramer, a well-known Communist.

Admitted Signing Order.

The woman sat beside defendant, and openly flirted with him during the trial. He admitted that he received his order to shoot Hostages from Fritzie Seidl, former Bolshevik commander of Luippold High School, and transferred it to Iglhofer with his counter signature initial.

Witnesses testified again today as to the alleged participation of Levine Nissenand, Dr. Max Levien, Russian Communist leaders and M. Axelrod, a Russian Radical, in every crime.

GENERAL BOTHA HONORED

His Majesty Represented at Impressive Memorial Service.

(Canadian Press Despatch)

London, Sept. 6.—An impressive memorial service for the late Gen. Botha was held at Westminster Abbey. Gen. Birdwood represented His Majesty, and among others present were: Right Hon. A. Bonar Law, Right Hon. Geo. A. Roberts and various high commissioners and agents general, representatives of state departments and numerous other distinguished persons besides a number of members of the Dutch reformed church and non-conformists churches.

Carman Bresse, two-year-old son of Raymond Bresse of Addison, near Brockville, was drowned in a tank in his father's frmyard.

UNCOVER HUNDREDS OF DEAD.

London, Eng., Sept 6.— Several hundred bodies, which were hidden in Budapest, have been discovered by Roumanian troops in that city, according to a Basel despatch to the Exchange Telegraph Co.

THE DAILY REVIEW

ESTABLISHED 1879.
MEMBER OF THE CANADIAN PRESS, LIMITED.
THE DAILY REVIEW is published every afternoon at 6 o'clock (holidays and Sundays excepted) by The Peterborough Review Company, Limited, 166-168 Hunter Street.
SUBSCRIPTION PRICE, $3.00 per year by mail to any part of Canada or Great Britain; $4.00 per year delivered to any part of the city
THE WEEKLY REVIEW, established 1852, is published every Thursday morning at 10 o'clock. Subscription price $1.50 per year to any part of Canada or Great Britain or $2.00 a year to the United States.
U. S. Representative—Robert E. Douglas, Chicago.
BOARD OF DIRECTORS:
A. H. STRATTON, President and General Manager; E. A. PECK, ex-M.L.A.; T. F. MATTHEWS and JAMES LYNCH.
TELEPHONES:
Business Dept .... 139 Editorial 436
Mr. Stratton's Residence ... 321

"FOR A GREATER PETERBOROUGH."

SATURDAY, SEPT. 6, 1919.

LUDENDORFF'S MEMORIES.

GENERAL LUDENDORFF'S memories of the great war will be among the most notable of the personal reminiscences of the campaign to go down in history. The volume is published in Germany and printed in England in instalments.

The first instalment deals with the earlier days of the war, from its commencement to the events in the autumn and winter of 1914 and the spring of 1915. "The coup de main on the fortress of Liege" is "a favorite recollection" of his life as a soldier. Ludendorff was with the first German column to enter Belgium. He tells us that the plans of campaign of August, 1914, were the conception of "one of the greatest soldiers who ever lived—General Count von Schlieffen. It was planned by him for the event of France's not respecting the neutrality of Belgium, or of Belgium's joining up with France. He insists, as we might have expected, on the necessity for a rapid decision against France if Germany "was to meet in time the great danger of a Russian thrust in the heart of Germany." "They were all convinced," says Ludendorff, "of the soundness of the deployment through Belgium; in the neutrality of Belgium nobody believed."

Ludendorff proceeds to describe his part in the operations against Liege, which, he points out, were conducted by troops composed of quickly mobilised mixed infantry brigades not brought up to full strength.

"The brigades pushed against Liege had a difficult task. It required unexampled audacity to try to pierce the fortifications of a modern fortress. The men were uneasy." He gathered from the officers that there was little confidence in the success of the enterprise.

Of the early operations of the German army of invasion in France Ludendorff tells us nothing. But before the German armies in the West received a single check, the Russian armies under Rennenkampf and Samsonoff had invaded East Prussia; and Renenkampf's advance was in particular very menacing.

It was on August 22 that the general received a letter summoning him to G.H.Q., which were then at Coblenz, and informing him that he had been appointed Chief of the Staff to the Eighth Army in East Prussia. General Moltke told him in his letter that there was no other man in whom he had such absolute trust; he was asked to make a "sacrifice" in leaving France, but that he might be able to save the situation in the East and to prevent the worst from happening. The new Commander-in-Chief in the East was von Hindenburg, and with their meeting at Hanover on August 23 began the association between Ludendorff and Hindenburg which lasted without interruption to the end of the war.

The situation in the East was by this time very serious, and it had actualy been decided to fall back behind the Vistula in accordance with the scheme that had often been practiced by von Schlieffen. Ludendorff vetoed the retirement behind the Vistula, and as the result of his extremely clever manoeuvres the Germans won the great victory of Tannenberg.

The general gives a very interesting and important account of this decisive encounter. Tannenberg was a break-through, conditioned by the fact that the two Rusian invading armies were out of touch; and what Ludendorff did was to draw nearly all the troops from the Niemen to the Narev front. The thinnest screen of cavalry was left to oppose Rennenkampf, and the entire strength of the German army in East Prussia was concentrated against Samsanoff. It was Ludendorff's only chance, but for all that it was one of the biggest gambles in military history, and there were moments when it seemed as though the result might be disaster.

We have an account of several incidents of the battle from the pen of General Ludendorff and his opinion of the victory:

"General Samsonoff shot himself. He was buried without being identified, not far from Willenberg. His wife, who was in Germany engaged on the affairs of prisoners of war, was able to trace the grave by means of a medallion which was taken from the dead general's neck as a token of recognition when he was buried.

"The enmey's casualties were heavy. The widely circulated story that the Russians were driven in thousands into swamps and perished there is a myth. Far and wide there was not a swamp to be found. One of the most brilliant battles in the history of the world had been fought. This feat of arms had been performed by troops who had been fighting for weeks and not with uniform success. For this we had alone to thank our army organization in time of peace. For the commander and for the troops, for officer and man, for the whole Fatherland, the battle is a page of glory.

"In Germany and Austria-Hungary there was jubilation—the world was silent.

"At my suggestion the battle was named the Battle of Tannenberg, in memory of the fight in which the Teutonic knights succumbed before the united Lithuanian and Polish armies.

"Will the German now as then suffer Lithuanians, and especially the Pole, to make capital out of our impotence and to do us violence? Shall centuries of old German kultur have been in vain?"

Ludendorff's anxieties in Russia were not by any means all removed by the victory of Tannenberg, and one-third of the whole text of his book is consumed with the details of the operations in the autumn and winter of 1914 and the summer of 1915 which relieved Germany from danger on the side of Russia. These details, though of less importance to us, are of immense interest to all Germans of East Prussia, and Ludendorff is undoubtedly right in regarding the Russian rather than the French campaign as the main theatre in 1915. He dismisses the British and French offensives in 1915 in a very few words, but he admits that the "critical engagements" near La Bassee and Arras in May gave G.H.Q. much anxiety, and "illustrated the responsibility assumed by G.H.Q. when they risked a decisive battle in the East." The Eleventh Army of von Mackensen which won the great action of Gorlice, in the offensive against Russia in May, consisted, it seems, principally of troops drawn from the Western frontier. Ludendorff praises Mackensen as a "brilliant soldier whose deeds will live in history for all time." Ludendorff admired the leading of the Russian armies by the Grand Duke Nicholas, whom he describes as a really great strategist. Of Austria he is contemptuous.

"Austria-Hungary had been very negligent. As an allied power, we should have known how to prevent it. Had the Dual Monarchy and the Austro-Hungarian army accomplished even half of what could properly have been expected of them, German troops need not have been hurried in such masses to reinforce their fronts. In the long run we should have had more troops at our disposal for the Western front.

"I admit that Austria-Hungary complained that we had failed in France in the autumn of 1914, and that they had been exposed single-handed to Russia's overwhelming numbers. In any case, it was fatal for us that we were allied with decaying States like Austria-Hungary and Turkey..... Our responsible authorities had realized that the Dual Monarchy had become the 'Sick Man of Europe,' but failed to draw the correct conclusions from it."

He also formed a bad opinion of Hungarian politics. A strong and masterful people, the Magyars lacked understanding "of the common interests of Austria-Hungary and the just wishes and needs of the numerous nationalities living in Hungary." Again, he writes: "Hungary.....misused her position to further a disastrous foreign policy on the part of the empire against Serbia and Roumania. Unfortunately, we made no protest."

MR. CARNEGIE'S WILL.

ANDREW CARNEGIE gave away more than $350,000,000 for educational, philanthropic and eleemosynary objects in his life. At his death he left from $25,000,000 to $30,000,000. Virtually he gave away all but a small portion of his enormous fortune. His will is an interesting and characteristic document. He had provided for his family in his lifetime. His will is substantially a series of bequeats to institutions, such as the Hampton Institute, the Stevens Institute, the Cooper Union; to various old friends, distinguished and undistinguished. He remembered his old butler and housekeeper, and "Nannie Lockerbie, our nurse," and "Maggie Anderson, our old servant," the household servants, the paper, and other functionaries at Skibo. The Skibo laborers who had worked for him two years were not forgotten. Rent is remitted to his crofters, at least to such of them as have a good name among their people. Written in his own hand, without punctuation, in this part of the will we seem to hear Mr. Carnegie talking, after a retrospect and kind thoughts of many friends, humble and illustrious. "We are blessed with fine people on the Skibo estate." In this the dead man seems alive and speaking to us.

The surviving estate is charged with a long series of annuities, some to relatives, more to friends, some of them friends of many years. The annuities to the former Mrs. Cleveland, to Mrs. Roosevelt, and to Mr. Taft may be regarded as a means of calling popular attention to the propriety, in Mr. Carnegie's opinion, of providing sufficient pensions for Presidents when they leave office. They also express by implication Mr. Carnegie's admiration for three statesmen of high character and achievement, differing remarkably in their characteristics from one another. Mr. Carnegie was catholic in his admirations and his friendships.

The annuity of $10,000 to "John Morley London (lifelong friend)" is unconsciously a tribute to the testator as well as to the annuitant. The friendship of a man like John Morley, a sagacious, thoughtful and highly accomplished man, is not lightly given. John Burns, who has come up from the ranks, a sincere and genuine labor statesman, not of the contemporary Labor party sort, is remembered with an annuity of $5000. Mr Lloyd George's annuity of $10,000 will probably produce more sensation and surprise in England than here. This cobbler's ward of genius will not always have an official salary to live on. He has been long divorced from practice as a solicitor. Mr Carnegie's bequest assures him a modest independence, which may be of great help to him in not distant political struggles which are likely to call for the use of all his powers of mind and character. This bequest, too, is more than a bequest. It is a judgment and an approval.

Mr Carnegie was a salient and original character, full of life; and such he shows himself even in his will.

OPINIONS OF OTHER EDITORS.

GERMAN PERIL REMAINS.

(New York Times.)

That there is to be a German menace in the future the sub-committee (of the Senate judiciary committee) does not doubt, and on this point it is refreshing to find senators sending a jet of cold common sense into the smoke that beclouds Washington on so many subjects. There has been too much disposition to believe that democratic Germany is a whit less militaristic or disposed to conquest than was imperialistic Germany; or for that matter less imperialistic, for imperialistic republics have been frequent in history. The German eagle did not turn into a dove by moulting its Hohenzollern feathers.

THE CAPTURED GUNS.

(London Chronicle.)

Strong feeling prevails in army circles, we are told, over the action of certain towns refusing to accept captured German guns as trophies of local battalions. The guns mean much to the men who lived in trenchland, and emphatic protests are likely to be made if, as is suggested, the continued refusals lead to the pieces being melted down. The enemy guns were hated during the long years of war, but because of the price that had to be paid for their possession—because of their associations—they deserve a better fate than that of the furnace.

SPIRIT OF THE WEST

(By Leona.)

Alone on the prairie and the silvery shade of a western twilight softly closing around. Restless sweeps of ripened grain reaching out to the very brink of the far distant horizon, sway and quiver in the scented breeze like a sea of liquid gold. Away to the west the crimson sun is sinking beneath the golden sea, tinting earth and sky with the brilliant play of a grandeur that is almost celestial. Fleecy clouds of amethyst rimmed with fire float in a sea of ethereal vastness, and over all the soft pink glow of a wild rose. But the beauty is too rare to live beyond a brief few minutes. And soon the grateful after-glow steals the vividness away—subdues the splendor with the charm of a gentle pearl-grey mist. It is the stillness—the immense and pulsing calm of a prairie twilight. There is no sound to break the perfect spell.

"For here the winds are sweet with many flowers,
And quiet as a sleeping baby's breath."

Then the first clear note of a nightingale pierces the dusk like a silver bar, and soon the evening air is alive with a glorious melody. A curling, smoky wreath issues from the tiny cabin that is set among the wheat lands, and as the velvety star-gemmed darkness closes swiftly down, its single pane glows with the light of a softly shaded lamp. Truly, in the words of a modern song, "this is the life." Close to the great beating heart of Nature—here in our young Canadian West, is the chance to live. Here, 'mid the wave-kissed winds that blow over the great distance—'mid the speaking solitudes, the "silences of God," is the chance for the development of all that is really great in a human life. Here is the chance for health, and where, if not here, can that longing for liberty—that craving for freedom that is so deeply implanted in a human heart, find expression? Full and perfect freedom — freedom from the pain, the anxious worry of a life in the world of people; freedom from conventionality and the social strain. Here is the ideal setting for the upbuilding of that force called character—for the perfect growth of that divine power called personality. It will make a man of a mere parasite. It will develop the blessed initiative that slumbers in his soul and break the bonds that bind him to others, to think for him, reason for him, act for him. It will throw him upon his own resources and make an individual of him. Considering the sublimest matters that can affect mankind, both intellectual and spiritual, here is ample opportunity for intercourse with the master minds of every age in the written word. These days a number of people pride themselves on their extensive reading, but is it not quite apparent that they read too much and think too little? Not so with the prairie dweller. He reads little, but thinks much, and usually to advantage. Perhaps he has not the benefit of that tolerance, that sympathetic outlook that comes from contact with people. But his is the broadened vision of one who stands apart and views the struggle of life from an elevated plane. Yes, "this is the life" alone with God—on the prairie.

WHY BEAUTY FADES

A CONDITION DUE ENTIRELY TO POOR, WATERY BLOOD.

The girl who returns home from school or room work thoroughly tired out will be fortunate if she escapes a physical breakdown, because this getting tired so easily is probably the first warning symptom of a thinning blood that must not be disregarded if her health is to be preserved.

When the blood becomes thin and impure the patient becomes thin, pale, haggard and angular. She not only tires out easily but suffers from headaches, palpitation of the heart, dizzy spells and a loss of appetite. This condition will go from bad to worse, until perhaps fatal consumption sets in, if prompt steps are not taken to increase and enrich the blood supply. To make the rich, red blood that brings the glow of health, no medicine yet discovered can equal Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. If given a fair trial their use brings rosy cheeks, bright eyes, a good appetite and good spirits. Dr. Wiliams' Pink Pills have made thousands of pale, languid girls active and strong. On the first sign of poor, thin blood mothers should insist upon their daughters taking a fair course of these pills. They will not only restore health, but will save further doctor bills.

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills can be obtained from any dealer in medicine or by mail at 50 cents a box or six boxes for $2.50 from the Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

Rainy River Liberals nominated E. J. Callaghan as Provincial Legislative candidate.

BANKING HOURS:
GENERAL BANKING HOURS
10.00 a.m. to 3.00 p.m.
SATURDAYS:
9.30 a.m. to 12.00 noon
E. J. H. VANSTON, Manager

A little capital

"IF ONLY I had a little capital, look where I might have been to-day!"

Are you going to be one of the men who say that after you have passed middle age, or are you going to be one of those who "got there" because you had that "little capital" when your chance came?

Most big business concerns and large fortunes had small beginnings.

The men who accomplish things are not the idle rich but the ambitious, industrious men, rich or poor.

A little money saved each week and deposited in the Bank of Toronto can be the beginning of your life venture. With the interest it earns it does not take long to accumulate capital sufficient for a start. The more you have for your beginning, the surer is your success.

We invite your banking account.

THE BANK OF TORONTO

FORCEFUL ADJECTIVES BY BILLY SUNDAY IN ANTI-LIQUOR SERMON

How Great Baseball Moralist Drives for the Home Plate

"I never utter the name of the Kaiser or mention the saloon without feeling afterwards that I need a disinfectant of formaledhyde or carbolic acid."

Where the liquor traffic holds sway the children do not laugh and the women do not sing."

"We had to get into the game (the war) or shut our darn mouth."

"The liquor traffic respects neither youth nor old age nor wit nor wisdom, and neither did Germany.'

"I would rather sleep in a graveyard under the British flag than ride in a Pierce-Arrow under the German rag."

"I hope to see that other monster the foulstench distributor, joy dispeller, pain inflicter, the liquor traffic, put out of its hellish business.'

"I have never heard an American soldier that does not exhaust his vocabulary in trying to find words to tell the way this bunch from Canada can fight."

"We don't see all the wigwagging and all the emaouflage that teh, wh key interests are putting up."

"Any man who believes in the saloon is a bonehead."

"Germany lost out when she turned from Jesus Christ to Krupp."

"The liquor traffic respects neither youth nor old age not wit nor wisdom. Neither did Germany. She laid her hand on these qualities of human existence, which if rightly used would have made a paradise out of this world. But they made a surging, seething, burning, cauldron of hell. If the whiskey people could, they would make the old world a puking, spewing, vomiting, maudlin, staggering, bleary-eyed, tottery wreck.

"I will fight booze as long as I can stand up. I will kick it as long as there is a kick left in my body. I will gum it as long as there is a tooth left in my head and until hell freezes over. I will never, never give up.

GOOD OPPORTUNITIES

Study the advertisements in the Daily and Weekly Review. They are replete with attractive opportunities for buying cheaply.

St. Thomas, Ont. may become godmother to the village of St. Thomas in the Argonne, Northern France.

Charles Green, Southampton, was chosen as candidate for the Legislature by the Conservative Association of West Bruce.

The four-year-old son of Dr. Alex. Clark, V.S., died of swallowing a poisonous pill such as his father made use of.

"Benny" Leonard, lightweight champion of the world, defeated Soldier Bartfield, a welterweight, at Philadelphia.

SCATTER SEEDS OF KINDNESS

Be kind to the unfortunate—
Have pity on the wight
Who, through some evil trick of fate
Has never started right.
The very man whose timid plea
For succor you refuse
Some day a millionaire may be
And own a stock of booze.

Spurn not a sister in distress,
Though blackened be her eye,
Though wild her manner, soiled her dress,
Ah! do not pass her by;
For if you crush her with a glance
How foolish you will look
If later on, by any chance,
You learn that she's a cook.

Stretch forth a helping hand to him
Who calls on you for aid—
A man whom circumstances grim
A woeful wreck have made.
Some day he may come out on top
And you will get a jar,
If ever he's a traffic cop
The day you speed your car.

Do not refuse the hungry man
Who asks you for a meal
Respond as freely as you can
To his low voiced appeal.
For you will have a horrid shock
If he should be by chance
Inspecting baggage on the dock
The day you land from France.

POINTED PARAGRAPHS.

A poor excuse is worse than none
Too often there is a sting back of honeyed words.

Some people do odd things for the purpose of getting even.

But the mother always has an excuse for the juvenile terror

When in need of a good line of talk, patronize a telephone company.

And the green grocer is in a position to acquire a lot of ripe experience.

Our idea of a hopeless liar is a person who says he never makes mistakes.

If a man is able to collect his thoughts he can pull through without borrowing trouble.

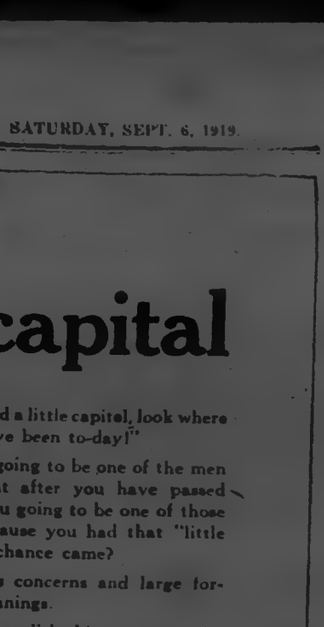
A man may be poor and proud, but who ever heard of a man's being rich and humble?

When the busy little bee gets a load he goes straight home—which is more than any man can do.

Life is usually worth living unless a cruel fate tosses you up against a fashionable boarding house.

Wood's Phosphodine,
The Great English Remedy.
Tones and invigorates the whole nervous system, makes new Blood in old Veins. Cures Nervous Debility, Mental and Brain Worry, Despondency, Lack of Energy, Impotence of the Male, Failing Memory. Price $1 per box, six for $5. One will please, six will cure. Sold by all druggists or sent in plain form on receipt of price. THE WOOD CHEMICAL CO., TORONTO, ONT. Formerly Windsor, Ont.

MICKIE SAYS



FRIENDS, DONT NEVER GIT TH' IDEA THAT I'M SORE AT YA, JEST BECUZ I HOLLER ONCE IN A WHILE! ALL I HOPE IS 'AT YOU LIKE ME AS WELL AS I LIKE YOU AN' IF YOU'LL JEST ACT ON A FEW OF THESE TIPS I'M PASSIN' OUT, IT'LL TAKE ALL TH' GRIEF OUT'N THE NEWSPAPER AN' EV'RY DAY'LL BE JEST LIKE HEAVEN 'ROUND THIS OFFICE! OH, BOY!!!

The Bulgarian Peace Treaty has been virtually completed. Across to the Aegean Sea is to be granted.

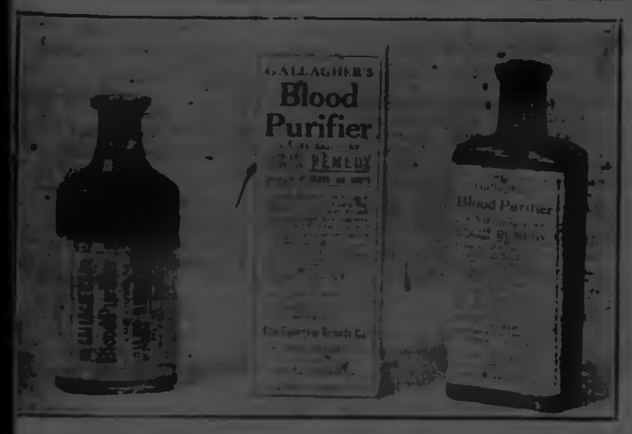
The Commercial Cable Company has announced that messages for Great Britain and points beyond can only be accepted subject to delay

Premier Venizelos of Greece will confer with Premier Lloyd George at Peauville. The Thracian question will likely form part of the material for discussion.

George Gitzas of Kingston died as a result of burns received when his gasoline popcorn roaster exploded.

DODD'S KIDNEY PILLS
FOR ALL KIDNEY DISEASE
RHEUMATISM
BRIGHT'S DISEASE
BACKACHE
DIABETES
23 THE PILLS

CLOCKS
: the Gift Kind :
Best assortment in the city of French Marble Clocks, Fancy Boudoir Clocks, Mantel Clocks, Bronze and Ornamental Clocks.
Prices moderate; Values defy competition.
Schneider's
367 George St. Next Turnbull's



OLD STYLE BOTTLE NEW STYLE BOTTLE AND CARTON

Gent familiar with GALLAGHER'S BLOOD PURIFIER, the great ...b loxative. Take it for the stomach, liver or bowels. Take it instead ...f pills, salt or mineral drugs. A spoonful at night will keep your bowels ...ight. For sale by Warne Drug Co., City; W. Hunter, Fowler's Corners; ... A. Jobe, Bridgenorth; R. Killean, Ennismore; Jas. Guiry, Downeyville; ... Hastie, Lang; G. T. Gall, Keene; Fred Collins, Stuart's Hall; P. G. ...owns, Douro; A. F. Choate, Warsaw; H. A. Shearer, Buckhorn; W. Thomp...on, Mt. Julian; Ed Young, Young's Point.

A FAMILY FAVORITE FOR FORTY YEARS.

TRANSPORTATION COM. BOARD OF TRADE TO TACKLE MANY PROBLEMS

...ave Already Secured Express Freight Concessions and Earlier Arrival of Toronto Morning Train.

The Transportation Committee ...mitted to its Board of Trade in ...neral session Thursday night, the ...llowing:

Gentlemen: Your committee on ...nsportation respectfully reports ...t during the short time since it ...s organized, and with the advent ... the vacation period, it has not ... possible to take up many prob... which effect this city and county ... a whole, but, we hope to deal with ... in the near future in their or...

Change in Train Time.

The first omplaint which reached ...r committee was in regard to the ...e arrival of the C.P.R. local from ...nto. On the representations of ...r committee, assisted by other ... of the board, Mr. W. B. ...ward, D. P. A., C. P. R., consented ... to set this train ahead from 9:25 ... to 8:10 p.m. arrival at Peterboro ...nning time.

Express Freight Improvement.

Next was the application of the ...press Traffic Association of Can... to the Board of Railway Commis...ers for approval of Sup. 13 to ...press classification No. 3. The important feature of this supplement ... that the express companies pro...ed to refuse to carry any piece ... freight in excess of 500 lbs. Your ...mittee made representations to ... Board of Railway Commissioners ...jecting to this arbitrary rule and, ... a result, this restriction was modi... to the extent that the shipper ... consignee or such pieces of ...ght may do their own carting and ... the express companies must not ...se to accept such articles.

Canadian Car Service.

The third proposition was an appli... to the Board of Railway Com...ners for a modification of Rule ... the Canadian Car Service rules. ... Board, in connection with Toron... Board of Trade, Canadian Manu...rs' Association and Dominion ...s' Association, made personal ...ntation at Ottawa before the ...f commissioner but in view of the ...t that the United States Railroad ...ministartion had embargoed Can...an grain through American ports ... year, it, therefore, resulted that ... Commissioners did not feel justi...d at this time in making any re...tion in car service charges. Nor...lly 62 per cent of our grain crop ...es to the ocean transport through ...erican ports and a severe car ...ortage may soon be expected in popular.

Canada resulting from the action of American railroads.

Fourth, your committee urged an improvement of the freight service on the C. P. R. to and out of Peterborough between Montreal and Toronto. A conference was held with Mr. Humphries, superintendent C. P. R., Mr. Girouard, assistant superintendent and Mr. W. S. Dood, local agent. The result of this conference are that Mr. Humphrey is endeavoring to settle this matter favorably for Peterborough and will advise us the results of his investigation and suggested improvement later.

Fifth, your committee, recently wrote the Board of Railway Commissioners asking that they give consideration to the matter of Average Car Demurrage the evidence in connection with which has been placed before them.

In addition, your committee has registered its address with the Board of Railway Commissioners and, in future, will receive notices of sittings on transportation matters affecting the public. We have also filed our address with the chairman of the Canadian Freight Association, and in future, supplements and reissues of the Canadian freight classification will be submitted to us in proof form, which will enable your committee to examine and register any objections with the Board of Railway Commissioners or with the Canadian Freight Association and appear before either bodies when necessity demands it.

The Recommendation.

First, your committee feels that the council of this Board should consider making representations to the Government, urging them to vigorously prosecute the building of our Canadian merchant marine. The embargo instituted by the United States Railroad Administration has the effect of limiting our possibilities of a world market as our tide water ports have not elevator accommodation for our entire crop on a prompt movement basis. The Government should also be pressed to extend their activity to establishing a merchant marine connecting Port Arthur and Fort William with the British Isles and other world markets by all water routes.

Second: your committee recommend prompt action, in conjunction with our municipal officials and those of the municipalities affected, in pressing our claims on the Hydor-Electric Power Commission of Ontario for Electric Railway service with Cobourg and north from this city into as a part of the Kawartha Regional plan, thereby giving us a direct connection from our unrivaled chain of lakes and rivers, with the States of England. This offers a shorter and quicker route than the Buffalo Gate-

Third: in the matter of good roads your committee understands that it is the intention of the Ontario Highways Department to vigorously push the laying of a permanent highway from Toronto east, next spring, we, therefore, recommend to the council of the board, a newspaper propaganda setting forth our claims for a place on the Provincial highway and back this up by energetic influence and with a representative deputation to Toronto, accompanied by the local Motor League officers, municipal authorities, County Council officials and representatives of adjacent municipalities that would benefit from good roads.

W. S. CAMPBELL.
Chairman.

EDITOR'S MAIL

UNITY OF FARMERS AND UNION MEN

Editor Review: While I was watching the procession Labor Day the though came to me that the man who earns his bread by the sweat of his brow had come to realize that he has some claim to the comforts and pleasures that this old world owes him. He has found out that he has been the under dog long enough.

Now, as a farmer, I wish to use the word "we", as we are one of the laboring class. Any man who makes his living farming—does not have much time to spend at the summer resorts. He who by the plow would thrive himself must either hold or drive. Now, my idea in writing to the laboring class is to get together. There can be no misunderstanding between us that cannot be straightened out. We all have to work hard for a living and to help to keep the man, who won't work besides.

As we are about to have an election soon, why not the Labor unions and the farmers get together and select a candidate for both houses. One who will pledge himself to see that the working man's interests are looked after. The man who earns his living without suffering pains in his back or blisters on his hands is always ready to see that he has the proper man there to look after his interests. I am quite confident that arrangements could be made whereby the laboring class in the cities could get his supplies from the farmer cheaper than he is doing today. As the time is short I would like to hear some discussion on this question, for I think it is of vital interest to the working man.

Come, brother laborer, let us get together at once.

R. M. SCOTT, Smith.

POTATOES BY WEIGHT.

Editor Review: I see by your report that the chief inspector of weights and measures recommended our Council to pass a bylaw requiring that potatoes be sold by weight instead of by measure, which he admits is a proper subject for the Legislature to consider.

Such a usurpation of the functions of the Legislature by a municipal council is not authorized by the Municipal Act. Even if such power was vested in the municipal council, it would be unwise to pass such a measure, as it is desirable that there should be uniformity in the law throughout the Province.

To weigh potatoes instead of measuring them would be putting a premium on wet, soggy potatoes grown on wet or heavy clay soil, which are always heavier than the good, dry, mealy potatoes grown on sandy loam. It is to be hoped the Council will leave it in the hands of the Legislature, where it properly belongs.

Yours truly,
VEGETARIAN

CHOLERA INFANTUM

Cholera Infantum is one of the fatal ailments of childhood. It is a trouble that comes on suddenly, especially during the summer months and unless prompt action is taken little one may soon be beyond aid. Baby's Own Tablets are an ideal medicine in warding off this trouble. They regulate the bowels and sweeten the stomach and thus prevent all the dreaded summer complaints. They are an absolutely safe medicine being guaranteed by a government analyst to contain no opiates or narcotics or other harmful drugs. They cannot possibly do harm — they always do good. The Tablets are sold by medicine dealers or by mail at 25 cents a box from the Dr. Williams Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

With President Veeck of the Chicago National League club looking on Okrie of London was beaten by Hamilton by 4 to 0.

Zutoo

Cures headache in 20 minutes by the clock. 25c per box.

NOW is the time to consider the purchase of Electrical Fixtures:—

JUST ARRIVED

A complete new line of Electrical Fixtures and Table Lamps. All Latest Designs. Your inspection respectfully invited.

We also carry a complete and Up-to-the-minute Stock of Automobile Accessories, and are Agents for K. & S. Tires. The highest guaranteed Tire in the whole Universe

GRANT & THORPE

Telephone 798

WILLARD SERVICE STATION—418 GEORGE ST. PETERBORO

ON TOP

London Kellogg's

For the past twelve years the

Genuine Original

Kellogg's TOASTED

CORN FLAKES

The Big Package

MADE only in London, Ontario, have climbed continually higher and higher in the estimation of the Canadian public. They are on top, and will continue to be on top because their delightful flavour can not be equalled.

The package has been imitated but the high quality of the GENUINE ORIGINAL crisp, tasty flakes has never been equalled.

Be sure the words, "Made in Canada," and "London, Ont." are printed in red ink on the face of the red, white and green package.

All others are imitations.

Prepared and toasted in the finest and most sanitary food factory on the continent.

The Battle Creek Toasted Corn Flake Company, Limited

HEAD OFFICE AND PLANT

LONDON, ONT.

THE FUTURE OF RACING

The future of racing in Canada is wrapped in present mystery. One thing that can be said is that in appointing Dr. J. G. Rutherford to investigate and report the Government has made probably the best possible appointment. The Doctor is a man of pre-eminent energy and resolution. He is also a man of wide range of view, and with a knowledge of Canadian character and Canadian desires and requirements second probably to the acquirements of no man in the country. He has served as Veterinary Surgeon-General and Live Stock Commissioner at Ottawa, and in connection with the Canadian Pacific Railway has had wide experience in live stock and agricultural matters generally in the West. In addition he has always been a staunch admirer and lover of the thoroughbred. In his hands therefore I think racing men of the better sort, that is men who love the sport for its own sake, can rest assured of a fair deal.

Possibly some curtailment of the situation that existed prior to the war will be recommended, but that any radical prohibition of the privileges then enjoyed will be advised I cannot bring myself to believe. There is, however, in the turmoil a matter that appears to have been overlooked, and that is the danger of Provincial rights being infringed upon. Indeed it is a question of the Miller Bill in its limitation of the days of racing was not such infringement. I remember once writing to a Minister of Justice on this matter and receiving a reply that it was entirely within the jurisdiction of the Provincial Government. The only power possessed by the Dominion Government relates to the criminal code permitting wagering on incorporated race tracks. At least that is the advice that has come to me. If true, it is plain that Dr. Rutherford's investigation has its limitations, although, of course, there is the wide range of the benefit to the horse industry derived from encouragement of the thoroughbred. It goes beyond saying that without racing the thoroughbred must pass, but that is a phase which with the permission of the sporting editor of The Toronto Times I will deal with in another issue.

In speaking of the benefit to the horse industry from racing, I would like to direct attention to another point, namely the benefit derived from the sport by the people. It is the greatest health-giving, mind-broadening sport known to man. It encourages a love of open air, it encourages a love of freedom and fair-mindedness, it exhilarates, but does not intoxicate, it gives men and women surcease from care, and it develops health and strength by the mere fact that instead of being cramped in one position for hours together, as are the patrons of other sports, spectators of racing can promenade and move about with as much freedom as they desire. Further, there is no more socially elevating pastime. As the famous Admiral Rous once said, there are only two places where all men and women are equal—on the turf and under the turf.

Prop.

GRAY HAIR

DR. THOMAS' NATURAL HAIR RESTORATIVE used as directed is guaranteed to restore gray hair to its natural color or money refunded. Positively not a dye and non-injurious. Price $1.00. On sale in Peterborough by McDermid & Jury, Druggists.

Story of Robin Adair.

In the famous old song, "Robin Adair," which we have sung from childhood, Scotch or Irish? Scottish undoubtedly will be the general reply. Yet authentic history seems to point otherwise.

Hanging in the great hallway of the present mansion of Sir Robert Hodson, at Hollybrook, Kilbride, Co. Wicklow, where Robin lived, played, and sang verses, is his harp, while, attached to a small building nearby, is a brass plate bearing the inscription:

Here Robin sat, and sang, and quaffed the bowl,
Degenerate days! how fallen the ancient line!
How science bids ascending waters roll,
And fountains gush, where once flowed genial wine.

Robin, according to the latest researches, was a successful wine merchant in Dublin, with, however, Scottish ancestral connections. Hence the confusion. He it was who built Hollybrook, where he entertained lavishly, the original song of "Robin Adair," which goes back to the year 1730, being written to commemorate a visit he paid to some sporting friends at Puckstown, near Artane, Co. Dublin, commencing:

"You're welcome to Puckstown, Robin Adair."

Robin, in spite of his convivial habits, lived to a green old age, and ultimately died in Dublin in 1787. In addition to his harp, two of his wine glasses, which held a quart of wine each, are still preserved.—Tit-Bits.

Telegraph Girls' Wages.

"Telegraph girls," employed by the London General Post Office, number 6,500, and receive from 14s. to 19s. a week in wages.

100 FEET BY 20 FEET

LARGE ROOM OR HALL TO LET

This space is not sub-divided and those needing Living Rooms need not Apply. It consists of the former G.W.V.A. Quarters, over

MONCUR DRUG STORE

APPLY C. M. Moncur, 407 George Street

The name "Heintzman & Co., Ltd.," established 65 years, is your guarantee nothing safer.

THE

Piano Chosen By Royalty

The magnificent Royal train that some years ago carried their Majesties King George and Queen Mary (then Duke and Duchess of York) through Canada from ocean to ocean, was furnished with a one of the sweetest toned pianos the firm has ever built.

STYLE "DUCHESS" Heintzman & Co. ART PIANO

When King George (then heir-apparent, as is His Royal Highness the Prince of Wales, travelling Canada today) later visited Quebec his headquarters in the ancient city was furnished with a Heintzman & Co. Piano.

If it is a great function of Royalty or State, business or social or an outstanding musical event, the choice invariably is a Heintzman & Co. Piano.

"Possesses unique musical characteristics that must give it a distinctive place among the great pianos of the world."—Burmeister.

And Canada's own daughter and world's favorite soprano, Albani, has said: "It excels any piano I have ever used."

Ye Olde Firme

Heintzman & Co., Limited

George & Hunter Sts.

Peterboro

The Highest Valued Horse.

Desire to possess leads to extraordinary offerings at times, as witness M. Matacheff, a Russian sportsman, who recently offered more than $275,000 for the English race horse, Lemberg. This is the highest valuation ever placed on a horse, and it is interesting to know that the owner, who races on the English turf under the name of Mr. Faiths, refused to part with his pride even at that fabulous price. Lemberg a great winner, was foaled in 1907.

Secrets of the Ancients.

Recent discoveries made by Professor Garstang at Meroe, the site of the ancient Ethiopian capital, include a sacred well and an observatory, in which there was evidence of instruments for taking observations, especially in determining latitude. He also discovered two monumental inscriptions, with the longest Meroitic texts extant, which recorded victories, with references to Rome.

HARD TO SECURE DOMESTIC HELP

MISTRESSES IN OLD COUNTRY HAVING HARD TIME—WAGES HIGHER THAN EVER.

Lodon, Sept. 6. — Colonial rather than American conditions appear to be those expected by young women entering domestic service since the armistice, says the Times. It may be a matter of wonder how the Colonial outlook on service has percolated north, south east and west, but perhaps the presence of a few hundred thousand Dominion troops throughout the country has something to do with it. At present mistresses seeking maids have to adopt a more democratic attitude than they would have thought possible, some years ago pay a wage which they would ahve thought small for their own dress allowances.

At the present time the Employment Exchange reports that the women are slowly trickling back to domestic service. Indoor service is still not popular and employers are reluctant to take daily maids. For every person registered at employment exchanges for indoor domestic service there are four vacancies whereas in the case of day girls there are, roughly four applicants for every vacancy registered. At first sight there would seem to be a plenora of charwomen. On the books of the exchanges up and down the country there are 75 charwomen for every vacancy. But many of these who register as charwomen are utterly inefficient

The Spanish Novelist.

There has been some discussion as to the name of Vicente Blasco-Ibanes, says Outlook. The Cumulative Book Index, for instance, catalogues his books under "Blasco," with not even a cross-reference under "Ibanes." We find the following explanation in the current Bookman: "In Spain a man's name still clings to the old Roman custom of having the surname or family name in the middle. Therefore this author's father's name was Blasco. But there is an additional custom which combines the name of his mother with that of his father, and the two are supposed to be used together. Thus Blasco-Ibanes — not just Ibanes. Furthermore, there is still another social distinction which rules that if any one calls a man by his mother's maiden name—e.g., calling this man only 'Ibanes'—the implication is that his father and mother were not married. It is a curious custom, but a fact." Speaking of Ibanes, or Blasco-Ibanes, or Blasco Ibanes, a book reviewing journal is said to have printed a pseudo-advertisement for a man to take a temporary job reviewing Ibanez's books—evidently a shot at the rapidity with which this author's books have been brought out in English.

Time-keepers.

A professor was in Egypt supervising the erection of a telescope. He learned that a gun was fired every noon and was anxious to know how the system worked. He accordingly sought an interview with the gunner and asked how he knew just when to give the signal. "Oh, I look at my watch," replied the gunner. "And how do you correct your watch?" asked the professor. "I take it to the watchmaker in Cairo," explained the soldier, "and he tells me the error." Forthwith the professor interviewed the watchmaker and asked him to explain how he checked the error of the gunner's watch. "I always get the correct time from the gun," was the reply.

BUY W.S.S. WAR-SAVINGS STAMPS

GET THE COUNTRY GLOW OF HEALTH BY USING MILK

MILK PASTEURIZED AND CLARIFIED puts the glow of health in your cheeks, a sparkle in your eye. It makes children more fit for school and their minds more receptive. To yourself it will import keenness for your work and a real pleasure in life's calls.

FRESH EVERY DAY

Peterborough Milk comes direct from sanitary farms, is bottled by sanitary machines, after all objectionable ingredients have been removed by costly modern methods.

DELIVERED BEFORE BREAKFAST

Guaranteed pure, guaranteed clean, guaranteed safe for the most delicate of constitutions—order it a-plenty.

PETERBORO MILK PRODUCTS LTD.

377 AYLMER ST. Phone 650

DEALERS IN REPTILES.

Strange Business Has Its List of Stock Quotations.

Jobbers' prices for reptiles, f.o.b., Los Angeles, quote rattlesnakes at 40 cents a pound (more than some cuts of beef); Gila monsters, $10 a dozen, and lizards, $3 a hundred.

Like almost anything else, the reptile market suffered because of the war, but now that it is ended, Mr. Weinberg says, the demand is on the increase.

He and as many small boys as care to engage in the hunt search the hills and valleys of Southern California for the harmless "things that crawl with legs," but he goes alone into the desert for rattlers and Gila monsters.

He keeps his stock in his backyard, where his wife handles the creatures and helps in their care as fearlessly as does her husband.

A dangerous business? No, according to Mr. Weinberg.

"No more dangerous than driving an automobile," he declared. "Of course, you must be careful in handling the poisonous ones. But most of the reptiles people fear are not dangerous at all."

He reached into a glass box, thrust his hand under some dry leaves and brought out a large lizard, squirming and trying to bite. He held its head to his lips. It closed its ugly mouth there.

"Perfectly friendly and harmless," said Mr. Weinberg. "See how it kisses me."

A long rattlesnake, which had been sounding a warning, struck, but stopped against the glass side of another box.

"He's a little nervous," said the reptile market man. "He hasn't been handled for some time."

He opened the box, tossed a handkerchief over the snake's head and quickly clasped the creature behind where its ears would have been had it had ears.

"He's a pretty good rattler," said Mr. Weinberg. "Worth $2, anyway."

Talking of the reptile demand, he said:

"It's like everything else—there is more demand for imported serpents than for home products. In Europe they want American snakes. In America they want European reptiles."

DRINK HOT WATER IF YOU DESIRE A ROSY COMPLEXION

Says we can't help but look better and feel better after an inside bath.

To look one's best and feel one's best is to enjoy an inside bath each morning to flush from the system the previous day's waste, sour fermentations and poisonous toxins before it is absorbed into the blood. Just as coal, when it burns, leaves behind a certain amount of incombustible material in the form of ashes, so the food and drink taken each day leave the alimentary organs a certain amount of indigestible material, which if not eliminated, form toxins and poisons which are then sucked into the blood through the very ducts which are intended to suck in only nourishment to sustain the body.

If you want to see the glow of healthy bloom in your cheeks, to see your skin get clearer and clearer, you are told to drink every morning upon arising, a glass of hot water with a teaspoonful of limestone phosphate in it, which is a harmless means of washing the waste material and toxins from the stomach, liver, kidneys and bowels, thus cleansing, sweetening and purifying the entire alimentary tract, before putting more food into the stomach.

Men and women with sallow skins, liver spots, pimples, or pallid complexion, also those who wake up with a coated tongue, bad taste, nasty breath, others who are bothered with headaches, billions spells, acid stomach or constipation should begin this phosphated hot water drinking and are assured of very pronounced results in one or two weeks.

A quarter pound of limestone phosphate costs very little at the drug store but is sufficient to demonstrate that just as soap and hot water cleanses, purifies and freshens the skin on the outside, so hot water and limestone phosphate act on the inside organs. We must always consider that internal sanitation is vastly more important than outside cleanliness, because the skin pores do not absorb impurities into the blood, while the bowel pores do.

Begging a Fine Art.

The well-fed German out here (in Syria) used to call the Turkish soldier an "artiste de faim." The poor Syrian is a genius at it. Begging is the most flourishing trade in Syria, and the only one at which the craftsman gets a proper apprenticeship. Interspersed among the real starvers you will find child actors who would win a furore in London. They lie in an attitude of death in a woman's lap, their well-rounded limbs carefully covered with verminous rags. You will see them ten minutes later, when mamma has gone home for lunch, playing touch.

Thieving in all its branches—piracy from off-loading ships, fraud, smuggling of stolen goods, pilfering and pocket-picking—had such a boom on the arrival of the British as was never known in the best Turkish days, though now it is waning beneath a somewhat determined police surveillance. Animals? They talk at home of selling army horses out here. Well, the arab and even the Syrian knows the value of his horse, and that while he is in working order it pays to keep him so. That is the utmost limit; and as to worn horses, or any other animals, it would need all the staff of the R.S.P.C.A. to keep even the streets free of eyesores.

The Hydro-electric Railway Association is in session.

BEDRIDDEN WITH RHEUMATISM

Felt That He Would Never Walk Again "FRUIT-A-TIVES" Brought Relief.

MR. LORENZO LEDUC

8 Ottawa St., Hull, P.Q.

"Fruit-a-tives" is certainly a wonder. For a year, I suffered with Rheumatism; being forced to stay in bed for five months. I tried all kinds of medicine but without getting better; and thought I would never be able to walk again.

"One day while lying in bed, I read about 'Fruit-a-tives' the great fruit medicine; and it seemed just what I needed, so I decided to try it.

The first box helped me, and I took the tablets regularly until every trace of the Rheumatism left me.

I have every confidence in 'Fruit-a-tives' and strongly recommend them to every sufferer from Rheumatism".

LORENZO LEDUC.

50c. a box, 6 for $2.50, trial size 25c. At all dealers or sent postpaid on receipt of price by Fruit-a-tives [illegible] Ont.

Seven Keys TO Baldpate

By EARL DERR BIGGERS

Copyright, 1913, by the Bobbs-Merrill Company

well, he would show them yet. He got up and walked the floor. Once he had held them up in the snow and spoiled their little game. He would do it again. How? When? He did not know. His soul cried for action of some sort, but he was up against a blind alley, and he knew it.

He unlocked the door of No. 7. To go downstairs, to meet the sweet eagerness of the girl who depended on him, to confess himself tricked—it took all the courage he had. Why had it all happened anyhow? Confound it! Had he not come up here to be alone with his thoughts? But, brighter side, it had given him her, or it would give him her before the last card was played. He shut his teeth tightly and went down the stairs.

Mr. Bland had added himself to the group about the fire. Quickly the eyes of Miss Norton met Magee's. She was trembling with excitement. Cargan, huge, red, cheery, got in Magee's path once more.

"I'll annihilate this man," thought Magee.

"I've been figuring," said the mayor, "that was one thing he didn't have to contend with. No, sir, there wasn't any bright young men hunting up old Napoleon and knocking him in the monthly magazines. They didn't go down to Sardinia and pump it out of the neighbors that he started business on borrowed money and that his father drank more than was good for him. They didn't run illustrated articles about the diamonds he wore and moving pictures of him eating soup."

"No, I guess not," replied Magee abstractedly.

"I reckon there was a lot in his record wasn't meant for the newspapers," continued Cargan reflectively. "And it didn't get there. Nap was lucky. He had it on the reformers there. They couldn't squash him with the power of the press."

Mr. Magee broke away from the mayor's rehashed history and hurried to Miss Norton.

"You promised yesterday," he reminded her, "to show me the pictures of the admiral."

"So I did," she replied, rising quickly. "To think you have spent all this time in Baldpate inn and not paid homage to its own particular cuck of the walk."

She led him to a portrait hanging beside the desk.

"Behold," she said, "the admiral on a sunny day in July. Note the starchy grandeur of him, even with the thermometer up in the clouds. That's one of the things the rocking chair fleet adores in him. Can you imagine the fuzzy at the approach of all that authority? Theodore Roosevelt, William Faversham and Richard Harding Davis all arriving together couldn't overshadow the admiral for a minute."

Mr. Magee gazed at the picture of a pompous little man whose fierce mustache seemed anxious to make up for the lack of hair on his head.

"A bald hero at a summer resort," he commented, "it seems incredible."

"Oh, they think he lost his hair fighting for the flag!" she laughed.

"Is is possible to see the room where the admiral plays his famous game?"

"Step softly," she answered. "In here. There stands the very table."

They went into the small card room at the right of the entrance to the office, and Mr. Magee quietly closed the door behind them. The time had come. He felt his heart sink.

"Well?" said the girl, with an eagerness she could not conceal.

Mr. Magee groped for words and found—his old friends of the mountain.

"I love you," he cried desperately. "You must believe I want to help you. It looks rather the other way now, I'll admit. I want you to have that money. I don't know who you are nor what this all means, but I want you to have it. I went upstairs determined to give it to you"—

"Really." The word was at least 50 degrees below the temperature of the cardroom.

"Yes, really. I won't ask you to believe, but I'm telling the truth. I went to the place where I had fatuously hid the money—under a brick of my fireplace. It was gone."

"I love you!" he cried desperately.

"How terribly unfortunate."

"Yes isn't it?" Mr. Magee rejoiced that she took so calm a view of it. "They searched the room, of course, and they found the money. They're on top now, but I'm going"—

He stopped, for he had seen her face. She—taking a calm view of it? No, indeed. Billy Magee saw that she was furiously, wildly angry. He remembered always having written it down that beautiful women were even more beautiful in anger. How, he wondered, had he fallen into that error?

"Plea e do not bore me," she said through her teeth, "with any further recital of what you 'are going' to do.

(To be Continued.)

WILSON'S FLY PADS

Kill them all, and the germs too. 10c a packet at Druggists, Grocers and General Stores.

Toronto Savings and Loan COMPANY

Peterborough

Head Office: 435-437 George Street

Paid-Up Capital ..$1,000,000.00

Reserve Fund $1,100,000.00

SAVINGS DEPARTMENT — Deposits received of One Dollar and upwards. Interest paid quarterly, accrues from date of deposit to date of withdrawal

Every facility and convenience is afforded to depositors.

INVESTMENT DEPARTMENT — Debentures issued for sums of $100 & upwards for periods of one to five years, upon which special rates of interest are paid, depending upon the term of investment.

Executors and trustees are authorized by law to invest in the Debentures of this institution.

Money to loan at lowest current rates of interest.

W. G. MORROW, Managing Director.

Cook's Cotton Root Compound.

A safe, reliable regulating medicine. Sold in three degrees of strength—No. 1, $1; No. 2, $3; No. 3, $5 per box. Sold by all druggists, or sent prepaid on receipt of price. Free pamphlet. Address: THE COOK MEDICINE CO., TORONTO, ONT. (Formerly Windsor.)

ADVERTISING RATES.

The rate for Classified Advertisements is one cent a word per first insertion; subsequent insertions half a cent per word. Minimum number of words ten. Special terms for 5,000 words or over

Advertisements marked till forbidden" are accepted on the understanding that they will be published until a written or verbal notice to stop them is received.

BIRTH, MARRIAGE, DEATH, MEMORIAL NOTICES AND CARDS OF THANKS, 50c per insertion in Daily and Weekly, not exceeding one inch space. All words over the inch, one cent each

FEMALE HELP WANTED.

LADIES WANTED, TO DO plain and light sewing at home, whole or spare time, good pay; work sent any distance; charges paid. Send stamps for particulars to the National Manufacturing Co., Montreal.

WANTED — 2 SMART GIRLS. Apply Lavoie Knitting Co., 84 Hunter street.

WANTED—MAID FOR PLAIN cooking and general housework. Apply Mrs. Rollins, 439 Rubidge street.

WANTED— MAID FOR SMALL family. Apply Mrs. G. H. Thompson, 373 Park street, phone 1381.

WANTED — GIRLS. APPLY at Gate House, Canadian General Electric Co., Ltd.

BOARDERS WANTED.

HOMELIKE BOARDING place; $6.00 per week. Apply 72 Monaghan road.

HELP WANTED.

WANTED — BOY. APPLY 261 Charlotte street.

HARDWARE CLERK, WITH three or more years' experience, wanted for good hardware store in a live country town. Apply Review for address.

WANTED — BRIGHT YOUNG man to learn the newspaper business. Apply Review office.

AGENTS WANTED.

BY CANADIANS FOR CANADians. "Canada's Sons in the World War," by Col. George Nasmith. Introduction by General Sir Arthur Currie. Only satisfactory Canadian book. Profusely illustrated. Wonderful opportunity for money making for returned soldiers and others, men or women. Representatives are having marvelous success. Special terms; freight paid; credit given; exclusive territory; outfit free. Winston Co., Toronto.

FOUND.

FOUND—ON GEORGE ST., ON August 30, purse containing sum of money. Owner can have same by proving property and paying for this ad. Apply 259 Reid street.

TO LET.

TO RENT — TWO GARAGE sheds back of White Rose Garage. For further particulars apply Thos. Lane, 186 Hunter street.

FOR SALE.

FARM FOR SALE.

A first-class farm for sale; four miles from city. Apply Review for address.

THE FOLLOWING CAN BE seen and bought cheaply at 207 Simcoe street: Excavating tools, picks, shovels, wheel-barrows, scrapers, plough, etc., dump cart and harness, stone boat, drop bottom wagons, gravel wagon with 1¾-yard box, contractor's hoisting winch, tackle, etc., whiffletrees, neckyokes, etc., also a lot of window and door frames, handy for alterations and repairs. All in good shape.

Wm. Lytle Cartage Co.

Piano Tuning

Phone 595

The GREENE MUSIC Co.

Binghamton defeated the Leafs by 8 to 5 at Toronto yesterday and stretched their winning streak to ten consecutive games.

LEGAL CARDS.

HALL & HALL
Barristers and Solicitors.
Money to Loan at Lowest Rates.
Telephone 69. 116 Hunter St.

GORDON & O'BRIEN
Barristers, Solicitors & Notaries.
Money to Loan at Lowest Rates
Telephone 219.
G. N. GORDON. J. A. O'BRIEN.

C. R. WIDDIFIELD, B. A.
Barrister, Etc.
and Solicitor for the City of Peterborough. Bnak of Commerce Building. 'Phone 550.

MOORE & WEARING.
Barristers and Solicitors.
MONEY TO LOAN.
408 Water St. Opposite Post Office.

JAMES FORDYCE STRICLAND
Barrister, Solicitor, Notary Public.
MONEY TO LOAN.
395 Water St. Peterborough.
PHONE 151.

S. T. MEDD.
Barrister, Solicitor, Notary.
Office Over Dominion Bank.
Cor. Simcoe & George Sts.
Telephone No. 22.
Private Funds to Loan at Current Rates Upon Easy Terms.

PECK, KERR & McELDERRY.
Barristers, Solicitors, Notaries, 419 Water Street, Peterborough. Money to loan at lowest current rates of interest. Easy terms of payment.
E. A. Peck. F. D. Kerr.
V. J. McElderry.

J. EDMUND L. GOODWILL.
Barrister, Solicitor, Notary Public, Etc. Office 375 Water St., Phone 191. Successor to Roger, Bennet & Goodwill.
MONEY TO LOAN at current rates upon easy terms.

A. E. DIXON.
Barrister, Solicitor, Etc.
Offices corner Hunter & George Sts. Entrance next Madill's Drug Store.

O'CONNELL & CORKERY
Barristers, Solicitors, Notaries Public, etc. Money to Loan on Easy Terms of Payment.
D. O'Connell J. R. Corkery.
734½ Hunter St. Peterborough.
Telephone 364.

R. R. HALL.
Barrister, Solicitor, Etc.
Peterborough, Ont., offices corner Hunter and Water Sts., over Canadian Bank of Commerce. Trust funds to loan on easy terms of payment.

MEDICAL CARDS.

DR. E. E. HARVEY.
Silver Medalist University of Toronto
Special attention to diseases of Women and Children.
Office: 212 Brock Street.
Hours: 1.30 to 5 p.m., 7 to 8 p.m.
Phone 222.

DR. BUCHANAN
F. R. S. C. Edin., M.R.O.S, Eng., L. R. C. P. Lon. Eye, Ear, Nose & Throat Specialist. Hours: 9-11 a.m. 2-4 and 7-8p.m. Phone 519 Office corner Water and Murray Streets.

DENTISTRY.

DR. W. N. HAYES.
has opened a Dental practice in the Barrie Building, corGge Street.
'Phone 652 for appointments.

OSTEOPATHY.

DRS. WALMSLEY & SETTLE.
Osteopath Physicians.
Office over Crown Building, Hunter and Water Streets. Entrance 124 Hunter street. Office hours: 9 to 12 a.m., 2 to 5 p.m. Evenings by appointment. Office Phone 549.

MONEY TO LOAN.

There has been placed in our hands considerable trust funds to loan at 6½ per cent. on first class real estate properties.
GORDON & O'BRIEN.
Phone 219. 395 George St.

Lackawana Coal Means Economy

Burns freely and is of Best Anthracite.

Trucking Orders Promptly Filled

Peterboro Fuel & Transfer Co.
183 CHARLOTTE ST.
PHONES 270-283

Mrs. M. R. Summers, wife of Lgt.-Major Summers, was drowned in Rideau Lake, when they were holidaying, he having just returned from overseas.

SERVICES IN THE LOCAL CHURCHES TO-MORROW

ST. JOHN'S ANGLICAN
Major the Rev. Canon Davidson, Rector
Rectory: Corner of Brock and Sheridan streets.
12th Sunday After Trinity
8 30 Holy Communion.
11 a.m - Morning prayer and sermon Dedication of Sunday School memorial
3 p m Sunday School and Bible Classes Unveiling of Memorial Shield.
7.00 Evening Prayer and Sermon
Richard J. Dever, Organist and Choirmaster

ALL SAINTS' CHURCH
Rubidge and Sherbrooke
RECTOR:—REV. R. H. GROBB, M.A.
11 a.m. Holy Communion.
3 p.m.- Sunday School and Bible Classes
7 p.m. -Evening Service.

ST. LUKE'S CHURCH
Rogers Street
Ashburnham—East City
Rev. W. H. White, M.A., Rector
Rectory 344 Rogers Street
12th Sunday After Trinity
8 a m. - Holy Communion.
11 a.m. -Holy Communion and Sermon.
3 p m. Sunday School.
7 p.m. Evensong and Sermon.
Archdeacon Warren will officiate.

ST. GEORGE'S CHURCH
Rev. Jas. Price, Rector
10 a m.—Sunday School.
11 a.m.—Matins and sermon.
7 p.m.—Evensong and sermon.
Wednesday, Sept 17 — Harvest Thanksgiving service. Preacher The Rev. Dr. Kibourg of St Albans' Cathedral, Toronto.
Thursday, 7 p.m.—Ladies' Guild.
Thursday, 8 p.m.—Choir practice.
Friday, 7.30—Boy Scouts
Organist—Miss Beatrice Blake.

ST. PETER'S ROMAN CATHOLIC
Low Mass, 8 a. m.
High Mass, 10.40 a.m.
Vespers, 7 p.m., with sermon.

ST. ANDREW'S PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH
Corner of Rubidge and Brock Streets
Rev. James Rollins, B.A., Minister
Residence—St. Andrew's Manse.
439 Rubidge street.
Usual services with Trinity Methodist Church.
Service 11 a.m. in St. Andrew's Church. 7 p.m. in Trinity Church.
Rev. James Rollins will preach at both services.
Mrs. King, soloist.
Mr. George H. King will preside at the organ.
Seats Free. Strangers Welcome.

ST. PAUL'S PRESBYTERIAN
Rev. Robert Pogue, Minister
11 a.m.—Morning Worship The Minister will preach. Suject, "The Place of Worship in the Life of the Individual and the Nation."
Solo— Miss Jean Herbison.
2 p.m.—Sabbath School.
7 p.m.—Evening Worship. The Minister will preach. Subject, "Some Things Necessary to Success in Life." This will be a special address to young people
Anthem "Just As I Am". Bowles.
Mr. Frank Tattersall, the new organist, will preside at the organ at both services.

KNOX CHURCH, PRESBYTERIAN
Rev J. A MacKenzie, B.D., Minister
11 a.m.—Morning service.
Minister will preach.
3 p.m. Sunday School and Bible Classes.
7 p.m.—Evening service.
Minister will preach.
Good music at all services.
8 p.m., Wednesday—Prayer meeting.

SINCE 1870
SHILOH
30 DROPS STOP COUGHS

Geo Kenyon, "L. Mus." Organist and Choirmaster.
Seats Free. Strangers Welcome

MURRAY ST. BAPTIST CHURCH
Rev. J. R. Webb, Pastor
Residence—544 Aylmer Street
Communion and Reception of new Members.
11 a.m.—Morning Service.
Afternoon Sunday School
7 p.m —Evening service.
The pastor will preach.

PARK STREET BAPTIST
Rev Dougald Brown, Pastor
255 Reid Street
Sunday, Aug. 31st, 1919
Joseph Wearing, esq., M.A., will preach morning and evening.
9 45 a.m.—Sunday school.
11 a.m.—Morning service.
7 p.m.—Evening Service.

GEORGE STREET METHODIST
Rev. A J. Thomas, M.A., B.D., Pastor
11 a.m.—Combination Church and Sunday School Service.
7 p.m.—Evening service.
Subject—Ideals.
Rev. B. Greatrix will occupy the pulpit at both services.

TRINITY METHODIST CHURCH
Rev. F. E. Maiott, Pastor
Parsonage 302 Reid St.
Phone 705
Union services with St Andrew's Presbyterian Church.
Morning Service—St. Andrews' Church.
Evening Service Trinity Church.
Rev. James Rollins will preach at both services.
All are welcome.

MARK STREET METHODIST
Rev. G. E. Ross, Pastor.
10 a.m.—Class Meeting and Junior League.
10 a.m.—Sunday School and Bible Bible Class.
11 a m —Morning service.
7 p.m.—Evening service.
Organist and Directress, Miss E Kemp.

ST. JAMES' METHODIST
Corner Romaine and Aylmer Streets
Rev. G. F. Chapman, pastor
2.30 p.m — Sunday School and Bible Classes.
11 a.m.—Morning Service.
7 p.m.—Evening Service.
Monday—Young People's Meeting
Wednesday, 8 p.m.—prayer meeting.
Thursday—Choir practice.
Friday—Boy Scouts.
A. Nicholls, organist and choir master.
Cordial invitation is extended to all.

SALVATION ARMY TEMPLE
Simcoe Street
Adjutant and Mrs. Bunton in charge
515 King St. Phone 440w
7 a.m.—Knee drill.
11 a.m.—Holiness Meeting.
2 p.m.—Sunday School and Bible Classes.
Those who do not attend any other Sunday School are cordially invited.
3.15 p.m.—Praise Service in Victoria Park.
6.15 p.m.—Open air Hunter and George.
7 p.m.—Salvation meeting.

SALVATION ARMY, BROWNTON
Chamberlain street
Lieut. Chivers in charge.
Saturday meeting, 8 p.m.
Sunday, Kneedrill, 7 a.m.
Holiness meeting, 11 a.m.
Sunday School, 2.30 p.m.
Salvation meeting, 7 p.m.
Monday 8 p.m.
Friday, 7.30 p.m.—Guard Practice

GOSPEL HALL
Corner George and Brock Streets
10 a.m.—Sunday School.
Wednesday, 8 p.m.—Prayer meeting.
A hearty welcome to all.

ASSEMBLY HALL
First Floor Old Opera House Building, George Street
Meetings on Lord's Day:—
10 a.m.—Sunday School.
11 a.m.—Breaking of Bread
A hearty welcome to all.
"Christ died for the ungodly."

BETHANY TABERNACLE
459 George Street
Pastor, Rev. A. J. Doner, 535 Aylmer Street
10 a.m.—Sunday School. Pastor Doner, Supt.
11 a.m.—Preaching
7 p.m.—Evening Service.
Thursday 8 p.m.—Prayer meeting.

LAKEFIELD METHODIST CHURCH
Major Rev. Hough A. Frost, B.A., B.D., Pastor
Mr. Waldon, organist and choir-leader.
10 a.m.- Sunday School.
11 a.m.—Morning service.
8 p.m. Evening Service.
Monday, 8 p.m.—Epworth League
Saturday 8 p.m.—Choir practice
A cordial invitation is extended to all these services.

DOES THIS STRIKE YOU?

"Our very eyes are sometimes like our judgments, blind." Eyes that are not blind, but plainly failing, can be saved and helped by Dr Fowler, if he is given an opportunity in time. Show that your judgment is not blind, by consulting Dr. Fowler at the first sign of eye trouble.

CONSULTATION FREE.

EYESIGHT SPECIALIST A. A. FOWLER DOCTOR OF OPTICS
Phm. B. Toronto University.
HAS FITTED 30,000 SATISFIED WEARERS OF PEBLO GLASSES
Most Up-to-date Sanitary Optical Parlors. With Nugent Drug Co.

COULD HARDLY DRESS HIMSELF

TANLAC ENDS TEN YEARS RHEUMATISM FOR FARMER CLARK—GAINS 18 POUNDS.

"There! that's the stuff that set my stomach and kidneys right and drove the rheumatism out of my arms and legs after I had suffered torture for over ten years," said L. H. Clark, a well-known farmer of Brimfield, Illinois, as he pointed to the Tanlac display in the Sutliff & Case store at Peoria, recently.

"My neighbors will tell you," he continued, "just any time you ask them, that they never saw a man come out like I have. Why, I have gained eighteen pounds in weight and can do more work than at any time in ten years. Before I started on Tanlac my stomach just seemed to be almost completely played out. Every bite I would eat would get as sour as vinegar and pretty soon gas would form and cause such awful cramping pains that I could hardly stand it. Then I would get so dizzy that everything seemed to be whirling around. The minute I would lie down at night and close my eyes everything seemed to start turning over. I finally got so I couldn't eat much of anything and I was so run down and weak that I wouldn't work regular. I always managed to drag around and do the little work about the barn until my kidneys got out of order and I got the rheumatism, and then I was laid up for weeks at a time. I've seem the time when I couldn't have walked from the house to the barn to save the best horse I've got. I was so crippled up with rheumatism. My legs were swoollen up to twice their natural size and I couldn't take a step without just suffering like 'blue blazes.'

"My back was in such a bad shape with rheumatism that if I stopped over to pick up anything I could just see stars, and there were weeks at a time when I had to be perfectly quiet. I could hardly dress myself and went down so fast that no one thought I would ever be well again. Well, I was just about ready to give up the fight when I at last ran across this Tanlac. After I commenced taking this medicine I soon started gaining ground and it wasn't long until I was well on the road to recovery. I found that it was just what I needed and I never allowed myself to miss a dose. Well, the results are that I am now perfectly sound and well and know what good health is for the first time in ten years. I can eat just anything and my stomach feels just like a new one. My kidneys don't bother me any more and I never feel a sign of rheumatism, and I sleep so sound that the horses might kick the barn down and I don't believe I would hear them. Yes, sir, it's Tanlac and nothing else that put me on my feet and I appreciate it enough to tell the world what I think about it."

Tanlac is sold in Peterborough by W. B Warne Drug Co., Ltd., in Havelock by A. C Denike, in Lakefield by Tanner Drug Co., Ltd., in Fowler's Corners by W. A Hunter, in Gelert by A J Scott, in Westwood by G. Pringle & Son.

TY COBB STILL LEADS IN BATTING

GEORGIAN HITTING 371-21 POINTS AHEAD OF TEAM MATE OSCAR BEACH.

(Canadian Press Despatch)

Chicago, Sept. 6.—As the clubs of the American League swung into their final month of the pennant race Ty Cobb is leading for the batting championship, which, with the exception of two seasons, has been in his possession for twelve years. The unofficial averages realized today show the Georgian hitting .371, 21 points ahead of Oscar Veach, his team mate and closest batting rival. In 104 games Cobb has knocked out 155 safe hits for a total of 210 bases. The average includes games of Wednesday.

Ed. Roush, the Cincinnati star, suffered a setback in his attack for National League batting honors, dropping to third place with an average of .323. Cravath of Philadelphia clung to his leadership with .340.

FIRE BUGS MUST BE UNBALANCED

SUGGESTIONS FOR PREVENTION OF FIRES OFFERED BY ONTARIO LEAGUE.

The Ontario Fire Prevention League at its first annual convention in Toronto passed several resolutions, among them one calling upon the Provincial Government to institute a mental examination on all persons arrested for arson or attempted arson. The members of the League believed that persons guilty of this offence must be mentally unbalanced; and they request in this resolution that adequate custodianship be provided for such people.

Other resolutions suggested the adoption by municipalities of a building standing to reduce fire risks and non-use of inflammable roofing; a minimum building code for hospitals, schools, asylums, etc outside city limits or in small communities where building regulations are impracticable; systematic inspection of buildings; wider use of automatic sprinklers; standardization of fire equipment with a view to co-operation in case of serious fires between towns; universal use of safety match and prohibition of smoking in industrial and mercantile buildings except in rooms specially provided; proper ordinances governing transportation and storage of explosives and inflammable liquids education of children in fire prevention; statutory obligations upon municipalities to provide revenue for fire brigade equipment; laying of water mains in cities and towns not less than six inches in diameter when used for fire protection purposes and elimination of "dead ends"; universal use of lightning rods on farm buildings; prohibition of fireworks except under permit of fire department; and extension of hydro wiring inspection.

WALTER OKE WINS THE McKONE CUP

DEFEATED BOWLER ARTHUR GILLIAM LAST NIGHT BY ONE SHOT.

The destination of the McKone cup was definitely decided last night when Walter Oke defeated Arthur Gilliam in the final game by one shot after playing an extra end. For the first eight ends Gilliam, who received a handicap of six points, held his opponent down to an even score, retaining his handicap, and it looked as if he would win out. From that point, however, the veteran gradually overhauled the younger player, and at the fifteenth end the score was a tie, Oke winning in the extra end by one shot, after one of the most exciting and best games seen on the local greens this year.

On Monday night the contest in the doubles for the Clarke trophy will commence. The draw will be made today and announced in the daily papers on Monday. Owing to the season being so far advanced it is necessary that the games be played as scheduled, and no postponements will be allowed. For the first round, which will occupy two nights, it will be necessary to play two games each night, commencing at 7:15 and 8:30 p.m. Full announcements will be made in Monday's papers.

TEMPLETON'S RHEUMATIC CAPSULES
FOR RHEUMATISM, NEURITIS, SCIATICA, LUMBAGO, NEURALGIA, GOUT ETC.
ASSURE RELIEF FOR THE WORST RHEUMATIC
$1.50 PER BOX
TEMPLETON'S LTD

Humanity has lacked a practical rheumatic remedy since the time Ponce de Leon spent yearly at the 4 springs, electric baths and hospitals in Florida, etc., yet better results are achieved right at home by using T.R.C.'s "the common sense treatment." Just compare cost and results with any other treatment and you will be convinced. Ask your druggist or write us for our new booklet. It is interesting and costs you nothing (Templetons, 142 King W., Toronto). We mail anywhere on receipt of $1.50.

Sole Agents for Peterboro, Medonald & Jones Prescription specialists for Lakefield, Tanner Drug Co. for Havelock, A. C. Denike, for Norwood, T. A. Coughlan, for Campbellford, J. W. Cairns.

BREACH OF THE MOTOR VEHICLE.

Albert Stimson of Omemee was fined $5 and costs in police court this morning for a breach of the motor vehicle act, in not allowing the right of way on one of the corners.

Mrs Fanny Ellis, 882 Manning ave. was choked into insensibility by a robber at noon yesterday, who then took the money out of the cash box.

Join With These Men

FOR SANE, MODERATE TEMPERANCE LEGISLATION

OFFICIALS, COUNCIL AND EXECUTIVE OF Citizens' Liberty League

HON. PRESIDENT
Sir Edmund B. Osler

PRESIDENT
Lt.-Col. H. A. C. Machin, M.P.P.

VICE-PRESIDENT
I. F. Hellmuth, K.C.

HON. TREASURER
F. Gordon Osler

COUNCIL
Alfred O. Beardmore
D. L. McCarthy, K.C.
C. E. Lanskail
P. A. Manning
Aemilius Jarvis
Prof. J. J. MacKenzie
Major A. C. Snively
James Ince

EXECUTIVE COMMITTEE
James Bain, K.C.
W. R. Johnston
Frank Darling
C. Frederick Paul
A. E. Dyment
C. B. Cronyn
R. A. Lyon
Dr. A. B. Wright
E. Marriott
O. J. Hemmings
N. McConnell
E. B. Collett
Ernest Heaton
F. Thompson
J. Ralph
C. O'Donnell
J. F. Marsh
V. Kanes-Batchelor
R. C. Wood
John B. Vick
Lt.-Col. W. G. Thompson

The time has come when the people of this Province must band themselves together in order to obtain a sane solution to the Temperance problem.

Representative men and women who feel that their liberties are being unreasonably encroached upon have associated themselves in what is known as the Citizens' Liberty League.

The League is not a radical organization promoted and dominated by selfish interests; but an organization of broad-minded thinking people, who, having the best interests of this Province at heart, believe that the unsatisfactory Temperance Act should be repealed.

The League is opposed to a return of the open bar as it previously existed in Ontario under the old License Act. It simply asks that non-intoxicating beer and wine be sold generally and that pure spirituous liquors be obtainable at Government agencies under proper restrictions.

These prominent citizens appeal to you to join the Citizens' Liberty League and assist in the effort to obtain sane, moderate temperance legislation.

To-Day is The Day! Join Now!

Send your membership fee of one dollar to T. L. Carruthers, Secretary, Citizens' Liberty League, 22 College Street, Toronto.

CITIZENS' LIBERTY LEAGUE
MEMBERSHIP FEE, ONE DOLLAR
Please enroll me as a member of the League, for which I enclose my subscription.
Name .....
Address .....
Occupation .....
Contributions to assist in carrying on the work of the League are needed. If you are in sympathy with the League and its object, please send donation to the Secretary.
T. L. CARRUTHERS, Secretary
22 College St., Toronto

CITIZENS' LIBERTY LEAGUE
22 College Street, Toronto
T. L. CARRUTHERS, Secretary
HON. PRESIDENT: SIR EDMUND B. OSLER
PRESIDENT: LIEUT.-COL. H. A. C. MACHIN, M.P.P.
VICE-PRESIDENT: I. F. HELLMUTH, K.C.
HON. TREASURER: F. GORDON OSLER

GRAND A FEW MINUTES STROLL FROM THE CENTRE AND WORTH IT!

MONDAY, TUESDAY and WENESDAY

EXTRA!! EXTRA!!!

SPECIAL VAUDEVILLE ACT

AMERICA'S GREATEST ENTERTAINER

EUGENE LOCKHART

—DOUBLE FEATURE PROGRAMME—

PAULINE FREDRICK in

"THE WOMAN ON THE INDEX"

CHARLIE CHAPLIN in "Busted Johnny"

PRICES REMAIN—THE SAME

10 MATINEE DAILY 2.30 15 | 15 EVENINGS 8.00, 25

ALL SEATS RESERVED FOR EVENING PERFORMANCE

COME EARLY AVOID THE RUSH

THEATRICAL

Scene from the "Pony" Ballet with the Big Musical Spectacle, "My Soldier Girl," coming to the Grand Opera House Saturday, matinee and night, September 13th.

PAULINE FREDERICK TYPIFIES TRUE AMERICAN WOMENHOOD

Famous Emotional Artiste Attains Dramatic Heights in Her First Goldwyn Picture, "The Women on the Index"

What women will do when their patriotism is appealed to never was realized until this country—and all countries—entered the late war. The part women played in bringing victory to the Allies is known to all the world. The sacrifices, endurance and courage of American women have evoked the applause of millions because no one dreamed that our luxury loving feminine population would give up what was thought to be an inherent part of them.

It is not only in work known to the public that women have counted for much during the war, however. Their patriotic service has extended far beyond working for the Red Cross, cultivating war gardens, selling Liberty bonds, recruiting men for the Army and Navy and occupying themselves with the myriad tasks in factories, offices and on the street cars. All those fortunate enough to have done this work have been recognized and honored by the public. But always in every great movement there are the workers whose efforts are never known except to the executives of the nation.

An outstanding example of this is depicted in a cinema play founded on what is often the case, upon an occurrence in real life in Washington. To portray Pauline Frederick falls the honor of presenting to the public an incident hitherto known only to the Secret Service. The play is "The Woman on the Index," and it is one of the series of Goldwyn pictures.

In the play a woman is admired by a foreign visitor to this country. Polished, altogether agreeable. She is happily married and does both more than any hostess would do for a favored guest of her husband. When the foreigner oversteps the bounds of propriety, she repulses him. It is at this point that an old friend, chief of the Federal Secret Service, tells her that she is making a grave mistake. Furthermore, he tells her it is her patriotic duty to encourage the man to the fullest extent, no matter if she jeopardizes her material happiness by so doing.

ALLEN THEATRE

Showing Friday and Saturday

Dorothy Dalton in "Quicksand" Supervised by Thos. H. Ince

Certainly a Cabaret is no place for a good girl. Least of all, when her husband is away! Yet she's a wife any man might well be fond of. See—and judge for yourself.

In addition we show a Travel Picture and a Christie Comedy, continuously all day from 2 p.m. to 11 p.m.

— COMING MONDAY AND TUESDAY —

DOUGLAS FAIRBANKS in

"ARIZONA"

Adapted From The Play

PAULINE FREDERICK, at the Grand, Mond... "THE WOMAN ON THE INDEX", ...esday and Wednesday.

DOROTHY DALTON PRESENTS HER GREAT SUCCESS "QUICKSANDS" AT THE ALLEN

Plays the Part of a Devoted Wife and Makes it Exceedingly Real

Dorothy Dalton, beautiful and charming as a rose, scored a decisive hit in her new photoplay, "Quicksands," a superb Thomas H. Ince Paramount production. Speaking recently of her new photoplay Miss Dalton said to an interviewer in California: "Mary Bowen, the character I have tried to make real in "Quicksand" is the very sort of courageous girl who is proving every day in these stressful times, that a woman is capable of doing whatever is necessary if put to the test. Her devotion to her husband, and her struggles in his behalf were quite real and I found myself living Mary Bowen's life and experiencing with the greatest poignancy the feeling she would naturally have had under the circumstances.

"The cast, I think, is excellent and the story one that cannot fail to appeal. I really believe this will be one of my best pictures for Paramount and I hope the public will feel the same about it.

Miss Dalton is correct regarding the cast and story of "Quicksand." The cast is excellent and the story has a charm of its own which will be appreciated by all who see the picture.

"MY SOLDIER GIRL"

A WONDERFUL STORY PLAYED BY TALENTED MUSICAL COMPANY.

Presented by a big company, the brilliant musical spectacle, "My Soldier Girl," coming to the Grand on Saturday, Sept. 13, matinee and evening, offers nearly three hours of the most novel ideas ever presented to the theatre-going public in the past decade. A smashing hit from the first performances playing to capacity houses night after night goes to prove that this clever novelty offers something different. The locale of this novel musical play opens with a scene at Col. Stone's home, Miami, Fla., during a lawn fete given by the Colonel in honor of his "overseas" friends. The second act shows a gorgeous Follies production in preparation, and no more elaborate stage settings have been presented by any offering. The success of this remarkable play has been phenomenal. Some have said it was the book, others that it was the music, still others declare that it's the combination of book, score, costumes, scenery, and the excellent cast and big chorus that makes "My Soldier Girl" the most talked of musical show of the season. There are a score or more of tuneful melodies, among which "My Soldier Girl," "Just for You," "Jasper's Ragtime Band," "The Dixie Wedding Tune," and "Wrap Me in a Bundle of Love" are the real favorites.

In amazement, she questions the wisdom of such counsel and induces the chief to explain himself. She learns that her suitor is in reality a man who would do for America what Trotsky and Lenine have done for Russia—that he is an active force in a Bolshevik movement which might imperil her country. If by close association with him she can obtain the evidence desired by the Secret Service he will be arrested and deported. It is a tremendous problem, for she must risk losing the love of her husband, must sacrifice her reputation, and perhaps after all she will not be able to get the incriminating evidence. But when the chief appeals to her patriotism the sensitive woman agrees willingly to risk all.

It is beside the point to say what happened to her. The fact remains that "The Woman on the Index" is a truer reflection of real life than is usually found in mime dramas. It comes to the Grand Theatre Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday.

ADDED ATTRACTION AT GRAND

America's Greatest Drawing Room Entertainer Next Week.

Eugene Lockhart, America's greatest drawing room entertainer and monologuelst, has been engaged by the Grand Opera House management for the first three days of next week. This is an added attraction to the Grand's regular high class double feature program, but the prices will stand as before, 25c and 15c at night with matinees 10c and 15c.

CLEVER MUSICAL SHOW IS COMING

ELABORATE PRODUCTION WITH UNSURPASSED GORGEOUS COSTUMES.

The most talked of musical show of the entire season is the brilliant musical spectacle, "My Soldier Girl," coming to the Grand on Saturday, September 13, matinee and evening. The gorgeous costumes are fashion plates of the latest design, the novel numbers are staked under the careful direction of one of our best ballet masters, and the feature novelties are many—"Flirtation Walk," an illuminated run-board extending from the stage nearly half way to the rear wall of the theatre, and the many numbers introduced on the walk" offer new and amusing entertainment, while an aerial flight, con dance at the lawn fete, a grand illumination of New York City, and switching "pony" ballet in the follies, are a few of the feature novelties. An elaborate production with gorgeous costumes form a back ground for a brilliant cast and big pony" ballet, who present the big spectacle in all its merry-making. There are some twenty musical hits, including "My Soldier Girl," "Jasper's Ragtime Band," "That Dixie Wedding Tune," "Wrap Me in a Bundle of Love" and "Won't You Be My Beau" which are the popular favorites.

PRACTICAL HEALTH HINT.

Adenoids.

When adenoids are developing in a child's nose the parents should at once strike the foundation of the diseased tissue and build up the general health of the infant. Slight colds in an unhealthy baby develop adenoids. The principal symptoms usually observed in an infant suffering from adenoids is the mouth breathing. This mouth breathing will cause the tonsils to become irritated and enlarged. The enlargement of the tonsils will block up the throat, and the child will not get the proper amount of fresh air; consequently the child will become mentally deficient.

PETERBOROUGH MARKETS

Choice Mutton, lb.	.25	.30
Spring lamb, lb	.30	.32
Beef (carcase), lb.	.14	.20
Veal (carcase), lb.	.22	.25
Potatoes, pk.	.70	.75
Chickens, lb	.35	.35
Eggs, doz.	.50	.50
Butter, lb.	.60	.60
Raspberries	.27	.30
Green Corn, doz.	.25	.25
Green onions, bunch	.5	.5
Lettuce, bunch	.5	.5
Radish, bunch	.5	.5

NOTICE TO CREDITORS

Patrick McAvella, late of the City of Peterborough, in the County of Peterborough, deceased.

Notice is hereby given pursuant to the Trustee Act that all creditors and others having claims against the Estate of the said Patrick McAvella, who died on or about the tenth day of August, 1918, are required, on or before the Thirteenth day of September, 1919, to send by post prepaid or deliver to the undersigned, Solicitors for the Administrator of the Estate of the said deceased, their Christian and surnames, addresses and descriptions, the full particulars of their claims, the statement of their accounts and the nature of the securities, if any, held by them.

And further take notice, that after such last mentioned date the said Administrator will proceed to distribute the assets of the deceased among the parties entitled thereto, having regard only to the claims of which they shall then have notice, and that the said Administrator will not be liable for the said assets or any part thereof to any person or persons of whose claims notice shall not have been received by him at the time of such distribution.

Dated, the 22nd day of August, 1919.

PECK, KERR & McELDERRY,
415 Water Street,
Peterborough, Ont.
Solicitors for The Trusts and Guarantee Company, Limited, the Administrator.

Railway Time Tables

C. P. R. TIME TABLE
Effective May 4th, 1919.

GOING EAST

8.20 p.m.—Indian River ... wood, Havelock and Tweed

11.52 p.m.—Norwood, Havelock Kingston, St. Thos Falls Perth, Montreal, Quebec, St John N B, Boston and New York.

*1.30 a.m.—Havelock, Tweed, Kingston, Perth, Smiths Falls and Ottawa

11.59 a.m.—Norwood, Havelock Campbellford, Tweed, Perth, Smiths Falls Ottawa, Montreal and intermediate points.

*11.59 a.m.—Norwood and Havelock.

GOING WEST

*4.53 a.m.—Toronto, Owen Sound Guelph, Goderich, Hamilton, Buffalo New York, Galt, Woodstock, St Thomas, London, Chatham, Detroit and Chicago.

6.21 a.m.—Myrtle and North Toronto

7.35 a.m.—Toronto, Hamilton Buffalo, Rochester, Boston New York and intermediate points between Peterborough and Toronto.

9.35 a.m.—Lindsay, Orillia, Port McNicoll and intermediate points

3.20—Toronto, Hamilton, Brantford, Buffalo, New York, Galt, Guelph Woodstock, London, Windsor, Detroit and Chicago and intermediate points between Peterborough and Toronto.

6.00 p.m.—North Toronto, Lindsay and intermediate points

*3.20 p.m.—Toronto and intermediate points

*Daily

Daily except Sunday

Daily except Saturday.

*Sunday only.

GRAND TRUNK RAILWAY SYSTEM TIMETABLE.

No 96—8:10 a.m., for Toronto, via Port Hope, also points on Main Line east.

No. 93—8:20 a.m., for Lindsay Blackwater Jct., Orillia, Midland North Bay and Toronto.

No. 98—8:25 a.m., for Hastings Campbellford, Belleville and points on Main Line East.

No. 369—8:30 a.m., for Lakefield.

No. 92—12:04 p.m. for Lindsay, Port Hope, Toronto, Buffalo, making connections with International Limited for London, Detroit and Chicago.

No. 371—12:15 p.m. for Lakefield.

No. 100—2:00 p.m. for Hastings Campbellford and Belleville.

No. 95—5:40 p.m. for Lindsay, Orillia, Midland, North Bay and Toronto.

No. 373—5:40 p.m. for Lakefield.

No. 99—8:31 p.m. for Lindsay.

No. 94—9:19 p.m. for Port Hope Montreal and Boston.

MIXED WOOD

$7.00 Per Cord

HARD WOOD

$10.00 Per Cord

Cutting and Splitting extra.

ORDER NOW

FROM

J. E. A. FITZGERALD

Phone 111

TO THE VOTERS OF THE CITY OF PETERBOROUGH

Notice is hereby given that the Voters' Lists for the City of Peterborough, have been printed, and that the Lists for the various areas described below, have been deposited at the addresses indicated, where they are held open for inspection by the public.

Only the lists for the area described will be found at the address given for that area. If you wish to find if your name is on the list, read the descriptions below till you find the area in which you live; then go to the address indicated, where you will find the lists for that area, and also forms and rules for appealing, if an appeal is necessary. Information cannot be obtained by telephone from these various addresses; it would interfere too much with the private business of those persons with whom the lists have been deposited, and its accuracy could not be guaranteed. The only way to make sure that your name is on the list is to make a personal inspection of same.

The city has been divided into the following areas:

1.—All of the South Ward south of the centre of Lake Street and east centre of Park Street.

Voters' List at W. G. Freeburn's store, 168 Lock Street.

2.—All of South Ward, south of centre of Albert Street and the southern limits of Lots 31 and 32, Plan 30, Peterborough, and west of centre of Park Street.

Voters' List at Earnest Benson's store, 100 Park Street south.

3.—All of the South Ward, south of centre of Townsend Street, east centre of Rubidge Street and Park Street between Rink and Lake streets and north of centre of Lake Street.

Voters' List at Halpin's store, 37, 39 George street.

4.—All of South Ward, south centre Sherbrooke Street, east centre Rubidge and north of centre of Townsend.

Voters' List at Co.-operative Store, 200 Rubidge Street.

5.—All of South Ward, north of centre of Albert and Lots 31 and 42 Plan 30, City, west of centre of Rubidge and north of centre of Townsend and south centre of Sherbrooke.

Voters' Lists at James Garside's house, 199 Reid Street.

6.—All of Centre Ward, north centre of Sherbrooke, east centre of Water, and south centre of McDonell.

Voters' List at James Sutherland's store, 352½ Water Street.

7.—All of Centre Ward, south of centre of Simcoe, east centre Bethune, north centre of Sherbrooke and west of centre of Water.

Voters' List at office of City Clerk, Simcoe Street.

8.—All of Centre Ward, south centre of Brock, between Water and Chambers, south centre of Hunter between Chambers and Bethune, east centre Bethune and west centre of Water.

Voters' Lists at Paskin's grocery store, 233 Hunter Street.

9.—All of Centre Ward, west of centre of Water Street between centres McDonell and Brock and north centre of Hunter between Chambers and centre Bethune and east centre Bethune.

Voters' List at Goohen's store, 481 Aylmer street.

10.—All of West Ward, north centre of Sherbrooke, south centre of King and west centre Bethune.

Voters' Lists at Matthews' store, corner Park and Sherbrook.

11.—All of West Ward, south centre of Hunter, east centre of Park, north centre of King and west centre Bethune.

Voters' List at Kemp's store, corner Charlotte and Downie.

12.—All of West Ward, west centre of Park, south centre Hunter and Homewood and north centre of King.

Voters' List at Lillico's grocery, 356 Charlotte Street.

13.—All of West Ward, north centre Hunter, east centre Park, south centre McDonell and west centre Bethune.

Voters' List at Routley's shop, corner Brock and Park.

14.—All of West Ward, west centre Park, south centre McDonell and north centre of Hunter and Homewood.

Voters' List at J. J. Lynch's shop corner Park and Elm.

15.—All of North Ward, south centre of Smith, east centre of George and north centre of McDonnel.

Voters' List at William Petries' shop, corner Smith and Water.

16.—All of North Ward, south of the centre of Dublin, west centre George, north centre McDonnel and east centre Stewart.

Voters' List at Dawson Bros. store, corner London and George.

17.—All of North Ward, north centre McDonnel, west centre of Stewart.

Voters' List at Kennedy's grocery 332 McDonnel Street.

18.—All of the North Ward, south centre of Smith, east centre of Stewart, north centre of Dublin and west centre George.

Voters' List at Albert Tennyson's shop, corner George and Edinburgh.

19.—All of North Ward, east centre of Stewart and north centre Smith

Voters' List at Jordan Bros. Green house, 99 Argyle Street.

20.—All of East Ward, west centre of Mark Street, south centre of Douro

Voters' List at Sulivan's grocery store, 57 Hunter Street east.

21.—All of East Ward, east centre Mark, south centre of Douro and division line between Blocks U and V.

Voters' List at T. I. Hill's shop 127 Hunter Street east.

22.—All of East Ward, north of centre of Douro and division line between Blocks U and V.

Voters' List at D. Rice's shop, 550 Concession Street.

Appeals in the forms prescribed by statute must be filed with the Revising Officers' Clerk on or before Monday, the 8th day of September, 1919. The Revising Officer's clerks are as follows: For areas numbered 1, 2, 3, 4 and 5 above—W. F. Johnston, 435 George Street; for areas numbered 6, 7, 8, 9, 20, 21 and 22 above—Wilfred F. Huycke, Engleburne Avenue, and for areas numbered 10, 11, 12, 13, 14, 15, 16, 17, 18 and 19 above—Fred Morrow, 469 Water Street.

If an appeal is necessary it is advisable to use the forms provided by the Board, and to carefully observe the rules governing the entering and hearing of appeals. Forms of the appeal and copies of the rules may be obtained at any of the above addresses.

Dated at Peterborough, this 28th day of August, 1919.

E. C. S. HUYCKE,
Chairman of the Voters' Registration Board.

ONTARIO ELECTION ACTS 1918 and 1919

NOTICE OF SITTINGS OF REVISING OFFICERS

Electoral District of West Peterborough, City of Peterborough

To Wit:

Take notice that the lists of voters for polling subdivisions Numbers 1 to 22, both inclusive, comprising the City of Peterborough, have been prepared by the enumerators and have been delivered to the Clerk of this Board by the Chief Enumerator and Returning Officer, and that GEORGE W. HATTON, of the City of Peterborough, has been appointed Revising Officer for Polling Subdivisions Numbers 1, 2, 3, 4 and 5 (South Ward of City); EDWARD C. S. HUYCKE, Revising Officer for Polling Subdivisions 6, 7, 8, and 9, and 20 and 21 (East and Centre Wards of City) and GEORGE J. SHERRY, Revising Officer for Polling Subdivisions 10, 11, 12, 13, 14, 15, 16, 17, 18 and 19, (West and North Wards of City) to hear complaints and appeals as to the lists of voters aforesaid.

And further take notice that the sittings of the said several Revising Officers will take place as to the South Ward (Nos. 1, 2, 3, 4, and 5) above, at the County Council Chamber in the Court House, in the City of Peterborough, as to the Centre and East Wards (No. 6, 7, 8, 9, 20, 21 and 22 above) in the Judges' Chambers in the said Court House and as to the West and North Wards (Nos. 10, 11, 12, 13, 14, 15, 16, 17, 18 and 19 above) in the Court Room in the said Court House on SATURDAY, the THIRTEENTH day of September, 1919.

Each sittings will commence at 10 o'clock in the forenoon and will continue until the appeals fixed for the day have been disposed of.

And further take notice that any voter who desires to complain that the names of any persons entitled to be entered on any of the said lists have been omitted from same, or that the names of persons who are not entitled to be voters, have been entered thereon, may on or before MONDAY, the EIGHTH DAY OF SEPTEMBER, 1919, apply, complain of or appeal to have his own name or the name of any other person, corrected in, entered on, or removed from, the lists prepared under the Ontario Elections Acts, 1918 and 1919.

And further take notice that such appeals must be by notice in writing in the prescribed form, signed by the complainant in duplicate and given to the clerk of the proper revising officer, or left for said Clerk at his residence or place of business on or before the said date. The clerk to Mr. Geo. W. Hatton is W. F. Johnston, place of business, 435 George St., residence, 310 McDonnel St.; the Clerk to Mr. E. C. S. Huycke is Wilfred Huycke, Residence, Engleburn Ave., and the Clerk to Mr. Geo. J. Sherry, Mr. Fred Morrow, residence, 469 Water St., business address, Registry Office, all in Peterborough.

Dated at Peterborough, this 29th day of August, 1919.

E. C. S. HUYCKE,
Chairman of the Voters' Registration Board, for the County of Peterborough.

Children's Aid Society

Peterborough City and County

FOR THE CARE OF NEGLECTED AND ILL-TREATED CHILDREN

G. W. POWELL

Asst. Secretary and Inspector

Office, 585 George St. Phone 1044w

Office Hours: 12 to 2 and 6 to 8 p.m.

Department of Railways and Canals, Canada.

TRENT CANAL.

BOBCAYGEON SECTION

NOTICE TO CONSTRACTORS.

SEALED TENDERS addressed to the undersigned and marked "Tender for Bobcaygeon Section, Trent Canal" will be received at this office until 12 o'clock noon on Monday, September 29th, 1919.

Plans, specifications and form of contract to be entered into can be seen on or after this date at the office of the Chief Engineer of the Department of Railways and Canals, Ottawa, at the office of the Superintending Engineer, Trent Canal, Peterborough, Ont.

Copies of plans and specifications may be obtained from the Department on the payment of the sum of fifty dollars. The bona fide tenderers this amount will be refunded upon the return of the above in good condition.

An accepted bank cheque for the sum of $7,500 made payable to the order of the Minister of Railways and Canals, must accompany each tender, which sum will be forfeited if the party tendering declines entering into contract for the work at the rates stated in the offer submitted.

The cheque thus sent in, will be returned to the respective contractors whose tenders are not accepted.

The lowest or any tender not necessarily accepted.

By order,

J. W. PUGSLEY,
Secretary.

Department of Railways and Canals, Ottawa, September 5, 1919.

PETERBORO INDUSTRIAL EXHIBITION

MONDAY, TUESDAY, WEDNESDAY SEPT, 15th, 16th, and 17th

Three Full Days — Three Evening Performances ushered in on Monday at 1 o'clock by Monster Parade

$3,500 IN PRIZE MONEY

SPEEDING IN THE RING EACH AFTERNOON

57th Regimental Band and Great War Veterans' Band Will Furnish Music

BIGGEST AND BEST FAIR OUTSIDE OF TORONTO LONDON AND OTTAWA

You Want "Pep" Well You'll Get It

SCAN OVER THIS PROGRAM OF FREE ATTRACTIONS—THE MOST EXPENSIVE ACTS EVER CONTRACTED FOR BY ANY CANADIAN EXHIBITION—SOMETHING DOING ON ALL THREE DAYS.

BONETTE BROS—DEATH DEFIERS

Double Balloon Ascension with Human Bomb Thrill.
Double Aerial Trapeze Cradle.
Whirlwind Slide for Life on 500-ft. Cable.

THOMAS TRIO—Comedy Triple Horizontal Bar Act

MARVELLOUS MELVILLE—Spectacular Gymnast

THE 4 READINGS

Sensational Jugglers of Human Beings, direct from New York Hippodrome.

THE CLARK-RAZZILLIANS CO.

IN WONDERFUL FEATS ON THE AERIAL TRAPEZE.

3 — ROMANS — 3

Spectacular Athletic Performance on the Roman Ladders.

Daily Aeroplane Flights by Oversea Aviators

Doing all kinds of Marvelous Stunts and Loops in the Air, not previously seen here. Passengers will be carried and arrangements for flights can be made with R. M. GLOVER, T. H. HOOPER or W. F. TURNER.

SPECIAL! SPECIAL! SPECIAL!

FOR MONDAY — FOR MONDAY — FOR MONDAY

In addition to the above Program a Novel Display of DAYLIGHT FIREWORKS will be given Monday Afternoon on arrival of the Big Calithumpian Parade at the Exhibiton Grounds.

MONSTER EVENING DISPLAY ON ALL THREE NIGHTS.

MORAN IS ONE OF GREATEST PILOTS IN THE BIG LEAGUE

Manager of Cincinnati Reds Tells How He Handles His Players—Tips in Winning a Pennant.

How does Pat Moran win pennants. This question is foremost in the minds of the ardent supporters of the Natoianl League now that the Cincinnati Reds, led by Moran, are about to win the pennant in the organization. Fans are wondering what there is about him that stamps him as one of the greatest leaders in the game and what method he used in developing a championship club out of material that was considered this spring just about fair enough to land a place in the first division.

This is the second National League title Moran will have won since breaking into the managerial game with the Phillies four years ago, and more importance is attached to his success because of the fact that he has piloted clubs that have never before won a pennant. Moran made his debut as manager with the Phillies in 1915 and that year won the flag, the first the Philadelphia club had won in thirty-three years. This year he supplanted Christy Mathewson as manager of the Reds and is almost at the door of another championship

His Players Like Moran.

Before getting down to what Manager Moran has to say about his success it might be well to say that his achievement is largely due to his own personality. He is liked by all he meet particularly his ball players. Whil he was loved and respected by all his men, who gave him every ounce energy they possessed while in action and played smart baseball all the time. Why Moran knows how to handle men, he never humiliates any of them before their comrades or opposing players and corrects their mistakes in a way that they profit by them. He does not employ the mailed fist system. Hence his success.

"There is only way to win," said Manager Moran, "and that is by paying attention to business at all times We play to win every game let the next one take care of itself. It has always been my policy to keep my players' minds off the world's series. I do not allow them to worry about our percentage and insist upon their thinking of only winning the game in which they play. When you win games you win the pennant.

Moran Explains Success.

"There must be no loafing. We worked hard, and we would not be where we are today if we had not Every man hustled to the limit of his ability. When they all do that a team is bound to meet with some sort of success.

"I do not want all the credit for our success. I see by the papers they are calling me miracle man and all sorts of things. The only extent to which I entered into the victory was in the application of the longer experience in professional baseball. Every one of the players gave his best effort. I merely directed those efforts, in the light of my experience so that thety would have the greatest posible effect.

"We all had something to do. There part was to play ball the best they knew how. Mine was to dope out the situation as they came up and figure how to meet them.

So, after all, there is nothing to it but work, work by the players and work by myself.

"One does not have to have a set of rules or ask men to be anxious to win. The first thing to do is to gain the respect and confidence of your players. That is what I did. After I did that I insisted on co-operation and the results show for themselves.

Carry Out His Orders.

"My business is to give orders. I give them and they are always carried out. If they do not materialize the player is not blamed unless he fails to do his share. The men carry them out with all the energy possible and do so because they have confidence in my ability. Driving them does not pay. I have never worked yet, and do not think it ever will.

"A successful manager must be a hard a worker as any of his players. Players take their manager as an example. If he loafs and takes no heart interest in the club the men naturally will do the same. But if he is always on his toes the players will be the same and that is a combination difficult to beat.

"This spirit of fighting for ball games did not have to be developed or forced into the men. It just came I try to be with my players as much as possible, and am no less a manager. Be one of the boys is the best way to get along and keep their minds on the game. The old Cub team used to talk baseball morning noon and night. That is why it was a great machine.

"As manager it is my part to give orders. They are obeyed to the letter, not because I am leader of the club but ecause the men realize that I am trying to do just what they are trying to do—win ball games. There is not a man on the club who would not gracefully sit on the bench if another player were capable of doing better in the games. The spirit of team work prevails and that is why we are on top.

Manager Moran is modest, almost to extremes but his players are willing to give him all the credit that is due him. That they respect his judgment and ability is needless to say. They show it on the field and have done so all the season. Off the field they praise him to the skies and say he is a wonderful fellow. With this spirit prevailing one can easily see why the Reds hustle every minute they are on the field.

YOUNG CATTLE AND KID BRONTON FIGHT FAST TEN ROUND DRAW

After an Interesting List of Local Preliminaries Two Outsiders Put on a Clever Exhibition.

A very poor crowd witnesed a very good boxing and wrestling exhibition at the Brock street rink last night. About one row of the ring side seats were occupied and a very small number occupied the outside seats.

Mr. George Graham refereed the bouts to the entire satisfaction of the multitude.

An interesting list of preliminaries were shown. Irish Jordan and Alex Legros giving a fast three round exhibition although they held in all their hard punches. The decision was a draw although the fans seemed to think that Jordan's footwork should have gained him the decision.

The next bout was in the juvenile fly-weight class in which young Lavery and Kid Campbell fought hard and earnestly till the last gong was sounded. Young Lavery shapped like a real fighter and his ring experience did him good service, although Campbell kept coming back gamely for more. The decision was a draw.

Dunsford and Mirard engaged in a fast skillful wrestling match that was very interesting to witness. Both men got out of some difficult holds in the earlier stages of the bout, Mirard finally pinning his opponent to the mat by means of a lightning-like throw.

The final preliminary was a hard hitting, earnest bout between Dugan and Atheny. Atheny showed more ring knowledge in the bout but Dugan stopped his rushes very often with a long straight left. This was a very pretty exhibition and appreciated by the audience. The decision was a draw.

Then came the main bout of the evening between young Cattle of Toronto and Kid Bronton of New York. There was some talk on the streets yesterday of this bout being a fake one, but anyone who saw it will agree with the writer that the two fought hard and earnestly and put up an exceedingly clever exhibition.

Cattle rushed the start of every round but appeared to slow up on receiving heavy body punishment. Bronton, on the other hand, although he was receiving severe punishment was hitting harder and oftener at the end of the round than at the beginning.

The first few rounds were fast and showed clever boxing but the blows did not begin to land clean and hard until the fourth. In the fourth Cattle adopted the crouching position and whirling his gloves bored in. Some heavy blows were landed by both men and red blotches appeared on the bodies and Cattle received a slight cut over his left eye.

From there on it was a battle royal. Cattle came out from his corner with a rush each round and bored right in. His opponent did not give an inch under this avalanche but returned and at times added a few good healthy ones for good measure. In the sixth round, the referee warned Bronton about hitting while coming out of a clinch and after a little wordy argument the fistic one was resumed with renewed vigour. The last minute of this round was a fight pure and simple. Both men stood up there returning blow for blow but neither would give an inch. They both showed signs of weariness after this round.

The last four rounds were fast with the hitting growing continually heavier. Cattle showed signs of weakening under the heavy blows at this stage, but at the beginning of each round bored right in and landed some beautiful ones.

Cattle is a long, slim, red-headed fellow with a left like a battering ram. Bronton showed signs of being a two-handed fighter and brought a lot of wicked body blows around with his right. Cattle showed good ring judgment in covering up once or twice when the blows began to come to thick and fell into a clinch. With both men standing up and boxing, we would give Cattle a shade of the argument but Bronton landed some terrific blows from close in.

Mr. Graham gave the decision a draw and from the side it looked like the only decision to come to.

Mr. Drummond, the promoter, is to be congratulated upon his program of the evening and if he suffered financial loss he has not himself to blame, but the lack of interest in good, clean sport in this town.

Drink O'Keefe's With Your Meals

A refreshing glass of O'Keefe's beer, bright and sparkling, directly off the ice. What could be nicer to drink with your meals? O'Keefe's adds relish to your food and improves your appetite by its mild, stimulating, tonic properties.

O'Keefe's

IMPERIAL LAGER, ALE, STOUT

The trio of proven merit, that stand unexcelled for quality, purity and uniformity. Satisfying brews that please the most exacting palate with their pleasant tang and mellow flavor.

Decide on drinking O'Keefe's Beverages. The whole family will enjoy and benefit by them.

On sale at Hotels, Restaurants and Refreshment Booths, or order by the case—Don't accept substitutes.

O'KEEFE'S TORONTO

712

J. M. BROOKS, Distributor, 195½ Charlotte St., Peterborough, Ont.

FALL FAIRS 1919

PETERBOROUGH—Sept. 15-17
Ottawa—Sept. 6-15.
Campbellford—Sept. 23-24.
Bancroft—Oct. 2-3.
Bowmanville—Sept. 16-17.
Brighton—Sept. 11-12.
Brockville—Aug. 25-28.
Bobcaygeon—Sept. 26, 27.
Cobourg—Sept. 17-18.
Colborne—Sept. 25-26
Centreville—Sept. 20.
Cobden—Sept. 25, 26.
Demorestville—Sept. 27.
Delta—Sept. 15-17.
Dungannon—Oct. 2-4.
Frankford—Sept. 18-19.
Harrowsmith—Sept. 18-19
Keene—Oct. 7-8.
Kingston—Sept. 23-27.
Lakefield—Sept. 23-24.
Lindsay—Sept. 18-20.
Madoc—Oct. 7-8.
Merrickville—Sept. 16, 17.
Marmora—Sept. 30.
Maynooth—Sept. 25.
Midland—Sept. 29-Oct. 1.
Millbrook—Oct. 2-3.
Napanee—Sept. 9-10
Norwood—Oct. 14, 15.
Odessa—Oct. 3.
Orillia—Sept. 16-17.
Oshawa—Sept. 8-10.
Orono—Sept. 25, 26.
Picton—Sept. 16-18.
Port Hope—Sept. 23, 24.
Robbins Mills—Sept 23, 24.
Shannonville—Sept. 13.
Stirling—Sept. 25, 26.
Stella—Sept. 30.
Tweed—Oct. 2, 3.
Wolfe Island—Sept. 17, 18.
Warkworth—Oct. 2, 3.

It doesn't cost nail as much to live as it does to make a favorable impression on the neighbors.

After all, the easiest way to do a thing is to do it right.

Other things are as scarce as the teeth of a hen—a rooster's for instance.

The Steamer Naiad ON AND AFTER MAY 5th 1919

The Steamer Naiad will run as follows:—

Leave Lakefield daily on arrival of noon G.T.R. Train for Stony Lake Points connecting at Mt. Julian with the Apsley Stage

H.P. Lindsay Agency Co.
Real Estate and Insurance
Automobile Licenses
District Agents for Security Life

MOTORISTS

Do You Want to Save Gas?
Do You Want More Power?
Do You Want Your Car Cleaned While you Run?
Do You Want Real Pleasure in Motoring?
THEN BY ALL MEANS BUY
"LENEOGAS"
REFERENCE GIVEN
Sold by Best Dealers

H. P. LINDSAY AGENCY CO.,
Phone 341. 392 Water St.

Canada Food Board License No. 8-4859
D. M. MINICOLA
Best Fruit—
Cheap
Best Vegetables.
Reasonable
Best Groceries
At Right Prices
410½ GEORGESTREET
Bell Phone 930

COAL ...AND... Builders' Supplies
Hardwood Flooring
Robt. Hicks & Co.
LIMITED

PITTSTON COAL
IS THE BEST
ALL SIZES IN STOCK
Also best lines of SOFT COAL at Lowest Prices
McCARTHY & JOHNSTON
COAL DEALERS
111 Hunter Street, East City
Phone 96 TERMS CASH

HARD COAL
EGG, STOVE,
NUT, PEA
H. B. TAYLOR & SON
160 AYLMER-ST.
Phone 209

Order Your Coal From LOW & Co.
We have all sizes in stock
EGG, STOVE, NUT AND PEA
The best and cheapest coal in town. Perfectly screened and promptly delivered. Bring your orders in now.
Prices advance every month.
LOW & COMPANY
162 Simcoe Street. Phone 697
House 396

LUMBER
Builders' Materials of all kinds—Shingles, Beantlings, Joist and Bill Stuff, Mouldings, Casings, Base and all kinds of Finish, Sorts and Box Shooks; Slabs and Mill Wood.
Alf. McDonald Estate

Bringing up Father — By George McManus

ARE GOING TO A SWELL RESTAURANT I HEARD OF WELL-I HOPE I GIT SOMETHING TO EAT-
WHEN WE GO IN-DON'T LOOK SO MEAN-SMILE AT THE MANAGER-TRY TO LOOK PLEASANT-
ALL RIGHT-
YES-IN THE MANAGER-TABLE FOR TWO?
UH HUH::
BUT MAGGIE-
I SAID WELL NOT EAT HERE!!

SAFEGUARD YOUR EYESIGHT

When you accept our invitation to a consultation regarding the condition of your eyes, you need not feel concerned about what we will tell you. You will learn only the truth. "See Us and See Better."

W. H. LACEY
Optical Specialist.
410 George St.

DISTRICT AND LOCAL NEWS

MISSION AT ST. PETER'S CATHEDRAL.

The Rev. Father McLaughlin, McBrearty and Cloran, of the Redemptorist Order of Toronto, will open a two weeks renewal mission at St. Peter's Cathedral at the 10:30 mass tomorrow morning.

The first week is for women and the second week is for men. The evening sermons delivered during the mission, will be explanatory of Catholic Doctrine.

NOTICE

Lessons in primary reading for adults, or, backward children. Apply Review for address.

MEN'S SOCIAL BIBLE CLASS

George Street Church. Fall session commences tomorrow at 3 p.m. Every member in his place. New members and visitors heartily welcome.

Dr. E. V. Frederick, member Royal College of Surgeons, England, late Surgeon No. 1, Canadian Stationery Hospital, Salonica, late Surgical Specialist No. 70 Indian Stationary Hospital, Bagdad, late Clinical Assistant Mayo Clinic, Rochester, Minn., has resumed practice corner Charlotte and Rubidge streets, Peterboro— especially consulting practice in surgical and chronic conditions.

Dr. Free, late house physician Toronto General Hospital, assistant in practice with Dr. Frederick and in charge of laboratory work.

REV. THOMAS HOME.

Rev. Amos J. Thomas, pastor of George Methodist Church has returned from his vacation and will occupy the pulpit on Sunday at both services. His evening theme will be: "A man's call and his prompt response."

TIRES VULCANIZED

Because that tire has a hole through it is no reason why you should throw it away. You may yet get several thousand miles out of it by having a sectional repair made. We Vulcanize Auto Tires and Tubes and guarantee our work. Millard's Bicycle Shop, 225 Hunter street, near Aylmer, phone 234j.

ST. LUKE'S SCHOOL.

Commencing tomorrow St. Luke's Sunday School will meet at 2 o'clock in the afternoon instead of at 10 in the morning as during the summer months.

PRIVATE SALE.

The household effects of Miss A. Turner, 801 Water street; fine rugs, stoves and furnishings; sale private, commencing Monday night, Sept. 8th, at 6 o'clock.

LADIES' AID TO MEET

The Ladies' Auxiliary to the G.W.V.A. will meet at 8 p.m. on Monday. Members please be on time.

PALMISTRY.

Madame Alise famous Scotch palmist at Gollop's Hotel opposite Grand Opera House. Here only for a short time. Hours from 10 a.m. to 10 p.m. All readings $1.00.

BOARD FOR STUDENTS.

The Peterborough Normal School will re-open on Tuesday, Sept. 15th. Householders who have accommodation for students should send their names and addresses to the principal.

AUCTION SALE

Thursday, Sept 11th, at the home of Mr. N. J. Pitchford, 362 Hunter street, entire Household Furniture, including High-grade Piano, Piano Lamp, Parlor Chairs, Oak Dining Suit, Electric Fixtures, Brass Scuttle and Tongs, Etc., Brass Beds, Mahogany and Walnut Dressing Tables, Handsome Hall Rack, Rugs, Etc. Don't miss this sale as everything is new. Open for inspectors Tuesday afternoon.

W. J. HANCOCK, Auctioneer.

ST. PAUL'S NEW ORGANIST COMMENCES DUTIES SUNDAY

Mr. Tattersall, Musician of Highest Gifts.

At a largely attended meeting of session last night Mr. Frank Tattersall was engaged as organist and choir master of St. Paul's Church. Mr. Tattersall is a musician of the highest gifts. He played with great acceptance in the church in the early summer, and then gave a piano and organ recital on the Monday evening which revealed to all who heard him his wonderful mastery of these two great instruments. St. Paul's is to be congratulated on having secured his services. He will commence his duties tomorrow and will play both morning and evening.

MR. HENDERSON AT TABERNACLE

Will Tell His Story of Work in West at Both Services.

Mr. Henderson, superintendent of the Shantymen's Christian Association, will arrive in town at 8:10 this evening and during his stay here will be a guest of Mr. Stock. On Sunday morning and evening, Mr. Henderson will deliver addresses at the Bethany Tabernacle. In the afternoon he will visit St. Paul's and Murray street Sunday schools and give a brief talk at each place.

Mr. Henderson has recently returned from the west and has a very interesting story to tell concerning the work in British Columbia and throughout the west. Mr. Henderson has preached in many of the largest churches of the world including Moody's church, Chicago. Come and hear a great preacher on an interesting topic.

BEULAH F. GALT, A.T.C.M.

Teacher of Piano, Rudiments, Harmony, Counterpoint, Form and History. Pupils prepared for standard examinations. For terms call 990r24.

ALBION KNITTING UNDERWAY

Commenced Work Yesterday and Rapidly Getting in Shape.

Another industry has commenced work in this city. The Albion Knitting Company occupying the old West Ward School, have started work and will be going full force on Monday.

JUNIOR LEAGUE

The Junior League of George st. church will hold its first meeting of the season Sunday morning, September 7, at 10 o'clock. All members are asked to be present.

LAST UNION SERVICE.

The last of the union services between St. Andrew's and Trinity Churches, which have been very successful for the past two summers, will be held tomorrow. The morning service will be in St. Andrew's and the evening service in Trinity. Rev. James Rollins will preach at both services.

CONSERVATORY NOTES

Department of Literature and Expression. If a sufficiently large number of pupils can be secured, it will be possible to have a department under the direction of the Margaret Eaton School of Literature and Expression at the Peterborough Conservatory of Music. For information telephone 355.

Mr. Harry Adaskin, of Toronto, has been appointed head of the Violin Department at the Peterborough Conservatory of Music and will begin duties Friday, Sept. 12. Telephone 355.

Private Kindergarten classes (not musical) will begin Sept. 8, Monday afternoon, at 1.30 o'clock. Parents wishing to send their little ones will please telephone the Conservatory, 355, for terms and particulars.

Arrangements are being made at the Conservatory for a Senior Vocal Master. Announcement to be made later.

BRAILEY CORN ROAST

A Corn Roast will be held on Wednesday next at Brailey at the Union Sunday School. Music will be provided by The J. M. Greene Co. If you are in for a good time, come along and enjoy yourself.

LOCAL 437

International Hodcarriers' and Laborers' Union will hold their Regular Meeting Monday evening, Sept. 8th, at 8 o'clock. All members are requested to be present.

A. E. MILLER, Cor.-Secy.

SOCIAL AND PERSONAL

Mr. Robert Wilson, 584 Charlotte street, who underwent an operation at Nicholls Hospital two weeks ago, has returned to his home, and his many friends will be pleased to learn of his rapid recovery.

Miss Carrie Crookshanks has returned to her school at Frazerville for the present term.

Mr. and Mrs. H. Elliott, of Port Hope, have returned home after a visit with friends in Peterborough and vicinity.

Miss Alice Elson visited friends in Millbrook over the holiday.

Miss Lizzie Lang was a visitor to Millbrook last week.

Mr and Mrs. Charles Stanton visited in Millbrook last week, guests of the latter's parents, Mr. and Mrs. R. E. Stanton.

Mr. and Mrs. Taylor, Akron, O., have returned home after a month's visit with Peterborough friends.

Miss McKim is holidaying with Millbrook friends.

Rev. Father Kelly is spending a few days with friends at Kirkfield.

Miss Layton of Nova Scotia has taken the position of general secretary of the Y.W.C.A. Miss Parker, who previously occupied this position, is leaving for New York.

Mr. and Mrs. Bradbury of Hamilton motored to the city yesterday and spent the day here.

Miss Helen O'Mera of Toronto is visiting friends in the city.

Miss Anna Clark of Toronto spent a few days last week with friends in the city.

Mr. George Yeates has left for an extended visit with his parents at Tropolis, Greece.

Mr. Robt. Fair was in Toronto attending the Exhibition yesterday.

Miss Nina Davidson is visiting at Stoney Lake.

Mr. Henry Clare of Buffalo was the guest of Peterborough friends last week.

Miss Minnie Davidson of Medicine Hat, Alta., has returned home after an extended visit with friends in the East.

Mr. and Mrs. Laughlin of Toronto spent a few days this week with friends in the city.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Conway of Winnipeg have returned home after a two weeks' visit with friends in the East.

Miss Dainard of North Bay was a Peterborough visitor last week.

Mr. and Mrs. H. Raynard and family of Toronto motored to Peterborough yesterday and spent the day in the city.

ENGAGEMENT.

Mr. and Mrs William Allison Logan, 14 Murray street, announce the engagement of their daughter, Lora Evelyn, to Thomas Percival Hooper the marriage to take place the latter part of September.

FOREMAN AND EMPLOYE ON BRIDGE HAVE LITTLE SET TO Slight Injuries When Employee Talked Back.

Mr. O'Leary, a foreman on the bridge construction, was fined $2 and $3.10 costs in Police Court this morning for assaulting an employee named Bayliss.

Bayliss was pounding down the cement of the retaining wall when the shoot broke. He endeavored to fix the shoot but those above sent down some more cement too soon and broke the shoot again before he had time to fix it properly. He objected strenuously to this and addressed the foreman in strong terms. The foreman jumped down into the hole and immediately commenced pomelling the little workman. Neither man was hurt badly in the melee and the foreman was fined $2 and $3.10 costs.

FLT. LIEUT. VIC DALLIN AT EX.

Will Perform Here Under Contract With Bishop-Barker Co.

Mr. Webber Turner has just closed a contract with the Bishop-Barker Aviation Company, which has done all the flying at the Toronto Exhibition, and whose fliers have created such a sensation there. In this company is the famous Canadian Ace, Lieut.-Col. Bishop, and other well-known aviators.

In the contract is stipulated the appearance here of Lieut. Vic Dallin, a Peterborough boy, whose flying overseas and since coming back to Canada has been sensational to say the least.

Two machines will come to Peterborough and will give the Fair goers such an exhibition as they have not seen in Peterborough.

FORMER PETERBOROUGH BOY CALLED TO BAR SEPT 11TH

Mr. Walter Fair, former student at Peterborough Collegiate Institute and nephew of Mr. Robert Fair, of this city, has been included in the list of successful law students who will be called to the bar on Sept. 11th.

OBITUARY

EDWIN B. WILLIAMS.

The death occurred yesterday of Edwin B. Williams of Fradette avenue, North Monaghan, aged 47 years. Deceased leaves to mourn his loss, besides his wife, a son, Edwin, recently returned from overseas, and a daughter, Ivy, residing at home.

CLARENCE SIMMONS.

The death occurred yesterday of Clarence Simmons, the five months old child of Mr. James Simmons, 280 Lansdowne street. The friends of the family will regret to learn of the misfortune.

SOKAS AND SEIDLER ARRESTED

Former Commander Hungarian Red Army is Interned.

(Canadian Press Despatch)

Basle, Sept. 6—Two former members of the Hungarian government, Dr. Lokas and Ernest Seidler, have been arrested in Austria, according to advices from Vienna. Seidler formerly was commander of the Hungarian Red army.

Both men have been interned by the Austrian authorities.

NEW ELECTRICAL FIRM

Mr. P. Alexander, having retired from the firm of Alexander & Miller, Electrical Contractors, necessitates a change in this well-known firm's name. Mr. J. H. Miller, junior member of the old firm, who so successfully conducted the interests of this firm for the past eighteen years, remains with the business and will have associated with him in partnership Mr. G. R. Powell and Mr. G. H. Watson, both expert electricians, having been connected with the firm of Messrs. Alexander & Miller for many years, and who will take an active part with Mr. Miller in conducting the business of this reliable firm.

Strict personal service will be given to every contract and the reliable work executed by the old firm for so many years will be maintained and the users of electricity are assured of unequaled service by the varied and extensive experience of these three experts. The store in the future will be known as "The Electric Shop," and the firm, Miller, Powell & Watson.

Thirty-five men are applying for the position of City Engineer of St. Thomas.

William Webster of London, a prominent Presbyterian, died suddenly at the age of ninety.

Thomas Dixon, of Con. 9 Beverley lost his barn, crops an dfive pigs when a spark from a threshing machine ignited the building.

A WONDERFUL MAN

Old Unimpeachable Authority has it that somewhere in this blooming world there exists a man who knows just what the claims of the serbs, the Croats, the Czechs, the Poles, the Fiumians and the rest of them are.

MUSIC CLASSES

Mr. F. E. Walden will resume his work as teach of Piano, Singing and Musical Theory at 583 Bethune St., on Monday, Sept 8th.

Former pupils may come at the usual hour, if possible.

Stoney Lake Navigation Company

Steamers leave Lakefield for the Lakes on arrival of morning and noon trains.

Steamers leave the Lake to connect with 9.30 a.m. (morning) and 4.40 p.m. (afternoon) trains for Peterborough.

G. T. R. trains leave Peterborough at 8.30 a.m., 12.15 noon

For excursion rates, information, etc., phone 548, or write

F. G. YOUNG.
Gen. Manager.
497 King St.

W.S.S.

ABOUT 170 years ago tea sold in England for $14.60 a pound. It was a luxury which only the wealthy could afford.

Thanks largely to the great increase in the area of tea plants under cultivation in India during the past fifty years, there is enough tea grown to-day to supply tea to the world at a price even the poorest can afford.

A cup of "good" tea—Red Rose Tea—costs only a fraction of a cent. There is hardly anything sold in the grocery store that gives more value or more pleasure for the money.

Consisting chiefly of ASSAM teas—the richest and strongest of Indian teas—Red Rose is exceedingly fragrant, flavory and economical. It is a tea of real quality and real value.

Sold only in sealed packages.

RED ROSE TEA "is good tea"

148

AT S. A. TEMPLE.

Special services will be conducted during the week end by Brigadier Barr of Toronto Headquarters. The Brigadier has had a wide experience of S. A. work and is an interesting speaker.

On Monday night he will have a special meeting with the Young People's Workers, including teachers. The Y. P. Workers from Brailey will also be present. The public is cordially invited to all the services. The open air service Sunday morning will be held on Hunter Street, west of Park, near Belmont Avenue.

VICTORY BONDS

May Drop Again Before the Next Victory Loan in October.

WE STILL PAY
HIGHEST PRICE
SPOT CASH

NO FUSS :-: NO DELAY

HUGHSON JOHNSTONE
PETERBOROUGH
Suite 202-203, Barrie Building
George St. Next to Customs House
Phone 968
OPEN SATURDAY NIGHTS

THE ELECTRIC SHOP

THE HOUSE OF EXCLUSIVE LIGHTING

Visit our Showrooms and you are sure to modernize your home with:—

HANDSOME ELECTRIC FIXTURES
ELECTRIC VACUUM CLEANERS
ELECTRIC STOVES
ELECTRIC WASHING MACHINES

MILLER, POWELL & WATSON

Get our Prices on your Electric Wiring

Referendum Committee

Attention Voters!

IS YOUR NAME ON THE VOTERS' LIST

Monday, September 8th is the last day on which it is possible to have your name added to the List.

To make sure, call up the Organizer, T. M. Wesley, He will tell you. PHONE Y.M.C.A. 246

ONE HUNDRED AUTOS WANTED FOR VOTING DAY

A. B. Cunningham,
Chairman Ref. Com.

Fresh southwest winds, fair and warm Tuesday—Southwest winds, showers in some localities, but mostly fair.

The Daily Review

8 PAGES

40th YEAR No. 56 Peterborough's Oldest Newspaper. PETERBOROUGH, ONTARIO, MONDAY, SEPTEMBER 8, 1919. Price Two Cents per copy

GEN. PERSHING, AMERICA'S NATIONAL IDOL, REACHED NEW YORK THIS MORNING

Acclaimed by Tooting of Whistles, Bellowing of Sirens, Barking of Guns and Roaring Cheers of Thousands—Every State Represented

(Canadian Press Despatch)

New York, Sept. 8.—General Pershing came home today. The nation's idol. The commander-in-chief symbolizing the greatest of American armies, arrives on the giant transport Leviathan shortly after eight o'clock.

Every State Represented.

Every state in the union was represented in the crowds that massed along the water front in Manhattan, on Staten Island and in New Jersey. Tens of thousands visitors had been flocking to America's gateway for several days to greet the returning hero. There were delegations from Elpaso, where he was stationed during the Mexican border trouble, from Cheyenne, where his late wife lived before their marriage, from Laclede, the little Missouri town where he was born, and from nearly every city, village and hamlet identified with him or with the great armed force he commanded.

In addition to these delegations there was a congressional party.

Guest of New York.

Following a brief interchange of greetings by Baker and Pershing on the pier, the entire party proceeded on the steamer patrol to pier A., at the battery, from which they sped in an automobile up Broadway to the city hall.

There they were tendered a reception by Mayor Hyland and other city officials in the aldermanic chamber. From that moment until he leaves for Washington, Thursday evening, Pershing will be the guest of the city.

Triumphal Entry.

From the moment the Leviathan reached Ambrose Light, a score of miles from the city, before five o'clock, her progress through the lower and upper bays and up the North River was a veritable "triumphal entry."

Roaring Cheers.

The waters were dotted with gaily comparisoned craft of all descriptions, darting here and there or following importantly in the wake of their colossal sister. Their tooting whistles and bellowing sirens vied with the roaring cheers from their deck loads of passengers and the crowds on shore.

Saluting Guns.

As the Leviathan slipped past Forts Hamilton and Wadsworth, the sharp barking of saluting guns echoed over the narrows. Overhead a group of airplanes, which had met the Leviathan far out at sea, circled and dipped like huge dragon flies, the hum of their motors deadened by the confusion below.

BRITISH TRADE INCREASE

Imports Jump 88,652,000 Pounds; Exports 81,251,000 Pounds.

(Canadian Press Despatch)

London, Sept 8 The Board of Trade figures for August show imports increased 48,652,000 pounds and exports increased 41,251,000 pounds. Exports increased in all manufactured articles.

CHOLERA IN PETROGRAD

Two or Three hundred Are Dying Each Day.

(Canadian Press Despatch)

Stockholm, Sept 8. — From two to three hundred persons are dyng daily in Petrograd from cholera, according to advices from that city.

Owing to a lack of medicines and food many of the hospitals have been closed.

NEW AUSTRIAN HEIR.

Geneva, Sept. 8 — Former Empress Zita of Austria, gave birth to a son at Pranguins yesterday.

NEGROES LYNCHED IN JACKSONVILLE

MOB WERE AFTER COLORED MAN HELD FOR ASSAULT ON WHILE GIRL.

SHOT TWO VICTIMS TO DEATH

TIED ROPES ROUND NECKS AND DRAGGED DEAD BODIES THROUGH STREETS.

(Canadian Press Despatch)

Jacksonville, Florida, Sept 8 Two negroes charged with murder were taken from the city jail here shortly after midnight and lynched

Intended Victim Gone.

A mob of 50 men stormed the jail in search of a negroe who was being held for assaulting a little white girl, but who had been secretly sent to Staugustine by court officers, early last night, following threats of violence.

Lynch Two Others.

Finding their intended victim gone, the crowd seized two negroes charged with the murder recently of George Dubose, a white man, took them to the outskirts of the city in automobiles, and shot them to death. They then placed ropes about the necks of the negroes and dragged them through city streets.

TERRIBLE ATROCITIES CREDITED TO WHITE FINNS AID SUCCESS OF SOVIET

Tales of Murder, Pillage and Cruelty Do Much to Defeat the Forces of Admiral Kolchak Patients Taken Out of Hospital and Shot

Stockholm, Sweden — Twenty-seven patients of the Olonetz hospital were taken from their wards, led into the garden in the rear of the hospital and shot there by the white Finns upon the capture of Olonetz from the Soviet hands. Altogether more than sixty persons were executed in the city of Olonetz and more than 200 in the district in the reign of white terror inaugurated by the Finnish-Karelian troops.

When Olonets was captured a commission composed of a physician and sisters of mercy visited the patients of the hospital and inspected the grounds on April 23. They went to the military headquarters of the white guards. On the morning of April 24 the slightly wounded were led out of the hospital and the severely wounded were carried out on stretchers into the garden and shot there.

Women Executed by Finns.

The protocol drawn up by the medical staff of the Olonetz county hospital confirms this event. There were also other cases of execution. Tatiana Abramova, a resident of Olonetz, for instance, was shot because in June 1918 during a rising in the city she hid several communists. Another woman, Vasilkova, was condemned to death for sympathizing with the bolsheviks, but the execution was stayed at the last moment and she was punished with twenty five floggings.

Wives and children of Soviet emploees and soldiers of the Red army were beaten and often executed.

Soldiers Beaten To Death.

"He who is not White is Red!" read a proclamation of the White guards. Many absolutely innocent citizens were the victims of the White terror. The wounded Red soldiers left behind by the retreating Soviet troops were mercilessly beaten to death. This happened on the northern Soviet front. And here is what happened in one section of the Eastern front, as told by a peasant soldier who participated in the last offensive against Kolchak:

"When we occupied the village of Luzino, in the province of Perm, we found the local church in this condition: all valuables had been removed and all the white sacred garments used to ornament the Ikons had been torn into ribbons for bands for the White guards. Ikons, books and regalia were scattered all over the floor.

"The priest, before his escape, addressed the peasants, calling on them to kill all the bolsheviki. 'Seize pitchforks, axes and shovels and kill the bolsheviki! Leave nothing to them of your produce.'

Killed Inside Church.

"The bell attendant of the church was found slain inside. In a barn, not far from the church, seven corpses were found, all sabred. Three of these were of Red army soldiers and the other four of poor peasants who had shown the Red troops where food and fodder could be obtained.

"Thirteen more corpses were discovered in other places in the village.

"About seventy persons had been executed in the neighborhood of Luzino. Kolchak's troops flogged the poor peasants who had taken possession of the landlord's land."

Gallows on Main Street.

"In the neighboring city of Kislodsk gallows were erected on all the main streets and were not removed for some time."

In Courland, when the Soviet forces were driven out by the Whites and the Germans, many atrocities were committed. Whole families were shot. The Germans killed two women because they had washed the laundry of some Red soldiers. The manager of the Mitau agricultural department, Waldmach, a man of 70 years, was shot. A peasant was executed with his wife and two daughters because his son was a member of the Soviet.

Germans Threaten Death.

In Lettland it was even worse than in Courland. "He who distributes forbidden literature," read a decree of the German commander in Riga, "is punished by death. He who knows of the hiding place of a Red guard and does not report it, is punished by death. He who without permission appears in the street between 6 p.m. and 6 a.m. is punished by death."

What Reprisals Accomplish.

What does the White terror accomplish? Does it breed peace and contentment? Does it really destroy the Red terror. The answer has been given in many localities where the Whites were forced to retreat. It does not accomplish anything positive; it does not produce peace and happiness, and it only breeds Red terror with a vengeance.

NO RESERVATION ALLOWED

Rumania Must Sign Peace Treaty With Austria at Once.

(Canadian Press Despatch)

Paris, Sept. 8. — The Supreme Council of the Peace Conference today informed Roumania that she must sign the peace treaty with Austria without reservation or abstain altogether from signing.

The Roumanian peace delegation has not yet reached a decision.

APPEAL COURTS OPEN SATURDAY

SEE THAT YOUR NAME IS ON THE VOTERS' LIST AND ACT ACCORDINGLY.

Appeals against ommissions on the voters' list during the recent enumeration must be in the hands of the revising clerk not later than Thursday, Sept 11th. The time has been extended on account of the surprising number of appeals which are coming in daily.

The appeal courts for the city will open Saturday morning, September 13, at 10 o'clock with G. W. Hatton revising officer for the south ward, with W. F. Johnston as clerk; His Honor Judge Huycke, revising officer for the east and centre wards, with Wilfred Huycke as clerk; George G. Sherry, as revising officer for the west and north wards, with Fred Morrow as clerk.

The list complete to date numbers 10,360 for the city which would indicate a larger population than is generally considered for Peterborough. Undoubtedly after the hearing of the appeals this number will be materially increased.

EVACUATING ARCHANGEL.

(Canadian Press Despatch)

London, Sept 8 — The evacuation of Archangel by the British expeditionary forces is in progress, it was officially announced here today.

PREMIER SUFFERS CHILL

Will Not be Able to Lead Debate on the Peace Treaty.

(Canadian Press Despatch)

Ottawa, Sept 8 Sir Robert Borden will be unable to attend the debate on the peace treaty this afternoon and probably not for the remainder of the week. Sir George Foster will lead the House in the absence of the Premier, who is confined to his room in consequences of a severe chill experienced last Friday.

FORMAL INVESTIGATION INTO CHARGES AGAINST POLICE OPENED

Council Chamber Filled Saturday at First Sitting Adjourned to Sept. 15

The investigation by the Police Commissioners into charges made by W. H. Hamilton, of the King George Hotel, and backed by license Commissioner Stewart, against Detective Newhall and Constable Wiggs, of the local police force, was formally opened Saturday afternoon at three o'clock, in the Coucil Chamber. Public interest was manifestly shown by the large attendance which filled the chamber and extended down the stairs, many remaining to hear the result, although out of hearing of the proceedings.

Magistrate Absent.

Judge Huycke and Mayor Duncan opened the investigation without the presence of Magistrate Dumble, who was out of the city.

City Solicitor Widdifield, took charge of the investigation on behalf of the Board of Commissioners. Mr R. R. Hall, appeared in the interests of Mr. Newhall and Mr. Dan O'Connell, on behalf of Mr. Stewart.

Gravity of Charge.

Mr. O'Connell, requesting to be allowed to act for Mr. Stewart, spoke of the gravity of the charge and the importance of a careful and thorough investigation. He stated that Mr Stewart was concerned in the charges as they had been repeated to him, and in carrying out his duties as License Commissioner, he had presented them to the authorities in Toronto. He considered that the carrying out of the investigation was important to Mr. Stewart in performing his duties as License Commissioner for this district. In view of the importance of the proceedings, he would ask the court to adjourn to allow Mr. Stewart and other parties concerned to make preparations for presentation of their cases.

Documents Not Signed.

Mr. Hall considered Mr. Stewart concerned in the charges as he understood that the document signed by Mr Hamilton, and which was forwarded to the Board, was drawn up in the presence of Mr. Stewart and the solicitor for the License Board at Toronto.

Mr Lumsden, solicitor of the Board here interrupted to state that these documents had not been signed by Mr. Hamilton.

Mr. Hall went on to state that he had been informed that since that time Mr. Stewart had been showing them to different citizens in the city, who had approached Mr. Newhall to enquire into the truth of the statements. He suggested that to expedite the investigation, Mr. Stewart be requested to lay these charges which he has been circulating specifically before the board for investigation. He was willing for an adjournment to allow time for the case to be prepared and witnesses summoned.

Plans of Procedure.

At the suggestion of Judge Huycke Messrs. Widdifield, Hall and O'Connell retired to draw up plans for procedure of the investigation.

The plan of procedure drawn up was that customarily used in court Mr. Widdifield could summon all witnesses for the investigation of the case and after questioning by him, they would be subject to cross examination by both consuls. Mr O'Connell also could summon witnesses who would be subject to cross examination by Mr. Hall. Mr. Hall could summon witnesses subject to cross-examination by Mr. O'Connell.

After the examination of the witnesses Mr. O'Connell, for Mr. Stewart could supplement evidence, after which Mr. Hall could submit rebuttal evidence.

Investitation Adjourned

The investigation was adjourned until 10 o'clock of the morning of Monday, Sept. 15, at the court house, where ample accommodation is provided for the public who appear to be taking active interest in the proceedings.

GUELPH NOVITIATE INQUIRY TODAY

GEN. ASHTON, ADJUTANT-GENERAL ON STAND PRACTICALLY ALL MORNING.

(Canadian Press Despatch)

Ottawa, Sept. 8 — General Ashton, Adjutant General, was on the stand practically all morning in the Guelph novitiate inquiry. He told Mr. Ferguson that Hon. Charles Doherty Minister of Justice was highly incensed, when he called him on the telephone the night of the raid. The Minister asked Ashton to have the proceedings suspended. He spoke as Minister of Justice and not as father of an inmate of the novitiate, and told Ashton that officials of the Militia Department who had thrown a cordon round the institution and arrested three inmates had not warranty for such action.

Question of Certificates.

General Ashton, said that the Department of Militia had not tried to find out if young men in the novitiate had certificates. He was not aware that for months prior to Captain Measley's visit, efforts had been made to get information as to young men in the institution. Witness told Sir Sam Hughes that during the operation of military service, he frequetnly got legal advice from the justice department.

DISSATISFACTION WITH WHEAT PRICES AS FIXED BY NAT'L BOARD

Claimed That Ontario Farmers Had Not Been Given Square Deal—Fear Scarcity of Wheat Offal

(Canadian Press Despatch)

Toronto, Sept. 8.—Dissatisfaction with wheat prices as fixed by the National Wheat Board recently was expressed at an initial session of the board this morning by representatives of the United Farmers of Ontario, who claimed Ontario farmers had not been given a fair deal.

Among the speakers were M. W. Doherty, C. W. Guerin, of Paris, E. H. Stonehouse, president of the National Dairy Council, and Wellington Hay, M.P.P., Listowel.

Scarcity Feared.

Messrs. Doherty and Stonehouse spoke of the fear entertained by Ontario farmers that there would be a scarcity of wheat this fall. They had been unable in the past to get a sufficient supply of bran and middlings, and feared too great a proportion of offal would still be taken out of the province.

Mr Hay said Ontario farmers were interested in some solution of the problem which would compel some millers to be honest; some of the millers were paying too much attention to the prices fixed by the wheat board.

All the speakers pointed out that wheat rationing in Ontario was a different proposition to what it was in other provinces and was becoming more difficult each year.

HATCHERY SUPT. CHANGES

Belleville, Sept 8 Alex McLeod, who has been superintendent of the Dominion fish hatcheries here, has entered the Provincial service as superintendent of the Ontario fish hatcheries.

CAN'T EVADE TERMS OF PEACE TREATY

PEACE COUNCIL WILL NOT ACCEPT SIGNATURE WITH RESERVATIONS.

(Canadian Press Despatch)

Paris, Sept. 8.—The Roumanian delegation has sent a note to the Peace Conference declaring its intention was to sign the Austrian treaty with reservations. The Supreme Council this morning took the Roumanian note under consideration. It appears unlikely that such a signature will be permitted.

BOLSHEVIKI IN RETREAT

Admiral Kolchak in Successful Counter-Offensive.

(Canadian Press Despatch)

London, Sept. 8 — An official despatch from Omsk says Admiral Kolchak, on September 1, began a counter-offensive against the Bolsheviki, who are in retreat.

Fierce fighting is in progress along the Tobol River, about three hundred miles west of Omsk.

PRES. OF TRADE UNION CONGRESS VERY CONFIDENT OF LABOR GOVT.

Says Production Must Not be Impaired and Warns Unions They Must Earn Nation's Respect and Confidence by Not Resorting to Unofficial Strikes

(Canadian Press Despatch)

Glasgow, Sept. 8. The great question before the Trade Union Congress nationalization of coal mines and the method of bringing it about," direct action being urged by the powerful group of mine workers, was not prejudged by the President of Congress in his address before the opening session of that body here today.

Not Keep Promises.

G. H. Stuart Bunning, secretary of the Postmen's Federation, who is acting as presiding officer, indicates that the Parliamentary Committee had resolved to leave the decision entirely to Congress. He charged Government Ministers with responsibility for the agitation in favor of "rect action, declaring that their conduct, especially that of Premier Lloyd George, "had destroyed confidence and provoked suspicion that the Premier, to tide over the temporary difficulty, was ready to make promises without intention of performing them.

Increase Production.

President Bunning declared it was urgently necessary that labor increase its productivity, but he denied that "war weariness" was reflected in the situation, even in a lower industrial output. He expected Trade Unionists not to impair public confidence in them by calling unofficial strikes and repudiating statements. He expressed confidence in the speedy advent of a Labor Government, and said it was necessary to earn the nation's respect.

The present Congress, considered the greatest event held in Great Britain, with numerous problems, vitally affecting labor, to be threshed out in debate, comprises 85 delegates representing approximately five and one quarter million workers.

POLICE ARREST AN OPIUM GANG

WOMAN CAUGHT SELLING DRUG; SMUGGLING BUNCH IN TOILS.

Toledo, O., Sept 8.—In the arrest of a woman known to the New York police as Goldy Goldman, aged 27, Government officials declare that an opium smuggling organization having headquarters in New York has been discovered. The woman was arrested on Friday in an East Side apartment house on a technical charge of selling opium to Toledo drug addicts. Officers say she had been here several weeks living under the name of Mrs Chas Gonzello.

Another member of the gang, according to the officers, was arrested on Thursday in Albany, N. Y., two others are said to have been taken on the Canadian border by Canadian government officials and that five more believed to be in hiding are being sought.

The arrest in Toledo revealed, officers say, that members of the organization on a buying trip to obtain the drug in Windsor, Ont., were detected there and scattered. Among them was the Goldman woman, who escaped and who had been under surveillance here for several days.

She is said to have had a pound of opium gum in her possession at the time of her arrest.

CAR CLEANER RUN OVER BY ENGINE

LIVED BUT FEW MINUTES; DIED ON WAY TO HOSPITAL.

Toronto, Sept. 8.—Run over at 6 o'clock Saturday evening by an engine in the yards at the Union Station, Alexander Miller, aged thirty-two years, of 42 Mercer street, was so badly injured that he died while being carried to the emergency of the Western Hospital. Miller was employed as a car cleaner for the G. T. R. He was crossing the tracks when an engine that was backing up ran over him. His leg was so badly crushed that it was the intention of Dr. Miller to amputate. Mr. Miller died from shock and loss of blood.

At the inquest into the deaths of the eight men killed in the Port Colbone elevator explosion it was established that sparks from a defective motor set off the dust.

THE DAILY REVIEW

ESTABLISHED 1879.
MEMBER OF THE CANADIAN PRESS, LIMITED.
THE DAILY REVIEW is published every afternoon at 4 o'clock (Holidays and Sundays excepted) by The Peterborough Review Company, Limited, 166-168 Hunter Street.
SUBSCRIPTION PRICE, $3.00 per year by mail to any part of Canada or Great Britain; $4.00 per year delivered to any part of the city.

THE WEEKLY REVIEW, established 1853, is published every Thursday morning at 10 o'clock. Subscription price $1.50 per year to any part of Canada or Great Britain, or $2.00 a year to the United States.
U. S. Representative—Robert E. Douglas, Chicago.
BOARD OF DIRECTORS:
A. H. STRATTON, President and General Manager; F. A. PECK, ex-M.L.A., T. F. MATTHEWS and JAMES LYNCH.

TELEPHONES:
Business Dept. ... 189 Editorial ... 435
Mr. Stratton's Residence ... 221

"FOR A GREATER PETERBOROUGH."

MONDAY, SEPTEMBER 8, 1919.

THE BOARD OF TRADE.

ONE HUNDRED and four at the Board of Trade general meeting Thursday evening at the tail-end of the holiday season is substantial evidence of a real live organization. But it must be remembered that general meetings do not indicate the operative force of this organization, which has its executive council and committees, who are responsible for transacting the business involved on in general session, to say nothing of operations the initiative of which may be taken by the council or committees and progress subsequently reported on.

Peterborough today can rejoice in a Board of Trade that is fully representative of this city's interests in general, and founded on the same lines as those of wider organizations in Canada's big cities. Its membership is divided into sections composed of manufacturers, merchants, professional men, with individual functions peculiar to their own needs, but each section a healthy member of the main body, in which a unity of these interests is centred. It aims at enlarging its sphere of operations to adjacent county municipalities from which members are invited, on the principle that Peterborough should not only be a prosperous and progressive city in itself, but the seat also of an equally flourishing county community. It is a bureau of information on manufacturing, commercial and trade questions calculated to expand Peterborough interests both internally and externally, and as the representative body of all those interests which make for the weal of a whole industrial centre, its influence when properly applied should not be underrated.

But a very few years back Peterborough's Board of Trade met in the City Council chamber once a year. When luck was kind, fifteen, twenty or twenty-five members would be present, appoint a chairman, executive and council, and then invariably go to sleep, so to speak, for another twelve months. Once in a while, 'tis true, a meeting would be called on some live issue agitating the community, and that gathering would be more representative than the annual meeting, but unfortunately the enthusiasm spontaneously awakened petered out eventually, and action in any direction decided on was not followed up in a businesslike manner, simply because the Board did not accept its responsibilities and its real influence seriously. In fact, it lacked that sectional organization of its varied interests that obtains today and without which a Board of Trade is ineffective.

However, Peterborough now has a Board of Trade that can accomplish appreciable results. It has its own chambers in the Dominion Bank building, a permanent secretary, is organized on substantial lines, and a promising spirit of working enthusiasm prevails. There is no reason why its membership objective of 1,000, including county representation, should not be reached, for its present day organism is built on a foundation the component principles of which are industrial and mercantile vigor embodied in a personnel which spells success and offers an incentive for co-operation.

A LONG LIFE.

MRS. SPURGEON, the aunt of Charles Haddon Spurgeon, London, England, celebrated her hundredth birthday at her Anerley home on August 24th.

She early received the following message from the King, which had been dispatched by his Majesty's private secretary from Balmoral: "The King is much gratified to learn that you are today celebrating your hundredth birthday, and I am commanded to send to you an expression of his Majesty's congratulations and good wishes."

Mrs. Spurgeon said she felt rather tired, as she had been up in good time. She was up much earlier than usual, and it was a good thing she did get up as otherwise she would not have been able personally to receive the large number of visitors and the King's message.

Despite her failing eyesight, Mrs. Spurgeon still follows very closely the doings of the day, and the strikes and labor troubles are a problem she cannot understand. As she expressed herself, "There were no unions when I was a girl, but there were workers."

PREFERENTIAL TARIFF.

PARTICULARS of the goods to which the preferential proposals outlined in the British budget the first step on the slippery slope of Protection—now applies, together with the rates of customs duties, are now available.

The new preferential rates will operate, except in the case of tea, as from September 2. Preference on tea came into force on June 2. The rates will apply to all goods subject to customs duties which are shown, to the satisfaction of the commissioners of customs and excise, to have been consigned from, and grown, produced or manufactured, in the British Empire.

The goods which come within the scope of preferential treatment are:

Tea, cocoa, coffee, chicory, currants, dried or preserved fruits, sugar, glucose, molasses, saccharine, motor spirit, and tobacco—on these the duty payable will be five-sixths of the full rate.

Motor cars, musical instruments, clocks, watches, etc., and cinematograph films will pay two-thirds. Wine not exceeding 30 per cent. of proof spirit will pay 60 per cent., and exceeding 30 per cent. of proof spirit 66⅔ per cent.; sparkling wine in bottle will pay 70 per cent., and still wine in bottle 50 per cent.

Preference in the case of spirits is to be given by way of an increase in the duties on non-Empire spirits as from September 1.

The expression "British Empire," for the purpose of Preference, includes at present the self-governing Dominions, the Crown Colonies and Protectorates, India, and the Channel Islands. Territories which, in future, may come under his Majesty's protection, or in respect of which a mandate of the League of Nations is exercised by the Government of any part of his Majesty's Dominions, may be included by Order-in-Council.

SAFETY LEAGUE.

THE ONTARIO Safety League is co-operating with the Border Cities Safety Council in the "No Accident Week," to be held commencing the 22nd of this month. The Border Cities Safety Council, representing the cities of Windsor, Walkerville, Sandwich and Ford, is a new organization to localize safety work in that section of Ontario. The Ontario Safety League, which is now nearly six years old, has forwarded thousands of safety bulletins, cards and gummed seals to Windsor to assist in the campaign for "No Accident Week," and is assisting the new council to the limit.

CHANNEL TUNNEL SCHEME.

THE PETIT PARISIEN devotes considerable space to an article on the proposed tunnel under the English Channel, a distance of twenty-one miles. It states that M. Fougerolle, a French engineer who has built many tunnels, proposes to construct a reconnoitering gallery three metres in diameter and forty-eight kilometres in length. This work would necessitate the use of machinery of 2,000 horse-power, working from each side, would occupy sixteen months and cost about a million pounds. M. Fougrelle, who is prepared to spend £12,000 upon his scheme, excluding the cost of motive power, has applied to the French company for the use of shafts at Sangatte. The company has replied that no experiment could be undertaken without the agreement of the English company which will be charged with the carrying out of the scheme.

The Petit Parisien adds that in competent engineering circles it is considered that the new systems devised by M. Fougerolle for the expulsion of the debris by hydraulic power ought to be tested.

American contractors have proposed to build a tunnel for £8,000,000, but M. Fougerolle estimates that the cost of the reconnoitering gallery and the two principal galleries would not exceed half that sum, and the delay in execution would be reduced by three or four years.

OPINIONS OF OTHER EDITORS.

BATTLEFIELD SIGN-POSTS.

(London Chronicle.)

Profiting by war-time experience the French ministry of transport is replacing the familiar small metal direction signs by the large guide posts and notices which are found so useful in the battle zones. Some of the old battlefield sign-posts deserve preservation. There was the pathetic board on the Somme which announced "Guillemont once stood here," the notice at Zillebeke Lake, "Don't waste bombs on fish—throw them at Fritz," and the board at Albert surmounting a heap of rubble and stating simply "Cathedral."

BOOTLEGGER'S OPPORTUNITY.

(New York World.)

Beer and ale of all kinds is facetiously called "2.75 per cent." and sold without question. Whiskey and brandy are called sherry or port or openly sold for what they are. Soldiers in uniform are admitted to bars just as they were before the armistice, the fiction being that they may legally buy 2.75 beer, the fact being that they can buy nothing. In utter confusion, where no former seller of liquor knows what is or is not to be his legal right, the more obscure saloon keeper "takes a chance" and the bootlegger and the seller of wood alcohol have their golden opportunity.

AN OMINOUS CHOICE.

(London Daily Mail.)

Nothing will increase the purchasing power of money but plenty of goods. The man, of whatever class, who does not put his back into his work injures himself and everybody else. His wages may not suffer for the moment, but his slackness has this effect: that it means the production of less, which again means that there is less to buy and that prices rise, so what he earns buys less. There is no remedy for this process except by obeying the old rule: "Whatsoever thy hand findeth to do, do it with thy might." If that rule were obeyed by all we should escape from the present vicious circle, in which each rise in wages is followed by an increase in prices, and each increase in prices by a fresh demand for higher wages. We must escape from that circle or prepare for bankruptcy.

THE ARTIST'S TRIALS.

(London Morning Post.)

John Hassall was sketching a picturesque rabble of street boys from life when along came the proverbial dear old lady, who insisted on pouring some pennies into his astonished hands. What could a famous artist do but sweep off his hat with a low bow of thanks, and treasure the coppers as souvenirs of the day? All who sketch in streets are not so fortunate, as witness the case of that other great artist, whose name we forget, to whom a countryman addressed himself, after a prolonged stare at his masterpiece, saying: "So you be a painter?" The artist responded crushingly, but the countryman was not to be daunted. In the politest way in the world he put another question, "And do 'ee fid, too?"

LAUREATE AS MONITOR.

(London Morning Post.)

From what Mr. Bonar Law tells the House of Commons, it appears that Dr. Robert Bridges' post is well-nigh a sinecure. Such was by no means the case in Persia—the only country besides this where a Poet Laureate has been maintained of recent years. Narcisse Perrin, a French traveller, who spent some years in Persia at the beginning of the last century, relates that whenever the Shah travelled outside the capital his suite included a dwarf, a giant, a jester, a historiographer and a poet laureate. The last two were kept busy for, while the historiographer had to record for posterity all the doings and sayings of the King of Kings, the laureate was expected to celebrate a large proportion of these in verse. Persia highly commends this custom, which he found rigidly followed, "for the Shah, knowing that many of his utterances would be crystallized in an ode, felt bound on these royal progresses to speak and behave majestically."

The Crowd Greets Prince at Montreal

GERMAN MERCHANTS TAKING ADVANTAGE OF DUTCH MARKET

What is Future Relations Between Holland and Britain to Be?—A Free Trade Question.

A Dutch correspondent writes as follows:

One is struck when arriving in Holland by the activity displayed everywhere, which forms such a marked contrast to the gloomy, idle atmosphere which hung over the country only a few months ago. Holland has suffered terribly during the war, especially in the final part. A Cabinet Minister for Industry and Commerce, Mr. Van Asselstyn, pointed out to me when I called on him the other day. Not it's always said that Holland made enormous fortunes out of the war, but the bare truth, as revealed by the statistics, is that the capital wealth of the contry has not increased since 1914. There has simply been a displacement of money. Many people got much poorer and a few became rich.

At the present time Holland is pulling herself together. Raw materials and coal having arrived, the factories have been able to start again, and the number of unemployed which ran into high figures, is now gradually decreasing. Holland is working hard, and is ready to work harder still. The Second Chamber has just passed a bill introducing the forty-four hour week—viz, eight hours per day and four hours on Saturday. It is the most far-reaching Bill yet passed in the whole world in this direction. By taking the initiative in time the Dutch Government have avoided strikes and prevented the dislocation of industry at a moment when everybody's efforts are urgently needed.

The Exchange Position.

(What will be the position be in the near future from a business point of view. I asked the Minister for Commerce and Industry what Holland's attitude would be as regards free trade. His Excellency replied that as yet there were no symptoms at all of Holland abandoning her traditional Free Trade policy. He remarked that England's example was exerting an ethical influence in Holland, but in his opinion the fact of Great Britain becoming a Protectionist nation would not necessarily mean that the Netherlands would go the same way.

I talked this matter over with business men, who said they trusted that England would not allow herself to be influenced by temporary considerations, and that she would, like Holland, continue to a free trade country. If the Dutch Protectionists were able to invoke England's example, the Dutch Free Traders would have to put up a stiff fight, and the issue might go against them. Holland up to now, has maintained free trade within her own frontiers as well as in her colonies, and she has done well on it. But it is not possible, should England's support fail her, to look upon as a moral factor, that she will have to reconsider her position. It must not be pointed out that protection in the Dutch Colonies would hit British interests very hard. The Dutch therefore, hope that England's lead will not compel them against their will to close the open door in their colonies. In their opinion the world peace can only be assured by free trade. Protectionist walls inevitably create more formidable walls manned by warlike and protected guns.

German Goods.

The Dutch are looking to England in another direction. Great uneasiness is prevailing here on account of the enormous influx of Germans, and of German goods. At this moment, out of a foreign population of 110,000 people there are from 40,000 to 50,000 Germans here who are opening businesses and over-running the country with German stuff. The Dutch feel that something must be done to counterweight this German penetration, and they expect that England will not fail them. On August 1 an International Aircraft Exhibition was opened in Amsterdam, and it is proving to be a enormous success. The British flying men are the popular heroes of the day. They are wildly cheered by tremendous crowds after their flights, carried shoulder high, and overwhelmed with flowers. This shows the trend of the public's sympathy which I have found backed in business circles. I have heard many complaints about the seeming apathy of British exporters, with disregard to business in Holland, where they would be received with open arms. When walking in the streets of the big towns in Holland one can see everywhere in the shops notices announcing English goods or informing the public of fresh arrivals from England. Where is this not done with the German merchandise, although it is so extensively imported simply because the public give the preference to British goods. There is an enormous field of action in Holland for British traders, and it is a thousand pities that they do not seem inclined to seize the opportunity offered to them.

Prices and the Rate of Exchange.

I should, however, like to draw attention of the British public to question of prices, which is an important factor, and largely regulated by the rate of exchange. Before the war one could buy 100 marks Holland for 59½ guilders. At present 100 marks are worth here only 12 guilders. It means that the value of German money has decreased 100 per cent. It also means that if the prices for German goods are 400 per cent higher than before the war, they remain exactly the same in Dutch currency. For instance, a purse which cost formerly 1 mark (60 Dutch cents) and now costs 4 marks, can still be bought at 60 Dutch cents (4 x15 cents,) because of the low rate of exchange of the mark. But, on the other hand, the rate of exchange of the pound is not much lower. It used to be 12.10 guilders, and is now 11.60, only 4 per cent less. British prices having gone up at least 100 per cent, the British articles now cost twice as much on the Dutch market as before the war.

What is the remedy? Only a few imports into Germany, which will stabilise the rate of exchange. Raw materials must be poured into Germany not with the intention of helping the Germans, as short-sighted people may object, but of helping the Allies and the neutrals. The latter are themselves greatly alarmed about the low rate of the mark, because it gives the Germans the opportunity to kill the home industries of the neutrals. Only a broad-minded Allied policy, ignoring petty considerations and facing the problem in a practical and bold spirit, will be able to change the privileged position which Germany's export trade is enjoying at present moment.

The King, pressing a button at Balmoral Castle, unveiled the memorial statue at Montreal in honor of Sir George Etienne Cartier.

YORK FARMERS TO RUN CANDIDATE

MET SATURDAY AFTERNOON — WILL CONSULT LABOR PARTY.

Uxbridge, Sept. 8. Delegates from the various United Farmers of Ontario clubs in the riding of West York met in Woodbridge Saturday afternoon to discuss the advisability of nominating a candidate to contest the riding at the coming provincial election. Forty-five minutes after the advertised time the meeting was called to order and Mr. Longhouse was appointed to act as chairman. Following a resolution, moved by J. G. Whitmore, the convention unanimously refused to allow the representative of an afternoon paper to remain in the hall. The explanation given for this action was that the report of a recent U. F. O. rally, appearing in the newspaper, unpleasing to local farmers.

After this passage of arms, the real business of the convention was commenced. The principal speakers were Mrs. Law and A. A. Powers, the latter representing Messrs. Morrison, Halbert and Burnaby.

After some discussion the convention decided not to nominate a candidate, but to postpone nomination until after a conference with the Independent Labor party.

ST. PAUL'S ANNOUNCEMENTS

The regular monthly meeting of the Board of Managers will be held Monday evening at eight o'clock.

The Fraser Mission Band will meet Tuesday evening at eight o'clock.

The Faithful Workers' Mission Band will hold their regular meeting Wednesday afternoon at four o'clock.

The preparatory service will be held on Wednesday evening. Communion will be observed next Lord's Day morning. Members are to be present at the Wednesday evening service. Those desiring to unite by letter or by profession of faith will please let the minister know before Wednesday night.

The first choir practise under Mr. Tatter-all, the new organist and choir leader, will be held Thursday evening. A full attendance is requested.

The regular monthly meeting of the Women's Missionary Society will be held on Friday evening at three-thirty in the guild room.

ST. JOHN'S NOTICES

Monday, 4.15—Mission Band.
Monday, 7.30—Girl's Auxiliary.
Tuesday, 5—Memorial Committee meeting.
Thursday, 8.00—Choir practice; boys at 7.30.
Friday, 8—Vestry meeting re organist's salary and war memorial.
Friday, 8—Garden party at Mrs. B. T. Cuffes for Servian children's aid.
Saturday, 9—Boy's choir practice.
Thursday, 18—Harvest festival.

Nominations for the Legislature are made in several Ontario constituencies by the various parties.

Wood's Phosphodine.
The Great English Remedy.
Tones and invigorates the whole nervous system, makes new Blood in old Veins, Cures Nervous Debility, Lost Manhood, Insomnia, Nervous Headache, Brain Fag, Lack of Energy, Failing Memory, Premature Decay, Wasting Diseases, Impotency, Lost Power, Nervousness, Sleeplessness, Melancholy, Pimples, Blotches, Eruptions, Hollow Cheeks, Sunken Eyes, Bad Complexion, Despondency, Dizziness, Trembling Feet, Hands, Nervous Trembling, Twitching of Muscles, Backache, Kidney Trouble, Dragging Pains, Seminal Emissions, Spermatorrhoea

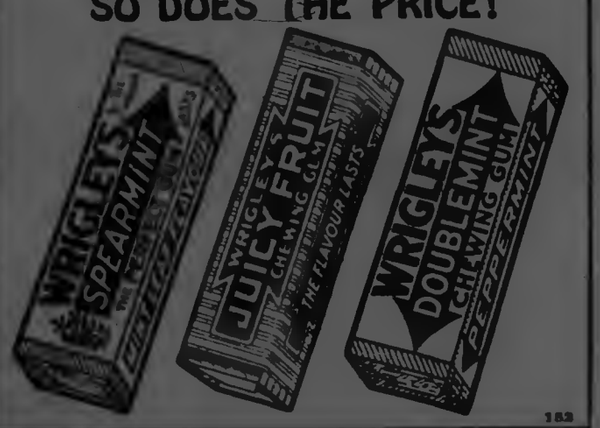
WRIGLEY'S

5c a package before the war

5c a package during the war

5c a package NOW

THE FLAVOUR LASTS
SO DOES THE PRICE!



183

PIGMIES.

All of Them Appear to Have Same Racial Traits.

Pigmies, apparently of a single racial stock, are scattered over many parts of the world, and nobody can give a plausible guess as to how their distribution was accomplished. Wherever found they seem to be the earliest people—veritable aborigines—and all of them are much alike physically, though different somewhat in complexion. They are suspected to be more ancient than any other race now surviving on the globe.

To this race belong the so-called "monkey men" of the mountainous interior of India. Likewise the potbellied natives of the Andaman Islands, in the Bengal Gulf, who are said to "look like babies all their lives." These latter wear their hair in frizzly tufts and adorn themselves with necklaces made from the bones and teeth of defunct relatives.

In Madagascar are the Behosy, black dwarfs, who when pursued jump from tree to tree like monkeys. They are so timid that sometimes they die of fright when captured.

In Ceylon are found the Veddahs, of whom not more than 2,000 are now left alive. Few of them are able to count up to three. They are of the same pigmy race, and unquestionably they were very anciently a numerous people, inhabiting that island when visited by the earliest of prehistoric explorers.

The bones of pigmy people are plentifully found on the island of Formosa, where doubtless the last of them were wiped out by the Malays some centuries ago. Formosa is really a northern member of that great archipelago which we call the Philippines, though separated from the latter politically. Hence it is not surprising to find dwarfs of the same type to-day inhabiting Luzon and Mindanao, where they are called Negritos.

The Elephants of Siam.

The elephants are our chief standby in Siam and without them teak could not be worked, as it grows in such inaccessible places that no hauling machine could be brought near the trees, says Abby Beatrice Praher, in Asia Magazine. Elephants can climb like cats. It is marvellous to see them pick their way up and down steep slopes, but sometimes they lose their foothold. One of our elephants fell down a steep river bank last year, hit her head against a rock and broke her neck. The work of the elephants consists in climbing up to the fallen trees and pushing or rolling them down hill to a spot where it is level enough for dragging chains to be attached. Then they drag the logs down to the nearest floating creek often six or seven miles away. An elephant can handle from fifty to seventy logs per season, which lasts from about the first of June till the end of February. Then it is becoming too hot for them to work, and they go to rest camps until the next rains. The elephants do their best work in floating streams, working the timber with the current, rescuing logs from jams and rolling stranded logs back into the water. The elephant drivers have a special 'elephant' language which the animals understand—a special vocabulary with such terms as "Push sideways," "Roll," "Pull out," "Stop," "Lift your clothes." It is very interesting and exciting to watch the elephants at work in high water. They are magnificent swimmers. When they swim from bank to bank, herding the logs that require their special attention, you see nothing of them, except the tips of their trunks through which they breathe, and the mahouts, or drivers, who are generally in water up to their waists. If a big stack or jam breaks suddenly where elephants are working they know the danger of being overtaken. They trumpet and clear off to either bank or swim down stream as fast as they can go. I once saw an elephant working at the head of a jam slip off a rock and get swept under the stack. We all believed that he was a goner, but every now and then we were surprised to see his trunk come up through the logs, suck in a long breath and disappear. The trunk would re-appear each time further down stream. He finally emerged at the foot of the jam, very much blown, but otherwise none the worse for his accident. But he would not go near a pile of timber in high water for a year afterwards. This particular work is called "bunding."

Queer Superstitions.

Some curious conclusions have been reached as the result of what are called the "preferred numbers" of the inhabitants of different countries, says an exchange. The basis of the investigations had to do with the various denominations of money, postage stamps and other mediums of value.

It appears that nearly all races evince a marked preference for the numbers two, three and five and their multiples. The Mohammedans, however, avoid the use of the number three. Among the French and other Latin peoples two and five are more popular than three, while the English prefer two and three and the Germans three and five.

The Chinese are said to resemble the Latins in their choice while the peoples of India have a strong liking for two. The number seven is most used in the Slavic countries. The higher numbers are not much used except in Spanish speaking countries, as eleven in Salvador, seventeen in Mexico, nineteen in Spain. The people of Hawaii are said to be fond of thirteen.

The Office Code.

"What's your push-button code?"

"One ring — my stenographer breaks off conversation with the handsome bookkeeper."

"Yes?"

"Two rings—she pats her hair into place."

"Go on."

"Three rings—she finds her notebook. When I get thoroughly mad, she arrives."

Beards in France.

Twenty years ago a clean shaved Frenchman was pretty sure to be set down as a clerical or as either a priest or an actor. Nowadays smooth faces are favored by the younger generation of Frenchmen partly as a result of the growing cult of athletics. It appears, however, from a portrait published in Le Journal that not a single member of the new cabinet is clean shaved, and four out of the twelve wear full beards and mustaches.

SEVEN KEYS TO BALDPATE

BY EARL DERR BIGGERS

Copyright, 1913, by the Bobbs-Merrill Company

...you seem to have a fatal facility in that line. Your record of accomplishment is pathetically weak. And—oh, what a fool I've been! I believed. Even after last night, I believed."

"I know," he said helplessly, "you're terribly disappointed, and I don't blame you. But you will find out that you've done me an injustice. I'm going"—

"One thing," said she, smiling a smile that could have cut glass, "you are going to do. I know that you won't fail this time, because I shall personally see you through with it. You're going to stop making a fool of me."

"Tell me," pleaded Billy Magee, "tell me who you are—what this is all about. Can't you see I'm working in the dark? You must"—

She threw open the card room door. "An English officer," she remarked loudly, stepping out into the other room, "taught the admiral the game—at least, so he said. It added so much romance to it in the eyes of the rocking chair fleet. Can't you see—India—the hot sun—the Kipling local color—a silent, tanned, handsome man eternally playing solitaire on the porch of the barracks? Has the barracks a porch?"

Roused, humiliated, baffled, Mr. Magee felt his cheeks burn.

"We shall see what we shall see," he muttered.

"Why coin the inevitable into a bromide?" she asked.

Mr. Magee joined the group by the fire. Never before in his life had he been so determined on anything as he was now that the package of money should return to his keeping. But how? How trace through this maze of humans the present holder of that precious bundle of collateral? He looked at Mr. Max, sneering his lemon colored sneer at the mayor's side; at the mayor himself, nonchalant as the admiral being photographed; at Bland, author of the Arabella fiction sprawling at ease before the fire; at the tawdry Mrs. Norton and at Myra Thornhill, who had by her pleading the night before made him ridiculous. Who of these had the money now? Who but Cargan and Max, their faces serene, their eyes eagerly on the preparations for lunch, their plans for leaving Baldpate Inn no doubt already made?

And then Mr. Magee saw coming down the stairs another figure—one he had forgot—Professor Thaddeus Bolton, he of the mysterious dialogue by the annex door. On the professor's forehead was a surprising red scratch, and his eyes, no longer hidden by the double convex lenses, stood revealed a washed out gray in the light of noon.

"A most unfortunate accident," explained the old man. "Most distressing. I have broken my glasses. I am almost blind without them."

"How'd it happen, Doc?" asked Mr. Cargan easily.

"I came into unexpected juxtaposition with an open door," returned Professor Bolton. "Stupid of me, but I'm always doing it. Really, the agility displayed by doors in getting in my path is surprising."

"You and Mr. Max can sympathize with each other," said Magee. "I thought for a moment your injuries might have been received in the same cause."

"Don't worry, Doc," Mr. Bland soothed him, "we'll all keep a weather eye out for reporters that want to connect you up with the peroxide blonde."

The professor turned his ineffectual gaze on the haberdasher, and there was a startlingly ironic smile on his face.

"I know, Mr. Bland," he said, "that my safety is your dearest wish."

It was past 3 o'clock. The early twilight crept up the mountain, and the shadows began to lengthen in the great bare office of Baldpate inn. In the red flicker of firelight Mr. Magee sat and pondered. The interval since luncheon had passed lazily. He was no nearer to guessing which of Baldpate inn's winter guests hugged close the precious package. Exasperated, angry, he waited for he knew not what, restless all the while to act, but having not the glimmer of an inspiration as to what his course ought to be.

He heard the rustle of skirts on the stair landing and looked up. Down the broad stairway, so well designed to serve as a show window for the sartorial triumphs of Baldpate's gay summer people, came the tall handsome girl who had the night before set all his plans awry.

Now, for the first time he looked upon her as a flesh and blood girl, noted the red in her olive cheeks, the fire in her dark eyes and realized that her interest in that package of money might be something more than another queer quirk in the tangle of events.

She smiled a friendly smile at Magee and took the chair he offered.

"Last night, Mr. Magee," she said, "I told you frankly why I had come to Baldpate inn. You were good enough to say that you would help me if you could. The time has come when you can, I think."

"Then," answered Magee. His heart sank. What now?

"I must confess that I spied this morning," she went on. "It was rude of me, perhaps. But I think almost anything is excusable under the circumstances, don't you? I witnessed a scene in the hall above—Mr. Magee, I know who has the $200,000!"

"You know?" cried Magee. His heart gave a great bound. At last! And then—he stopped. "I'm afraid I must ask you not to tell me," he added sadly.

The girl looked at him in wonder. She was of a type common in Magee's world—delicate, finely reared, sensitive. True, in her pride and haughtiness she suggested the snow capped heights of the eternal hills. But at sight of those feminine heights Billy Magee had always been one to seize his alpenstock in a more determined grip and climb. Witness his attentions to the superb Helen Faulkner. Re had a moment of faltering. Here was a girl who at least did not doubt him who ascribed to him the virtues of a gentleman, who was glad to trust in him. Should he transfer his allegiance? No, he could hardly do that now.

"You ask me not to tell you," repeated the girl slowly.

"That demands an explanation," replied Billy Magee. "I want you to understand—to be certain that I would delight to help you if I could. But the fact is that before you came I gave my word to secure the package you speak of for—another woman. I cannot break my promise to her."

"I see," she answered. Her tone was cool.

"I'm very sorry," Magee went on. "But as a matter of fact I seem to be of very little service to any one. Just now I would give a great deal to have the information you were about to give me. But since I could not use it helping you, you will readily see that I must not listen. I'm sorry."

"I'm sorry, too," replied the girl. "Thank you very much—for telling me. Now I must—go forward—alone." She smiled unhappily.

"I'm afraid you must," answered Billy Magee.

On the stairs appeared the slim figure of the other girl. Her great eyes were wistful, her face was pale. She came toward them through the red firelight. Mr. Magee saw what a fool he had been to waver in his allegiance even for a moment, for he loved her, wanted her, surely. The snow capped heights are inspiring, but far more companionable is the brook that sparkles in the valley.

"It's rather dull, isn't it?" asked Miss Norton of the Thornhill girl. By the side of the taller woman she seemed slight, almost childish. "Have you seen the pictures of the admiral, Miss Thornhill? Looking at them is our one diversion."

"I do not care to see them, thank you," Myra Thornhill replied, moving toward the stairs. "He is a very dear friend of my father." She passed up and out of sight.

Miss Norton turned away from the fire, and Mr. Magee rose hastily to follow. He stood close behind her, gazing down at her golden hair, shimmering in the dark.

"I've just been thinking," he said lightly, "what an absolutely ridiculous figure I must be in your eyes, buzzing round and round like a bee in a bottle and getting nowhere at all. Listen—no one has left the inn. While they stay there's hope. Am I not to have one more chance—a chance to prove to you how much I care?"

She turned, and even in the dusk he saw that her eyes were wet.

"Oh, I don't know, I don't know," she whispered. "I'm not angry any more. I'm just at sea. I don't know what to think—what to do. Why try any longer? I think I'll go away—and give up."

"You mustn't do that," urged Magee. They came back into the firelight. "Miss Thornhill has just informed me that she knows who has the package!"

"Indeed," said the girl calmly, but her face had flushed.

"I didn't let her tell me, of course."

"Why not?" Oh, how maddening women could be!

"Why not?" Magee's tone was hurt. "Because I couldn't use her information in getting the money for you."

"You are still going to get the money for me?"

The firelight fell on her lips, her hair, her eyes, and Mr. Magee knew that his selfish bachelorhood was at an end. He stooped to her.

"Give me, please," he said, "the benefit of the doubt." It was a poor speech compared to what was in his heart, but Billy Magee was rapidly learning that men in the public speeches went with puppets who could not feel.

CHAPTER XVI.

The Exquisite Mr. Hayden.

BLAND and Max came in from a brisk walk on the veranda. The mayor of Reuton, who had been dozing near the desk, stirred.

Miss Norton rose and ascended the stairs. Still the protesting Magee was at her heels. At the head of the stairs she turned.

"You shall have your final chance," she said. "The mayor, Max and Bland are alone in the office. I don't approve of eavesdropping at Baldpate in the summer. It has spoiled a lot of perfectly adorable engagements. But in winter it's different. Whether you really want to help me or not, I'm sure I don't know, but if you do the conversation below now might prove of interest."

"I'm sure it would," Magee agreed.

"Well, I have a scheme. Listen. Baldpate inn is located in a temperance county. That doesn't mean that people don't drink here. It simply means that there's a lot of mystery and romance connected with the drinking. Sometimes those who follow the god of chance in the card room late at night grow thirsty. Now, it happens that there is a trapdoor in the floor of the card room, up which drinks are frequently passed from the cellar. Isn't that exciting? A hotel clerk who became human once in my presence told me all about it. If you went into the cellar and hunted about you might find that door and climb up into the card room."

"A bully idea," agreed Mr. Magee. "I'll hurry down there this minute. I'm more grateful than you can guess for this chance. And this time—but you'll see."

Magee hurried to the cellar and with the aid of a box of matches found a ladder leading to a door cut in the floor above. He climbed through dust and cobwebs, unfastened the catch and pushed cautiously upward. In an other minute he was standing in the chill little card room. Softly he opened the card room door about half an inch and put his ear to it.

The three men were grouped very close at hand, and he heard Mr. Bland speaking in low tones:

"I'm talking to you boys as a friend. The show is over. There ain't no use hanging around for the concert—there won't be none. Go home and get some clean collars and a square meal."

"If you think I'm going to be shook off by any fairy story like that," said the mayor of Reuton, "you're a child with all a child's touching faith."

"All right," replied Mr. Bland. "I thought I'd pass you the tip, that's all. It ain't nothing to me what you do. But it's all over, and you've lost out. I'm sorry you have, but I take Hayden's orders."

"Dash Hayden!" snarled the mayor. "It was his idea to make a three act play out of this thing. He's responsible for this silly trip to Baldpate. This audience we've been acting for—he let us in for them."

"I know," said Bland. "But you can't deny that Baldpate inn looked like the ideal spot at first—secluded, off the beaten path, you know, and all that."

"Yes," sneered the mayor, "as secluded as a Sunday school the Sunday before Christmas."

"Well, who could have guessed it?" went on Mr. Bland. "As I say, I don't care what you do. I just passed you the tip. I've got that nice little package of the long green. I've got it where you'll never find it."

(To be Continued.)

Best of all Fly Killers 10c per Packet at all Druggists, Grocers and General Stores

Toronto Savings and Loan COMPANY

Peterborough

Head Office: 485-487 George Street

Paid-Up Capital ..$1,000,000.00
Reserve Fund $1,100,000.00

Deposits received of

SAVINGS DEPARTMENT — One Dollar and upwards. Interest paid quarterly, accrues from date of deposit to date of withdrawal.

Every facility and convenience is afforded to depositors.

INVESTMENT DEPARTMENT — Debentures issued for same of $100 & upwards for periods of one to five years, upon which special rates of interest are paid, depending upon the term of investment.

Executors and trustees are authorized by law to invest in the Debentures of this institution.

Money to loan at lowest current rates of interest.

W. G. MORROW, Managing Director.

Cook's Cotton Root Compound.

A safe, reliable regulating medicine. Sold in three degrees of strength—No. 1, $1; No. 2, $3; No. 3, $5 per box. Sold by all druggists, or sent prepaid on receipt of price. Free pamphlet. Address: THE COOK MEDICINE CO., TORONTO, ONT. (Formerly Windsor.)

ADVERTISING RATES.

The rate for Classified Advertisements is one cent a word per first insertion; subsequent insertions half a cent per word. Minimum number of words ten. Special terms for 5,000 words or over.

Advertisements marked "till forbidden" are accepted on the understanding that they will be published until a written or verbal notice to stop them is received.

BIRTH, MARRIAGE, DEATH, MEMORIAL NOTICES AND CARDS OF THANKS, 50c per insertion in Daily and Weekly, not exceeding one inch space. All words over one inch, one cent each.

CHURCH ANNOUNCEMENTS. Sunday Services Announcement in Saturday daily (no reference to concerts allowed) $5 per year per inch. Extra space in this column for the purpose stated, 15c per inch. Regular rates apply for other than Sunday services.

GET YOUR PRINTING DONE at The Review office. Lowest price and best service.

IF YOU WANT TO BUY ANYthing at a bargain price, let the people know through The Review columns. You're sure to get it.

IF YOU HAVE ANYTHING to sell, advertise in The Review. A sure sale.

FEMALE HELP WANTED.

WANTED — 2 SMART GIRLS. Apply Lavoie Knitting Co., 84 Hunter street.

WANTED — MAID FOR PLAIN cooking and general housework. Apply Mrs. Rollins, 439 Rubidge street.

WANTED — MAID FOR SMALL family. Apply Mrs. G. H. Thompson, 373 Park street, phone 1381.

WANTED — GIRLS. APPLY at Gate House, Canadian General Electric Co., Ltd.

MALE HELP WANTED.

HARDWARE CLERK, WITH three or more years' experience, wanted for good hardware store in a live country town. Apply Review for address.

WANTED — BRIGHT YOUNG man to learn the newspaper business. Apply Review office.

WANTED AT ONCE — ROUTE boy for East City. Apply to Review.

WANTED — ROUTE BOY FOR north end of city. Apply at once, Review.

FOUND.

FOUND — ON GEORGE ST., ON August 30, purse containing sum of money. Owner can have same by proving property and paying for this ad. Apply 259 Reid street.

FOUND — A FOLDER PURSE, containing a sum of money. Owner call 219 Bethune St.

LOST.

LOST — ON SUNDAY NIGHT, a pearl crescent on McDonnel, George or Hunter Sts. Finder please leave at Review office.

LOST — YESTERDAY, SEPT. 7th, one Goodyear tire, plain, 30 x 3½, in Peterborough or on road between Lindsay and Peterborough. Finder please return to 512 Weller street. Reward.

TO LET.

TO RENT — TWO GARAGE sheds back of White Rose Garage. For further particulars apply Thos. Lane, 186 Hunter street.

FOR SALE.

FARM FOR SALE. A first-class farm for sale; four miles from city. Apply Review for address.

THE FOLLOWING CAN BE seen and bought cheaply at 207 Simcoe street: Excavating tools, picks, shovels, wheel-barrows, scrapers, plough, etc., dump cart and harness, stone boat, drop bottom wagons, gravel wagon with 1¾-yard box, contractor's hoisting winch, tackle, etc., whiffletrees, neckyokes, etc., also a lot of window and door frames, handy for alterations and repairs. All in good shape. Wm. Lytle Cartage Co.

LEGAL CARDS.

HALL & HALL
Barristers and Solicitors.
Money to Loan at Lowest Rates.
Telephone 69. 116 Hunter St.

GORDON & O'BRIEN
Barristers, Solicitors & Notaries.
Money to Loan at Lowest Rates
Telephone 219.
G. N. GORDON. J. A. O'BRIEN.

C. R. WIDDIFIELD, B. A.
Barrister, Etc.
and Solicitor for the City of Peterborough. Bnak of Commerce Building. 'Phone 550.

MOORE & WEARING.
Barristers and Solicitors.
MONEY TO LOAN.
408 Water St. Opposite Post Office.

JAMES FORDYCE STRICLAND
Barrister, Solicitor, Notary Public.
MONEY TO LOAN.
395 Water St. Peterborough.
PHONE 151.

S. T. MEDD.
Barrister, Solicitor, Notary.
Office Over Dominion Bank.
Cor. Simcoe & George Sts.
Telephone No. 22.
Private Funds to Loan at Current Rates Upon Easy Terms.

PECK, KERR & McELDERRY.
Barristers, Solicitors, Notaries, 419 Water Street, Peterborough. Money to loan at lowest current rates of interest. Easy terms of payment.
E. A. Peck. F. D. Kerr.
V. J. McElderry.

J. EDMUND L. GOODWILL.
Barrister, Solicitor, Notary Public, Etc. Office 375 Water St., Phone 151.
Successor to Roger, Bennet & Goodwill.
MONEY TO LOAN at current rates upon easy terms.

A. E. DIXON.
Barrister, Solicitor, Etc.
Offices corner Hunter & George Sts. Entrance next Madill's Drug Store.

O'CONNELL & CORKERY
Barristers, Solicitors, Notaries Public, etc. Money to Loan on Easy Terms of Payment.
D. O'Connell J. R. Corkery.
134½ Hunter St. Peterborough.
Telephone 364.

R. R. HALL.
Barrister, Solicitor, Etc.
Peterborough, Ont., offices corner Hunter and Water Sts., over Canadian Bank of Commerce. Trust funds to loan on easy terms of payment.

MEDICAL CARDS.

DR. E. E. HARVEY.
Silver Medalist University of Toronto
Special attention to diseases of Women and Children.
Office: 212 Brock Street.
Hours: 1.30 to 5 p.m., 7 to 8 p.m.
Phone 222.

DR. BUCHANAN
F. R. S. C. Edin., M.R.O.S, Eng. L. R. C. P. Lon. Eye, Ear, Nose & Throat Specialist. Hours: 9-11 a.m. 2-4 and 7-8p.m. Phone 519 Office corner Water and Murray Streets.

DENTISTRY.

DR. W. N. HAYES.
has opened a Dental practice in the Barrie Building, George Street.
'Phone 652 for appointments.

OSTEOPATHY.

DRS. WALMSLEY & SETTLE.
Osteopath Physicians.
Office over Crown Building, Hunter and Water Streets. Entrance 124 Hunter street. Office hours: 9 to 12 a.m., 2 to 5 p.m. Evenings by appointment. Office Phone 649.

MONEY TO LOAN.

There has been placed in our hands considerable trust funds to loan at 6½ per cent. on first class real estate property.
GORDON & O'BRIEN.
Phone 219. 395 George St.

Lackawana Coal

Means Economy

Burns freely and is of Best Anthracite

Trucking Orders Promptly Filled

Peterboro Fuel & Transfer Co.

162 CHARLOTTE ST.
PHONES 270-568

By beating Cornwall on Saturday Shamrocks tied for the leadership of the N. L. U. and necessitated the replaying of the postponed National-Cornwall game.

OLD STYLE BOTTLE NEW STYLE BOTTLE AND CARTON

Get familiar with GALLAGHER'S BLOOD PURIFIER, the great herb laxative. Take it for the stomach, liver or bowels. Take it instead of pills, salt or mineral drugs. A spoonful at night will keep your bowels right. For sale by Warne Drug Co., City; W. Hunter, Fowler's Corners; J. A. Jobe, Bridgenorth; R. Killean, Ennismore; Jas. Guiry, Downeyville; D. Hastie, Lang; G. T. Gall, Keene; Fred Collins, Stuart's Hall; P. G. Towns, Douro; A. F. Choate, Warsaw; H. A. Shearer, Buckhorn; W. Thompson, Mt. Julian; Ed. Young, Young's Point.

A FAMILY FAVORITE FOR FORTY YEARS.

HOW THEY STAND

INTERNATIONAL LEAGUE.

	W.	L.	P.C.
Baltimore	96	45	.681
Toronto	91	53	.632
Buffalo	78	64	.549
Binghamton	70	69	.504
Newark	68	78	.466
Rochester	63	81	.437
Jersey City	53	87	.379
Reading	48	90	348

Games Today.

Toronto at Buffalo.
Binghamton at Rochester.
Reading at Jersey City.
Newark at Baltimore.

MICH.-ONTARIO LEAGUE.

	W.	L	P.C.
Saginaw	78	32	.709
Hamilton	75	34	.688
Battle Creek	67	45	.598
Brantford	59	45	.567
Bay City	43	69	.384
Kitchener	40	68	.370
London	40	70	.364
Flint	35	74	.321

Games Today.

Hamilton at London
Kitchener at Brantford

AMERICAN LEAGUE.

	W.	L	P.C.
Chicago	79	44	.642
Cleveland	71	51	.582
Detroit	71	53	.573
New York	68	52	.567
St. Louis	64	60	.516
Boston	58	62	.483
Washington	47	78	.376
Philadelphia	32	90	.262

Games Today.

Boston at New York.

NATIONAL LEAGUE.

	W.	L.	P.C.
Cincinnati	86	39	.688
New York	75	45	.625
Chicago	64	56	.535
Pittsburg	60	60	.500
Brooklyn	59	63	.484
Boston	49	68	.419
St. Louis	45	74	.378
Philadelphia	43	76	.361

Games Today.

Philadelphia at Cincinnati.
Boston at Pittsburg.
New York at Chicago.
Brooklyn at St. Louis.

THE MARKETS

TORONTO MARKETS

(Special to The Review.)

Toronto, Sept. 8.—Receipts at the Union Stock Yards today were 4,799 cattle, 665 calves, 2,180 hogs and 3,700 sheep and lambs. Hogs continued to decline, the packers bidding 50 cents lower for all grades, including tomorrow's loading. There were no actual price changes in other lines. Prices:

Choice export	$13.00	$14.00
Choice butchers	12.00	12.50
Medium	10.50	11.00
Common	8.50	10.00
Bulls	9.00	10.00
Feeders	10.00	11.00
Choice stockers	8.50	9.50
Light	7.50	8.50
Ewes	8.00	9.00
Lambs	14.00	14.50
Hogs, f. a. w.	19.25	19.75
Hogs, f. o. b.	18.25	18.75
Calves	18.00	19.00

PETERBOROUGH MARKETS

Dressed Pork, lb.	.30	.35
Choice Mutton, lb.	.23	.25
Spring lamb, lb.	.30	.34
Beef (carcase), lb.	.17	.20
Veal (carcase), lb.	.22	.25
Potatoes, pk.	.70	.75
Chickens, lb.	.35	.38
Eggs, doz.	.50	.50
Butter, lb.	.60	.60
Raspberries	.27	.30
Green Corn, doz.	.25	.25
Green onions, bunch	.5	.5
Lettuce, bunch	.5	.5
Radish, bunch	.5	.5

Grain, Hay and Straw.

Wheat (spring)	2.09	2.12
Wheat (marquis)	2.12	2.15
Buckwheat	1.15	1.25
Oats	.90	1.00
Barley	1.25	1.25
Timothy hay, ton	17.00	20.00
Loose straw, load	7.00	8.00

LEARNING TO FLY.

It Is Not Difficult if Care and Good Judgment Are Used.

All the men who have now learned to fly are not. It is obvious, endowed specially by nature for their task are not men with some rare gift which enables them alone to navigate the air. Flying, in a word, is not difficult. If a pupil is carefully taught and ascends at first only in calm weather, he finds the piloting of an aeroplane a matter of surprising ease. All a man needs should he wish to fly are ordinary agility and generally sound nerves, but it will facilitate his progress if in addition he has sound judgment, a certain amount of patience and an eye for distance and speed.

To the equipment of a superlatively fine pilot there go other qualities unnatural, such as an abnormal delicacy of movement and sense of control with his hands. But we are concerned for the moment with air men of an ordinary competent type, which is all the average pupil can aspire to become. That glamour and mystery which in the early days clung to the piloting of an aeroplane has now been completely dispelled, and it is recognized that, under fair weather conditions, a well built machine requires little control. What it does, it may also be said, is to fly itself.

But, though he experiences few difficulties in learning to fly, the novice should remember always that no liberties can be taken. Every instant he is flying a man needs caution. The greatest masters of flight, no matter how great their skill, have never lost their respect for the air. Hence it is that Orville Wright, Blériot, Farman and others of the pioneers are still with us today. Claude Grahame White in National Review.

PLANTED BIG TREES.

The Row in Front of Frick's Mansion on Fifth Avenue, New York.

A tree planting operation of unusual character lately occurred in the most fashionable residential section of New York. On Fifth avenue, between Seventieth and Seventy-first streets, Henry C. Frick, the noted captain of the iron and steel industry of the United States is building a magnificent mansion to cost $3,000,000.

Mr. Frick has a fondness for trees and because of its fragrant blossoms and general beauty the horse chestnut often called the giant's nosegay is his favorite species. He determined to plant a row of horse chestnuts in front of his new residence. Usually when trees are required in either city or country saplings of the chosen variety are set out, and their growth to imposing size is patiently awaited. But Mr. Frick is a man who does things. So he decided to obtain specimens of the horse chestnut which had had not less than thirty years' development.

Accordingly there are now standing along the curb line of Mr. Frick's property thirteen (of late a lucky number) of the finest horse chestnuts which could be found, each about twenty feet high and twelve to fifteen inches in diameter a few feet above the ground.—Leslie's Weekly.

New Foods.

A chemist in Belgium by taking the albumen from the residue of malt grains and putting it through a process, is said to have produced a pasty food, claimed to taste like meat, but with three times as much nourishment. The cost of the food is said to be small. Physicians in Brussels have experimented on men with it, and with excellent results. The same chemist has also produced another food from clover and other foods the nutritive character of which has passed official tests. Grocery.

GLOOM IN THE VATICAN

POLTICAL SITUATION HAS MANY DARK CLOUDS.

The Rulers of the Roman Catholic Church Find Themselves Facing Several Difficult Problems That Have Grown Out of the Great War—Dispute Over Bishops of the Redeemed "Sees" of Metz and Strassburg.

"VATICAN circles are plunged in pessimism," according to a despatch from Rome to the New York World, and it is not without interest to learn what is troubling the Vatican. There are several things, but the most important is the attitude of France with regard to certain matters. When Cardinal Amette visited the Vatican not long ago, the Pontiff expressed the hope that relations between France and the head of the Roman Catholic Church would shortly be renewed. It was considered a concession to the Holy See when France agreed that the concordat of Napoleon should be continued in Alsace Lorraine instead of the Act of Separation, which obtains through France. But almost immediately there arose the question of the bishops for Metz and Strassburg. These sees, of course, have been occupied by German bishops ever since 1871, and of course France is determined that for the future they shall be filled by French bishops. When the Government announced this determination there came a protest from the Pope to the effect that the right to nominate bishops was his prerogative and that a Government had no business to interfere with it.

France remained firm, however, and made the appointments. The Holy See has not confirmed these appointments nor even acknowledged them. The bishops would appear to be in rather an unpleasant position, and indeed it is rather difficult for an outsider to understand how Roman Catholics should accept positions in the church against the wishes of the head of the church. But equally difficult is the position of the Pope. His popularity with the French people or, indeed, with any of the Allies, has not, to say the least, increased in the past five years, and he must now move with the greatest caution if it is not to further decline, and the church to suffer still further because of his neutrality in the war, a neutrality which it has been more than hinted was the result of Austrian influences at Rome. Clemenceau's paper spoke plainly not long ago when it said that any Papal interference or representations would be unwelcome at the Peace Conference. The fact that the Germans wished to amend the covenant of the League of Nations, by making the Pope a member created an unfortunate impression both in France and Italy.

Nor was Clemenceau a bit conciliatory when, in the exchanges over the Metz and Strassburg vacancies, the Pope suggested that the matter could be more intelligently discussed when France has sent a Minister to the Vatican. The Tiger bluntly replied that no such representative was necessary. What alarms and distresses the Vatican is the belief that Clemenceau's attitude is that of the French people, and that they would strongly support any position taken by the Premier as against the Pope. This, as observed, is the chief cause of anxiety at Rome, the fear that relations with France, once the favorite daughter of the church, are likely to grow worse instead of better. Another difficult matter is the fate of German missions in former German colonies, and in the Orient. One clause of the Peace Treaty deprives the German Catholic missions of authority in former German colonies, and in India, Australia and those Allied colonies where they used to flourish. The Pope's position is that the church will greatly suffer if these missions are placed under Allied control. Representations to this effect have been fruitlessly made at Paris. The Big Four took the ground that before the war, and even while the war was on, these German missionaries were simply agents of German kultur, and did what they could to stir up feeling against the Allies among the natives.

It was hinted, too, that the Vatican had the opportunity of knowing this early in the war, and had also at its disposal the authority to put an end to this sneaking, hypocritical propaganda, if it chose to do so. No action was taken by Rome, however, and the Allies had to protect themselves, and also safeguard themselves for the future by putting an end to German control. The World correspondent says that the Vatican is also greatly depressed by changes in the custody of the holy places at Jerusalem. The arrival of the British and French in Palestine, and also the Zionist movement, disturbs his holiness. His view is that the custody of these shrines and monuments ought to be in the hands of the Roman Catholic Church, and not vested in secular Government, but probably realizes the futility of seriously putting forward any such demand.

He believes, too, that if Zionism is patronised by the Allies in Palestine, trouble will surely result, and those who share this belief contend that the Hebrews of Palestine are bitterly opposed to Zionism as practiced by the Jews in Europe and America, while the Mohammedans are said to be ready to fight Zionism if Zionists in any large number settle down in Palestine. These matters would appear to be worry enough for one man, but there is still another trouble at the Vatican. That is the American Pan-Christian Congress. To this congress the Pope was invited to send delegates, but he declined, and so the Roman Catholic church stays outside what promises to be one of the greatest religious gatherings in the history of the world. The Pope's position, of course, is that all other religious denominations should return to the church from which, according to his claim, they all at one time or another belonged. Rome has never been willing to make any concessions on this point, and this attitude has caused more religious controversy and unhappiness than any other denominational difference. It is the traditional position of the church, however, and stands as a firm barrier to an amalgamation of all Christian religions.

SOME QUEER DREAMS.

Looked on by Many is Proof of Dual Personality.

Have you ever dreamt you could fly? Most people have. You have no motor troubles, no air pockets, thunderstorms, or fogs; in fact, you just float like an angel in a picture. But you never meet anyone else flying. You have the airdrome to yourself.

You are lucky if you have never dreamt that you had feet of lead. You feel like a diver trying to walk on a sandy beach in diving boots weighing half a hundredweight each! If you were not in a desperate hurry you might not mind. But there is always something terrible on your track. Yet your pace is the pace of a snail and you can't mend it, says Tit-Bits.

In the cave dream you find yourself involved in dark, low, narrow passages, which get narrower and lower as you go on. You never seem to think of retracing your steps. Sometimes you get into most awful mud-holes as well, and struggle half-suffocated. It is a form of nightmare, following generally on an overdose of pastry.

Have you ever dreamt the inevitable dream? You are dangling from a star over immeasurable abysses of space, supported only by frantically clinging hands. The fall is inevitable, but the victim is determined to hold on as long as possible. When he lets go he awakens. He never touches bottom, unless he happens to fall out of bed.

Then there is the Argumentative dream, which is a psychological curiosity. The strange circumstance is that the course of the argument is never anticipated. Your opponent's replies come as a surprise. Sometime the dreamer even gets the worst of the argument. He beats himself in debate. This seldom happens to a man except in dreams. But it is a good argument in favor of dual personality.

All That's Necessary.

"Did Miss Brown bring her music this evening?"

"Yes."

"And I understand that young lady who came with her always plays her accompaniments?"

"Yes."

"Then I suppose there's nothing to be done now except for some of us to coax her to sing."—Detroit Free Press.

Making a Hit.

"I see you have turned down your glass. Don't you ever drink anything?"

"Yes, but the hostess informed me just before we came in to dinner that she had been telling everybody how clever I was and she begged me to do something that would cause a sensation."—Chicago Record Herald.

A Courageous Man.

"This is what I call adding insult to injury."

"What's the trouble?"

"An editor not only returns my manuscript, but he wants me to subscribe for his paper."—Birmingham Age-Herald.

Oh, That's Different!

"I see a lot of women profess not to like the man made laws," remarked the observer of events and things, "but I take notice they do like the man made wages."—Yonkers Statesman.

Amenities for Cabmen.

That the tradition of wit in the lower courts of Great Britain is not being allowed to languish is indicated by the words of wisdom vouchsafed recently by a judge who had before him the case of a cabman who had complained because three soldiers had damaged his vehicle when he had not stopped in response to their signal. Quoth the judge, "If you drive a taxicab yourself, always be civil to those who wish to hire you. Of course, I know you will never stop if signalled to in the streets, but do not pass by rudely. Do it gently—a smile and wave of the hand—and then the would-be hirer will feel that he has been let down lightly."

A Little Inconsistent.

She was a British militant suffragist who after an eight months' absence turned up in a state of indignation against the British postoffice. The postmaster general, she complained, had been diverting suffragettes' correspondence from the post. Some of them hadn't received their notices duly "Abominable!" The complainant had just "done time" in prison for setting fire to letter boxes and destroying other people's correspondence!

Work of the Revenue Cutters.

Operating twenty-five cruising cutters and eighteen harbor vessels and launches, the United States revenue cutter service during the winter of 1912-13 saved $10,626,610 worth of property from the perils of the sea and at the same time rescued 327 persons. The total cost for the maintenance of the service was about $2,500,000.

Curious Cause of Lead Poisoning.

A German physician has traced lead poisoning affecting many persons to a curious source. Deep holes in the stones of an old mill were found to have been ignorantly filled with lead and flour which had been ground by these stones showed as high as one part of metal in 4,000. It was this flour that produced the poisoning.

Rene Fonck Has Career As a Brilliant Duelist

Unique Among the Airmen

THE most polished aerial duellist the world has ever seen is Lieut. Rene Fonck, conqueror of fifty-nine enemy airmen. Rene Fonck was only twenty years of age when the war broke out. He had intended to become a mechanical engineer, and was greatly interested in flying. He was a conscript of the class of 1914, and he joined the French colors on August 22, 1914, immediately taking up the flying course. He got his commission during the following year, but it was not until 1916 that he was assigned to Escadrille C. 47 at the front. Then his great career as a flier began. He had one narrow escape during the three years of aerial fighting that followed, but it was not due to the cleverness of an opponent. He was brought down very early in his career by fire from the ground, and on that occasion his machine was literally riddled with holes, but he succeeded in getting out of his bad plight uninjured. Rene Fonck is now called the "king of the air." Practically all the honors and decorations that Great Britain can confer upon a French aviator are now his. One must compare Fonck's exploits to those of other great aces to grasp entirely the significance of the fact that never in his entire career has an opponent succeeded in hitting his machine with a bullet. After bringing down more than half a hundred enemy machines in single combat, after flying for upward of a thousand hours over the German lines and engaging in scores of combats which resulted in no victory for either side, this Detroit pilot has never received a single bullet from an opponent's weapon, even in the broad sails of his air liner. Other men have thrilling records of narrow escapes. The romantic Guynemer was shot down eight times and had his clothing riddled on various occasions. Others have gone through the war with many wound stripes. Rene Fonck, alone of all the fliers, found no opponent who could even endanger his safety.

LIEUT. RENE FONCK.

PRACTICAL HEALTH HINT.

Irritability.

In the case of young children fleeting attacks of irritability generally are passing disorders such as indigestion or teething or else they are owing to insufficient sleep and overexcitement. Children learn to crave excitement as easily as adults do, and hours of boisterous play are very often followed by other hours of peevish boredom. Remember, too, that one serious disease—meningitis—often begins with a steadily increasing irritability, the cause for which is not understood until other symptoms, such as headache and vomiting, squinting or drawing back the head, make the diagnosis clear.

In adults a condition of nervasthenia or nerve fatigue will usually cause more or less irritability. It also accompanies some chronic diseases, especially the heart or kidneys, so that where it is very marked it is always well to seek the advice of a physician.

Sir Wilfrid Laurier Said:

"After all what a man does with his money is to invest, and there is no better way to invest it than in Life Insurance."

As an ESTATE BUILDER there is nothing to equal Life Insurance.

TAKE THE FOLLOWING ACTUAL RESULT

A young man sixteen years of age took out a 15 years Endowment (No. 210380) in the Sun Life of Canada, which matured on the first of April. This young man paid annually $66.30 for fifteen years and he now has, through that investment, an immediate estate of $1,000.00 in case of death.

DO YOU KNOW THAT THIS AMOUNTS TO ALMOST 15 PER CENT COMPOUND INTEREST ON EVERY DOLLAR PAID?

No wonder Sir Wilfrid said (and he might have added (no better place than the Sun Life of Canada) "there is no better way to invest it than in LIFE INSURANCE."

SUN LIFE INSURANCE COMPANY OF CANADA

Crown Chambers Building, 402 Water St., Peterboro
PHONE 14

W. H. HILL, Manager, Central Ontario

A. WEDDELL, J. D. CAMERON — INSPECTORS — H. S. McDUFFEE, D. H. MOORE

EXPLICIT INSTRUCTIONS.

They Accompanied the Rose Which Wifey Pinned on Hubby's Lapel.

Every morning the wife of the Wall street man pins a flower to his lapel as he starts for the office—a rose when she has one, a blossom of some planer sort when roses are scarce.

This morning she had a rose, but she withheld the usual delicate attention and for the first time he perceived an ominous look in her eyes.

"You never have the flower in your buttonhole when you come home in the evenings," began his wife sarcastically. "How do you always contrive to lose it?"

"I do not lose it," he replied. "I wear the flower until I reach my desk. I feel that that is far enough for a plain business man to carry a flower."

"After reaching your desk, what do you do with the flower?" she asked.

"I give it away," he replied.

"To the girl stenographer?" suggested his wife icily.

"Oh, no. I give it to the office boy," he answered.

"I beg your pardon, but you do not give it to the office boy," she retorted with acerbity. "You give it to the stenographer. I have seen it pinned on her shirt waist every day that I have called at your office. I think I shall discontinue the flower."

"In that case I shall lose an office boy—probably by suicide," remarked her husband, meeting her indignant eyes frankly. "He is head over heels in love with the stenographer and is trying to make a hit with the flower."

Hastily she pinned a rose to her husband's lapel and said:

"Be careful not to lose it and give it to the office boy as usual."—New York Times.

Pure Fiction.

Her Father (appearing over the wall)—Ah! young man; it's you, eh? Did my daughter promise to meet you here?

The Young Man (scared into telling the truth)—Yes, sir. She promised to meet me here a quarter of an hour ago, but—but—I haven't seen anything—of—her.

Her Father (angrily)—That is just like a woman, for all the world! They have no respect for an engagement whatever. You just stand here, and I'll go back to the house and find her.—Puck.

Shoped Her Mind.

He—I never saw anything like this ride. Here I've been pulling steadily for ten minutes and we don't seem to have moved a foot.

She (after a pause)—Oh, Mr. Stroker, I've just thought of something! The anchor fell overboard a short time ago and I forgot to tell you. Do you suppose it could have caught on something?—Philadelphia Ledger.

Artificial Wood.

Artificial wood, having the resistance of oak is now successfully made from straw. The straw after being cut into small pieces is reduced to a paste by boiling, to which certain chemicals are added. When the paste has been reduced to a homogeneous mass it is put in presses, and poles, beams, laths, and mouldings of all sizes are readily made. This new material can be sawn like natural wood. As it has a little smoke

Sea Signaling at Sea.

"Probably most persons outside those immediately concerned with shipping would plead guilty to the impression that signalling at sea consists in the display of a few flags by day and a few lights by night, with possibly a wireless telegraphy system to fall back upon in case of disaster or other unforeseen occurrence. Sea signaling," writes R. A. Fletcher in the Windsor Magazine, "consists of all this and much more. It is admitted that there is no system which covers all the necessities of signaling at sea, but the statement is accurate that signaling between ships or between ships and shore embraces a large number of systems, every one of which has been designed to meet special circumstances and conditions which could not be met by any one of the other systems, and that safety at sea is inseparable from signaling.

"Unfortunately all these systems are not employed on all big steamers, even passenger vessels lacking some of them, and until their adoption be made compulsory it is to be feared that owners will be found who, for economy's sake, will run their vessels with fewer precautionary measures than they might have, and will cover their possible losses by insurance. It is hoped by many that the day is not far distant when the installation of all means of signalling will be made compulsory, not only on the large passenger steamers, but on their humbler sisters, the cargo liner and the tramp steamer."

Cuttlefish Can Destroy Ships.

Concerning the mysterious disappearance of the American naval ship Cyclops, which vanished a year ago, in the Carribbean Sea, with a complement of 295 men, the suggestion is put forward that it was pulled to the bottom of the sea by giant cuttlefish.

Neither can this be regarded as a wild story. Monster cuttlefish abound in the southern seas. They range from nine to eighteen feet in length, with arms or tentacles twenty to thirty feet long, and one to two feet in circumference. The power of these monsters when aroused—for by nature they are timid and act on the defensive—is extraordinary, and cases have been known of them rising out of the water, winding their tentacles around the hull and rigging of sailing vessels, and crushing them to matchwood.

In the case of the Cyclops, it is possible that she may have been attacked by several of these monsters simultaneously and wrecked or dragged to her doom. Or the disaster may have occurred through the fish, with their powerful tentacles, picking off the men, leaving the vessel to drive on the rocks of disaster.

While not caring to commit himself to any definite statement, a famous scientist, to whom the writer mentioned the suggested cause of the mysterious disappearance, expressed the view that it was quite possible.—Tit-Bits.

Queer Ship's Mascot.

An officer of the fleet recently returned to England from abroad says the queerest ship mascot he ever saw was a full-sized box constructor on H. M. S. Valiant, one of the dreadnoughts of the British Grand Fleet—long enough, he says, to use for a homeward-bound pennant, if slightly flattened out.

Fond of an Argument.

"Isn't Nexdore's wife rather fond of an argument?" "Is she? Why, that woman is so fond of an argument she won't even eat anything that agrees with her."

The Prince attends laying of Parliament Building Foundation Stone, Ottawa.

Rapid and Efficient Delivery

ABILITY to fill rush orders is often the secret of business success.

Speed — service — reliability — are embodied in the Ford Motor Truck.

It brings the distant suburbs—the adjoining rural districts—to your door.

You may often arrange to haul return loads at a profit.

Satisfies your customers and yourself.

Ford

One-Ton Truck (Chassis only)

$750, F. O. B. Ford, Ontario

Buy only Genuine Ford Parts

700 Canadian dealers and over 2,000 Service garages supply them. 128

J. J. DUFFUS, Dealer, Peterboro, Millbrook and Norwood

YOUNG CATTLE AND KID BROMPTON MATCHED TO MEET HERE AGAIN

Neither Man Satisfied—Both Determined to Score Victory Next Time.

Young Cattle and Kid Brompton, who put up such a speedy, hard-hitting exhibition at Brock street rink last Friday night, have been matched to meet again in this city in about two weeks' time. Both men were dissatisfied at not receiving a decision over their opponent last Friday and have started training in earnest for the next bout. Nobody who saw these two fight ten earnest rounds to a draw will miss this next engagement, and a large crowd of those who have heard about it will be on hand. Instead of such a small number the rink should be filled to capacity the next time these two battlers face each other in the local ring. The same promoter who put on the last bout at a financial loss is promoting this second one, and all can rest assured after his last entertainment that there will be no fake, but it will be a lively time and worth far more than the price of admission.

AUTO KNOCKS BOY OFF WHEEL

Leonard Lush in Endeavoring to Avoid Pedestrians Got in Path of Auto.

Leonard Lush was knocked off his wheel at the corner of Charlotte and George streets Saturday evening at about 9.30 o'clock by an auto driven by S. J. Chanton, of Lakefield. The traffic policeman motioned to Chanton to come across George street from the direction of Water street, which he did, but Leonard Lush, in endeavoring to avoid the pedestrians on the corner, was knocked off and his wheel badly damaged.

VETERAN FOUND DEAD

(Canadian Press Despatch)

Baltimore, Sept. 8.—Duncan C. Ross, V.C., was found dead in his little curio shop here today. He had recently suffered a paralytic stroke.

Thirty years or more ago Ross was famous as a wrestler, swordsman and athlete, and travelled Canada and the United States, giving exhibitions and challenging all comers.

MOLDERS GO BACK IN FEW DAYS NOW

WILL PROBABLY RECEIVE NEARLY ALL THEY ASKED FOR.

The moulders of the city who have been on strike since May will probably resume work within the next few days. They will probably receive nearly all they asked for but rather than tie up business more than it is at the present time the employers are willing to give in to a large extent.

ONE INJURED IN RAILWAY ACCIDENT

TORONTO BOUND TRAIN PARTIALLY DERAILED THIS MORNING.

Toronto, Sept. 8.—The Canadian National Railways head office states that in partial derailment of train No. 2, bound for Toronto early this Sunday morning, west of Caprecol, only one person was slightly injured. Mrs. Dan Campbell of Port Arthur had her neck strained, but walked from the train on arrival here last night without assistance.

AUTO ACCIDENT AT BRIDGE

First Since Bridge Was Under Construction.

The first accident recorded at the scene of the Hunter street bridge construction happened yesterday morning. An automobile was endeavoring to come up the improvised roadway on the east side of the river when from some peculiar cause the car swerved to the left and went through the railing, breaking the front axle and badly damaging the springs and under part of the car. Mr. Townsend, who noticed the wrecked car, requested the police to put on a traffic policeman for Sundays to prevent further accidents.

LOCAL GOLFERS IN SECOND ANNUAL SENIOR TOURNAMENT

R. M. Hamilton and F. M. De La Fosse Left Yesterday to Represent Peterborough.

The second annual tournament of the Canadian Seniors' Golf Association, consisting of members over 50 years of age, is being held on the links of the Lambton Golf and Country Club today and tomorrow.

Peterborough is being ably represented at this tournament by R. M. Hamilton and F. M. De La Fosse.

LIVING IS A DELIGHT

It is always morning and there is always sunlight somewhere in the world, to those whose eyesight is good.

If your eyesight is not good, Dr. Fowler's efficiency and a pair of his "PEBLO" Glasses will restore the natural sight. Consult him when you find the eyes failing in any way.

CONSULTATION FREE.

A. A. FOWLER DOCTOR OF OPTICS

[illegible] Toronto University.

[illegible] FITTERS OF PEBLO GLASSES

Most [illegible] Sanitary Optical Parlors. With Nugent Drug Co.

THE REFORMISTA PARTY.

Melquiades Alvarez Is a Power In Spain.

In view of the tremendous bid that is being made in Spain at the present time to emphasize the great claims to political distinction and leadership of Mr. Melquiades Alvarez, the leader of the Reformista Party, it is important to attempt some just estimate as to where Mr. Alvarez really stands. The Reformista Party, it will be remembered, was formed some years ago by Mr. Alvarez and Mr. Azcarate, and, whilst composed of "Radicals and indeed ultra-Radicals of the Left," it is fundamentally monarchical in its views, being, in point of fact, a monarchical development of a wing of the Republican Party. The party is small numerically, but, as so often happens with small parties, it is composed of men of considerable ability and possesses much influence in Spanish politics.

Of this party Mr. Alvarez is essentially the leader, in every sense of that word, and, in the course of a speech delivered at Madrid, recently, he made it quite clear that his ideas of leadership were extending and that he definitely aimed at office and power. "I want power," he declared on that occasions, "and I say it. I am ambitious for the sovereignty of the people, because I want to expunge from Spain the traditional prejudices." Such ambitions are, of course, not only unexceptionable, but praiseworthy in the highest degree. The only question is how far Mr. Alvarez would be able to fulfill the responsibilities of power if he attained to it.

Now, it is almost a platitude to say that the man who is to save Spain, today, from the almost pitiable condition of moral dullness into which she has been plunged must be a man who has gained some true and practical vision of the needs and overwhelming strenuousness of the hour. He must be a man who has awakened to and frankly recognized the utter wrongness of Spain's attitude during the war, and is prepared to urge, preach, and teach, in season and out of season, a concept of nationality far transcending the narrow vision of self-interest which was the utmost the Spanish statesman seemed to be able to attain during the war? In theory, he was strongly and confessedly pro-Ally. He well-nigh exhausted rhetoric in expressing his attachment to the allied cause, and in directing attention to the "heroism, generosity, and self-denial of France," but when any examination is made of his statements, statements made at a time when all the allied world was fighting with its back to the wall for civilization, it is found that, at every turn, they are based on self-interest. Spain should and could remain neutral. She had no irredentist peoples to consider, and she did not dream of territorial expansion. To assist the Central Empires would be equivalent to destroying Spain, for they could not defend themselves against France, England, and Portugal. Reasons of supreme importance obliged Spaniards to be with the Allies, and the Reformistas were more enthusiastic and convinced friends of the Allies every day. In matters of trade and commerce they were bound by interest far more with England and France than with Germany. So did Mr. Alvarez deliver himself in his famous speech at Valencia some two and a half years ago. The vision behind such views as these, if it still holds with him, and there is no reason to suppose that it does not, can never help Spain or any other country.

Germans Take the Truth.

While holding the line in front of St. Pierre, O. Sir Lens front in August, 1917, a German bombing post was giving us a great deal of trouble, so it was decided to try and take it.

A party was sent out in charge of an officer which successfully accomplished their task, bringing back with them a German major and two privates.

When standing in our trench, one German, putting his hand on one of the boy's shoulders, said:

"Hello, Canada! I'm glad you caught me. I'm from Saskatchewan."

FEW FOLKS HAVE GRAY HAIR NOW

Druggist Says Ladies are Using Recipe of Sage Tea and Sulphur.

Hair that loses its color and lustre, or when it fades, turns gray, dull and lifeless, is caused by a lack of sulphur in the hair. Our grandmother made up a mixture of Sage Tea and Sulphur to keep her locks dark and beautiful, and thousands of women and men who value that even color, that beautiful dark shade of hair which is so attractive, use only this old-time recipe.

Nowadays we get this famous mixture improved by the addition of other ingredients by asking at any drug store for a bottle of Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound," which darkens the hair so naturally, so evenly, that nobody can possibly tell it has been applied. You just dampen a sponge or soft brush with it and draw this through your hair, taking one small strand at a time. By morning the gray hair disappears, but what delights the ladies with Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound, is that, besides beautifully darkening the hair after a few applications, it also brings back the gloss and lustre and gives it an appearance of abundance.

Prince Visits St. Andrew's Hospital, Officers' Section, Toronto.

Fame of the Racehorses, Like That of Mankind, Often Ends in Tragedy

THE news that Wool-Winder, who won the St. Leger a dozen years ago, is to-day pulling a barge on a Bordeaux canal, recalls the fate of many another famous racehorse whose career has ended in tragedy or eclipse, says Answers.

St. Claude, winner of the Grand Steeplechase at Auteuil in 1890, ended his days at the Pasteur stables, where he was used for the production of serum; and George Frederick, after winning the Derby, proved a hopeless failure at the stud, lost his sight, and spent his closing years on a Canadian farm.

Silvio, winner of the "Blue Riband" in 1877, had the misfortune to break a leg in his sixteenth year, and a merciful bullet put him out of his misery; and Klarikoff, for whom Lord Vincent paid £5,000, in the conviction that he would win the Derby, was returning to his training quarters at Malton when a spark from the engine set fire to his box, and he was burned to death.

Blue Gown, hero of the 1868 Derby, after changing hands for £6,000, was sold for £4,000 to an American owner, and was started on his voyage across the Atlantic. But he never reached the other side, for he died in mid-ocean—a fate which also overtook Kingcraft, winner of the Derby two years later.

Fitzroy, for a half-share in whom Sir Frederick Johnstone paid £4,000, broke down so badly in a race at Newmarket that he had to be destroyed; and the great Donovan after winning the enormous sum of £55,153 in stakes for the Duke of Portland, injured himself so seriously, by dashing into a tree while running loose in his paddock, that Mr. H. Moore ordered his destruction.

Ambush II., who won the Grand National for the Prince of Wales in 1900, dropped dead after galloping exercise at the Curragh; and Victor Wild, after a career of unexampled popularity, was attacked by paralysis, which compelled his owner to put an end to his sufferings.

But while some race horses thus reach the pinnacle of equine fame, only to end in tragedy and disgrace, there are many others who rise from obscurity to brilliant careers, and close their days with an honorable and honored old age.

Godolphin, ancestor of the famous Eclipse, spent his early years between the shafts of a Paris watercart; and Flying Childers, the finest horse of his century in the opinion of many, was rescued to fame from the shafts of a country mail-cart, in which he had been doing useful, if obscure, work for years.

Chandler, hero of the Grand National of 1848, was bought from the stable of a small farmer, who was glad to get rid of the "ugly brute" for a few pounds; and Salamander, winner in 1865, was discovered "in a wrecked condition in an Irish hovel."

Deadlock, dam of the famous Isinglass, was taken by Capt. Machell from the shafts of a farmer's gig, in exchange for a cart-colt; and Throstle, who defeated Lucas so sensationally in the St. Leger, was born with a thick film over his eyes; and, after being refused as a free gift by a friend of his owner Lord Arlington, was ordered to be shot, a sentence which happily was not carried out.

Teddington, who was destined to win the Derby, was picked up as a three months' foal in a village blacksmith's stable; and Queen of the Roses, before coming into the hands of the Duke of Beaufort, was exchanged in her early years—once for a bag of corn, and again for a rick of hay.

Salamander, who put £30,000 in Mr. Studd's pocket by winning the Grand National, was hawked about to one country fair after another, until at last a purchaser was willing to risk £35 on him; and The Widow, who romped away with the Cambridgeshire, and won £40,000 in bets for her owner, Mr. Leigh, was so little thought of by her first owner that he made a present of her to his bailiff, who was delighted when he succeeded in exchanging her for a £10-note.

Acting Chairman of the Board of Commerce states that the board has no jurisdiction in the matter to assist veterans in combating high house rentals.

A shipment of 10,000 tons of potash from Germany for the United States has been contracted for.

ENGINE DRIVERS.

Men Who Have Travelled Some Millions of Miles.

The city man who journeys three miles a day to and from his office would probably be astonished to learn that a single year's travelling would take him as far as Calcutta, and that every three years he covers a distance greater than that around the earth at the equator, says London Answers.

And yet he is a "stay-at-home" compared with hundreds of men who seldom give a thought to their performances. Many an engine driver and guard has a mileage running up to seven figures. When Bulldog Jones stepped down from the footplate for the last time from his engine on the London and Birkenhead express he could boast that he had run the 4,000,000 miles, having reeled off his "world circuits" at the rate of approximately three a year for forty-four years. Another express driver on the L. & N.W. Railway, Thomas Beck, had completed a record of 3,000,000 miles when he retired.

When that fine old skipper, Captain Greenstreet, turned his back on the sea a few years ago, he had crossed the equator 75 times and the Cape of Good Hope 95 times. He had made 92 voyages to and from Australasia and had left behind him 2,500,000 miles of sea-roaming.

And even that wonderful achievement was eclipsed by H. Stevens, a steward on board Cunard liners, whose record of Atlantic crossings reached a total of 3,400,000 miles.

Compared with such astonding feats of globe-trotting, pedestrian records seem insignificant. But there are several men living to-day whose tramping has covered hundreds of thousands of miles. Among them, C. Moore, a letter carrier, walked 270,000 miles in thirty-two years over Yorkshire roads, and Richard Williams, in six years more, placed the enormous journey of 415,000 miles to his record as a Shropshire postman.

STRENUOUS KING ALFONSO.

His Life May Be Short, but He Intends to Make It Lively.

"A short life and a merry one!" It was in the spirit of that old motto that King Alfonso of Spain is said to have replied the other day to physicians who advised him that the only hope of arresting the disease which has affected his throat for years and which now has spread to the post nasal region lies in the direction of abandoning official work and social excitements, and living in retirement while undergoing a course of treatment that would consume twelve months.

The king is reported to have replied "You don't guarantee a cure, and I can tell you that a year as an invalid would certainly finish me."

That the fatiguing pursuits in which the king's restless energy finds an outlet aggravate his malady is beyond question. But he belongs to a family of shattered constitutions, and, all things considered, it's a wonder that he is alive.—Milwaukee Evening Wisconsin.

WIRELESS WAVE ANTICS.

Puzzling Conditions the Scientists Are Trying to Master.

All the amateur wireless telegraph operators of England are to be called on to help solve the mysteries of wireless wave antics and of strays, electric forces often caught by wireless instruments, but which are not utilized as stray electricity in the air.

It is not unlikely that this will be followed by a movement to have American wireless enthusiasts make a similar campaign. The scientists who have been studying wireless want all the information they can obtain about the queer doings, and when a great amount of certain information has been obtained they hope to find the solution of the antics.

It is now fairly well established in connection with Eiffel tower signals that when it is raining at the sending end the receiving end is apt to be wet, but if it is clear at the sending end and raining at the receiving end the signals come along normally. If it is cloudy at both ends the signals are better than ever. It has long been generally known that after sunset the strength of the wireless signals increases greatly, but the exact reason of this increase in thousands of miles is wanted for study.

The subject of strays is a big one in itself, but if all the amateurs of England were on the lookout for them and sent in reports on all they noticed it might be found that they travel in certain understood lines, like fish, or appear under certain conditions of weather.—Saturday Evening Post.

Glass Neckties the Latest.

In these days of substitutes one must be prepared for surprises, although it would be difficult not to betray at least a passing interest in so novel a departure as a necktie of glass, says a writer in Tit-Bits.

Such a tie was recently shown to the writer by a member of a firm of glass-makers.

Everyone has seen the curious multi-colored centres which the [illegible] marbles used by schoolboo a often contain. These centres are composed of very fine glass threads, and it is the latter that are employed in the manufacture of glass neckties.

These ties, in fact, are nothing more than lengths of glass threads woven together; and as such they can be twisted and knotted and generally ill-treated, like the ordinary every-day tie.

It was recently announced that collars made of paper would shortly be on the market. They are said to be much cooler and lighter than the perspiration provoking linen or "soft" collar.

Paper can be put to various uses in the matter of providing substitutes for clothing. We are threatened with paper shirts; and a determined effort is being made to produce from the same source a suitable substitute for cloth. One wonders what would be the effect of a heavy shower on these garments.

Underclothing made from surplus supplies of the fabric used in covering the planes of flying machines has already been put on the market; and the experiment looks like aiming a serious blow at the laundries, since it is stated that this material, being less porous than that usually worn, requires far less washing!

Prince at Toronto Parliamentary Buildings. — After the address Prince was presented to a number of prominent ladies of the city.

GRAND To-day Tuesday Wednesday

IN ADDITION TO THE REGULAR PROGRAM

SPECIAL VAUDEVILLE ACT

Mr. EUGENE LOCKHART

Late Star of the All-English Comedy Revue The Pierrot Players, in

PIANOLOGUE AND SONGS

PAULINE FREDERICK in "THE WOMAN ON THE INDEX"

CHARLIE CHAPLIN in "Busted Johnny"

10c MATINEE 2.30 15c | 15c EVENING 8.15 P.M. 25c

SATURDAY MATINEE AND EVENING

A TUNEFUL AND GAY MUSICAL PLAY

"MY SOLDIER GIRL"

Smart Swift and Saucy Cast

A Show Of Novelties

Brigade of Wonderful Girls

PRICES Mat. 1.00-75-50-25 Eve. 1.50-1.00-75-50-25 SEATS ON SALE THURSDAY

THEATRICAL

FLIRTATION WALK, an illuminated runway, extending from the stage almost to the rear wall, one of the many novelties with the big musical spectacle, "My Soldier Girl," coming to the Grand Opera House, Saturday, matinee and night, September 13th.

"MY SOLDIER GIRL" A REAL SUCCESS

COMING TO THE GRAND OPERA HOUSE SATURDAY, MATINEE AND NIGHT.

What has proven the real success of the present season standing out above all the new musical plays that have been produced in months is "My Soldier Girl," a musical spectacle which will be presented at the Grand Saturday, matinee and evening. Many names of clever artists well known to lovers of musical plays are to be found in the cast of this remarkable success, including Maude Baxter, Dorothy Garrigue, Leslie Jones, Billy Moore, James Baber, Billy Murphy and many others. The chorus is composed of the most attractive lot of girls ever gotten together in one organization. The production is gorgeous, whether in the first act, showing Colonel Stone's home at Miami, Fla., during a lawn fete in honor of friends from "overseas," or the grand stage settings for the Follies produced on the roof of a New York theatre, showing the city illuminated for the distance. Many new and novel dances are introduced by the bewitching chorus, offering spicy moments of amusement and wholesome entertainment. The score is melodious and the many song hits include: "My Soldier Girl," "Just For You," "Jasper's Ragtime Band," "Won't You Be My Beau," "That Dixie Wedding Tune," and "Wrap Me Up in a Bundle of Love."

Dorothy Garrigue, Dancer With "My Soldier Girl."

The long arm of the movie realm has reached in vain for the services of Dorothy Garigue, playing the role of "Dixie Harris," soubrette, with the musical comedy "My Soldier Girl," coming to the Grand, Saturday. It was learned recently that clever little dancer had declined a flattering offer from one of the large moving picture companies to appear in a series of pictures. But, despite the salary proferred was greatly in excess of what Miss Garrigue now receives, she decided to remain under the management of the productor who discovered her. Miss Garrigue's career has been an unusual one, in that she has become a prominent dancer practically in two short seasons. She received dancing instructions from one of the foremost ballet masters in America, and so readily did she become perfect in the art, that she graduated at the end of the second year. Miss Garrigue will present several of her novel dances when "My Soldier Girl" is presented in this city.

Retention of armament on ships of Canadian register is to be discontinued forthwith.

Saginaw clinched the Michigan-Ontario League pennant by defeating Battle Creek in both games on Saturday.

ALLEN THEATRE

Showing Monday and Tuesday

DOUGLAS FAIRBANKS in "ARIZONA"

The original "Arizona"—on the stage—thrilled great crowds everywhere for years. With no galloping Lieutenant, no wild prairie, no Douglas Fairbanks. See it now on the screen. With all these added!

ALSO A MACK SENNETT COMEDY AND A CANADIAN PICTORIAL. OUR POLICY PICTURES THAT EXCEL.

REMEMBER WE RUN A CONTINUOUS PERFORMANCE FROM 2 p.m. TO 11 p.m. COME WHEN YOU PLEASE. YOU WILL ALWAYS SEE A FULL SHOW.

MATINEES 16c — EVENINGS 22c and 27c

"ARIZONA" STARRING DOUGLAS FAIRBANKS AT ALLEN THEATRE

A Special Train Carried the Fairbanks Co. to Arizona to Film That Picturesque Country

When the history of the screen in America is finally written, the name of Douglas Fairbanks unquestionably will rank high as that of a man whose personality and smile contributed largely to the popularization of the motion picture in this country.

The story of "Arizona" is familiar to most playgoers. Lieut. Denton, of a detachment of the Eleventh United States Cavalry, stationed in Arizona, loves oBnita, daughter of Mr. Canby owner of the Canby ranch, and sister of Estrella, the wife of Colonel Bonham, commander of the detachment. Estrella secretly loves Capt. Hodgeman, a man whose record is dubious. Col. Bonham is thirty years older than his wife, but believes in the hope that she will one day return his love for her in like measure. The detachment comes to the ranch, and Denton is amazed the same evening to find Estrella in Hodgeman's arms.

At a dance given to the cavalrymen, Denton overhears Hodgeman and Estrella discussing their proposed elopement, just as Col. Bonham leaves for Los Angeles on military business. Denton threatens to kill Hodgeman for his rascality, and after forcing him to give up Estrella's jewels, which he had appropriated, he kicks him off the place. Estrella goes sobbing to her room, followed by Denton, and he is pleading with her to give up Hodgeman when Col. Bonham appears unexpectedly. Unable to explain his presence to his commanding officer, Denton resigns his lieutenancy, he refusing to tell how Estrella's gems came into his possession.

Mr. Fairbanks' support is exceedingly strong. The leading women's parts are in the hands of Marjorie Daw and Kathleen Kirkham. Theodore Roberts, Frank Campeau and Frederick Burton have strong roles, while others in the cast include Kate Price, Marguerite de la Matte, Robert Boulder, Raymond Hatton and Harry Northrup.

The story is a splendid adaptation of the famous play by Augustus Thomas and was written around the State of Arizona. Mr. Thomas' knowledge of Western life makes his play virile.

Five smashing, dashing, crashing reels,
With Douglas Fairbanks as the hero,
A girl whose winsomeness appeals,
A villain who is worse than Nero

Take those and mix them thoroughly
(Doug's always ready for a mix-up)—
And scatter them o'er land and sea,
But you can't break what Doug can't fix up!

You ought to see how Douglas climbs!
Some acrobat? You said a face full!
Unlike these somewhat labored rhymes,
His manner's easy, lithe and graceful.

He climbs up roofs, he climbs up trees,
He climbs in any sort of climate;
He climbs upon his hands and knees,
He climbes so well that I can's rhyme it!

He gets the villain and his goat,
He also gets the girl he's after;
Besides, he gets the people's vote,
Because his middle name is laughter.

He puts the jinx upon the blues
And is the public's benefactor.
Which is the reason why I choose
And label him "My Favorite Actor."

The Cobalt miners' strike is ended.

Bulgaria has issued a decree forbidding importations of all luxuries, and permitting the export only of attar of roses, tobacco, lamb and goat skins and wool.

Counsel for Joseph Caillaux, former French Premier now in prison on charge of having had treasonable dealings with the enemy, has requested his removal to a private hospital owing to the state of his health.

Beaches Junior defeated St. Catharines in an O.A.L.A. semi-final game on Saturday, the score being 12 to 5.

REVIEW "WANTS ADS." PAY.

VAUDEVILLE ACT AT THE GRAND

EUGENE LOCKHART, MUSICAL COMEDY STAR, WILL ENTERTAIN.

Eugene Lockhart, one of the most widely known musical comedy stars and composer of many musical numbers, will be seen at the Grand today, Tuesday and Wednesday in a special pianologue creation of his own.

His act is one of the snappiest ever offered before the public and several times he has had to hold the performances of the various cities visited to respond to the numerous encores.

EUGENE LOCKHART, at the Grand today, Tuesday and Wednesday, in "His Own Creations."

Mr. Lockhart visited this city several months ago with his own English company of Pierrot Players, and those who see him this week admit that he is just as funny now as he was then. He has a wonderful personality and the comedy he springs is both original and refreshing.

This star composes his own songs and those who visit this popular theatre will hear him singing some of these from his own pen: "The Hand of the Ukelele," "A Modest Little Thing," "Swish," "The World is Waiting for the Sunrise," "In Your Wedding Gown," and "When Uncle Sam Gets Back to Alabam'."

The prices have not been raised for this extra attraction and seats can be reserved for all evening performances in advance by telephone.

Music In Bohemia.

For the past two hundred years almost every musical generation in Europe has counted among its stars a Bohemian—either with a genuine Slavic spelling or a German or Germanized name. Bohemia certainly has the right to be proud of the fact that one of Gluck's teachers, the Prague monk and hymn-writer, Bohuslav Tshernohorsky, was of Czech blood, and that the influence of the famous pianist, Johann L. Dussek (1761-1812), was equal to that of Clementi, while in invention and ideality he surpassed the great Italian composer.

Frantishek Shkroup (1801-1862), the composer of the first original Bohemian opera, in his "Where Is My Fatherland?" anticipated the glory and joy that came to Czecho-Slovakia in December, 1918. The Czech national movement found, however, its first real centre in the National Theatre, which was opened in Prague in 1862, and Hedzhich Smetana (1824-1884) set the ball rolling by writing his famous opera, "Branibori v. Czechach" ("The Brandenburgs in Prague"). Smetana, the founder of the Bohemian School of National Music, took not only the subjects of his principal compositions from the history of the Bohemian people, but also nationalized the department of orchestral music. —Family Herald.

"Apostle Spoons."

These spoons, also called "gossip spoons," were gilt spoons given by the sponsors or "gossips" to a child at its christening. They were so called because each spoon had a figure of an apostle on the handle. Wealthy people gave the whole Twelve Apostles; those of less means and generosity gave the Four Evangelists; while poorer persons had to be contented with one, bearing generally the figure of the donor's or of the child's patron saint. There is a capital picture of a full set in Hone's "Everyday Book," copied from one in possession of the author. It is noticeable that each apostle seems to wear a broad-brimmed hat, the hat being in fact a plate of metal which was put on the head to preserve the features from injury, and which is to be seen on all genuine apostle spoons.—Family Herald.

Building a Ship.

Sixty per cent. of the work on a ship is in constructing the hull, and the remaining 40 per cent. is installing mechanical parts, deck furnishings and other equipment that goes to make the finished vessel.

Ancient Saws.

The saw is the earliest tool that has been traced in Egyptian history. It was found first in the form of a notched bronze knife in the third dynasty, or about five thousand years before the Christian era, and was followed in the fourth and fifth dynasties by larger-toothed saws, which were used by carpenters; but there are no dated specimens until the seventh century before the Christian era, when the Assyrians used iron saws. The first knives on record were made out of flint and were, in fact, saws with minute teeth. They probably were used for cutting up animals, as the teeth would break away even on soft wood. Rasps, which are but a form of saw, were first made of sheets of bronze punched and coiled round, but the Assyrians in the seventh century used the straight rasp, which specimens still in evidence show to have been made of iron similar to the modern type.—Family Herald.

This Way Out.

Chollie—I figured out this morning how many ancestors I really had and found there were several thousand.

Miss Blunt—And just think of the insignificant result of all those ancestors.—Boston Transcript.

No Friendship About.

"I thought you and he were friends?"

"No."

"But I saw you the other night when you had your arms around each other."

"That wasn't friendship. We were merely going over the story we intended to tell our wives so that it would hang together."—Chicago Record Herald.

His Fault.

"Madam, the feather in your hat is getting in my eye," exclaimed a man in a crowd. The woman turned around, looked him over, and then inquired, "Why don't you wear glasses?"—New York Globe.

Great Improvement.

Penman—What's become of that fellow who used to write serials for your paper? Wright—Oh, he's on a farm. He's turning out some good cereals now.—Yonkers Statesman.

Railway Time Tables

C. P. R. TIMETABLE

Effective May 4th. 1919.

GOING EAST

8.20 p.m.—Indian River, Norwood, Havelock and Tweed.

11.52 p.m.—Norwood, Havelock Kingston, Smiths Falls, Perth, Montreal, Quebec, St John, N.B., Boston and New York.

*1.30 a.m.—Havelock, Tweed, Kingston, Perth, Smiths Falls and Ottawa

11.59 a.m.—Norwood, Havelock Tonarlaw, Tweed, Perth, Smiths Falls Ottawa, Montreal and Intermediate points.

*11.59 a.m.—Norwood and Havelock.

GOING WEST

*4.53 a.m.—Toronto, Owen Sound Guelph, Goderich, Hamilton, Buffalo New York, Galt, Woodstock, St Thomas, London, Chatham, Detroit and Chicago.

6.21 a.m.—Myrtle and North Toronto.

7.35 a.m.—Toronto, Hamilton Buffalo, Rochester, Boston, New York and intermediate points between Peterborough and Toronto.

9.35 a.m.—Lindsay, Orillia, Port McNicoll and Intermediate points.

3.20—Toronto, Hamilton, Brantford, Buffalo, New York, Galt, Guelph Woodstock, London, Windsor, Detroit and Chicago and intermediate points between Peterborough and Toronto.

5.00 p.m.—North Toronto, Lindsay and intermediate points.

*3-20 p.m.—Toronto and intermediate points.

*Daily.

Daily except Sunday.

Daily except Saturday.

*Sunday only.

GRAND TRUNK RAILWAY SYSTEM TIMETABLE.

No. 96—8:10 a.m., for Toronto, via Port Hope, also points on Main Line east.

No. 92—8:20 a.m. for Lindsay Blackwater Jct., Orillia, Midland North Bay and Toronto.

No. 98—8:25 a.m., for Hastings Campbellford, Belleville and points on Main Line East.

No. 369—8:20 a.m., for Lakefield.

No. 92—12:04 p.m. for Lindsay, Port Hope, Toronto, Buffalo, making connections with International Limited for London, Detroit and Chicago.

No. 371—12:15 p.m. for Lakefield.

No. 100—2:00 p.m. for Hastings Campbellford and Belleville.

No. 95—5:40 p.m. for Lindsay, Orillia Midland, North Bay and Toronto.

No. 373—5:40 p.m. for Lakefield.

No. 99—8:31 p.m. for Lindsay.

No. 94—9:19 p.m. for Port Hope Montreal and Boston.

TO THE VOTERS OF THE CITY OF PETERBOROUGH

Notice is hereby given that the Voters' Lists for the City of Peterborough, have been printed, and that the Lists for the various areas described below, have been deposited at the addresses indicated, where they are held open for inspection by the public.

Only the lists for the area described will be found at the address given for that area. If you wish to find if your name is on the list, read the descriptions below till you find the area in which you live; then go to the address indicated, where you will find the lists for that area, and also forms and rules for appealing, if an appeal is necessary. Information cannot be obtained by telephone from these various addresses; it would interfere too much with the private business of those persons with whom the lists have been deposited, and its accuracy could not be guaranteed. The only way to make sure that your name is on the list is to make a personal inspection of same.

The city has been divided into the following areas:

1.—All of the South Ward south of the centre of Lake Street and east centre of Park Street.

Voters' List at W. G. Freeburn's store, 168 Lock Street.

2.—All of South Ward, south of centre of Albert Street and the southern limits of Lots 31 and 32, Plan 30 Peterborough, and west of centre of Park Street.

Voters' List at Earnest Benson's store, 100 Park Street south.

3.—All of the South Ward, south of centre of Townsend Street, east centre of Rubidge Street and Park Street between Rink and Lake streets and north of centre of Lake Street.

Voters' List at Halpin's store, 331 George street.

4.—All of South Ward, south centre Sherbrooke Street, east centre Rubidge and north of centre of Townsend.

Voters' List at Co.-operative Store 200 Rubidge Street.

5.—All of South Ward, north of centre of Albert and Lots 31 and 42 Plan 30, City, west of centre of Rubidge and north of centre of Townsend and south centre of Sherbrooke.

Voters' Lists at James Garside's house, 199 Reid Street.

6.—All of Centre Ward, north centre of Sherbrooke, east centre of Water, and south centre of McDonell.

Voters' List at James Sutherland's store, 352½ Water Street.

7.—All of Centre Ward, south of centre of Simcoe, east centre Bethune north centre of Sherbrooke and west of centre of Water.

Voters' List at office of City Clerk, Simcoe Street.

8.—All of Centre Ward, south centre of Brock, between Water and Chambers, south centre of Hunter, between Chambers and Bethune, east centre Bethune and west centre of Water.

Voters' Lists at Paskin's grocery store, 233 Hunter Street.

9.—All of Centre Ward, west of centre of Water Street between centres McDonell and Brock and north centre of Hunter between Chambers and centre Bethune and east centre Bethune.

Voters' List at Goohen's store, 481 Aylmer street.

10.—All of West Ward, north centre of Sherbrooke, south centre of King and west centre Bethune.

Voters' Lists at Matthews' store, corner Park and Sherbrook.

11.—All of West Ward, south centre of Hunter, east centre of Park north centre of King and west centre Bethune.

Voters' List at Kemp's store, corner Charlotte and Downie.

12.—All of West Ward, west centre of Park, south centre Hunter and Homewood and north centre of King.

Voters' List at Lillico's grocery, 356 Charlotte Street.

13.—All of West Ward, north centre Hunter, east centre Park, south centre McDonell and west centre Bethune.

Voters' List at Routley's shop, corner Brock and Park.

14.—All of West Ward, west centre Park, south centre McDonell and north centre of Hunter and Homewood.

Voters' List at J. J. Lynch's shop corner Park and Elm.

15.—All of North Ward, south centre of Smith, east centre of George and north centre of McDonnel.

Voters' List at William Petries' shop, corner Smith and Water.

16.—All of North Ward, south of the centre of Dublin, west centre George, north centre McDonnel and east centre Stewart.

Voters' List at Dawson Bros. store corner London and George.

17.—All of North Ward, north centre McDonnel, west centre of Stewart.

Voters' List at Kennedy's grocery 332 McDonnel Street.

18.—All of the North Ward, south centre of Smith, east centre of Stewart, north centre of Dublin and west centre George.

Voters' List at Albert Tennyson's shop, corner George and Edinburgh.

19.—All of North Ward, east centre of Stewart and north centre Smith.

Voters' List at Jordan Bros. Green house, 90 Argyle Street.

20.—All of East Ward, west centre of Mark Street, south centre of Douro.

Voters' List at Sulivan's grocery store, 57 Hunter Street east.

21.—All of East Ward, east centre Mark, south centre of Douro and division line between Blocks U and V.

Voters' List at T. I. Hill's shop 197 Hunter Street east.

22.—All of East Ward, north of centre of Douro and division line between Blocks U and V.

Voters' List at D. Rice's shop, 550 Concession Street.

Appeals in the forms prescribed by statute must be filed with the Revising Officers' Clerk on or before Monday, the 8th day of September, 1919. The Revising Officer's clerks are as follows: For areas numbered 1, 2, 3, 4 and 5 above—W. F. Johnston, 435 George Street; for areas numbered 6, 7, 8, 9, 20, 21 and 22 above.—Wilfred E. Huycke, Engleburne Avenue, and for areas numbered 10, 11, 12, 13, 14, 15, 16, 17, 18 and 19 above—Fred Morrow, 469 Water Street.

If an appeal is necessary it is advisable to use the forms provided by the Board, and to carefully observe the rules governing the entering and hearing of appeals. Forms of the appeal and copies of the rules may be obtained at any of the above addresses.

Dated at Peterborough, this 28th day of August, 1919.

E. C. S. HUYCKE,
Chairman of the Voters' Registration Board.

ONTARIO ELECTION ACTS 1918 and 1919

NOTICE OF SITTINGS OF REVISING OFFICERS

Electoral District of West Peterborough, City of Peterborough

To Wit:

Take notice that the lists of voters for polling subdivisions Numbers 1 to 22, both inclusive, comprising the City of Peterborough, have been prepared by the enumerators and have been delivered to the Clerk of this Board by the Chief Enumerator and Returning Officer, and that GEORGE W. HATTON, of the City of Peterborough, has been appointed Revising Officer for Polling Subdivisions Numbers 1, 2, 3, 4 and 5 (South Ward of City); EDWARD C. S. HUYCKE, Revising Officer for Polling Subdivisions 6, 7, 8, and 9, and 20 and 21 (East and Centre Wards of City) and GEORGE J. SHERRY, Revising Officer for Polling Subdivisions 10, 11, 12, 13, 14, 15, 16, 17, 18 and 19, (West and North Wards of City) to hear complaints and appeals as to the lists of voters aforesaid.

And further take notice that the sittings of the said several Revising Officers will take place as to the South Ward (Nos. 1, 2, 3, 4, and 5) above, at the County Council Chamber, in the Court House, in the City of Peterborough, as to the Centre and East Wards (No. 6, 7, 8, 9, 20, 21 and 22 above) in the Judges' Chambers in the said Court House and as to the West and North Wards Nos. 10, 11, 12, 13, 14, 15, 16, 17, 18 and 19 above) in the Court Room in the said Court House on SATURDAY, the THIRTEENTH day of September, 1919.

Each sittings will commence at 10 o'clock in the forenoon and will continue until the appeals fixed for the day have been disposed of.

And further take notice that any voter who desires to complain that the names of any persons entitled to be entered on any of the said lists have been omitted from same, or that the names of persons who are not entitled to be voters, have been entered thereon, may on or before MONDAY, the EIGHTH DAY OF SEPTEMBER, 1919, apply, complain of or appeal to have his own name or the name of any other person, corrected in, entered on, or removed from, the lists prepared under the Ontario Elections Acts, 1918 and 1919.

And further take notice that such appeals must be by notice in writing in the prescribed form, signed by the complainant in duplicate and given to the clerk of the proper revising officer, or left for said Clerk at his residence or place of business on or before the said date. The clerk to Mr. Geo. W. Hatton is W. F. Johnston, place of business, 435 George St., residence, 310 McDonnel St.; the Clerk to Mr. E. C. S. Huycke is Wilfred Huycke, Residence, Engleburn Ave., and the Clerk to Mr. Geo. J. Sherry, Mr. Fred Morrow, residence, 469 Water St., business address, Registry Office, all in Peterborough.

Dated at Peterborough, this 29th day of August, 1919.

E. C. S. HUYCKE,
Chairman of the Voters' Registration Board, for the County of Peterborough.

Children's Aid Society

—of—

Peterborough City and County

FOR THE CARE OF NEGLECTED AND ILL-TREATED CHILDREN

G. W. POWELL

Asst. Secretary and Inspector

Office, 588 George St. Phone 1044w

Office Hours: 12 to 2 and 6 to 8 p.m.

The Steamer Naiad ON AND AFTER MAY 5th 1919

The Steamer Naiad will run as follows:—

Leave Lakefield daily on arrival of noon G.T.R. Train for Stony Lake Points connecting at Mt. Julian with the Apsley Stage

PETERBORO INDUSTRIAL EXHIBITION

MONDAY, TUESDAY, WEDNESDAY SEPT, 15th, 16th, and 17th

Three Full Days — Three Evening Performances ushered in on Monday at 1 o'clock by Monster Parade

$3,500 IN PRIZE MONEY

SPEEDING IN THE RING EACH AFTERNOON

57th Regimental Band and Great War Veterans' Band Will Furnish Music

BIGGEST AND BEST FAIR OUTSIDE OF TORONTO LONDON AND OTTAWA

You Want "Pep" Well You'll Get It

SCAN OVER THIS PROGRAM OF FREE ATTRACTIONS—THE MOST EXPENSIVE ACTS EVER CONTRACTED FOR BY ANY CANADIAN EXHIBITION—SOMETHING DOING ON ALL THEE DAYS.

BONETTE BROS—DEATH DEFIERS

Double Balloon Ascension with Human Bomb Thrill.
Double Aerial Trapeze Cradle.
Whirlwind Glide for Life on 500-ft. Cable.

THOMAS TRIO—Comedy Triple Horizontal Bar Act

MARVELLOUS MELVILLE—Spectacular Gymnast

THE 4 READINGS

Sensational Jugglers of Human Beings, direct from New York Hippodrome.

THE CLARK-RAZZILLIANS CO.

IN WONDERFUL FEATS ON THE AERIAL TRAPEZE.

3 — ROMANS — 3

Spectacular Athletic Performance on the Roman Ladders.

Daily Aeroplane Flights by Oversea Aviators

Doing all kinds of Marvelous Stunts and Loops in the Air, not previously seen here. Passengers will be carried and arrangements for flights can be made with R. M. GLOVER, T. H. HOOPER or W. F. TURNER.

SPECIAL! SPECIAL! SPECIAL!

FOR MONDAY — FOR MONDAY — FOR MONDAY

In addition to the above Program a Novel Display of DAYLIGHT FIREWORKS will be given Monday Afternoon on arrival of the Big Calithumpian Parade at the Exhibition Grounds.

MONSTER EVENING DISPLAY ON ALL THREE NIGHTS.

SEVEN PRIZES GO TO CAN. HUNTERS

LIEUT.-COL. COX'S HORSES MADE FINE SHOWING AT ROCHESTER.

Rochester, N.Y., Sept. 6.— Lieut.-Col. Herbert C. Cox's splendid hunters from Enniscare Farm at Oakville made a fine showing today at the Rochester Horse Show, taking seven prizes, including two blues, in competition with some of the greatest hunters in the country. In the matter of performances the Enniscare jumpers are about the class of the show, and this excellence is largely due to the superb handling and riding of Hughie Wilson, Lieut.-Col. Cox's trainer. Wilson gets every bit possible out of his horses, and the timber-toppers perform for him in a manner that makes some of the other riders look foolish. Chiefly to show the control over his mount, Wilson today jumped over a whip, and then sent the Cox hunter over a leading rein held by two Enniscare grooms.

It seems that the men who are judging the hunter classes prefer the light rangy type of jumper to the heavier barrelled European type, and as the Cox horses are of the latter type the Toronto timber-toppers are earning every award they receive.

The following awards were made today to Enniscare Farms:

Class 99, model hunter, 4 years old, up to carrying 180 pounds to hounds—1, Ridgefield; 2, Powderman.

Class 95, lady's hunter, up to carrying 165 pounds to hounds—3, Indian Arrow, ridden by Miss Carol Smith of Toronto. First place in this class went to Miss Constance Vaucisin's Arbite and second to W. H. Madison's Golf Ball.

Class 88, heavy hunters, up to carrying 200 pounds to hounds—1, The Whip; 2, The Strand; 3, Mewburn; 4 Powderman, all EEnisclare entries.

CLARKE TROPHY BOWLING DOUBLES

RESULTS OF DRAW FOR FIRST ROUND IN ABOVE EVENT.

The draw for the first round resulted as follows:

J. P. Cunningham and Dr. Allen vs. R. Grant and Dr. Hammond.

B. Everett and J. H. Sedgwick vs. R. Allen and Ed. Taylor.

A. Gilliam and D. H. Moore vs. M. A. Turner and E. L. Bowes.

P. Barclay and W. J. Oke vs. J. F. Convery and T. C. Elliott.

H. Hair and E. Walton vs. Dr. Craig and T. E. Pratt.

W. Dayman and R. Elliott vs. V. E. Elliott and J. A. McKone.

Carl McLean and J. W. Maynecord vs. J. Blanchard and G. F. Cairns.

R. Hendry and H. McCusker Bye.

Finish Tuesday Night.

This round must be finished on Tuesday night and skips are asked to get in touch with their opponents and make necessar yarrangements. Games not played on that date will be defaulted. Second round will be played on Wednesday night. There will be an entrance fe eof 50c per man ,which will go toward purchasing individual prizes for the winners. Games will be 15 ends. Final 21 ends. No substitutes allowed.

Buying of Canadian Cheese by the British Food Controller, will definitely cease when the purchase of 20,000 tons, now in hand, is completed.

A BOXING TOURNAMENT
WILL BE HELD AT
BROCK STREET RINK
Thurs. Sept. 18
AT 8 P.M.
RETURN MATCH
Between
Young Cattle--Toronto
And
Kid Brompton--New York
Lightweight
Good Preliminaries are Being Arranged for
ADMISSION--$1.00, 75c, 50c
Ringside seats now on sale at Dan McCabe's Cigar Store and at Spence's Barber Shop.

OWES SKILL TO EARLY TRAINING

MELLE. LENGLEM SPENT MANY HOURS DAILY ON MARKED COURT.

Paris, Sept. 8.—Mlle. Lenglem, the lawn tennis prodigy, owes her skill in some measure to early training. When she was a little girl her father determined that she should become a great player, and, with this object, marked out his tennis court into a number of squares. For several hours each day Mlle. Lenglem used to practise hitting the ball first into one square and then into another, until at last she could place it with unerring judgment wherever she wished. She began playing tournaments when she was twelve. She is now nearly twenty-one. She is very careful what she eats, and always goes early to bed. Her mother and father attend every one of the tournaments at which she appears.

CHAMPION HEAVY COMING TO STATES

WILL CROSS ATLANTIC LATE IN DEC. OR EARLY IN JANUARY.

New York, Sept. 8.—Georges Carpentier, heavyweight champion of Europe, will probably come to the United States late next December or early in January. The authority for this statement rests in a letter from Lieut. Ben F. Steinel, who was in charge of the boxing program of the A. E. F. and who was matchmaker for bouts promoted by the Y.M.C.A. for the entertainment of the Yanks in France.

Kerensky Tells Story Of Korniloff Uprising And Triumph of the Reds

"THE Prelude to Bolshevism" is Kerensky's "apologia." He has made into a book the stenographic report of his testimony before the commission investigating the Korniloff uprising just before the Bolsheviki gained control of Russia, adding to it comments written by him since the Bolshevist triumph. The aim of the man who, as head of the Russian Provisional Government in 1917, sought to compromise with the forces of disruption and was swept away in the Bolshevist flood, is to show that the opposition to his regime headed by Gen. Korniloff was the direct cause of the victory of the Bolsheviki.

He credits Korniloff with patriotism but believes him to have been the tool of other Russians, among them big capitalists, who "stood from under" when the Korniloff movement began to collapse and left the Cossack general to his fate.

"I never doubted his love for his country," says Kerensky. "I saw not in bad intention, but in a lack of understanding, and in great political inexperience, the cause of his actions, which menaced Russia with such a vast upheaval. I saw, and many times I tried to check him, instigated as he was by the cunning enemies of freedom, or by mere political sharpers. I did not succeed; the man who in his own way loved Russia passionately, was doomed by some power ot bring about the victory of those who hated and despised her."

KERENSKY.

In that last sentence lies the nub of Kerensky's defence. To most people, especially in this country, Korniloff represented the forces in Russia that were exasperated by Kerensky's policy of seeking to conciliate the Reds by oceans of words; they saw in the Cossack the bulwark against Bolshevism, and were eager to see him march his troops from the Russian front into Petrograd and Moscow, sweep aside Kerensky, whom some deemed well-meaning and weak, others no better than a tool of the Germans, and institute a strong Government as a check alike to further German advance into Russia and to the ever-growing menace of Bolshevism.

But in the eyes of Kerensky, Korniloff was something far different. In his testimony before the Commission of Inquiry and in his comments written in the light of what has happened since the fall of 1917, the ex-Premier declares that the Cossack general's obstructionist tactics after being appointed to the supreme command on the Russian front only served to increase the demoralization of the army, and played into the hands of the Red opponents of the Provisional Government. The people of Russia, adds Kerensky, recognizing in the Korniloff movement the taint of reactionaryism and fearing a return to power of czarism, extend their distrust also to the Kerensky Government, thought they saw there also reactionary and "bourgeois" tendencies, and thus made possible the triumph of the extreme elements which are now known under the name of Bolshevism. Says Kerensky:

"An adventure of a small group was transformed in the inflamed imagination of the masses to a conspiracy of the whole of the bourgeoisie and of all the upper classes against democracy and the working masses. The Bolsheviki, who were impotent, became masters in the Petrograd Soviet of Workmen's and Soldiers' Delegates, gaining a majority there for the first time during the whole period of the revolution. The same happened everywhere with lightning rapidity. Massacres of officers again began; again the commanding officers lost all their authority. Throughout the whole country, as in the first days of the March revolution, there appeared spontaneous organizations which seized the functions of Governmental power under the pretext of fighting the counter-revolution. In the soldiers' and workmen's masses the authority of the leaders, who were fighting against the cry of "All authority to the Soviets," and who were defending the idea of a national power basing its authority on the will of the whole people, was annihilated. The wave of anarchy broke the Russian front and overflowed the state. Nobody will ever succeed in breaking the fatal link between the 27th of August (September 9, New Style, the day of Korniloff's uprising) and the 25th of October, 1917, (November 7, New Style, the day of the overthrow of Kerensky's Government by the Bolsheviki)."

In other words, Kerensky's contention is that Bolshevism sprang up full-fledged as a result of the panic into which great numbers of Russians fell when they thought they saw in Korniloff the return of reaction. Korniloff, on the other hand, believed that Bolshevism had already attained menacing proportions and would seize the Government unless a strong man intervened. Bolshevism having actually seized control, Kerensky and Korniloff each pointed an accusing finger at the other and exclaimed, "I told you so!"

Prince Signing Visitors' Register at St. Andrew's Hospital Toronto

What D'ye Think of That!

"They knocked down the form which held your article on electricity."

"Well, they simply turned it into current 'pi.'"—Baltimore American.

Descriptive.

He was accustomed to drinking straight, plain drinks. But one day they inveigled him into taking one of those mixed affairs, one of those that not only includes a combination of liquids, but also orange peel, pineapple, a cherry and other rank outsiders.

"Well, what do you think of it?" he was asked by the bunch that had done the inveigling.

He looked disapprovingly at the sunken garden before him.

"Boys," he said, "I object to drinking a mince pie."—New York Times.

Coming Back Hard.

Mrs. Beanbrough—How do you like my cake, dear?

Mr. Beanbrough—It is very good, but not as nice as the cake my mother makes.

"Indeed?"

"Mother makes marble cake that looks like the real thing."

"Yes, you are right, and that's just the way it tastes, too."—Youngstown Telegram.

BIRDS-EYE MAPLE.

Buds That Never Mature Give the Grain Curls.

What makes the bird's-eye maple? That is the question which is often asked when a beautiful piece of furniture made of this wood is displayed. There have been a number of theories, but the real reason is simple.

The favorite theory has been that sapsuckers, by pecking holes through the bark of young maples, make scars which produce the bird's-eye figure in the wood during the successive years. Bird-pecked hickory is often cited as an analagous case, yet who ever saw bird's-eye figures in hickory, though the bark may have been perforated like a colliender by the bills of energetic sapsuckers? The effect of bird's-eye in maple; the wood is discolored and unsightly. Some attribute it to the action of frost, but no such connection between cause and effect has been shown to exist.

The explanation of the phenomenon is simple, and a person with a good magnifying glass can work it out for himself. The bird's-eye figure is produced by casual or abnormal buds which have their origin under the bark of the trunk. The first buds of that kind may develop when the tree is quite small. They are rarely able to force their way through the bark and become branches, but they may live many years just under the bark, growing in length as the trunk increases in size, but seldom appearing on the outside of the bark. If one such bud dies, another will likely rise near it and continue the irritation which produces the fantastic growth known as bird's-eye.

It is said the Japanese produce artificial bird's-eye growth in certain trees by inserting buds beneath the bark.

FALL FAIRS 1919

PETERBOROUGH—Sept. 15-17
Campbellford—Sept. 23-24.
Bancroft—Oct. 2-3.
Bowmanville—Sept. 16-17.
Brighton—Sept. 11-12.
Brockville—Aug. 25-28.
Bobcaygeon—Sept. 26, 27.
Cobourg—Sept. 17-18.
Colborne—Sept. 25-26.
Centreville—Sept. 20.
Cobden—Sept. 25, 26.
Demorestville—Sept. 27.
Delta—Sept. 15-17.
Dungannon—Oct. 2-4.
Frankford—Sept. 18-19.
Harrowsmith—Sept. 18-19.
Keene—Oct. 7-8.
Kingston—Sept. 23-27.
Lakefield—Sept. 23-24.
Lindsay—Sept. 18-20.
Madoc—Oct. 7-8.
Merrickville—Sept. 16, 17.
Marmora—Sept. 30.
Maynooth—Sept. 25.
Midland—Sept. 29-Oct. 1.
Millbrook—Oct. 2-3.
Napanee—Sept. 9-10.
Norwood—Oct. 14, 15.
Odessa—Oct. 3.
Orillia—Sept. 16-17.
Oshawa—Sept. 8-10.
Orono—Sept. 25, 26.
Picton—Sept. 16-18.
Port Hope—Sept. 23, 24.
Robbins Mills—Sept. 23, 24
Shannonville—Sept. 13.
Stirling—Sept. 25, 26.
Stella—Sept. 30.
Tweed—Oct. 2, 3.
Wolfe Island—Sept. 17, 18.
Warkworth—Oct. 2, 3.

MIXED WOOD
$7.00 Per Cord
HARD WOOD
$10.00 Per Cord
Cutting and Splitting Extra
ORDER NOW
FROM
J. E. A. FITZGERALD
Phone 111

Canada Food Board License No. 8-2188
D. M. MINICOLA
Best Fruit—Cheap
Best Vegetables—Reasonable
Best Groceries
At Right Prices
410½ GEORGE STREET
Bell Phone 93b

COAL
—AND—
Builders' Supplies
Hardwood Flooring
Robt. Hicks & Co.
LIMITED

PITTSTON COAL
IS THE BEST
ALL SIZES IN STOCK
Also best lines of SOFT COAL at Lowest Prices
McCARTHY & JOHNSTON
COAL DEALERS
111 Hunter Street, East City
Phone 96 TERMS CASH

HARD COAL
EGG, STOVE,
NUT, PEA
H. B. TAYLOR & SON
160 AYLMER-ST.
Phone 200

Order Your Coal From LOW & Co.
We have all sizes in stock
EGG, STOVE, NUT AND PEA
The best and cheapest coal in town. Perfectly screened and promptly delivered. Bring your orders in now.
Prices advance every month.
LOW & COMPANY
762 Simcoe Street. Phone 697
House 396

LUMBER
Builders' Materials of all kinds—Shingles, Scantlings, Joist and Bill Stuff, Mouldings, Castings, Base and all kinds of Finish, Sores and Door Sheeks; Slabs and Mill Wood.
Alf. McDonald Estate

Bringing up Father By George McManus

WHAT ARE YOU DOING WITH THIS TICKET I FOUND IN YOUR COAT TO THE MUD-SHOVELERS BALL-
WHY THAT'S ONE OF THE SWELLEST CLUBS IN TOWN- THEY USE THAT NAME JUST FOR FUN- ONLY THE SWELLEST PEOPLE WILL BE THERE
REGINALD ASTORBILT GAVE ME THAT- HE WANTS ME TO WELL- YOU MUST GO THEN-
MRS JIGGS-KIN I GIT OFF TOMORROW NIGHT? THE ICE-MAN WANTS ME TO GO TO THE MUD-SHOVELERS BALL WITH HIM-

SAFEGUARD YOUR EYESIGHT

When you accept our invitation to a consultation regarding the condition of your eyes, you need not feel concerned about what we will tell you. You will learn only the truth.

"See Us and See Better."

W. H. LACEY

Optical Specialist.

410 George St.

DISTRICT AND LOCAL NEWS

TRINITY CHURCH NOTICES

The league will meet Monday evening at 8 o'clock. Tennis Committee will meet at the close of the league meeting.

The Ladies' Aid Tuesday afternoon at 3.30 o'clock.

Mid-week service, union with St. Andrew's at St. Andrew's Sunday School, Wednesday evening, at 8 o'clock.

The Brotherhood will resume their regular meetings next Sunday at 3 o'clock in the church.

NOTICE

Lessons in primary reading for adults, or, backward children. Apply Review for address.

Dr. E. V. Frederick, member Royal College of Surgeons, England, late Surgeon No. 1, Canadian Stationery Hospital, Salonica, late Surgical Specialist No. 70 Indian Stationary Hospital, Bagdad, late Clinical Assistant Mayo Clinic, Rochester, Minn., has resumed practice corner Charlotte and Rubidge streets, Peterboro— especially consulting practice in surgical and chronic conditions.

Dr. Free, late house physician Toronto General Hospital, assistant in practice with Dr. Frederick and in charge of laboratory work.

TIRES VULCANIZED

Because that tire has a hole through it is no reason why you should throw it away. You may yet get several thousand miles out of it by having a sectional repair made. We Vulcanize Auto Tires and Tubes and guarantee our work. Millard's Bicycle Shop, 225 Hunter street, near Aylmer, phone 234j.

NURSES' PAY RAISED

Chatham, Sept. 8.—The Public General Hospital Board last night granted the nurses in training at the local institution an increase in wages. In the future the salaries will be: First year, $6 a month; second year, $8, and third year, $12.

BRAILEY CORN ROAST

A Corn Roast will be held on Wednesday next at Brailey at the Union Sunday School. Music will be provided by The J. M. Greene Co. If you are in for a good time, come along and enjoy yourself.

A VICTROLA IN EVERY HOME.

The easy way in which the prince of talking machines, the Victrola, is obtainable, makes it possible for the sweet persuasive influence of good music to be a part of any home. A Victrola can be purchased for small a sum at $34.00, or something more elaborate for $76.00, or a mahogany cabinet Victrola for $136.00. Why not a Victrola at once. The assortment in the handsome Victrola Parlors of "Ye Olde Firme" of Heintzman & Co., Limited, George and Hunter Streets, gives you an almost endless choice.

ST. ANDREW'S CHURCH NOTICES

The Young Ladies' Mission Band will meet in the guild room on Tuesday evening, at 8 o'clock.

Union mid-week service of St. Andrew's and Trinity in the St. Andrew's Sunday School, Wednesday evening, at 8 o'clock.

Choir practice Thursday evening at 8 o'clock

WEATHER STATISTICS

Ninety degrees in the shade is not common in the month of September, but such was the temperature that we were favored with yesterday. It was one of the hot days of the present year. Last night moreover holds the record for heat for this year. The lowest figure reached last night was 73 degrees. The warmest previous hot night was July 21st. The lowest the thermometer went that night was 70 degrees, so last night was three degrees the warmest of the year.—W P.

MUSIC HALLS CLOSE.

Paris Sept. 8. — Twenty music halls and 350 picture houses in Paris and suburbs closed their doors this afternoon because of failure to reach a complete agreement between the managers and the Federation of Actors and Theatrical Employees.

SOCIAL AND PERSONAL

Cadet Halliday Crane leaves today to resume his course at the Royal Military College, Kingston.

Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Clarkson and baby are in the city the guests of Mr. D. J. Lundy, Aylmer street.

Mr. and Mrs. H. Dearle, Toronto, spent the week-end with Mr. and Mrs. Harry Cressman, Homewood avenue.

Mrs. E. McCabe, 613 Union street, leaves for the West today for a two months' visit with her son, Harold, who has done well there. Besides his homestead he holds the government position of secretary-treasurer of District 342, Alberta.

Mr. Geo Shields, of Stauffer, Alberta, who has been visiting his sisters, Mrs. McIntosh and Mrs. McCabe, leaves for the West today to dispose of his cattle and other interests there. Mr Shields has not visited Peterborough in thirty-five years, and sees many changes in his home town. He has purchased a farm, and intends to return and reside here in the future.

Mr and Mrs Harry McKean, of St. John, N.B., have returned home after visiting Mrs. J. Scott, Maria street, East City.

Mr. and Mrs. Atkinson of Toledo, O., who have been visiting friends in the city, have returned home.

Miss L. Munroe of Toronto was a Peterborough guest over the week-end

Miss M. L. Carey of Toronto is visiting in the city the guest of her sister, Mrs. J. Jordan, Conger street.

Mrs. J. Hall and Miss Hall, who have been visiting with friends in the city, have returned to their home in Ottawa.

Mr. C. H. Wilson of Toronto was in the city yesterday.

Mrs. Wm. Proctor and her two daughters have returned to their home in Detroit after a two weeks' visit with friends in the city.

Mr. and Mrs. Smythe of Port Hope spent the week-end with friends in the city.

Mrs. J. Head has left to spent the winter at Palm Beach, Fla.

Miss G. Reinhart is holidaying at Stoney Lake.

The Misses Stewart of Springfield House, London, England, are visiting in the city the guests of Miss Dunlop, Water street.

RESIGNS OFFICE.

Washington, Sept. 8.—Frederic C. Howe, Immigration Commissioner at the port of New York, announced yesterday that he had sent his resignation to President Wilson. The announcement was made through the Plumb Plan League, with which Mr. Howe will be affiliated as Executive Director of the "Conference on democratic railroad control," which was arranged for a meeting called here in August by the league.

PIANO OF KING GEORGE

The recent visit of the Prince of Wales brings to everyone's thoughts the visit of the present king, His Majesty King George V., when he was Prince of Wales, travelling from one end of the Dominion to the other, an important item in the railway train was the beautiful Duchess Art Upright Piano specially furnished for their Majesties by Ye Olde Firme of Heintzman & Co., Limited, George and Hunter streets, Peterboro. This piano is made in specially selected veneer and is one of the most perfect instruments that has been manufactured during the sixty-five years in business of this Canadian piano firm.

COMBAT HIGH PRICTS.

A movement to combat the high cost of living is being talked over by some of Kingston's active women and it is possible that the crusade may begin under the aegis of the Local Council of Women. Its supporters say "if we can get the support of the Press the end is certain."

NEW REAL ESTATE COMPANY

Ald. Morrison and Bert Allen Opened Offices at 163 Simcoe St.

Ald. Morrison and Bert. Allen have opened a new real estate office at 163 Simcoe street. They are both very well to work up a large business in their new premises. This is not the first time Ald. Morrison has been in the real estate business as he was a member of the C. G. Karl Co., which established a large reputation as a successful company here some years ago.

PALMISTRY.

Madame Alice, famous Scotch palmist at Gollop's Hotel opposite Grand Opera House. Here only for a short time. Hours from 10 a.m. to 10 p.m. All readings $1.00.

RENEWAL MISSION AT ST. PETER'S ATTRACTS BIG CONGREGATIONS

Eloquent Addresses by Rev. Fathers McLaughlin and Claran.

The introductory sermon of the renewal mission of St. Peter's Cathedral which commenced yesterday, was preached by Rev Father McLaughlin of the Redemptorist Order of Toronto. In a few explanatory remarks the speaker pointed out that this renewal which consists of devotional exercises and a series of lectures, is simply a continuation of the mission which took place at the cathedral last year.

Father McLaughlin, who is a speaker of marked eloquence and conviction, held the wrapt attention of the vast congregation that thronged the cathedral for upwards of an hour. This, he went on to say, was a time set apart for special attention to the interests of the immortal soul. It was a time when each and every member of the church should effect a deep and self-revealing scrutiny into the welfare of their spiritual life and make a sincere effort to become better Christians—better men and women.

The Redemptorist Fathers has come here endeavoring to perfect the good work that was carried on last year and asked the people to make the things of the world a secondary issue during the coming days, and to the spirit of prayer and self sacrifice to co-operate with them in their efforts.

The speaker dwelled at length upon the lamentable tendency of human nature to barter the things of eternity for the things of time. How infatuated worldlings becoming enrossed with the fleeting interests of this life will declare either directly or indirectly that they do not want religion—that there no room for it in their lives. Some will scheme and strive for money, for its own sake, others for the things that money will buy. Some worship social prestige — are ready to sacrifice anything for the little smile the world will bestow upon them while the cheek is fair and the brow unrufled. Others again bow down before the throne of earthly pleasure and idolize the little joys of time that are so transient.

He spoke touchingly of the spiritual blindness of all such—of all those creatures, who, without waiting to consider are ready to turn God down for the world. If we would gain the one and the only worth while end of our existence—if we would save our immortal souls we must listen to and act upon the doctorine of self sacrifice. We must fight a never-ceasing battle with the world, continually resist our natural weaknesses as creatures. In a word we must strive to overcome ourselves and then only will we find peace and happiness in this world and the next.

After the evening service, Rev Father Cloran of the Redemptorist Order of Toronto, addressed the Catholic women of Peterborough, the subject of his discourse being "The price of the Soul." The religious exercises for the coming week consisting of benediction and sermon, each evening, with short instructions after the half-past five and eight o'clock masses, each morning, are exclusively for women. The following week being for men.

BOYS ARE RELEASED ON SUSPENDED SENTENCE

Also Made Wards of the Children's Aid Society.

Magistrate Langley's decision in the case of two boys charged a month ago with having purloined parts of a bicycle left by its owner in a thicket in North Monaghan while visiting Leary's farm, is as follows: The boys were let out on suspended sentence, with approval of the Crown Attorney, the father having paid the damages sustained by the bicycle, and expenses. In view of the other offence in connection with the tie on the railway track, with which the boys had been charged before Acting Magistrates Rush and Eastwood a few days ago, the magistrate could not see his way to allow the boys to go on suspended sentence unless the parents formally made them wards of the Children's Aid Society. This was done, so that if the boys misbehave or give any trouble in the future the C. A. S. have the power to step in and place them in foster homes.

The magistrate's words addressed to the boys in disposing of the matter showed his thorough knowledge of child psychology.

OBITUARY

PERCY B. PAMMETT.

The death occurred yesterday of Percy B. Pammett, 271 McDonnel street. Deceased was thirty years of age, and leaves a wife and one child, nine years old. He is mourned also by his mother and father, and four brothers, Robert, James, Malcolm and Norman, all of this city.

Mr. Pammett has been for the past two years engineer at the firehall and was always very popular with his fellow firemen and efficient in his work. The firehall has been draped in purple and black in commemoration of their departed comrade.

Deceased was a member of Clementi Lodge No 313, A. F. & A. M., Lakefield, which will conduct the funeral from his former residence to Ray's cemetery at Lakefield at 2:30 Tuesday afternoon.

HAROLD EARNEST SIMMONS

The death occurred yesterday of Harold Earnest, the five-month-old child of Mr. James Simmons, 280 Lansdowne street. The twin brother of this child died Friday last and the sympathy of the many friends is extended to Mr. Simmons and family.

SECY. PARKER OF Y.W.C.A. LEAVES

WILL TAKE YEAR'S COURSE IN NATIONAL TRAINING SCHOOL, N.Y.

Important changes have taken place recently on the staff of the Y. W. C. A. Miss Winnifred Parker, who for the past two years has occupied the position of general secretary, has left to spend a year at the National Training School of the Y. W. C. A. in New York City.

Miss Parker is well known in this city as a leader of girls, and has done much to bring the Association to its present position of usefulness in Peterborough.

Miss Charlotte Layton, who succeeds Miss Parker, was formerly membership secretary of the Montreal Association and more lately in charge of the Activities Building in the north end. Miss Layton comes to Peterborough with a wide experience in Association work, and the Peterborough Y. W. C. A. is fortunate in securing her as general secretary.

Physical Department.

Another change is in the physical department. Miss Littlefield, who during the past four years has been a most popular and successful teacher, has accepted the position as physical directress of the Association in Quebec City, and will be succeeded in the work here by Miss Edith Pryce.

Miss Pryce has recently returned from Chautauqua, N. Y., where she has been taking a summer normal course in physical work.

Campers' Reunion.

On Friday evening, Sept. 12th, a campers' reunion will be held at the Y. W. C. A. All girls who were at the camp at Stoney Lake are invited to come.

The gymnasium classes will commence the last of September. It is hoped that girls intending to take these classes will register as soon as possible.

TWENTY THOUSAND MINERS ON STRIKE

OPPOSE EXCESSIVE PAY DOCKAGE AND USE OF MECHANICAL LOADERS.

(Canadian Press Despatch)

Scranton, Pa., Sept. 8 — Thirty Delaware and Hudson Coal Co. anthracite coal mines in Lackawana and Wyoming valleys, employing twenty thousand men and boys, are to-day closed by a strike in protest against excessive pay dockage, too frequent lay-offs of groups of men for alleged dirty coal, and the use of mechanical loaders.

TWENTY-MILE MARATHON

Camp Dix, N.J., Sept. 6.—Frank Zuna of Newark, formerly of the Irish-American A.C. of New York, won the twenty-mile race from Trenton to Camp Dix in the service men's championship track and field meet here today in two hours 40 minutes and 20 seconds.

Referendum Committee

Attention Voters!

IS YOUR NAME ON THE VOTERS' LIST

Monday, September 8th is the last day on which it is possible to have your name added to the List.

To make sure, call up the Organizer, T. M. Wesley, He will tell you. PHONE Y.M.C.A. 246

ONE HUNDRED AUTOS WANTED FOR VOTING DAY

A. B. Cunningham,

Chairman Ref. Com.

TO KEEP THEIR MEMORY GREEN

MEMORIAL SHIELD FOR SUNDAY SCHOOL WAR HEROES UNVEILED.

Yesterday, St. John's Sunday School opened up the season's work and made history in unveiling the memorial shield for those members who gave their lives in the great war. The unveiling was performed by Mrs. B. T. Cuffe, mother of Trevor Cuffe, whose name appears on the shield. Service was opened by singing hymn 737 "When I'e Cometh." Then the Rev. Canon Davidson gave an address and concluded as follows. "We receive this shield to the glory of God, and in memory of past members of this Sunday School who gave their lives for their country. May they, with all the departed rest in peace. "I heard a voice from heaven saying, 'Blessed are the dead which die in the Lord; even so, saith the spirit, for they rest from their labours." Addresses were also given by Mr. H. Rush for many years a teacher in the smhool, and Mr. R. Devey, the superintendent. The service concluded with the National Anthem.

At the 11 a.m. service as the offertory shield and flag were carried through the congregation to the chancel steps, where it was received by soldiers' sons, Masters Woodgate Batchelor and Long, and finally, by Canon Davidson, chaplain in the C.E.F., who offered dedicatory prayers placing the memorial in front of the altar, where it remained all through the communion service, after which it was placed in its permanent position on the east wall of the Sunday School.

DOGS MUST BE KEPT OFF STREET

Proving a Nuisance by Their Ugly Tempers While at Large.

Dogs running at large have again become a nuisance in the city. Last Saturday afternoon a boy in East City was bitten by a dog and on Sunday morning a citizen returning from church was badly bitten by another dog.

It may seem a hardship for dog owners to be forced to keep their dogs off the streets but it appears to be necessary for the public safety.

93 RD. MEMBERS HOLD PICNIC

FORM ASSOCIATION WITH COL. JOHNSTON AS PRESIDENT.

The former members of the 93rd Overseas Battalion held their first annual picnic at South Beach Saturday. The attendance was not as large as hoped for but everything considered, the picnic proved a success. The 93rd Battalion Association was formed and a committee to look after the annual picnic, battalion funds, etc.

The officers elected were president, Col. Johnston; vice-president, Capt. Marling and George Lockington; secretary-treasurer, Jim Abraham. A committee is being selected with representatives from all outlying districts to look after the business of the association.

The picnicers were taken by the steamer Stoney Lake up the canal to South Beach where an interesting list of races and sporting events were run off. Everyone voted the occasion a success, but determined that the one next year shall discount Saturday's doings in every particular.

A meeting of the committee is called for tonight at the G.W.V.A. rooms to arrange a program for the association.

THE ELECTRIC SHOP

THE HOUSE OF EXCLUSIVE LIGHTING

Visit our Showrooms and you are sure to modernize your home with:—

HANDSOME ELECTRIC FIXTURES
ELECTRIC VACUUM CLEANERS
ELECTRIC STOVES
ELECTRIC WASHING MACHINES

MILLER, POWELL & WATSON

Get our Prices on your Electric Wiring

NEW ELECTRICAL FIRM

Mr. F. Alexander, having retired from the firm of Alexander & Miller, Electrical Contractors, necessitates a change in this well-known firm's name. Mr. J. H. Miller, junior member of the old firm, who so successfully conducted the interests of this firm for the past eighteen years, remains with the business and will have associated with him in partnership Mr. G. R. Powell and Mr. G. H. Watson, both expert electricians, having been connected with the firm of Messrs. Alexander & Miller for many years, and who will take an active part with Mr. Miller in conducting the business of this reliable firm.

Strict personal service will be given to every contract and the reliable work executed by the old firm for so many years will be maintained and the users of electricity are assured of unequaled service by the varied and extensive experience of these three experts. The store in the future will be known as "The Electric Shop," and the firm, Miller, Powell & Watson.

When in need of a good line of talk, patronize a telephone company.

And the green grocer is in a position to acquire a lot of ripe experience.

GARDEN - FETE -

Will be held at the home of Mr and Mrs. B. T. Cuffe, 32 Benson street, on

FRIDAY EVENING, SEPT. 12

in aid of the Serbian children. There will be different booths on the grounds for the sale of cakes, candy, ice cream, etc. The home will be open for dancing and a short program will be given.

SILVER COLLECTION.

NOTICE

To the Electors of the City of Peterborough:

The Voters' Registration Board for the County of Peterborough has extended the time for the receiving of appeals from the enumerators from the 8th day of September, 1919, to Thursday, the eleventh day of September, 1919. Appeals must be in the hands of the Revising Officers' Clerks by said last mentioned day.

Dated 8th September, 1919.

W. F. JOHNSTON,
Clerk of the Board.

PURE SPICES

CURRIE POWDER
TUMERIC
CLOVES
MACE
WHOLE PICKLING SPICE
MUSTARD
GINGER
GARLIC
ALLSPICE, ETC.

CORKS

All size, best quality, lowest prices.

CANNING WAX
PAROWAX
PARKE'S PICKLE MIXTURE
PARKE'S CATSUP FLAVOR

Everything for the Canning or Pickling Season.

—AT—

Warne's Drug Store

351 George Street.

PHONE 527

Stoney Lake Navigation Company

Steamers leave Lakefield for the Lakes on arrival of morning and noon trains.

Steamers leave the Lake to connect with 9.30 a.m. (morning) and 4.40 p.m. (afternoon) trains for Peterborough.

G. T. R. trains leave Peterborough at 8.30 a.m., 12.15 noon

For excursion rates, information, etc., phone 548, or write

F. G. YOUNG,
Gen. Manager.
497 King St.

BEULAH E. GALT, A.T.C.M.

Teacher of Piano. Rudiments, Harmony, Counterpoint, Form and History. Pupils prepared for standard examinations. For terms call 990r24.

Moderate northerly winds, cooler; showers in some localities Wednesday, moderate northerly winds, mostly cloudy and cool

The Daily Review

8 PAGES

40th YEAR No. 57 Peterborough's Oldest Newspaper. PETERBOROUGH, ONTARIO, TUESDAY, SEPTEMBER 9, 1919. Price Two Cents per copy

RUMANIA FLATLY REFUSES TO SIGN PEACE PACT WITH AUSTRIA

Firmly Insists on Reservations in Connection With Rights of Minorities in Detached Territories

Paris, Sept. —The Roumanian delegation to the Peace Conference announced today that it would not sign the Austrian peace treaty which Austria and various other powers are to sign at 10 o'clock tomorrow morning.

Attitude Expected.

Before this Roumanian announcement was made it had been indicated by members of the Supreme Council that Roumania was expected to take this course because of the Council's flat refusal to grant her the privilege of making reservations in connection with rights of minorities in territories detached from the former Austran Empire as provided for in the peace treaty.

Jugo-Slavs, Too.

It is also considered as improbable that the Jugo-Slav delegation will sign the treaty. It will be granted several days' delay, however, to communicate with its home government.

The Jugo-Slav objections are similar to those of Roumania.

GERMANY MUST COMPLY

Peace Conference to Again Demand Suspension of Article 61.

(Canadian Press Despatch)

Paris, Sept. 9.—The Supreme Council of the Peace Conference will today draft a note to be sent to Germany demanding suppression of article 61 of the German constitution providing for Austrian representation in the German Parliament, according to the newspapers here.

It is said that the Council considers the German answer to the council's note relative to article 61 as insufficient.

COLUMBUS CAR STRIKE ENDS

Agreement is Reached and Service Will Be Resumed at Once.

Columbus, O., Sept. 9.—An agreement has been reached between the striking street car motormen and conductors and the Columbus Rail-Light company, and announcement is made that the car service, which was stopped by the strike for four days, would be resumed immediately.

CARDINAL ARRIVES TODAY

(Canadian Press Despatch)

New York, Sept 9.—Cardinal Mercier, Primate of Belgium, will reach New York late today on board the naval transport Northern Pacific.

Mrs. Lucinda Cook, ngersoll's oldest resident, died at the age of 98, as the result of a fall.

GEORGE MULLIN STOCK SHIPPER

APPOINTED AT MEETING OF FARMERS' CLUB LAST NIGHT TO ACT IN THIS CAPACITY FOR PETERBOROUGH.

After a lively discussion at the Farmers' Club meeting last night Mr. George Mullin was appointed live stock shipper. Mr Reid had been doing the shipping of cattle for the club but some members were displeased with his work during the summer months and at the last regular meeting his resignation was asked for. President R. B. Rogers considered this appointment a matter for the directors to deal with, but a motion to this effect was defeated.

The president was of the opinion that the best way to get the shipping done in a businesslike way was for the clubs in the county to get together and appoint a shipper for the country. This man would be forced to spend his whole time on the job. This proposal did not meet with the approval of the meeting, however, as the majority seemed to think, one man could not handle the whole country.

In spite of the protests of the president that they were out of order the club went ahead to appoint a live stock shipper. Quite a number were nominated but withdrew, many stating they would not take the job on a bet. Mr. George Mullin was finally appointed by acclamation.

An attempt was made to appoint a committee to draw up rules and regulations for the live-stock shipper to work from but the members nominated all refused to act and this matter was left over.

WILL SIGN PEACE TREATY TOMORROW

DR. KARL RENNER, AUSTRIAN CHANCELLOR, REACHES PARIS.

(Canadian Press Despatch)

Paris, Sept. 9.—Dr. Karl Renner, Austrian Chancellor, and head of the Austrian peace delegation, who is to sign the peace treaty tomorrow for his nation, arrived in Paris from Vienna this morning.

SOVIETS CLAIM CAPTURE OF CITY

SAY BOLSHEVIKI OCCUPY PETROPAVLOVSK, WEST OF OMSK.

(Canadian Press Despatch)

London, Sept. 9.—The occupation of Petropavlovsk, about 175 miles west of Omsk, by Bolshevik forces is claimed in a Russian Soviet official statement received today.

FARMERS' CANDIDATE McDONNELL URGES UNION OF LABOR AND FARM INTERESTS

Suggests Convention of Farmers and Trades and Labor Council to Agree on West Peterborough Candidate to Contest Provincial Election, Producers and Consumers Have Grievances in Common, He Declares and Should Put Up Non-Grit-Tory Fight.

Mr E. McDonnell, Provincial Farmers' candidate for East Peterborough, addressed the Peterborough branch of the U.F.O. last night and explained why he was in the fight, and what he is out for.

Mr. McDonnell stated in opening his address that he was not running for any political motives, but simply because he had the principles of the endeavor and of stock-shipping, marketing, etc., were but side issues of the U.F.O. and the chief object was to bring the farmers together socially. He thought that that was what the originators of this movement had in mind when the organization first started.

Why in the Field?

Why are the farmers in the political field? Because they are tired of the old party system, of promises made before elections and broken after elections. It was time that farmers, the backbone of the country as they have so often been called, should step into the political fight to gain their rights.

In some other constituencies farmers have run and in the fact of the strongest kind of opposition in campaigns in which Cabinet Ministers took part, have been returned the successful candidate and in every instance when elected have lived up to their promises and have played the part of sincere men. The farmers of East Peterborough, following their example, have entered the political field, and are determined to fight till the last ballot is cast.

Mr. McDonnell stated that it would be impossible to get a more representative convention than that held in Norwood at which he received the nomination. Three candidates were nominated, none of them expected the nomination, and all were ready to stand for the farmers or were equally ready to do their part in the election of the successful candidate should they be defeated. Mr. McDonnell had the honor of being selected by that convention, and within the last few days both defeated candidates had informed him that they were with him to the end.

Object of His Visit.

The speaker went on to state that the chief object of his visit to Peterborough was to make an endeavor to link up farmers with the Trades and Labor Council of West Peterborough to nominate a candidate. He felt that both producers and consumers had grievances in common and the correct way of righting these would be to unite and elect a candidate to represent both.

Fight to Bitter End.

To the electors of East Peterborough Mr. McDonnell stated they were in the fight to the bitter end, and although they had a hard man, an experienced politician ,to beat, they were going to leave nothing undone that would ensure a victory.

Neither Grit Nor Tory.

Mr. McDonnell in closing stated that he was neither Grit nor Tory, but purely independent farmer. He pleaded with the farmers to fight hard in the impending election. "But for God's sake, keep it clean, even if we lose."

Mr. Parliament, a member of the local Trades and Labor Council, was present, and spoke, although he was not there as an elected representative of Trades and Labor. In his own personal opinion he was in favor of a convention with farmers to select a candidate for West Peterborough, but he could not speak for hi Council. The Trades and Labor Council was not a political institution he explained. In it were Grits and Tories, and as yet no political discussion had been engaged in. He hoped to see the farmers and laborers united in the political arena.

WIRE FLASHES

Tornto, Sept. 9.—Veterans in Toronto held two big demonstrations last night and decided to press their claims for $2000 gratuity at Ottawa and throughout the Dominion.

Toronto, Sept. 9.—Premier Hearst announced last night that the vote on the Ontario referendum will be taken October 20.

Detroit, Sept. 9.—Bandits held up a bank at Erie, Mich., yesterday afternoon and secured $6000.

London, Sept. 9.—It is officially announced that British troops are evacuating the Archangel district.

Scranton, Pa., Sept. 9.—One of the bigest tie-ups in the coal fields is expected to follow the strike of 18,000 miners yesterday.

Berlin, Sept. 9.—Four hundred thousand workers have volunteered for work on reconstruction in Northern France.

Columbus

BOLSHEVIKI ASK PEACE

Would Bury Hatchet and Shake Hands With Lithuanians.

(Canadian Press Despatch)

Paris, Sept 9.—The Russian Bolsheviki have proposed peace to the Lithuanians, according to reports from Polish sources.

HUGE G.W.V.A. DEMONSTRATION DEMANDS INCREASED ANNUITY

Mr. Lyon of the Globe Defends His Opposition—Meeting Resolves for $2,000

Toronto, Sept. 9.—Not since the armistice has such intense feeling been shown by returned soldiers and their relatives as has been occasioned by the refusal of Sir Robert Borden to accede to the request of the Great War Veterans' Association of Canada for the appointment of a Royal Commission to enquire into the whole question of increased war service gratuities. In Columbus Hall, last night several hundred members of the Central Branch of the Great War Veterans' Branch of the Great War Veterans' Association assembled to hear the report of their representative on the Dominion executive, Dr. C. E. Wilson, who is also one of the members who placed the petition before the Prime Minister. At this meeting the whole scope of the negotiations was dealt with while the correspondence which has passed between the Prime Minister and the association was tabled. The meeting unanimously refused to accept as final, the decision of Sir Robert and will send their representative back to Ottawa to carry on the fight.

While this meeting was in progress a huge demonstration under the auspices of the newly formed Returned Soldiers' War Service Gratuities' Association was held in Queen's Park, where the arguments of the men were voiced and the opinion of the editor of the Globe, which had published an editorial against the extension of gratuities, was heard. After the meeting the men paraded the downtown section of the city. At the same time the executives of the Parkdale Branch of the G.W.V.A., and of the central body of the Grand Army of Canada, held sessions and passed resolutions endorsing the action of the Dominion Executive Association in seeking the appointment of the commission.

Cases Presented.

President Dr C. E. Wilson of the Toronto branch of the G.W.V.A. presented the case for the association and Editor Stewart Lyon of the Globe defended his editorial in opposition to the proposed increased annuity on the ground of it proving too much of a financial burden for the country to assume.

G.A. of C. Resolution.

At the meeting's conclusion the Dominion Executive of the Grand Army of Canada resolved that:

"We are in favor of the $2,000 gratuity to men who have seen service in any theatre of war, and that all men who have served in England be granted a gratuity of $1,500, and that all men who have served in the C.E.F., R.A.F., Canada, or any other unattached unit in Canada only, be served in uniform drawing pay and allowances be allowed a maximum gratuity of $1,000. The said gratuity for service in Canada should be on a graduated scale.

"Further, that all Imperial soldiers, sailors or airmen who were legitimate residents of Canada at the outbreak of hostilities be granted gratuities on the same scale as paid to men of the Canadian forces. Furthermore that no man be eligible to draw gratuity unless he has served six months in either army, navy or air force, except where he has become a casualty and is recognized as such on his records.

"Further, that any sole dependent of a soldier, sailor or airman be granted the same amount of gratuity as the soldier, sailor or airmen would have been entitled to had he been spared to return to Canada.

"Be it further resolved that a Royal Commission be appointed to investigate war profiteering, and to recover such monies as have strayed from the Treasury and in this way raise funds to pay the above mentioned increased gratuities. We are convinced that enough money can be recovered to more than pay the increased gratuities above referred to."

Kitchener Post No. 1, G.A. of C. supplemented the above resolution by declaring that the Government should confiscate the nickel mines of Canada and use the profits gained in their operation for the purposes of paying the proposed gratuity.

MOB RIOTING AT FERMOY NEAR CORK

FIFTY STORES DAMAGED—LOSS ESTIMATED AT THOUSANDS.

(Canadian Press Despatch)

London, Sept. 9 Fermoy, 1 ...les northeast of Cork, was terrorized by a mob for an hour last evening, according to an exchange telegraph company.

Fifty shops were damaged, one jewelry store being completely demolished. The loss estimated at several thousand pounds.

A firm in Saxony is seeking to obtain Canadian trade by writing to an Owen Sound music dealer.

MACAULAY SWEARS NOVITIATE LIST OF MEMBERS WAS REMOVED

Dramatic Story Told at Enquiry in Ottawa Today Major Hirsch Describes His Visit.

(Canadian Press Despatch)

Ottawa, Sept. 9. — Evidence of Major Hirsch was completed, and Capt. MacAuley told the story of his visit to the Jesuit Novitiate at this morning's session of the novitiate inquiry. These two witnesses took up the entire morning session.

Fate of Letters.

Major Hirsch's evidence had largely to do with the fate of letters mentioned on Monday afternoon as having been taken from his private files in London, and there were several sharp tilts between opposing counsel as witness refused to positively identify letters produced as those which had been in his possession and which conveyed to him his authority for proceeding against the novitiate.

The List Disappeared.

Capt. MacAuley told rather a dramatic story of his visit to the novitiate, detailing at length the elaborate precautions taken to prevent the people of Guelph from gaining knowledge that anything out of the ordinary was afoot. An interesting point was reached when he swore that hanging in the hall of the novitiate he saw a typewritten list of members of the institution, but that next morning that list was gone from its accustomed place. Shown a list by Mr. Geoffrion, who declared it was the list referred to, Capt. MacAuley swore that such list was not the one he had seen.

U.F.O. CO-OPERATIVE STORE FOR THIS CITY

PRES. R. B. ROGERS OF LOCAL FARMERS' CLUB SPEAKS GLOWINGLY OF FUTURE OF COMPANY—180 SHARES SUBSCRIBED.

In speaking of the proposed Farmers' Co-operative Store, President R. B. Rogers announced at the Farmers' Club meeting last night that already 180 shares had been subscribed. He stated that 300 at the least and preferably 400 should be subscribed before the head office would open up business here.

The president thought that a co-operative store and warehouse in this city would be a centre of the club's interests. These stores could not be based on a sounder basis than the U.F.O. Co-operative Company affords. The U.F.O. have opened up stores in many different towns with wonderful success. The members could rest assured, Mr. Rogers went on to state, that this store would receive the best possible management. A manager would be sent from head office to break the club into this business undertaking and he would probably be Mr. Loblaw, of Toronto.

Mr. Loblaw started with a single store but his business grew to such an extent that he opened up seven stores, which allowed him to buy direct from the manufacturer and cut out the 20 per cent. profit of the wholesaler. The U.F.O. can compete successfully with independent merchants on account of their tremendous business scope. Before long the Eaton and Simpson companies will not be in it with the U.F.O. Co-operative Companies, in the opinion of the speaker.

These stores work on a complete business basis, everyone's work being carefully checked by supervisors, and all are responsible to the general manager of the company.

Stores did $1,500,000 worth of business, and this year preparations are being made for a $6,000,000 turnover.

The president here went on with an appeal to the club members to have confidence in themselves and subscribe the stock necessary to start business here. They had only to subscribe half the necessary stock, when the central organization would supply the rest of the necessary funds. Some members were in Cobourg recently and saw in that comparatively small town a U.F.O. store doing a very large business. He was very anxious to see Peterborough commence its co-operative store immediately, and urged the members to subscribe shares at the earliest possible date.

A few shares were added last night to the stock of the new branch.

The Prince of Wales launched the "Canadian Adventurer" at Port Arthur.

Sir Arthur Currie opened the Western Fair and addressed the London Canadian Club.

BOY KNOCKED OFF WHEEL BY AUTO WHICH DID NOT STOP

Horace Blake's Bicycle Damaged in Collision With Motor Car.

Horace Blake, 639 Chamberlain street, was knocked off his bicycle yesterday at the corner of Charlotte and Park street. Horace was cycling west on Charlotte street when an automobile driven, it is alleged, by Mrs. John Crowe, of Mt. Pleasant, as the number corresponds to the license of John Crowe, which was proceeding north on Park street, knocked him off his wheel and damaged it considerably. He called to the driver to stop, but she drove right on, ignoring his calls for assistance.

THOUSANDS GREET THE PRINCE AT WINNIPEG

(Canadian Press Despatch)

Winnipeg, Sept. 9.—A large and enthusiastic crowd greeted the Prince of Wales when he arrived in Winnipeg at 10 a.m. on his special train.

A civic holiday had been proclaimed, and the streets, which were gay with bunting, were thronged with people.

DATE OF PROHIBITION REFERENDUM DEFINITELY FIXED FOR OCTOBER 20TH

No Decision Yet Regarding Provincial Election—Voters' Lists Responsible For Delays, Says Premier Hearst—Authorities Look For All Lists Being Completed by End of Month—Opinion Divided as to Voting on Referendum and for Legislature Same Day

Toronto, Sept. 9.—Monday, October 20, is the date on which Ontario electors will vote on the prohibition referendum. Official announcement to this effect was made by Sir William Hearst's office yesterday afternoon. There was no mention of the date of the Provincial election in the statement, and it was stated by the Prime Minister's office that the Government had not considered when it would go to the people.

Voters' Lists Delayed.

"There have been some unexpected delays in the preparation of the voters' lists," read the statement issued by Sir William, "but the work has progressed sufficiently to enable the Government to fix the date for the vote on the referendum. Voting on this act will take place on Monday, the 20th of October."

The Cabinet Council has held several long sessions during the past week, and yesterday's announcement was made after a two hours' meeting. While the Prime Minister's office had nothing to say about the election, it is understood the matter was not lost sight of in the fixing of the referendum date. Whether or not it will be held the same day as the vote is taken on the referendum has not been definitely settled.

The Cabinet members have been swaying back and forth on this phase of the question, at one time favoring the double vote on one day, and again leaning toward the idea of having the election six weeks or two months later.

Completed This Month.

It is confidently expected that by the end of this month all the voters' lists will be complete, according to the Chief Election Clerk, Mr Allan Drymond. He stated yesterday that to Bruce County, comprising the three ridings, fell the honor of first notifying his office that the lists had been filed with the Clerk of the Peace there. Since then other ridings have sent him similar notification. From now on it is expected each day will find similar notifications being received.

TRADES UNION CONGRESS FOR DIRECT ACTION ON FIRST VOTE

OTTAWA FLOODED WITH DEMANDS OF VETERANS

Ottawa, Sept. 9—The G. W. V. A. demand for increased bonus was much in evidence in the House of Commons today. A letter from Secretary C. G. to every member of Parliament Association for the appointment of a representative tribunal to investigate the claims of the Veterans to increased bonus thoroughly and impartially and report to the Government, the returned soldiers agreeing to abide by the findings of the tribunal. In addition there was one or more to ... nearly every constituency, each for its special ... pages with arms filled with letters and telegrams were circulated through the corridors and the Commons Chambers during most of the afternoon and evening, attempting to deliver the flood of messages.

Parliamentary Committee Did Not Express Opinion On the Subject.

(Canadian Press Despatch)

Glasgow, Sept. . — Supporters of direct action for the enforcement of Labor's demands won a victory on the first vote relating to this subject which was taken by the trades union congress here at today's session.

Report Sent Back.

The parliamentary committee's report was referred back to it because it did not express an opinion on direct action, the vote being 3,526,000 for the motion to refer back and 1,870,000 against.

The motion to refer the report back to the committee was made by Robert Smillie, the miners' leader.

This vote is regarded as tantamount to a vote of censure of the committee.

THE DAILY REVIEW

ESTABLISHED 1879.
MEMBER OF THE CANADIAN PRESS, LIMITED.
THE DAILY REVIEW is published every afternoon at 4 o'clock (Holidays and Sundays excepted) by The Peterborough Review Company, Limited, 166-168 Hunter Street.
SUBSCRIPTION PRICE, $3.00 per year by mail to any part of Canada or Great Britain; $4.00 per year delivered to any part of the city.

THE WEEKLY REVIEW, established 1852, is published every Thursday morning at 10 o'clock. Subscription price $1.50 per year to any part of Canada or Great Britain or $2.00 a year to the United States.
U. S. Representative—Robert E. Douglas, Chicago.
BOARD OF DIRECTORS:
A. H. STRATTON, President and General Manager; E. A. PECK, ex-M.L.A., T. F. MATTHEWS and JAMES LYNCH
TELEPHONES:
Business Dept. ... 159 Editorial ... 435
Mr. Stratton's Residence ... 221

"FOR A GREATER PETERBOROUGH."

TUESDAY, SEPTEMBER 9, 1919.

U. S. VS. PEACE TREATY.

PRESIDENT WILSON, in his speeches on the peace treaty and the League of Nations covenant, is not really arguing his side of the case, says the Chicago Daily News. He is not "debating" the questions that have been raised in the Federal Senate and elsewhere, as he frankly admits. He is not even meeting in any direct, searching way the principal objections that have been advanced by critics of the covenant in its present form. He is merely expounding the treaty, giving his auditors his own interpretations of its provisions and denying that there is any basis for the doubts and apprehensions expressed in so many quarters.

President continues to insist that the treaty ought to be ratified just as it stands, without the slightest change or reservation. He appeals to the public for vigorous support of his personal view, and for unmistakable opposition to the reservation program of the majority of the Senate foreign relations committee. On the other hand, that committee, despite the President's rhetorical assertions to the contrary, insists on definite reservations.

The committee has completed its work and will shortly report its conclusions to the Senate. Only four reservations are advocated. They provide for the unconditional right of withdrawal from the League; for explicit limitation of the obligations sought to be imposed in such a way that Congress would always have the unquestioned right and opportunity to use its judgment concerning the recommendations of the executive council of the League; full freedom to determine what questions are domestic and therefore not within the jurisdiction of the League, and finally, unequivocal exclusion of the Monroe Doctrine, and of its definition, from the scope of the League's activities or recommendations.

The action of the committee was taken opportunely on the first day of the President's tour. The issue is now joined. The program of reservations is reasonable and does not endanger the covenant or the project of the League of Nations which Mr. Wilson so eloquently champions. It is not inconsonant with any principle laid down in the covenant. To adopt this program and insist upon its acceptance by three of the four other great powers is not to destroy the League or even to threaten serious controversy and consequent delay in setting up the great instrumentality of peace and conciliation. The powers are anxious to have America in the League and they cannot and presumably will not object to reservations made in good faith and solely for the purpose of more adequately safeguarding the independence and sovereignty of the United States.

It is to be borne in mind that the President has not found anything intrinsically objectionable in the proposed reservations. His contention is that they are unnecessary, but on that point the Senate majority seems likely to adhere to the view of the majority of the foreign relations committee. The President's interpretations cannot rule the League now and for all time. The majority of peace-loving Americans, after giving the chief executive an attentive and respectful hearing, probably will conclude that the proposed reservations are highly desirable and that the President's persistent opposition to them is merely evidence of pride of opinion.

The American people are in favor of the treaty and the League. They will condemn obstructionist tactics on either side, but they will certainly support proper and necessary reservations in the interest of national sovereignty and national safety.

BOLSHEVISM AND ECONOMICS.

AN IMPARTIAL book on bolshevism is a great rarity. In all the flood of essays, diaries, compilations, and other publications, which have come from the publishing houses of Europe during the past few months dealing with the condition of Russia since the Bolshevik Revolution, it would be difficult to find more than three or four really deserving the title "unbiased." The element of propaganda, in both bolshevism and counter-bolshevism, is the reason for this. The Bolsheviks, in their accounts, wish to produce a favorable effect; their opponents wish to neutralize that effect. Hence a certain amount of exaggeration on both sides. Or again, since one's acceptance or non-acceptance of bolshevism depends to a considerable extent on one's intellectual attitude to its dotrines, there are few books on Russian conditions, even by eye-witnesses, which can be regarded as entirely detached from the author's personal views—leaving aside the books written after specially conducted tours, of which we have recently had an interesting example. For a variety of reasons it would appear almost impossible to attain complete objectivity on the question of Russian conditions under the Bolsheviks.

There are, nevertheless, few questions on which it is urgently necessary to secure an impartial, detached view as this, for the sake of present, practical politics no less than for the guidance of future historians. That is why a welcome should be given to such books as "Economic Conditions Under Bolshevism," by Dr. Kaplun-Kogan, of the Osteuropa Institute at Breslau. At first it might be thought that his method, which is to allow Russian documents to speak for themselves, suffered from the same drawbacks as have been indicated in regard to the vast majority of books concerning Russian affairs. For so many of the "documents" have a propaganda motive, are plainly tendentious. Nothing would be more easy than to put together a number of extracts from Russian newspapers and official statements and give a wholly inaccurate picture of Bolshevik Russia. If the method of compiling documents is to be followed it is above all things necessary that they should be selected with the utmost care and discrimination. Dr. Kaplun-Kogan shows that he possesses these qualities. He has taken the four principal Russian newspapers, two of them bolshevik official, two anti-bolshevik, and has translated into German a selected number of extracts from both with the object of presenting as complete and accurate a picture of Russian economic conditions as possible. It may be noted, first, that nearly all the paragraphs, whether from bolshevik or anti-bolshevik sources, give the impression of having been intended for purely domestic consumption, and therefore of being free from the fatal element of propaganda; second, that the non-bolshevik news items had in any case to make their appearance under the eye of the bolshevik censor.

A number of extraordinarily interesting documents are given—speeches by Lenin and other bolshevik leaders, textual reproductions of bolshevik decrees on finance, agriculture, taxation, transport, unemployment, and as, under these various headings, the translated extracts are arranged in chronological order, it will be seen how conveniently one may trace the course of events in the economic sphere and the development of conditions. We begin with the exact text of the famous "Declaration of the Rights of the laboring and exploited people," in which the issue between the Constituent Assembly and the Bolsheviks was first completely stated. Then follows a verbatim report of one of Lenin's most important speeches, delivered in May 1918, the speech in which he called for a "discipline of labor," dispelling the illusion that the end of capitalism meant the end of hard work. The Bolshevik methods, however, and still more the Bolshevik propaganda, must have fostered the illusion, as shortly before we find the non-Bolshevik "Nashe Slovo" asserting that Russia "had no industry, no wages, no organisation of labor, and no discipline." There are numerous documents illustrative of the way in which the Bolshevik authorities attempted to alter this state of affairs and the decrees, with their sections and sub-sections, appear to outdo in etatisme the conditions of Great Britain under the Munitions of War Acts. But enormously increased unemployment appears to have been the only fruit of all official exertions—how enormous, in Petrograd at least, only a reference to the absolutely reliable statistics given by Dr. Kaplun-Kogan from Russian sources will show.

The numerous documents on labor conditions are followed by a large number of extracts from the four papers named on trade under the Bolsheviks. The various nationalization decrees are given and a further mass of statistics proves what a tremendous decline in production these had as a consequence. The man responsible, Larin, appears to have had a scheme on paper and to have secured its putting into practice at whatever cost. The results, described here with absolute fidelity, are what might have been imagined. For a time, to give one example, mining throughout the entire mining district of the Urals came to a complete standstill, and the statistics of unemployment and cessation of work as quoted from the Bolshevik Pravda have an eloquence which needs no emphasis.

Not all the extracts, of course, give quite so unfavorable a view. Some of the Bolshevik lawmakers produced decrees which on paper seem irreproachable. But then these, as extracts a little further demonstrate, were in the main completely unworkable. They suffered shipwreck on the passive resistance of those citizens affected or were ruined by the prevailing spirit of indiscipline without measure. It seems that further volumes by Dr. Kaplun-Kogan are in the course of preparation, bringing his disjointed but impartial and dispassionate narrative up to date. His work will be of the utmost value to all historic and economic students for whom the Russian originals are unobtainable.

OPINIONS OF OTHER EDITORS.

CITY VS. COUNTRY.

(National Gazette.)

The bill just introduced in the Parliament of the United Kingdom ordaining that eight hours a day or forty-eight hours a week shall be the standard for wage workers, it is provided, shall not apply to men engaged in agriculture. It may be well for the country to make such an exception, but the thing is not just. The farm worker needs time to recuperate and improve his mind just as much as does the mill operative. The bill is in this regard, a piece of class legislation, and will operate to draw men from the country to the town, which is not itself an altogether good thing.

FOCH'S GOOD-BYE TO PERSHING.

(New York Sun.)

Of all the honors which General Pershing has received in Europe, perhaps the one he will most treasure is the compliment paid to him by Marshal Foch in going aboard the Leviathan to say farewell. If there has lingered in any minds the old rumor of disagreement between the Generalissimo and the American commander it must be dispelled by the Frenchman's gracious act and the fine sentiment of his parting words. What Foch said was, too, more than an address to Pershing. It was a message to those Americans whose sons and brothers will never return from the war; an assurance that France will not forget their deeds or their graves.

A MERE FALLACY.

(Pittsburg Chronicle-Telegraph.)

Henry P. Davison was talking about the numerous correspondence courses in five lessons, each lesson is to be mastered in one evening over the after-dinner cigar which may teach a man how to become a Napoleon of finance.

"You can't learn to be a Napoleon of finance or anything else so easily," he said. "These courses remind me of the man who brought his son to the school of mines and growled:

"'I want you to learn this here boy to be an expert minin' engineer, but look-a-here—I don't want him to waste his time over a lot of book nonsense about strata and dips and upheavals and denudations, and don't bother him with mineralogy and crystals, neither. What I want him to learn is how to find gold and silver and copper in payin' quantities—payin' quantities, mind you—and I'll call for him and put him to work Monday a week.'"

CO-OPERATIVE PRODUCTION.

(New York Nation.)

A peasant with half an acre of land in Denmark can market a dozen eggs, a few pounds of butter, or his bacon in London through a co-operative agency, which he, with other peasants, owns, without a penny of profit to any middleman. A ranchman in the heart of Australia can drive his cattle to the nearest railway station, deliver them to the station agent of the Satte railway, and they will be slaughtered, refrigerated and stored in the public abattoir, and ultimately sold in London for him by the government. Why should carloads of food be destroyed in our cities, as they are said to have been lately, in order to keep up prices, when people were lacking food? Why are apples brought three thousand miles from Oregon to New York while apples grown in this State are permitted to rot on the ground? Why should farmers receive from six to ten cents a quart for milk while the consumer ten miles away pays from sixteen to twenty cents?

How Italy Dealt With Profiteers

HOW Italy brought her food profiteers to time is related by Philip R. MacKenzie, special correspondent in Rome of the New York Tribune. From the Alps to Sicily, in every city, town and village during the last few weeks the people of Italy have been up in arms waging war against the high cost of living, he writes. Mob law, as was to be expected, triumphed, and to-day the high prices of food have been reduced by half everywhere. Nothing short of a revolution could have remedied the high cost of living in this country, where meat was sold at $2 a pound, a chicken cost $4, fruit and vegetables over 50 cents a pound, eggs from 20 to 10 cents each, and everything else was proportionately dear. Rationing proved a failure, food control merely served to increase prices, and the numerous laws passed to regulate distribution were invariably evaded. The only remedy adopted to improve conditions consisted in increasing wages and salaries, and as a result labor is as dear in Italy as it is in America, while practically the entire revenue of the state is spent on salaries, allowances and pensions accorded to Government employes. This remedy proved successful for only a comparatively short time. As prices continued to rise and food shortage naturally became more acute owing to an increased demand, in practice the remedy proved only a vicious circle, and the people rose in rebellion and imposed their will with violence.

The agitation started at Imola, where the people who went to market in the morning, exasperated at the high prices asked for the so-called prime necessaries of life, lost their patience, helped themselves to what they wanted and threatened to resort to violence against the profiteers. As was to be expected, there was a great deal of excitement, which spread like wildfire. Work was stopped everywhere. A strike of protest against the high cost of living was proclaimed by the labor organizations and the men came out and started looting. Next day prices were reduced by half. Other cities, Bologna, Ancona and Florence, followed the example set by Imola. When the local authorities lost their heads and displayed weakness, the people, besides looting the shops and markets with a certain amount of discrimination, assumed a threatening attitude and resorted to rioting. Wholesale looting followed, with acts of vandalism, violence and armed resistance to the police, and troops were summoned to keep order.

The rioting lasted three days at Florence. When it subsided there it started at Genoa, Turin, Naples and Southern Italy, especially at Taranto, where machine-guns had to be used, as the people attempted to burn down public buildings in Sicily. In small out-of-the-way places republics and soviets were proclaimed. It was decided that, as a provisional measure, a general reduction of all actual sales prices by 50 per cent. should go immediately into effect, the reduction applying to restaurant prices as well. The prices will be fixed definitely by a mixed committee, whose jurisdiction will be extended not only to foodstuffs, but also to all other important necessaries. This committee is to be constituted as a sort of tribunal of arbitration. There will be no appeal from its decisions.

The most interesting feature of this committee was its composition: "The committee consists of six representatives of the working classes designated by the two Chambers of Labor, four citizens representing the other classes, and the mayor of Rome. The citizen representatives must not be merchants or storekeepers." The reduction of prices was to be put into effect and supervised by vigilance committees, one for each district of Rome. These committees were to be composed of the two aldermen of the district, one representative of the city administration, one expert and one representative of the Chamber of Labor.

A detachment of police was assigned to each committee to carry out its orders immediately. The 50 per cent. price cut was announced in a proclamation issued by the Prefect of Rome. The proclamation emphasized that on the price-fixing commission the merchants were not to be represented. It was stated that the reduction applied not only to foodstuffs, but to clothing and footwear as well.

Fire In Airships.

Although Gen. Seely, the Under-Secretary of the Air Ministry, assures us that it is now safer to travel in the air than by sea, the average person regards the danger of fire as one of the greatest drawbacks to travel by airship.

Not only is the hydrogen gas with which airship envelopes are filled extremely inflammable, but it forms a highly explosive substance when mixed with even a large proportion of air.

It is proposed, however, to use a substitute for hydrogen—known as helium — which will make airships fireproof and reduce dangers of explosion to an absolute minimum.

Helium is not a new discovery. Sir Norman Lockyer told us all about it 50 years ago; but hitherto it has been far too costly to use for airships. Until recently it could only be produced at a cost of £300 to £1,000 per cubic foot, and as hundreds of thousands of cubic feet are required for a large airship it will be readily understood that an army of millionaires would have been required to defray the cost of a squadron of helium gas-bags.

Certain discoveries have now been made, however, in connection with the natural gases of Kansas and Texas which have been utilized with such success that it is hoped, within a very short time, to produce helium at a cost of about ten cents a foot.

We may, therefore, anticipate the near future fireproof airships, which will change the whole aspect of aerial traffic.—Tit-Bits.

BEWARE OF DECEPTION

Statistics show that when egg albumen is used as a constituent of baking powder, the amount so used is too small (usually 15/100 of 1%) to affect the quality or effectiveness of the baking powder containing it, and when so used, is plainly for the purpose of fraud. Intelligent buyers will not permit themselves to be deceived by the water glass test.

MAGIC BAKING POWDER

contains no alum or egg albumen and is guaranteed to be composed of the ingredients printed on the label—and none other.
Made in Canada By Canadians
For Canadians

REHABILITATING SOLDIERS

Among the many outside tributaries of the Department of Soldier's to feed the one central flood of endeavor towards rehabilitating the returned man, that of the Chaplain Service Branch "first Aid" in many cases of social emergency.

Spiritual ministrations to the men who are convalescing and those in hospital and sanatoria go hand in hand with welfare and social service work. Every denomination is represented and in places where the ministrations of another church are desired the co-operation of the clergy is freely sought and given to carry on the good work.

Through the activities of the chaplains a good many extra treats come the way of the men, and that the S. C. R. chaplain is, as a rule, a man in whom the ideal in service to his fellows ranks first is demonstrated by a glance through the diaries of one or two of these men.

From a unit in the west where two men are working one gets some idea of the amount of the distance covered in visiting hospital patients alone. Here eight hospitals are on the list, a distance of twenty-three miles separating one from the headquarters, but all are visited regularly, have a weekly service and in addition many visits are made to the families of men and to men in their own homes.

Speaking of the spirit of those visited, the assistant chaplain of this unit says:

"I have been greatly delighted with the general tone and spirit of all the men in my talks with them about their own and their country's future and I have made a special point of trying to impress upon them the valuable service they can render to Canada by the two-fold attitude of stern opposition to every form of injustice and the loyal support of constituted authority."

An instance of splendid co-operation is recorded from another unit where no less than five different denominations have organized a system of local help under the guidance of the S. C. R. chaplain. Each denomination has made itself responsible for providing a choir and musicians for one Sunday in the month. The bright music has considerably cheered the hospital patients. Medical officers have added their thanks to those of the men for the help so given.

In addition to the work of interesting other people in the hospitals cases, and providing entertainments the chaplain must have a fund of information on hand upon the matter of pensions, medical care and other provisions made by the department as he is constantly asked to adjust. To explain difficulties of this nature in many districts the chaplain has been able in this way to act as intermediator between the various branches of the department and the patients by handling corespondence, etc., and also through visiting the homes has been able to relieve some cases of hardship arising out of excessive rents, payments of debts, etc.

In Guelph a base-ball team has been organized by the chaplain. This team is now playing the summer series in the amateur league. A boxing tournament and bowling competition was also got up in the same district. Citizens in Guelph have contributed soap which they presented to the S. C. R. chaplain for the purchase of prizes to be used as a reading and games room for the men during hot days. Furnishing for the tents have been offered by the local Soldiers' Comfort Committee and the Red Cross. In this district summer services are held out of doors.

At Ste. Agathe boats and canoes have been provided for the men in addition to literature and stationery.

From Calgary comes word that the social side of the work has been considerably extended. One hundred patients and nursing sisters were taken on a two-day trip to Banff where they were billeted in private homes and hotels for an enjoyable little holiday. During the daytime excursions were made into the mountains where the men enjoyed fishing, and in the vening a dance and a whist-drive were given by the local G. W. V. A.

In Winnipeg an Athletic and Literary Society was founded by the chaplain to have as its object the promotion of clean, healthy sport and the care of the social economic and spiritual need of all ex-service men and their dependents. Those eligible for membership are all ex-soldiers and sailors and their dependents.

At Kingston twenty patients are taken each week for a day in the country. Owners of private motor cars have co-operated splendidly with the chaplain, in his efforts to brighten the lives of the patients by taking them for pleasure drives and fishing expeditions.

The St. John's Ambulance Brigade gave a drive and picnic to a hundred patients, and the Catholic Women's Societies provided a steamer picnic with supper for two hundred patients.

Through such interests the Chaplain Service Branch is linking up the men, who would otherwise be isolated in hospitals, senatoria and private homes through weakness and other disabilities arising from war wounds, with the happy outside world.

BRITISH OVERSEAS BANK

The Newest Financial Combination For Overseas Trade.

It is announced by Frederick C. Lubbock, New York agent of the Anglo-South American Bank, that a prospectus of the British Overseas Bank has been made public. According to the prospectus the new British bank is capitalized for £2,000,000 sterling. £1,000,000 of which will be known as "A" ordinary shares with a par value of £5, which will be offered to the public, and £1,000,000 in "B" shares, which will be held by the stockholding banks.

The British Overseas Bank, the newest of the English banks organized for foreign business, forms a combination of interests of seven of the largest British banking institutions, including the Anglo-South American Bank, Ltd., the Dominion Bank of Canada, Glyn Mills, Currie and Company, Hoares, the Imperial Ottoman Bank; the Northern Banking Company, Ltd., Belfast; the Union Bank of Scotland, Ltd and the Williams Deacon's Bank, Ltd.

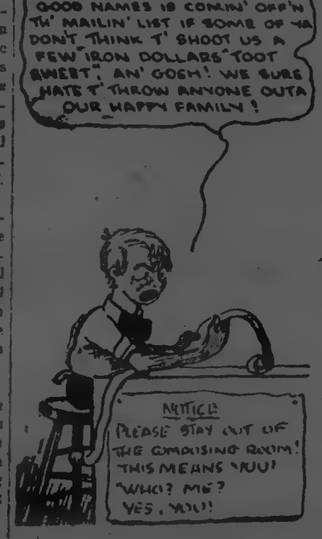
W. A. Amos was nominated by the U. F. O. in North Perth for the legislature, and Labor's support is also assured the candidate.

Potatoes offered at $2.25 a bag in the market at Owen Sound, were priced 65c a peck in some of the grocery stores—a bag contains six pecks.

Wood's Phosphodine.
The Great English Remedy.
Tones and invigorates the whole nervous system, makes new Blood in old Veins. Cures Nervous Debility, Mental and Brain Worry, Despondency, Loss of Energy, Pallpitation of the Heart, Failing Memory. Price $1 per box, six for $5. Sold by all druggists, or sent free on receipt of price. THE WOOD MEDICINE CO., TORONTO, ONT.

Piano Tuning
Phone for
The GREENE MUSIC Co.

MICKIE SAYS



"THERE'S A WHOLE GANG OF SUBSCRIPTIONS COMIN' DUE THIS WEEK AN' A RAFT OF GOOD NAMES IS COMIN' OFF'N TH' MAILIN' LIST IF SOME OF US DON'T THINK T' SHOOT US A FEW IRON DOLLARS TOOT SWEET", AN' GOSH! WE SURE HATE T' THROW ANYONE OUTA OUR HAPPY FAMILY!
NOTICE
PLEASE STAY OUT OF THE COMPOSING ROOM! THIS MEANS YOU!
"WHO? ME?
YES, YOU!!

POINTED PARAGRAPHS.

It's easy to find fault where it isn't.

Fools brag—where wise men only admit.

Habit is stronger than either judgment or passion.

For centuries the world has waited for a perfect man.

What some men don't know they are always talking about.

Easy going men are apt to spend too much time up in the clouds looking for the silver lining.

An expressman says that old maids are uncalled-for packages.

Hard hearts are apt to grow harder and soft heads to grow softer.

Women ought to make satisfactory angels because they are so fond of "harping."

DODD'S KIDNEY PILLS
FOR ALL KIDNEY DISEASES
RHEUMATISM
BRIGHT'S DISEASE BACKACHE
DIABETES
NUMBER 23 THE PROPRIETORS

CLOCKS
: the Gift Kind :
Best assortment in the city of French Marble Clocks, Fancy Boudoir Clocks, Mantel Clocks, Bronze and Ornamental Clocks.
Prices moderate; Values defy competition.
Schneider's
[illegible] George St. Next Turnbull's

THE MERCHANTS' COLUMN

Edited by
MANSFIELD F. HOUSE
(Copyright.)

Comic Strips Macy's Latest "Ad" Idea.

"What in the name o' heaven will Macy's try next.

This is the question which is on the tongue of the advertising and buying public of New York—for R. A. Macy & Co. are blazing the trail which leads to novelty in retail newspaper advertising and, incidentally, building new sales records with every stunt they try.

Some months ago they started using a one-column advertisement in the form of a "movie-strip," showing the hero and heroine, the villain, the ingenue, the soubrette, the comic relief and the other time-honored characters of the "Illuma," with an indication of what they would purchase if they were turned loose in Macy's.

This innovation created a lot of talk and laid the foundation for a goodly amount of new business; but Francis J. Best, the advertising manager of Macy's didn't allow the public to get tired of the change. He immediately started to look round for something else that would attract favorable notice.

The "Me and Georgie" series, which detailed the experiences of two children who were hunting for clothes which suited their personalities — written in juvenile phraseology and illustrated with the crude drawings which youngsters would be expected to turn out—also had a considerable effect upon the sales in the children's department.

But the latest experiment is the most daring of all, for Macy's is now using a full-fledged five-column comic strip such as many newspapers run to lighten up their feature of magazine pages.

These strips have to do with the adventures of a central character, "General Information," a humorous little chap whose business it is to tell readers about special sales and offerings at Macy's in a sugar-coated manner.

While the majority of these strips mention particular merchandise which is also featured in the body of the advertisement, a number of them have been purely for the purpose of amusement.

One of these, for example, dealt with a Macy remnant sale. Genera' Information is shown asking a sales girl: "Are you ready for the remnant hunters?"

"Yes," she replies, "I love to be busy."

But the next picture shows what is intended to be a typical "remnant rush," at the conclusion of which General Information asks the clerk if there are any remnants left.

"Just one," she answers, "and that's me!"

Some of the others contain the sales information in the body of the strip, instead of in the last picture. In the picture entitled "The General Also Got a 'Rap,'" the military person asks a pretty girl if she "has bought one of our lovely sweaters—they are all imported and hand-knitted, you know."

"Oh, dear, yes," she says, "and I hope they send it promptly."

"So do I," responds the general gallantly. "You" want some thin warm around you tonight." is the cryptic reply, "for my friend will attend to that." And the General fainted.

"Frankly," says Mr. Best, the advertising manager of Macy's. "we cannot tell whether or not this series is successful, because it is of a general or institutional nature, designed to combat the law of diminishing returns in our advertising. By that I mean that we are trying to get new readers for Macy advertisement: through the use of this unusual, in an advertising sense, feature. If we succeed in getting new readers and new purchasers, the cartoons will be successful—if not, well, we'll try something else, that's all."

Drops Catalogue for Space in Newspapers.

Newspaper advertising scored a noteworthy victory in Binghampton N.Y., when the Stickley-Brandt Furniture Company, after twenty-five years' experience with special catalogues as advertising mediums, announced it would discontinue them in favor of advertising space in the newspapers.

In previous years the furniture company has issued a special catalogue in connection with semi-annual "Red Tag" sales in such quantities that one was placed in every home in Broome County and in many homes in the Southern Tier district. The catalogue was looked upon as an established institution.

After an exhaustive study of the situation, however the officers of the concern decided that the catalogue was a losing proposition when compared with newspaper advertising and the change in policy was ordered.

Novel Recipe for Use of Rouge

Druggists and department stores who handle toilet goods in Hazleton, Pa., laughed along with the rest of the town at the recipe given to the 1500 girl employes of the Duplan silk mill, who were afforded some common sense advice on the subject of cosmetics. The recipe was on the best way to acquire pink cheeks. Here it is:

Take two pounds of rouge.
Take three pounds of face powder.
Take them three miles into the woods.
Bury them.
Walk out each evening to see they are all right.

This unique recipe was one feature of the talk of Miss Helen Snyder, local young woman who showed the girls how to use manicure sets, toilet articles, tooth brushes, hair and complexion aids, but who slammed beautifiers unmercifully. The Duplan mill gets its girls together in the Club-House every one in a while to see fashion shows in shoes, clothes hats, moving pictures and to hear talks on common sense subjects.

The toilet article talk of Miss Snyder brought a new class of trade to department stores who pharmacies. She Likes Dirty Windows on Monday

"The dirtier my windows are on Monday mornings, the happier I am."

So says Miss M. L. Addis, jeweler of Topeka, Kan., who judges whether or not her displays are getting across by the amount of smears, caused by noses and fingers, appearing on the plate glass front of her store.

"If the finger and nose marks are there," says Miss Addis, "you can be sure the windows have been attracting attention. The thing I don't want to see on a Monday morning is a clean front window."

And Miss Addis gives some pertinent advice as to when to dress windows. Never do it on Monday, she says. People do their window shopping on Sunday and get in the notion of buying some article. When they come down Monday if they find the window display they looked at the day before missing, they are apt to jump to the conclusion that the article has been sold and never enter the store to find out."

The latter part of the week, not earlier than Wednesday, is the best time to change the window displays.

"Moot Point."

A venerable institution of London's legal quarter—the Moot—which during the war was suffered to fall into abeyance, has now been reinstated at the Inns of Court. The Moot belongs to quite another age, but it is still useful as providing a means of testing the abilities of candidates to the bar. Even should it have been suffered to disappear definitely from the Inns of Court institutions, the Moot would have left a reminder in the language of its former presence, says the Christian Science Monitor. The expression "a moot point" springs from the practice of holding discussions for the solution of points which no amount of discussion can settle; the very raison d'etre of the moot.

England Making Glass.

Before the war England imported over 80 per cent. of the glass used in the country, but since the importations were stopped she has been able to produce enough for her own needs.

Inviting Trouble.

"I see they are thinking of putting meters on the telephone."

"It will only cause trouble."

"How so?"

"My wife will insist every month that she never said that much."—Detroit Free Press.

REVIEW "WANTS ADS." PAY.

SUFFERED TERRIBLE AGONY

"Fruit-a-tives" Alone Gave Him Quick Relief

Buckingham, Que., May 3rd, 1915.

"For seven years, I suffered terribly from Severe Headaches and Indigestion. I had belching gas from the stomach, and I had chronic Constipation. I tried many remedies but nothing did me good. Finally, a friend advised "Fruit-a-tives". I took this grand fruit medicine and it made me well. To everyone who has miserable health with Constipation and Indigestion and Bad Stomach, I say take "Fruit-a-tives", and you will get well".

ALBERT VARNER.

50c. a box, 6 for $2.50, trial size 25c. At dealers or sent postpaid by Fruit-a-tives Limited, Ottawa, Ont.

SHAM "HONORS" IN BRITAIN.

Many Manufactured to Fleece Soldiers and Ex-soldiers.

If you meet a man whose breast is covered with ribbons, you need not jump to the conclusion that it was really he who won the war, says Tit-Bits. He may be a victim of the gentry who vend more or less spurious "honors."

An early sham of this kind was the silver stripe, which, though often worn, was never authorized.

Similar is the "French wounded ribbon" (blue, orange and white), worn by some men who were wounded in France or Belgium. The British authorities do not recognize it.

Where, again, is there any regulation under which the so-called "Italian ribbon" may be sported by men who took part in the operations in Italy? Actually the ribbon of the Independence Medal, it is authorized by the Government of that country; but British soldiers are not allowed to wear it.

In the same way, the ribbon of the Serbian Medal, though perfectly legitimate in the country of its origin, is ridiculous when worn by Britons.

Perhaps the greatest sham of all is the "Allies' Ribbon," which is a much-colored product of the real comic opera order. For it is a fictitious "honor"—an honor created by traders for the purpose of fleecing soldiers and ex-soldiers, who buy it often at a grossly extortionate price) in the honest belief that they are entitled to wear it.

In addition to a fine show of "decorations" of this kind, some men have a brilliant display of ribbons, etc., which, though equally objectionable from the military point of view, are merely "unauthorized."

When, for instance, it was announced that a silver rosette would be issued as an addition to the 1914 Star, manufacturers rushed out that article immediately.

So, too, in the case of the General Service Medal. Months ago, long before a simple regulation concerning it was issued, the appropriate ribbon—or what purported to be such—was on sale, and was largely bought by men who considered they were entitled to wear it.

If dealers who flood the market with such wares are not careful they will soon find themselves in hot water. The authorities now have power to prosecute them.

A Song of Many Peoples.

Asked to name the oldest tune in the world, few could give the correct answer. It is that to which we now sing the words, "For he's a jolly good fellow," and the air, which can be traced in distant Asia and Africa, as well as in most European countries, has an interesting history.

Its origin is lost in antiquity, but it is supposed to have been learned from the ancient Babylonians by the Egyptians, who popularized it in Africa and Asia Minor. It is still sung by the Arabs, says London Answers.

The Crusaders caught the tune from the Saracen enemies and sung it under the walls of Jerusalem, which to-day, perhaps, vibrate to the same notes, chanted by our victorious troops. The air was ultimately carried into Europe, where it survived in various forms among the folk songs of the different nations.

In 1709, after their defeat at Malplaquet, the French, following a false rumor of the Duke of Marlborough's death in battle, composed a satiric lament, "Malbrook Is Off to the War," detailing the supposed death and burial of the English general and the ascension of his soul to heaven.

The words were sung to the old popular air, whose lilting rhythm lent itself to the swing of the 22 verses.

Like most topical songs, this one was of short lived popularity; but in 1781 it suddenly echoed from one end of France to the other. The young Marie Antoinette gave birth to an heir, and the baby prince, in accordance with French custom, was placed under the care of a robust peasant foster mother. The nurse used to put her royal charge to sleep with the old song of her village home, and the girl mother began, almost unconsciously to repeat the simple refrain.

As if by magic the song became the craze of the day. It resounded through the stately galleries of Versailles, passing to the kitchens and stables, whence it was taken up by crowds of Paris and speedily passed on from town to town and from country to country.

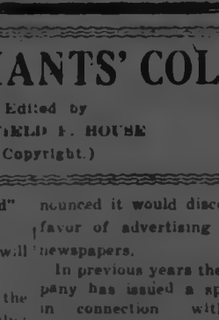
Napoleon himself, though a hater of music, never mounted his charger to go into action without singing softly a few bars of the ancient melody.

The air is still popular in France, as it is in England and America, but few of our Tommies and their poilu chums, humming in chorus, can have suspected the varied history of the simple tune.

Cook's Cotton Root Compound.

A safe, reliable regulating medicine. Sold in three degrees of strength—No. 1, $1; No. 2 $3, No. 3, $5 per box. Sold by all druggists, or sent by mail on receipt of price. Prepaid. Address: THE COOK MEDICINE CO., TORONTO, ONT. (Formerly Windsor, Ont.)

SEVEN KEYS TO BALDPATE



BY EARL DERR BIGGERS

Copyright, 1913, by the Bobbs-Merrill Company

"How did you get hold of it?" inquired Mr. Lon Max.

"I had my eye on this little professor person," explained Mr. Bland. "This morning when Magee went up the mountain I trailed the highbrow to Magee's room. When I busted in, unannounced by the butler, he was making his getaway. I don't like to talk about what followed. He's an old man, and I sure didn't mean to break his glasses nor scratch his dome of thought. There's ideas in that dome go back to the time of Anthony J. Chaucer. But he's always talking about that literature chair of his—why couldn't he stay at home and sit in it? Anyhow, I got the bundle all right, all right. I wonder what the little fossil wants with it."

"The Dutch glasses was broke," said Max, evidently to the mayor of Reuton.

"Um m," came Cargan's voice. "Bland, how much do you make working for this nice, kind gentleman, Mr. Hayden?"

"Oh, about $2,000 a year, with pickings," replied Bland.

"Yes?" went on Mr. Cargan. "I ain't no Charles Dana Gibson with words. My talk's a little rough and sketchy, I guess. But here's the outline, plain as I can make it. Two thousand a year from Hayden. Twenty thousand in two seconds if you hand that package to me."

"No," objected Bland. "I've been honest—after a fashion. I can't quite stand for that. I'm working for Hayden."

"Don't be a fool," sneered Max.

"Of course," said the mayor. "I appreciate your scruples, having had a few in my day myself, though you'd never think so to read the Star. But look at it sensible. The money belongs to me. If you was to hand it over you'd be just doing plain justice. What right has Hayden on his side? I did what was agreed. Do I get my pay?"

"No," said Bland, but his tone was less firm. "I can't go back on Hayden. No—it wouldn't"—

"Twenty thousand," repeated Cargan. "Ten years' salary the way you are going ahead at present. What's Hayden ever done for you? He'll throw you down some day, the way he's thrown me."

"I—I—don't know"— wavered Bland.

"You get the package," suggested the mayor. "Take $20,000 out and slip the rest to me. No questions asked."

"Well"— began Bland. He was lost. Suddenly the quiet of Baldpate mountain was assailed by a loud pounding at the inn door and a voice crying, "Bland—let me in!"

"There's Hayden now!" cried Mr. Bland.

"It ain't too late," came the mayor's voice. "You can do it yet. It ain't too late."

"Do what?" cried Bland in a firm tone. "You can't bribe me, Cargan." He raised his voice. "Go round to the east door, Mr. Hayden." Then he added to Cargan: "That's my answer. I'm going to let him in."

"Let him in," bellowed the mayor. "Let the hound in. I guess I've got something to say to Mr. Hayden."

There came to Magee's ears the sound of opening doors and of returning footsteps.

"How do you do, Cargan?" said a voice new to Baldpate.

"Cut the society howdydoes," replied the mayor hotly. "There's a little score to be settled between me and you, Hayden. I ain't quite wise to your orchid in the buttonhole ways. I don't understand your system. When I give my word I keep it. Has that gone out of style up on the avenue where you live?"

"There are conditions"— began Hayden.

"The h— there are!" roared Cargan. "A man's word's his word, and he keeps it to me or I know the reason why. You can't come down to the city hall with any new deal like this. I was to have two hundred thousand. Why didn't I get it?"

"Because," replied Hayden smoothly, "the—er—little favor you were to grant me in return is to be made useless by the courts."

"Can I help that?" the mayor demanded. "Was there anything about that in the agreement? I did my work. I want my pay. I'll have it, Mr. Hayden."

Hayden's voice was cool and even as he spoke to Bland.

"Got the money, Joe?"

"Yes," Bland answered.

"Where?"

"Well, we'd better wait, hadn't we?" Bland's voice was shaky.

"No. We'll take it and get out," answered Hayden.

"I want to see you do it!" cried Cargan. "If you think I've come up here on a pleasure trip I got a chart and a pointer all ready for your next lesson. And let me put you wise. This nobby little idea of yours about

KEYS TO BALDPATE

"I did my work. I want my pay." Baldpate Inn is the worst ever. The place is as full of people as if the regular summer rates was being charged."

"The devil it is!" cried Hayden. His voice betrayed a startled annoyance.

"It hasn't worried me none," went on the mayor. "They can't touch me. I own the prosecutor, and you know it. But it ain't going to do you any good on the avenue if you're seen here with me, is it, Mr. Hayden?"

"The more reason," replied Hayden. "For getting the—mimmy, and leaving at once. I'm not afraid of you, Cargan. I'm armed."

"I ain't," sneered the mayor. "But no exquisite from your set with his little air gun ever scared me. You try to get away from here with that bundle and you'll find yourself all tangled up in the worst scrap that ever happened."

"Where's the money, Joe?" asked Hayden.

"You won't wait"— Bland begged.

"Wait to get my own money—I guess not! Show me where it is."

"Remember," put in Cargan, "that money's mine. And don't have any pipe dreams about the law—the law ain't called into things of this sort, as a rule. I guess you'd be the last to call it. You'll never get away from here with my money."

Mr. Magee opened the card room door farther and saw the figure of the stranger, Hayden, confronting the mayor. Mr. Cargan's title of exquisite best described him. The newcomer was tall, fair, fastidious in dress and manner. A revolver gleamed in his hand.

(To be Continued.)

Clean to handle. Sold by all Druggists, Grocers and General Stores

Toronto Savings and Loan COMPANY
Peterborough

Head Office: 435-437 George Street
Paid-Up Capital ..$1,000,000.00
Reserve Fund $1,100,000.00

SAVINGS DEPARTMENT — Deposits received of One Dollar and upwards. Interest paid quarterly, accrues from date of deposit to date of withdrawal.

Every facility and convenience is afforded to depositors.

INVESTMENT DEPARTMENT — Debentures issued for sums of $100 & upwards for periods of one to five years, upon which special rates of interest are paid, depending upon the term of investment.

Executors and trustees are authorized by law to invest in the Debentures of this institution.

Money to loan at lowest current rates of interest.

W. G. MORROW,
Managing Director.

ADVERTISING RATES.

The rate for Classified Advertisements is one cent a word per first insertion; subsequent insertions half a cent per word. Minimum number of words ten. Special terms for 5,000 words or over.

Advertisements marked "till forbidden" are accepted on the understanding that they will be published until a written or verbal notice to stop them is received.

BIRTH, MARRIAGE, DEATH, MEMORIAL NOTICES AND CARDS OF THANKS, 50c per insertion in Daily and Weekly, not exceeding one inch space. All words over the inch, one cent each.

CHURCH ANNOUNCEMENTS. Sunday Services Announcement in Saturday daily (no reference to concerts allowed) $5 per year per inch. Extra space in this column for the purpose stated, 15c per inch. Regular rates apply for other than Sunday services.

GET YOUR PRINTING DONE at The Review office. Lowest price and best service.

IF YOU WANT TO BUY ANYthing at a bargain price, let the people know through The Review columns. You're sure to get it.

IF YOU HAVE ANYTHING to sell, advertise in The Review. A sure sale.

FEMALE HELP WANTED

WANTED MAID FOR PLAIN cooking and general house work. Apply Mrs. Rollins 439 Rubidge street.

WANTED — GIRLS. APPLY at Gate House, Canadian General Electric Co., Ltd.

MALE HELP WANTED.

WANTED — A GOOD FUR salesman with experience. Apply to Barries Limited.

WANTED — AN ORDERLY. Apply St. Joseph's Hospital.

HARDWARE CLERK, WITH three or more years' experience, wanted for good hardware store in a live country town. Apply Review for address.

WANTED — BRIGHT YOUNG man to learn the newspaper business. Apply Review office.

WANTED AT ONCE ROUTE boy for East City. Apply to Review.

WANTED — ROUTE BOY FOR north end of city. Apply at once, Review.

FOUND.

FOUND — A FOLDER PURSE, containing a sum of money. Owner call 219 Bethune St.

LOST.

LOST ON SUNDAY NIGHT, a pearl crescent on McDonnel, George or Hunter Sts. Finder please leave at Review office.

TO LET.

TO RENT — FURNISHED rooms with all conveniences; telephone; location central; suitable for one or two. Apply Review.

TO RENT — TWO GARAGE sheds back of White Rose Garage. For further particulars apply Thos. Lane, 186 Hunter street.

FOR SALE.

FOR SALE — THE PRIVATE sale at 801 Water street continues nights only. A Happy Thought range and two gas stoves, also an old walnut buffet.

FARM FOR SALE.

A first-class farm for sale; four miles from city. Apply Review for address.

THE FOLLOWING CAN BE seen and bought cheaply at 207 Simcoe street: Excavating tools, picks, shovels, wheel-barrows, scrapers, plough, etc., dump cart and harness, stone boat, drop bottom wagons, gravel wagon with 1¾-yard box, contractor's hoisting winch, tackle, etc., whiffletrees, neckyokes, etc., also a lot of window and door frames, handy for alterations and repairs. All in good shape.
Wm. Lytle Carriage Co.

MONEY TO LOAN.

There has been placed in our hands considerable trust funds to loan at 6½ per cent. on first class real estate property.
GORDON & O'BRIEN.
Phone 219. 395 George St.

LEGAL CARDS

HALL & HALL
Barristers and Solicitors.
Money to Loan at Lowest Rates.
Telephone 69. 116 Hunter St.

GORDON & O'BRIEN
Barristers, Solicitors & Notaries
Money to Loan at Lowest Rates
Telephone 219.
G. N. GORDON. J. A. O'BRIEN.

C. R. WIDDIFIELD, B. A.
Barrister, Etc.
and Solicitor for the City of Peterborough. Bnak of Commerce Building. 'Phone 550.

MOORE & WEARING.
Barristers and Solicitors.
MONEY TO LOAN.
408 Water St. Opposite Post Office.

JAMES LORDYCE STRICLAND
Barrister, Solicitor, Notary Public
MONEY TO LOAN.
395 Water St. Peterborough.
PHONE 151.

S. T. MEDD.
Barrister Solicitor, Notary.
Office Over Dominion Bank.
Cor. Simcoe & George Sts.
Telephone No. 22.
Private Funds to Loan at Current Rates Upon Easy Terms.

PECK, KERR & McELDERRY.
Barristers, Solicitors, Notaries, 419 Water Street, Peterborough. Money to loan at lowest current rates of interest. Easy terms of payment.
E. A. Peck. F. D. Kerr.
V. J. McElderry.

J. EDMUND L. GOODWILL.
Barrister, Solicitor, Notary Public, Etc. Office 375 Water St., Phone 191
Successor to Roger, Bennet & Goodwill.
MONEY TO LOAN at current rates upon easy terms.

A. E. DIXON.
Barrister, Solicitor, Etc.
Offices corner Hunter & George Sts. Entrance next Madill's Drug Store.

O'CONNELL & CORKERY
Barristers, Solicitors, Notaries Public, etc. Money to Loan on Easy Terms of Payment.
D. O'Connell J. R. Corkery
434½ Hunter St. Peterborough
Telephone 364.

R. R. HALL.
Barrister, Solicitor, Etc.
Peterborough, Ont., offices corner Hunter and Water Sts., over Canadian Bank of Commerce. Trust funds to loan on easy terms of payment.

MEDICAL CARDS.

DR. E. E. HARVEY.
Silver Medallist University of Toronto
Special attention to diseases of Women and Children.
Office: 212 Brock Street.
Hours: 1.30 to 5 p.m., 7 to 8 p.m.
Phone 222.

DR. BUCHANAN
F. R. S. C. Edin., M.R.C.S. Eng., L. R. C. P. Lon., Eye, Ear, Nose & Throat Specialist. Hours: 9-11 a.m. 2-4 and 7-8 p.m. Phone 519. Office corner Water and Murray Streets.

DENTISTRY.

DR. W. N. HAYES.
has opened a Dental practice in the Barrie Building, George Street.
'Phone 652 for appointments.

OSTEOPATHY.

DRS. WALMSLEY & SETTLE.
Osteopath Physicians.
Office over Crown Building, Hunter and Water Streets. Entrance 124 Hunter street. Office hours: 9 to 12 a.m., 2 to 5 p.m. Evenings by appointment. Office Phone 649.

Children's Aid Society
—of—
Peterborough City and County
FOR THE CARE OF NEGLECTED AND ILL-TREATED CHILDREN
G. W. POWELL
Asst. Secretary and Inspector
Office, 588 George St. Phone 1044w
Office Hours: 12 to 2 and 6 to 8 p.m.

Lackawana Coal
Means Economy
Burns freely and is of Best Anthracite.
Trucking Orders Promptly Filled
Peterboro Fuel & Transfer Co.
163 CHARLOTTE ST.
PHONES 270-562

A bed of Flanders poppies, dedicated in a Chicago park to the memory of the unreturning soldiers, was grown from seed given by the St. Thomas Horticultural Society.

A SIMPLE METHOD TO REMEDY RHEUMATISM

AGE DOES NOT INTERFERE IF TREATMENT IS PROPERLY FOLLOWED

Many persons contend that there is no sure remedy for Rheumatism, Sciatica, Neuralgia, Lumbago, Neuritis, or their kindred diseases, but don't be biased; draw your own conclusions from the proof submitted.

Over two years ago, William Nesbitt of 113 John St., Toronto, Ontario, was attacked by Rheumatism. Mr. Nesbitt was 53 years of age at the time and he feared the worst. After trying many remedies and prescriptions without obtaining relief he took a friend's advice and used Templeton's Rheumatic Capsules. Result—to-day Mr. Nesbitt says, "He hasn't lost a day's work since nor feels Rheumatism any more."

Mr. Nesbitt gives the entire credit to his recovery to T.R.C.'S. Profit by his experience. Try them.

Ask your Druggist or write us for our new booklet; it is interesting and costs you nothing (Templeton's, 142 King West, Toronto). We mail T.R.C.'s anywhere on receipt of price.

Sole agents for Peterborough, Mcdermid & Jury, Prescription Specialists; for Lakefield, Tanner Drug Co.; for Havelock, A. J. Denike; for Hastings, T. A. Coughlan; for Campbellford, J. W. Cairns.

HOW THEY STAND

INTERNATIONAL LEAGUE.

	W.	L.	P.C
Baltimore	97	45	.683
Toronto	91	54	.628
Buffalo	79	64	.552
Binghamton	70	70	.500
Newark	68	79	.463
Rochester	64	81	.441
Jersey City	54	87	.383
Reading	48	91	.343

Yesterday's Results

Buffalo 2, Toronto 0.
Jersey City 7, Reading 6.
Rochester 6, Binghamton 1.
Baltimore 6, Newark 4.

Games Today.

Toronto at Buffalo.
Binghamton at Rochester.
Reading at Jersey City.
Newark at Baltimore.

MICH.-ONTARIO LEAGUE.

	W.	L.	P.C
Saginaw	78	32	.709
Hamilton	75	35	.682
Battle Creek	67	45	.598
Brantford	60	45	.571
Bay City	43	69	.384
London	41	70	.369
Kitchener	40	69	.367
Flint	35	74	.321

Yesterday's Results

London 5, Hamilton 2.
Brantford 4, Kitchener 1.

Games Today.

Hamilton at London.
Kitchener at Brantford.

AMERICAN LEAGUE.

	W.	L.	P.C
Chicago	79	44	.642
Cleveland	71	51	.582
Detroit	71	53	.573
New York	68	54	.567
St. Louis	64	60	.516
Boston	60	62	.492
Washington	47	78	.376
Philadelphia	33	90	.262

Yesterday's Results

Boston 3, New York 1.
Boston 3, New York 0.

Games Today.

Chicago at Washington.
Detroit at Philadelphia.
Cleveland at New York.
St. Louis at Boston.

NATIONAL LEAGUE.

	W.	L.	P.C
Cincinnati	86	39	.688
New York	75	45	.625
Chicago	64	56	.535
Pittsburg	61	61	.500
Brooklyn	59	63	.484
Boston	50	69	.420
St. Louis	45	74	.378
Philadelphia	43	76	.361

Yesterday's Results

Pittsburg 10, Boston 0.
Boston 4, Pittsburg 3.

Games Today.

Philadelphia at Cincinnati.
Boston at Pittsburg.
New York at Chicago.
Brooklyn at St. Louis.

U-Boats Built to Be Lost.

I had the pleasure of going all over the surrendered submarine U C 95 with her British commander and seeing for myself how the Hun arranges his subsurface pirates. One fact which sticks out like a sore thumb is that she was evidently built to be lost, not to last. There has been no such thing as accessibility considered in her fittings. For instance, the ventilating fan—the captain called my attention to its hum and said that, of course, they could step and start it. But they couldn't locate it exactly, and that if it broke down and had to be repaired it would apparently be a dry dock job. Nothing in her has been planned with the idea of easy access on repairs—very evident is she was put together with the belief that long before she would need an overhauling she would be captured or destroyed.—C. H. Claudy in Scientific American.

WHEN TENNIS WAS CRIME.

Henry the Eighth Passed Law Making It Illegal.

Modern folk are accustomed to regard tennis as an innocent enough sport, likewise bowls and sheveha'penny, which is still a popular game in the navy, but our ancestors even went so far as to pass a law against these mild forms of recreation.

In 1541 the "bowyers, fletchers, stringers and arrow-hed-makers of this realme" petitioned Henry VIII. of matrimonial fame, to prohibit "saundrie newe and crafty games as slydethrifte, otherwise called shovegrote, tennys and bowles, practiced within this realme to the great hurt and lett of shootinge and acherie."

It appears that the lads of the village preferred to exercise their cunning at "slydethrifte" when, in the opinion of the bow and arrow makers, they would have been better occupied in shooting at the butts on the village green.

However, King Henry granted the petition, moved, no doubt, by a passage mourning the decay of good archers, "who have not only defended this realme against the cruell malice and danger of their enemyes in tyme paste, but also withe little nombers, have done many notable actes and discomfytures of warre against the infidels." The fine old English fighting spirit which rings through this passage must have appealed to bluff King Hal, and an act of Parliament was duly passed making the "newe and craftye" games illegal, and rendering players thereof liable to a penalty for each offence of 6s. 8d.—a considerable sum in those days.

Presumably the "bowyers and fletchers" went on their way rejoicing, all unaware of the danger which threatened their craft from another quarter. They had not reckoned with a certain Friar Bacon, whose discovery of gunpowder was destined to bring about the "decaye of archerie" for good and all.—Answers.

Drives Them Insane.

Dr. Arlington, headmaster of Eton, recently told a meeting that the experiment of letting boys at the college write with the left hand to develop the right side of the brain was hurriedly discontinued when an eminent scientist stated that if they developed both sides of the brain at once they became idiots.

Sir James Crichton-Browne, the famous mental specialist, has given his views on this statement as follows:

"Dr. Arlington has acted wisely in putting a stop to a foolish experiment at Eton which would never have been sanctioned by any one with a little sound physiological knowledge.

"The order to use the left hand equally with the right has, I believe, been all out universally evaded. Had it been observed only mischief would have been done.

"Dexterity is deeply imbeuded in the brain—the Palaeolithic flint workers were right handed, and it is not to be shifted by a few school exercises.

"Ambidextral culture, useful perhaps in respect to some few special movements in some specially employed persons, must on the large scale end in confusion.

"Lord Lister, the great surgeon, while a student, realising that ambidexterity would be useful in his calling, dilig ntly practiced it, but ultimately gave it up, as he found he was losing in the right hand more than he was gaining in the left.

"Ambidexterity is common in idiots. The hand centre in the brain is linked up with that of articulate speech, and it is with the right hand paralysis that speech is lost in a right-handed man and with left hand paralysis in one that is left-handed."

Many Raise Peppermint.

Peppermint probably occupies one of the most honorable places on the list of drug plants, for the distillation of oil from its leaves is an important industry to which thousands of acres are devoted, principally in Michigan and New York. Their oils are extracted also from wintergreen, pennyroyal tansy and a number of other well known plants. To be salable the leaves must be dried in a place where there is plenty of air but no dampness, and in the shade, for this keeps the bright color. They must be looked over with care that no other leaves are mixed with them and packed in boxes or barrels to be shipped. Bulletins on this subject may be obtained from the superintendent of documents, Washington, D. C., at a cost of 15 cents apiece. Uncle Sam warns us that there are risks in these crops as well as in others, but all enterprises are risks in this uncertain world.

Make Gas From Straw.

A Canadian inventor has worked out a new application of thrift in the form of a gas which can be made from straw. The invention will be of special value in farm communities, as it will enable the farmers to utilise straw that now goes to waste. The gas is made in a three-cylinder retort. Each cylinder holds a bale of straw seven feet long, two feet wide and six inches thick. With the chambers closed the straw is ignited and allowed to burn from 30 to 40 minutes. It is said that 12,000 cubic feet of gas can be generated from a ton of straw, in addition to which there will be by-products of six to eight gallons of tar and 640 pounds of carbon from which lamp black can be obtained.

Awful Thought.

It was Dora's first trip on the ocean and the water kept on going see-saw and slipside and heaveho, and all sorts of uncomfortable, disagreeable things; so that Dora began to get a little giddy and dazed and tired and hazy.

Clasping a large doll in her arms, she stood upon the deck by her mother's side.

"Mamma!" she suddenly exclaimed, and her face turned to a delicate pale green.

"Yes, darling; what is the matter?"

"Oh, nothing, mamma! But I—I don't think the rabbit I had for dinner could have been quite—quite dead!"

"FEELING BETTER EVERY DAY I LIVE"

MRS. GOSSAGE GAINS TWENTY POUNDS TAKING TANLAC TROUBLES ENDED.

"I've gained twenty pounds since I began taking Tanlac and I'm feeling better every day I live," said Mrs. J. A. Gossage, of 440 North Lawndale Street, Kansas City, Mo.

"For two years I suffered from stomach trouble and nervous indigestion," she continued. "Everything I ate soured on my stomach. Gas would form and press against my heart until it would flutter and beat so fast I felt like I was going to smother. I had severe pains around my stomach and there was a gnawing feeling there, too. I was so dizzy that if I stood up suddenly I would stagger and had to hold on to something to keep from falling.

"I had tried all sorts of medicines hoping to get relief but nothing did me any good until my brother-in-law persuaded me to try Tanlac. He had been greatly helped by it and I hadn't taken half a bottle before I noticed gas didn't form and make me sick any more. Of course I kept right on taking Tanlac after that and now I can eat anything I want without any trouble and I feel so fine I can do all my housework without getting tired. From the way I'm gaining in strength all the time I am convinced that I'll soon be as well as I ever was in my life and I'm glad to tell others what I think of Tanlac. It's done me more good than everything else put together."

Tanlac is sold in Peterborough by W. D. Warne Drug Co. Ltd., in Havelock by A. C. Denike, in Lakefield by Tanner Drug Co. Ltd., in Fowlers' Corners by W. A. Hunter, in Gelert by A. J. Scott, in Westwood by G. Prinsle & Son.

Snowdrops From Hooge.

Hooge is an evil memory to a great number of our returned soldiers. East of Ypres, close to Maple copse and Sanctuary wood, just above Bellewarde lake, and astride the Menin road, no stretch of ground has been more often and more hardly fought over from the dark days of late 1914 until last September. The whole area of Hooge and Bellewarde is scarred and pocketed by shell holes, craters and defenses until there remains not a yard of undisturbed ground. Yet here, making gunpits last March, the writer discovered on the very lip of a shell hole a clump of snowdrops gaily blooming and when in April we had to wash back from the Ypres ridges because the Germans had outflanked us on the south, he carried away with him the bulbs. They were sent home, and today in a Harborne garden are shyly putting up their buds of white, green-striped, and a few days of more congenial weather will bring them into bloom.—London Mail.

Humors of the Mule Race.

In nearly every army race meeting held in France during the war there was provision for a mule race. Some mules, a London Times correspondent says, were remarkably fast and handy, while others were satisfactory so long as it was a straight course. At one meeting of the Picquigny course the distance was four furlongs, with a very sharp right-handed turn at the half distance. If the turn was not taken there was no alternative but to go into the woods which surrounded the course. Fully 25 of the mules refused to take the bend and plunged straight into the wood, which is thick and very dark. After a while the whole woods were reverberating with the agonising cries which only mules can make. Strange to relate there were no serious casualties to men or mules.

Cat Simply Would Not Die.

A cat belonging to a young lady residing in North street, St. Andrews Scotland, went amissing. A search was made, and the loss was advertised and all hope of the return of puss was given up. After the cat had been absent for 24 days a maid, on cleaning the drawing room of a house in Greyfriars Garden, heard the mewing of a cat. Her mistress at once procured men to remove the built-in grate, behind which the cat was discovered in a very emaciated condition. Its owner was apprised of the find and quickly attended to her cat which has since made a wonderful recovery. It is surmised that the cat had been hunting for birds and fallen down the chimney.

He Didn't Know Numbers.

Clock dials usually represent the hours by use of Roman numerals, says the Philadelphia Ledger. The number four in Roman numerals is commonly represented by IV, but on most clock dials it is four I's, as IIII. There is a reason for this. It traces back to the ignorance of a king of France who ruled 600 years ago.

Tradition among watch and clock makers has it that the clock dial was first made by Henry Vick in the year 1370, and he made it for Charles V. or Charles the Wise, of France. Charles was not as wise as he looked or as his name would suggest. When the dial of the clock was submitted for his approval he studied it long and carefully. Finally he remarked: "The clock is all right with one exception. The figure for four o'clock should be four I's instead of IV."

"Your majesty is wrong," answered Vick. "IV is the proper symbol for four."

Charles bristled up with offended dignity and thundered at the timid clockmaker. "I am never wrong. Take this dial away and correct your mistake."

There was nothing else to do. In all his subsequent clock dials Vick was compelled to use the symbol ordered by his sovereign. Other dialmakers followed his example and the authority of stupid Charles V. whose bones have been dust for centuries still rules the makers of most of our watch and clock dials.

The Prince inspecting Cavalry at Rideau Hall, Ottawa. BY COURTESY OF C.A.R.

LIVE WIRE IN CHURCH.

Such Is Description of New Canon of Westminster.

Whatever the faults and defects of the Church of England it has produced some very fine persons. It has the most learned clergy of any church in Christendom. And one of its characteristic products is a type of churchman who is both priest and man of the world, a scholar and yet in touch with the realities of life.

Of such type is William Temple, the new Canon of Westminster. The younger son of Archbishop Temple, he has crowded into his life, before he is forty, a vast number of experiences. He has already won a name as author, editor, schoolmaster, popular preacher, hon. chaplain to the King, social reformer and church reformer. It is told of him that as a small boy his affections were divided between abstruse problems and the novels of Dickens.

Ever since his Oxford days when he was president of the Union, Mr. Temple was marked out for distinction. He is not a scholar of the dry-as-dust type. He is not a prig nor pedant, but an intensely "live" force with immense energy.

He is a remarkably attractive public speaker and can say the most revolutionary things in an engaging manner. He combines the essence of the Oxford spirit with a cosmopolitan breadth of view. He is impatient of trifles and has a wonderfully clear method of brushing aside the things that do not matter and getting down to basic principles.

He is out to remedy abuses in the church. He claims that the church should have power to legislate on all matters relating to ecclesiastical endowments, property, patronage and tribunals; that the church should be able to manage its own affairs through representative and responsible assemblies, and that fuller advantage should be taken of the services of laymen and lay women.

"After all," he says, "the church was not formed to be a devotional club providing various forms of worship for those who like that kind of thing. It was founded to be the army of the Kingdom of God, standing for the principles of Christ and in the power of Christ, before the world, or, if necessary, against the world, it is for the two parallel purposes of church reform and corporal witness that the life and liberty movement in particular supports the demand for church self-government. The Enabling Bill does not by itself secure either, but it makes both possible."

Labor Summoned Peers.

I was present at the meeting of the British Coal Commission, writes Walter Weyl in the New Republic, when Mr. Smillie demanded the appearance of various noblemen who receive their income from mine royalties. "I ask you," he said to the chairman, "to subpoena the Duke of Northumberland, the Earl of Durham, the Marquis of Bute, Lord Tredegar." As he pronounced each name and title the chairman repeated them, and in this contrast of voices and intonations I seemed to discover one of the roots of the elusive class conflict in England. It was as though men of two nations spoke; the rough proletarian accent of Smillie contrasted harshly with the easy, cultured utterance of Justice Sankey, the neat clearness of his syllables, his quiet cadences. It almost seemed as though the justice was mocking Mr. Smillie. But he was not mocking; it was merely the university conversing with the board school. Behind his charming smile the justice, as he toyed with a pencil, was swiftly deciding of bring the peers here before the miners with papers, documents and, if necessary, title deeds.

Now the mere summoning of these peers was almost a revolutionary event, for it is unusual for root diggers to subpoena lords. It is a sign of a social overturn. True, it is in the King's name that they are summoned, but King George V. by the grace of God, had little enough to do with it. So the peers came and testified and went, came and went in sober twentieth century morning clothes, and all that spectacular part of the business is over.

PASSIONATE PANTOUM.

I guess I never loved till now:
And yet the secret in my breast
I haven't got the nerve to vow—
Although I'm sure I love you best.

And yet the secret in my breast
I've felt some several times before
Although I know I love you best.
I have loved other girls of yore.

I've felt some several times before
These palpitations of the heart
I have loved other girls of yore.
And after all we had to part.

These palpitations of the heart
I've felt for Jess and Minnie and Kate
And after all we had to part—
And still I'm not disconsolate.

I've felt for Jess and Minnie and Kate
The passion that I feel for thee—
And still I'm not disconsolate—
Why, you dear, still believe in me!

The passion that you feel for me
I guess I never loved till now.
Why, you dear, still believe in me!
I haven't got the nerve to vow!

—Ted Robinson in Cleveland Plain Dealer.

British Are Planning To Secure Better Results With New School System

IT was Wellington who said that the Battle of Waterloo was won on the cricket fields of England. When, a hundred years later, England went to another Waterloo she discovered that cricket-field education was rather a secondary matter, and that she had not very much of it.

She discovered that war demanded scientific and industrial education through all the levees of her population. She found also a condition of mental and physical under-development in her factory generations that pointed to more alarming future results than any to be apprehended from the immediate hazard of war. She came to the conclusion that if she were to retain power in war and to keep her place of ascendancy in the world's markets she must train a race with the cricket-field physique and the competent practical brain.

England has already begun this work by overhauling her whole educational system. The wisdom of her educators and statesmen has been documented in the Education Act of 1918, which includes in its provisions the democratic training and use of the abilities and aptitudes of every child in the nation from the pauper to the Lord.

"Cook's son, duke's son, son of lord and earl," to quote Kipling, come under its provisions by compulsion; there are no exemptions. Conscript scholars will see that conscript pupils, hereafter, do their bit in the classroom and on the playing field.

Sir Cyril Jackson explained the matter the other day.

Sir Cyril was for fifteen years head of the educational system of Australia, perhaps one of the most democratic in the world. He was for a time chief inspector for the National Board of Education in England, and late chairman of the Educational Committee of the London County Council itself, and as educational expert sat with many courts of arbitration during the war when matters relating to teachers' exemptions and to the employment of minors in war factories were in dispute. He is also responsible for several of the clauses in his country's new great national experiment in education, popularly known as the Fisher Act.

"There was a tradition in England," Sir Cyril began, "that education was something of an accomplishment for gentlemen, the less related to the common ways of life the better. Now a tradition in England is hard to kill. This particular one is dead; we count it among our war casualties.

"Educational systems make rather dry discussion. Let us keep away as far as we can from the class room and the curriculum and examine the system from the human side. Take the children, for instance. Our new education begins in the nursery, from two years to six. Children of those years don't learn much, but they must be physically prepared for learning later.

"In the nursery schools we pay attention primarily to three things, health, nourishment and physical welfare. The elementary school period has been extended to the sixteenth year for full time and the continuation part time period to the eighteenth year.

"Our army records show that what happens in the life of youngsters up to the eighteenth year is very important from the standpoint of the nation—I mean what happens outside of school. So this is what we have done: We have put control of child labor, perhaps the greatest menace to physical welfare, into the hands of the educational authorities.

"Education begins with children, but neither war nor markets could be won or kept if it ended there. New things are being done on the scientific and research end.

"More young men, and women, too, are studying technical and scientific subjects in England to-day than ever before, and, what is more to the point, they are studying with a very different and greater purpose. They are going to change the trend of higher education itself and turn it into fields of social usefulness. Provision for new and more technical colleges is made under the new act."

The Cost of Clothes.

The high cost of clothing is not confined to Canada. Recently a soldier appeared before an English judge against a firm of dyers who had lost a suit of clothes belonging to the plaintiff. The suit cost about $17.50 in 1915, and had been worn only a few times. When the soldier returned from the war his wife sent his garments to the dyers to be cleaned and the suit was lost. The firm offered to pay the original price, but the judge called in a tailor, who testified that the present value of the suit would be at least $45. Thereupon the judge struck a balance and gave judgment for $35 and costs to the soldier.

HEARD THE YANKS WHISTLE

In Verdun on Armistice Night It Was the Only Sign of Peace Correspondent Found.

We rolled into Verdun long after dark, on the day of the armistice and found no celebration there. Williams Stevens McNutt writes in Collier's Weekly. There were no shells falling in the town but otherwise the martyred city was as we had known it during the war. No lights showed the narrow streets were filled with the rustling sound of many soldiers passing in the dark, talking in low ones.

And yet there was something strange about Verdun something different, one change that forced itself upon my attention and yet one which I could not determine. An American soldier stopped near the car to light a cigarette. He had been whistling "Annie Laurie," and after a long while went on whistling. And then I knew what made me feel different in Verdun that night.

Everywhere all over the city Americans were whistling! They were whistling casually unconsciously, one this tune and one that. But they were whistling! One could pick out the Americans in the dark all over the city, because where there was an American one heard the shrilling of some old American tune or newer rag. The French don't whistle casually on the street at any time, and never before had the American generally practiced his habit in Verdun. And that night going about their various tasks in the dark old city, the Americans were whistling.

Hearing that cheery, familiar sound my mind for the first time really took hold on the end of the great war as an understandable fact.

BOY HAD QUEER ASPIRATION

California Youth Believed He Would Make an Ideal Lady's Maid, but He Weakened.

"Bert A. Baldwin, lady's maid."

Sounds funny, doesn't it, especially as Bert is a farmer's boy, but the police vouch for it.

Here's the story:

Detectives Joseph Lawrence and David Broderick, being of an inquisitive nature, sighted Bert as he sauntered into a pawnshop. They watched him go in with two heavy suitcases, and watched him come out. In went Joe and Dave to find out about it.

"What did the young fellow want in here?" they demanded of the pawnbroker.

"Wanted to sell a complete outfit of women's clothes, corsets—— well, everything," replied the shopkeeper. That was enough for Joe and Dave. They set sail for Bert and soon corralled him. Off to jail went Bert. Then came the story:

Bert blushed, stammered and confessed. He had ordered the women's attire so that he could impersonate a lady's maid. He longed for adventure. He heard there were lots of jobs for lady's maids. Hadn't the boys back at Sioux Falls told him he looked like a girl? Hadn't he a girlish face and couldn't he talk like a girl? Sure he could, he concluded. However, his nerve failed him, so he tried to pawn the clothes.—Los Angeles Times.

Use for Unneeded Explosives.

Prof. de Quervain, the well-known Swiss seismologist, has made a suggestion which deserves the very careful attention of our military authorities and of scientific men in this country. There are at present large stocks of high explosives in every country which cannot be preserved and must be denitrated or exploded. He suggests that 50 tons should be exploded at definite times and under various atmospheric conditions and that observers in all the surrounding area should be requested to listen for the sound. Such tests could not fail, says Nature, to throw far more light than accidental unprepared explosions on the many problems presented by the transmission of sound-waves by the atmosphere.

Postage Then and Now.

Persons who thought the raise in the price of letter postage from two to three cents a "big jump" at the time of our entrance into the war, should consider the colonial and early government rates of postage. On March 3, just 72 years ago, the United States issued its first postage stamps, just seven years after England had adopted them.

These first American stamps were of the 5 and 10 cent denominations, and naturally enough bore the likeness of Washington and Franklin. Previous to this time postage was paid in cash, usually by the receiver of the letter. The earliest rates were from 6 to 25 cents.

The self-stropping feature of the AutoStrop Razor makes the blades last longer by preserving the edge that makes shaving comfort possible. 500 shaves from 12 blades.

Razor — Strop — 12 blades — $5

AutoStrop SAFETY RAZOR

SET THE THAMES ON FIRE.

Result Was Greatest Shock to London Known for Centuries.

There is a saying in use about "setting the Thames on fire," when anyone does anything exceptional, says Spare Moments. That actually happened on June 30 1861, when one of the most disastrous fires in the world's history broke out in Tooley street, near London bridge, on that (Saturday) evening. A whole street of warehouses and wharves stocked with valuable merchandise was entirely burnt out.

The fire raged for a month and the damage was estimated at many millions of pounds, thousands of chests of tea, barrels of Russian tallow, oil and saltpetre by the score. The boats as they crept along were caught by the wind to the river and soon many barges were blazing. The excitement was great as the falling warehouses tumbled over into the river with repeated crashes.

By midnight the scene as witnessed from London Bridge was one of the grandest and most terrible since the Great Fire of 1666, which, curiously enough, started within a stone's throw of this one. Streams of red-hot tallow poured down the river, and an army of thieves shovelled it into barrows, raced off with it and reaped a rich harvest. A score of large, well-stocked buildings were destroyed with their contents, homes were plunged into mourning, and firms ruined.

A fortnight later the fire broke out again, and burned as vigorously as previously, four weeks elapsing before the flames died down again. Hundreds of thousand of tons of water failed to extinguish the conflagration. Thousands of men lost their employment and others who were brave enough to enter the blazing warehouses were never found again.

The fire was the biggest loss to insurance companies they had ever known, and the greatest shock to London for centuries. It took years to rebuild the street, and the memory of the fire still lives.

Poisonous, but Valuable.

Before America went into the war there were discussions with reference to the cultivation and sale of medicinal herbs; afterward the interest paled before the necessity of raising vegetables "to beat the Kaiser." So many weeds are sold to be made into medicine that it would be difficult to name them all. Even the jimson, short for Jamestown, called also devil's apple and several other names besides stramonium has its value. We remember how as children we were warned in a loud, stern voice, "Don't touch that weed, it's poison!" It is still as poisonous as it ever was but the leaves sell from 2 to 5 cents a pound, and the seeds also are used as medicine.

IF KIDNEYS AND BLADDER BOTHER

Take Salts to Flush Kidneys and Neutralize Irritating Acids

Kidney and Bladder weakness result from uric acid, says a noted authority. The kidneys filter this acid from the blood and pass it on to the bladder, where it often remains to irritate and inflame, causing a burning, scalding sensation, or setting up an irritation at the neck of the bladder, obliging you to seek relief two or three times during the night. The sufferer is in constant dread, the water passes sometimes with a scalding sensation and is very profuse, again, there is difficulty in avoiding it.

Bladder weakness, most folks call it, because they can't control urination. While it is extremely annoying and sometimes very painful, this is really one of the most simple ailment to overcome. Get about four ounces of Jad Salts from your pharmacist and take a table-spoonful in a glass of water before breakfast, continue this for two or three days. This will neutralize the acids in the urine so it no longer is a source of irritation to the bladder and urinary organs which then act normally again.

Jad Salts is inexpensive, harmless, and is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and is used by thousands of folks who are subject to urinary disorders caused by uric acid irritation. Jad Salts is splendid for kidneys and causes no bad effects whatever.

Here you have a pleasant, effervescent lithia-water drink, which quickly relieves bladder trouble.

717th Bargain Annex Event

Bargain Annex
Registered

Wednesday, September 10th, 1919

SPECIAL 30c FACTORY COTTON, 38 Inches Wide, 23c Yd.
There is a one bale lot of this good quality "Made in Canada" Factory Cotton. It is a firm, clean weave and is fully 38 inches wide. Our street floor counter price is 30c a yard. Annex price ..... Yard 23c

NEW FALL SHIPMENT OF "MADE IN CANADA" FULL-SIZED SUIT CASES
They are the regular size, 24 inch, and are made of a strong fibre and have reinforced corners, double brass fasteners, safety lock and strong leather handles. The inside is fitted with a straps. Made in Canada Annex price will be $1.69

A "MADE IN CANADA" ANNEX EVENT

At this period of re-construction we consider it an opportune time to devote the Annex to a "Made in Canada" Event. Every item here advertised is a Canadian Product and the price, on each, has been substantially reduced for the one day only. Note the Hour sale, from 8.30 a.m. to 12.30 noon. On it alone you can economise to the extent of many dollars, if you are in need of cotton or wish to buy for future use. There are other items equally as attractive therefore read the entire Advertisement carefully

LEADER.

800 YARDS OF YARD WIDE FLANNELETTES, 29c yard

You have a choice of plain white or striped patterns. The width is 35/36 inches. The quality is excellent and if purchased to-day the price would have to be at least 38c a yard. Economical buyers will purchase liberally. Leader price, yard .. 29c

30c and 35c CHECKED AND STRIPED GINGHAMS 23c Yd.
They are 27 inches wide, and you have a choice of striped or checked patterns and a good assortment of each to select from. They are the well-known "Kingcot" brand. Made in Canada Annex .... Yard 23c

LADIES' "MADE IN CANADA" FALL WEIGHT UNDERWEAR, 49c Garment
Not a day too early to buy this splendid quality fine knit ribbed Underwear. It is the popular weight for fall and early winter wear. You have a choice of vests or drawers in white or grey. The vests have high buttoned necks and long sleeves and the drawers are ankle length. Made in Canada Annex event price ..... Garment 49c

BOYS' and GIRLS' 35c, 40c and 45c RIBBED SCHOOL HOSE 2 PAIRS FOR 49c
Forty dozen "Our Leader" School Hose, for boys and girls. They are a fine 1/1 rib and knit to form without seams. Sizes from 7 to 9½, and our regular prices are 35c, 40c and 45c, according to size. All one price for the Made in Canada Annex Leader Sale ..... 2 Pairs for 49c

LEADER.
A FOUR HOUR SALE WEDNESDAY MORNING ONLY, 8:30 A.M. TO 12:30 NOON.

One Thousand Yards of Nainsook Mill Ends 15c yard

There is one thousand yards of fine quality Nainsook Mill Ends, in lengths from 1 to 6 yards. The widths are 33 to 36 inches. If bought from the regular stock the prices would run from 30c to 40c yard. Sold by the end only. No 'phone orders and on sale for four hours only—8:30 a.m. to 12:30 noon. By the end, yard 15c

"Made in Canada" Annex Values at Decided Savings

17c "Imperial" Linen Writing Tablets	2 for 25c	Ladies' 38c Black Cashmerette Hose	27c
Ladies' $1.00 Overall Aprons	66c	59c Chintz Laundry Bags	39c
Ladies' 85c Balbriggan Vests and Drawers Garment	49c	Three only $4.00 Go-Carts to clear, each	$1.95
75c 8/4 Bleached Sheeting	43c	"Canada" Corn Starch	2 for 25c
		"Bargain Annex" Laundry Soap 10 Bars for	59c
		Sunlight and P. & G. Naptha Soap 7 Bars	39c

LEADER.

Second Annex Leader Sale of "Made in Canada" Four String Corn Brooms, 49c

We again repeat this exceptional offer. We offer them at about half the regular price. They are made of good quality green corn and bound with four strings. Only buying in large quantities makes this price possible. Made in Canada Annex price, each 49c

LEADER.

$4.50 EXTRA LARGE FLANNELETTE BLANKETS, $3.49

The quality is excellent and the size is extra large. You have a choice of white, fawn or grey with stripes and borders of contrasting colors. The regular price is $4.50 ..... Made in Canada Annex Sale, pair $3.49

NEW WHITE VOILE BLOUSES AT 79c
Particularly smart, dressy, new White Voile Blouses. They are made semi-tailored style with rows of pleats and tucks; have turn-over collars and four-in-hand black velvet ribbon ties. The material is very fine. There are sizes 34 to 42. The regular price is $1.39, and we strongly urge you to come early. Made in Canada Annex price 79c

55c MARQUISETTE CURTAINING 29c Yard
There are two hundred yards only of this splendid quality Marquisette Curtaining. The shade is light cream and the width is 36 inches. Our every day price is 55c a yard. Almost down to half for the Made in Canada Annex, price, yard 29c

"MADE IN CANADA" SHOES AT CLEAR-AWAY PRICES
Ladies' high and low Shoes, in a big variety of styles and qualities. They are odd lines and slow sellers from our second floor shoe section. There is a good range of sizes in the lot, and for a quick Annex clear away are remarkably low in price. See these Shoe values in the enlarged section of the Annex to-morrow.

LEADER.

Second Annex Leader Sale of "Made in Canada" Victoria Toilet Paper, 12 Rolls for 49c

They are large size rolls of the finest quality crepe tissue, soft finish, soluble paper, and entirely free from injurious chemicals. A very low price for the "Made in Canada" Annex Event ..... 12 Rolls for 49c

NO PHONE ORDERS AND A LIMIT OF TWO LOTS TO ONE BUYER

LEADER.

Second Annex Leader Sale of "Mill Seconds" Ladies' 50c Black Lisle Hose 2 pairs for 49c

They are seamless and of extra good quality. They are seconds, but we have examined several pairs and have been unable to discover any serious imperfections. For the Made in Canada Annex Event the price will be ..... 2 Pairs for 49c

The GRESSMAN Company Limited

RUNNING RACES FOR PETERBOROUGH FAIR BY HIGH CLASS THOROUGHBREDS

Well Known Jockeys Coming Spirited Racing Events Will Be Big Feature.

Patrons of Peterboro's Fair next week have a real treat in store for them, when races for thoroughbred horses will be featured for the first time. The local management of the fair, after witnessing the intense interest displayed in the running events at the Cobourg Horse Show, realized the value of this sport, and at considerable expense have added to their already extensive racing program, three events for the runners.

One race of two heats will be given on each of the three days during the fair. On Monday the conditions call for 3 year olds and up to race 4½ furlongs. On Tuesday the distance will be 5 furlongs and on Wednesday (closing day) the gallopers will be seen in action over the 6½ furlong route. Entries to the events will close at 10 a.m. on the day of each race with the secretary on the grounds. There will be no starting fee and liberal purses have been provided.

A car load of horses, including the majority of the best runners in training around the tracks at Toronto will be shipped here for the events, which will guarantee some spirited and high-class racing. Jockeys Acton, Gibson, Chappell, Cummings, Little and Davidson, all experienced riders will be among those on hand to accept mounts. They will ride in silks the same as on the larger tracks of Canada, which makes it simple for the spectators to distinguish the horses while the races are in progress.

Among the horsemen who will ship to Peterboro for the running events are: J. Lewis, Little Pete, a winner at Galt recently; H. Gibson with Ella Jenning, a winner on many of the Canadian tracks; J. Montgomery's Mimico, which raced creditably in colors of Amos Turey as a 2 and 3 year old; Stuart MacFarlane's Gold Galore, winner of the Coronation Stakes at Woodbine Park, Toronto, and winner of three straight races at the Cobourg Horse Show; W. J. Cross' Meissen, another product of the Waterloo farm of the late Jos. E. Seagram; H. Hewer's John Thompson, a product of Messrs. Dyemett's Brookdale farm at Barrie; P. Mulhall's Thomas G., a son of Live Wire, while Mike Carlon's Mona V. Van Guard, and Sandy McNaughton will be included in the shipment from Toronto.

The fact that there will be no racing on the Canadian Circuit tracks this fall has made it possible for the Peterboro Fair Association to secure these high-class thoroughbreds to race here and the management have every confidence that their efforts will be appreciated by the patrons of the fair.

LIVING IS A DELIGHT

It is always morning and there is always sunlight somewhere in the world, to those whose eyesight is good

If your eyesight is not good, Dr. Fowler's efficiency and a pair of his "PEBLO" Glasses will restore the natural sight. Consult him when you find the eyes failing in any way.

CONSULTATION FREE.

EYESIGHT SPECIALIST A. A. FOWLER DOCTOR OF OPTICS
Phm. B. Toronto University.
HAS FITTED 30,000 SATISFIED WEARERS OF PEBLO GLASSES
Most Up-to-date Sanitary Optical Parlors. With Nugent Drug Co.

THE MARKETS

TORONTO MARKETS

(Special to The Review.)

Toronto, Sept. 9.—Live stock receipts: 861 cattle, 152 calves, 779 hogs, 1,098 sheep. Although trade in cattle was slow, prices were generally steady. Smaller cats were firmer, but hogs sold at yesterday's lowest price.

Choice export	$13.00	$14.00
Choiceb utchers	12.00	12.50
Medium	10.50	11.00
Common	8.50	9.50
Bulls	9.00	10.00
Feeders	10.00	11.00
Choice stockers	8.50	9.50
Light	7.50	8.50
Ewes	8.00	9.00
Lambs	14.50	15.00
Hogs f a w	19.25	19.25
Hogs f o b	18.25	18.25
Calves	18.00	19.50

PETERBOROUGH MARKETS

Dressed Pork, lb.	.30	.35
ChoiceMutton, lb.	.23	.25
Spring lamb, lb	.30	.34
Beef (carcase), lb	.17	.20
Veal (carcase), lb.	.22	.25
Potatoes, pk.	.70	.75
Chickens, lb	.35	.38
Eggs, doz.	.50	.50
Butter, lb.	.60	.60
Raspberries	.27	.30
Green Corn, doz.	.25	.25
Green onions, bunch	.5	.5
Lettuce, bunch	.5	.5
Radish, bunch	.5	.5
Grain, Hay and Straw.
Wheat (spring)	2.09	2.12
Wheat (marquis)	2.12	2.15
Buckwheat	1.15	1.25
Oats	.90	1.00
Barley	1.25	1.25
Timothy hay, ton	17.00	20.00
Loose straw, load	7.00	8.00

SMALLPOX HOSPITAL RE-OPENED

Brantford, Sept. 9.—After having had the smallpox hospital closed here for only a brief time, the health authorities were forced to re-open the same. A case of smallpox was discovered on the return of a Brantofrd family from a visit in Northern Ontario.

FOR THEIR HEALTH

Men Looked Forward to Time in Penitentiary.

Lawyer Left With Some Idea That the Persuasive Powers of His Learned Friend Might Have Been Better Exercised.

One of the most interesting and eloquent old time pleaders at the Missouri bar, says Case and Comment, was Henry Clay Dean, the picturesque lawyer of Rebel Cove, Putnam county. The most striking evidence of his persuasive powers was not given before the jury in a courtroom however, but in the gloomy corridors of the old jail at Kirksville.

Another veteran of the profession, Judge A. D. Reston, tells the story. It was a matter of pride with Colonel Dean, he says, that in nine cases out of ten he could get a defendant off in a jury trial. But once he was called upon to defend a couple of young fellows for breaking into a railway car, and the evidence was so strong that even Colonel Dean saw no way out except to plead guilty and let the boys take the lowest sentence. Having reached this conclusion, Colonel Dean was admitted to the jail for a talk with his young clients. It happened that there were in the same prison two other men who had made arrangements with me to represent them, and, as there was great doubt as to their guilt, I had mapped out a defense that was about as certain as anything human could be to result in an acquittal by the jury.

All four men were in the same corridor, and of course my men could hear what Colonel Dean was saying to his clients.

He took a seat between the two boys, laid a friendly hand on their shoulders, and began in that smooth, pleasant way of his to tell them what life in the penitentiary was. He said he had been down there and looked all through the building and saw how it was conducted; that the yards, rooms—he never called them cells—and corridors were kept clean and well ventilated; that the men got three good meals a day with pie and cake on Sunday; that there were concerts by the band at frequent intervals; that each man was given a nice new suit of clothes and had his hair trimmed in a fashionable style. Of course there was, he admitted, a little work to do, but only enough for healthful exercise. Young men went down there pale and cadaverous, with blowholes in their lungs, and came back strong, pump, clear eyed and active, the masters of a trade, with money in their pockets.

The next morning, when court assembled, the four men were arraigned. Dean's young clients eagerly pleaded guilty, and mine followed suit before I knew what they were about. I was surprised and indignant. I hurried over to them.

"What do you fellows mean?" I demanded. "You don't want to go to the penitentiary, do you?"

They looked at each other for a moment and then one of them replied:

"It's this way, Judge; neither me nor Bill has ever been down there and we thought we'd like to take a little trip for our health."—Youth's Companion.

Easy Money.

He was the kind of man who would wager his very soul away. He had stopped on a busy corner of a great city and as he stood watching the mad rout of passing traffic, the dash of automobiles and the breakneck rush of hare-brained messenger boys on motorcycles a thought struck him—right between the eyes.

He raised up his voice and attracted a crowd. "Men, I will wager $100 that I can cross this street blindfolded."

Brave men shuddered at the thought. "The poor simp," they remarked mentally, "he will be knocked forty ways from blue Monday before he has gone ten feet." The wagers were laid. Then a little skinny fellow came along, blindfolded the reckless man and led him across the street and back in safety, amid angry cries of a duped populace.

Note.—We are willing to part with the motion picture rights of this thrilling episode for 98 cents.—Indianapolis News.

Seagoing Locomotives.

"Early in the war we chuckled and crowed over our ability to take a big 125-ton freight locomotive and box it into nineteen huge crates," writes Edward Hungerford in Everybody's for August, but, "what was that accomplishment alongside the one which we reached long before the armistice—the fashioning of especially constructed ships with five great hatched compartments into each of which seven huge set-up locomotives would go, minus only their smokestacks and their cabs? It was short work for the big 135-ton crane at St. Nazaire to reach down into the hold of that ship and fetch up the thirty-five engines that she carried, setting them upon French rails for the first time, while a host of workmen quickly and easily attached their stacks and cabs. In less than two hours after such a locomotive has been lifted out of the ship's hold she has her steam up and has gone puffing her way into France with a train of loaded cars behind her."

Windiest Place in the World.

The Falkland Islands are said to be the windiest place in the world. Tree growth is practically impossible in this locality.

Pope Has Solid Silver Choir

What is said to be the most expensive choir in the world belongs to the Pope. It is of solid silver and is said to have cost $90,000.

Music Teaching.

About 1000 A.D. a monk in an Italian monastery had been thinking about the long, laborious task of training singers for the church service. Ten years were required for a singer to memorize words and music of the various chants and hymns used! There was no system for learning a new tune independent of the words.

And while he was thinking he heard his choirboys practicing one of their lessons, a hymn that rose in pitch with the first syllable of each successive line, just as the scale series was formed.

Thought flashed!

And the result of his thinking was the use of the syllables ut (changed to "do" later), re, mi, fa, sol, la, si, to facilitate scale learning. The immediate result was that Guido's choirboys learned all their tunes and could take new ones—in six months as against ten years in the old way.

And the indirect result is that boys and girls in the schools of this country learn the scales by a process similar to that thought out by a monk in Italy nearly 1,000 years ago.

James Louis Garvin.

Mr. James Louis Garvin, the well-known London editor, is generally classed as an Irishman, but he is not an Irishman by birth. His parents, however, were Irish, who settled in the north of England. Mr. Garvin, in a letter to Katherine Tynan, said: "My Irish friends forget that I never saw Ireland till I was over 20, and that I have never spent three months of my life there." In his early manhood he came under the hypnotism of Mr. Parnell, whom he still considers one of the greatest men of his time. Mr. Garvin was only 23 when Mr. Parnell died (October 6, 1891).

The Best He Would Say.

"Does your wife believe everything you tell her?"

"I'm not quite sure about that. All I know is that she patiently listens to everything I tell her."

Lonely Telephone Station.

An isolated telephone pay station is located at a camp on the shore of Richardson lake, one of the Rangeley group in northern Maine. This telephone is more than 30 miles from the nearest station at Rumford, on the Maine Central railroad. The line runs 12 miles from the camp to the town of Andover, where connection is made with switchboard in the office of the Andover Telephone company, a sublicensee of the New England company. From that town the lines extend 18 miles to Rumford. From this telephone many emergency calls have originated during the ten years since the station was established. It has been the means of saving the lives of many hunters and woodsmen who have been injured in the north woods.

H. P. Lindsay Agency Co.
Real Estate and Insurance
Automobile Licenses
District Agents for Security Life

MOTORISTS

Do You Want to Save Gas?
Do You Want More Power?
Do You Want Your Car Cleaned While you Run?
Do You Want Real Pleasure in Motoring?
THEN BY ALL MEANS BUY
"LENEOGAS"
REFERENCE GIVEN
Sold by Best Dealers

H. P. LINDSAY AGENCY CO.,
Phone 341. 393 Water St.

Victory Bonds Bought

Those who may desire to sell Victory Bonds should come to my office or communicate with me. I buy Victory or War Bonds of all maturities, in any amount, and I am prepared to pay the best price.

W. H. Taylor, 397½ George St. Peterboro, Ont.

GRAND TO-DAY WEDNESDAY

VAUDEVILLE AND PICTURES

PAULINE FREDERICK in "THE WOMEN ON THE INDEX"

SPECIAL VAUDEVILLE ACT

EUGENE LOCKHART in

PIANOLOGUE AND SONGS

CHAPLIN in "A BUSTED JOHNNY" | PETE MORRISON (IN THE WESTERN PLAY) "THE GUN PACKER"

SATURDAY MATINEE AND EVENING

A TUNEFUL AND GAY MUSICAL PLAY

"MY SOLDIER GIRL"

A Show Of Novelties

SWIFT AND SAUCY CAST — BRIGADE OF WONDERFUL GIRLS

PRICES Mat. 1.00–75–50–25 Eve. 1.50–1.00–75–50–25

SEATS ON SALE THURSDAY

THEATRICAL

SHIPPING CLERK STAKES HIS ALL ON ONE MIGHTY PLUNGE

Hale Hamilton in "The Four Flusher" at Grand Theatre, Thursday and Friday, is an Extraordinary Feature.

The Cast.

Lon Withers ... ... Hale Hamilton
Suzanne Brooks ... Ruth Stonehouse
Josiah Brooks ... ... Harry Holden
Pennington Crane ... .. Ralph Bell
Jimmie ... ... Robert Badger
Ford ... ... Louis Fitzroy
Senor Emanuelo Romez ... ... Frederic Malatesta
Senora Flora Romes .. Effie Conley

The Story.

Lon Withers is chief shipping clerk for a firm of South American exporters when he gets a live tip from a friend of his in Bogota that Emanuelo Romez, a South American millionaire is on his way to the States in search of an American agent.

Withers, therefore, takes the tip, scrapes together all his savings, and decides to deprive himself of all but the barest necessities in order to make a blazing front and a big play for the contract. He plans to stake everything on one mighty plunge in a spectacular throw of the dice, as it were, and leave it to Dame Fortune to throw the big contract into his pocket.

In order to carry out his plan properly, he brings into the scheme his sweetheart, Suzanne Brooks, who is a stenographer in the same office, also the office boy, Jimmy, as chauffeur. Withers takes a business suite at an exclusive hotel, hires a car, buys himself a lot of swell clothes, and prepares to receive the millionaire Colombian.

In due time Romez arrives. He is impressed with the lavishness of Wither's style and freedom of manner. He is even more impressed by the Follies beauties with which the four-flusher surrounds him; the late suppers and the automobile trips on the hurricane schedule which the vigorous young pseudo-agent has arranged. He is fairly swept off his feet with the speed of Withers and things go finely for a couple of weeks the period which had been figured upon as sufficient to put the deal through.

Here is where the big crash comes, and Romez finds himself penniless due to the conspiracy of a band of foreign rogues who are operating to obtain the fabulous wealth of property belonging to Romes in South America.

Withers is almost discouraged. He gives up his expensive suite at the hotel and engages a room in a modest lodging house where by peculiar coincidence, he meets Romez. There he learns of the secret workings against the Senor and determines to break into the game and retrieve the vanishing fortune.

Nothing daunts him on his return to the hotel. For the writer, well-profited handsomely by Wither's recent extravagance comes to his aid and assists him in discovering the plotters who are disguising their activities under the mantles of Russian Government buyers.

Alone, and bare-handed, Withers enters the chamber of his enemy and gathers sufficient evidence to clear up the case and recover the property. As a just reward he receives the coveted contract, and last, but not least comes the heart and hand of the girl who is waiting—the lovely Suzanne.

"MY SOLDIER GIRL" FULL OF COMEDY

GREATEST MUSICAL SUCCESS COMPOSED IN MANY YEARS.

A tuneful musical comedy presented in all its dazzling splendor "My Soldier Girl," the most pronounced musical success that has been turned out in years, coming to the Grand Saturday matinee and evening. This new play is brim full of comedy, contains some twenty tuneful numbers, brilliant in its gorgeous scenic effects and novel costumes, offers a splendid cast and bewitching "pony" ballet who present this sparkling and gay musical novelty in all its merry-making. The story centers about Dixie Harris, a ward of a wealthy Floridan who was a producer of theatrical attractions long before the war. Dixie likewise, the Colonel, served their country during the last struggle, and while in France a love affair crept into the hearts of Miss Harris and a Lieutenant Carter. The Colonel made many friends during his European trip, inviting them to visit his home once the armistice was signed and conditions were such that the majority of the boys and girls would be back in America. It is at the Colonel's home that the first act opens and a briliant lawn fete is in progress, presenting a beautiful picture of flowers and lights. The guests participate in the evening's merriment and a night of gayety reigns in all its merry-making. So many exceptionally clever entertainers are found among the visiting guests that the Colonel, during an impromptu speech, makes known that he is to produce a big Follies production in New York City and extends an offer to all who desire to become members of it. The suggestion is received with wildest enthusiasm and the long to be remembered night of festivities draws to a close with the new Follies show looked forward to with much anticipation.

The second finds many of the guests who participated in the festivities at the lawn fete playing leading roles in the rehearsals of the Follies production on a roof of a New York theatre. True to his word, the Colonel has given the new show a wonderful mounting and it actually out-classes all that have gone before. Dixie is cast as the "Soldier Girl" and nothing prettier has been done in the picturesque land of the stage than this novel play offers in its clever little story. There are more than a score of tuneful song hits of which "My Soldier Girl" leads in popularity with "Just For You." "That Dixie Wedding Tune," "Wrap Me Up In a Bundle of Love," "Jasper's Ragtime Band," and "Won't You Be My Beau," follow closely in this popular score.

RARE TREAT AT GRAND LAST NIGHT

EUGENE LOCKHART, TALENTED ENTERTAINER, HEARD TO GREAT ADVANTAGE.

Mr. Eugene Lockhart provided a rare treat at the Grand last night with his songs and pianologue, his act being one of the best seen here in some time. His songs were original and bright and his breezy manner on the stage early captivated his audience.

The feature picture, "The Woman on the Index," in which Pauline Frederick is starred, is a fine example of the dramatic work of this actress. Incidentally, she is given an opportunity of displaying a large variety of new gowns and furs. This picture concerns a girl who early in life had been falsely accused of the murder of her husband and acquitted for lack of evidence. She later marries again and is discovered by the chief of police who had arrested her in the first case. He is now chief of the secret service and engages the girl to secure evidence against a foreigner who was suspected of being the head of the Bolshevist movement in the United States. This she accomplishes after quite a number of exciting adventures and the man is taken off to prison.

Another splendid picture of western frontier days is entitled "The Gun Packers," and is of the old war between the cowboys and the sheep men. Some splendid outdoor scenes are shown in this picture.

A Charlie Chaplin comedy, which is a scream concludes the program which will be repeated today and tomorrow with matinees both days.

"The Pony Ballet" in "MY SOLDIER GIRL," at the Grand Opera House, Saturday, matinee and evening.

CECIL B. DeMILLE'S NEW ARTCRAFT FILM DON'T CHANGE YOUR HUSBAND, AT ALLEN'S

Unequalled for Beauty, Novelty and Artistry—to be Shown Tomorrow Wednesday

All who saw Mr. De Mille's superb picture, "Old Wives for New," will find this production one of novelty, charm and complete artistry.

It is probable that those who talk learnedly of "art" on the screen are not always exactly sure of their meaning. But no one, even the least conscious of what constitutes art, could fail to recognize something far beyond the ordinary in motion picture in "Don't Change Your Husband," which will be presented at the Allen Theatre on Wednesday and Thursday.

It is an Artcraft special picture, produced by Cecil B. De Mille, which is in itself a guarantee of high quality. But even Mr. De Mille has outdone himself in this story which, for sheer beauty, novelty and artistry, has been unequalled in the annals of the screen.

The story is a new version of the familiar triangle—a lovely and romantic young wife, a husband immersed in business and neglectful of his wife and a debonnaire sleek and highly clever young architect. The wife leaves her husband under the spell of the new-comer's romantic promises and lives to repent and go back again to the man who was foolish enough to put business before everything else, but who, meantime, has reformed and become as immaculate as his ex-rival.

The story was written by Jeanie MacPherson, and unquestionably it is her best work to date. Mr. De Mille has given of his best in the direction and has chosen a small but wonderfully selected cast, including Gloria Swanson, beautiful and charming, for Lelia, the wife; Elliott Dexter, the well-known leading man, as the husband; James Porter and Lewis J. Cody, an excellent actor, as Van Sutphen, the other man.

The settings are superb, dignified, artistic. The costuming is wonderfully effective. Miss Swanson is a vision of beauty in her oriental-like gowns. It is a picture to talk about. It conveys a real lesson for husbands and wives, and it is the most entertaining film witnessed in many months.

AUGUSTUS THOMAS KNOWS "ARIZONA"

HIS KNOWLEDGE OF WESTERN LIFE MAKES THIS PLAY TRULY WORTH WHILE

SHOWN AT ALLEN THEATRE

DOUGLAS FAIRBANKS GIVES THE PRODUCTION A BREATH OF WESTERN ATMOSPHERE

CECIL B. DeMILLE'S "Don't Change Your Husband" An ARTCRAFT Picture

Not invariably does the man who writes of the West know his ground or his characters intimately enough to insure their being accurate. Too often absurdities are permitted to creep in which may not be noticeable to the eastern spectator, but which are glaringly so to those who have lived in the highlands of the West or southwest.

The stage version of "Arizona" was acknowledged to be the nearest approach to realism of any romantic play of that country or period.

The version which Mr. Fairbanks offers, as shown at the Allen Theatre, not only preserves all the features of accurate investiture, costumery and character, but likewise is even more convincing than the play itself.

A wonderful cast was chosen. Albert Parker was director, and the production is one of the most elaborate ever undertaken by the Fairbanks.

The evacuation of the Archangel area by British troops continues uninterruptedly.

SOWING WINTER WHEAT

Dawson's Golden Chaff the Most Popular Variety.

Life of Machinery Shortened by Standing Exposed to Weather After Harvest — All Machines Should Be Overhauled and Stored as Soon as Operations Are Completed.

(Contributed by Ontario Department of Agriculture, Toronto.)

Winter wheat is one of the great cash crops of Ontario. It has been found by farm surveys in the United States and Canada that in very many instances, even in the live stock districts, cash crops can frequently be grown to great advantage. Ontario is an important producer of winter wheat, especially of the white varieties which yield well and bring good prices for pastry, breakfast foods, etc.

Winter wheat can be grown satisfactorily on a variety of soils. It thrives particularly well, however, on a rich loam containing a considerable amount of vegetable matter. This crop fills an important place in the rotation and generally thrives well after beans, peas, and especially after a clover sod or a bare summer fallow.

In experiments conducted at Guelph the winter wheat which has been sown about the end of August or in the first week of September has given the most satisfactory results. If the land is in especially good condition, as in the case of a summer fallow, the seeding might be delayed a little later. In sowing winter wheat it is important to use large, plump, sound, well matured seed of strong vitality at the rate of about six pecks per acre on average soil.

The Dawson's Golden Chaff has been the popular winter wheat of Ontario for a number of years past. It is very stiff in the straw and usually furnishes a high yield per acre. A new variety called the O. A. C. No. 104, originated at the Ontario Agricultural College from a cross of the Dawson's Golden Chaff and the Bulgarian, is very promising. In the past six years it has produced an annual average yield of grain per acre of 45 bushels, while the Dawson's Golden Chaff for the same period has produced 40.5 bushels and the Bulgarian 37.5 bushels. It has also taken the lead over Ontario in the co-operative experiments in each of the past two years. This variety will again be distributed in the fall of the present year for co-operative experiments over Ontario to be tested with one or two other varieties in plots one rod wide by two rods long. Those wishing to conduct this experiment should apply to the Director of Co-operative Experiments in Agriculture, Ontario Agricultural College, Guelph.—Dr. C. A. Zavitz, O. A. College, Guelph.

The Importance of Storing All Harvesting Tools and Machinery After Use.

The importance of storing all harvesting tools and machinery after use is an economic factor still to be realized by a very large percentage of farmers. Much of this apathy on the part of the farmer towards the proper care and management of his farm equipment is due in a large measure to the lack of appreciation of the fact that tools and machines cannot give maximum of efficiency when allowed to become coated with dirt and rust.

The first requisite in this direction is to properly house them. This above all is the most important. It is needless to show the rapid deterioration of steel, iron, wood, canvas, or anything that goes into the construction of farm machines, when they are out of doors and exposed to the elements. Of course, the factors conditioning their life and working efficiency are corrosion of the metals entering into their construction, due to atmospheric actions; the disintegration of the paint and varnishes from the same cause, and the decay of the wooden parts due to heat and moisture. There is, however, no reliable data available that will give us the coefficient of corrosion, but every farmer is aware that the moldboard of a plough subjected to dewy nights or damp weather conditions for a few nights will so rust the bright moldboard as to pit its surface that it requires several rounds of the field to bring it back to good working condition. Such a hard metal is undoubtedly much slower to corrode than either cast or wrought iron hence machines and tools left out exposed to all kinds of weather, the bearings and working parts of machinery and the cutting edges of tools will become so badly affected with rust as to render new parts necessary in the machines and good grinding and honeing of the tools to put them in workable condition.

The question of good and efficient management of machinery is an important one to the farmer if he only could be made to realize the amount of hard cash he loses through his indifference and neglect of them. What farmer would not protest in vigorous terms if he were told when purchasing his binder, say for $150, that its life would be about thirty days — a competent authority estimates its average life to be twenty-four days used for six days in a year. Yet, through the same farmer's carelessness and indifference, a machine built to last at least twenty years is reduced to, say at most, five years.

At the present time there are many reasons why farmers should take good care of their equipment. One is the actual shortage of machines, and the other the saving in dollars in getting the most possible out of a machine before sending it to the junk heap.—Prof. John Evans, O. A. College, Guelph.

Aristocratic Profession.

Miss Hogaboom (of Chicago)—And in what profession is your brother, Lord Hamercy?

Lord Hamercy—Oh, when Algernon leaves Oxford university, don't you know, I fancy he will take orders.

Miss Hogaboom (surprised)—Yes? Well, there are some real nice gentlemen traveling for papa!

ALLEN THEATRE

SHOWING TO-DAY:

DOUGLAS FAIRBANKS in "ARIZONA"

Cramped by three walls, it packed theatres year after year the country over. Imagine it's thrills now. With all outdoors for its stage! And for it's hero, Douglas Fairbanks.

Also a Mack Sennett Comedy in 2 reels "BEWARE OF BOARDERS" and a Canadian Pictorial.

Don't forget our policy of continuous performances.

COMING WEDNESDAY & THURSDAY Cecil B. DeMille Production

"DON'T CHANGE YOUR HUSBAND"

ALSO "THE GREAT GAMBLE" An Unusual Serial

Sir Edward Holden a Famous Banker

Sir Edward Holden, chairman of the London City and Midland Bank, who died a few days ago, was one of the leading figures in the banking world, and it was largely on his advice that the general moratorium was declared on the outbreak of the war and that currency notes were issued by the Treasury. He was a strong advocate of the policy creating gold reserves by joint stock banks instead of leaving that function to the Bank of England, and when the war came his bank held several millions in gold, which he placed at the disposal of the Treasury. Sir Edward was born May 11, 1848, at Tottington, near Manchester, England, the son of the late Henry Holden, of Tottington, Lancashire. He received his education at Owens College, Manchester, and at Trinity College, Cambridge. In his younger days Sir Edward found time to read law at the Inner Temple, and was called to the Bar, not with the idea of practicing, but because he was of the opinion that it is necessary for every banker to have the commercial law of the country at his fingers' ends, so as to be able to decide for himself in moments of emergency instead of relying entirely upon professional advice.

Beginning life as an ordinary bank clerk, Sir Edward was in every sense of the word a self-made man. Close application to his duties and study gave him a knowledge of banking in every conceivable detail, and in its widest sense. Banking was his hobby, and finance and theories of economics afforded him his greatest enjoyment. He represented the Heywood Division of Lancashire as a Liberal in the House of Commons from 1906 to 1910, and was created a baron in 1909. Sir Edward is especially well remembered as one of the leading members of the financial mission which went to the United States in 1915 in behalf of the $500,000,000 Anglo-French loan. On the commission with him were Baron Reading, Sir Edward Babington Smith, president of the National Bank of Turkey; Basil P. Blackett, an expert from the British Treasury; Ernest Mallett, regent of the Bank of France, and Octave Homberg, representing the French Foreign Office. Daily conferences were held at the Biltmore Hotel with leading financiers from all over the country. Owing to the fact that up to this time foreign loans of importance were almost unknown, the commission had a difficult task. Such men as James J. Hill, J. P. Morgan, George F. Baker, Frank A. Vanderlip, Henry P. Davison, Thomas W. Lamont and John J. Mitchell joined heartily in the plan and toured the country with the visitors, educating the public and pointing the necessity of establishing American credits upon which the Allies could draw for war supplies.

Recently Sir Edward had been engaged with other leading bankers of the United States and other countries with plans for making peacetime loans to foreign countries. He considered the proper way to raise funds for war-ridden Europe was to float bonds such as the Anglo-French 5s. of 1915. Reviewing the financial conditions of the world, early in this month, Sir Edward took this view, as quoted in the New York Times: "America has great exportable surplus in her foreign trade, and until in position to devote surplus production to development of her own resources it is better to exchange her products with Europe for promises to pay, even if a percentage of them is unlikely to be redeemed, than to take away from a large section of her population means of livelihood." A writer in an English newspaper, under the head of "Sir Edward Holden's Daring — An Unconventional Banker," in 1914, said of him, among other things: "Never has a banker shown so definitely that he has the courage of his opinions. It is not too much to say that bankers, who are a restrained, dignified, conservative class of men, have been scandalised. Sir Edward Holden has what some might call audacity. The first bombshell which he exploded, earlier in the year, was his outspoken challenge to his fellow-bankers on the subject of their gold reserves."

Sir Edward was noted for his banking duel with Lloyd's Bank, and the growth of Lloyd's seemed to increase rather than discourage the determination of Sir Edward and his London City and Midland Bank. "During the last twenty-five years," continued the English writer, "it has absorbed twenty-four banks with deposits amounting to practically fifty millions sterling. The war of the banks in the field of absorption was quietly but grimly waged, and in their last balance sheets, while the deposits with Lloyd's were shown to amount to ninety-two millions sterling, those with the London City and Midland amounted to ninety-four millions sterling. The extent to which a bank holds the deposits of the people, is, of course, a measure of its greatness, and in this respect Sir Edward Holden's bank was seen to have gained the premier position." Not only was he familiar with the banking conditions in his own country, where he held a premier place but was thoroughly familiar with banking conditions of the world, especially of the United States, and in his annual address to the stockholders of his bank last year he praised the American banking system as a model for Great Britain.

Sir Edward had a beautiful place in Surrey, near Chertsey, known as the Grange, and married Miss Annie Cassie, a daughter of William Cassie of Aberdeen.

Protected King Charles' Statue.

The famous King Charles statue in Whitehall, London, was protected from air raid danger at a cost of £450.

Reconstruction In England.

At Newcastle-on-Tyne an airplane factory will take up the manufacture of house furniture and will give work to five thousand people, while another factory in the same town is changing from the making of guns to the building of locomotives, giving employment to over five thousand.

Crockery Designs.

The earliest crockery designs made use of in England were obtained from the Chinese.

Railway Time Tables

C. P. R. TIMETABLE

Effective May 4th, 1919.

GOING EAST

8.20 p.m.—Indian River, Norwood, Havelock and Tweed.

11.52 p.m.—Norwood, Havelock Kingston, Smiths Falls, Perth, Montreal, Quebec, St John, N.B., Boston and New York.

*1.30 a.m.—Havelock, Tweed, Kingston, Perth, Smiths Falls and Ottawa

11.59 a.m.—Norwood, Havelock Bonarlew, Tweed, Perth, Smiths Falls Ottawa, Montreal and intermediate points.

*11.59 a.m.—Norwood and Havelock

GOING WEST

*4.53 a.m.—Toronto, Owen Sound Guelph, Goderich, Hamilton, Buffalo New York, Galt, Woodstock, St Thomas, London, Chatham, Detroit and Chicago.

6.21 a.m.—Myrtle and North Toronto.

7.35 a.m.—Toronto, Hamilton Buffalo, Rochester, Boston New York and intermediate points between Peterborough and Toronto.

9.35 a.m.—Lindsay, Orillia, Port McNicoll and intermediate points.

3.20—Toronto, Hamilton, Brantford, Buffalo, New York, Galt, Guelph Woodstock, London, Windsor, Detroit and Chicago and intermediate point between Peterborough and Toronto.

8.00 p.m.—North Toronto, Lindsay and intermediate points.

*3.20 p.m.—Toronto and intermediate points.

*Daily.

Daily except Sunday.

Daily except Saturday.

*Sunday only.

GRAND TRUNK RAILWAY SYSTEM TIMETABLE.

No. 96—8:10 a.m., for Toronto, via Port Hope, also points on Main Line east.

No. 92—8:20 a.m., for Lindsay, Blackwater Jct., Orillia, Midland, North Bay and Toronto.

No. 98—8:35 a.m., for Hastings, Campbellford, Belleville and points on Main Line East.

No. 368—8:30 a.m., for Lakefield.

No. 92—12:04 p.m. for Lindsay, Port Hope, Toronto, Buffalo, making connections with International Limited for London, Detroit and Chicago.

No. 371—12:15 p.m. for Lakefield.

No. 100—2:00 p.m. for Hastings Campbellford and Belleville.

No. 95—5:40 p.m. for Lindsay, Orillia, Midland, North Bay and Toronto.

No. 373—5:40 p.m. for Lakefield.

No. 99—8:31 p.m. for Lindsay.

No. 94—9:10 p.m. for Port Hope, Montreal and Boston.

The Steamer

Naiad

ON AND AFTER

MAY 5th 1919

The Steamer Naiad will run as follows:—

Leave Lakefield daily on arrival of noon G.T.R. Train for Stony Lake Points connecting at Mt. Julian with the Apsley Stage

The Review Job Printing Department

Is complete in every respect. We are prepared to print anything from a visiting card to a catalogue at the shortest notice. We use only the best of papers and our work is all guaranteed to . . please . .

PRICES ARE AS LOW AS IS CONSISTENT WITH CLASS OF WORK WE DO

PHONE 189 AND OUR REPRESENTATIVE WILL CALL

-:- THE REVIEW -:-

Australians Building Greatest Dam in World To Assist in Irrigation

WHAT is said to be the greatest dam in the world will be located on the Murray river in New South Wales, Australia. The dam, which is for the laudable purpose of irrigating the arid regions of New South Wales and South Australia, will be situated on the Murray river near the border of Southern Australia, and there will be locks and weirs on the Murrumbidgee and Darling rivers, also in New South Wales, which will be prodigious schemes in themselves. The site of the dam is on a bed of rock of gray granite, 34 feet below the surface of the land, while similar rock obtrudes on the hills on both sides of the river. Before a decision was reached 28 sites were investigated and 158 borings sunk.

The total length of the dam will be 3,601 feet divided into three sections, an earthen dam of 2,700 feet long, a concrete spillway 740 feet long, and outlet works 161 feet long. The earth work section of the Victorian side of the river extends across the alluvial flats 96 feet above the surface. The level of the dam will be 32 feet in width, on which a roadway will be constructed. The river section will be constructed of solid granite blocks, the largest that can be obtained. It will have 30 piers carrying the roadway, also 30 shutters for the control of the water.

The dam will have a storage capacity of one million acre feet, or 43,560,000,000 cubic feet, or 272,250,000,000 gallons of water. With the reservoir full there will be a submerged area of 30,300 acres.

The generation of electricity is also provided for in the erection of a plant on the New South Wales side of the river. The eight outlet pipes when open will discharge 8,000 cubic feet per second, or 480,000 acre feet per month. Since four of the pipes are capable of discharging 240,000 acre feet per month, the average flow of the river, it will be seen that four others can be closed for repairs without reducing the required flow.

This gigantic task is undertaken by the united governments of New South Wales, South Australia and Victoria for redeeming waste and arid lands, where cultivation and development will bring vast wealth to the country. The scheme, which will be assisted by the Federal Government of the Commonwealth, will cost $8,000,000. Thus little by little, man is adding to the conquest of nature, making even the desert places like watered gardens, to blossom as the rose and by their beauty and fertility to serve the human race.

"Britannia the Pride of the Ocean."

The two songs, "Britannia the Pride of the Ocean" and "Columbia the Gem of the Ocean," appear to have been written by the same person, an Englishman, named David T. Shaw. The New York Independent recently had an editorial, based on the erroneous supposition that the first named song is entitled "Britannia the Gem of the Ocean," in which it said: "But originality is not characteristic of national song. 'Britannia the Gem of the Ocean' had a certain appropriateness. To an observer in a dirigible the island might well look like an emerald set in the silver sea. But 'Columbia the Gem of the Ocean' is absurd. A gem of the size of the United States would be classed as a semi-precious stone at least." It has been moved and seconded that a transposition be made, "gem" being placed in the Britannia song and "pride" in the Columbia song, so as to make a more appropriate setting for each. Are you ready for the ayes?

Paris Takes Up New Mascot.

Paris has taken [illegible] as a new mascot which is to be seen everywhere. It [illegible] the shape of a small [illegible] and is favored [illegible] as well as manufactured [illegible] and silver [illegible] stones. The [illegible] leaped into immediate popularity, placing the rabbit, [illegible] white elephant and the four-leaved clover as a luck bringer. — London Globe.

SHIPS WHICH DON'T COME IN.

Few People See "Chambers of Horrors" In London.

In the very heart of the city of London there is a "chamber of horrors" which none but the privileged may enter, and of which the world at large knows nothing, says Pearson's Weekly.

There is nothing at all gruesome in the aspect of this chamber, which is, in fact, a small, cheerful room leading out of the great hall of Lloyd's, and on the walls of which is an array of flimsies, yellow and brown.

It is in these innocent-looking pieces of paper that the latent tragedy lies, for they tell of ships missing and lost, and each telegram has quite a tragic importance to some of the 500 underwriters who haunt the room.

Whenever a ship leaves port she is insured by her owners at Lloyd's against loss or damage to herself or her cargo; and this risk is divided among a number of underwriters, who insure her for certain sums ranging from £100 to thousands of pounds, in return for a premium.

A slip is passed round from one underwriter to another, and on the information supplied as to the destination, cargo, and class of the ship, the names of her owners and captain, the insurance required and its rate, each underwriter puts down on the slip the sum for which he is prepared to make himself responsible in case of loss or damage.

The limit is entirely at the discretion of the underwriter, and there have been cases in which a man has ventured £50,000, and even £100,000, on the safe voyage of a vessel.

When a man thus risks hundreds or thousands on a stake so full of uncertainty as the safety of a ship, which naturally encounters so many dangers, her voyage is a matter of daily anxiety to him until she reaches her destination.

When she is overdue the anxiety of the underwriter increases, and each day that passes without the ship's arrival at her destination being reported adds to it. He begins to see the wisdom of reducing his risk by "hedging," and at this stage the "doctor," as he is called at Lloyd's, comes on the scene.

The "doctor" is a man who deals in overdue risks, and for an increased premium is willing to take the original underwriter's responsibility on his own shoulders.

When the original premium was, say, 25s. per cent., the "doctor" demands five guineas—or, as the risk increases through the continued non-arrival of the overdue ship, ten, twenty, fifty, or more guineas for each £100 insured.

In some cases an underwriter has paid as much as seventy and ninety guineas per cent. to reinsure an overdue vessel, which has turned up safely after all, to his chagrin and the "doctor's" great jubilation.

It is thus easy to see with what trepidation a man who has staked a large sum on an overdue vessel must enter the "chamber of horrors," dreading day by day to see the fatal announcement that must mean a heavy loss, and may mean absolute ruin to him.

Legend of "Dirty Dick."

Many visitors to London have heard of "Dirty Dick's," but few probably have taken the trouble to locate the famous old tavern, says Tit-Bits.

Situated at the corner of Bishopsgate and Catherine Wheel Alley, the tavern is of itself a curious history of old London. It was built 150 years ago, and one of its earliest haunts was the famous "Dirty Dick."

The legend proceeds that he, having been crossed in love, gave way to melancholy, and allowed his house to go to ruin. He would permit no woman to enter the dwelling to clean it, and declined to do so himself, the result being that inside the counters were thick with dust, while cobwebs were the predominant note on the ceilings. Old furniture, which gave way from age, and glasses which were chipped and old-fashioned, were retained, and as the hermit-owner became older his premises became dirtier, until they became one of the sights of London.

Whatever his place may have been, "Dirty Dick's" liquor had the reputation of being good. At his death certain portions of the cobwebs were carefully preserved by his successors as part of the stock-in-trade of the business, as to have removed the "attraction" would have been to deal a heavy blow at the place's popularity. For a number of years lately the premises, which include very extensive cellars, and are let at a rent of £10,000 per annum, have been leased to a firm of wine merchants.

Fewer Bibles.

While the demand for Bibles in Mexico has reached an unprecedented magnitude, the American Bible Society has been compelled by the increased cost of paper and postage to curtail its output of Scriptures.

Women Surgeons.

For the first time in its long history the Dundee Royal Infirmary in Scotland has women alone as house physicians and surgeons.

KNEW AND LOVED STEVENSON

Old Resident of Tahiti Proud of His Association With the Famous Romanticist.

In the town of Papeete, on the island of Tahiti, lives an old man named Donat, a former comrade of Robert Louis Stevenson when the famous romanticist was journeying through the South Sea islands. Donat loves to tell of the days when the writer used to rest in his home and listen to the weird ghost tales which the old man told and which Stevenson wove into some of his stories.

Their friendship began when the writer rented a house to rest in after a trip through the Marquesas Islands. On Donat's grounds were the only vegetable gardens in the island, the formation of which was mostly coral, sand and rubble. Each morning the old man would send to Stevenson's house a great basket of fresh vegetables, fruit and coconuts, and later when the author came to thank Donat for the gift the two would sit in the shade and talk for hours.

Nothing delights Donat more than to talk of his gentle friend and the days when they were together. He gives an intimate picture of Stevenson's simple life on the island, of his rambles on the beach among the coconut groves, of his friendly associations with the natives. When Stevenson left the island he invited Donat aboard his ship for dinner and presented him a valuable ring as a souvenir of their friendship. "He was a good man, a great gentleman," is Donat's tribute.

FOUGHT "REDS" WITH CUSTER

"Devil" Devlin, Veteran of the Plains, Now Sells Apples on Streets of New York.

It is a long jump from selling apples from a little sidewalk stand in West 43d street to pumping a carbine during the height of Custer's last fight, but there's an old man in town who does it daily, if any one comes along to encourage him to make the journey. He is Frank Devlin, a little gray-haired, wrinkled apple man, who sits daily with his stock of apples. Yesterday, writes the New York correspondent of the Pittsburgh Dispatch, he met a modern warrior wearing the Croix de Guerre who had just returned from overseas. The newly made veteran listened with respectful attention while the apple man showed him the way to handle a rifle. For years the withered old man was "Devil" Devlin, crack rider of the Fifth United States cavalry, and one of the twenty best horsemen in the United States army. It was "Devil" Devlin who rode from Prescott, Ariz., to Dodge City, Kas., which took a matter of nearly three months, 1,110 miles in the saddle. Devlin was present at Custer's last fight and he declares that the Indian fighter of the plains could tell some things to the heroes of the A. E. F. about hard work and harder fighting, long hours and scanty rations.

FALL FAIRS 1919

PETERBOROUGH—Sept. 15-17
Campbellford—Sept. 23-24.
Bancroft—Oct. 2-3.
Bowmanville—Sept. 16-17.
Brighton—Sept. 11-12.
Brockville—Aug. 25-28.
Bobcaygeon—Sept. 26, 27.
Cobourg—Sept. 17-18.
Colborne—Sept. 25-26.
Centreville—Sept. 20.
Cobden—Sept. 25, 26.
Demorestville—Sept. 27.
Delta—Sept. 15-17.
Dungannon—Oct. 2-4.
Frankford—Sept. 18-19.
Harrowsmith—Sept. 18-19.
Keene—Oct. 7-8.
Kingston—Sept. 23-27.
Lakefield—Sept. 23-24.
Lindsay—Sept. 18-20.
Madoc—Oct. 7-9.
Merrickville—Sept. 16, 17.
Marmora—Sept. 30.
Maynooth—Sept. 25.
Midland—Sept. 29-Oct. 1.
Millbrook—Oct. 2-3.
Napanee—Sept. 9-10.
Norwood—Oct. 14, 15.
Odessa—Oct. 3.
Orillia—Sept. 16-17.
Oshawa—Sept. 8-10.
Orono—Sept. 25, 26.
Picton—Sept. 16-18.
Port Hope—Sept. 23, 24.
Roblins Mills—Sept. 23, 24.
Shannonville—Sept. 16.
Stirling—Sept. 25, 26.
Stella—Sept. 30.
Tweed—Oct. 2, 3.
Wolfe Island—Sept. 17, 18.
Warkworth—Oct. 2, 3.

MIXED WOOD
$7.00 Per Cord
HARD WOOD
$10.00 Per Cord
Cutting and Splitting extra.
ORDER NOW
FROM
J. E. A. FITZGERALD
Phone 111

Canada Food Board License No. 8-2087
D. M. MINICOLA
Best Fruit—
Cheap
Best Vegetables
Reasonable
Best Groceries
At Right Prices
410½ GEORGESTREET
Bell Phone 93

COAL
—AND—
Builders' Supplies
Hardwood Flooring
Robt. Hicks & Co.
LIMITED

PITTSTON COAL
IS THE BEST
ALL SIZES IN STOCK
Also best lines of SOFT COAL at Lowest Prices
McCARTHY & JOHNSTON
COAL DEALERS
111 Hunter Street, East City
Phone 96 TERMS CASH

HARD COAL
EGG, STOVE,
NUT, PEA
H. B. TAYLOR & SON
160 AYLMER-ST.
Phone 209

Order Your Coal From LOW & Co.
We have all sizes in stock
EGG, STOVE, NUT AND PEA
The best and cheapest coal in town. Perfectly screened and promptly delivered. Bring your orders in now.
Prices advance every month.
LOW & COMPANY
262 Simcoe Street. Phone 697
House 396

LUMBER
Builders' Materials of all kinds—Shingles, Scantlings, Joist and Bill Stuff, Mouldings, Cartings, Base and all kinds of Finish, Boxes and Box Shooks; Slabs and Mill Wood.
Alf. McDonald Estate

When a man questions a woman
His ignorance so plainly shows;
If wise, he'll act indifferent,
And she'll tell all she knows.

TO THE HOLY CITY

Sacred Road Filled With Crowds of Refugees.

Scenes Brought About by Modern Warfare in Sharp Comparison With Those Which Met the Eyes of the Magi.

Beyond Bethlehem the once narrow camel road over which the Magi had come broadened into a dusty highway and began to fill with a throng of people going to and from the Holy City, writes John H. Finley in "From Beersheba," in Scribner's. The refugees from Jericho, encamped in the field opposite the tomb of Rachel, were rising frowzled from their nomad beds. Lurries and ambulances were starting from camps at the roadside for the hellish places from which these refugees had fled, down where the British forces were holding their trenches awaiting the day of advance. A battalion of Anzac cavalry was passing in the opposite direction for its period of rest after the night's riding. Indian lancers and Indian infantrymen, picturesque even in khaki, looked and knelt toward the dawn and their own Himalayas. Trains of camels from somewhere bore their compact loads that might be myrrh or the daily manna for the troops. Hundreds of donkeys, "Allenby's white mice," went pattering along. Airplanes were mounting and circling with their hum, to scout or perhaps to bomb the hills toward Shechem. Barefoot women with vari-colored burdens on their heads walked with all the stateliness of queens toward the city of peace—the city of peace amid shepherds' fields, now become munition magazines, which were daily augmented by what the trains brought up from Egypt, and daily diminished by what the trains toward the front were carrying northward for the redemption of Samaria and Galilee, the ancient land of the tribes of Benjamin and Ephraim and Manasseh and Issachar and Zebulon and Asher and Naphtali and Dan—Dan, which I would yet reach—but that is another story.

For the day I was content to stop at the mount within the walls of Jerusalem, where Abraham ended his sacrificial journey, fire and knife in hand, the mount whose topmost rock was regarded as the center of the world, the "stone of foundation," on which the ark of the covenant once rested; the mount from which Mohammed is said to have ascended on his miraculous steed; the mount over whose edges the orthodox Jew does not dare to venture lest he tread upon the "Holy of Hollies," but wails at the wall of lamentation without; the mount at whose verge the Christ was crucified and buried, and from whose rock-hewn tomb he rose. It seems indeed the "center of the world," and over it all, as I saw it that morning, the tower of ascension stood on the Mount of Olives against the sunrise.

A BOXING TOURNAMENT
WILL BE HELD AT
BROCK STREET RINK
Thurs. Sept. 18
AT 8 P.M.
RETURN MATCH
Between
Young Cattle—Toronto
And
Kid Brompton—New York
Lightweight
Good Preliminaries are Being Arranged for
ADMISSION—$1.00, 75c, 50c
Ringside seats now on sale at Tom McCabe's Cigar Store and at Speare's Barber Shop.

BY COURTESY OF C.P.R.

The Prince's Visit to Montreal—Keeping the crowd back near Windsor Station.

Bringing up Father

By George McManus

MICKEY MENTIONED ME
I DIDN'T THINK THE BRAINLESS MAN KNEW HOW TO USE A PHONE -
I SAID HE'D PASS HERE WITH HIS MACHINE IN A FEW MINUTES AN' WANTED TO KNOW IF HE COULD DROP IN -
MACHINE? I NEVER KNEW HE HAD A CAR- I'D LIKE TO SEE IT-
GREAT HEAVENS - LOOK WHAT IS IN FRONT OF THE HOUSE -
AND HOW ARE YOU - JERRY -
NEVER BETTER - AND YOU?
9-1

Barrie's
Peterboro.

LADIES' READY-TO-WEAR DEPARTMENT

(The House With Exclusive Styles.)

See the New Fall Goods coming in now. You will be interested in them

BARRIE BUILDING
312 George Street
Phone 340

SAFEGUARD YOUR EYESIGHT

When you accept our invitation to a consultation regarding the condition of your eyes, you need not feel concerned about what we will tell you. You will learn only the truth.

"See Us and See Better."

W. H. LACEY
Optical Specialist.
410 George St.

DISTRICT AND LOCAL NEWS

S. A. TEMPLE BAND NOTES.

The Temple Band will meet for practice tonight at 8 o'clock. A full attendance is requested.

G.W.V.A. EXECUTIVE MEETING

An executive meetin gof the G.W.V.A. will be held tonight. Every member is urged to be present as business of importance is to be discussed.

Dr. E. V. Frederick, member Royal College of Surgeons, England, late Surgeon No. 1, Canadian Stationary Hospital, Salonica, late Surgical Specialist No. 70 Indian Stationary Hospital, Bagdad, late Clinical Assistant Mayo Clinic, Rochester, Minn., has resumed practice corner Charlotte and Rubidge streets, Peterboro— especially consulting practice in surgical and chronic conditions.

Dr. Free, late house physician Toronto General Hospital, assistant in practice with Dr. Frederick and in charge of laboratory work.

AUBURN S. S. SOCIAL

The social held at Auburn Sunday School last Thursday evening was in unqualified success. The program was placed in the hands of Rev. Mr Ross, who acted as chairman. The school has been renovated and beautified and the work reflects great credit on all concerned. The superintendent and his staff are to be congratulated on the splendid work in North Peterborough and Mrs. Elliott desires to thank all who so generously contributed to the splendid enterprise.

TIRES VULCANIZED

Because that tire has a hole through it is no reason why you should throw it away. You may yet get several thousand miles out of it by having a sectional repair made We Vulcanize Auto Tires and Tubes and guarantee our work. Millard's Bicycle Shop, 226 Hunter street, near Aylmer, phone 284j.

NOTICE.

The regular meeting of the Peterborough Poultry Association takes place Wednesday evening, September 10, at 8:15 p.m in the Trades and Labour Hall, George Street.

PALMISTRY.

Madame Alice, famous Scotch palmist at Gollop's Hotel opposite Grand Opera House Here only for a short time. Hours from 10 a.m. to 10 p.m. All readings $1.00.

DANCE DISCONTINUED.

The regular Wednesday evening dance of the Golf Club will be discontinued until further notice.

GOMPERS' FATHER DEAD

Boston, Sept. 8.—Soloman Gompers, father of Samuel Gompers, president of the A.F. of L., died at his home in the Dorchester district tonight.

SOCIAL AND PERSONAL

Miss H Lynch has returned from a few days' visit in Toronto.

Mr and Mrs. Drake, 567 Bolivar street, returned home on Saturday evening after a two months' visit at Balbeck.

Miss Menzies has returned home after a two months' visit with Minneapolis friends.

Miss Vera Ewart of Lindsay is in the city attending the Peterborough Business College.

Miss Lillian Smith of Rochester is the guest of Mrs. Bert Heard, 239 George street.

Miss Ruby Young is spending a few days with friends at Oakville Ingersoll and Toronto.

Miss Hazel Chrow has returned to the city after a week's visit with friends in Toronto.

Mr and Mrs John Williams, 522 Sherbrooke street, announce the engagement of their daughter, Alys, to Harold Wilmer Gray, son of Mr and Mrs S. Gray, Calgary, Alberta the marriage to take place on September 17th.

Miss Alice Roberts of Toronto is visiting Mr and Mrs John Williams 522 Sherbrooke street.

Miss Jessie Cressman leaves today for New York, wher she will pursue the study of art.

Major W. H Cavanagh is spending the week-end with Mr F. L. Roy Rubidge street. Major Cavanagh is on a motor touring trip from Buffalo, Toronto and other points.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank H Dobbin 622 George street, Peterborough Ont., announce the engagement of their youngest daughter, Dorothy Kathryn, to Mr Stanley Charles Cook, of the Dominion Bank, Guelph the marriage to take place the latter part of September.

Mr. and Mrs. Hill, of Toronto, motored to Peterborough yesterday and spent the day in the city.

Miss Mabel Patterson has returned to Toronto after spending her holidays with her parents, Mr. and Mrs E. G. Patterson, Hunter street

Mr and Mrs D Cameron, California, are visiting with friends in the city.

Miss Annie Grahame, of Toronto, was a visitor to the city yesterday.

Mr and Mrs. C. H Carrol, of Detroit, have returned home after visiting with friends in the city.

FUNERAL OF THE LATE P. R. PAMMETT THIS AFTERNOON

The funeral of the late Percy R Pammett was held from the family residence, 271 McDonnel street, this afternoon at 2:30 o'clock, to Rae's cemetery, Lakefield.

The large attendance of relatives and friends testified highly to the popularity of the deceased. The fire chief's auto led the funeral with the hose wagon following, both fittingly draped in purple and black. Behind them walked a delegation of firemen and policemen, and then followed a long procession of automobiles.

Rev. Canon Davidson conducted the service and the bearers were Messrs. V. LeBarr, Bert Trotter Harold Howall, J. Ward, W. Copperthwaite and J. Weyer.

Mr. Pammett was a native of Young's Point and served as an engineer on different boats on the Kawartha Lakes for a number of years before joining the local fire department two years ago. He had always been very popular with his fellow employes, and Fire Chief Grange speaks highly of his services while engaged at the firehall as engineer.

Deceased enjoyed perfect health up till about six weeks ago Since then he had complained of feeling ill, continued his duties at the firehall until a week ago Sunday. He was taken to Nicholls Hospital last Saturday, but medical aid proved of no avail and he finally succumbed to internalb lood poisoning.

SITE OF NEW PUBLIC SCHOOL ANNEXED TO CITY TODAY

Chairman of Railway and Municipal Board Here.

Mr. D. J. McIntyre, chairman of the Ontario Railway and Municipal Board was in town today concerning the ennexation of the site for the new school within the city limits.

The Chamberlain estate from whom it was purchased had consented to its annexation and the city council had passed a resolution favoring it. The site consists of approximately five acres t the corner of Sherbrooke and the Monaghan Rod.

Mr. T. A. Peck appeared for the Board of Education and Chamberlain estate; City Solicitor Widdifield for the city and G. W. Hilton for the township of North Monaghan.

The result of the meeting is that the order will be issued annexing the property to the city to take effect September 12 of this year. The taxes for this year wol be collected by North Monaghan. The adjustment of debentures is that the city will issue charges for debentures, outstanding that would be chargeable against this property.

OBITUARY

MRS. HELEN MCAULIFFE.

The death occurred at midnight last night of Mrs Helen McCauliffe, wife of Patrick McCauliffe, of Emily. Deceased leaves to mourn her departure, besides her husband, one son, Lawrence, and two daughters, Mrs. Charles Egellson, London, and Marie at home, also her mother and three brothers of Gananoque.

The funeral will be held Thursday morning to St Martin's cemetery, Ennismore.

G.W.V.A. ACTIVE IN SELLING MAXWELL CAR DRAW TICKETS

Over 2,000 Tickets Now Out and Many Sold.

The Great War Veterans are making strenuous efforts to make the draw for the Maxwell car a great success. The car offered by the association is a six passenger Maxwell car valued at $1375. This is one of the most comfortable cars on the market and well worth the chance of buying a draw at $1. Over 2,000 tickets are out and the public should buy these to help the Veterans as well as to take the chance of having the lucky number which will get a 1375 car for $1

The draw will be made on the last day of the Exhibition by someone appointed by the Exhibition Committee

SHORT HORNED BREEDERS ASSOCIATION TO HOLD SALE

Last Week in January Chosen at Annual Meeting.

The Short-Horned Breeders' Association of Peterborough County held their annual meeting Saturday afternoon in the City Council chamber. The old officers were re-elected, as follows:

President—J. A. Knox.
Vice-President—A. B. Mann.
Secretary—F. C. McRae.
Member of Executive—L. A. Redmond.

It was decided to hold the second annual sale during the last week in January in Peterborough. The number of animals to be sold has been limited to fifty, and of these thirty-six applications have already been received

Every animal put up for sale by the association is carefully inspected so that nothing but the very best will be sold

BELLEVILLE HERE NEXT SATURDAY

CENTRAL ONTARIO LEAGUE CHAMPIONS WILL TAKE ON LOCAL 9 ONCE MORE.

Another big baseball game is scheduled for Saturday afternoon when the Belleville Central Ontario League champions will come here to play the Petes.

These two teams have been rivals all season, a play-off being necessary to decide the championship of the league, two games between them going an extra innings.

In the first game Belleville won in the tenth after tieing the score in the ninth with a home run. This game was protested and replayed in Port Hope, where the locals lost again by 6-3 Belleville came here and suffered a 3-2 defeat. Then in the play-off series Belleville won the first game here by 5 to 4 in ten innings and defeated the locals again in Belleville by a narrow margin.

This record shows just about how evenly the teams are matched and what kind of a game can be expected for Saturday.

The Belleville team are in the pink of condition as they are preparing for their play-off with the Toronto city champions next week in the O. A. B. A championship series.

MATT THOMPSON LOST

Winnipeg, Sept. 8.— Temperament was the deciding factor in a nerve wrecking endurance test, which went to the 37th hole before a decision was arrived at, in the final of the Man to be amateur golf championship, played over the Elmhurst course Saturday and which was won by J. T. Cuthbert, champion of Saskatchewan.

500 NAMES ADDED.

Belleville, Sept 9—Court of Appeals is being held in this city in connection with the referendum vote At the time the enumerators canvassed the city. 6 800 names were placed upon the list Some 500 names were added by the court.

EDITOR'S MAIL

HOW WETS SHOULD VOTE

The Editor of The Review. Sir: I fail to see or agree with the article in the "Examiner" as regards voting on the referendum. Should the wets not vote "yes" to all four questions they will certainly lose, and easily too.

The multiplicity of questions are designed to defeat all who want to use alcohol in any shape or form. For instance, if I do not vote for the repeal of the O. T. A., those who want the law to remain in its present unfair and unBritish state will win out. There is no guarantee that there will be any amendment even if there is a majority asking for it. In one question called for by the O.T.A. is repeal or no repeal. The other questions are not called for by the act and will have no effect.

We know Premier Hearst has declared himself a prohibitionist, and the wets will not trust him to make amendments.

Now unless all who want to use alcohol answer yes to all four questions, wherever they answer "no" they help the other side, who will answer no to all four. If those who went right here only put X to the other questions, and those who want spirits do the same, each of those voters are unknowingly helping the prohibitionists to win.

Suppose for instance the wets are in a majority of three to one over the drys. Say every twelve want to use alcohol, in various ways to every four that want prohibition. I will show you how the quarter of the voters will win. Say six of the twelve want the act repealed and no amendments, three want no bars, but the Government to handle beers. two want beer in hotels and one wants spirits handled by the Government. The other four are dry. The result of the voting would be as follows:

	Yes	No
Repeal of the O. T. A.	6	10
Sale of beer by Gov.	3	13
Beer in hotels	2	14
Sale of Spirits by Gov.	1	15

and the prohibitionists could look on and laugh.

Therefore I say all must vote "Yes" every time to win, and as Mr. Guise Bagley says leave it to Sir W Hearst to pass a new enactment. The country's representatives know what the people want, and can be trusted

C. DUGGAN

Peterborough, September 9, 1919

MARK STREET CHURCH NOTES

Not withstanding the intense heat the congregation was good in the morning, but larger in the evening and the after meeting, which was the first of the month, took the form of a class meeting and was well attended.

The morning subject, "The Great High Priest of the Ages," was based on Hebrews 4:15, and the evening subject, "God's David, the Inspired Singer," was founded on Samuel 17:45. Both services were deeply spiritual.

In the afternoon a Sunday School re-opening was held at which service Mrs. Morton and Miss F. Sargent, delegates to Bay of Quinte summer school, held in Albert College, Belleville, gave excellent papers

The Epworth League re-opens tonight with Mrs. Morton as president and we are looking forward to a year of blessing and prosperity.

PROFIT SHARING FOR SIX MONTHS

DISTRIBUTION TO EMPLOYES BY THE CRESSMAN COMPANY LIMITED.

Last night at the close of business the Cressman Co. made their first half-yearly distribution of profit sharing checks to each employee who has been with the firm for six months.

This policy of the company was inaugurated last February and the distribution covered the period from February 1 to August 1.

WAR TROPHIES LIKELY TO BE SHOWN AT PETERBORO EX.

War Veterans Making Efforts to Procure Big Display of Trophies.

A strenuous effort is being made by the local branch of the G.W.V.A. to procure an exhibit of war trophies for the Peterborough Industrial Exhibition Secretary Whatley was in touch with Toronto this morning and the officers of the association are confident that an excellent display of interesting war trophies will be shown at the Exhibition.

KNOW NOTHING OF TREATY

Paris, Sept. 9.—Members of the American delegation at the Peace Conference deny all knowledge of an agreement, reported in British newspapers, by which the United States and England guarantee Belgium against German aggression

WEDNESDAY BARGAINS

COLORED DRESS GOODS, 59c yard

36 to 40 inch Colored Dress Goods, in such popular cloths as Bedford cords, poplins, plaids and novelty mixtures, in such colors as navy, Alice, tan, brown, taupe, black and white checks, splendid cloths for women's and children's garments. Regular up to 75c Wednesday Bargain, yard 59c

EMBROIDED BED SPREADS, $4.98

These beautiful white Cotton Bed Spreads are hemstitched all around, and are very artistically embroidered Size 72 x 90 ins. At Wednesday's price they represent a splendid bargain Regular $6.00 While they last $4.98

UP-TO-DATE PLAIDS FOR CHILDREN'S DRESSES, 39c yard

A big special bargain for Wednesday—33-inch Plaid Dress Goods, in a nice range of color combinations, suitable for children's school dresses. Plaids are always popular, and make the prettiest kind of children's dresses. Regular 50c. Wednesday Bargain, yard 39c

CHILDREN'S GLOVES, 10c pair

An odd assortment of Children's Black Silk Lisle and Cashmere Gloves; mostly small sizes; plain wrists. Regular 25c, 35c, and a few pairs at 50c Wednesday Bargain, pair 10c

15c, 25c and 35c SHEET MUSIC, 5c copy

A big assortment of popular instrumental and vocal music that is a little damaged. Regular 15c, 25c and 35c Wednesday Bargain, copy 5c

$6.00 IRISH DAMASK TABLE CLOTHES, $4.98

Fully bleached Irish Damask Table Cloths, having a highly mercerized finish and a linen-like lustre. Made from specially selected and prepared cotton yarns, in a nice choice of floral patterns. These cloths will give the best of satisfaction. Regular price $6.00. Wednesday Bargain $4.98

WHITE SAXONY FLANNELETTE, 35c yard

Pure white Saxony Flannelette, of good weight and fine, soft, downy finish, woven from fine cotton yarns. An exceptionally nice quality which will make warm and cosy night garments for women and children. Wednesday, yard.. 35c

FINE BEDROOM TOWELS, $1.25

Fully bleached and neatly hemstitched Huckaback Bedroom Towels. These towels launder beautifully and will give splendid service Large size. Wednesday, each $1.25

SPECIAL NEW MODEL CORSETS, $1.75 pair

Women's Fall model Corsets, made from a splendid quality fine coutil, medium low bust style, with long skirt, finished with four strong elastic webbing suspenders. Wednesday, pair ... $1.75

KNIT COMBINATIONS, 79c

Five only small women's cotton knit Combinations; assorted styles to choose from. These are slightly counter soiled. Regular up to $2.00. Wednesday Bargain 79c

SPECIAL REDUCTIONS IN QUALITY GRANITEWARE

$1.25 Granite Pails	97c
75c Preserving Kettles	63c
15c Large Pie Plates	11c
10c Small Pie Plates	7c
25c Large Wash Basins	18c
15c Small Wash Basins	11c
10c Pudding Dishes	7c
15c Pudding Dishes	11c
20c Pudding Dishes	16c
75c Coffee Pots	63c
50c Colanders	37c
15c Soup Ladles	11c
15c Vegetable Lifters	11c
20c Tin Pails	16c

FINE BLEACHED TOWELLING, 30c yard

Very fine Bleached Union Crash Towelling, with a neat self border; 16 inches wide; suitable for hand and roller towels, as well as for fancy work and dresser runners. A value you will appreciate at one price Wednesday, yard 30c

TERRY BATH TOWELS 98c each

Very soft, heavy Terry Bath Towels, in plain white, with stripe borders, or white with colored stripes; some are plain, some have fringed ends. This is a generous size towel; well finished and absorbent. A splendid bath towel Wednesday Bargain, each 98c

NAVY BLUE SERGE, ALL WOOL QUALITY FOR $2-98 yard

If you desire an extra good quality all-wool English Twill Serge select a suit length of this well finished, serviceable fabric tomorrow. The dye is absolutely fast and this cloth will stand plenty of hard wear; 48 inches wide. Regular value $4.50. Wednesday Bargain, yard $2.98

HEMMED PILLOW CASES, 39c each

Pillow Cases, made from strong, good quality cotton that will give satisfactory wear. Neatly hemmed, all ready to slip over the pillows. Wednesday Bargain, each 39c

ANOTHER LOT OF THOSE GOOD $3.00 PETTICOATS, FOR $2.39

We have received another lot of the new Fall styles in Women's Heatherbloom and Moirette Petticoats, in a range of popular dark shades for Fall wear. These skirts are well tailored and are finished sectional and pleated flounces. Regular $3.00 Wednesday Bargain $2.39

BLEACHED HEMMED SHEETS, $1.98

These Sheets are beautifully hemmed in such a way that they will always retain their shape. Made of selected strong cotton yarns and perfectly bleached; they will last a long time under any amount of hard wear and washing. All ready for use. Size 70 x 90 inches Wednesday Bargain $1.98

STORE OPENS 8.30 a.m. RICHARD HALL & SON LIMITED STORE CLOSES 5 p.

Stoney Lake Navigation Company

Steamers leave Lakefield for the Lakes on arrival of morning and noon trains.

Steamers leave the Lake to connect with 9.30 a.m. (morning) and 4.40 p.m. (afternoon) trains for Peterborough.

G. T. R. trains leave Peterborough at 8.30 a.m., 12.15 noon

For excursion rates, information etc., phone 548, or write

F. G. YOUNG,
Gen. Manager.
497 King St.

THIRD ROUND FOR R. R. HALL TROPHY

HANDICAP GOLF TO BE COMPLETED ON OR BEFORE SEPT. 15th.

Villeneve vs McDermid.
Hamilton, R. B., vs. Delafosse.
Mead vs. Eastwood, Dr.
Laurie vs. Rogers, C. H
Stratton vs. Bond.
Holloway vs. Thompson
Ackerman, W. C., vs. Weber.
MacPherson vs. Stansfield
Wearing vs. Stevenson, W
Crane, al vs. Bye.
Handicap Committee—J. P. Bond, F. M. Delafosse, W. C. Ackerman.

Local Improvement Notice

TAKE NOTICE THAT:

1. The Council of the Corporation of the City of Peterborough intends to construct as local improvements, cement sidewalks on the following streets between the points herein described, and intends to assess a part of the cost upon the lands abutting directly upon the said works respectively.

2. The estimated cost of each of said works, and the sum in respect to each of said works which is to be paid by the Corporation, are set out below, and also the estimated rate per foot frontage for each of said works. The special assessment in each case is to be paid in twenty annual instalments:

Street.	Estimated Cost.	To be Paid by the Corporation.	Estimated Special Rate Per Foot Frontage.
Water street, east side, from a point 96 ft. N. of King street to a point 217 ft. N. of King street	$199 66	$ 79 66	$0 99
Elias Ave., west side, from Charlotte street to King street	758 17	355 74	99

3 A petition against either of the proposed works will not avail to prevent its construction.

Dated September 8th, 1919.

S. R. ARMSTRONG, Clerk.

J. W. McLeod of Cornwall township was chosen Liberal candidate for the Legislature from Stormont.

J. B. Johnstone was chosen by a joint East Simcoe convention of U. F. O., Labor men and returned soldiers.

BORN

FLETT—On Sunday, Sehtember 7th, at Nicholls Hospital, to Mr. and Mrs. James E. Flett, a daughter.

BEULAH E. GALT, A.T.C.M.

Teacher of Piano. Rudiments, Harmony, Counterpoint, Form and History. Pupils prepared for standard examinations. For terms call 990r26.

TOO LATE FOR CLASSIFICATION

WANTED — A YOUNG MAN with bicycle, to look after subscription department and make himself generally useful around an office. Apply Review office.

LOST — YESTERDAY, SEPT. 7th, one Goodyear tire, plain, 30 x 3½, in Peterborough or on road between Lindsay and Peterborough. Finder please return to 512 Weller street. Reward.

Some spinsters advance step by step until they become stepmothers.

Moderate northeast winds, cloudy and cool with local showers. Thursday, moderate winds and still unsettled with local showers.

The Daily Review

8 PAGES

49th YEAR No. 60 Peterborough's Oldest Newspaper. PETERBOROUGH, ONTARIO, WEDNESDAY, SEPTEMBER 10, 1919. Price Two Cents per copy

CITY WILL DEFEND FEELEY ACTION TO RECOVER $500 IN DAMAGES

Legal Committee Has Busy Session—No Action in Regard to Order to Remit $175 of Dunford's $200 Fine Encroachments on Streets.

The city's legal committee decided last night to instruct City Solicitor Widdifield to defend the action for $500 damages entered against the city by Gordon & O'Brien on behalf of Amos Feeley for injuries to his knee sustained in the river at the Lake street beach when bathing Liability Transferred.

The liability of $6000 entered into with the city by the Bonner-Worth Company when first locating in Peterborough, will, by the company's request, be transferred to the Canadian Woollens Limited The City Solicitor was instructed to take the necessary steps to this end This liability has been considerably reduced, however.

Garbage Collection.

The Hydro-Electric Commission wrote protesting against being assessed for garbage tax on their street gas mains. Their protest was considered reasonable, and on motion of Ald. Hamilton and Phelan was referred to the Court of Revision.

Damage Claim.

The claim of Fred Dainton for $25 damages to his verandah when a partially decayed tree fell on his house, 625 Aylmer street, awaits a report from the city engineer on conditions he found when removing the tree whether on city or private property, and if partially decayed as claimed.

Another Damage Claim.

Joseph Ronca's claim for recovery of $65 damages to his property, 544 Donegal street, by reason of spring freshets from Downie street creek, revives an long-standing and vexed question.

It is contended by the Mayor that this creek is blocked more or less by a tree and a stable on the property of Mr. D. W. Dumble, and that the city would be within its rights to sue him for damages.

Mr. Dumble contends that these freshets result from the diversion of the creek from its natural channel some years ago by the city, and that no blockage exists on his property

The committee decided on an investigation of this creek's course on the return of Mr. Dumble from his vacation.

That Dunford Fine.

With regard to the order from the Attorney-General that $175 of the $200 fine imposed on Gerald Dunford by Police Magistrate Dumble for a breach of the Ontario Temperance Act, be remitted to Dunford, no action was taken.

City Solicitor Widdifield explained that as the information had been laid by the police the fine went to the municipality; had it been laid by the license inspector the $200 would have gone to the Provincial Department. Dr. McCullough, he said, had written the License Board that Dunford needed the money worse than the city, and petitioned for a remittance of the fine. But it was necessary to hold $25, as the return of the whole amount would nullify the conviction. He, however, questioned the Attorney-General's power to order the municipality as to what steps to take regarding its own funds, and ventured to say that no more orders of a similar nature would come from him.

Encroachments on Streets

A request from the Department of Public Works for a plan of what portion of the customs house encroaches in the streets will be complied with

On motion of Ald. Garside and Hamilton the city assessor and engineer were instructed in the case of property owners, who had exressed readiness to enter into an agreement with the city in reagrd to their premises encroaching on the street lines, to advices as to what rentals to charge. And also write those who have not replied to the city's notification that a portion of their properties are in the street, that steps will be taken to have such obstructions removed.

War Memorial

The Trades and Labor Council, Council of Women and Board of Trade will be notified of a special evening to be devoted to this question and the attendance of their delegates requested

The Dorris Trilles.

Tenders were received for three silver cups—one each for the Dorris triplets—suitably engraved as a momento of their birthday. That J. E. V. Warne for $25 including engraving was accepted. Mrs. Albert Dorris, the mother is to receive a $10 gold piece, also suitably engraved. Further details are now in the hands of chairman Ald Turner.

Stickney Motors

As this concern will not now operate here the solicitor was instructed to take the necessary steps to recover cost of sumitting their bylaw and whatever taxes may be due.

As to taxes the Renfrew people paid up to the time of the sale of their property to Stickney Motors and the latter were to pay the half-yearly taxes less the fixed assessment agreed on.

The Attendance.

There were present the manager chairman Ald. Turner Aldermen Phelan Hamilton Garside and City Solicitor Widdifield.

DR. KARL RENNER OF AUSTRIA SIGNED TREATY WITH ALLIES THIS MORNING

Same Formality as With Germans—Austrian Delegate in a Gracious Mood No Hesitancy Whatever, but Smiled and Bowed Courteously to Other Delegates—Rumania Did Not Sign—Given Till Saturday.

(Canadian Press Despatch)

St. Germain, Sept. 10. — Dr. Karl Renner, head of the Austrian delegation to the Peace Conference, signed the treaty of peace between the Allied and Associated Powers and the Austrian Republic at 10.15 a.m. today. The signing by the other powers was completed at 11.15, and M. Clemenceau declared the session closed.

The British delegates were Lord Milner, Mr. Balfour, George Nicoll Barnes and Gen. Seeley. Premier Lloyd George was not present.

Dr. Renner First.

When all the delegates present had seated themselves at the round table, Dr. Renner was introduced with the same formality that was observed at the time the Germans entered the Hall of Mirrors at Versailles on June 28. M. Clemenceau, president of the Peace Conference, then arose and opened the session, asking Dr. Renner to affix his signature to the treaty and annexes, and announcing that the delegates would then be called in the order in which they were named in the preamble of the document.

No Hesitation.

There was no hesitation on the part of Dr Renner in signing the treaty. He rose from his seat on the left wing of the table after M. Clemenceau's opening address had been translated into German, and immediately walked to the signing table and signed the document. Dr. Renner bowed and smiled graciously as he approached the table, and bowed and smiled again to the delegates after signing, as he turned to go to his seat.

Roumania Did Not Sign.

Paris, Sept. 10. — The delegates of Roumania and Jugo-Slav did not sign the Austrian treaty today because they are awaiting instructions from their Governments.

The Supreme Council has given them until Saturday to make known their definite intentions.

BOARD OF EDUCATION NOW ASKS $240,000 FOR MEMORIAL SCHOOL

Request Sent to City Council to Issue Debentures for Amount—Desire to Commence Work Immediately

At the special meeting of the Board of Education last night the report of the Building Committee was read and adopted with the addition of a clause calling on the contractors to pay a fair wage and hire Peterborough labor only, as far as possible. This additional clause was moved by Mr. Worth and seconded by Mr. McKone. It was felt that this change would not materially affect the contractors' estimates as the Board considered that they must have taken that into their consideration when making their tenders.

Contracts Let.

The following repor. of the building committee recommending the awarding of contracts was adopted:

As authorized, your committee invited tenders from the various trades for the erection of the proposed new public school. After receiving the tenders and considering the same, your committee recommend that the Board request the City Council to provide, by the sale of debentures, the sum of $240,000 to cover the cost of the building and equipment, and the grading and fancing of the grounds, together with the construction of the necessary walks. This amount is arrived at by the acceptance of the lowest tender for each trade, which, in detail, is as follows:

All work exclusive of heating and ventilating, plumbing, fixtures and drainage and electric wiring—Messrs Graham and Hayes $159,963.00

Heating and ventilating — Messrs. R. G. Sturgeon & Co 32,145.00

Plumbing, fixtures and drainage — George Brenton 13,000.00

Electric conduit and wiring work — Messrs. Miller, Powell and Watson 3,747.00

Total $207,855.00

Additional Costs.

In addition to the above your committee estimate additional costs as follows:

Levelling of grounds, fencing, cement work and necessary water connections $7500.00

Equipment, including seats, desks, blackboards, clocks, window shades and electric light fixtures 8900.00

Manual training and household science equipment and library 3500.00

Architects' and consulting engineer's fees 8500.00

Unforeseen expenses 3745.00

Total expenses ..$240,000 00

Providing that the City Council furnish the necessary funds, your committee recommend that the above named tenders be accepted and that the equal contract be signed by each contractor and executed by the chairman and secretary on behalf of the Board. Draft forms of contract are submitted herewith for your approval. The bonds furnished by the contractors must be approved by your building committee.

Your committee would direct the attention of the Board to the fact that the successful tenderers are all members of local firms, also that in the plans and specifications the products of Canadian manufacture

(Continued on Page Five)

G.W.V.A. MUST PAY PORTION OF TAXES

UNDER ACT CITY CANNOT EXEMPT FOR SCHOOLS AND LOCAL IMPROVEMENTS.

TOTAL EXEMPTION PROMISED

BUT ASSOCIATION HAS BEEN BILLED FOR TAXES IN THE USUAL WAY.

The Great War Veterans were promised exemption from taxes on their property on Murray street, but they have been billed for taxes in the usual way.

The association is now asking the city to fulfil its pledge, which pledge however goes further than the law permits. For at the last meeting of the Legislature the Municipal Act was amended to read that for such properties as that owned by associations like the G. W. V. A., a municipality can grant exemption from taxes, "except for schools and local improvements," with the assent of the ratepayers qualified to vote on money bylaws.

This is as far as the city is empowered to go, and the only reply the legal committee could make to the Veterans' request last night that steps be taken to exempt the association's property from both municipal and provincial taxes was that a bylaw in conformity with the Act will be submitted to the ratepayers.

BREED WARS, NOT SECURE PEACE

IS WAY FOREIGN RELATIONS COMMITTEE CHARACTERIZES TREATY WITH GERMANY.

ONLY FORTY-FIVE AMENDMENTS

SENATOR McCUMBER EXPLAINS VIEWS OF COM., SAYS U. S. RIGHTS BE GUARDED.

(Canadian Press Despatch)

Washington, Sept. 10.—Characterized as an alliance and not a league "which will breed wars instead of securing peace," the German peace treaty, including the covenant for a League of Nations, was formally reported to the Senate today by the Foreign Relations Committee, with forty-five amendments and four reservations.

Guard American Rights.

Accompanying the treaty was a majority report of the Foreign Relations Committee, subscribed to by every Republican member, excepting Senator McCumber of North Dakota, explaining amendments and reservations, all of which it was declared were "governed by a single purpose and that is to guard American rights, the sovereignty invasion of which would stimulate breaches of faith, encourage conflicts and generate wars."

FIVE SMALL POX CASES IN CITY

TWO AT HOME AND THREE CONFINED IN THE ISOLATION HOSPITAL.

NO OTHER INFECTIOUS CASES

BOARD OF HEALTH IN MONTHLY SESSION — JUNK LICENSE REFUSED BOTH.

The financial statement of the Queen Mary Hospital from January 1 to August 31 shows the amounts paid into till July 31 to have been $3,604.09, and during August $375.62, a total of $3,979.71. The salaries paid during August totalled $222.68. These figures were submitted to the local Board of Health last night

Superintendent Miss Price asked repairs around windows and at other points at the Isolation Hospital, including attention to the ice box. The Board will examine into these needs.

A Junk Question.

The Police Commission wrote that W. Roth is applying for a junk shop license for property on Lewis street, and that they await advice from the Board of Health in this regard.

On motion of Dr. McPherson and Harry Morgan, Roth will be advised that he cannot locate on Lewis street, that his present junk premises on Stuart street are objectionable, and that he will be allowed a permit for a reasonable time, in which to locate at a point not objectionable to the Board

Small Pox

Dr. McPherson reported that there are at present five cases of small pox in the city—3 patients in the Isolation Hospital and two at home. Otherwise the hospital is free of infectious patients.

ENTERTAIN SOLDIERS.

Newmarket, Sept. 10.—The Aurora bowling club and members of Newmarket Ladies' Field Comforts Society will entertain men from Davisville Hospital, and the latter will give a concert in the evening.

BIG PATRIOTIC FUND.

Kingston, Sept. 10.—At a meeting of the local branch of the Canadian Patriotic Fund yesterday it was reported that $827,000 had been dispensed in Kingston during the war. H. C. Nickle was authorized to proceed with post-war relief work

PARIS PRESBYTERY MEETS

Woodstock, Sept. 10.—The regular meeting of the Presbytery of Paris was held here today, with the Rev. Dr. Barnett, of Norwich, presiding. No business of extraordinary importance was discussed. The next meeting will be held the second Tuesday of December at Alexander Church, Brantford.

DAMAGE IN RIOT 20,000 STERLING

SHOPS IN FERMOY, IRELAND, KEEPING THEIR SHUTTERS UP ALL DAY.

DISORDERS HAVE QUIETED DOWN

SOLDIERS CONFINED TO BARRACKS—ALLEGED OFFICERS HELPED WRECK SHOPS.

(Canadian Press Despatch)

Dublin, Tuesday, Sept. 10.— The total damage caused by the riots at Fermoy, near Cork, Sunday night is now estimated at £20,000 sterling.

All Quiet Now.

There were no disorders today shops keeping their shutters in place during the day. A public meeting was held for the purpose of calling upon the military authorities to prevent a repitition of the riots.

Grave Charges.

Colonel Dobbs, commander of the troops in Farmoy, after hearing a detailed account of the origin of the trouble, promised to confine soldiers to their barracks tonight, and to investigate the charges that officers participated in the wrecking of shops.

ANOTHER SANITARY INSPECTOR WANTED

TOO MUCH WORK FOR ONE MAN TO ENFORCE SANITARY MEASURES.

Dr. McPherson, M.O.H., is proposing changes in the Sanitary Department of this city next year which would necessitate, he says, the appointment of another Sanitary Officer. He proposes that a chief sanitary inspector shall attend to systematic work and an assistant follow up complaints and assist in the office. Mr Stapleton's time now is taken up wholly in following up complaints to the neglect of systematic operations inaugurated in Mr. Spence's time. The enforcement of a uniform bylaw is needed.

Dr McPherson complained to the local Board of Health last night that he finds cisects and manure pits not constructed as per sanitary rules laid down by the department and he advises the publication of the sections of a bylaw covering such construction with a warning that prosecution will follow all cases in which these conditions are not complied with.

Food Exposed

He also finds food exposed to flies and dust outside stores in menace to sanitary principles and attention must be given to such infractions of the bylaw.

Phone Service.

The doctor also suggested for improved phone service. The health department is frequently rung up and not answered because both Mr. Stapleton and Mr Miller are out. There should be a central system in the city buildings, he contended, so that messages can be assured of acceptance at any rate

The Board will take these suggestions by the M.O.H into their serious consideration.

Who Were Present

There were present: Chairman Wm. Buller, presiding, Messrs. Murty, Morgan, Mayor Duncan and M.O.H. Dr. McPherson.

TRADES UNION CONGRESS FAVORS NATIONALIZATION OF COAL MINES

Vote stands at 4,478,000 for Scheme, and only 77,000 Against—Believed Govt. Will Refuse

(Canadian Press Despatch)

Glasgow, Sept. 10.—By an overwhelming vote the Trades Union Congress at today's session passed a resolution favoring nationalization of coal mines.

Big Majority.

The motion, presented by Robert Smillie, the miners' leader, was carried by a vote of 4,478,000 against 77,000. Mr. Smillie moved that the Government be compelled to accept the majority report of the Sankey Coal Commission. He said he believed the Government would refuse the demand for ratification of recommendations in the report, and that within two months the Trades Union Congress would reassemble to consider the position.

Behind Coal Miners.

The result of the vote was to throw virtually the entire Congress solidly behind the coal miners' demands for nationalization of their industry The resolution pledges insistence by this body that the Government adopt the majority report of the Coal Commission presented last June known as the Sankery report. This report provides for state ownership of mines and for a joint control of their operation, in which miners would have an effective voice.

Demands Government Acceptance

The resolution passed today calling for acceptance of the report by the Government says: "In event of the Government still refusing a special congress shall be convened to decide what form of action shall be taken to compel the Government to accept.

Seamen Oppose.

Jos. Haveler Wilson, president of the International Seamen's Union, in opposing the resolution, was pointing to the fate of state controlled enterprises when he was interrupted with a shout of "What about the war."

President Bunning announced a definite vote on the question of direct action would be taken Friday.

GALE IS BLOWING 100 MILES HOUR

ALL WIRE COMMUNICATIONS SOUTH OF FLORIDA HAS CEASED.

(Canadian Press Despatch)

New York, Sept. 10. — Reports reaching offices of the Western Union Telegraph Company here today, said all wire communications south of Miami Florida, had ceased as result of a severe storm raging along the southern coast and the West Indian Islands

A gale of at least 100 miles an hour was blowing, reports stated.

$3. DAY FOR NON-RES'T. PATIENTS

TOWNSHIPS MUST PAY MORE FOR USE OF ISOLATION HOSPITAL.

Dr McPherson moved at the Board of Health meeting last night, that non-resident patients in the Isolation Hospital pay $3 a day, and that the municipality to which said patients belong guarantee payment of this fee.

This was seconded by Mr. Murty, and carried.

Dr. McPherson said that each municipality is responsible under the act for providing suitable isolation of infectious disease patients, and Peterborough townships should either pay the above fee or arrange with the city for equitable payment for their use of the Isolation Hospital in some other manner. The old fee of $1.50 a day is not anywhere near sufficient.

The Three Rivers shipyards has just received an order for four large steel ships.

POLICE STRIKE, LAWLESSNESS IS RAMPANT IN BOSTON TODAY

Hundreds of Arrests Made Public Would Carry Fire Arms—Street Looting Dominates.

(Canadian Press Despatch)

Boston, Sept. 10. — Lawlessness was rampant in Boston today. Without adequate police protection, private citizens were left to their own resources to protect their lives and property.

Police Struck Yesterday.

Since the police struck yesterday afternoon there has been no organized police power able to cope with the situation that last night approached anarchy and today appeared to grow more serious as the inadequacy of makeshift arrangements intended to preserve public order became obvious to the community.

Would Carry Arms.

Applications for permits to carry firearms were received by hundreds, and a discontinuance of their sales has been ordered. The few policemen struggling to maintain order made two hundred arrests. Offences ranged from the snatching of women's hand bags to wholesale looting in the streets. Four men were reported at the hospital with knife or bullet wounds.

Sympathetic strikes, which will tie up the telephone, street car and lighting systems are feared.

McCANN TO COACH OTTAWA.

Ottawa, Sept. 10.—Dave McCann, former captain and half-back of the Ottawa Rugby team, was appointed coach at a meeting Monday night It was announced that the club will play an exhibition match with the McGill University team in Montreal on October 27, before the Prince of Wales.

EDITOR NEWS RESIGNS

(Canadian Press Despatch)

London, Sept. 10.—Alfred G. Gardiner, editor of the Daily News since 1912, has resigned.

THE DAILY REVIEW

ESTABLISHED 1879.
MEMBER OF THE CANADIAN PRESS, LIMITED.
THE DAILY REVIEW is published every afternoon at 4 o'clock (Holidays and Sundays excepted) by The Peterborough Review Company, Limited, 166-168 Hunter Street.
SUBSCRIPTION PRICE, $3.00 per year by mail to any part of Canada or Great Britain; $4.00 per year delivered to any part of the city.

THE WEEKLY REVIEW, established 1853, is published every Thursday morning at 10 o'clock. Subscription price $1.50 per year to any part of Canada or Great Britain, or $2.00 a year to the United States.
U. S. Representative—Robert E. Douglas, Chicago.
BOARD OF DIRECTORS:
A. H. STRATTON, President and General Manager; E. A. PECK, ex-M.L.A., T. F. MATTHEWS and JAMES LYNCH.
TELEPHONES:
Business Dept. ... 139 Editorial ... 435
Mr. Stratton's Residence ... 221

"FOR A GREATER PETERBOROUGH."

WEDNESDAY, SEPT. 10, 1919.

CANADA AS A BASIS.

IN A STATEMENT to Congress, replying to certain criticisms, Dr. Prosser, head of the bureau for the vocational education of disabled soldiers, gives interesting data as to the scope and status of the work. On the basis of Canadian experience, he estimates that approximately ten per cent. of these men will require retraining. Estimating the total of American soldiers who suffered serious disabilities at 250,000, the best figures available, there should be, on the Canadian basis, 25,000 men to receive this aid. As the vocational rehabilitation law of the United States is exceedingly liberal, however, the percentage may be larger.

Dr. Prosser reports that the board, through its agents, has actually interviewed and surveyed 110,115 discharged soldiers in the effort to reach every one who requires this particular kind of aid. It has also established contact through letters and other means with several thousand more. Up to the present time a total of 14,876 cases has been approved for training, and of this number 7,356 have been placed in training. The rest are awaiting the opening of the schools they are to attend. By October 1, Dr. Prosser estimates, 17,000 men will be in training. The present indications are that one month hence the United States will have passed the Canadian total of men under vocational instruction since the war began in 1914.

The honor and gratitude of the country demand that the soldier who has suffered permanent injury in the war shall be helped to fit himself for a gainful occupation in civil life. Fortunately the task of rehabilitation will not be as great as many anticipated when we entered the war. That fact, however, does not diminish our obligation to those who require this aid. And a demonstration of the possibilities of rehabilitation of war victims will furnish effective methods to be employed in times of peace for the benefit of the many disabled in industrial accidents and in other ways.

COST OF LIVING.

IT IS VERY WRONG to attempt to blame the merchants and storekeepers for the increased cost of living. It is doubly wrong: first, because it is unfair to these people, and second, because the publicity connected therewith directs the people's attention away from the real cause and the real cure, says Roger W. Babson. It is likewise wrong to blame high prices on to high wages, or vice versa. Both are relative and always will be. When expressed in dollars, neither prices nor wages mean anything. It does us no good to get $10 a day and work only six hours a day if this means that bread will be $1 a loaf. A discussion of either wages or prices alone is like arguing which existed first, a hen or an egg! We have fooled ourselves long enough by putting our thumb on the thermometer bulb. It is time that we went down cellar and put some coal in the furnace. The increased cost of living can be reduced only by increasing production or decreasing consumption, or by both. When production exceeds consumption, the cost of living declines; but when consumption exceeds production, the cost of living increases.

The abolition of slavery was never accomplished by an argument of economics, but when the majority of people were made to feel that drinking was wrong and were ashamed to be seen in a saloon, we got prohibition. In the same way, when the people are educated to regard with contempt the non-producer or the man who curtails his production, we shall strike at the tap root of the high cost of living!

TRAINING BLIND CANADIANS.

"THE DIFFICULTIES in placing demobilized men in England have been greatly increased by the general unrest, labor troubles, and the coal shortage, which has thrown so many, besides the strikers, out of work," says Captain E. A. Baker, M.C., Croix de Guerre, blind soldier representative of the Department of Soldiers' Civil Re-establishment, who has just returned from overseas.

"Where Canada has been able to handle her returned men in comparatively small numbers between shipments, England, in her nearness to the seat of war, and with the labor troubles mentioned, already seething, has been faced with the additional burden of having thousands of men dumped into the country with a rapidity that left little time for the competent handling of one bach before the next arrived.

"In Manchester alone, between 40,000 and 50,000 men were out of work at the end of July, due to the shortage of coal and raw materials."

Captain Baker crossed to England in June to visit Canadian men blinded in the war who are in training at St. Dunstan's, and to note the latest developments in training, with a view to adapting similar methods where possible for Canada.

The number of blind who up to date have been trained at St. Dunstan's is 1,400. Of these, 80 belong to Canada. At the present time there are forty Canadians in residence undergoing re-training, the last of whom will have completed their training and be ready to return to Canada by the Fall of 1920. About fifteen to eighteen retrained Canadians have decided to remain in England.

The chief subjects being taken up by the Canadian blind are: Massage, Braille stenography and typewriting, general business courses, poultry farming, shoe repairing, carpentry, mat and basket making.

A complete and permanent system of After Care has been organized in connection with St. Dunstan's. The country is divided into two districts, the northern including Scotland, Ireland, Wales, and the northern portion of England; the southern including London, South of England, and Channel Islands.

Technical and social visitors are attached to the general administrative staff, whose business it is to connect up with every men in the two districts, to assist him in the purchase of raw material and in finding a market for his finished products.

Immediately a graduate leaves the training ground of St. Dunstan's and his future working place is located his name is put upon the lists of the After Care branch. Visits are paid once a month.

If a craftsman, the man's work is advertised in the local paper and every effort made to give him a good start off.

Those men who were re-trained in the early days of St. Dunstan's are not allowed to rust as new methods of working or handicraft are discovered. The vocational officer is empowered to visit them and give such further instruction as may be necessary in order to bring their training up to date. Also in the case of a graduate discovering a side line in his local town in which he might successfully compete, the technical officer will instruct him in the new work.

Any graduate failing on account of local conditions to make a living at his trade may return to St. Dunstan's for re-training.

The After Care Department purchases all raw material for graduates, thus getting the best quality at lowest cost. This is shipped out in small lots to the individual as required. Any surplus of finished articles, over and above his local sales, may be shipped to St. Dunstan's, where they are sold for his benefit.

It is Captain Baker's intention to formulate a scheme for duplicating in some way this after care system for the blind soldier in Canada.

The general plan will, however, be somewhat modified to meet the difference in conditions and numbers upon this side, Canada having somewhere about 124 blind returned men spread over a district about forty times as large as that covered in England for the benefit of close upon 1,400 men. It is estimated that approximately one hundred blind men will need after care. For this, Pearson Hall, Toronto, will be the headquarters.

As it is purely a war-time institution, it is anticipated that St. Dunstan's will close at the end of 1920, when the last blind returned man will have been trained, and the permanent After Care department will thereafter carry on.

In England the National Institute for the Blind has secured control of most civilian institutions with a view to some scheme of systematizing the work upon similar lines to those which have been so successful at St. Dunstan's.

Sir Arthur Pearson, the founder of St. Dunstan's, has recently been appointed chairman of the Governing Board of Worcester College for Higher Education of the Blind, and he has many further schemes for carrying on the good work for the benefit of civilian blinded men, after the returned man has been successfully sent on his way.

OPINIONS OF OTHER EDITORS.

FREE FOR ALL.

(Keir Hardie.)

Honest opinions are valuable commodities which should ever fall of a welcome.

WHY NOT?

(Boston Transcript.)

It's time to strike out the strike.

LAST WORD IS SUPERFLUOUS.

(Stratford Herald.)

Stratford has gained a Dominion-wide reputation for drinking—water.

ELEGANT EXPRESSION.

(Hamilton Spectator.)

During his remarks in Toronto Billy Sunday made an elegant assertion to the effect that the United States is so dry now that a man has to be primed to spit. Why are the water wagons out of gear?

WHY NOT THE REVERSE?

(E. W. Howe's Monthly.)

During the present railroad strike passenger trains are kept running and freight trains annulled. Why not the reverse? It is not very important that people gad about, but to keep freight trains moving is really important.

A MAN OF RARE SENSE.

(Hamilton Herald.)

General Sir Arthur Currie says that "war is simply cursed butchery, and men who have gone through it never want to see it any more." No militarist is Sir Arthur. And yet he is a strong advocate of military preparedness. But his anti-militarism is quite consistent with his advocacy of military preparedness and efficiency. To be well prepared for the worst is often to avoid the worst.

GULLIBLE.

(Hamilton Spectator.)

If the Sinn Feiners are gullible enough to expect to raise a loan of $2,500,000 in the United States, they are certainly a credulous crowd. There is one element here from whom they need expect little sympathy, and that is the American sailors and soldiers who received such scurvy treatment from Irishmen of their kidney when on shore at Cork and other places.

COSTLY IDLENESS.

(Montreal Herald.)

Official statistics indicate that strikes in Canada during the month of July occasioned the loss of 561,010 working days and in June 1,445,021 days, making a total for the two months of practically 2,000,000 days. It is not difficult to translate this loss into terms of production, and the significance of the answer can be gauged when we recall that the vital necessity of today in Canada and elsewhere is more and more production.

SLAPPING CARRANZA'S WRIST.

(Waterbury American.)

It appears that a month ago the Washington Government told Carranza that unless he safeguarded America's life and property better it might be forced to adopt a radical change in its policy with regard to Mexico. Carranza replied that he was doing his best, but that "crash eagerness for profit" led Americans into "dangerous regions" where it was not possible to throw around them complete protection. He thought the people of the United States would appreciate his difficulties when they realized that they were asking more than could be provided "in the most populous cities of the most cultured countries, where bloody crimes often occur without the respective governments thereby becoming the object of severe observation." This is insolent and Carranza deserves to have his wrist slapped. And, we shouldn't wonder if Wilson did it, too. He's been working up to it for a long time.

SOME CURIOUS OLD BIBLES.

The "Breeches" and "Bugges" and Other Editions of Scripture.

"Then the eyes of them both were opened, and they knew that they were naked and they sewed fig-tree leaves together and made themselves breeches."

The quotation constitutes a version of the Adam and Eve story of Genesis. It is taken from the rarest of the various editions of the Bible known as the "breeches" Bible, printed in London in 1615 by Robert Barker, "printer to the King's most Excellent Majestie."

As if the fact that Adam and Eve were naked, and had decided to don breeches, were insufficient, a footnote on the subject is introduced. It specifies that the breeches "were things to gird about them."

Reference books said that it was the most popular Bible that ever appeared in England and that for 60 years it held its own against all rivals, contesting the ground with authorized versions.

Two other old editions of the Bible possessed by Carnegie Library were published in 1551 and 1557, respectively. The first, sometimes called the Treacle Bible, is named from its rendering of Jeremiah 8-22. "Is there no 'triacle' in Gilead?" it asks. The word triacle is used instead of "balm."

"But man is borne unto labor lyke as the sparkes flee up out of the hotte coles," says Job, fifth chapter, seventh verse.

In an even earlier edition, 1535, not possessed by the library, the same passage is given: "It is man that is born to misery like as a byrd for to flee."

Other curious sayings of the same edition are: "The dove bare an olive leafe in her nebbe"; "our heart had fayled us, neither is there good stomach in any manne"; "and brake his brain-panne." The frontispiece of the 1551 edition announces it to be "the Holy Byble conteynyng the olde testament and the newe — set foorth by authoritie."

The 1551 edition, the Bug Bible, is so called because of the use of the word "bugges," Psalms xci-5: "So thou shalt not nede to be afrayde for anye bugges by nyghte nor for the arrow that flyeth by day."

A reference explains that bug was originally identical with "bogie" and has virtually the same meaning as "terror," the word substituted in the authorized version in 1611. It is the rarest of the many English editions of the Bible. In Genesis 39, line 7, it states: "And the Lord was with Joseph and he was a luckye felowe."

Count Michimasa Soyeshima.

A Japanese gentleman of particular interest to the world outside Japan was entertained the other day by European and Japanese members of the Tokyo Club as a farewell event preceding his departure for Europe and America. The interesting gentleman is Count Michimasa Soyeshima, member of the Japanese House of Peers, intimately acquainted with the diplomacy of the Japanese Government, and highly popular with the European colony. Some of his own countrymen say, indeed, that he admires Japan too little and foreign countries too much, which is not surprising in view of the count's open criticism of the Japanese policy toward China and Korea. Something over a quarter of a century ago Count Soyeshima, after graduating from the Peers' School in Tokyo, was a student at Leeds and Cambridge, England, and he returned to Japan with an external viewpoint toward Japanese governmental policies. "No country on earth," said he recently, "can take an aggressive policy into China. China is too big. It contains a vast population which can swallow up anyone coming with a threat. But the friendship of China has a commercial value that is absolutely without limits. The Americans in China are using the right methods. They are seeking to make friends, while we Japanese have had our affairs so muddled by our statesmen that China is temporarily hostile to everything we look for. Further, we have hurt ourselves in China by the things that have been happening in Korea. There ought to be punishment for those who have committed the Korean excesses." Count Soyeshima's sentiments are surely very welcome.

A Weather Prophet.

A leech confined in a glass jar of water is an excellent weather prophet. If the weather is to continue fine, the leech lies motionless at the bottom of the vial and rolled together in a spiral form. If it is to rain, either before or after noon, it is found to have crept up to the top of its lodging, and there remains till the weather is settled. If we are to have wind, the poor prisoner gallops through its limpid habitation with amazing swiftness, and seldom rests till it begins to blow hard. If a remarkable storm of thunder and rain is to succeed, for some days before the leech lodges almost continually without water, and gives itself up to violent throes and convulsive-like motions. In frost, as in clear summer weather, it lies constantly at the bottom; and in snow, as in rainy weather, it pitches its dwelling on the very mouth of the vial.—Family Herald.

Dislikes Germany.

Declaring that the mere sight of the fragment of Germany visible from the Swiss side of Lake Constance excited his annoyance and resentment, ex-Emperor Karl of Austria moved to Nyon, Lake Geneva.

Tearing Up Asphalt.

To tear up asphalt paving between street car rails a California man has invented a sort of scoop that can be mounted in front of a car, into which the asphalt is almost automatically loaded.

Trade Mark on Every Plank.

By using an ingenious machine a southern lumber company is imprinting its trade mark on the ends of every plank that it sends out.

Cleaning Photographs.

Dirty photographs are so unsightly that you will be glad to know there is a way to clean them. Moisten a soft cloth with warm water to which a little ammonia has been added; wring the cloth out well and wipe the photographs very lightly, drying them immediately with a soft, dry cloth.

KEEP COOL

(Author Unknown.)

It never did and never will
Put things in better fashion.
Though rough the road and steep the hill
To fly into a passion.

For never yet did fume or fret,
Mend any broken bubble,
The direct evil bravely met,
Is bue a conquered trouble.

Our trials did we only know
Are often what we make them.
And mole hills into mountains grow
Just by the way we take them.

Who keeps his temper calm and cool
Will find his wits in season
For rage is weak, a foaming fool
With neither strength or reason.

And if a take be hard to bear,
When nerve and brain are steady;
Let fiery passion rave and tear,
It finds us maimed already.

Who yields to passion conquered lies,
A captive none can pity.
Who rules his spirit greater is,
Than he who takes a city.

A hero he, though drums are mute,
And no gay banners flaunted,
Who treads his passions underfeet
And meets the world undaunted.

Oh, then, to bravely do our best,
However the winds are blowing,
And meekly leave to God the rest,
Is wisdom worth the knowing.

Alligator Farming.

There is much money to be made in alligator farming. The demand for alligators is large, constant, and rapidly increasing; the supply is limited, and there is not much competition. The few alligator farmers in America are prospering. Alligators have to be fed on meat, but they need no food from September 1 to May 1, for this is their hibernating season, when they do not eat at all. Alligator skins are used for making bags, suit-cases, purses, belts, cushion covers, etc., and the teeth and bones are made into cuff links, paper knives, whistles, and many forms of cheap jewelry and ornaments. The skins are worth from two to twelve shillings apiece, according to size and quality. More money, however, is made by selling live alligators to museums and for pets. It is said that the State of Florida realizes more than two hundred thousand pounds a year from alligators.

Horses, Men and Elephants.

Tests made to determine the respective pulling power of horses, men and elephants showed that two horses, weighing 1,600 pounds each, together pulled 3,750 pounds, or 550 pounds more than their combined weight. One elephant weighing 12,000 pounds pulled 8,750 pounds, or 3,350 pounds less than its weight. Fifty men, aggregating 7,500 pounds, pulled 8,750 pounds, or just as much as the single elephant, but, like the horses, they pulled more than their own weight. One hundred men pulled twelve thousand pounds.

No Building Material.

Building materials, such as bricks, tiles, lumber and lime, are reported to be exceedingly scarce in Hankow, China, at the present time. The conditions among the laboring classes, in provinces producing these materials, have greatly curtailed the production.

Bishop Refused to Dwell in Castle.

Whether a bishop should be compelled to live in a castle regardless of his own desire for a more modest and less expensive home is a question which is agitating the clerical authorities of the diocese of Worcester, England. Dr. Ernest Harold Pearce recently was consecrated bishop of Worcester. In the course of a sermon it was declared that no bishop really wanted to live in a castle and that, if the people of his diocese required him to do so, the financial responsibilities should be borne by them, not by him.

Radium Found in England.

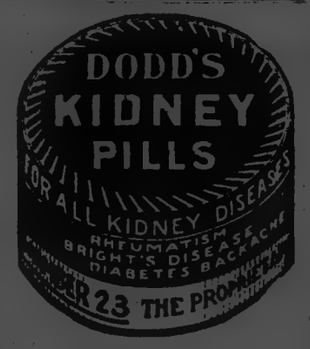
The discovery of a considerable body of pitchblende—the ore of radium—is reported from the village of Hampstead, on the borders of Dartmoor, England. Samples were submitted to the mineral resources development department of the ministry of munitions, whose experts said it was pitchblende with an oxide content of 26 per cent, somewhat richer than the ore imported from America.

The Best Teacher.

He is the best teacher of others who is best taught himself; that which we know and love we cannot but communicate.—Dr. Arnold.

Worth It.

Tommy (laid up from eating too much dinner)—"I feel awfully sick, ma, but it was worth it."—Boston Transcript.



EDITOR'S MAIL

THOSE WHEAT PRICES

Dear Editor: We see much press discussion re the government control of wheat prices. Perhaps the talk is merely the gossip of some arm-chair artists in the employ of the government. Now, Mr. Editor, we farmers are not strong advocates of publicity in any form, being in the habit of voicing our opinions and our complaints about any current issue with our foot up on the hub of the other fellow's buggy. What right has the government to interfere with the prices of wheat during the season of 1919? When we know this great war debt must be paid, and taken from the first six inches of the soil, why not let the farmer have a free hand? Just here I might say that we farmers are "fed up." We have had so many economical fire-eaters, who kept us moistening postage stamps and "licking our plates," so to speak, while the professors of agriculture have treated us to a veritable windstorm on the cause of production.

If a farmer goes to buy from a retail merchant a quantity of "Sleep While I Pay the Rent" wheat, the government does not come to his protection. Perhaps there are too many government hand picked representatives to be consulted. Now, Mr. Editor, we farmers must have the co-operation of the press if we are to accomplish anything. Situated as you are with a Government representative in your county town or city, could you not handle the situation much better than the average farmer, who, if he proposed to dictate to the Union Government would very likely be consigned to the climate where there never was a coal famine. I would say to those western wheat giants to grind their wheat and export the flour and return us the shorts at, say, twenty dollars a ton and we will fill your cellars with bacon at ten dollars a hundred.

I just noticed where one company is calling for $3.50 per bushel, and, of course, the farmer is discouraged and chances are he will drop off the industry altogether. Now we never hear a complaint about this from those free-traders or from those "united to win the war," or, as I should say, "united to win the election" men.

Thanking you for the space given to voice the opinion of
ONE WHO LIKES A SQUARE DEAL.

FALL FAIRS 1919

PETERBOROUGH—Sept. 15-17.
Campbellford—Sept. 23-24.
Bancroft—Oct. 2-3.
Bowmanville—Sept. 16-17.
Brighton—Sept. 11-12.
Brockville—Aug. 25-28.
Bobcaygeon—Sept. 26, 27.
Cobourg—Sept. 17-18.
Colborne—Sept. 25-26.
Centreville—Sept. 20.
Coboconk—Sept. 25, 26.
Demorestville—Sept. 27.
Delta—Sept. 15-17.
Dungannon—Oct. 2-4.
Frankford—Sept. 18-19.
Harrowsmith—Sept. 18-19.
Keene—Oct. 7-8.
Kingston—Sept. 23-27
Lakefield—Sept. 23-24.
Lindsay—Sept. 18-20.
Madoc—Oct. 7-8
Merrickville—Sept. 16, 17.
Marmora—Sept. 30.
Maynooth—Sept. 25.
Midland—Sept. 29-Oct. 1.
Millbrook—Oct. 2-3.
Napanee—Sept. 9-10
Norwood—Oct. 14, 15.
Odessa—Oct. 3.
Orillia—Sept. 16-17.
Oshawa—Sept. 8-10
Orono—Sept. 25, 26.
Picton—Sept. 16-18.
Port Hope—Sept. 23, 24.
Robbins Mills—Sept. 23, 24.
Shannonville—Sept. 13.
Stirling—Sept. 25, 26.
Stella—Sept. 30.
Tweed—Oct. 2, 3.
Wolfe Island—Sept. 17, 18.
Warkworth—Oct. 2, 3.

BASEBALL PROVES FATAL.

Windsor, Sept. 9.—Arlo Simpson 15-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Robt Simpson, of Leamington, died yesterday at Hotel Dieu following an operation. Several months ago the lad, while playing baseball at Leamington High School, was accidentally struck on the head with a bat, an abscess forming, which an operation failed to relieve.

The ninth anniversary of the annexation of Korea by Japan was observed on Sunday as a day of mourning by the Koreans.

Piano Tuning
Phone 755
The GREENE MUSIC Co.

Buy an Eddy Pail

THE next time you need a pail—a milk pail perhaps or an ordinary household pail for washing windows or scrubbing floors—ask your dealer for

EDDY'S INDURATED FIBREWARE

You will find that it will give you better satisfaction. It is light, convenient, economical. It does not spoil liquids, and it will not crack, break or dent.

Ask your dealer for them.

THE E. B. EDDY CO. Limited
HULL, Canada
Makers of the Famous Eddy Matches

MICKIE SAYS

GEE! IT SEEMS LIKE I'M BEATIN' OUTA HERE DELIVERING PRINTIN' A DOZEN TIMES A DAY. IT'S GREAT T' BE WORKIN' IN SUCH A POPULAR SHOP BUT IT'S SURE HARD ON THE HOOFS, I'M PROGNOSTICATIN'!
CHARLES Dierard

300 ITALIANS SLAIN.

Paris, Sept. 9.—Anti-Italian disturbances continue to spread in Albania, according to despatches to newspapers here, it being reported that a detachment of 300 Italians was annihilated at Kastrali recently. Advices say that the Albanians intend to send delegates to the Peace Conference to demand that their country be granted autonomy.

The Prince of Wales was enthusiastically welcomed at Winnieg.

Wood's Phosphodine.
The Great English Remedy. Tones and invigorates the whole nervous system, makes new Blood in old Veins. Cures Nervous Debility, Mental and Brain Worry, Despondency, Lost of Energy, Palpitation of the Heart, Failing Memory. Price $1 per box, six for $5. One will please, six will cure. Sold by all druggists or mailed in plain pkg. on receipt of price. New pamphlet mailed free. THE WOOD MEDICINE CO., TORONTO, ONT. (Formerly Windsor, Ont.)

Toronto Savings and Loan
COMPANY
Peterborough

Head Office: 435-437 George Street
Paid-Up Capital . . $1,000,000.00
Reserve Fund $1,100,000.00

SAVINGS DEPARTMENT: Deposits received of One Dollar and upwards. Interest paid quarterly, accrues from date of deposit to date of withdrawal.

Every facility and convenience is afforded to depositors.

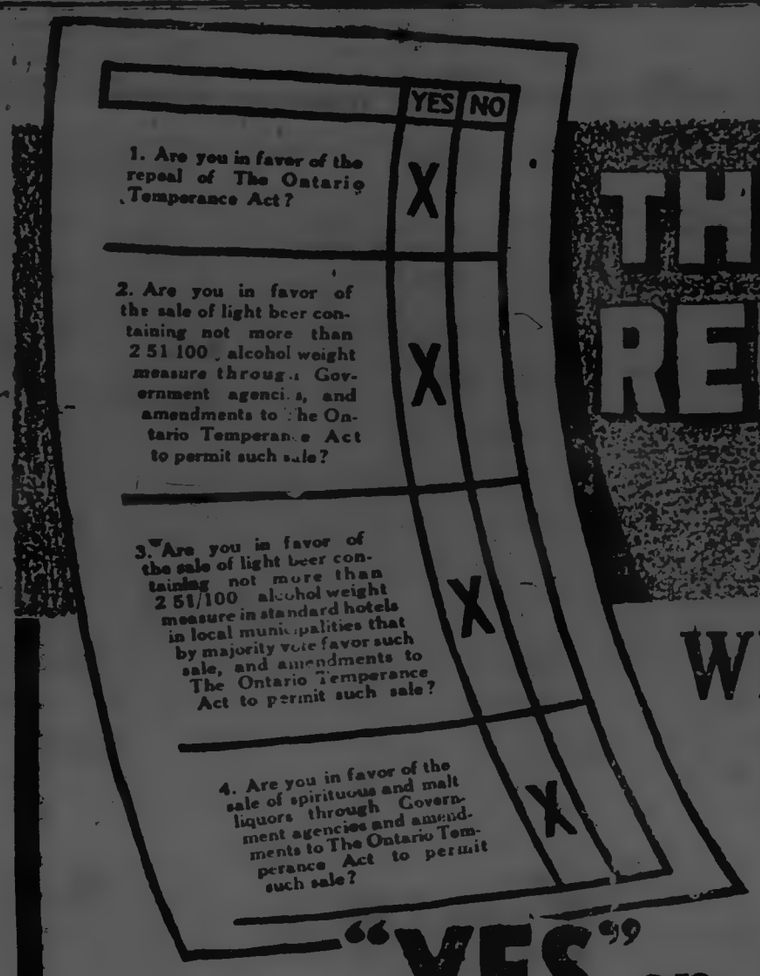
INVESTMENT DEPARTMENT: Debentures issued for sums of $100 & upwards for periods of one to five years, upon which special rates of interest are paid, depending upon the term of investment.

Executors and trustees are authorized by law to invest in the Debentures of this institution.

Money to loan at lowest current rates of interest.

W. G. MORROW,
Managing Director.

CLOCKS
: the Gift Kind :
Best assortment in the city of French Marble Clocks, Fancy Boudoir Clocks, Mantel Clocks, Bronze and Ornamental Clocks.
Prices moderate; Values defy competition.
Schneider's
367 George St. Next Turnbull's



YES NO
1. Are you in favor of the repeal of The Ontario Temperance Act?
X
2. Are you in favor of the sale of light beer containing not more than 2 51 100 alcohol weight measure through Government agencies, and amendments to The Ontario Temperance Act to permit such sale?
X
3. Are you in favor of the sale of light beer containing not more than 2 51/100 alcohol weight measure in standard hotels in local municipalities that by majority vote favor such sale, and amendments to The Ontario Temperance Act to permit such sale?
X
4. Are you in favor of the sale of spirituous and malt liquors through Government agencies and amendments to The Ontario Temperance Act to permit such sale?
X

THE REFERENDUM BALLOT

What Each Question Means—and Why You Should Vote "YES" on All Four Questions

Vote "YES"

1. Are you in favor of the repeal of The Ontario Temperance Act?

The repeal of The Ontario Temperance Act does not mean a return to the general sale of spirituous liquors, as the Premier, in his speech of April 7th, said: "Now, practically no one suggests a return to old conditions. The distillers in a recent manifesto say that they themselves are opposed to it. Many hotelkeepers say they are opposed to it. The brewers say they are opposed to it. Honourable gentlemen in the House and people out of the House, who are opposed to the present Act, say they are equally opposed to the old order. The labor men who ask for stronger beer, say they don't want the sale of hard liquor."

The Premier and the Government, realizing this, would not be parties to a continuance of the general sale of spirits as under the old license system, but would amend the License Act in accord with public sentiment. This would be in keeping with the policy of the Provincial Governments of the past fourteen years, which have from time to time amended the License Act to conform to the wishes of the people. To vote "Yes" to question number one would enable the Government to provide for the sale of beer and light wine in the hotels, and beer and spirits in Government stores for home consumption.

The Citizens' Liberty League does not want a return to the conditions under the old License Act and the sale of liquor over the bar. It does ask, however, for the general sale of beer 2.51% alcohol by weight (non-intoxicating) and light wines, and that the Government should only allow the sale of heavier beers and liquors through agencies established and maintained under Government supervision and control. It is therefore necessary that question one should be answered "Yes," repealing The Ontario Temperance Act and making it possible for the Government to enact a new temperance measure in accord with the expressed will of the people.

By voting "Yes" on question number one you will be in agreement with Premier Hearst when he said: "Many good and conscientious citizens, as good and conscientious as there are in the Province, do not approve of the Act as it stands today." Vote "Yes" on question number one and repeal the unsatisfactory Ontario Temperance Act.

Vote "YES"

2. Are you in favor of the sale of light beer containing not more than 2.51 100% alcohol weight measure through Government agencies, and amendments to The Ontario Temperance Act to permit such sale?

Vote "Yes" on question number two. This provides for the sale of light beer in Government stores for home consumption and removes the necessity of procuring a doctor's certificate.

Remember:—Every voter must vote on every question, or his ballot will be spoiled.

Vote "YES"

3. Are you in favor of the sale of light beer containing not more than 2.51 100% alcohol weight measure in standard hotels in local municipalities that by majority vote favor such sale, and amendments to The Ontario Temperance Act to permit such sale?

Vote "Yes" on question number three. There can be little doubt that the majority of people will vote "Yes" on this question. There is a demand for a beer of good flavor and body that is non-intoxicating, and the public want to obtain it by the glass as well as by the bottle.

A beer of 2.51% alcohol by weight, no matter in what quantities consumed, is absolutely non-intoxicating. In European countries beer of this strength is sold generally without license and without excise duty. In voting "Yes" on questions two and three you can be assured that no one can become intoxicated by beer of this strength.

Vote "YES"

4. Are you in favor of the sale of spirituous and malt liquors through Government agencies and amendments to The Ontario Temperance Act to permit such sale?

Vote "Yes" on question number four, which provides for the sale of all liquors for home consumption from Government stores under such regulations as the Government may deem it wise to adopt. The public will be able to purchase from these stores without procuring a doctor's certificate.

Study the Referendum Ballot; if there is any point not clear, call or write the Secretary of the League at Committee Headquarters. It is to your interest that you vote wisely and intelligently. And if you are a lover of liberty and an advocate of true temperance, you will vote "YES" on all questions on the Referendum Ballot.

The Citizens' Liberty League is not in favor of the sale of spirits over the bar as under the old License Law. It is, however, in favor of the general sale of non-intoxicating beer of 2.51% alcohol by weight and light wines, and the sale of liquor for home consumption through Government stores under such restrictions as the Government may deem wise to adopt.

CITIZENS' LIBERTY LEAGUE

22 College St., Toronto

HON. PRESIDENT:
SIR EDMUND B. OSLER

VICE-PRESIDENT:
I. F. HELLMUTH, K.C.

T. L. CARRUTHERS, Secretary

PRESIDENT:
LIEUT.-COL. H. A. C. MACHIN, M.P.P.

HON. TREASURER:
F. GORDON OSLER

3

POINTED PARAGRAPHS.

A little money is often a dangerous thing.

Mathematics come under the head of figure heads.

It is easier to make complaints than it is to make a living.

The average American's views of Europe are mostly stereoscopic.

And you always get full measure when you go after a peck of trouble.

Some men would rather be wrong than right—if there's more money in it.

The hog is far superior
To the traitor any day.
For, while he is a squealer,
He nothing gives away.

Men haven't much love for men, women haven't much love for women, and most men and women have no love for each other than they have for themselves.

ADVERTISING RATES.

The rate for Classified Advertisements is one cent a word per first insertion; subsequent insertions half a cent per word. Minimum number of words ten. Special terms for 5,000 words or over. Advertisements marked "till forbidden" are accepted on the understanding that they will be published until a written or verbal notice to stop them is received.

BIRTH, MARRIAGE, DEATH, MEMORIAL NOTICES AND CARDS OF THANKS, 50c per insertion in Daily and Weekly, not exceeding one inch space. All words over the inch, one cent each.

FEMALE HELP WANTED.

WANTED MAID FOR PLAIN cooking and general housework. Apply Mrs. Rollins, 439 Rubidge street.

WANTED — GIRLS. APPLY at Gate House, Canadian General Electric Co., Ltd.

MALE HELP WANTED.

WANTED A GOOD FUR salesman with experience. Apply to Barries Limited.

WANTED AN ORDERLY. Apply St. Joseph's Hospital.

HARDWARE CLERK, WITH three or more years' experience, wanted for good hardware store in a live country town. Apply Review for address.

AGENTS WANTED.

BY CANADIANS FOR CANADians "Canada's Sons in the World War," by Col. George Nasmith. Introduction by General Sir Arthur Currie. Only satisfactory Canadian book. Profusely Illustrated. Wonderful opportunity for money making for returned soldiers and others, men or women. Representatives are having marvelous success. Special terms; freight paid; credit given; exclusive territory; outfit free. Winston Co., Toronto.

WANTED.

WANTED FARM ON THE water. Please state full particulars in first letter. Box 465 Review.

FOUND.

FOUND A FOLDER PURSE, containing a sum of money. Owner call 219 Bethune St.

FOUND LAST EVENING, A gray tweed overcoat near Blade's greenhouse. Owner may have same by applying at 555 Water street, and paying for advertisement.

LOST.

LOST FRIDAY LAST, ON Peterboro-Lindsay road or in city, two side curtains McLaughlin Four Touring; also pump. Finder please notify Dominion Life office, 172 Hunter street, Peterboro.

LOST—ON SUNDAY NIGHT, a pearl crescent on McDonnel, George or Hunter Sts. Finder please leave at Review office.

TO LET.

TO RENT — FURNISHED rooms with all conveniences, telephone; location central; suitable for one or two. Apply Review.

FOR SALE.

FOR SALE—NEW CLEVELand bicycle, motor cycle style. Apply 109 George St.

200-ACRE FARM, LOT 4, Con. 6, South Monaghan, near Fraserville, for sale cheap; if not sold soon will rent. Apply to J. W. Latimer, Fraserville.

FOR SALE — THE PRIVATE sale at 801 Water street continues nights only. A Happy Thought range and two gas stoves, also an old walnut buffet.

FARM FOR SALE.

A first-class farm for sale; four miles from city. Apply Review for address.

THE FOLLOWING CAN BE seen and bought cheaply at 207 Simcoe street: Excavating tools, picks, shovels, wheel-barrows, scrapers, plough, etc., dump cart and harness, stone boat, drop bottom wagons, gravel wagon with 1¾-yard box, contractor's hoisting winch, tackle, etc., whiffletrees, neckyokes, etc., also a lot of window and door frames, handy for alterations and repairs. All in good shape.

Wm. Lytle Cartage Co.

LEGAL CARDS.

HALL & HALL
Barristers and Solicitors.
Money to Loan at Lowest Rates.
Telephone 69. 116 Hunter St.

GORDON & O'BRIEN
Barristers, Solicitors & Notaries.
Money to Loan at Lowest Rates
Telephone 219.
G. N. GORDON. J. A. O'BRIEN.

C. R. WIDDIFIELD, B.A.
Barrister, Etc.
and Solicitor for the City of Peterborough. Bnak of Commerce Building. 'Phone 550.

MOORE & WEARING.
Barristers and Solicitors.
MONEY TO LOAN.
408 Water St. Opposite Post Office.

JAMES FORDYCE STRICKLAND
Barrister, Solicitor, Notary Public.
MONEY TO LOAN.
395 Water St. Peterborough.
PHONE 151.

S. T. MEDD.
Barrister, Solicitor, Notary.
Office Over Dominion Bank.
Cor. Simcoe & George Sts
Telephone No. 22.
Private Funds to Loan at Current Rates Upon Easy Terms.

PECK, KERR & McELDERRY.
Barristers, Solicitors, Notaries. 419 Water Street, Peterborough. Money to loan at lowest current rates of interest. Easy terms of payment.
E. A. Peck. F. D. Kerr.
V. J. McElderry.

J. EDMUND L. GOODWILL.
Barrister, Solicitor, Notary Public, Etc. Office 375 Water St. Phone 191.
Successor to Roger, Bennet & Goodwill.
MONEY TO LOAN at current rates upon easy terms.

A. E. DIXON.
Barrister, Solicitor, Etc.
Offices corner Hunter & George Sts. Entrance next Madill's Drug Store.

O'CONNELL & CORKERY
Barristers, Solicitors Notaries Public, etc. Money to Loan on Easy Terms of Payment.
D. O'Connell J. R. Corkery.
134½ Hunter St. Peterborough
Telephone 364.

R. R. HALL.
Barrister, Solicitor, Etc.
Peterborough, Ont., offices corner Hunter and Water Sts., over Canadian Bank of Commerce. Trust funds to loan on easy terms of payment.

MEDICAL CARDS.

DR. E. E. HARVEY.
Silver Medalist University of Toronto
Special attention to diseases of Women and Children.
Office: 212 Brock Street.
Hours: 1.30 to 5 p.m., 7 to 8 p.m.
Phone 222.

DR. BUCHANAN
F. R. S. C. Edin., M.R.O.S. Eng. L. R. C. P. Lon. Eye, Ear, Nose & Throat Specialist. Hours: 9-11 a.m. 2-4 and 7-8p.m. Phone 519 Office corner Water and Murray Streets.

DENTISTRY.

DR. W. N. HAYES.
has opened a Dental practice in the Barrie Building, Georgt Street.
'Phone 652 for appointments.

OSTEOPATHY.

DRS. WALMSLEY & SETTLE.
Osteopath Physicians.
Office over Crown Building, Hunter and Water Streets. Entrance 124 Hunter street. Office hours: 9 to 12 a.m., 2 to 5 p.m. Evenings by appointment. Office Phone 649.

MONEY TO LOAN.

There has been placed in our hands considerable trust funds to loan at 6½ per cent. on first class real estate property.
GORDON & O'BRIEN.
Phone 219. 395 George St.

Children's Aid Society
—of—
Peterborough City and County
FOR THE CARE OF NEGLECTED AND ILL-TREATED CHILDREN
G. W. POWELL
Asst. Secretary and Inspector
Office, 580 George St. Phone 1044w
Office Hours: 12 to 2 and 6 to 8 p.m.

Lackawana Coal
Means Economy
Burns freely and is of Best Anthracite.
Trucking Orders Promptly Filled
Peterboro Fuel & Transfer Co.
162 CHARLOTTE ST.
PHONES 270-262

Introducing

Autumn Millinery Modes

IT is our pleasure to bid you welcome to the seasonable showing of fashion's newest offerings. Our display, resplendent with the joy of times, has been assembled with the certainty that it contains the best of the modes. Turban-like Hats and Hats that rival the exquisite picture variety, though less trimmed. Hats for occasions of formal dress; Hats for the street; Hats for the motor; Sport Hats and Reception Hats.

We extend to you a cordial welcome to visit this exhibit on the Millinery floor.

Individual Style Predominates

In the Ladies' Suit Coat and Dress Exhibit of Fall Models on the Third Floor

Great interest is shown in this assemblage of New Suits, Coats and Dresses, tailored along scientific and artisttc lines, that will appeal especially to women who have in the past had difficulty in being properly fitted.

These beautiful garments include apparel that is the last word in designing, comprising, modes for street, motoring, business and reception, tailored in the season's smartest materials and every one featuring individual style.

You are invited to visit the store, at your convenience, and inspect the new Fall styles at your leisure.

TURNBULL COMPANY, LTD.

PETERBOROUGH'S GREATEST STORE

CAPT. MACAULAY FAINTS IN COURT

DRAMATIC TOUCHES AT GUELPH ENQUIRY ON WITNESS STAND.

DOHERTY SHOWED EMOTION

HIS SON, EXAMINED BY MILITARY DOCTORS, WAS PRONOUNCED IN E CLASS.

(Canadian Press Despatch)

Ottawa Sept. 10.—Dramatic touches furnished by the Guelph Enquiry this morning did not come from the evidence but from circumstances that followed the strain of a day on the witness stand.

Collapsed After Evidence.

Capt. Mcaulay, who conducted a visit to the Jesuit Novitiate, collapsed after completing his evidence, and had to be assisted to the judge's chambers in a fainting condition. Later he recovered.

Tuberculosis Sufferer

It was explained to court by Sir Sam Hughes that Mcaulay had been suffering from tuberculosis and had come to court in a weak condition. Hon. C. K. Doherty, Minister of Justice, called to hand a few minutes before adjournment, also showed signs of much emotion when testifying as to the health of his son who was in the novitiate at the time of the raid. He had been examined by Dr. Lafleur and other military doctors in Montreal and pronounced in military category.

Judge Doherty explained that the health of his son was a source of much anxiety to his family.

Judge Doherty was the first witness called by E. L. Newcombe representing the Department of Justice prosecution having closed its case with the evidence of Colebambers chief press censor for Canada. Doherty contradicted Macaulay's version of the telephone conversation between Guelph and Ottawa on the night of the raid. Otherwise very little that was new developed. The scene in the court room when the Minister of Justice was giving evidence about his son, was dramatic.

Not Accused.

Mr. Ferguson had pointed out that no one accused the Minister or his son of attempting to evade their duty, but added that the certificate on record as to young Doherty's condition was from Dr. Lafleur, and in a normal course under the military service act, the lad would not have visited Dr. Lafleur. The Minister of Justice might wish to be put on record further in regard to this matter.

Not Liable For Service.

Mr. Doherty said: "My son Marcus was born December 30th or 31st, 1898. There can be no question that he was not liable for service under the military act. My son submitted himself to a properly constituted board of examination, opened in Montreal under the military service act. That board consisted of 3 members, of whom one was Col. Chas. Martin, recently from overseas one of the most eminent Canadian physicians. Another was Dr. Lafleur."

Hon. Doherty continued his voice becoming lower and less distinct, until could not be understood: "Dr Lafleur told me that he had found a condition—a condition—here Mr. Doherty broke down: "a condition, which placed him in category 'E'."

ONLY TABLETS MARKED "BAYER" ARE ASPIRIN

Not Aspirin at All without the "Bayer Cross"

The name "Bayer" is the thumb-print of genuine Aspirin. It positively identifies the only genuine Aspirin, the Aspirin prescribed by physicians for over nineteen years and now made in Canada.

Always buy an unbroken package of "Bayer Tablets of Aspirin" which contains proper directions for Colds, Headache, Toothache, Earache, Neuralgia, Lumbago, Rheumatism, Neuritis, Joint Pains and Pain generally.

Tin boxes of 12 tablets cost but a few cents. Larger "Bayer" packages.

There is only one Aspirin—"Bayer"—You must say "Bayer"

Aspirin is the trade mark (registered in Canada) of Bayer Manufacture of Monoaceticacidester of salicylicacid. While it is well known that Aspirin means Bayer manufacture, to assist the public against imitations, the Tablets of Bayer Company will be stamped with their general trade mark, the "Bayer Cross."

SAM CARTER WILL RUN

Present Liberal Member Will Again Contest South Wellington.

Guelph, Sept. 10.—Sam Carter, M.P.P., the Liberal representative in the Ontario House for South Wellington, will again be a candidate for the Legislature in the next election. Word to this effect has been received from Mr. Carter, who is now in England, by officials of the South Wellington Reform Association. At a meeting of the Liberal executive held some weeks ago Mr. Carter's candidature was endorsed and a cable was sent him asking him if he would again accept the Liberal nomination. He was also informed that the United Farmers had nominated Mr. J. A. Cockburn to contest the riding. An answer has now been received from Mr. Carter saying he will stand for re-election.

Dates of Western Trading Companies.

The Hudson's Bay company was chartered in 1670 by Prince Rupert and others. The North West Fur company of Montreal was formed in 1779, and the two joined forces in 1821.

Mental Strain for the Kid.

We must not expect too much of the child and probably all that we can reasonably ask is that he see that the safety pin is closed before swallowing it.—Ohio State Journal.

He Understood.

Mrs. Henpeck—"She's very pretty, but she hardly says a word. I can't understand why so many men propose to her." Mr. Henpeck—"I can."—London Answers.

How Do You Find It, Neighbor?

Said the facetious feller, "The hardest thing after you make a payment down is to keep the others up."

Optimistic Thought.

A true soldier never bends his sword to cruel slaughter.

LAKEFIELD

Girls' Auxiliary.

A meeting of the Girls' Auxiliary of St. John's Church was held at the home of Mrs. Marling on Thursday afternoon. Arrangements were made to hold an afternoon tea and sale of work in the Sunday School on Friday, Sept. 15. Everybody is welcome.

St. John's Church.

Rev. Dr. W. Archibald, of Weston, commenced duties as rector of St John's Church on Monday, September 1. Commencing Sept. 15, the Sunday School will be held in the afternoon, 3 p.m., instead of 10 a.m.

Church Services.

Services, morning and evening, were held in both Methodist and Presbyterian churches, on Sunday. Mrs M. Osborne rendered a solo, "The Ninety and Nine," in the Presbyterian Church at Sunday morning service.

Personals.

Rev. F. S. Dixon and family returned from their vacation on Monday.

Mr. Wilbert Webster returned home last week after spending the past few weeks in Nichols Hospital, Peterborough.

Mr. Broderick, Public School inspector, was in the village Wednesday preparing to inspect schools in this vicinity.

Miss Mary Warren, of Toronto, spent Wednesday in the village visiting friends.

Miss Verna Burgess, of Peterborough, spent the week-end in the village visiting her parents.

Miss Loretta Watley, of Peterborough, spent a couple days last week with her parents.

Mr. Gordon Northey left last week for Kingston after spending the past few weeks in the village.

Mrs. Mehany, of Norwood, spent a few days last week in the village visiting friends.

Mr. Gibbs spent a few days last week in Toronto.

Miss Ida Lyons, of Peterborough, who has spent the past few weeks in the village returned to her home last week.

Miss Duff returned to the village Thursday after spending the past month at Goderich visiting her brother, Mr. Hugh Duff.

Miss Stringer, of Toronto, has been engaged as milliener to take charge of the millinery parlors over R. Graham and Son's store.

Mrs. A. Quinn has returned after spending a few days at "Star" cottage, Stoney Lake, the guest of Mr. and Mrs. F. J. Moore.

Mrs. Wm. Gillman returned to the village Tuesday after spending the past month at Stoney Lake visiting Dr. and Mrs. Griffith, of Toronto.

Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Hunter, of Wolverine, Sask., arrived in the village Wednesday and will spend a few weeks in the village visiting friends.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter Madill and family, who have spent the summer at Athens, have returned to the village. Mr. Madill will resume his position as tinsmith in H. G. Fitzgerald's hardware.

Messrs. T. Simpson, A. Thompson, J. Sabatino spent a few days in Toronto attending the exhibition.

Messrs. C. Hunter and Roy Hendren spent a few days in Toronto last week visiting friends.

Mr. W. Lemay returned from Toronto Saturday after spending the past few days in the city on business.

Miss Georgina Everett left on Monday for Wyebridge where she secured a position as teacher for the Wyebridge school.

Miss Irene Madill has been engaged as teacher for the Trenton school and left Monday to take up her duties there.

Miss Elsie Sherin has returned to Toronto to resume her duties there.

Mr. Robert Knox, of Apsley, was the guest of his son, Mr. R. H. Knox, Jr.

Miss Vera Gardiner has returned to her home in Norwood after spending a few days the guest of Miss Olive Northcott.

Mr. H. Rorabeck, of Peterborough, spent the week-end in the village visiting friends.

Rev. Dr. W. Archbold returned to the village on Wednesday after spending the past month in Toronto.

Archdeacon Warren, of Toronto, was in the village on Saturday en route to Peterborough after spending the past week at "Viamede."

Miss Evelwyn Smith, of Utica, N. Y., was visiting in the village this week.

Mr. and Mrs. B. Marling have closed their cottage "Point of Rock", Stoney Lake for the season and returned to the village.

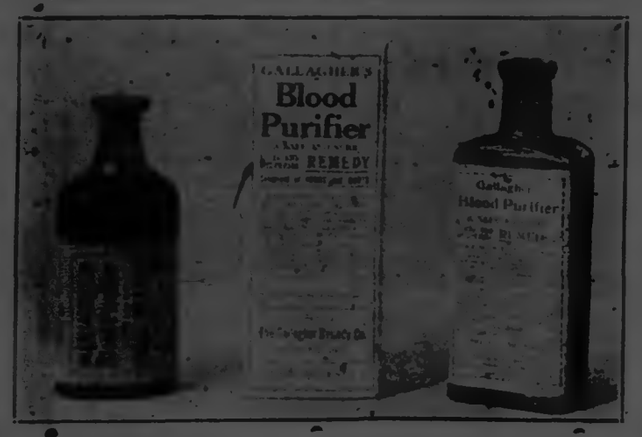
Miss Gallagher, of Norwood, was in the village on Wednesday.

Mrs. J. E. Bogue and Miss Rhoda Alford spent a couple of days in Lindsay last week.

Mrs. Frank Burgess, who has been visiting relatives in Chicago and Rochester, returned home last week.

Mr. and Mrs. Morrison and Master Billie, of Kincardine, former manager of the Royal Bank here, are at present the guests of the Misses Ray.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Grylls, Messrs. Frank and Sam, Mrs. Gordon Northey and babe have returned to the village after spending a couple of months at their cottage, "Sea Burge," Stoney Lake.



OLD STYLE BOTTLE NEW STYLE BOTTLE AND CARTON

Get familiar with GALLAGHER'S BLOOD PURIFIER, the great herb laxative. Take it for the stomach, liver or bowels. Take it instead of pills, salt or mineral drugs. A spoonful at night will keep your bowels right. For sale by Warne Drug Co., City; W. Hunter, Fowler's Corners; J. A. Jobe, Bridgenorth; R. Killean, Ennismore; Jas. Guiry, Downeyville; D. Hastie, Lang; G. T. Gall, Keene; Fred Collins, Stuart's Hall; P. G. Towns, Douro; A. F. Choate, Warsaw; H. A. Shearer, Buckhorn; W. Thompson, Mt. Julian; Ed Young, Young's Point.

A FAMILY FAVORITE FOR FORTY YEARS.

CHEESE BOARD WENT TO W. S. COOK AND SONS AT 25 CTS.

Only Three Buyers on Hand—Usual Grant for Fall Fairs.

Only three buyers were on hand at the Cheese Board this morning. G. A. Gillespie, for Peterboro Pure Milk Products, ltd; James Cook, for W. S. Cook and Sons, Belleville, and Wm. Flavelle, for Flavell's, Ltd., Lindsay.

Mr. Gillespie bid 25c f.o.b. Montreal for the Board, but selections went to Mr. Cook at 25c f.o.b. factory. Mr. Cook took the whole board.

Cheese Boarded.

Warminster	90
Selwyn	73
Villiers	150
Warsaw	80
Westwood	125
Oakdale	115
Ormonde	220
Young's Point	105
Lang	60
North Dummer	55
Stoney Lake	85
Norwood	130
Killarney	85
Total	1423

Grant For Prizes.

A motion was passed to give the usual grant of $10 to East and West Peterborough for the prizes at the fall exhibitions.

The Board adjourned for two weeks.

Clever.

"What makes you think Windyman's wife is such a clever woman? She never says anything particularly interesting." "No, but she always manages to monopolize the conversation so that her husband won't have a chance to make a fool of himself."—Boston Transcript.

No Time for Sadness.

Away with sadness! She often raps at my door, and while I try not to be rude, I always pretend to be very busy. Just a light word o' recognition by way o' common politeness! Then laugh if you can, an' do it quickly, lad, an' she will pass on.—Exchange.

Mr. Sam Grylls is at present spending a few days in Toronto attending the Toronto exhibition.

Miss Gladys Manning spent a few days in Peterborough visiting relatives.

Mr. H. Sutton spent the week-end at his home in the village.

Miss Vera Hendren is at present visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. Hendren.

The Genuine Original

Kellogg's TOASTED CORN FLAKES

were first made in Canada in 1907 and have been continuously made and sold by The Battle Creek Toasted Corn Flake Company, Limited, London, Ontario.

These are the Corn Flakes that the Canadian consumer has enjoyed with increasing appreciation during the past twelve years.

In quality and flavor they are unsurpassed.

Refuse all substituted imitations and protect yourself by seeing that "Made in Canada" and "London, Ont." are printed in red ink on the face of every package.

The Battle Creek Toasted Corn Flake Company, Limited

Head Office and Plant— LONDON, ONT.

The GRESSMAN Company Limited

And now Time advances the clock to Fashion to AUTUMN 1919

An Autumn such as the world has not known for four years—an Autumn joyous with the return of Peace—And women, lovely women must dress their part to help : : make us all forget. : :

A cordial invitation is extended to all to inspect our Autumn Exhibition of Fashions for

WOMEN MISSES CHILDREN

SUITS FROCKS WRAPS
BLOUSES SKIRTS
MILLINERY

CHILDREN'S WEAR SPORTS WEAR
PIECE GOODS ACCESSORIES

To-morrow, Friday and Saturday
SEPT. 11th, 12th & 13th

FIVE MEN KILLED FIFTEEN WOUNDED

ALL WERE VICTIMS OF STANDARD STEEL CAR CO'S STRIKE, OR WORKERS.

POLICE AND STRIKERS BATTLE

ONE THOUSAND MALCONTENTS THREATEN TO MOB TWO HUNDRED EMPLOYES.

(Canadian Press Despatch)

Hammond, Ind., Sept. 9.—Five strikers were killed and fifteen injured today in a battle between the police and one thousand striking workmen of the Standard Steel Car Co. who were threatening to mob two hundred workmen of the company who had returned to work. The police suffered no injuries.

NEGRO RIOT SLAYER CLEARED

Grand Jury Calls Police Action Travesty on Justice.

Chicago, Sept. 8.—"Justifiable homicide" was the verdict of the coroner's special riot jury this afternoon in the case of Joseph Scott, colored, charged with the killing of Nicholas Kleimark, white, 3451 Ashland avenue, at 38th place and Ashland avenue July 28. Scott stabbed Kleinmark with a pocket knife as the latter attacked him with a club on an Ashland avenue street car.

With him the jury exonerated Wilson Brown and Harry Simpson, also colored, passengers on the same street car, which was stopped by a mob of white men. The jury recommended that the three be released. Verdict said in part:

"It is the sense of this jury that the conduct of the police at the time of the riot at this poin, during the subsequent investigations and at the preliminary hearing at which Joseph Scott was bound over to the grand jury without counsel, was a travesty on justice and fair play."

Clear, Peachy Skin Awaits Anyone Who Drinks Hot Water

Says an inside bath, before breakfast helps us look and feel clean, sweet, fresh.

Sparkling and vivacious —merry, bright, alert—a good, clear skin and a natural, rosy, healthy complexion are assured only by pure blood. If only every man and woman could be induced to adopt the morning inside bath, what a gratifing change would take place. Instead of the thousands of sickly, anaemic-looking men, women and girls, with pasty or muddy complexions; instead of the multitudes of "nerve wrecks," "run downs," "brain fags", and pessimists we should see a virile, optimistic throng of rosy-cheeked people everywhere.

An inside bath is had by drinking each morning, before breakfast, a glass of real hot water with a teaspoonful of limestone phosphate in it to wash from the stomach, liver, kidneys and ten yards of bowels the previous day's indigestible waste, sour fermentations and poisons, thus cleaning, sweetening and freshening the entire alimentary canal before putting more food into the stomach.

Those subject to sick headache, billiousness, nasty breath rheumatism, colds; and particularly those who have a pallid, sallow complexion and who are constipated very often, are urged to obtain a quarter pound of limestone phosphate at the drug store which will cost but a trifle, but is sufficient to demonstrate the quick and remarkable change in both health and appearance, awaiting those who practice internal sanitation. We must remember that inside cleanliness is more important than outside, because the skin does not absorb impurities to contaminate the blood while the pores in the thirty feet of bowels do.

Tips.

German restaurants are said to have abolished the tipping system. It has always been regarded as a nuisance by many people, but it is doubtful whether its abolition would be beneficial even to customers, says Tit-Bits.

The word "tip" is said to be derived from the initial letters of the phrase, "To Insure Promptness." If this is so, with the tip promptness of the one tipped might go, too.

Protests against tipping are by no means of modern growth. George I complained about it when he first came to the throne. "This is a strange country," he declared. "The first morning after my arrival at St. James' I looked out of the window, and saw a park with walks and a canal, which I was told were mine. The next day Lord Chetwynd, the ranger of my park, sent me a fine brace of carp out of my canal, and I was told I must give five guineas to Lord Chetwynd's servant for bringing me my own carp out of my own canal in my own park."

The first club of American working girls was formed thirty-five years ago in New York city.

LUX and Your Sweater

There is a delightful way of washing it—so easy you can do it yourself—so pure that your sweater may be washed again and again and each time look like new.

It is with the rich creamy lather that the wonderful LUX flakes make. No rubbing or twisting necessary. Just dipping and rinsing. So pure is LUX that it has the uttermost cleansing power. So gentle that it harms nothing that pure water itself may touch. There is no substitute for LUX.

LUX is sold at grocers, departmental stores, etc

Recipe booklet, "The Care of Dainty Clothes" sent on request

LEVER BROTHERS LIMITED, TORONTO 83

LUX

A Strange Army

ARRIVAL of more than 1,000 fighting Czechs on this continent en route to their homes in Central Europe marks the beginning of the end of a sacrificial pilgrimage to the shrine of liberty.

Seventeen months ago these intrepid warriors started out from the Kiev district of Western Russia in railway cars, some of which were decorated with the slogan, "From War to War Around the World."

At that time it looked as though the summer of 1918 would find them in Champagne or the Argonne, joined with the thousands of their compatriots who were already fighting in the Allied armies to down the Hun.

But a strange combination of circumstances delayed them in Siberia through the short summer of long days and the long winter of little sunshine while in Europe armistice gave way to peace treaty.

Xenophon had a fine trip, if one is to judge from the accounts of his favorite press agent, and Napoleon and Sherman have made famous excursions, but when it comes to the world encircling vison of the tourist bureau writer and the doggedness of death, the wonderful Czechs take the palm.

The war found them about as enthusiastic in their friendship for William Hohenzollern and his Potsdam confederates as they were for the Hapsburg House that betrayed them centuries ago, after they magnanimously joined the Austrians in the repulse of the hordes from Asia that then threatened Europe.

Their going over to the enemy was one of the reasons why Germany's southern neighbor failed to pick up rapidly amid the heavy traffic that resulted from the mobilization of Europe.

Bohemia formed the foremost salient thrust northward from Austria-Hungary toward the heart of Germany and hence was subjected for centuries to the utmost Germanization measures. But the stout-hearted Czechs, who lost their independence the same year the Plymouth Pilgrims landed, did not lose their spirit of independence, and 1914 was the date they had long awaited.

Whole regiments of them went over to the foe. Other thousands were shot down by their Austrian companions in arms and all their organizations were heavily officered by the Germans or Magyars, whose methods and aims they hated. Thousands of them escaped to Russia, where they were sent to the cold of Siberia or the malaria of the Tashkent region as prisoners of war.

Many of them entered the Russian army under Kerensky, but with the signing of the Brest-Litovsk treaty they lost faith in their Russian companions in arms and, with a spirit of loyalty to the cause of freedom that no other group surpassed, they set out from Russia to cross Siberia, the Pacific, America, the Atlantic and France, to hurl themselves once more against their oppressor and traditional foes.

In mid April of last year their 78 trains were strung out from the Ukraine to Lake Baikal, all moving toward the port of Vladivostok.

Lenine and Trotzky, fearing these stalwart defenders of law and order, adopted the policy of "good riddance," although not even their worst enemies have ever accused the Czechs of being bad rubbish. For a time the Czechs advanced, carload after carload rolling sonorously across the many wide bridges from the Volga to the Tsauri.

At this time the Red Guard of Siberia, which contained many German and Austrian prisoners of war, was organizing for an attack on Semenoff, who with his band of ruffians and mercenaries was driving west along the Chinese Eastern Railway from Harbin toward the junction of the Amur River Railway and the main line of the Trans-Siberian at Karymskaya.

The Czech General Staff train was halted at Omsk, where both Czechs and Red Guards had recruiting stations. The trains of the two factions stood side by side in the railway yards. On May Day, 1918, the Siberian Red Guard, or International Proletariat Army, as it was called in Omsk, entrained for the Tchita district, and soon pulled out for the east, which at that time was the end of the Czech rainbow.

Most of the Czech arms had been seized by the Reds, but the Czechs had additional arms, concealed in their train-homes and were more ready than was then suspected to accomplish the miracle of a conquered Siberia.

The Bolsheviki walked into the trap which they had themselves prepared, for had they lived up to their promises, the Czechs would have all been in Vladivostok by July. When the Reds attempted to disarm the Czecho-Slovak Expedition, the Bohemians refused to be as meek as the anti-bolsheviks usually were then, and the result was a continent saved for democracy while the world was hunting through its atlas to find out who these fighting men with the strange name really were, and what they were doing so far from home.

With Gaida's whirlwind campaign around the end of Lake Baikal, and the frustration of the Reds' attempt to cut the life line of steel that forms the backbone of settled Siberia, the Czechs accomplished the most miraculous success of the war. The 28-year-old leader, Gaida, forgot red tape and did his duty before having his plans o.k'd by Paris, London or Rome, and thus saved Siberia until the Allied armies from the Pacific could come and add the Q E D sign to the Czech achievement.

BALL PLAYERS MUST PAY TAX

Controller of New York Makes Ruling on Income Law.

Albany, N.Y., Sept. 8.—Professional baseball players and umpires, no matter what their club affiliations may be, who participate in games played in New York state this year, New York's new income tax law, Comptroller Eugene M. Travis ruled today.

This means, it was explained at the comptroller's office, that players and umpires of the National, American and International Leagues, and others similarly situated, whose residences and home teams are located in other states, will be required to pay an income tax on the money earned while they are playing in New York if this amounts to more than 1,000. Coincidentally, players and umpires of New York clubs will not be required to pay a tax on their salaries earned in games played outside the state.

The decision was rendered in response to inquiries by baseball clubs that had previously been notified by the comptroller that the statutes require them to act as withholding agents and to deduct amount of tax due the state. The tax is payable next March on this year's income.

Chatham reverts to standard time Saturday midnight, and Woodstock Sunday midnight.

General Sakharoff, leader of the Third Army of the Omsk Government, has gained a big success against the Bolsheviki.

LIVING IS A DELIGHT

It is always morning and there is always sunlight somewhere in the world, to those whose eyesight is good.

If your eyesight is not good, Dr. Fowler's efficiency and a pair of his "PEBLO" Glasses will restore the natural sight. Consult him when you find the eyes failing in any way.

CONSULTATION FREE.

EYESIGHT SPECIALIST A. A. FOWLER DOCTOR OF OPTICS

Phm. B. Toronto University.

HAS FITTED 30,000 SATISFIED WEARERS OF PEBLO GLASSES

Most Up-to-date Sanitary Optical Parlors. With Nugent Drug Co.

ELECTRICITY ON ONTARIO FARMS

In our report of Mr. Jas. Thompson's address at his nomination in Norwood last Wednesday for re-election to the Legislature, we quoted him as saying in reference to electricity on the farm, that "the cost of installing complete electrically-driven machinery on the farm of W. D. Clarke, west of Oxford, in 1916, was $1,250, and the annual power charge, $96." This was misleading. The report should have read, "$1,200 was the cost of a full equipment for a syndicate of ten farmers, and included grinding mill, threshing mill, saw mill and all other necessary equipment." It did not refer to the cost of installation, for the average cost of electric installation in 1916, including telephone poles, for homes and barns, was $128.

BOARD OF EDUCATION

(Continued from Page One.)

were recommended and have been adopted throughout with one or two minor exceptions.

The Name.

Your committee would suggest that the proposed new school be known as the "Memorial School."

Against the Expense.

Mr. Gordon was the only member who voiced his sentiments against spending such a huge sum of money on a one-ward school. In his opinion the work should not be undertaken with prices at their highest.

It will be noticed that all the tenders accepted were the lowest tenders received and all were from local concerns.

Canadian Boilers Requested.

A question arose as to where the boilers were to be purchased. The contract calls for the same make of boiler as that used in the newest schools in the city, and which have given excellent service. These boilers are manufactured in the United States, and Mr. Worth raised the question of buying in Canada. The installation of the Spencer boiler was considered, but not approved of, as it would be more expensive to install, more difficult to keep clean, and to be more economical in use a cheap grade of coal would have to be supplied, and that becoming scarcer every year. In the face of these facts, supplied by Mr. Thomas, the Board's consulting engineer, the Spencer boiler was discarded. Provision was made, however, that if, when the time arrived for installing boilers, Canadian ones could be procured as economical and efficient as the United States boiler, then the contractor is to procure them.

The following resolution, moved by Mr. Patterson, and seconded by Mr. Fowler, carried:

Up To City Council.

"That the Council of the City of Peterborough be requested to pass a bylaw for borrowing two hundred and forty thousand dollars ($240,000) by the issue and sale of debentures of said city for the purpose of the erection of a public school house and for the purchase of furniture."

SINCE 1870 SHILOH 30 MINUTES COUGHS

100 FEET BY 20 FEET

LARGE ROOM OR HALL TO LET

This space is not sub-divided and those needing Living Rooms need not Apply. It consists of the former G.W.V.A. Quarters, over

MONCUR DRUG STORE

APPLY C. M. Moncur, 407 George Street

GRAND To-day

SPECIAL VAUDEVILLE
EUGENE LOCKHART in Pianologue and Songs | PAULINE FREDERICK in THE WOMAN ON THE INDEX

CHAPLIN in THE BUSTED JOHNNY | PETE MORRISON in "THE GUN PACKER"

THURSDAY and FRIDAY Twice Daily
HALE HAMILTON in "THE FOURFLUSHER"

SPECIAL WESTERN DRAMA | LYONS & MORAN COMEDY

THE BIG HIT!—VOD-A-VIL MOVIES—THE BIG HIT!

SATURDAY MATINEE AND EVENING
A TUNEFUL AND GAY MUSICAL PLAY

"MY SOLDIER GIRL"

Smart Swift and Saucy Cast | A Show Of Novelties

Brigade of Wonderful Girls

PRICES Mat. 1.00-75-50-25 Eve. 1.50-1.00-75-50-25 SEATS ON SALE TO-MORROW

THEATRICAL

The big beauty chorus with the tuneful musical comedy "My Soldier Girl" coming to the Grand Opera House Saturday Matinee and Night Sept 13th

"MY SOLDIER GIRL" AT GRAND SAT.

MUSICAL SUCCESS PLAYING TO CAPACITY HOUSES MONTH AFTER MONTH.

"My Soldier Girl" the brilliant musical spectacle coming to the Grand Saturday matinee and evening, in all its alluring splendor, offers an interesting story, together wih its tuneful musical score, that creates more than the ordinary interest offered in the musical play, for since its first performance the word success does not convey to the public what a wonderful box office attraction it developed into, playing to capacity houses month after month. There are six real big musical hits in the popular score, among them "My Soldier Girl," the title song which no doubt has been favored with the same popularity as the hits from many of our light operas.

The two gorgeous settings offer wonderful scenic environments, so cleverly as the artist blended the colors that the result pleases the eye and new and novel is the effect. The fresh and blending of shades in the gorgeous costumes puts the finishing touch to the artistic groupings of the latest designs fro the Modite's studios.

The story is laid in two acts, opening with gay festivities during a lawn fete at Colonel Stones home, Miami, Florida, who has recently returned from two years active service in France and is giving the party in honor of the boys and girls whom he met "overseas." Dixie Harris, his ward, who likewise had served the country in France, and Lieutenant Carter whom it was her pleasure to meet abroad, are the real guests of honor. There is a sprinkling of a love affair which has developed between Dixie and Carter, which wends its way through the entire perforance. The Colonel during the festivities makes it known that he is to produce a big musical show and offers the many talented guests engagements in his big venture. The fete closes brilliantly and the second act finds many of the visiting guests now assigned leading roles in the new show, which is rehearsing on the roof of a New York theatre. The production is magnificently mounted and the excellent cast including Dorothy Garrigue, Maude Baxter, J. G. LeRoy, Billy Moore, James Baber, Billy Murphy, Leslie Jones and others of equal merit present this splendid play excellently. There is a wonderful "pony" ballet that forms the back ground for this bewildering spectacle.

Miss Toronto, the $12,000 local syndicate hydroplane, caught fire yesterday in the International Gold Chalenge Cup race, and was destroyed The crew was saved by a police patrol boat. Leopard III was the winner. Arab IV of Buffalo was second

To VANCOUVER
Via the Scenic Route

Leave TORONTO (Union Station) 9.15 p.m.
Monday—Wednesday Friday

Compartment-Observation, Standard and Tourist Sleeping and Dining Cars. Comfortable Coaches.

SIX DAYS A WEEK SERVICE TO WINNIPEG AND EDMONTON
MON., WED., FRI.—Via Can. National Rys. All the Way.
TUE., THU., SAT.—Via G.T., T. & N.O. and Can. National Rys.

For Tickets and Information, enquire nearest C.N. Rys. Agent; or write General Passenger Department, Toronto.

Canadian National Railways

HAMILTON MAKES HIT IN NEW COMEDY DRAMA

ENJOYS FINE SUPPORT IN "THE FOUR FLUSHER" AT GRAND THEATRE.

Given fine support by a cast of sterling players and himself in his best element, Hale Hamilton as the star of "The Four Flusher," the new Metro photoplay at the Grand theatre, Thursday and Friday, gives the best acount of himself since he has adopted the screen as an outlet for his talents as a comedian-adventurer.

The story is an original one, written especially for the star by Izola Forrester and Mann Page, and in it Hamilton portrays the role of Lon Withers, a young New York business man who plays a big game of bluff with high stakes in an efort to rise from the the clerk's desk to a big contract job. It gives the star another such role as made him famous as the money wizard in "Get-Rich-Quick Walingford," and is told in a style that is brilliant and racy.

Mr. Hamilton surpasses even his successes in "After His Own Heart" and "Full o' Pep," and sets a new mark toward which the screen financier will have to strive in the future. His supporting cast includes Ruth Stonehouse, Louis Fitzroy, Frederic Malatesta, Harry Holden, Ralph Bell, Robert Badger, and Effi Conley. Harry L. Fanklin directed "The Four Flusher," and Maxwell Karger, Director General, supervised the staging of the entire production, which is one of the season's best pictorial attractions.

The balance of the programme will consist of a variety bill including a Lyons and Moran comedy. A special western drama, and wait a minute, no programme would be complete without the big hit Vod-A-Vil movies, which are creating a sensation here.

IT'S A BAD IDEA TO CHANGE HUSBANDS

PRACTICE DISCOURAGED IN FILM "DON'T CHANGE YOUR HUSBAND" AT ALLEN'S.

Suppose a beautiful and refined woman, with romance as one of the compelling motives of her life; a husband who is immersed in business, unintentionally neglectful and inclined to carelessness.

Then imagine a handsome, debonair, romantic and convincing young man who appreciates the situation and is overwhelmed by his admiration for the wife.

Suppose the wife, swayed by the fine speeches and the result of odious comparisons, leaving her husband and marrying the interloper, who is at best a trifler.

Then consider her position when the second spouse proves selfish, is inclined to stray, while meantime the first husband reforms, becomes a neat asset and saves her from a disgraceful situation as the result of another woman's entrance into No. 2's affections.

What would the wife do? Go back to No. 1? To find the answer to this question the public is referred to Cecil B. DeMille's newest special Artcraft picture, "Don't Change Your Husband," by Jeanie Macpherson, which will be shown at the Allen Theatre Wednesday and Thursday.

This is one of the best psychological photoplays which Mr. De Mille ever has produced. Although it is in no sense a sequel to Mr. De Mille's "Old Wives for New," the two may be regarded as companion pictures, and "Don't Change Your Husband" forms a sort of answer from the woman's point of view to the problem contained in "Old Wives for New." Gloria Swanson, Elliott Dexter, Lewis J. Cody, Theodore Roberts, James Neill, Sylvia Ashton and others comprise the cast.

In addition this second episode of the thrilling serial, "The Great Gamble," will be shown.

"Ideals are like stars; you will not succeed in touching them with your hands, but like the seafaring man on the desert of waters, you choose them as your guides, and following them, you reach your destiny.

Ever-Ready Fit.

Said the near-cynic: "Did you ever notice that the fellow who is chivalrous enough to remove his hat in an elevator where there are ladies, has no compunction about filling the air with a cloud of tobacco smoke?"

Chalk Substitute for Cement.

Ordinary chalk, treated by a new European process, becomes a cheap substitute for cement, strong enough for house-building use. It sets in water and resists the action of moisture. —Popular Mechanics Magazine.

The Scoffer.

Maybe one optimist in fifty has two times to choose between, but we don't believe the girl engrossed who had her pick of three Temple Capitol

JUST LIKE STEPPING ON GAS

Take Care of Any Excess of Food or Unusual Dish Such as Pie and Cheese, Beans and Other Palate Ticklers.

Wonderful How Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets Speed Up the Stomach to

"I Am On My Way, Billy, at Top Speed. That's What Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets Do for Me."

If you belong to that timid class that shies at a doughnut, just try Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets and see how they speed up the stomach. It's like stepping on the gas. You begin to eat things that used to worry you eevn to think of them, even the rich things of the banquet, the savory home-made sausage, the toothsome pies and puddings and all the balance of a long list of eatables that so many stomachs have been strangers to.

A Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablet after meals, relieves gassiness, rumblings, drowsiness, sour risings, heartburn, water brash and the feeling of being "stuffed." They contain harmless ingredients which act with an alkaline effect just as the stomach does when perfectly healthy. Thus, instead of milk or cheese curdling into a hard ball so you can taste it all day, it is broken up and converted into a substance for quick and easy assimilation. It is the same with those other foods which your weak stomach has had trouble with. Get a 50-cent box of Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets at any drug store, speed up your stomach and thoroughly enjoy what you eat without distress.

FIGHT SCENE IS A GREAT THRILL

"THE GREAT GAMBLE" AT ALLEN THEATRE—FULL OF SENSATION.

He was a hugh, thick-chested young man, with an under-shot jaw and hands like suitcases, and he had been sent by a theatrical agency, at the request of Director Jos. A. Golden, to take part in a bar-room fight scene in the new Pathe serial "The Great Gamble," starring Anne Luther and Charles Hutchison.

"Now, boys," said Director Golden, addressing the group of huskies, including the thick-chested one, "you've all got to pitch on Mr. Hutchison and try to beat him up. It's got to be a real fight, sail right into him and try to lick him, but don't get hurt."

"Whaddya mean, don't get hurt?" inquired the man with the suitcase hands, surveying the quiet and peaceful-looking Hutchison with an air of contempt. "Who's gonna hurt me, I ask you? If I open up once you're gonna be short one star till he gets outa the hospital."

"All right, son," smiled Director Golden. "You just open up."

The scene was called and the fight started. Three minutes later "Suitcase" looked up groggily from the floor. See this fight at the Allen in "The Great Gamble."

The Predicament.

Teddy had the usual nine o'clock sickness and did not have to go to school as a result. But at ten o'clock he found that he had recovered, and after dressing sought his mother in the kitchen. "I'm well, mother," he announced, "but I can't go to school till noon. You see it's too late now just to be counted tardy and too early to be counted absent."

Why Hens Cackle.

Hens cackle when they lay for the same reason that the doing of anything which human beings are meant to do gives them pleasure. It is an instinctive action. For the same reason a dog wags his tail when it is pleased. Even humans, when pleased with themselves, want to sing, or whistle or dance, or express their emotions in some way.

Mischievousness of Youth.

A young wife put down her book with a sigh. "What is it, darling?" her husband asked. "Ah, dearest, I am so happy!" she replied. "Yes, but you had such a sad look in your eyes just now." "I know, I've been reading about the unhappiness that the wives of men of genius have always had to bear. Oh, Alfred, dear, I'm so glad you're just an ordinary sort of fellow"

Cook's Cotton Root Compound.

A safe, reliable regulating medicine. Sold in three degrees of strength—No. 1, $1; No. 2, $3 per box. Sold by all druggists, or sent prepaid on receipt of price. Free pamphlet. Address: THE COOK MEDICINE CO., TORONTO, ONT. (Formerly Windsor)

Seven Keys TO Baldpate

By EARL DERR BIGGERS

Copyright, 1913, by the Bobbs-Merrill Company

"Joe," he said firmly, "take me to that money at once."

"It's out here," replied Bland. He and Hayden disappeared through the dining room door into the darkness. Cargan and Max followed close behind.

Hot with excitement, Mr. Magee slipped from his place of concealment. A battle fit for the gods was in the air. He must be in the midst of it. Perhaps again in a three cornered fight it would be the third party that would emerge victorious.

In the darkness of the dining room he bumped into a limp, clinging figure. It proved to be the hermit of Baldpate mountain.

"I got to talk to you, Mr. Magee," he whispered in a frightened tremolo. "I got to have a word with you this minute."

"Not now!" cried Magee, pushing him aside. "Later."

The hermit wildly seized his arm.

"No, now," he said. "There's strange goings on here, Mr. Magee. I got something to tell you—about a package of money I found in the kitchen."

Mr. Magee stood very still. Beside him in the darkness he heard the hermit's excited breathing.

Undecided, Mr. Magee looked toward the kitchen door, from behind which came the sound of men's voices. The hermit of Baldpate fairly trembled with news.

"Since I broke in on you yesterday morning," he said in a low tone, "one thing has followed another so fast that I'm a little dazed."

"You have nothing on me there, Peters," Magee answered.

"Well," went on the hermit, "as I say, through all this downpour of people, including women, I've hung on to one idea. I'm working for you. That's why I feel I ought to give what information I got to you."

Mr. Magee agreed impatiently.

"Where you find women," Peters continued, "there you find things beyond understanding. History"—

"Get to the point."

"Well, yes. This afternoon I was hunting around in the big refrigerator with a candle, thinking maybe some little token of food had been left over from last summer's rush—something in a can that time cannot wither nor custom stale, as the poet says—and away up on the top shelf, in the darkest corner, I found a little package.

"There was money in that package—lots of it; enough to found a university or buy a woman's gowns for a year. I was examining it careful-like when a shadow came in the doorway. I looked up"—

"Who?" asked Magee breathlessly.

"That little, blinky eyed, Professor Bolton was standing there, most owlish and interested. He came into the refrigerator. 'That package you have in your hand, Peters,' he says, 'belongs to me. I put it in cold storage so it would keep. I'll take it now.' Well, Mr. Magee, I'm a peaceful man. I could have battered that professor into a learned sort of jelly if I'd wanted to, but I'm a great admirer of Mr. Carnegie on account of the library, and I go in for peace. I knew it wasn't exactly the thing, but"—

"You gave him the package?"

"That's hardly the way I would put it, Mr. Magee. I made no outcry or resistance when he took it. 'I'm just a cook,' I says, 'in this house. I ain't the trusted old family retainer that retains its fortunes like a safety deposit vault.' So I let go the bundle. It was weak of me, I know, but I sort of got the habit of giving up money, being married so many years."

"Peters," said Mr. Magee, "I'm sorry your grip was so insecure, but I'm mighty glad you came to me with this matter."

"He told me I wasn't to mention it to anybody," replied the hermit, "but as I say, I sort of look on it that we were here first, and if our guests get to chasing untold wealth up and down the place, we ought to let each other in on it."

"Correct," answered Magee. "You are a valuable man, Peters. I want you to know that I appreciate the way you have acted in this affair." Four shadowy figures tramped in through the dining room door.

CHAPTER XVII.

The Open Window.

MAGEE stood up and in the light of the fire met Hayden. Now he saw that the face of the latest comer was scheming and weak and that under a small blond mustache a very cruel mouth sought to hide. The stranger gazed at Magee with an annoyance plainly marked.

"A friend of mine, Mr. er Bywas Mr. Magee, muttered Bland.

"Oh, come now," smiled Magee. "Let's tell our real names. I heard you greeting your friend a minute ago. How are you, Mr. Hayden?"

He held out his hand. Hayden looked him angrily in the eyes.

"Who the devil are you?" he asked.

"Do you mean," said Magee, "that you didn't catch the name. It's Magee—William Hallowell Magee. I hold a record hereabouts, Mr. Hayden. I spent nearly an hour at Baldpate inn—alone. You see, I was the first of our amiable little party to arrive. Let me make you welcome. Are you staying to dinner? You must."

"I'm not," growled Hayden.

"Don't believe him, Mr. Magee," sneered the mayor, "he doesn't always say what he means. He's going to stay, all right."

"Yes, you'd better, Mr. Hayden," advised Bland.

"Huh—delighted, I'm sure," snapped Hayden.

"Peters," said Magee, "an extra plate at dinner, please. I must leave you for a moment, gentlemen." He saw that their eyes followed him eagerly—full of suspicion, menacing.

"Murder—that is hardly in your line."

Hayden slipped quickly between Magee and the stairs. The latter faced him smilingly, reflecting as he did so that he could love this man but little.

"Who are you?" said Hayden again. "What is your business here?"

Magee laughed outright and turned to the other men.

"How unfortunate," he said, "this gentleman does not know the manners and customs of Baldpate in winter. Those are questions, Mr. Hayden, that we are never impolite enough to ask of one another up here."

He ran upstairs and passed through No. 7 out upon the balcony. Trudging through the snow, he soon sighted the room of Professor Bolton. And as he did so a little shiver that was not due to atmospheric conditions ran down his spine, for one of the professor's windows stood wide open, bidding a welcome to the mountain storm. Peters had spoken the truth. Once more that tight little, right little package was within Mr. Magee's ken.

He stepped through the open window and closed it after him. By the table sat Professor Bolton, wrapped in coats and blankets, reading by the light of a solitary candle.

"Good evening, professor," said Magee easily. "Don't you find it rather cool with the window open?"

"Mr. Magee," replied the much wrapped gentleman, "I am that rather disturbing progressive—a fresh air devotee. I feel that God's good air was meant to be breathed, not barricaded from our bodies."

"Perhaps," suggested Magee, "I should have left the window open?"

The old man regarded him narrowly.

"I have no wish to be inhospitable," he replied. "But, if you please"—

"Certainly," answered Magee. He threw open the window. The professor held up his book.

"I was passing the time before dinner with my pleasant old companion, Montaigne. Mr. Magee, have you ever read his essay on liars?"

(To be Continued.)

Five provinces are represented in the Canadian amateur lacrosse tourney, commencing at Winnipeg today. The British Columbia team is favorite with St. Simon's of Toronto second choice.

WILSON'S FLY PADS

Kill them all, and the germs too. 10c a packet at Druggists, Grocers and General Stores.

ALLEN THEATRE

WEDNESDAY THURSDAY

JESSE L. LASKY PRESENTS
CECIL B. DeMILLE'S PRODUCTION
"DON'T CHANGE YOUR HUSBAND"

He could "smell" a "twin," of the market, but he couldn't down the smell of onions on his breath. He was a financial giant, but at home, a matrimonial pigmy.

The beautiful gowns shown are alone worth the visit. Come early!

SECOND EPISODE OF "THE GREAT GAMBLE," AN UNUSUAL SERIAL CROWDED WITH THRILLS, FEATURING ANNE LUTHER AND CHAS. HUTCHISON, THE THRILL ARTISTS SUPREME.

Ottawa has invited the American Federation of Labor to meet there next year.

Canada Food Board License No. 8-6000

D. M. MINICOLA
Best Fruit—Cheap
Best Vegetables—Reasonable
Best Groceries
At Right Prices
410½ GEORGE STREET
Bell Phone 936

Railway Time Tables

C. P. R. TIMETABLE
Effective May 4th, 1919.
GOING EAST

8.20 p.m.—Indian River, Norwood, Havelock and Tweed.

11.52 p.m.—Norwood, Havelock, Kingston, Smiths Falls, Perth, Montreal, Quebec, St. John, N.B., Boston and New York.

*1.30 a.m.—Havelock, Tweed, Kingston, Perth, Smiths Falls and Ottawa.

11.59 a.m.—Norwood, Havelock, Marlaw, Tweed, Perth, Smiths Falls, Ottawa, Montreal and intermediate points.

*11.59 a.m.—Norwood and Havelock.

GOING WEST

*4.53 a.m.—Toronto, Owen Sound, Guelph, Goderich, Hamilton, Buffalo, New York, Galt, Woodstock, St. Thomas, London, Chatham, Detroit and Chicago.

6.21 a.m.—Myrtle and North Toronto.

7.35 a.m.—Toronto, Hamilton, Buffalo, Rochester, Boston, New York and intermediate points between Peterborough and Toronto.

9.35 a.m.—Lindsay, Orillia, Port McNicoll and intermediate points.

3.20—Toronto, Hamilton, Brantford, Buffalo, New York, Galt, Guelph, Woodstock, London, Windsor, Detroit and Chicago and intermediate points etween Peterborough and Toronto.

5.00 p.m.—North Toronto, Lindsay and intermediate points.

*3.20 p.m.—Toronto and intermediate points.

*Daily.
Daily except Sunday.
Daily except Saturday.
*Sunday only.

GRAND TRUNK RAILWAY SYSTEM TIMETABLE.

No. 86—8:10 a.m., for Toronto, via Port Hope, also points on Main Line east.
No. 92—8:20 a.m., for Lindsay, Blackwater Jct., Orillia, Midland, North Bay and Toronto.
No. 98—8:25 a.m., for Hastings, Campbellford, Belleville and points on Main Line East.
No. 269—8:30 a.m., for Lakefield.
No. 82—12:04 p.m. for Lindsay, Port Hope, Toronto, Buffalo, making connections with International Limited for London, Detroit and Chicago.
No. 271—12:15 p.m. for Lakefield.
No. 100—2:00 p.m. for Hastings Campbellford and Belleville.
No. 95—5:40 p.m. for Lindsay, Orillia, Midland, North Bay and Toronto.
No. 273—5:40 p.m. for Lakefield.
No. 99—8:31 p.m. for Lindsay.
No. 94—9:10 p.m. for Port Hope, Montreal and Boston.

The Steamer Naiad
ON AND AFTER MAY 5th 1919
The Steamer Naiad will run as follows:—
Leave Lakefield daily on arrival of noon G.T.R. Train for Stony Lake Points connecting at Mt. Julian with the Apsley Stage

PETERBORO INDUSTRIAL EXHIBITION

MONDAY, TUESDAY, WEDNESDAY SEPT, 15th, 16th, and 17th

Three Full Days—Three Evening Performances ushered in on Monday at 1 o'clock by Monster Parade

$3,500 IN PRIZE MONEY

SPLENDING IN THE RING EACH AFTERNOON

57th Regimental Band and Great War Veterans' Band Will Furnish Music

BIGGEST AND BEST FAIR OUTSIDE OF TORONTO LONDON AND OTTAWA

You Want "Pep" Well You'll Get It

SCAN OVER THIS PROGRAM OF FREE ATTRACTIONS—THE MOST EXPENSIVE ACTS EVER CONTRACTED FOR BY ANY CANADIAN EXHIBITION—SOMETHING DOING ON ALL THEE DAYS.

BONETTE BROS—DEATH DEFIERS

Double Balloon Ascension with Human Bomb Thrill.
Double Aerial Trapeze Cradle.
Whirlwind Slide for Life on 500-ft. Cable.

THOMAS TRIO—Comedy Triple Horizontal Bar Act

MARVELLOUS MELVILLE—Spectacular Gymnast

THE 4 READINGS

Sensational Jugglers of Human Beings, direct from New York Hippodrome.

THE CLARK-RAZZILLIANS CO.

IN WONDERFUL FEATS ON THE AERIAL TRAPEZE.

3—ROMANS—3

Spectacular Athletic Performance on the Roman Ladders.

Daily Aeroplane Flights by Oversea Aviators

Doing all kinds of Marvelous Stunts and Loops in the Air, not previously seen here. Passengers will be carried and arrangements for flights can be made with R. M. GLOVER, T. H. HOOPER or W. F. TURNER.

SPECIAL! SPECIAL! SPECIAL!

FOR MONDAY—FOR MONDAY—FOR MONDAY

In addition to the above Program a Novel Display of DAYLIGHT FIREWORKS will be given Monday Afternoon on arrival of the Big Calithumpian Parade at the Exhibiton Grounds.

MONSTER EVENING DISPLAY ON ALL THREE NIGHTS.

FIRST DRAW GOLF MACDONALD TROPHY

MUST BE PLAYED OFF BY MONDAY, SEPT. 15 — NO HANDICAPS ALLOWED.

The first draw for the Macdonald trophy must be played off by Monday, Sept. 15. No handicaps are allowed for this competition.

The draw:

Dr. Young vs. V. Eastwood, Sr.
G. O'Cameron, vs. Dr. Wood
W. H. Bradburn vs. W. H. Dunsford.
F. T. Bradburn vs. Chris. Graham.
G. Matthews vs. A. Stevenson.
Jos. Wearing vs. G. J. Sherry.
C. R. Widdifield vs. J. Crane.
C. Rogers vs. F. Patterson.
S. J. Dodds vs. H. Patterson.
S. Hamilton vs. S. Dunsford
W. Stevenson vs. E. W. Borbridge
R. R. Hall vs. Dr. Buchanan.
H. Bradburn vs. J. McElderry.
S Mills vs. D. Halton.
R. M. Waddell vs. E. Hatton
F. Roy vs. A. T. Killaly.
Dr. Cameron vs. W. Stratton.
J. Harstone vs. Hal Crane.
G. Langley vs. A. Stansfield.
R. Copping vs. M. Dunsford.
B. D. Hall vs. G. Gilman.
R. Doble vs. A. Trebilcock.
F. D. Kerr vs. L. Potvin.
G. Hamilton vs. A. Cook.
H. Cressman vs. N. Hatton.
Gerald Wood vs. V. J. Eastwood.
C. C. Abbott vs. F. Strickland.
F. Sodwen vs. D. D. Brown
H. Morphet vs. F. Bouness
G. H. Thompson vs. G. W. Hatton
G. W. Lundy vs. R. H. Arston.
R. Munroe vs. D. L. McLaren.
W. Eastwood vs. H. Rush.
K. Harstone vs. E. J. H. Vanston.
W. Campbell vs. C. J. Bateman.
D. Lawrie vs. E. J. T. Goodwill.
Mrs. B. Hall.

Any player wishing to forfeit his place in the Macdonald trophy to enter the open championship may do so by notifying the captain of the club at once

TORONTO'S OPINION OF HORSES COMING TO PETERBOROUGH

Some Good Thoroughbreds for Running Races at Exhibition.

Toronto, Sept. 10.—Quite a number of thoroughbreds now quartered here will be shipped to Peterborough for the running races there next Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday. Some of the horses are Ella Jennings, Little Pete, Thomas G., John Thompson, Mimico, Mike Carlin, Mona G., Meissen, Van Guard, Old Pop, Gold Galore, Waska and Sandy McNaughton. The latter is a green three-year-old.

MISS TORONTO IS DESTROYED

POPULAR TORONTO SPEED BOAT CATCHES FIRE AND IS TOTALLY WRECKED.

Toronto, Sept. 10. For sheer, Frantic excitement nothing in local sporting annals has ever approached the various races for the Great Lakes International Gold Challenge Cup staged off the seawall at the Canadian National Exhibition grounds durin gthe past week. The roaring hydroplanes have dived to the bottom, caught fire and burnt to the water's edge, had their machinery disabled, and become fractious and uncontrollable generally.

Arab IV., Commodore Ralph H Sidway's boat from the Buffalo Launch Club, contributed to the excitement yesterday afternoon by cutting loose a burst of speed that was rapidly enabling her to overhaul the flying Miss Toronto, when the propeller shaft snapped, and she way out of the race

The End of Miss Toronto.

Miss Toronto was roaring along at a rate of speed slightly over 50 miles per hour, when she caught fire. The flames shot twenty feet in the air, while her crew, Jack Bickle and Dick Tanner, fought them with "extinguishers," which had about as much effect as trying to subdue Vesuvius with a bucket of water. Finally their crok-and-leather uniforms caught fire, and they jumped overboard. They were picked up by a police patrol boat.

Meanwhile it was seen that unless Miss Toronto, constructed at a cost of $12,000, was sunk she would be totally destroyed. A tugboat was called to ram her, which was done, without the desired result, and she is practically a total loss

THE MARKETS

TORONTO MARKETS

(Special to The Review.)

Toronto, Sept. 10.—Receipts at the Union Stock Yards were: 1,557 cattle, 144 calves, 1,865 hogs, 2,626 sheep. Trade in cattle was moderately active with good prices for choice butchers, common, and medium a little slower. Hogs steady. The activity at Buffalo resulted in firmer prices for small meats here.

Choice export	$13.00	$14.25
Choiceb utchers	12.00	12.50
Medium	10.50	11.00
Common	8.50	9.50
Bulls	9.00	10.00
Feeders	10.00	11.00
Choice stockers	8.50	9.50
Light	7.50	8.50
Ewes	8.50	9.50
Lambs	15.00	16.50
Hogs f a w	19.25	19.25
Hogs f o b	18.25	18.25
Calves	19.00	20.50

PETERBOROUGH MARKETS

Dressed Pork, lb.	.30	.35
ChoiceMutton, lb.	.23	.25
Spring lamb, lb	.30	.31
Beef (carcase), lb.	.15	.20
Veal (carcase), lb.	.22	.25
Potatoes, pk.	.70	.7
Chickens, lb	.35	.3
Eggs, doz.	.50	.50
Butter, lb.	.60	.60
Raspberries	.27	.30
Green Corn, doz.	.25	.25
Green onions, bunch	.5	.
Lettuce, bunch	.5	.5
Radish, bunch	.5	.5
Grain, Hay and Straw.
Wheat (spring)	2.09	2.12
Wheat (marquis)	2.12	2.13
Buckwheat	1.15	1.15
Oats	.90	1.00
Barley	1.25	1.25
Timothy hay, ton	17.00	20.00
Loose straw, load	7.00	8.00

The labor troubles in Barcelona, Spain, have been settled and the men are returning to work.

The London Recorder says that bigamy with overseas soldiers is common in Great Britain.

T. R. and A. A. plan to operate again, and exepect to place a strong team in the O. R. F. U. senior series.

George S. Lyon, of Lambton, again won the Canadian Golf Seniors Association championship yesterday.

PETERBOROUGH BOARD OF TRADE

EXCURSION

TO

PETERBOROUGH FAIR

TUESDAY, SEPTEMBER 16th

50 Cents RETURN

COVERING STEAMER, TRAIN AND AUTOMOBILE

STEAMER "STONEY LAKE"

Leaves Backhorn 6.30 a.m. via Bobcaygeon to Chemong, thence via Automobile

STEAMER "EMPRESS"

Leaves Burleigh 6.30 a.m. to Lakefield thence via G.T.R.

STEAMER "MANITA"

Leaves Crow's Landing 6.00 a.m. to Lakefied thence via G.T.R.

RETURNING

Trains leaves the G.T.R. Station at 5.40 p.m. and Automobiles will leave the Fair Grounds at 5.30 p.m.

Tickets will be sold on the steamers which will cover train journey from Lakefield and automobile journey from Chemong.

The Peterborough Fair promises to surpass all former records as regards attractions and attendance.

Arrangements are being made to cover excursions from Rice Lake points, and will be announced in to-morrow's papers.

TWO LOCAL GOLFERS WON PLACES ON CANADIAN TEAM

R. M. Pelafosse and R. M. Hamilton on Seniors to Play U.S. Seniors.

On Thur day afternoon the Canadian Seniors will meet the United States Seniors over the course of the Apawamis Golf Club at Rye, N.Y. The team was selected last night as follows:

George S. Lyon, Lambton (capt.)
C. A. Bogert, Toronto.
F. D. Ross, Royal Ottawa.
J. E. Caldwell, Rivermeald, Ottawa.
C. S. McDougall, Lambton, Toronto.
Alfred Wright, Lambton, Toronto.
G. C. Heintzman, Lambton, Toronto.
T. G. S. Pepler, Toronto.
A. L. Wilson, Royal Montreal.
G. T. Brown, London Hunt.
W. G. Ross, Royal Montreal.
W. R. Smythe, Toronto.
F. N. De La Fosse, Peterboro'.
J. L. Weller, St. Catharines.
R. M. Hamilton, Peterboro'
J. A. Machadow, Royal Ottawa.

The team will be accompanied by Mr. R. W. Baker, President of the Canadian Seniors, and Mr. R. W. Reville, Hon. Sec. The team will leave tonight in its special car.

In the Senior competitions at Lambton both local men made good scores, being well up in the list.

A BOXING TOURNAMENT

WILL BE HELD AT

BROCK STREET RINK

Thurs. Sept. 18

AT 8 P.M.

RETURN MATCH

Between

Young Cattle--Toronto

And

Kid Brompton--New York

Lightweight

Good Preliminaries are Being Arranged for

ADMISSION--$1.00, 75c, 50c

Ringside seats now on sale at Dan McCabe's Cigar Store and at Spence's Barber Shop.

LESS BOXING FOR TORONTO

Toronto, Sept 10.—On more than one occasion the opinion has been expressed in these columns that greedy and unscrupulous boxers, managers and promoters would, if left to their own devices and without supervision and restraint, place the manly art in an unenviable position. The necessity of a boxing commission or other properly constituted authority has long been apparent. Action must be taken soon if the sport is to be saved from its selfish exploiters.

"As boxing by professionals has become an abuse, according to Mayor Church, I have been requested to investigate requests for permits for boxing entertainments, and to refuse them except under special circumstances," said Col. H. J. Grasett, Chief Constable, yesterday, as Secretary of the Board of Police Commissioners. During the discussion which ensued it was apparent that boxing permits will be fewer in future.

Col. Grasett stated that while he was responsible for the enforcement of the powers conferred upon him by the Legislature the law would be enforced, and that he did not intend to share the responsibility with any individual. He said that when requests were made for permits he would discuss the suggested entertainments with men qualified to pass upon the merits of the applications before arriving at a decision.

Col Grasett said that he was under the impression that while the war was on professional boxers who appeared in Toronto had given their services free. The reason why permits would be limited was because professional boxing is not permissible.

Shark-Food.

In Bermuda small ground sharks are used for food and much appreciated by all classes. The fish average from eight to ten pounds and sell for 12 cents each. In Honolulu the hammerhead shark is frequently seen in the markets and its flesh is considered very nourishing and is extensively used.

Lake With No Outlet.

Lake Chad, in the heart of East Africa, has no known outlet for the many rivers pouring into it. Its waters rise and fall with great rapidity. The Alexander expedition records that frequently spaces over which they had sailed in the morning had by evening become stretches of dried mud.

Peanuts or Steak?

An article on nutritious foods says: "There is about as much nourishment in a quart of peanuts as there is in three pounds of steak." But—no gravy—nothing for the dog, and no hash the next day.

Seek to Retain Youthfulness.

As I approve a youth that has something of the old man in him, so I am no less pleased with an old man that has something of the youth. He that follows this rule may be old in body, but never can be so in mind.—Cicero.

LUMBER

Builders' Materials of all kinds—Shingles, Scantlings, Joist and Bill Stuff, Mouldings, Casings, Base and all kinds of Finish, Hoxes and Box Shooks; Slabs and Mill Wood

Alf McDonald Estate

COAL

—AND—

Builders' Supplies

Hardwood Flooring

Robt. Hicks & Co.

LIMITED

MIXED WOOD

$7.00 Per Cord

HARD WOOD

Cutting and Splitting Extra.

ORDER NOW

FROM

J. E. A. FITZGERALD

Phone 111

O Wardsville man has entered action against a woman for damages for alleged breach of promise.

PITTSTON COAL

IS THE BEST

ALL SIZES IN STOCK

Also best lines of SOFT COAL at Lowest Prices

McCARTHY & JOHNSTON

COAL DEALERS

111 Hunter Street, East City

Phone 96 [TERMS CASH

HARD COAL

EGG, STOVE,

NUT, PEA

H. B. TAYLOR & SON

160 AYLMER-ST.

Phone 209

Order Your Coal From LOW & Co.

We have all sizes in stock EGG, STOVE, NUT AND PEA

The best and cheapest coal in town. Perfectly screened and promptly delivered. Bring your orders in now.

Prices advance every month.

LOW & COMPANY

262 Simcoe Street. Phone 597

House 221

Bringing up Father

By George McManus

MRS SMITH WANTS US TO CALL ON HER AT THREE TODAY-
ALL OUR INVITATIONS ARE BETWEEN MEALS BUT ALL OUR FRIENDS CALL HERE AT MEALS-
WE'LL TELL HER WE'VE BEEN TO BOSTON IF SHE ASKS US IF WE HAVE BEEN AWAY-
WHERE EVER THAT IS-
OH YES- WE'VE BEEN AWAY- WE WERE IN BOSTON-
DID YOU SEE BUNKER HILL?
NO- WE CALLED ON HIM BUT HE WASN'T IN-

ROBT. FAIR & Co's LTD.

Autumn Opening OF Millinery

Ladies' Tailored Suits and Coats, Dresses, Blouses, Dress Goods, Suitings Plain and Fancy Silks

WILL TAKE PLACE TO-MORROW

Thursday 11th inst. and following days

Your inspection is cordially invited on any of these days

SAFEGUARD YOUR EYESIGHT

When you accept our invitation to a consultation regarding the condition of your eyes, you need not feel concerned about what we will tell you. You will learn only the truth "See Us and See Better."

W. H. JAGO
Optical Specialist.
410 George St.

DISTRICT AND LOCAL NEWS

PAVEMENT COMPLETED

Mr. A Sheehy has completed his contract with the city for the paving of King and Water Streets and these streets are now open for traffic to the public.

This work has been done in a most satisfactory manner. The work was done quickly and apparently without the usual inconvnience to the public. If Mr. Sheehy is carying out his paving contracts in Brantford and Woodstock where we understand he has large contracts, like he has done here, those cities made no mistake in their choice.

Dr. E. V. Frederick, member Royal College of Surgeons, England, late Surgeon No. 1, Canadian Stationery Hospital, Salonica, late Surgical Specialist No. 70 Indian Stationary Hospital, Bagdad, late Clinical Assistant Mayo Clinic, Rochester, Minn., has resumed practice corner Charlotte and Rubidge streets, Peterboro— especially consulting practice in surgical and chronic conditions.

Dr. Free, late house physician Toronto General Hospital, assistant in practice with Dr Frederick, and in charge of labors ory work.

A PLAYER PIANO IN YOUR HOME

Absolute truth of reproduction comes to you when you sit before a player piano made by Ye Olde Firme of Heintzman & Co., Ltd., George and Hunter streets, Peterborough. It is not a case of mere mechanical playing. You feel the life, the vitality, the spirit of the artist as your hands touch the keys. Without technical knowledge of music anyone can play a Heintzman & Co. Player Piano.

AUCTION SALE

Thursday, Sept. 11th, at the home of Mr. N. J. Pitchford, 362 Hunter street, entire Household Furniture, including High-grade Piano, Piano Lamp, Parlor Chairs, Oak Dining Suit, Electric Fixtures, Brass Scuttle and Tongs, Etc., Brass Beds, Mahogany and Walnut Dressing Tables, Handsome Hall Rack, Rugs, Etc. Don't miss this sale as everything is new. Open for inspectors Tuesday afternoon

W. J. HANCOCK, Auctioneer.

ST. LUKE'S PRACTICE.

St. Luke's choir will meet for practice tonight at 8:15. The Harvest Festival is on September 25th, and music for that will be rehearsed. Every chorister is asked to be present

NOTICE.

The regular meeting of the Peterborough Poultry Association takes place Wednesday evening, September 10, at 8:15 p.m in the Trades and Labour Hall, George Street.

WARSAW SCHOOL FAIR

The Warsaw School Fair will be held Friday, Sept 19th. Special prizes will be given by the Women's Institute, the Colleisoe I.O.D.E. and others. A school booth will be on the grounds, from which ice cream, fruit and etc. will be sold. The Women's Institute will also serve tea. A concert will be held in the evening, the program will be given by the pupils of the different schools taking part in the Fair. Two interesting features of the program will be a spelling and a chorus contest. The proceeds will be given in the interests of the war memorial.

Admission— adults, 25c; children, 15c.

Everybody welcome Everybody come

NOTICE.

The Burleigh Ranching Company, Limited, hereby gives notice that S. A. Conklin, as manager of the company, has no authority to incur liabilities on behalf of the company, and all bills against the company should be rendered to the Burleigh Ranching Company Limited, at its head office, Union Bank Building Toronto, Ontario.

September 9th, 1919.

BURLEIGH RANCHING CO.,
By C. L. Benedict,
President

STOVE EXPLODED

A slight fire was started at the home of Mr. A. Jones Olive avenue yesterday afternoon about 5 o'clock by the explosion of a coal oil stove which was being used for cooking No damages resulted except that received by the stove.

WANTED — A YOUNG MAN with bicycle, to look after subscription department and make himself generaly useful around an office. Apply Review office.

PALMISTRY.

Madame Alice, famous Scotch palmist at Gollop's Hotel opposite Grand Opera House. Here only for a short time. Hours from 10 a.m. to 10 p.m. All readings $1.00.

TIRES VULCANIZED

Because that tire has a hole through it is no reason why you should throw it away. You may yet get several thousand miles out of it by having a sectional repair made We Vulcanize Auto Tires and Tubes and guarantee our work. Millard's Bicycle Shop, 292 Hunter street, near Aylmer, phone 234j.

SOCIAL AND PERSONAL

PEACOCK—WILSON.

On Wednesday afternoon, September 3, a wedding was celebrated at the home of Mr. Thomas Wilson, Peterborough, when his eldest daughter, Myrtle Victoria, was united in the holy bonds of matrimony by Rev. Mr. Archbold to Mr. Harry Edward Peacock, of Lakefield.

The bride was attired in a gown of liberty satin with customary veil and orange blossoms and carried a bouquet of roses and ferns.

Miss Ada Wilson, sister of the bride, was bridesmaid, wearing blue georgette crepe and carrying American beauty roses

The groom was assisted by Mr Herbert Richmond of Warsaw.

At the conclusion of the ceremony the bridal party motored to the village, where a luncheon was served at the home of the groom, and many friends and relatives were present to welcome them. The evening was spent in a social manner

ANDERSON—ROSS

At the home of Mr and Mrs. A. B Ross, Stewart street, their daughter, Clara, was united in marriage to John Anderson, at eleven o'clock this morning. Mr and Mrs. Anderson will reside in this city.

CAMPBELL—FINLEY

A quiet wedding took place at Knox Church manse on Monday morning when Miss Myrtle Finley was united in marriage to William Rankin Campbell, both of Bobcaygeon. Rev J A McKenzie performed the ceremony.

Mrs E W. Evans of Little Falls N.Y. is visiting her sister Mrs. S. Kemp, 655 George Street.

The friends of Mrs J. H. Burnham, at present with Mr. Burnham at Ottawa, will be sorry to hear that her health is not good, and that by the advice of her physician she will probably try the effect of a trip home to Scotland, taking her passage for the first week in October.

Miss Hazel and Ethelwyn Dix have returned to the city after spending their holidays with their parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. T. Dix, Lindsay.

Mr. and Mrs. Cameron, of Toronto, have returned home after an extended visit with friends in the city.

Mrs. Robert Duncan, of Saginaw, Mich., is visiting with friends in the city.

Mr. Allan, of Rochester, is the guest of Mr. Roland Strickland at his ranch at Ella Creek.

Mrs. F. G. Clarke, Aylmer street is visiting friends in Toledo and Detroit

Mr. E. H. D. Hall was a weekend visitor at Lakefield

Mr. and Mrs. Petty, city, were guests of Mr. and Mrs. E. Bickell, of Lakefield, last week

Mr and Mrs Williams, of Toronto, motored to Peterborough yesterday and spent the day in the city.

Mr. and Mrs. Donnelly, city, have closed their cottage on Big Island, for the season

Mr Ried and party, city, are holidaying at Lakefield.

Miss A. Clarkson, Toronto visited with Peterborough friends over the week-end.

Miss M Clark spent the week-end at Love Sick Lake

Miss Ollie Conway, city, is holidaying at Stoney Lake

Miss Gertrude Archer, of Cleveland, O., has returned home after visiting with friends in the city.

Miss Rennie, city, has returned from a holiday trip to Lake Simcoe

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Raynor, of Hamilton, were Peterborough guests yesterday.

Miss Steele of Cleveland, Ohio has returned home after an intended visit with friends in the city.

CALL TO WORKERS.

Meeting of all men and women who will help in referendum work for Prohibition will be held for organization in South Ward section at Knox Church Sunday School room Thursday evening, 11th inst., 8 o'clock. Very important that all be on hand. Special information as to womne's share in the work, by lady member of local executive committee.

NAVAL FORECASTS INCORRECT

Auckland, N.Z., Sept. 10.—Admiral Lord Jellicoe declares that the forecasts recently made of the contents of his report to the Commonwealth Government are quite incorrect

G. W. V. BAND.

Practice tonight. Next engagement is Peterborough Exhibition. Several other Fall Fairs to follow.

REMANDED FOR ANOTHER WEEK

Gunns Up Again on Charge of Theft —James Gunn Let Out.

Bruce, Quinn and Roy Gunn appeared in Police Court again this morning to face the charge of stealing chickens and were remanded for one week. James Gunn, the father of the other three, was let out on his cognigance to appear at the next hearing.

J. F. Strickland appeared in defence of the Gunns.

SUPERFLUITY SALE.

The Ladies' Aid of St. Andrew's Church intend holding a Superfluity Sale on or about the 10th of October. Be sure and save your money for this new kind of rummage sale. Further announcement later.

GOLDEN WEDDING

Mr. and Mrs. T. J. Smart Celebrate Their 50th Marriage Anniversary.

A very interesting event took place at 94 Lindsay Avenue, Toronto, yesterday, when Mr. and Mrs. J. T. Smart, formerly of this city celebrated their golden wedding. On September 8th, 1869, they were married by the Rev. E. G. Genge, Baptist minister at Bristol, England. They have lived for the past thirty two years in Toronto. After a very sumptuous supper had been served, a short address was read by the eldest son Mr. T. J. Smart, and at the proper moment Master Leonard Smart, grandson presented them with a purse of gold

All the guests were then taken for a motor trip around the city. Their five children Mr. T. J. Smart, Mr. W. H. Smart and Mrs. A. J Downing, Toronto, and Mrs. G. A. Goheen and Mrs. O. S Matchett of Peterboro were all present together with their wives and husbands and also their children

Their many friends will join with them in congratulations and good wishes for many more years of happiness,

It is also interesting to know that it was the 11th aniversary of the wedding of Mr. and Mrs. O. S. Matchett.

MAMMOTH CORN

Judging by the samples of ensilage corn taken from the field of Mr. William Brown of Smith, there will be no shortage of fodder this coming winter. Six large cobs making a total weight of 10 lbs. 3 ounces have been brought in to the city and will be shown at the exhibition. Mr. Brown, who is cutting the field today, will fill his silo on Friday. The crop will probably average 20 tons per acre, the shelled corn is estimated to average 75 to 100 bushels per acre.

PREMIER TO MEET G.W.V.A. DELEGATES

CONFERENCE TO BE HELD AT OTTAWA SATURDAY—REQUEST UNDERSTOOD.

Ottawa Sept. 10.—Representatives of the Great War Veterans are here pressing for the appointment of a royal commission to consider what further steps should be taken to assist the assimilation of Canadian soldiers into the civil population. Sir Robert Borden has announced that the Government does not favor the appointment of such a commission. The Veterans' representatives however, say that their request has been misunderstood, that they are not urging a further gratuity, but an extension of the scheme of soldiers' civil reestablishment. The gratuity would be acceptable if practicable but the immediate object is to secure better opportunities for thousands of soldiers to re-enter civil life. So far the representatives of the Veterans say the Government efforts have been confined to land settlement and to vocational training for disabled men, and for those who joined the army before they attained military age. These efforts, they contend, do not afford aid to many men who are not fitted to engage in farming and are not eligible for vocational training

The Veterans have interviewed members of the Cabinet and many members of Parliament, and will meet the Prime Minister on Saturday. Members of Parliament are sympathetic with the Veterans' request, but the majority believe that a further substantial gratuity for every soldier would be beyond the present financial resources of the country.

It's easy to find fault where it isn't.

OUR 1919

Fall Opening and Formal Display Of The New Fashions

OCCURS ON

THURSDAY, FRIDAY & SATURDAY

SEPTEMBER ELEVENTH, TWELVE AND THIRTEENTH

AS the Premier Formal Fall Showings will bring to your attention all of the most favored of the New Fashions in Fall Apparel, Millinery and Accessories, we are very desirous of having you accept this as a personal invitation to attend our opening, which has been arranged solely for your guidance in the matter of New Styles for the coming season

The Store is in Autumn Dress and our Show Windows are arranged To-night all with New Styles in Women's Apparel

RICHARD HALL & SON LIMITED

NOTICE

To the Electors of the City of Peterborough:

The Voters' Registration Board for the County of Peterborough has extended the time for the receiving of appeals from the enumerators from the 8th day of September, 1919, to Thursday, the eleventh day of September, 1919. Appeals must be in the hands of the Revising Officers' Clerks by said last mentioned day.

Dated 8th September, 1919.

W. F. JOHNSTON,
Clerk of the Board.

BEULAH E. GALT, A.T.C.M.

Teacher of Piano, Rudiments, Harmony, Counterpoint, Form and History. Pupils prepared for standard examinations. For terms call 990r24.

DON'T FORGET

Draw For $1,375 Maxwell Car

UNDER AUSPICES G. W. V. A. AT THE

PETERBORO FAIR

WEDNESDAY, SEPT. 17th.

TICKETS $1.00

MAY BE PROCURED FROM MEMBERS OF THE G.W.V.A.

TOO LATE FOR CLASSIFICATION

FOR SALE.

KITCHEN RANGE FOR COAL or wood, water front, warming closet, Jewel gas arnge, two ovens; gas water heater; also one white iron bed, springs and Ostermoor mattress. Mrs. W. R. Morris, 483 Homewood ave.

LADY GOLFERS FOR LINDSAY

A number of local lady golf players went to Lindsay today for a friendly match with the ladies of that town. Those who went are: Mrs McDermid, Mrs. Aylmer, Mrs. Harry Cressman, Mrs. Widdifield, Mrs. Fred Roy, Miss Ola Cavanah, Miss Reta Cavanah, Mrs. W. H. Hill and Mrs. Colthart. They will return to the city this evening.

Auction Sale of Residence in Peterborough

For the purpose of winding up an estate, there will be offered for sale by Public Auction at the Munro House, Hunter street, in the City of Peterborough, on Thursday, the 25th of September, 1919, at 2:30 p.m., the residence and premises known as 485 Bonacord street, Peterborough, and being lots Nos. 52 and 53 on Registered Plan No. 34 for the City of Peterborough, and having a frontage on Bonacord street of about 114 feet and depth of about 187 feet. The residence is substantially built of brick with a stone foundation and contains six rooms and also a stable suitable for a garage.

TERMS: 10% down and the balance in one month thereafter without interest, when possession will be given. There will be a reserved bid. Inspection may be had by persons desiring to purchase. For farther particulars apply to the undersigned.

Dated 9th Sept., 1919.

PECK, KERR & McELDERRY,
415 Water Street,
Vendor's Solicitors.

PURE SPICES

CURRIE POWDER
TUMERIC
CLOVES
MACE
WHOLE PICKLING SPICE
MUSTARD
GINGER
GARLIC
ALLSPICE. ETC.

CORKS

All size, best quality, lowest prices.

CANNING WAX
PAROWAX
PARKE'S PICKLE MIXTURE
PARKE'S CATSUP FLAVOR

Everything for the Canning or Pickling Season.

—AT—

Warne's Drug Store

351 George Street.

PHONE 527

Stoney Lake Navigation Company

Steamers leave Lakefield for the Lakes on arrival of morning and noon trains.

Steamers leave the Lake to connect with 9.30 a.m. (morning) and 4.40 p.m. (afternoon) trains for Peterborough.

G. T. R. trains leave Peterborough at 8.30 a.m., 12.15 noon

For excursion rates, information, etc., phone 548, or write

F. G. YOUNG,
Gen. Manager.
497 King St.

NOTICE TO CREDITORS

IN THE MATTER OF THE ESTATE of Edward McGrath, late of the City of Peterborough, in the County of Peterborough, Physician, deceased.

NOTICE is hereby given pursuant to Section 56 of the Trustee Act, R. S. O. 1914, Chap. 121, that all creditors and others having claims or demands against the estate of the said Edward McGrath, who died on or about the fifth day of March, 1919, at the City of Peterborough, are required, on or before the sixth day of October, 1919, to send by post, prepaid, or deliver to the undersigned, the Solicitors for the Administratrix of the Estate of the said deceased, their Christian names and surnames, addresses and descriptions, the full particulars, in writing, of their claims, a statement of their accounts (duly verified by Statutory Declaration), and the nature of the security, if any, held by them.

AND TAKE NOTICE that after such last mentioned date the said administratrix will proceed to distribute the assets of the said deceased among the parties entitled thereto, having regard only to the claims of which she shall then have notice, and that the said administratrix will not be liable for the said assets or any part thereof to any person or persons whose claim notice shall not have been received by her at the time of such distribution.

Dated at Peterborough this 9th day of September, 1919.

O'CONNELL & CORKERY,
184½ Hunter street,
Peterborough, Ontario,
Solicitors for the said
Administratrix.

The Australians eliminated all competitors in the doubles at the Ontario lawn tennis championship yesterday. The Antipodians won with ease.

PETERBORO BOARD OF TRADE EXCURSION to PETERBORO FAIR, TUESDAY, SEPT. 16---See Announcement on Page 7.

WEATHER FORECASTS.
Fresh north-west winds, fair with moderate temperature today and on Friday.

The Daily Review

8 PAGES

40th YEAR No. 61 Peterborough's Oldest Newspaper. PETERBOROUGH, ONTARIO, THURSDAY, SEPTEMBER 11, 1919. Price Two Cents per copy

DAY OF STORM AND NIGHT OF DARKNESS AT KEY WEST, FLORIDA

Not a House in City Escaped Gale's Ravages—Train and Boat Service Severed

(Canadian Press Despatch)

Key West, Fla., Sept. 11.—With daylight today following the storm of yesterday and a night of darkness, the people of Key West and surrounding territory were able for the first time to survey the destruction wrought by a hurricane that swept through here Tuesday night.

Not a House Escaped

Not a house in the city had escaped damage, and many were totally wrecked. The harbor presented a tangled mass of fishing vessels and other small craft. No vessels had left port early today, nor had any trains come in over the Florida East Coast Railway. In addition to a temporary stoppage of gas and electricity, telephone service was suspended, and newspapers were forced to suspend publication.

Business Suspended.

Some business places, all of which were closed yesterday, including restaurants, re-opened today. A survey today of the situation resulting from this storm was expected to determine whether it would be necessary to ask outside assistance.

CONGRESS IS FOR DIRECT ACTION

TRADES UNION CONVENTION VOTES DOWN RESOLUTION AGAINST PRINCIPLE.

(Canadian Press Despatch)

Glasgow, Scotland, Sept. 11.—By a comparatively close vote, the Trades Union Congress in session here today voted down a resolution declaring against the principle of direct action. The vote was 2,354,000 against the resolution and 2,026,000 in its favor.

This vote was on a resolution concerning labor men in the House of Commons, reading. "Congress declares against the principle of industrial action in purely political matters."

BRONZE MEDALS FOR TWO BOYS

RESCUED LITTLE EVELYN ROBERTS FROM DROWNING AT INVERLEA BEACH

Each of the two boys, Alex. M. Fitzgerald (Don) and Chas Begley, aged 17 years, are both to be presented with handsome medals from the Royal Canadian Humane Society in recognition of their heroism in saving Evelyn Roberts, age 11, from drowning, at Inverlea bathing beach last June.

The presentations will be made by his honor Judge Huycke, at the exhibition grounds on Tuesday afternoon, September 16th, at 2:30, at the time of the school children's demonstration at the fair.

These medals are suitably inscribed in the usual way and the solid pin bar bears the caption "bravery." This motto is in keeping with the medal's purpose, for the act of heroism in commendation of which they are awarded was one calling for real pluck and courage.

It might be mentioned that Mr. A. G. Roberts, father of the rescued little lady left no stone unturned to impress upon the Humane Society, their recognition of the above lad's unselfishness and successful attempt at rescue.

No doubt the presentation of these awards for bravery will be made by his honor in the presence of a large section of this community, including many friends and acquaintances of both rescued and rescuers.

CANAL MEN STRIKE.

(Canadian Press Despatch)

St. Catharines Sept. 11 — About 1200 out of 1300 labourers on the new Welland Canal went on strike today.

VIGOROUS PROHIBITION CAMPAIGN ARRANGED FOR IN PETERBOROUGH

Quiet Preparatory Work Accomplished Much During Vacation Months.

The executive committee of the Prohibition Rerefendum Movement in this city met Tuesday evening at the Y.M.C.A. for a conference and general review of the work as done and perfected during the last three weeks.

During the interval since the announcements of the approaching referendum, and while the lists were in course of preparation, organization has been going on quietly, in anticipation that with the vacation season over and the coming back to the city of those absent on holidays, the work would be taken up generally. This anticipation has proved to be correct, and reports submitted show that considerable has been accomplished in the interim.

The campaign will come on about the middle of this month, and it is the intention to carry on with energy and attention until the day for the voting has been reached and passed.

Review of Work.

The chairman, Mr. A. B. Cunningham, gave a review of what had been accomplished. Strong committees have been selected and engaged from each of the local evangelical churches in the city, and from the friends of these groups will be appointed ward committees for the five wards, and a further subdivision of committees for each polling subdivision in the ward. A re-canvass of the membership of these committees showed that there will be plenty of workers to help in the details of getting out the vote.

As might be expected attention was paid to the matter of the placing on the lists of those omitted in the general enumeration. In all, the executive had before it omissions to the number of over five hundred, with additional names to be covered in the next two days. With the sessions of the courts, which will open on Saturday and continue until applications for entrance to the lists cease, the preliminary part of the detail immediately in sight will have been done. It is anticipated that for the first time in the city over ten thousand people will be required to vote, a number double the possible aggregate vote at any election contest.

Complete Executive.

At the meeting the number of the executive committee was strengthened by the addition of several who, being out of the city, were seen, and consenting to take active part in the work were added. As completed, the executive now includes:

Chairman—A. B. Cunningham, 331 Reid street.

Vice-Chairman—Mrs. Jas. Kendry, 754 Water street.

Secretary—F. H. Dobbin, 622 George street.

Treasurer—To be named.

Members of the Council and Executive, in addition to officers:

H. B. Cowan, 292 London street; Mrs. C. H. Shields, 153 Benson Ave.; Dr. Jessie Birnie, 502 Water street; Frank Ellis, 518 Gilmour street; H. Stabler, 806 George street; M. G. Walker, 774 George street; Joseph Wearing, 85 Benson Ave.; Mrs. A. Mowat, 778 Water street; W. R. Breyfogle, 593 Weller street; Mrs. A. J. Thomas, 541 Water street; A. W. Cressman, Hunter street W.; George Leader, 671 George street; W. G. Shiner, 311 Frederick Ave.; A. Prest, 242 Lansdowne street.

Presently the distribution of literature bearing on the issue will take place. A vigorous campaign of education is in view that all persons may be well seized with the objects sought to be achieved and the things to be avoided. Further on definite instructions will be given as to the ballot, its importance, the several clauses, and the bearing it will have as to how the voter will mark his or her ballot.

DECLARES WORD "RAID" NOT IN ORDER TO CLEAN UP THE NOVITIATE SITUATION

Inquiry Resumed at Ottawa To-day—Sir Sam Hughes Questions That Honor of Capt. MacAulay or Major Husch Were Considered by Col. Godson-Godson

(Canadian Press Despatch)

Ottawa, Sept. 11.—During cross examination of Col. Godson-Godson, which was continued when the Novitiate Inquiry Commission resumed its sitting this morning, witness told Mr. Ferguson he had been instructed by the adjutant-general to get papers from Major Hirsch's file. It had never occurred to him that Hirsch would be perturbed when he missed them, and it didn't strike him to leave a memo of files of papers removed, although he agreed that these papers were Hirsch's justification for action at Guelph.

He told Sir Sam Hughes that in his own files were the "S.C.M." memo and a copy of a letter written by Capt. Burrough, but he went to London to get the letters actually as Major Hirsch had them. This was his practice in all investigations.

The Major's Honor

"You had not respect for the honor of Major Hirsch or for that of Capt. MacAulay," questioned Sir Sam.

"I considered Major Hirsch's honor was quite safe in my hands," answered witness.

Report Correct.

Earlier in the examination witness stated he considered Captain MacAulay's report as to the admission of young men to novitiate and conditions attaching to their stay there, was substantially correct. Witness told Sir Sam that MacAulay was removed to Winnipeg because "I did not consider he was the right man in London." Witness had been sent to Guelph to investigate an officer's conduct, not on any legal question. Therefore, he did not attach much importance to points in MacAulay's report.

When he said MacAulay's report was substantially correct, he did not mean that he approved his refusal to produce his authority.

Col. Godson-Godson's stenographer read to the commission her notes of the letter from Burroughs to Hirsch containing copy of a memorandum from the Minister of Militia. These notes showed the memorandum to suggest that the officer to whom it was addressed should clean up the situation at the novitiate. The word "raid" was not used.

FINE SHOWING BY COLLEGIATE

TOTAL LIST OF SUCCESSFUL CANDIDATES SHOWS PETERBORO ABOVE AVERAGE.

The following are the complete results of this year's departmental examinations:

Faculty Entrance.

Part I.—Kathleen Thorndyke.

Part II.—Isabel Baird, Margaret Connal, Maida Conner, Welhelmine Perrin.

Six candidates wrote. Five were successful, an average of 83%.

Lower School Normal Entrance.

Mildred Archer, Harry Baptie, Irene Bates, Amy Beal, Robert Breckenridge, Doris Clegg, Gordon Ego, Katharine Hartley, Marion Huff, Jean Kelly, Helen Madigan, Trevor Miller, Madeline Porter, Helen Sanderson, Velma Sanderson, Bertha Sargent, Douglas Shortly, Vaughan Walker, Mary Whittington, *Marie McBain, *Audrey Milburn.

*Starred in one subject.

Twenty-six candidates wrote; 21 were successful, an average of 81%. Throughout the Province 58% of the candidates passed.

Middle School Normal Entrance.

Honors—Katie Anderson, Homer Borland, Amess Conway, Archie Hood, Harry Jackson, Allen McIntosh, Fred Marshal, Helen Middleton, Bernard Park, Jack Porteous, Ella Smith, Madeline Stinson.

Pass—Charles Armstrong, Helen Carter, Fred Doupe, Eleanor Garden, Charles Hewson, Reginald Huff, Marjorie Ketcheson, Dorothy Mills, Jack Macdonald, Margaret Malott, George Ross, Fred Rutherford, Herbert Young; Lloyd Gillespie, starred in one subject.

Twenty-nine candidates wrote; 26 were successful, an average of 90%. Twelve of the 26 obtained honor standing.

Throughout the Province 66% of the candidates passed.

Junior Matriculation.

Group I.—Edna Allin, Katie Anderson, Charles Armstrong, Homer Borland, Muriel Bridge, Amess Conway, Dorothy Currie, Reginald Dixon, Jean Elliot, Eleanor Garden, Charles Hewson, Archie Hood, Gertie Hood, Reginald Huff, Harry Jackson, Allen McIntosh, Fred Marshall, Dorothy Mills, William Mowat, Bernard Park, Jack Porteous, Gurth Pretty, Madeline Stinson, Archie Zacks.

Group II.—Lloyd Gillespie, Anc. Hist.; Marjorie Stanton, Anc. Hist., Geometry; Vera Stock, Anc. Hist.; Herbert Young, Anc. Hist.

Group III.—Fred Doupe, Latin Authors; Jack Macdonald, Anc. Hist. and French Composition; Margaret Malott, Latin Authors, Latin Composition; George Ross, Anc. Hist.

Thirty-three wrote; 32 obtained complete or partial matriculation standing, an average of 94%.

Honor Matriculation.

Earl Barrie, 3rd class honors in English, French and German.

Ralph Cowan, 3rd class honrs in English and Mathematics, and 2nd class in Physics.

Donald Fitzgerald, 2nd class in Chemistry, and 3rd class in English and Mathematics.

Aleba Horn, 3rd class in French and Mathematics.

Russell Pogue, 2nd class in Mathematics, and 3rd class in French and Physics.

Helen Slogrett, 2nd class in Mathematics, and 3rd class in French, Physics and Latin.

Total number of honors obtained, eighteen.

T. F. MATTHEWS INJURED IN RAILWAY MISHAP

SUSTAINS CUTS ON HEAD IN DON VALLEY THIS MORNING —IN HOSPITAL

Mrs. T. F. Matthews and son, Mr. Gordon Matthews, hurried to Toronto at noon today in response to notification that Mr. T. F. Matthews had been injured in an accident in the C.P.R. this morning near Leaside Junction.

Information to hand reports Mr. Matthews to have suffered cuts on his head, which necessitated his removal to a hospital. No serious results are looked for, however.

Accident Denied.

In this connection the following despatch was received this afternoon: "C. P. R. deny any accident on their line. In Don Valley yard this morning, however, coal cars being shunted side-swiped engine of C. N. R. express, and two men passengers (names not learned) received slight cuts."

U. S. SENATE MAY RATIFY TREATY

RATIFICATION OF PEACE PACT WITHOUT AMENDMENTS IS URGED BY COM. MINORITY.

Washington, Sept. 11— Rejection of the Peace Treaty with its League of Nations covenant or the adoption of amendments thereto, would mean the sacrifice by the United States of all concessions obtained from Germany under dictated peace, Minority members of the Foreign Relations Committee declared in a report presented today to the Senate.

This report, prepared by Senator Hitchcock, of Nebraska, ranking Democratic member of the committee urged a speedy ratification of the treaty without amendments or reservations.

GERMANY ASKING FOR HUGE SUPPLIES

REPARATION COMMISSION FOR 920,000 TONS OF FOOD—ALSO COTTON AND COPPER

WANTS LEATHER BY MONTH

BERLIN WILL STATE HOW FAR 20,000,000,000 MARKS MAY GO IN SETTLEMENT.

Washington, Sept. 10. (Special.) A list of food and raw material which the German Government wishes to purchase abroad has been received by the Department of Commerce from the American Peace Mission.

The German note to the Reparation Commission transmitting the list asks whether the supplies can be furnished by the Allied and Associated governments and if so the quality, quantity and price. It is stated further that the German Government will state subsequently the extent to which it will request that the food and raw material be paid out of the initial 20,000,000,000 marks payment pursuant to Article 235 of the Treaty:

The list follows:

1. Foodstuffs for the next four months, 60,000 tons; meat 160,000 tons; cereal (including rice and dried vegetables), 800,000 tons; potatoes not yet determined and milk to the value of 6,000,000 marks gold.

2. Fertilizer and forage for the next 12 months, maize, 1,200000 tons; bran 600000 tons; meal cakes 900,000 tons; "Thomas" phosphates, 1,000,000 tons; barley, 850,000 tons; raw phosphates 1,500000 tons.

3. Raw material for the coming two months: East India cotton, 20,000 bales; cotton 42,000 tons; nako cotton, 20,000 bales; fine thread, 1,000 qualities of cotton thread, 2,000 tons flax, 6,000 tons; flax thread, 5,000 tons; soft hemb, 5,000 tons; jute, 15,000 tons; oakum, 300 tons; silkk all kinds, 350 tons; cocoa fibre, 600 tons; schaomaeges plchet, 350 tons; bourette chaomac, 350 tons; washed wool, 1,500 tons; materials for fancyfabrics, 7,000 tons; spun and combed wools 2,000 tons.

4. Raw materials per month; Upper leather (bachetteppe) 636,000 pieces; heavy leathers, 7,000 tons; sheep and lamb skins (quantity not specified); horse leather, 8,500 pieces kid (quantity not specified); goat skins, 500,000 pieces.

5. Metals required by Germany in the next six months: Nickel, 900 tons; lead, 40,000 tons; pewter, 6,000 tons, electrolized copper, 24000; tin, 15,000 tons; copper ore, 24000 tons; antimony, 1,800 tons; zinc ore, 18,000; tons; aluminum, 9,000 tons; mercury, 3,000 tons; silver, 18tons; platinum 150 kilos; bismuth, 7,200 tons.

6. Miscellaneous: Bone, 4,200 carloads; raw rubber, 2,500 tons; turpentine, 3,000 tons; raw glue, 3,400 carloads; residues, 16000 tons; asbestos, 3,600 tons; copal, 750 tons; lacquer gum, 360 tons.

SAFETY ZONES MARKED OFF FOR SAFETY OF PEDESTRIANS

No Vehicle May Cross White Line With Car Standing at Corner

Attention should be called to the safety zones, which were marked out at the busy corners last night by wide white lines a short distance from the corners. The object of these safety zones is to protect pedestrians getting on and off street cars. By law, no motor vehicle, horse drawn vehicle or bicycle can approach within six feet of such a car. These white lines mark a distance of six feet from the rear end of the street car, and any vehicle which crosses that line while a car is stopped on the corner is breaking the law and liable to a fine.

Pedestrians are warned that they must not cut across those lines at street car or they will be liable to a fine. This system makes the law very definite and the police will not allow for any mistakes but for the safety of pedestrians will vigorously enforce this law.

The Prussian Government intends to propose Home Rule for Upper Silesia.

RESPIRATOR TEST BY LOCAL FIREMEN

THREE MEN REMAINED IN ROOM FILLED WITH DENSE SMOKE FOR 30 MINUTES.

USEFUL FOR FIGHTING FIRES

CAN GET TO SEAT OF BLAZE—USE EXTINGUISHER AND ELIMINATE WATER.

The Sanax respirator for fighting fires was successfully tried out by the firemen yesterday afternoon in a room of the J. J. Turner & Sons' building.

In the back part of this building is a small room which was made perfectly air tight. Then a pile was filled with waste, tar, sulphur, ammonia and brimstone placed in this room and was filled with black, dense fumes, impossible to breathe.

Lieut. James Wood, of the fire department then put on the respirator and entered the room. While using the respirator one is altogether independent of atmosphere. The respirator contains an oxygen tank, which allows the oxygen to be breathed into one's lungs, a tube held firmly in the firefighter's mouth. The mouth connection is so arranged as to protect the teeth and prevent any atmosphere whatever from entering. Before access to mouth and lungs the oxygen passes through an apartment containing chemicals for its purification. The exhaled air passes into a large bag and can be emitted by a valve which should be frequently openedby by the person using the respirator. This arrangement cuts off all connection with the outside atmosphere. Two rubber clips are placed over the nose to prevent the breath coming that way and goggles from part of the apparatus.

Lieut. Wood remained in the room ten minutes, when he was called out and replaced by Tom Hatley, who was replaced in turn after ten minutes by Lieut. Dean. All three men reported that they had felt no effects of smoke during their sojourn in the room, where the smoke grew denser every minute. Thus the respirator was given a 30-minte successful trial.

These respirators are worth $115 each, and are useful for gaining access to the seat of the fire and extinguishing it with chemicals so as to avoid the damage by turning a stream of water on a building. Undoubtedly they would be a great advantage for the purose and no doubt would give the firemen a better chance of combating a fire that has gained a little headway.

Men have been known to remain in a room filled with dense smoke for 55 minutes, by means of a respirator, but the guarantee limit is thirty minutes before charging the oxygen tank.

Chief Grane wishes us to thank Turners & Sons for so kindly allowing this test to be made in their building, which was more suitable than any place available.

FIVE KILLED, NEARLY A SCORE INJURED IN BOSTON RIOTING

Troops Ordered to Use Ammunition if Necessary to Restore Order.

(Canadian Press Despatch)

Boston, Sept. 11.—The third day of the police strike opened with a casualty list of three persons killed and nearly a score, including four women, injured, as a result of activities of the state troops in policing the city last night.

Troops Under Order.

Military forces, 7,000 in number, were under orders to restore lawful conditions to the point of using ball ammunition with which they were provided, if necessary. Success in quelling rioting and suppressing measures of previous hours marked their efforts to a large degree, although in some sections the mobs were uncontrolled, and there were several serious riots. In these most of the casualties occurred.

Windows Broken.

Show windows were broken in many places, but in only a few cases was there looting. Troops and the skeleton police force of regulars and volunteers were quick to reach the seat of disturbances. The sight of well-armed soldiers and cavalry on the streets gave a sense of security today.

Woman Killed.

Deaths from riots increased to five today when Margaret Walsh, who was shot by the police firing into a crowd in South Boston last night, died in the hospital, and Raymond Rovers, of Cambridge, was shot dead, while attempting to escape from state guards who had rounded up a crowd of a 75 crap-shooters on a Boston common.

PLAN SETTLEMENT VEXED QUESTION

PLEBISCITE TO BE TAKEN IN CZECHOSLOVAK DISTRICT IN IS DISPUTE.

(Canadian Press Despatch)

Paris, Sept. 11.—Plan for settlement of the question of the Teschen mining district, in dispute between Poland and Szecho-Slovakia, was adopted by the Supreme Council at today's session.

It was agreed that a plebiscite be taken in the district, as jointly proposed by the Polish and Czecho-Slovak delegates.

BOLSHEVIKI CLAIM 12,000 PRISONERS

(Canadian Press Despatch)

London, Sept. 11.—A Bolshevik wireless despatch from Moscow today claims the capture of nearly 12,000 prisoners from Admiral Kochak's all-Russian forces in the region of Aktubin Zkorsk.

It is declared that the surrender of the remainder of Kolchak's southern army is expected.

FELL FROM BRIDGE

Percy Cunningham Badly Shaken Up As Result of Fall of 21 Feet.

Mr. Percy Cunningham, of Cherrybrooke Place, suffered severe injuries yesterday when he fell twenty-one feet from the top of the construction for the retaining wall on the east side of the river at the Hunter street bridge to the bare sand below. Mr. Cunningham was endeavoring to pass another workman on the construction when he either stepped or stepped on a loose plank and fell to the ground. He was taken to Nicholls Hospital, where an X-ray examination was held this morning. He is reported to be suffering from his injuries, having passed a troubled night.

An embargo in Alberta and Saskatchewan to ensure wheat for seed and for domestic needs next year is decided on.

TRIPLE ALLIANCE CANNOT FORCE GENERAL STRIKE IN GT. BRITAIN

Cannot Secure Support—Mandate From Five and Quarter Millions Organized Labor

(Canadian Press Despatch)

Glasgow, Sept. 11 — The Trades Union Congress today, after three hours' debate on the subject of direct action by labor to enforce its political demands, choked off further discussion of the subject by adopting the previous question by a small majority.

This makes it impossible for the triple alliance of railwaymen, transport workers and miners to obtain the desired mandate from five and a quarter millions of British organized labor to re-initate a national railway and industrial paralysis if it were necessary to accomplish its political demands.

These demands as originally made, were withdrawn from Russia, lift blocade abolish conscription, release conscientious objections, and do not use military and industrial disputes.

THE DAILY REVIEW

ESTABLISHED 1879.
MEMBER OF THE CANADIAN PRESS, LIMITED.
THE DAILY REVIEW is published every afternoon at 4 o'clock (Holidays and Sundays excepted) by The Peterborough Review Company, Limited, 166-168 Hunter Street.
SUBSCRIPTION PRICE, $3.00 per year by mail to any part of Canada or Great Britain; $4.00 per year delivered to any part of the city.

THE WEEKLY REVIEW, established 1853, is published every Thursday morning at 10 o'clock. Subscription price $1.50 per year to any part of Canada or Great Britain, or $2.00 a year to the United States.
U. S. Representative—Robert E. Douglas, Chicago.
BOARD OF DIRECTORS:
A. H. STRATTON, President and General Manager; E. A. PECK, ex-M.L.A., T. F. MATTHEWS and JAMES LYNCH.

TELEPHONES:
Business Dept. ... 189 Editorial ... 435
Mr. Stratton's Residence ... 221

"FOR A GREATER PETERBOROUGH."

THURSDAY, SEPTEMBER 11, 1919.

THE TRENT CANAL.

ALDERMAN Harry Phelan the other day came across a souvenir of the time when many looked on the Trent Valley Canal as a huge joke, and a convenient election plank for dovetailing into the stumping platform of aspiring politicians.

This souvenir is twenty-three years of age, is in an excellent state of preservation, and consists of the following invitation:

Complimentary Luncheon to the Hon Andrew G. Blair,
Minister of Railways and Canals.
"Peterborough, October 26, 1896.

"Dear Sir:

"The committee having in charge the arrangements for the reception and entertainment of the Hon. A. G. Blair, Minister of Railways and Canals, on the occasion of his visit to Peterborough to examine the route of the Trent Valley Canal, extend you an invitation to luncheon on Wednesday, October 28th, at 7:30 p.m., at the Oriental Hotel.

"We have the honor to be,
"Your obedient servants
"WM. YELLAND, "H. PHELAN,
"Hon. Chairman Com. Hon. Sec. Com."

The date this Trent Canal scheme was first agitated antedates that of the above invitation quite a few years, and thus the younger generation of today can readily conceive its varied stages through old-time political subterfuge, now relegated to oblivion, and again resurrected with the blare of platform oratory as occasion called for.

An old axiom advises the left hand not to know what the right hand doeth, and certainly the principle of that axiom prevailed many years in the House of Commons, so far as the Trent Canal was concerned. For few members from the East, and some even from the West, when an appropriation did appear in the estimates for this work, had any knowledge of the project, or in fact its object or locality; and it is only of late years that the Trent Canal has found due weight in the Dominion House as a scheme of serious importance for connecting Georgian Bay with Lake Ontario by a series of canal-connected waterways. Sir Robert Borden himself when, as leader of the Opposition and speaking in Peterborough, was blushingly embarrassed on being asked by one of his audience to pledge himself as to the Trent Canal. And he had to be considerably prompted in the reply he did eventually make in support of the scheme. For years this canal seemed truly a dream in Trent Canal politics, not clearly visualized by each succeeding government as a concrete proposition, worthy of consummation, so much so that for some time later than the date of the foregoing invitation many there were who treated the idea of its ultimate completion as a forlorn hope and characterized it as a convenient election bluff.

However, Alderman Phelan always believed in the Trent Canal, and can now regard his resurrected invitation of October 26, 1896, with "I told you so" complacency, rejoice in the fact that the canal is all but completed at last, congratulate himself on his committee-chairmanship for the high level bridge now being built over a waterway of this canal system, together with the knowledge that a government grant of $50,000 toward that bridge is due in no small measure to this water route from the big lakes to Montreal.

And so, at last, let us confidently look forward to an early opening of the Trent Canal into Georgian Bay, an exploitation of our lake district to the north rendered accessible by this waterway, and rejoice and be exceeding glad that "all things come to him who waits."

WORK! WORK!! WORK!!!

"DON'T CAMOUFLAGE by saying you're not feeling well, when all that is the matter with you is plain laziness."

This piece of advice, not perhaps entirely courteous, but certainly earnest and to the point, was gathered from a transatlantic paper of recent issue.

Now, there is no doubt whatever that what is most needed at the present day is the desire and the determination to work. The war put back the hands on the industrial clock for nearly five years, and a nation, an organization, and an individual needs to get up very early to catch up with time. At present one enemy has been disposed of—let us hope for ever—but another insidious foe is assailing us, one and all—disinclination to work.

To do, to work, to oppose doing nothing is to a degree in most people an acquired quality, because in at least the majority there is an innate streak of laziness, and many subscribe glad assent to the Italian proverb, "Dolce far niente." Now, this laziness is a mental or a physical weed—it springs up at times in the best cultivated gardens of the mind, and, if allowed its way, will choke the better elements of a man's nature. But there is a secret process which will make the flower of effort to bloom so abundantly that the weeds of laziness and sloth are choked and finally dwindle and die for lack of air.

That "spirit of effort" may be created from a variety of sources—necessity, love of saving, power, or what you will, but, whatever its source, it must be cultivated by the great Public if this country is again to win and hold a place among the leading nations of the earth.

And if a man or woman acquires the enviable position, not only of learning to work, but of loving to work; if he work in any of the thousands of channels now open, with head, hands and heart, all the drudgery so often associated with work disappears and he works with his will, mentally or physically, with the same zest and pleasure as a batsman wields his bat or piles up runs in the game of cricket.

But we so often make ourselves think we can't work. We camouflage our real feeling and relieve what conscience we possess by the excuse that our health requires rest, etc., or that we are in danger of overdoing it, and we lose our grip and become lazy, simply through self-deception and lack of effort. In reality the danger lies, as a rule, in not doing enough, and doctors admit with cautious reservation that very few of their cases come to them from overwork, but rather from maladies, real or imagined, bred of inanition.

Work, then, and good health will almost inevitably follow, for the healthiest people are those who are most thoroughly occupied. Give nature a chance, and, with the brain alert, a mind happy and engaged, the blood will race through the veins with the vigor of perfect health. No one yet does all he could do, but we should put into every hour of every day its quota of earnest, intelligent work, and we should have the spirit of work for work's sake pervading the whole country.

OPPORTUNITIES IN CUBA.

CUBA OFFERS unusual opportunities as a market for the sale of jewelry, silverware, and kindred lines. Here is another evidence of the world prosperity that is upon us. The march of commercial progress is not stayed by the absence of the declaration of peace. There must be no halt in commerce. This is not the first time that Cuba has been a market for luxuries, but it is a situation which reflects the internal condition of the island republic. Apparently the war has dealt kindly with Cuba. Her crops have been good and the prices obtained have been remunerative. Wages have enabled her people to indulge in aesthetic desires. She is prosperous. That prosperity opens wider the door of our opportunity for extending our trade. Thus is the circle of trade kept unbroken the world over.

MUSIC-TEACHING AND ADVERTISING.

SHOULD the music teacher advertise? Certainly the music teacher should advertise. The teacher may want to regard his or her work as a profession rather than a business. That is quite legitimate, too, but it does not dispense with the necessity of being businesslike and employing business common sense. Being a musician does not prevent one using business principles and one of the most essential of these is to advertise.

There are various forms of advertising. The recommendations of one's pupils and the parents of the latter are a form of advertising, so is the recital, whether public, semi-public or private; so is the plate on one's door. But the most effective of all advertising is the newspaper announcement.

The teacher has a commodity to sell. That commodity is the ability to give musical instruction. It is a duty, then, to both teacher and the public that the latter be informed of the teacher's ability and readiness to impart musical knowledge. The newspaper is the logical medium through which to perform this duty. A little announcement every week in this paper can be secured at a moderate cost.

The teacher can also help make the music page in the paper more interesting to more people and consequently of greater value to the teacher advertising thereon by contributing live local news items. It is quite impossible that the newspaper send some one to every musical event, no matter how interested a proportion of its readers would be in those affairs. Then it is up to the teacher. Send in short accounts of musical events you may promote or attend. Always keep in mind the extending of public interest in music. This is the best way to help yourself.

OPINIONS OF OTHER EDITORS.

WHERE FARMERS STAND.

(Farmers' Sun.)

There may be lack of clearness and precision as to the attitude of the leaders of the two old parties in this Province on the question of Prohibition. There is no doubt whatever as to where the United Farmers of Ontario stand on this important matter. Their stand was unequivocally stated at the last convenlton of the U. F. O., held in Toronto, when a resolution was unanimously adopted, calling for—

"Prohibition of the manufacture, importation and sale of intoxicating liquors as beverages in Canada."

Organized farmers have not waited for public opinion to express itself in a referendum. They are helping to so mold opinion that right expression will be given thereto. They are for Prohibition not merely as a war-time measure, but for the same measure as a means of increasing the efficiency and the happiness of the people in peace time as well.

AN ADMISSION.

(Buffalo Express.)

But if Egypt is capable of maintaining independence, she should have been able to carry the Palestine war alone, and more.

REAL LIBERTY.

(Guelph Mercury.)

Speaking of the Liberty League, there are families in Guelph and every other part of Ontario who enjoy more real liberty since "booze" was cut out than they ever had before.

A POSER FOR CHARLIE.

(London Free Press.)

If Germany is to be "ostracized" in the markets of the world will Mayor Booker tell us where she is going to get the money wherewith to pay us our indemnities?

THEY'LL BE OFFERED SO MANY!

(Schenectady Union-Star.)

Can you think of a more useless constitutional provision than that adopted by Germans prohibiting any German accepting a title or a decoration from any foreign government?

AN UNDISCOVERABLE POINT.

(St. Louis Post-Dispatch.)

A Post-Dispatch reporter recently followed a calm-eyed cow from the green pastures in Missouri to the hot and shining dinner plate, and the only feature he missed on the journey was the doleful point where the packers lose money.

GET TOGETHER.

(Woodstock Sentinel-Review.)

A great deal is expected by his friends from Mackenzie King, the new leader; but in order for him to do any of the things he is expected to do he must have the necessary means. And first of all he must have a united party made up of men and women who, whatever their differences may have been, are willing to get together and to work together in support of Liberal principles.

British Beauty Commits Suicide

ONE of the most famous of British "vamps" made a dramatic exit from the stage a short time ago when Mrs. Arthur Eliot blew off the top of her head with a shotgun. Whether she was disappointed in one of her numerous love affairs or under the influence of a drug is uncertain. Certainly it was not through fear of any impending scandal, for scandal was as the breath of her nostrils; and if it were not uncharitable to say so one would imagine the honorable matrons of England experienced a distinct sensation of relief when they heard the news: no more erring husbands ensnared and devoured; no more homes ruined; no more careers compromised as a result of her blandishments. Mrs. Eliot's place will be taken, no doubt, by able understudies, but it surely will take some time for any of them to rise to her bad eminence. People appeared to have acquired the habit of falling in love with Mrs. Eliot, and she had the habit of destroying them. Nevertheless, she contrived to maintain some sort of position in English society, of the ultra-smart, night-club set, and chose her victims as a rule from the highly placed.

She was best known as Mrs. Mabel Louise Atherton, for she first came into notoriety as the wife of Col. Atherton, of the 12th Lancers. She was the leader of the brilliant band of sensation-seeking women that went to South Africa while the war was on, under the pretext of serving as nurses, but really for the purpose of excitement and intrigue. At Cape Town she established herself and when her husband went to the front her house was soon a centre of gaiety and dissipation. She was very beautiful, a brilliant conversationalist, a musician, an author, smart, and daring. Her first victim appears to have been the young Duke of Westminster, who was recently divorced, and at that time was betrothed to a daughter of Mrs. Cornwallis West. So marked were the attentions of the young duke that a scandal arose, and, it is said, was brought to the attention of King Edward. The result was that the duke was summoned home and severely admonished by the King. This had the result of straightening him away, for the time being at least.

It did not discourage Mrs. Atherton, and when men became scarce at the base she followed them as near the front as she was permitted to go. Her imprudences there drew a rebuke from Lord Kitchener, who, as all the world knows, was singularly indifferent to the charms of women. But on one of these foraging expeditions Mrs. Aherton met Capt. John Reginald Yarde-Buller, a young officer of prominence, and the present Baron Churston. This affair was so long continued and so flagrant that Col. Atherton, in 1907, applied for a divorce, which was granted. But worse remained behind. Capt. Yarde-Buller did not display the constancy she was accustomed to and failed to carry out an alleged promise of marriage. Mrs. Atherton sued him for $100,000, and after listening with great gusto to the evidence in the case, a jury decided that undoubtedly some promise had been made and returned a verdict in her favor, but without awarding any of the pecuniary pain-killer.

She next burst into the limelight when John Alexander Stirling, Laird of Kippendale, brought suit against his wife, formerly Clara Taylor, an American actress, naming Lord Northland as co-respondent. Thereupon, Mrs. Stirling filed a counter petition alleging that Mrs. Atherton had engaged the affections of her husband. This double-barrelled trial proved a great delicacy to the scandal loving. Most readers are no doubt aware that details of divorce trials are published in such newspapers as the London Times, and incidents recorded that no Canadian newspaper would think of reporting. So that when there is an interesting divorce case in England the whole world can know about it. Piquancy was added by the role that Mrs. Atherton assumed. She represented herself as a peace-maker. She admitted that Mrs. Stirling appeared to be growing unduly fond of Lord Northland, and that she sought to dissuade her, drawing upon her own unhappy experiences to prove the disaster that was sure to follow. She had then sought to assuage the worry of Mr. Stirling, and had generally acted as the impartial and well-meaning friend of both parties.

Some of the testimony showed that Mrs. Atherton had gone to unconventional lengths, but Mr. Stirling got his decree. Whatever question there was about Mr. Stirling's conduct, there certainly was none about his wife's. She was infatuated and had not sought to conceal it, having declared that if Lord Northland did not marry her she would commit suicide. But Lord Northland did not marry her, and so far as known she did not commit suicide. Mrs. Atherton has not since then figured in a divorce case, but she did not cease to exercise her Circe-like spell. The fact that she was 48 years old at the time of her death, and had by no means exhausted her powers to infatuate, proves her to have been a remarkable woman. In the early days of the present war she was married to Capt. Arthur Eliot, a dramatist, and grandson of the Earl of St. Germans, but apparently she was not planned by nature to be an old-fashioned wife. She lived only for excitement and new sensations, and her very death by means of a shotgun indicates that her love for the unconventional animated her to the last.

For every 100 workers in factories in Sweden there are 23 women.

Model for Others We Know.

I cannot sing the old songs,
The neighbors would object—
In fact I cannot sing at all
And keep my self-respect.

Notwithstanding the war 3,736,000 acres in France were devoted to the culture of the grape last year.

Prince of Wales laying the corner-stone for the central tower of the Parliamentary Buildings, Ottawa.

Petrograd Under The Terror

A remarkable picture of "Petrograd under the Terror" is given in recent issues of the London Times by a correspondent, a Russian officer who was compelled to remain with the Bolshevists and who escaped as recently as July 10. The Petrograd of today is "starved, half-dead, overworked, thoroughly cowed." There is now only one common food ration for all, and food is only given to those who work under the control and for the benefit of the Soviets. "The day's ration in Petrograd in July consisted of the following: one plate of soup, consisting of hot water with a little fish in it, one eighth of a pound of bread. The cost of this meal which lasts all day is Rs. 6. The food can be taken in the communal dining rooms which are to be found all over the city or it can be taken home. It is very seldom, however, that anybody takes food home, for there is such scarcity of fuel in Petrograd that it would be almost impossible to reheat the food, and half the satisfaction in eating is in the warmth obtained from the soup. It is for this reason that one puts up with the filth of the dining rooms and the disgusting behaviour of the Communists. It is bad of course, but better than cold soup.

In the mornings a drink of some sort is made by stewing wild berries. For a long time now we have had no tea, coffee or cocoa, and even the Ersatz foods were long ago consumed. Those who are very careful occasionally leave over a tiny morsel of bread so as to eat it in the morning at least have a breakfast, but the majority just eat the one meal. Meat is quite unknown and sugar has also entirely disappeared."

Wholesale shootings continue. "The crimes for which people are being shot are various—from being in possession of verses written against the Bolshevists up to being suspected of counter-revolutionary purposes. Sometimes when the army has suffered at the front wholesale shootings take place; thus, for instance, in Gatchina at the end of June, whole groups of people were executed on the order of a former barrister, Lichterman.

"At present it is difficult to say to whom preference is given to be shot; workmen opposed to Bolshevism, peasants refusing to give up their corn to the Red Army, engineers suspected of sabotage, officers believed to have a leniency to the White Guards, or perhaps a sailor who dares to express his views on certain matters, all are shot alike. The daily number of executions is from 65 to 80 men.

The condition of the city itself is terrible. "Petrograd," says the writer, "is gradually becoming destroyed, as no repairs are made; pieces of stucco cornices fall off the roofs, the waterways and drain pipes get cracked and burst, the pavements fall to pieces and thanks only to the rain, wind and sun, some appearance of cleanliness seems to be kept up. Bodies of dead animals, horses, cats, and dogs, remain for weeks lying in the streets. Some dead horses serve as an attraction to people who creep slowly to them and cut off a chunk of the carcase to be used for food or for sale. The general aspect of the town leads one to think that some terrible calamity has happened to it. So solemn and gloomy is the effect produced by its ruined appearance, the reigning silence, interrupted only by separate shots or by the sounds of music coming from the dancing halls of the Communists.

"Typhus, smallpox, meningitis, the Spanish 'flu and cases of insanity are spreading so violently that the hospitals are unable to find places for all those sick with infectious diseases, and have no time to bury the dead, so that frequently the bodies are lying heaped up in the chapels of the hospitals awaiting their turn to be taken away to the cemetery where they are just thrown into one common trench and buried without any prayers read over them.

"The absence of medical assistance is the result of complete absence of medicaments and surgical appliances for which substitutes are used made of herbs and articles to hand."

In a remarkable summary of the true position of the workman under the Bolshevist regime, the writer says:

1. "He must work whether he wants to or not.

2. "He may not leave the town in without permission. In other words there is no choice either of occupation or employer. Both lie entirely in the discretion of the Commissaries.

3. "He may not leave the town in which he is living without special permission, which is only granted in exceptional cases.

4. "No holiday or day may be taken without special leave. As Petrograd is regarded as being in a state of siege, leave for workmen is given only on production of a medical certificate that it is necessary for the workman to have a two months' cure. Doctors are rebuked if they give too many of these certificates.

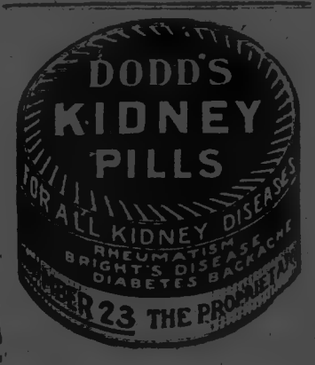
5. "Workmen are always under supervision.

"Now and then you will hear a little grumbling when the patience of the docile Russian crowd is utterly exhausted. Thus I remember once standing by a long, unending queue outside the Siestroretz munition works, and after hours of waiting the workmen began to say: 'Wait a moment. The Whites will soon be here, and they will show you how to do things in an orderly way.'

"The Soviet leaders do not pay much attention to the opinions of non-Russian Labor leaders, least of all to British opinion. In fact, England is rarely mentioned except to be blamed for everything that is wrong. I heard of one case where a quite obscure and entirely insignificant little person who was a Soviet member tried to get elected to the executive committee of his trade Soviet, but was unsuccessful. For a long time he went about telling his friends that his defeat was entirely due to the machinations of the Entente.'

"The billeting of the workmen in the Bourgeois flats, so much welcomed by them at first, has not satisfied the workmen in the end, because the entire conditions of life in the bourgeois family differ so much from his own that the only result of this was mutual constraint and displeasure. Moreover, as the workmen do not believe in the stability of the Bolshevist power they fear its vengeance, and know that their rule there is only temporary.

"Prohibition of meetings, of free speech, frequent conscriptions, and the vast contrast between the promises of the Bolshevists and their performances the deaths of thousands of children of the upper classes in the children settlements, all create ground for discontent, which is manifested by strikes. These are suppressed by arms, with the result that a great number are killed and wounded."



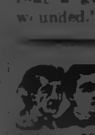
MICKIE SAYS

YA SEE, READERS, IT'S LIKE THIS - EVERY WEEK A WHOLE GANG OF SUBSCRIPTIONS COMES DUE 'N WE GOTTA ALL TH' TIME BE SENDIN' OUT NOTICES AN' WE DON'T LIKE T' BE DUNNIN' OUR FRIENDS 'N IF YA'D JES' KEEP TRACK OF YER DATE AN' RENEW AT THE PROPER TIME - MY GOSH! IT'D SAVE US A LOTTA TIME 'N TROUBLE 'N WE WOULD SURE BE OBLIGED 'N EVERYTHING!

Talent is one thing; tact is every thing.

As a strengthening tonic for love that has become weak there is nothing better than a little indifference.

Almost every man has the mistaken idea that he is essential to the workings of the universe.

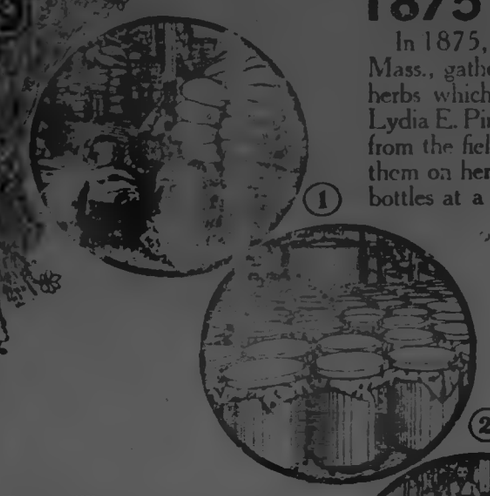


Wood's [illegible]
The Great English Tonic and Invigorator the nerve System, makes new in old Veins. Cures Nervousness, Debility, Mental and Brain Worry, Despondency, Lack of Energy, Palpitation of the Heart, Failing Memory. Price $1 per box. One will please, six will cure. Sold by druggists or mailed in plain pkg. on receipt of price. Pamphlet mailed free. THE [illegible] CO., TORONTO, ONT.

Piano Tuning
Phone 595
The GREENE MUSIC [illegible]

Making a purely vegetable Medicine

1875—1919



In 1875, Lydia E. Pinkham of Lynn, Mass., gathered and dried the roots and herbs which she used in the now famous Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, from the fields and forests, then steeped them on her kitchen stove and filled a few bottles at a time, to alleviate the suffering of her women friends, neighbors and acquaintances, and the success of this medicine was unparalleled.

After 44 Years

These illustrations show the present method by which vast quantities of this well-known remedy are produced and from exactly the same kind of roots and herbs used by Mrs. Pinkham in the beginning.

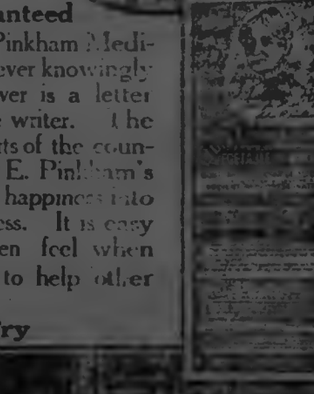
First—The various herbs used are of the finest quality, and gathered at the time their medicinal strength is the highest.

Second—After the herbs are properly ground and mixed, the medicinal properties are extracted by soaking in large stone jars, covered.

Third—Then the extract is drained through percolators, acting somewhat like a coffee percolator.

Fourth—To insure a thoroughly pure medicine, it is carefully pasteurized by heat in special apparatus, and bottled hot.

Throughout the entire process, from the crude herb to the finished medicine in bottle, cleanliness and exactness are the watch-words.



The Reliability of Testimonials Guaranteed

The testimonials published by the Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Company come to them unsolicited. Never knowingly have they published an untruthful letter, never is a letter published without the written consent of the writer. The reason that thousands of women from all parts of the country write such grateful letters is that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has brought health and happiness into their lives, once burdened with pain and illness. It is easy to realize how these poor, suffering women feel when restored to health; and their keen desire to help other women who are suffering as they did.

Ailing Women Should Try

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

LYDIA E. PINKHAM MEDICINE CO., LYNN, MASS.

THE MERCHANTS' COLUMN

Edited by
MANSFIELD F. HOUSE
(Copyright.)

CLERKS' CARELESSNESS COSTS MILLIONS, HE SAYS

That literally millions of dollars' worth of sales are lost every year through impertinent and uncaring clerks and saleswomen in the big department and other stores is a statement made recently by H. W. Jennisch, a prominent Cincinnati manufacturer of toothpaste.

"I recently went on an excursion trip into the Kentucky hills," he said, "and among the party were some twenty-odd women, women of middle age and younger, all of them members of the upper middle classes, who spent regularly quite large sums in the various department stores.

"While seated about the green hillside they chatted, as women will, and their subject—again woman-like—was shopping'. I was astounded upon overhearing that there were certain department stores in Cincinnati that these women would never enter simply and solely because they had been up against an impertinent clerk in one or another establishment!

"I have talked to many women since and I find the same situation. I am afraid to figure how much money is lost to the department and other stores yearly by this stream of women walking out and never coming back, but it must reach millions.

"Why don't they make a complaint at the stores?

"No woman will take that trouble, I find. They simply walk out and go elsewhere the next time and the store has lost another customer. Men will sometimes make a kick or else raise a row with the clerk or something, but men are seldom treated impertinently in the stores by saleswomen, and it is the women clerks, of course, that I am talking about. I have seldom heard such complaints about impertinence from the male clerks. It is the women clerks that are chasing customers away from the stores.

"Why does this state of affairs exist? Because in the majority of instances the woman clerk doesn't have to work for a living. Of course, there are many who need their jobs and who are on to it, but the majority of girls in the stores live at home, and have to give little or nothing for their keep, and just work to have a few extra clothes or something to spend. They don't care if they do lose a job. They are not saleswomen at all, but merely order takers.

"I have heard the members of my own family tell me the same thing. Clerks will tell them in a bored way that they 'don't think they have the goods the purchaser is asking for,' and they will make no effort to look or try to suit the customer in any way.

"I often heard things like this, but didn't pay much attention, but when twenty-three women have a particular store in this city that they will not buy goods in any more and I overhear them telling their reasons, I begin to wonder. I own stock in some of those stores, and I am going to see how this condition of affairs can be remedied. The accounts of even twenty-three women a year mean quite a little profit."

The Other Side, as a Good Clerk Sees It.

The clerk's side of the case also deserves a word. One of them in a store for the other day, when [illegible] Jennisch had said, replied:

"Maybe he is right. Personally, I have a living to make and I have to sell goods and keep my job. But I will say that some women shoppers are very hard to suit and a girl, when she is tired and hot, will sometimes make a sharp reply to them. It is also true that many of the young girls working here and in other stores, don't really have to work. They make enough to buy a few clothes and they meet young men who take them out, and so what do they care if they are 'reported' and lose a job? They can always get another just as good, so they 'sass' away at customers to whom they think they have the right to talk back.

"Stores want us to be nice to customers and treat them courteously and so on, but they instruct us not to give too much time to any one customer, and they don't like us to have 'regular' customers. They claim that when a patron knows us too well and comes to us all the time, she will talk too much on other subjects and use up a lot of time during which another strange woman would be buying sometimes. Then, too, we sometimes get commissions on the amount of our daily sales and a woman taking up a lot of time while another is waiting to buy, might make us lose sales for the stores and incidentally ourselves."

PATTERN DEPARTMENTS THAT BOOST STORE SALES

So marked have been the improvements in the sales of piece goods through the influence of the pattern department that R. R. Irvine, Jr., of Irvine's, Provo, Utah, says they are contemplating letting one girl of the staff specialize on patterns and have charge of the department. Not only have the patterns made the piece goods sales stronger in the last few years, but they have increased the grades bought.

The store, which has a fine ready-to-wear department as well, is now selling goods worth $6, $7, $8 and $10 per yard where it used to be that it could not handle these grades.

The method of suggestive salesmanship used by the salesgirls in showing patterns produces the sales. Women are buying of Irvine's materials for suits, coats, dolmans, capes and evening garments as the result of the pattern's influence. Naturally, this business means a more staple stock even if it does run up into money, as compared to the same amount in ready-to-wear garments of which styles are bound to change.

Irvine's uses a toilet goods department to attract women to the store. Mr. Irvine said that the few cents saved on this class of goods was a magnet that the women could not resist.

Will H. Mathers, Delta, O., has kept a very close watch on his pattern department and satisfied himself that this feature had an influence on the piece goods department. Now he has it located at the very front of the store, and at the front end of the piece goods stock. The woman who gets a pattern is looked upon as a gilt edge prospect for an order of piece goods—and pains are taken to see that she sees what the piece goods department has that will suit the pattern she has bought.

While the W. J. Moyer Mercantile Company, Grand Junction, O., does not have a sales girl exclusively for its pattern department the girl who handles the patterns is pretty near-to such. She has the telephone and a few tables in the neighborhood of the pattern stock. In this way she almost specializes and as she has occasion to learn the stocks the patterns help her "get on" in the various sections of the piece goods department.

Some years ago the pattern department of W. H. Wright and Sons Company, Ogden, Utah, was a losing feature of the store. Later the store began to use them for just what they are designed to be—makers of sales in the piece goods department. Now they make money. G. A. Wright, of the store, said that in his estimation nine-tenths of the women came to the store just to get the patterns. And so many stores make the mistake of putting the patterns where they are too easily gotten the women come and go with just the patterns. By locating the pattern department back in the piece goods department and putting in charge not the lowest salaried or most inexperienced girl, but one who possesses salesmanship, the store uses patterns for just what they should mean to a store—a means to sell piece goods.

Mr. Wright is a strong believer in a retailer not only handling, but pushing, nationally-advertised merchandise. He feels that in order to make certain that the retailer will tell local people that his store is the place to get the goods that national advertisers have made them want the national advertiser should duplicate as closely as is mechanically possible the national advertisements with the retailer's name at the bottom for local use.

EUROPE'S IMPORTANCE

WHY THAT CONTINENT DOMINATES THE WORLD.

Europeans and the Descendents of Europeans Have Become Important Because of the Undoubted Intellectual Superiority and Their Restless Energy — Physical Reasons Have Done a Great Deal Towards Making This the Case.

DID you ever ask yourself, "Why is Europe important?" South America may have revolutions, nations elsewhere may topple, China with her four hundred millions may overturn a prehistoric monarchy, and the world goes about its business, undisturbed.

Let a crack-brained nobody shoot at a European prince and every continent rocks with the Armageddon that ensues.

A communication of Dr. Edwin H. Grosvenor tells why the smallest, but one, of the six continents produced such practical monopoly of universal leadership."

"Of about the same size as Canada or Brazil, one might question, regarding merely territorial extent, whether Europe should be called a continent at all," Dr. Grosvenor writes.

"Siberia exceeds it by more than a million square miles. On the map of the eastern hemisphere it appears insignificant. It is dwarfed on the south by the ponderous bulk of Africa, while Asia, to which it clings, thrusts it disdainfully away toward the northwest.

Europe does not equal one-fourteenth of the land surface and is less than one-fortieth of the entire surface of the globe; yet upon it dwell 450,000,000 human beings, more than a fourth of all mankind. Nor are all Europeans found in Europe. They and their children have occupied and populated the whole western hemisphere, of which they were the discoverers. They have partitioned and subdued to themselves nearly the whole of Africa. With the exception of China and Japan, they control all Asia and all the islands of it the seas. During the last 25 centuries from them as from a focus have radiated the art and science and thought of the world.

In the physical advantages Europe possesses are revealed the causes which have given to Europeans and the descendants of Europeans their unquestioned superiority.

Almost the whole of Europe is situated in the northern half of the North Temperate zone. Its extreme northern point, the North Cape, is 19 degrees from the Pole. Tarifa, its extreme southern point, is 36 degrees from the Equator.

Nowhere, except in the farthest boreal limits, does excessive cold stunt body and mind. Nowhere does excessive and continued heat sap energy and enervate the will. No spontaneous prodigality of nature removes the necessity of exertion and induces sloth.

Here, where the air invigorates, man must labor if he would survive. The rewards of labor are reasonably sure, but something more is necessary than to satisfy one day's needs. The periodic succession, "the rhythmic swing," of the seasons, where winter invariably follows summer, compels him to take thought and make some provision of food, shelter and clothing for the days to come. Even slight labor and little forethought, neither of which can be escaped, force him toward emergence from the primitive and purely animal state toward higher existence.

The climate of Western Europe is determined by the Gulf Stream, the mightiest, most rapid and most beneficent of ocean currents. Its heated mass, deflected eastward by the banks of Newfoundland, reaches the shores of Europe, creating on its way the exhaustless fisheries of the North Sea.

As no formidable barrier to breezes from the sea is interposed, the prevailing winds of Europe, loaded with ocean moisture, spread hundreds of miles inland, relieving the excesses of the seasons and fertilizing the soil.

The coast line of Europe is remarkable for its length and its availability. South America is twice and Africa three times as large, and yet, although Europe is indented on its western or Atlantic side, it has a longer coast line than that of those two continents combined. North America has double the area of Europe. But, except for what stretches along the inhospitable Arctic, the sea front of the two is nearly the same.

Europe is intersected by numerous vast, narrow, half-inland gulfs and seas which endlessly break its contour and multiply its length.

No other body of water rivals the incomparable sea which forms the southern boundary of Europe, the Mediterranean.

The dwellers on the peninsular shores of Greece and Asia Minor were impelled by the circumstances of their lot to venture upon, gradually to understand, and finally to master the sea. And the sea gave back something greater than mere material returns.

Inevitably the old land kingdoms Egypt, Assyria, Persia, India, submerged the individual in the mass. As inevitably, in the men who single or in groups of two or three wrestle with and overcome the sea, the sense of personal independence was roused. This was both achievement and revelation. It was the impelling motive at Marathon and in all of the struggles for freedom since down to the present day.

Balloon Inflated by Electricity.

A patent has been granted an inventor for a captive balloon that is inflated with air heated by an electric heater carried in its basket and connected with a current supply on the ground.

Counted 93,000 Ants.

An ant hill two feet in height contains about 93,000 ants, according to the observations and counting, extending over two years, carried out by a well-known naturalist.

FEMALE HELP WANTED.

WANTED MAID FOR PLAIN cooking and general housework. Apply Mrs. Rollins, 439 Rubidge street.

WANTED — GIRLS. APPLY at Gate House, Canadian General Electric Co., Ltd.

MALE HELP WANTED.

WANTED A GOOD FUR salesman with experience. Apply to Barries Limited.

WANTED AN ORDERLY. Apply St. Joseph's Hospital.

HARDWARE CLERK, WITH three or more years' experience, wanted for good hardware store in a live country town. Apply Review for address.

AGENTS WANTED.

OTHERS MAKING $10 TO $15 daily, you have same opportunity introducing "CANADA'S SONS AND GREAT BRITAIN IN WORLD WAR." Written by Canadians from battlefield notes and official records; authentic, complete story of Canada's glorious record. Unusual opportunity for returned soldiers. Outfit free. Don't delay. Winston Co., Toronto.

WANTED.

WANTED — FARM ON THE water. Please state full particulars in first letter. Box 465 Review.

FOUND.

FOUND -LAST EVENING, A gray tweed overcoat near Blade's greenhouse. Owner may have same by applying at 555 Water street, and paying for advertisement.

LOST.

LOST — FRIDAY LAST, ON Peterboro-Lindsay road or in city, two side curtains McLaughlin Four Touring; also pump. Finder please notify Dominion Life office, 172 Hunter street, Peterboro.

LOST—ON SUNDAY NIGHT, a pearl crescent on McDonnel, George or Hunter Sts. Finder please leave at Review office.

TO LET.

TO RENT FURNISHED rooms with all conveniences, telephone; location central; suitable for one or two. Apply Review.

FOR SALE.

AUTOMOBILES, ENGINES, ETC., FOR SALE.

8 HORSE-POWER GASOLINE engine (on skids), in perfect running order, $390. 1916 Ford touring car, good condition. Ton to ton and half truck (Ford Smith form), in good condition and complete. 2 Chevrolet touring cars, low price. Up-to-date runabout buggy.

DUFFIS GARAGE,
Cor. Water & Charlotte Sts.

KITCHEN RANGE FOR COAL or wood, water front, warming closet. Jewel gas range, two ovens; gas water heater; springs and Ostermoor mattress. Mrs. W. R. Morris, 483 Homewood ave.

FOR SALE—NEW CLEVELAND bicycle, motor cycle style. Apply 109 George St.

200-ACRE FARM, LOT 4, Con. 6, South Monaghan, near Fraserville, for sale cheap; if not sold soon will rent. Apply to J. W. Latimer, Fraserville.

FOR SALE — THE PRIVATE sale at 801 Water street continues nights only. A Happy Thought range and two gas stoves, also an old walnut buffet.

FARM FOR SALE.

A first-class farm for sale; four miles from city. Apply Review for address.

THE FOLLOWING CAN BE seen and bought cheaply at 207 Simcoe street: Excavating tools, picks, shovels, wheel-barrows, scrapers, plough, etc., dump cart and harness, stone boat, drop bottom wagons, gravel wagon with 1¾-yard box, contractor's hoisting winch, tackle, etc., whiffletrees, neckyokes, etc., also a lot of window and door frames, handy for alterations and repairs. All in good shape.

Wm. Lytle Cartage Co.

ADVERTISING RATES.

The rate for Classified Advertisements is one cent a word per first insertion; subsequent insertions half a cent per word. Minimum number of words ten. Special terms for 5,000 words or over. Advertisements marked till forbidden" are accepted on the understanding that they will be published until a written or verbal notice to stop them is received.

BIRTH, MARRIAGE, DEATH, MEMORIAL NOTICES AND CARDS OF THANKS, 50c per insertion in Daily and Weekly, not exceeding one inch space. All words over the inch, one cent each.

CHURCH ANNOUNCEMENTS. Sunday Services Announcement in Saturday Daily (no reference to concerts allowed) $5 per year per inch. Extra space in this column for the purpose stated, 15c per inch. Regular rates apply for other than Sunday services.

GET YOUR PRINTING DONE at The Review office. Lowest price and best service.

IF YOU HAVE ANYTHING to sell, advertise in The Review. A sure sale.

LEGAL CARDS.

HALL & HALL
Barristers and Solicitors.
Money to Loan at Lowest Rates.
Telephone 69. 116 Hunter St.

GORDON & O'BRIEN
Barristers, Solicitors & Notaries.
Money to Loan at Lowest Rates
Telephone 219.
G. N. GORDON. J. A. O'BRIEN.

C. R. WIDDIFIELD, B. A.
Barrister, Etc.
and Solicitor for the City of Peterborough. Bnak of Commerce Building. 'Phone 550.

MOORE & WEARING.
Barristers and Solicitors.
MONEY TO LOAN.
108 Water St. Opposite Post Office.

JAMES FORDYCE STRICKLAND
Barrister, Solicitor, Notary Public.
MONEY TO LOAN.
395 Water St. Peterborough.
PHONE 151.

S. T. MEDD.
Barrister, Solicitor, Notary.
Office Over Dominion Bank.
Cor. Simcoe & George Sts.
Telephone No. 22.
Private Funds to Loan at Current Rates Upon Easy Terms.

PECK, KERR & McELDERRY.
Barristers, Solicitors, Notaries, 419 Water Street, Peterborough. Money to loan at lowest current rates of interest. Easy terms of payment.
E. A. Peck. F. D. Kerr.
V. J. McElderry.

J. EDMUND L. GOODWILL.
Barrister, Solicitor, Notary Public, Etc. Office 375 Water St., Phone 191
Successor to Roger Bennet & Goodwill.
MONEY TO LOAN at current rates upon easy terms. . .

A. E. DIXON.
Barrister, Solicitor, Etc.
Offices corner Hunter & George Sts. Entrance next Madill's Drug Store.

O'CONNELL & CORKERY
Barristers, Solicitors, Notaries Public, etc. Money to Loan on Easy Terms of Payment.
D. O'Connell J. R. Corkery.
134½ Hunter St. Peterborough.
Telephone 364.

R. R. HALL.
Barrister, Solicitor, Etc.
Peterborough, Ont., offices corner Canadian Bank of Commerce. Trust funds to loan on easy terms of payment.

MEDICAL CARDS.

DR. E. E. HARVEY.
Silver Medalist University of Toronto
Special attention to diseases of Women and Children.
Office: 212 Brock Street.
Hours: 1.30 to 5 p.m., 7 to 8 p.m.
Phone 222.

DR. BUCHANAN
F. R. S. C. Edin., M.R.C.S, Eng., L. R. C. P. Lon. Eye, Ear, Nose & Throat Specialist. Hours: 9-11 a.m. 2-4 and 7-8p.m. Phone 519 Office corner Water and Murray Street.

DENTISTRY.

DR. W. N. HAYES.
has opened a Dental practice in the Barrie Building, Georgt Street
'Phone 652 for appointments

OSTEOPATHY.

DRS. WALMSLEY & SETTLE
Osteopath Physicians.
Office over Crown Building, Hunter and Water Streets. Entrance 124 Hunter street. Office hours: 9 to 11 a.m., 2 to 5 p.m. Evenings by appointment. Office Phone 649.

MONEY TO LOAN.

There has been placed in our hands considerable trust funds to loan at 6½ per cent. on first class real estate property.

GORDON & O'BRIEN.
Phone 219. 395 George St.

PETERBOROUGH BOARD OF TRADE

EXCURSION

TO

PETERBOROUGH FAIR

TUESDAY, SEPTEMBER 16th

50 Cents RETURN

COVERING STEAMER, TRAIN AND AUTOMOBILE

STEAMER "STONEY LAKE"

Leaves Backhorn 6.30 a.m. via Bobcaygeon to Chemong, thence via Automobile touching at intermediate points between Chemong and Peterborough

STEAMER "EMPRESS"

Leaves Burleigh 6.30 a.m. to Lakefield thence via G.T.R.

STEAMER "MANITA"

Leaves Crow's Landing 6.00 a.m. to Lakefield thence via G.T.R.

RETURNING

Trains leaves the G.T.R. Station at 5.40 p.m. and Automobiles will leave the Fair Grounds at 5.30 p.m.

Tickets will be sold on the steamers which will cover train journey from Lakefield and automobile journey from Chemong.

The Peterborough Fair promises to surpass all former records as regards attractions and attendance.

EXCURSIONS SOUTH—25c RETURN

STEAMER "RAINBOW"

Leaves (OLD TIME) Birdsall 5.45 a.m. via McCracken's 6.00 Robins Landing 6.15, Stevenson Landing 6.30, Curtiss's 7.00, Hiawatha 7.30

CALLING AT ALL POINTS ON RIVER

RETURNING STEAMER leaves George Street Wharf 4.30 p.m. (New Time), Rye's Landing (St. Ry. Wharf) 5.00 p.m.

RECEPTION AT KNOX CHURCH

Various Organizations Tendered Greeting to Rev. J. A. MacKenzie and Bride.

A very pleasing and highly successful function was held at Knox Church last evening when the congregation tendered a reception to Rev. J. A. and Mrs. MacKenzie. Mr. J. F. Morrison and Mrs. McPherson received with Mr. and Mrs. MacKenzie in the ladies' parlor, which was tastefully decorated for the occasion. After partaking of refreshments, served in the school room, the audience gathered in the church where the greetings of the various organizations were tendered to the pastor and his bride. A pleasing musical program was also rendered to which the following persons contributed: Misses Buckham, Penrose, McLeish, Sucese and Mr. Alex Seager and Mr. F. E. Walden, the newly appointed organist and choir leader of Knox. Just before the close, a handsome sheaf of American Beauty roses was presented to Mrs. MacKenzie by Miss Margaret McCulloch on behalf of the Ladies' Aid. After a reply by Mr. MacKenzie thanking the people for their kindness, the meeting was brought to a close, one and all agreeing that it was a splendid success.

POULTRY EXHIBITION COOPS

Will Hold Auction Sale at Fair to Pay for Them—Donations of Birds Invited.

Members interested in the Poultry Association will be glad to learn that a definite step forward was taken last night in the matter of securing new wire exhibition coops. In order to get the necessary funds it was decided to hold an auction sale of all kinds of poultry during the exhibition next week, probably during the afternoon or evening of the second day, and any one who desires to donate good standard bred birds or money for this purpose will please communicate with the secretary, D. Tudhope, 569 Homewood avenue.

Already a number of high class exhibition and bred-to-lay poultry of several different varieties have been promised, but more are needed yet.

Barred Rock cockerels and pullets were exhibited last night by Mr. Lundy and were judged and criticized by Messrs. Kelly and Paxman.

PRIZE TOP POODLE

Ottawa, Sept. 11.—"Buster Wiggins," the four-year-old toy poodle owned by Mrs. W. McKibbin, 19 Pine avenue, Toronto, which won all the prizes in his class at the Central Canada Exhibition yesterday afternoon, is now the champion prize toy poodle of Canada.

MR. CALDER'S DENIAL

Ottawa, Sept. 11.—Hon. J. A. Calder, Minister of Immigration and Colonization, tonight gave emphatic denial to a press report from Winnipeg that he was retiring from the government to join a big financial company in the West.

Preliminary organization of the League of Nations is proceeding in London.

At Sault Ste. Marie. The Prince Receiving the Welcome of the Town.

BY COURTESY OF C.P.R.

WHERE FEMALES RULE.

A Tribe of Indians In Which Men Are Slaves.

The Seri Indians, an aboriginal tribe of unmixed blood inhabiting Tiburon (Shark) island, in the Gulf of California, off the coast of the State of Sonora, and due west from the city of Hermosillo, afford an interesting study. In the first place, they present one of the lowest types of human kind in at least one respect—they have no local habitations, no permanent shelter of any kind, but wander from place to place as the whim seizes them. The nearest approach of shelter is made by gathering the limbs of scrubby mesquites together and fastening them at the top with a strip of palm fibre or what not. But this is no great hardship, since the climate is of the mildest, and rain seldom falls.

The one feature of this tribe's life stands out sharp and clear in contrast with that of all other aborigines of the western hemisphere, is the women are the heads of the families, and rule the men, if not with hands of iron, at least in the most determined and effective manner. Some see in this novel arrangement the foundation for the old legend encountered by the Conquistadores of a land far to the northwest of the Aztec kingdom inhabited by Amazons, and this indeed may be correct.

While of marriage ceremony there is little or nothing, nevertheless their customs in this respect are a trifle odd and interesting. When a young man wishes to marry a girl he makes application to the mother. The father is ignored—it is none of his affairs. If the mother be disposed to look with favor upon the match, the youth must provide for all the wants of the family of his adored one. He must be the hewer of wood and the drawer of water, likewise the killer of sharks and the purveyor of food of all kind. He is not allowed to associate with the family, not even to recline in the shade of the particular mesquite bush which they may have selected as a temporary abiding place, but must keep at a distance and under the shelter of his own special bush, where he cooks and eats his own food and otherwise comports himself in the humble manner of a suppliant for a great favor, the acquisition of a feminine "master." At the end of a year, if he shall have proved himself a good provider, he is accepted as a member of the family without further ceremony and the young couple begin life together under another mesquite clump.

These Indians occasionally come to the mainland and even visit Hermosillo, the capital of the state. Old residents tell a blood-curdling tale of the wholesale massacre of a party who had been induced by the authorities some thirty years ago or so, to come to the mainland on an assurance of peaceable treatment, but which was merely a subterfuge for attempted extermination of the tribe. This undoubtedly accounts for the timidity of the present members of the clan and their determination not to permit strangers to visit their remote island home unless properly attended and vouched for. When they do visit the mainland, they are objects of curiosity to all. Their island is in the pearl oyster district, and they bring many pearls with them which they trade off at a fraction of their value. Many of these pearls are taken by them from beds of "dead" shells, and are without value, but occasionally they become possessed of "live" ones which they have no difficulty in disposing of, since they have little or no idea of their real worth.

Whether any movement has ever been inaugurated on Tiburon island for the introduction of "male suffrage" is not known. But judging from appearances and from the accounts given of the "mistreatment" of the women, it would not in all probability be especially conducive to the health of any mere man who undertook to introduce such an unheard-of innovation.

A Conventional Corsair.

The repatriation of Count Felix von Luckner, commander of the notorious German raider, the Seeadler, forms a somewhat unromantic conclusion to a buccaneering epic which the most proficient manufacturer of adventure fiction could hardly have improved upon. First, the count ran away to sea on a Russian vessel. He deserted from this and was next found, according to reports, working in a hotel in South Australia. Then he sold papers in the streets of Melbourne. Then he was given command of the Seeadler, which was known to have sunk 25 merchantmen in the South Atlantic in 1917. The raider was subsequently run to earth at the Fiji Islands. His daring commander was captured and interned in Auckland, New Zealand. Having escaped from there, he contrived to get possession of a lumber coaster and, while heading for the Kermadec Islands, was overtaken and captured by an armed vessel that had been sent after him from New Zealand. From that time until his recent release, the count has been securely confined in Wellington, New Zealand.

Costly Tapestries.

A collection of rare and costly tapestries and furniture belonging to the estates of Augustus Kountze, James Stillman and others, was sold at the American Art galleries in New York recently, and brought a total of $57,117.50. Charles of London paid $9,000, the top price, for a set of four allegorical tapestries, Italian, of the sixteenth century; $6,500 for an Italian Renaissance tapestry, "Harvesting," and $5,600 for an Italian Renaissance hunting tapestry.

A Whale's Hearing.

The orifice on the whale's ear is scarcely perceptible, yet it is said that the whale's hearing is so acute that a ship crossing its track half a mile distant will cause it to dive instantly.

FOOD RIOTS IN SILESIA

Berlin, Sept. 11.—Ten persons were killed and eleven wounded during food riots in Glogau, Silesia, on Tuesday. Troops used machine guns and hand grenades against the rioters.

SMUGGLING FORTUNES.

New "Art" That Has Developed In Europe.

Trade, and industry in mid-European countries may be at a low ebb at present, but there is one branch of commerce at least which during and after the war has attained heretofore undreamed of heights of development—in fact, one cannot speak of smuggling as a mere trade any more—it has become one of the fine art, even though it is more commercially profitable than the rest of them. The glories of war-time smuggling of necessities—food, clothing, shoes, soap and the like—were often sung before this. One particular branch of the—shall we call it science?—has sprung into full blossom only after the conclusion of the armistice. We mean the wholesale smuggling of fortunes.

Ever since last November—and perhaps earlier than that—from Germany to Holland and Scandinavia and Hungary to Switzerland, there was flowing a steady stream of gold, securities, jewels and all other kinds of valuables, all privately held, their owners being obsessed with but one thought—safety. Fear of confiscation through Bolshevism and fear of confiscation through taxation necessitated by war indemnities furnished the motive power behind this exodus of riches. Everybody smuggled and everything was smuggled, in spite of very severe special legislation in the countries thus being drained. The total of illegally exported private fortunes cannot even be conjectured now; it certainly runs up into tens, perhaps into hundreds, of millions, most of it representing not depreciated currency of the defeated lands, but gold, jewelry and foreign securities. Especially the war profiteers, ill at ease about their illgotten gains, were making haste in getting across the frontier whatever of value was movable and concealable.

The German newspapers contain illuminating accounts of the methods employed in this fortune smuggling. Thus on the Swiss-German and Swiss-Austrian border, where it is customary for working men to cross over twice a day in pursuit of their occupation, it was found that innocent-looking dinner pails were made available for the purpose. Needless to say the business has rewards in proportion to its risks; commissions of eight per cent. are not reckoned as excessive.

Some time ago Switzerland invited a number of famished Austrian children for a vacation in the mountains. Hundreds of children crossed the frontier, and, naturally, nobody thought of examining them from the revenue officer's point of view. It was only later that the Austrian authorities discovered that millions were sent across in the children's clothes.

The Vossische Zeitung prints this information as a rumor, with reservations. The Berlin newspaper, however, vouches for the authenticity of the following:

"A prominent Berlin business man was, early in April, stopping at one of the leading hotels in Zurich. On the second day of his sojourn he received a letter marked 'Confidential'. It read:

"'Dear Sir,—Opportunity offers itself to you hereby to remove all your fortune at present located in Germany or German-Austria (securities, objects of art, etc.) to Switzerland in a discreet and reliable manner. In case you are interested in our proposition please write or call in person. Your very truly,

"'H. Kradolfer.'"

The address was given in a postscript:

"Fortune Bureau, Ltd., Ramistrasse 6 Zurich."

According to the Vossische Zeitung, investigation showed that letters of a similar wording were sent to all German and Austrian guests of the better-class Swiss hostelries. The "Fortune Bureau" officially styled itself "Bureau for Freight Control."

"The above letter shows what kind of freight is controlled—and in what manner—by this bureau," the Vossische Zeitung adds.

A Question of Dress.

Few of the picturesque tribal costumes that depart in main essentials from the dress found convenient by western civilization have succeeded in maintaining their traditional characteristics. The Roumanian people are among those whom the war has caused to forsake a distinctive national male attire. This, in its main lines, recalled the costume of the Roman legionaries, which was adopted by the nation when Roumania formed the Roman province of Dacia. It consisted of a short white tunic, "bag-trousers" of white wool, and a curiously embroidered coat. Many of these garments were carried away as loot by invaders during the war, and the relief garments sent in from France, which are of more conventional design, are expected to drive the national costume into disuse. Heavy demands, however, will doubtless be made upon it in the field of masquerade and musical comedy.

Plant Quenches Thirst.

A plant that is said to be like the rock which Moses smote with his rod and caused water to gush forth is the "traveler's tree" so called because when its leaves are cut a quantity of pure cold water is said to spurt out to quench the thirst of the wayfarer.

The tree grows naturally only in Madagascar and thrives only in the vicinity of water. The tree is now cultivated in some tropical countries for ornamental purposes. In its native habitat its leaves furnish the people with thatch and sides of their houses; the leaves are used also extensively for making a great variety of minor household articles, and the trunks, which are woody and durable in contact with the soil, are used for posts and for flooring in warehouses.

Iron is seven times as heavy as water, bulk for bulk, and gold nineteen times.

Violin "Camouflage."

The word "fecit" is of Latin origin, and means made, or manufactured. It was in general use by the Cremona violin makers; and has been copied by modern makers, chiefly for deception. The modern imitators of old violins retained the old form of affixing the date.

INTESTINAL PARALYSIS

"Fruit-a-tives" Quickly Relieved This Chronic Trouble

5-9 CADORAIN STREET, MONTREAL.

"In my opinion, no other medicine is so curative for Constipation and Indigestion as 'Fruit-a-tives'.

I was a sufferer from these complaints for five years, and my sedentary occupation, Music, brought about a kind of Intestinal Paralysis; with nasty Headaches, belching gas, drowsiness after eating, and pain in the back.

I was induced to try 'Fruit-a-tives' and now for six months I have been entirely well". A. ROSENBURG.

50c. a box, 6 for $2.50, trial size 25c. At all dealers or sent postpaid by Fruit-a-tives Limited, Ottawa.

Story of Tower of London, Where Wm. Hohenzollern May Await His Trial

THE Tower of London has been suggested as a place where William Hohenzollern might be held pending his trial.

Palace and prison, once noted also for its menageries and its pageantry—birthplace and death house of monarchs, scene of hairbreadth escapes and reputed hidden treasure, ghastly in its memories of tortures and killings and sacred for its martyrs, the Tower of London amply warrants description as the "the most ancient and most poetic pile in Europe."

William the Conqueror gave London a charter but built the White Tower to show the people how little that charter might mean. Like the English Constitution, the rambling London Tower of to-day is a product of centuries, and not one but many of centuries now are scattered over some 13 acres. The site had been a fortress since Roman times.

To the Middle Tower Elizabeth came back a Queen five years after her jealous half-sister, Mary, had kept her there a prisoner. The hump-backed Richard III hired three assassins to murder his nephews in Bloody Tower. Not until years later were their bones found and taken to Westminster Abbey.

Lady Jane Grey, she who "had the birth of a princess, the life of a saint, and the death of a malefactor," was beheaded in London Tower. Henry VIII waited to hear a gun fired from White Tower, signal of the execution of Anne Boleyn, so he might marry Jane Seymour next day. Henry's Minister, Thomas Cromwell, sent hosts of enemies to London Tower to be butchered until he helped pick Anne of Cleves for his third married monarch, but when Henry saw this prospective bride he pronounced her "a Flanders mare," and off went Cromwell's head with the rest.

Relieving such stories of royal cruelty are the immortal "last words" of the blaze men and whoever who laid their heads on the axeman's block.

"God forbid the King shall use any more such mercy to my friends," laughed Sir Thomas More when told that Henry VIII had "mercifully" consented to let him be beheaded instead of hanged, and, to the executioner, as he moved his beard aside, "Pity that should be cut that has not committed treason."

The Countess of Salisbury refused to lay her head on the block because she had committed "no wrong," so that, says an observer, apologizing for the executioner "he was constrained to fetch it off slovenly."

"If you strike me twice, I cannot promise you not to stir," warned Monmouth. Asked to raise his head a bit Algernon Sidney retorted, "Not until the general resurrection; then only." "Peter," inquired Sir Walter Raleigh, to keep up the spirits of his attendant, "dost thou know of any plaister to set a man's head on again when it was cut off?"

Consigned to the Tower for some thirteen years Sir Walter set a fashion which made a salon out of the palace-prison. While he was not attending his garden, and distilling essence from plants, he wrote his quaint "History of the World," and there, too, William Penn wrote "No Cross, No Crown," not to mention the writings of the Duke of Orleans and Sir John Eliot.

About the main entrance to the Tower was a menagerie until a hundred years or so ago because Frederick II of Germany and Henry III of [illegible] and Henry did not know what else to do with them. Later James I, who liked bear baiting, added these animals to the zoo.

The warders, known as "beef eaters," probably because they once were fed on rations of meat, form one of the curiosities for London visitors. They wear Tudor costumes and, like the Swiss as guard of the Pope, they keep their ancient costumes undisturbed by currents of modern fashion.

Just before midnight the head warder and the porter, carrying a bunch of huge keys, go to the guard room, summon "the escort of the keys," made up of "beef eaters" and then proceed ceremoniously to lock the great outer gate. The pass word is given formally to sentries as the procession passes, and in conclusion the detail salutes the keys as the porter cries "God preserve the King." Every three months the reigning king or queen sends the password of the Tower to the constable, signed and sealed, and the Mayor of London is the only other outside person supposed to know it. This ceremony is a relic of the time when the Tower was primarily a fortress.

Until the Seattle, London Tower has been stormed. One famous effort, in which a Col. Blood, disguised as a clergyman, nearly made away with the bejewelled crown, is thought by some to have been inspired by Charles II because he needed the money the jewels would bring.

One of the less well known, but most spectacular incidents, was the escape of two priests by a ruse that could have done credit to Monte Cristo. One of them, having been strung up by the hands for days, and then put in a rack while his wrists were swollen, without making to betray his faith, wrote in orange juice to friends outside, for a light and with a weight at one end. He also asked that a boat be brought to the river below Cradle Tower on a certain night. On that night he made secret way to his fellow prisoner's room. The two flung the weighted end of the rope to their friends in the boat, pulled up a heavier rope, climbed [illegible] steep walls to the [illegible] side of the river.

RAISED STATUS OF LABORER

Joseph Arch Will Long Be Remembered as Champion of English Farm Workers.

From plowboy to member of parliament was the remarkable rise of Joseph Arch, who recently died at the age of 92. He was a unique figure in English parliamentary life, being in 1885 the sole workingman member of the house of commons. At that time there was no kind of labor party in existence there. Mr. Arch achieved fame as the champion of the English farm laborer when the tiller of the soil reared his family on a wage of $2 a week, subsisted chiefly on barley bread and hardly knew the taste of tea or sugar. In 1872 he enrolled 200 farm workers in an organization that came to be known as the National Agriculture Laborers' union, whose leaders the bishop of London wanted to duck in a horse pond. "Adult baptism," Mr. Arch rebuked to the bishop's statement, "is not the rule of the Church of England." Mr. Arch is credited with having done more than any other man to improve the condition of England's peasantry. He was popular in parliament. One of his constituents was the prince of Wales, afterward King Edward. He referred to Mr. Arch as "my member." Mr. Arch also was a Primitive Methodist preacher. He was fond of his pipe and an occasional glass of ale.

Mankind Suspicious.

The flesh of the shark is said to resemble that of the sturgeon, the fish that "goes to the Caesar's dish," but its cannibalistic reputation, firmly fixed in the popular mind, is against it. Man's dread of the gastronomically untried is only equaled by his curiosity, which after all gets the better of his fears. Truly he was a brave man who first swallowed a raw oyster.

Quite Simple Remedy.

Men who are compelled to work at night frequently are heard to complain that they are unable to sleep in the daytime. We have suffered from that affliction while working on a morning newspaper. We know of but one sure cure. That is to get a job working days. The desire to sleep in the daytime then becomes as natural as breathing.—Kansas City Star.

Discovers Heat Insulation.

A new heat insulating material composed of a mixture of a special clay and cork has been discovered by a Norwegian engineer. The clay and cork mixture is burned, and the result is the formation of a very light substance that is said to be eminently suitable for all heat insulating purposes.

Sir Wilfrid Laurier Said:

"After all what a man does with his money is to invest, and there is no better way to in it than in Life Insurance. As an ESTATE BUILDER there is nothing to equal Life Insurance.

TAKE THE FOLLOWING ACTUAL RESULT

A young man sixteen years of age took out a 15 years Endowment (No. 210380) in the Sun Life of Canada, which matured on the first of April. This young man paid annually $86.30 for fifteen years and he now has, through that investment, an immediate estate of $3495.00 in case of death.

DO YOU KNOW THAT THIS AMOUNTS TO ALMOST 15 PER CENT COMPOUND INTEREST ON EVERY DOLLAR PAID?

No wonder Sir Wilfrid said—and he might have added (no better place than the Sun Life of Canada)—"there is no better way to invest it than in LIFE INSURANCE."

SUN LIFE INSURANCE COMPANY OF CANADA

Crown Chambers Building, 402 Water St., Peterboro

PHONE 14

W. H. HILL, Manager, Central Ontario

A. WEDDELL, J. D. CAMERON — INSPECTORS — H. S. McDUFFEE, D. H. MOORE

ESTABLISHED 1852

NOW IS THE TIME TO LOOK OVER YOUR ROOFS

Don't Buy Cheap Roofing

Good enough for Uncle Sam: good enough for anybody—

Barrett's EVERLASTIC "RUBBER" ROOFING

It does not pay. It is poor policy to buy cheap roofing that you know nothing about.

BARRETT'S Everlasting Rubber Roofing

will save you many dollars in the future. For over half a century BARRETT'S ROOFINGS have been known all over the world for their high quality. The name BARRETT is your guarantee. We carry a full line in

1 ply, 108 square feet per roll $2.50
2 ply, 108 square feet per roll $3.00
3 ply, 108 square feet per roll $3.50

Nails and cement in each roll ready for applying.

EVERJET ELASTIC PAINT

Specially adapted for exposed surfaces, metal, wood and roofing. Gives a lustrous black surface which protects against weather, wet and chemicals. Used extensively for farm wagons and implements. It is not worn-out machinery, but machinery rusted and rotted from lack of paint that keepsfactories working day and night, and many farmers in every section are playing a losing game. Put up in 1 gal. tins with spring top. Considering the high price of paint at the present time, this is exceptional value for outside work at, per gallon $1.75

The Kingan Hardware Co., Limited

EXCLUSIVE LOCAL AGENTS

Phone 82 359 George St. Peterboro

SHE BELIEVES IT SAVED HER LIFE

MRS. O'BRIEN DIDN'T HAVE A SINGLE WELL DAY IN FIVE YEARS—TANLAC RESTORES HER TO HEALTH.

"I actually believe this Tanlac has saved my life" is the remarkable statement of Mrs. Grace O'Brien, who resides at 18 June street, Halifax, Nova Scotia, Canada.

"I hadn't seen a well day in five years until I took Tanlac," she continued. "The agonies I suffered from stomach trouble made me almost wish I was dead many a time. In all those long years of suffering, I hadn't known what it was to enjoy a meal, and have gone for days at a time without touching real food, because I was afraid of the pain that I knew it would bring me. Even a piece of dry toast would upset me so that I would be in misery for hours, and when I tried liquid food it would sour on my stomach. When I would try to eat, my food would feel like a rock in my stomach and would sour and form gas that rose up in my throat and almost cut off my breathing. Pains all through the pit of my stomach sometimes kept me awake at night walking the floor, and I finally got to the place where I was so weak and nervous and run down that I couldn't even dress myself. When I would try to dress in the morning I have fainted away many a time, as I would be so weak that I couldn't stand on my feet. If it hadn't been for my two daughters I don't know what I would have done, as they had to take care of me and the house too.

"The first bottle of Tanlac didn't seem to make much improvement in my condition, for I had suffered so long that my troubles were hard to reach. I began to feel like eating after the second bottle, and as soon as I could eat and digest my food I felt myself getting stronger. I kept on until I have now taken four bottles, and it is remarkable how I have improved. The pains through my stomach have disappeared entirely and the gas has quit forming. I have a good healthy appetite and can eat meat, onions, in fact anything I want, and it builds me up and I enjoy every meal. My strength has come back until I can get around and do almost as much housework as my daughters can. I have gained ten pounds and am picking up all the time, and when night comes I sleep without a pain and wake in the morning feeling like a different person. I really believe Tanlac has saved my life, and I am glad to tell everybody about this wonderful medicine."

Tanlac is sold in Peterborough by W. B. Warne Drug Co., Ltd., in Havelock by A. C. Denike, in Lakefield by Tanner Drug Co., Ltd., in Fowler's Corners by W. A. Hunter, in Gelert by A. J. Scott, in Westwood by G. Pringle & Son.

KEENE

(Special Correspondence.)

Late Robert Taylor.

On Friday, Sept. 5, the death occurred of Mr. Robert Taylor, in his 72nd year. While not in the best of health for some time, death came as a shock to his many friends. The late Mr. Taylor was highly esteemed by all who knew him. He leaves to mourn his loss two daughters, Mrs David Edwards and Miss Edna, three sons, Thomas, Joseph and Gordon, who have the sympathy of the entire community in their bereavement. The funeral was held on Sunday afternoon at 2 p.m., and was a very large one. The floral tributes were numerous and beautiful. The pall-bearers were Messrs Zaccrah and John Renwick, Richard Short, John McFee, Edward Braden and John Comrie. Interment was made in the cemetery at Zion.

Ball a Success.

The young men of Keene and vicinity are giving a ball in the Town Hall on Friday night. Tucker's orchestra of Peterborough will furnish the music for the occasion.

Excellent Dance.

The young men of Keene and vicinity gave a dance at the Town Hall on Friday night. A good crowd was in attendance and a most enjoyable time is reported by those attending.

New Skating Rink.

The new curling company are busy tearing down the old rink and will rebuild back of the Town Hall, which they expect to open to the public for the winter's skating with an up to date curling and skating rink.

A Corn Roast

About 30 young people held a float to Sugar Island on Thursday night and had a corn roast. A most enjoyable time is reported by those attending.

Personals

Miss Leona Johnston spent the week-end with friends at Lindsay.

Miss Minnie Howson, of Calgary, is visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs P. P. Howson.

Miss Martha James is spending two weeks' holidays at Toronto.

Miss Evelyn Dorris is visiting friends in Macedon, New York.

Miss Mary Burley is attending Business College at Peterborough.

Miss Ethel Morgan, of Peterborough, was the guest of Mrs. Belle McFarlane, last week.

Miss Mary O'Toole was in Peterborough last Thursday night.

Miss May McNevan is attending Normal at Peterborough this year.

Mr. and Mrs. A. D. Anderson were at Stoney Lake Thursday and Friday of last week.

Dr W T Harrison was in Toronto a few days the past week.

Mr. Michael Kenneally attended the Toronto Exhibiton the past week.

Mr. George Simpson, of Smith, spent a few days the past week at the home of Mr. James Dickson.

Mrs. Henry Fletcher and nephew, Alfie Godfrey, returned the past week from Juniper Island where they spent the summer.

Little Miss Dorothey Dickson, who spent the past month with her cousin, Miss Rena Dickson, has returned to her home at Toronto.

Mrs. Thompson, of Campbellford, spent a few days last week with her niece, Mrs. Alex Anderson.

Rev. and Mrs. Honey and children left on Monday for a three weeks' holiday trip among friends in Seymour township.

Miss Jean O'Neil, of Hastings, was calling on Keene friends on Sunday evening.

Miss Clara Roche and Miss Rachel Richards spent the past week in Toronto.

Miss Mary Armstrong, of Peterborough, was home over the week-end.

Mr. Henry Fletcher spent a few days last week at Juniper Island.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Garbutt, of Lakefield, spent Sunday with Miss Agnes Lundsen.

Miss Belle Nelson, of Toronto, is visiting at the home of her mother, Mrs. William Nelson.

Mr. L. M. Roche, of Peterborough, was in the village on Sunday.

Mrs. Harry Andrews, of Niagara Falls, is a guest at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. P. Roche.

To Mr and Mrs. Vincent McCarthy on Saturday, Sept. 6, a son.

Rev. T. H. Neville, of Peterborough, will occupy the pulpit at the Methodist Church next Sunday evening.

Mr. J. J. Moore has accepted a position as salesman at Anderson's store and began his duties last week.

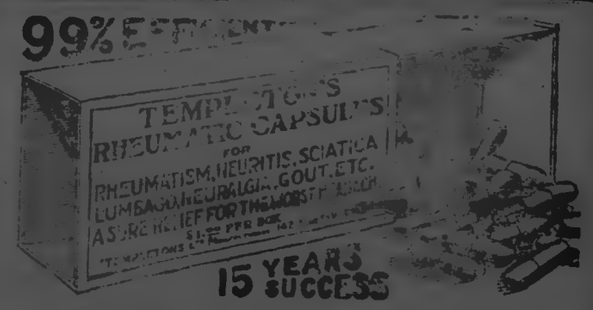
Miss Mary Connell has resigned her position as saleslady at Anderson's store and left on Monday for Peterborough where she will attend Business College.

Master James McCarthney was home from Peterborough over the week-end.

Mrs. (Dr.) Harrison is visiting Toronto friends this week.

Miss Rowe, after a pleasant week's visit at the home of Mr. and Mrs Andrew Rennie, returned to her home at Peterborough on Monday.

Mr. Albert Bishop has returned from Juniper Island where he spent the summer with friends.



A preparation which has won its enviable reputation solely on its merits. The safe, sure and speedy remedy for all Rheumatic complaints.

Ask your druggist or write us for our new booklet—it is interesting and costs you nothing (Templetons, 142 King St. W., Toronto). We mail it anywhere on receipt of stamp.

Sole Agents for Peterboro McDERMID & JURY Prescription Specialists

For Lakefield, Tanner Drug Co.; for Havelock, A. D. Denike; for Hastings, T. A. Conklin; for Campbellford, J. W. Calow.

HASTINGS

(Special Correspondence.)

Hastings, Sept. 10—The death occured on Thursday, Sept. 4th., of the infant daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. Graham. The funeral was held on Saturday afternoon from their residence and thence to Trent Valley cemetery for interment.

Mr. L. T. Huycke was in Peterboro on Thursday.

Miss Pansy Runnels is holidaying with friends in Peterborough.

Miss N. McCauly of Peterborough has been a guest of Miss G. Coughlin.

Mrs. R. N. Simpson visited friends in Toronto last week.

Mr. and Mrs. Wessels, of North Dakota visited friends in town on Wednesday last.

Born at the Methodist parsonage on Wednesday, September 3rd, to Rev. A. R. and Mrs. Walsh, a daughter.

Mr. Thomas Hill of Peterborough spent the holiday at his home here.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Burridge of Peterborough have been visiting at the home of Mr. and Mrs. S. Batherly.

The Epworth League of the Methodist church reopened on Monday evening after the summer vacation.

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Oakley were in Bellevile on Saturday.

Mr. and Mrs. S. McColl of Wooler spent Wednesday at the home of Dr. J. H. and Mrs. Heas.

Miss Queenie Runnels has been visiting friends in Peterborough.

Mr. and Mrs. I. A. Gould have returned to Toronto after a pleasant holiday at the home of the latter's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Huycke.

Mr. Fred Stewart of Toronto is spending a holiday with his mother Mrs. A. Stewart.

Mr. and Mrs. E. Prentice were guests of friends in Belleville over the week end.

Mrs. Cowdy of Harrowsmith is a guest of her daughter, Mrs. (Rev.) Walsh at the parsonage.

Mr. and Mrs. Victor Fisher have returned from a pleasant motor trip to New York.

Dr. J. H. and Mrs. Heas and family have been visiting friends at Wooler and Belleville.

Mr. George Kemp of Kingston, is spending a few days at his home here.

Let Action Follow Thought.

A philosopher once said that there is no value to any thought, no matter how fine or noble, unless it is transformed into action. If you feel uplifted by beautiful music, do something that will tally with your mood, and then the music has been worth while. If you read something that is inspiring, at once do something, no matter how small, that is a little different and a little superior to your routine. The theory applies with equal truth to the reading of books as more than a pastime.—Chicago American.

Sacrilege.

The Kansas Industrialist says skunk oil and rattlesnake oil are worthless as liniments for rheumatism and kindred ills. Just how far should college papers be allowed to go in interference with free beliefs founded on the traditions of centuries? Pretty soon these young whippersnappers will be telling us that asafoetida amulets ward off neither germs nor devils, and that red beads around the neck won't stop nosebleed.—Grit.

DOWNEYVILLE.

(Special Correspondence.)

Downeyville, Sept. 11. — A very pretty wedding took place at St Luke's Church here Tuesday morning when Miss Mary Deway was united in the holy bonds of matrimony to Mr. Francis Hickey of Ennismore.

Mrs. Thos. Powers and daughter and Mr. Albert Henry of Rochester, were calling on the former's mother of Victoria Road, and also visited the former's sister, Mrs. Alice Gosselin, Downeyville.

A change has taken place in connection with the commissioner on the Emily telephone system, Mr. T. Lucas having been elected to take the place of Mr. M. D. Harrington on account of the latter resigning.

HAVELOCK

Mrs. Alex Rose is visiting friends in Toronto.

Miss Verna Telford, of Belleville, is the guest of Miss Gladys Haig.

Mr. and Mrs. Jas. W. Rose and son have left for their home in Sudbury.

Misses Bessie and Dorothy Kennedy have returned to their home in Toronto, after spending the summer at Trent River.

Mr. Leonard Miles spent the week-end in town.

Mr. and Mrs. H. E. McNicholl and family have left for a two weeks' motor trip.

Mr. Ayers of the head office, is relieving Mr. McNichol, as manager of the Bank of Toronto in his absence.

Misses Kathleen and Lillian McNichol have returned to their home in Toronto after spending the summer with Mrs. Mac Foley at "Rockwyn Cottage."

Miss Kay Kennedy is the guest of her cousin Miss Olive Rose.

Mr. Gordon Burgess has been engaged as junior on the staff of the local Bank of Toronto.

Miss Hazel Adams has returned from a trio to the States.

Mrs Mac Foley is the guest of her mother Mrs. Lynch, of Hastings.

Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Rose and children are visiting friends in Toronto.

Tuesday of next week is Civic Holiday and a public holidy in Havelock.

Tweed won the championship of the Trent Valley Baseball League on Thursday last, defeating Deloro a Madoc by a score of 21 to 6.

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Easterbrook announce the engagment of their eldest daughter, Lena to Mr. William Forsythe, of Saskatoon, formerly of Havelock. The marriage to take place quietly this month.

Mr. and Mrs. F. C. Butters spent the past week in Toronto.

Miss Bessie Sweet of Marmora visited Havelock friends last week.

Miss Ethel Lowney, of Toronto, is the guest of her cousin, Mrs. F. C. Butters.

Mr. Ross Wilde of the Bank of Toronto staff at Kitchener spent a few days last week at his home here.

Miss Mable Wilde nurse in training at Kingston General Hospital, is spending three weeks' holidays at her home here.

Messrs. Montgomery and Evan Barlow, of Belleville, were guests of their cousin Mrs. Edward Williams.

Mrs. Blake Brooks of Stroughton, Sask., is the guest of Mrs. Roy Compney.

Miss Elsie Hilton is visiting friends in Toronto and Hamilton.

Mrs. William Green and daughter Clara left this week for Trenton, wher they will make their home in future.

Mr. and Mrs. George Keating and and daughter spent the past week with friends at Toronto and Niagara.

Misses V. and B. Maloney and Miss M. Gillem, of Marmora, were the guests of Miss C. Overend yast week.

Mrs. McGregor has returned home from visiting friends in Niagara Falls, Buffalo and Crystal Beach.

EDITOR'S MAIL

RESPECT THE LAW, OR—

Editor Review: A short time ago a number of boys were in the police court for stealing and for robbing orchards and gardens. The punishment they received was no doubt severe upon their parents, but it will bring good results in the future.

It was hoped at the time that this would be a warning and a lesson to others. Now, some citizens who have gardens, and others who went to the expense of renting orchards and gardens and have worked twelve hours a day, find that a number of young men do not respect the law, and are not ashamed of bringing disgrace on their parents and other members of their families.

If their cowardly, mean, sneaking and contemptible conduct after dark in the west end of the city, especially on Sundays evenings, is done thoughtlessly, it may be well to let them know that the only reason why they were not in court as thieves is on account of a neighborly or fellow feeling for their parents and other members of their families who are trying to be honorable.

We may all have to acknowledge that when we were boys we were at times unruly, more or less, and committed many an act that we should not (and few of us could pose as angels today). But if boys were mischievous in our days, they were not hoodlums and when caught in the wrong tried to act the gentleman. The rough element were in a class by themselves.

The press in the past has greatly assisted in keeping this evil within bounds, and for that reason and to protect my own interests, I send you this communication. The police have done much more than their duty along this line.

If the innocent in cases of this kind have to suffer on account of the actions of a son or brother they should not blame their neighbor, for in some cases the limit has been reached.

Something must be done, for, believe me the charitable spirit is almost exhausted. Let the good boy in the bad gang take this chance and get out while the going is good, for he must see that theya re going too far.

To be done by the profiteer every day is hard, but when your neighbor's children start to do you it is time to call a halt.

Yours truly,
ONE WHO HAS SUFFERED.

Extracting Salt From Ocean.

Experiments in Norway with a view to extracting salt from ocean water by means of electricity have been successful, and two salt factories will be started for this purpose in the near future. Each factory is calculated to produce 50,000 tons of salt a year for a start, but they will be so built that the production can be brought up to double the quantity, if necessary. Besides the salt, different by-products will be made.

Chinese Superstition.

Superstition is rampant in China and when Chen Ying Yin, a trader in Straits Settlements, after his return to Kaping, his own village, proposed to open the lands along Fei Ngo mountain as a field for grazing, his suggestion could hardly be carried out as his villagers bitterly protested against the project on account of their belief in "Fung Sui," a superstition relating to the locations of places.

Goat Good Milk Producer.

Mr. Winthrop Howland of Redlands, Cal., last year had a Swiss Toggenburg goat, kept on the University of California farm, which broke the world's record as a milk producer, by over 300 pounds. For the period of one year this doe produced 2,941 pounds of rich sweet milk, or more than 24 times her own weight. The period of lactation for a good doe should be from seven to eight months.

Antiquity of the Jews.

Armenian and Georgian historians of southern Russia record that the Jew had settled among them in remote antiquity. They have evidence to prove that the children of Israel had lived round the Black and Caspian seas prior to the destruction of the first temple—587 B. C.—trading in mules and horses with Acco, Tyre, Sidon and other Phoenician cities.

SAGE TEA KEEPS YOUR HAIR DARK

When Mixed with Sulphur It Brings Back Its Beautiful Lustre at Once

Gray hair, however handsome, denotes advancing age. We all know the advantages of a youthful appearance. Your hair is your charm. It makes or mars the face. When it fades, turns gray and looks streaked, just a few applications of Sage Tea and Sulphur enhances its appearance a hundred-fold.

Don't stay gray! Look young! Bottle of "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound," which is merely the old-time recipe improved by the addition of other ingredients. Thousands of folks recommend this ready-to-use preparation, because it darkens the hair beautifully, besides, no one can possibly tell, as it darkens so naturally and evenly. You moisten a sponge or soft brush with it, drawing this through the hair, taking one small strand at a time. By morning the gray hair disappears; after another application or two, its natural color is restored and it becomes thick, glossy and lustrous, and Either prepare the recipe at home or get from any drug store a You appear years younger.

Staving Off Old Age.

Among many other extraordinary plans for prolonging one's stay on this interesting planet may be mentioned that of a South African farmer who advised people to eat every day four pounds of bananas steeped in sweetened whisky, and that of a professor in the University of Pennsylvania who believed that much could be done in the way of staving off old age by frequently having one's feet tickled!

Showed Greatness in Youth.

At the age of 14, and when a sophomore at Cambridge, Francis Bacon left the university in disgust, declaring that the whole system of education was radically wrong at Cambridge and everywhere else. And Bacon lived to prove that he was conservatively right in his contention. Swift despised his teachers because he knew more than they did, and therefore had difficulty in securing a degree.

Be Different.

Try to find a better reason for your acts than "everybody does it." There are follies in dress, absurdities in customs, that are defended on this ground always. The girl who thinks it is proper to dress immodestly because her next-door neighbor does, has a curious code of propriety. Custom does not make a thing right or sensible.—Grit.

High Army Officers.

A major general heads each army corps; a brigadier general heads infantry brigade; a colonel heads each regiment; a lieutenant colonel is next in rank below a colonel; a major heads a battalion; a captain heads a company; a lieutenant heads a platoon; a sergeant is next below a lieutenant, and a corporal is a squad officer.

Everybody Laugh!

The girl who laughs because she is sunny-hearted, and finds things to enjoy as she goes along, adds enjoyment to others as they go along. There is something in a smile that calls out a smile, and spontaneous laughter is the most catching thing in the world. No one who hears a joyous laugh is likely to scowl in response.

Oil From Fruit Stones.

Salad oil is now being made from the kernels of peach, plum, apricot, and cherry stones. The kernels are first separated from the shells by a solution of calcium chloride of magnesium chloride, then washed, dried, and placed under pressure. The bitter taste or odor is removed by aeration or heating.

Costa Rica Rich in Fruit.

Costa Rica has all the raw material that is necessary, except that for containers, to develop a profitable business in canned fruits and vegetables. The list of native and cultivated fruits is long and contains many which would be in demand if the way is found to preserve the flavor.

Family Verbs.

Speaking of odd verbs, it has been the custom for years in a certain Boston family to say when the weather has cleared, "It has nicened up." The other day, one of them was even heard to say, "It has nicened up nicely."—Boston Transcript.

Who Founded Jerusalem?

Origin and early history are obscure. It was identified by Josephus with Salem, a city whose king some thirty-five centuries ago was Melchisedech, a Chaldean. The city did not pass completely to possession of the Jews until the time of David.

LIVING IS A DELIGHT

It is always morning and there is always sunlight somewhere in the world, to those whose eyesight is good.

If your eyesight is not good, Dr. Fowler's efficiency and a pair of his "PEBLO" Glasses will restore the natural sight. Consult him when you find the eyes failing in any way.

CONSULTATION FREE.

EYESIGHT SPECIALIST A. A. FOWLER DOCTOR OF OPTICS

Phm. B. Toronto University.

HAS FITTED 30,000 SATISFIED WEARERS OF PEBLO GLASSES

Most Up-to-date Sanitary Optical Parlors. With Nugent Drug Co.

Victory Bonds Bought

Those who may desire to sell Victory Bonds should come to my office or communicate with me. I buy Victory or War Bonds of all maturities, in any amount, and I am prepared to pay the best price.

W. H. Taylor, 397½ George St. Peterboro, Ont.

GRAND To-day-&-Friday

BIG VARIETY PROGRAMME

HALE HAMILTON in "FULL OF PEP"

MARK SENNETT COMEDY "THE SMALL TOWN LOVER" | UNIVERSAL SPECIAL WESTERN DRAMA

THE BIG HIT! VQD-O-VIL MOVIES THE BIG HIT!!

LYONS AND MORAN Side-Splitting Comedy | GRAND ORCHESTRA

SATURDAY MATINEE AND EVENING

A TUNEFUL AND GAY MUSICAL PLAY

"MY SOLDIER GIRL"

Smart Swift and Saucy Cast | A Show Of Novelties

Brigade of Wonderful Girls

PRICES Mat. 1.00-75-50-25 Eve. 1.50-1.00-75-50-25 SEATS ON SALE NOW

A brigade of wonderfully clever girls in novel drills and dances coming to Peterborough with the musical spectacle, "My Soldier Girl," at the Grand Opera House Saturday matinee and night, Sept. 13th.

ELABORATE SCENERY WHOLESOME COMEDY

"MY SOLDIER GIRL" IS COMING WITH A BRIGADE OF BEWITCHING GIRLS.

The big musical spectacle, "My Soldier Girl," is coming to the Grand on Saturday matinee and evening, with gorgeous costumes, elaborate scenery, clean, wholesome comedy, bewitching melodies, a splendid cast, and a brigade of bewitching girls. Will A. Moore, the leading comedian, is the bright particular funmaker in this new musical show, with a big company of nearly fifty entertainers. "My Soldier Girl" is the work of J. Lorch Baker, that he succeeded in his efforts is attested by the remarkable hits scored by this brilliant musical comedy. Comedy predominates "My Soldier Girl," but the delicious foolishness is interspersed by charming musical numbers introduced by a remarkable chorus of singing and dancing experts who trip through the cleverly conceived march, drills and dancing ensembles fetchingly. No more gorgeous costumes have been designed for some of the great successes that are included in this brilliant spectacle. The scenic effects are bewildering from the opening of the first act, showing a grand lawn fete in progress at Col. Stone's home, Miami, Florida, to the last act presenting a gorgeous Follies setting on the roof of a New York theatre during a dress rehearsal.

Cook's Cotton Root Compound.

A safe, reliable regulating medicine. Sold in three degrees of strength—No. 1, $1; No. 2, $3; No. 3, $5 per box. Sold by all druggists, or sent prepaid on receipt of price. Free pamphlet. Address: THE COOK MEDICINE CO., TORONTO, ONT. (Formerly Windsor)

SUPERB GOWNS IN PICTURE SHOWING

CECIL B. DEMILLE'S "DON'T CHANGE YOUR HUSBAND" AT ALLEN'S

Gowns that are exceptionally beautiful are worn by Gloria Swanson, who plays the leading feminine role in "Don't Change Your Husband," C. B. DeMille's new Artcraft picture which is showing today at the Allen Theatre for the last time.

Among them is an evening gown of brocaded charmouse with pearls and specially designed headpiece; a blue negligee with peacock color effects of brocaded silk with silver lace head dress; a Wisteria colored boudoir robe of georgette with moire ribbons and French flowers, and an evening gown of cloth of gold brocaded in blue with blue georgette drapes and martin fur trimmings. These constitute, with others, a veritable fashion show which will be appreciated by the ladies who attend the picture. And Miss Swanson knows how to wear these exquisite creations which were designed by Alpharetta Hoffman.

Easy Window Washing.

To clean windows simply hold a newspaper under the water faucet long enough to dampen it, crush together and rub on the window pane. The window will be cleaned, washed and dried instantly. Should lint remain brush off with a dry cloth. Cotton gloves may be worn to protect the hands.

Evolution of Heroes.

Great men need to be lifted upon the shoulders of the whole world, in order to conceive their great ideas or perform their great deeds; that is, there must be an atmosphere of greatness round about them. A hero cannot be a hero unless in a heroic world.—Hawthorne.

THREE HOURS OF MUSICAL SHOW

"MY SOLDIER GIRL" A SMASHING HIT, PLAYING TO CAPACITY HOUSES.

Presented by a big company of nearly fifty people, the brilliant musical spectacle, "My Soldier Girl," coming to the Grand Saturday matinee and evening, offers three hours of the most novel and entertaining musical show presented the theatre-going public in the past decade. A smashing hit from its first performance, playing to capacity houses night after night, goes to prove that this clever musical comedy offers something different. There are two acts; the opening is laid at Miami, Florida, Col. Stone's home overlooking Biscayne Bay where an evening of gayety, a fete, is in progress in honor of "overseas" boys and girls. The last act shows a grand production of The Follies in rehearsal on the roof of a New York theatre with a gorgeous production, and the change of costume and scene is bewildering in its frequency. Some have said it was the book, others the music, still others declare it's the combination of the book, score, costumes, scenery and the excellent company working in harmony that makes "My Soldier Girl" the success it really is. There are some twenty musical numbers, of which "My Soldier Girl," "Just for You," "Jasper's Ragtime Band," and "That Dixie Wedding Tune" are the most popular.

COUNTRY BOY IN "STRING BEANS"

COMING TO ALLEN THEATRE TOMORROW AND SATURDAY SEE IT!

Charles Ray is the original "country boy" of the screen. In "String Beans" his latest Paramount picture produced by Thomas H. Ince, which will be shown at the Allen Theatre, on Friday and Saturday he again portrays the young American of humble beginnings who succeeds by sheer pluck and honesty and industry in the face of heavy odds.

Mr. Ray's screen portraits are always distinct and accurate. One wonders at times where in his youthful experience, he has found time to make so clear a picture in his mind of the young men of the farming class. It is undoubtedly a gift. He invests each characterization with a verisimilitude that is pleasing and convincing. His work is clear cut, skillful and thoughtful.

Mr. Ray said recently "Before I played my first roll of the so-called "rube" type, I used to practice in front of a mirror at home in the evenings, but somehow this didn't seem to fill the bill. It got so tired of seeing my face that I hated it. Then I was seized by a brilliant idea. I got a small camera and a flashlight apparatus. Then I would put the camera on a table, focus it on a handkerchief on the floor. I assume my poise, reach forward touch off the flash, jump back and assume pose, press the bulb and take the picture—all in a breath you might say. Then I'd have the films developed and I could study my expressions at leisure. From this sort of study and practice I've developed the characters I've played under Mr. Ince's careful supervision.

"String Beans" it is said, is a real type of this kind and the plot is said to be full of real novelty and charm.

Effective Treatment.

Mrs. 'Arris—Yer want ter take care o' that cold, Mrs. Green. Yer ought to git a pennorth of ukeriptus from the chemist, put it in a jug o' boiling water, 'old yer 'ead over it, and ignore it.—Pearson's Weekly.

Dangerous Practice.

Little Willie would hate to see his mother have to take in washing, but there is no telling what her faculty for religiously taking in his ears every time she washes his face may lead to.

We're Willing, If the Voters Are.

For a man who wants to live to good old age the best profession to pick is that of president of the United States. Their average life is seventy years.—Columbia State.

Fish Values.

By treating fish oil with hydrogen a chemist has produced an oil suitable for food purposes and a solid substance closely resembling lard, which is tasteless.

Eliminated.

When a young man advises a girl to take boxing lessons she need not waste her time in figuring on a proposal from him.—Detroit News.

Not Rain, Either.

Said the facetious feller, "According to popular fancy a good many husbands go out just to sit in."—Indianapolis Star.

SEVEN KEYS TO BALDPATE

BY EARL DERR BIGGERS

Copyright, 1913, by the Bobbs-Merrill Company

"Never," said Magee. "But I do not blame you for brushing up on it at the present time, professor. I have come to apologize. Yesterday morning I referred in a rather unpleasant way to a murder in the chemical laboratory at one of our universities. I said that the professor of chemistry was missing. This morning's paper, which I secured from Mr. Peters, informs me that he has been apprehended."

"You need not have troubled to tell me," said the old man. He smiled his bleak smile.

"I did you an injustice," went on Magee.

"Let us say no more of it," pleaded Professor Bolton.

Mr. Magee walked about the room. Warily the professor turned so that the other was at no instant at his back. He looked so helpless, so little, so ineffectual, that Mr. Magee abandoned his first plan of leaping upon him there in the silence.

"I suppose," he said, "your love of fresh air accounts for the strolls on the balcony at all hours of the night?"

The old man merely blinked at him.

"I mustn't stop," Magee continued. "I just wanted to make my apology, that's all. It was unjust of me. Murder—that is hardly in your line. By the way, were you by any chance in my room this morning, Professor Bolton?"

Silence.

"Pardon me," remarked the professor at last, "if I do not answer. In this very essay on—on liars, Montaigne has expressed it so well. 'And how much is a false speech less sociable than silence?' I am a sociable man."

"Of course," smiled Magee. He stood looking down at the frail old scholar before him and considered. Of what avail a scuffle there in that chill room?

He went out through the open window, and in another moment stood just outside Miss Norton's room. She put a startled head out at his knock.

"Oh, it's you," she said. "I can't invite you in. You might learn terrible secrets of the dressing table—mamma is bedecking herself for dinner. Has anything happened?"

"Throw something over your head, Juliet," smiled Magee; "the balcony is waiting for you."

She was at his side in a moment, and they walked briskly along the shadowy white floor.

"I know who has the money," said Magee softly. "Simply through a turn of luck I know. I realize that my protestations of what I am going to do have bored you. But it looks very much to me as if that package would be in your hands very soon."

She did not reply.

"And when I have got it and have given it to you—if I do," he continued, "what then?"

"Then," she answered, "I must go away—very quickly. And no one must know or they will try to stop me."

"And after that?"

"The deluge," she laughed without mirth.

Up above them the great trees of Baldpate mountain waved their black arms constantly as though sparring with the storm. At the foot of the buried roadway they could see the lamps of Upper Asquewan Falls; under those lamps prosaic citizens were hurrying home with the supper groceries through the night. And not one of those citizens was within miles of guessing that up on the balcony of Baldpate inn a young man had seized a young woman's hand and was saying wildly, "Beautiful girl—I love you."

Yet that was exactly what Billy Magee was doing. The girl had turned her face away.

"You've known me just two days," she said.

"If I can care this much in two days," he said, "think—but that's old, isn't it? Some time soon I'm going to say to you, 'Whose girl are you?' and you're going to look up at me with a little heaven for two in your eyes and say, 'I'm Billy Magee's girl.' So before we go any further I must confess everything—I must tell you who this Billy Magee is—this man you're going to admit you belong to, my dear."

"You read the future glibly," she replied. "Are your prophecies true, I wonder?"

"Absolutely. Some time ago—on my soul, it was only yesterday!—I asked if you had read a certain novel called 'The Lost Limousine,' and you said you had and that it wasn't sincere. Well, I wrote it"—

"Oh!" cried the girl.

"Yes," said Magee, "and I've done others like it. Oh, yes, my muse has been a nouveau riche lady in a Worth gown; my ambition, a big red motor-car. I've been a 'scramble a cent, mister,' troubadour beckoning from the bookstalls. I turned tired of that sort, and I decided to try the other kind—the real kind."

"Don't tell me," whispered the girl, "that you came up here to—to"—

"Yes," smiled Magee, "I came up here to forget forever the world's giddy melodrama."

The girl leaned limply against the side of Baldpate inn.

"Oh, the irony of it!" she cried, "I know," he said, "it's ridiculous. I think all this is meant just for—temptation. I'll do the real stuff, so that when you say—as you certainly must some day—'I'm Billy Magee's girl,' you can say it proudly."

"I'm sure," she said softly, "that if I ever do say it—oh, no, I didn't say I would!"—for he had seized her hands quickly—"if I ever do say it—it will certainly be proudly. But now—you don't even know my name—my right one. You don't know what I do nor where I come from nor what I want with this disgusting bundle of money. I sort of feel, you know, that this is in the air at Baldpate even in the winter time. No sooner have the men come than they begin to talk of—love—to whatever girls they find here—on this very balcony—down there under the trees. And the girls listen, for—it's in the air, that's all. Then autumn comes, and everybody laughs and forgets. May not our autumn come when I go away?"

"Never!" cried Magee. "This is no summer hotel affair to me. It's a rest in winter and summer love, my dear, in spring and fall, and when you go away I'm going, too, about ten feet behind."

"Yes," she laughed, "they talk that way at Baldpate—the last weeks of summer. It's part of the game." They had come to the side of the hotel on which was the annex, and the girl stopped and pointed. "Look!" she whispered breathlessly.

In the window of the annex had appeared for a moment a flickering yellow light.

"I know," said Mr. Magee. "There's somebody in there. But that isn't important in comparison. This is no summer affair, dear. I love you, and when you go away I shall follow."

"And the book?"

"I have found better inspiration than Baldpate inn."

They walked along for a time in silence.

"You forget," said the girl, "you only know who has the money."

"I will get it," he answered confidently. "Something tells me I will. Until I do I am content to say no more."

"Goodby," said the girl. She stood in the window of her room, while a harsh voice called, "That you, dearie?" from inside. "And I may add," she smiled, "that in my profession a following is considered quite desirable."

She disappeared, and Mr. Magee after a few minutes in his room descended again to the office. In the center of the room Elijah Quimby and Hayden stood face to face.

"What is it, Quimby?" asked Magee.

"I just ran up to see how things were going," Quimby replied, "and find him here."

"Our latest guest," smiled Magee.

"I was just reminding Mr. Hayden," Quimby said, his teeth set, an angry light in his eyes, "that the last time we met he ordered me from his office. I told you, Mr. Magee, that the Suburban railway once promised to make use of my invention. Then Mr. Kendrick went away, and this man took charge. When I came around to the offices again he laughed at me. When I came the second time he called me a loafer and ordered me out."

"Well?" asked Hayden.

"And now," Quimby went on, "I find you trespassing in a hotel left in my care—the tables are turned. I ought to show you the door. I ought to put you out."

"Try it," sneered Hayden.

"No," answered Quimby. "I ain't going to do it. Maybe it's because I've grown timid, brooding over my failure. And maybe it's because I know who's got the seventh key."

Hayden made no reply. No one stirred for a minute, and then Quimby moved away, and went out through the dining room door.

The seventh key! Mr. Magee thrilled at the mention of it. So Elijah Quimby knew the identity and the mission of the man who hid in the annex. Did any one else? Magee looked at the broad acreage of the mayor's face, at the opulent person of Max's at Bland's, frightened and thoughtful at Hayden's, concerned and smiling. Did any one else know? Ah, yes, of course. Down the stairs the professor of comparative literature felt his way to food.

"Is dinner ready?" he asked, peering about.

The candles flickered wearily as they fought the stronger shadows. Winter roared at the windows. Somewhere above a door crashed shut. Close to its final scene drew the drama at Baldpate inn. Mr. Magee knew it; he could not have told why. The others seemed to know it, too, in silence they waited while the hermit carried along his dish way preparing the meal. In silence they sat while Miss Norton and her mother descended. Once there was a little flurry of interest when Miss Thornhill and Hayden met at the foot of the stairs.

"Myra!" Hayden cried. "In heaven's name, what does this mean?"

"Unfortunately," said the girl, "I know—all it means."

And Hayden fell back into the shadows.

ALLEN THEATRE

SHOWING FOR THE LAST TIME

CECIL B. DeMILLE'S Production AN ARTCRAFT PICTURE

"DON'T CHANGE YOUR HUSBAND"

Which is the worst, a wife's unshaved hair, or a husband's unshaved face? Which would you rather see, a Lady Kimona or a coatless bedraggled man? Don't neglect this great domestic drama. Showing to-day for the last time

Episode 2 of the great "stunt" serial "THE GREAT GAMBLE" Outing Chester, and a HAROLD LLOYD Comedy

FRIDAY AND SATURDAY CHARLES RAY in "STRING BEANS"

ADMISSION

Matinee—Children 10c, Adults 15c Evening and Saturday Children 15c Adults 20c-25c

A CONTINUOUS SHOW ALL DAY

CHAPTER XVIII.

Table Talk.

FINALLY the attitude of the hermit suggested that the dinner was ready.

"I guess you might as well sit down," he remarked. "It's all fixed, what there is to fix. This place don't need a cook, it needs a commissary department."

"Peters," reproved Magee. "That's hardly courteous to our guests."

"Living alone on the mountain," replied the hermit from the dining room door, "you get to have such a high regard for the truth you can't put courtesy first. You want to, but you have not the heart."

The winter guests took their places at the table and the second December dinner at Baldpate inn got under way. But not so genially as on the previous night did it progress. On the faces of those about him Mr. Magee noted worry and suspicion; now and again menacing cold eyes were turned upon him; evidently first in the thoughts of those at table was a little package rich in treasure, and evidently first in the thoughts of most of them, as the probable holder of that package, was Mr. Magee himself. Several times he looked up to find Max's catlike eyes upon him, sinister and cruel behind the incongruous gold rimmed glasses; several times he saw Hayden's eyes, hostile and angry, seek his face. They were desperate; they would stop at nothing; Mr. Magee felt that as the drama drew to its close they saw him and him alone between them and their golden desires.

"Before I came up here to be a hermit," remarked Cargan contemporaneously with the removal of the soup, "which I may say in passing I ain't been able to be with any success owing to the popularity of the sport on Baldpate mountain, there was never any candles on the table where I ate. No, sir. I left them to the people up on the avenue—to Mr. Hayden and his kind that like to work in dim surroundings—I was always strong for a bright light on my food. What I'm afraid of is that I'll get the habit up here and will be wanting Charlie to set out a silver candelabrum with my lager. Candles'd be quite an innovation at Charlie's, wouldn't they, Lou?"

"Too swell for Charlie's," commented Mr. Max. "Except after closing hours. I've seen 'em in use there then, but the idea wasn't glory and decoration."

"I hope you don't dislike the candles, Mr. Cargan," remarked Miss Norton. "They add such a lot to the romance of the affair, don't you think? I'm terribly thrilled by all this. The rattling of the windows, and the flickering light, two lines of a poem keep coming through my head:

"My lord he followed after one who whispered in his ear—
The weeping of the candles and the wind is all I hear."

"I don't know who the lord was nor what he followed—perhaps the seventh key. But the weeping candles and the wind seem so romantic—and so like Baldpate inn tonight."

"If I had a daughter your age," commented Cargan, not unkindly, "she'd be at home reading Laura Jean Libbey by the fire, and not chasing after romance on a mountain."

"That would be best for her, I'm sure," replied the girl sweetly. "For then she wouldn't be likely to find out things about her father that would prove disquieting."

"Dearie!" cried Mrs. Norton. No one else spoke, but all looked at the mayor. He was busily engaged with his food. Smiling his amusement, Mr. Magee sought to direct the conversation into less personal channels.

"We hear so much about romance, especially since its widely advertised death," he said. "And to every man I ever met it meant something different. Mr. Cargan, speaking as a broad minded man of the world—what does romance mean to you?"

The mayor ran his fingers through his graying hair and considered seriously.

(To be Continued.)

CP OS

SAILINGS—RATES

LINERS OF FRANCE

Cabin Class, 6-Day Steamships. Less than 4 Days at Sea.

QUEBEC TO LIVERPOOL

Upon October 9th

Special Train leaves Windsor Station 9.15 a.m. direct to Ship's side.

1st Class 2nd Class 3rd Class

$170 up $100 up $43.75

War Tax $6 $5 $3.00

Special Suites and Rooms with Baths

Apply Local Agents

H. E. MacCallum, Gen. Agt., Toronto.

CANADIAN PACIFIC OCEAN SERVICES

Children's Aid Society

—of—

Peterborough City and County

FOR THE CARE OF NEGLECTED AND ILL-TREATED CHILDREN

G. W. POWELL

Asst. Secretary and Inspector

Office, 586 George St. Phone 1044w

Office Hours: 12 to 2 and 6 to 8 p.m.

Canada Food Board License No. 8-4908

D. M. MINICOLA

Best Fruit—

Cheap

Best Vegetables

Reasonable

Best Groceries

At Right Prices

410½ GEORGE STREET

Bell Phone 93b

Railway Time Tables

C. P. R. TIMETABLE

Effective May 4th, 1919.

GOING EAST

8.20 p.m.—Indian River, Norwood, Havelock and Tweed.

11.52 p.m.—Norwood, Havelock, Kingston, Smiths Falls, Perth, Montreal, Quebec, St. John, N.B., Boston and New York.

*1.30 a.m.—Havelock, Tweed, Kingston, Perth, Smiths Falls and Ottawa.

11.59 a.m.—Norwood, Havelock, Ontario, Tweed, Perth, Smiths Falls, Ottawa, Montreal and Intermediate points.

*11.59 a.m.—Norwood and Havelock.

GOING WEST

*4.53 a.m.—Toronto, Owen Sound, Guelph, Goderich, Hamilton, Buffalo, New York, Galt, Woodstock, St. Thomas, London, Chatham, Detroit and Chicago.

6.21 a.m.—Myrtle and North Toronto.

7.25 a.m.—Toronto, Hamilton, Buffalo, Rochester, Boston, New York and Intermediate points between Peterborough and Toronto.

9.35 a.m.—Lindsay, Orillia, Port McNicoll and Intermediate points.

3.20—Toronto, Hamilton, Brantford, Buffalo, New York, Galt, Guelph, Woodstock, London, Windsor, Detroit and Chicago and Intermediate points between Peterborough and Toronto.

5.00 p.m.—North Toronto, Lindsay and Intermediate points.

*3.20 p.m.—Toronto and Intermediate points.

*Daily.

Daily except Sunday.

Daily except Saturday.

*Sunday only.

GRAND TRUNK RAILWAY SYSTEM TIMETABLE.

No. 96—8:10 a.m., for Toronto, via Port Hope, also points on Main Line east.

No. 93—8:20 a.m., for Lindsay, Blackwater Jct., Orillia, Midland, North Bay and Toronto.

No. 98—8:25 a.m., for Hastings, Campbellford, Belleville and points on Main Line East.

No. 369—8:30 a.m., for Lakefield.

No. 92—12:04 p.m. for Lindsay, Port Hope, Toronto, Buffalo, making connections with International Limited for London, Detroit and Chicago.

No. 371—12:15 p.m. for Lakefield.

No. 100—2:00 p.m. for Hastings, Campbellford and Belleville.

No. 95—5:40 p.m. for Lindsay, Orillia, Midland, North Bay and Toronto.

No. 372—5:40 p.m. for Lakefield.

No. 99—8:31 p.m. for Lindsay.

No. 94—9:19 p.m. for Port Hope, Montreal and Boston.

The Steamer Naiad ON AND AFTER MAY 5th 1919

The Steamer Naiad will run as follows:—

Leave Lakefield daily on arrival of noon G.T.R. Train for Stony Lake Points connecting at Mt. Julian with the Apsley Stage

At Sault Ste. Marie, The Prince Inspects the Canal Gates.

IRISH JORDAN ISSUES CHALLENGE

WILL PGX ANYONE BETWEEN 128 AND 135 LBS. FOR LIGHT-WEIGHT CHAMPIONSHIP OF CITY — BIG NIGHT THURSDAY

Irish Jordan of Peterborough hereby challenges any local boxer from 128 to 135 pounds in a four, six or ten-round bout at the Brock street rink for next Thursday, the night of the big boxing bout, or at any other time. Anyone willing to accept this challenge can notify this paper.

Jordan won fame as a boxer overseas, and is anxious to let local fans see that he can box. If this bout can be arranged for a preliminary of the Cattle-Brompton return match as well as the Dugan-Atheny 6-round bout to a decision, local boxing admirers can feel assured that a real, earnest entertainment will be provided. There one will be out to win and there will be something doing all the time.

The main fixture promises to be a hummer. Both men are getting into condition and state that they will not be satisfied with a draw, and great interest is being felt over the result of this bout.

Judging by present indications it will be necessary to be at the rink early next Thursday to get a good seat, as intentions of coming from all over the county have been heard. Keep this date open and come and see a real sporting entertainment just like they used to be.

FALL ATHLETICS

KING GEORGE SCHOOL ORGANIZES UNDER PROMISING AUSPICES

At a meeting of King George Boys' Athletic Association the following officers were elected:

Hon. President—Mr. A. A. Fowles
President—Mr. M. H. Park
Vice-President—Mr. J. E. R. Munro
Secretary-Treasurer — Kenneth Beavis.
Committee.—Harry Ebbs, Percy

A BOXING TOURNAMENT
WILL BE HELD AT
BROCK STREET RINK
Thurs. Sept. 18
AT 8 P.M.
RETURN MATCH
Between
Young Cattle--Toronto
And
Kid Brompton--New York
Lightweight
Good Preliminaries are Being Arranged for
ADMISSION--$1.00, 75c, 50c
Ringside seats now on sale at Dan McCabe's Cigar Store and at Spence's Barber Shop.

THE MARKETS

TORONTO MARKETS
(Special to The Review.)

Toronto, Sept. 11—Receipts Union Stock yards, 273 cattle, 66 calves, 899 hogs, 1575 sheep. Calves continued to advance selling up to twenty three dollars, cattle and sheep and lambs were steady and hogs were unchanged but packers are bidding one dollar lower for next weeks arrivals. Choice export thirteen fifty to fourteen twenty-five. Choice butchers twelve to twelve fifty, medium ten fifty to eleven, common eight fifty to nine fifty, bulls nine to ten, feeder ten to eleven, choice stockers eight fifty to nine fifty, light seven fifty to eight fifty. Ewes eight to nine, lambs fifteen to fifteen fifty. hogs fed and watered nineteen twenty-five from eighteen twenty-five, calves twenty one to twenty three.

PETERBOROUGH MARKETS

Dressed Pork, lb.	.30	.35
Choice Mutton, lb.	.23	.25
Spring lamb, lb	.30	.34
Beef (carcase), lb.	.14	.20
Veal (carcase), lb.	.22	.25
Potatoes, pk.	.70	.75
Chickens, lb	.35	.35
Eggs, doz.	.50	.50
Butter, lb.	.60	.60
Raspberries	.27	.30
Green Corn, doz.	.25	.25
Green onions, bunch	.5	.5
Lettuce, bunch	.5	.5
Radish, bunch	.5	.5
Grain, Hay and Straw.
Wheat (spring)	2.09	2.12
Wheat (marquis)	2.12	2.13
Buckwheat	1.15	1.15
Oats	.90	1.00
Barley	1.25	1.25
Timothy hay, ton	17.00	20.00
Loose straw, load	7 00	9 00

Europe Likes American Milk.

European people have learned to like America dairy products. Exports of condensed milk to Europe rose from 16,000,000 pounds in 1914 to 530,000,000 pounds in 1918, and there were notable increases in exports of other dairy products. Much of this may be due to abnormal war demands, but the United States department of agriculture believes that there is both an opportunity and a tendency to expand in this direction over prewar requirements. A normal increase in dairying in this country, the department thinks, is fully justified, provided there is the necessary increase in feed crops.

Camouflage in Reverse.

Reversal of the camouflage principle, greatly increasing the visibility of its subjects instead of concealing them by blending them with the background, is declared a possible peace development by the naval officer who developed that particular nature-faking system. Since every positive has its negative, color applications opposite to those used for confusing the eye are being studied for a possible standardized system of making distant objects conspicuous.—Popular Mechanics Magazine.

Oke, Orville Smith, Alex. Champion, Bernard Williams.

It was decided to enter actively into sports. A short baseball schedule will be worked off first, then a football schedule will follow and later it is hoped to take up hockey.

Advertising That Paid

Yet Results Didn't Suit the Originator of the Scheme.

By EDITH BOWMAN.

"That's what I call some package," cried Hosmer proudly as he held aloft a round metal package decorated with a smiling face which was sandwiched between the legend "You can smile—if you use Dentola."

"It is pretty," conceded the head of the firm as he took the can into his hands and inspected it more carefully. "Some actress, isn't it? Her face seems familiar."

"Actress nothing," was the contemptuous retort. Hosmer could afford to be flippant when he scored a success. "That's the little typewriter over in the shipping room I caught her smiling like that one day, and it made a hit with me. I invented the powder to go with it. It's the old 'Saponica,' with a little carmine put in to make it look different. I tell you, Mr. Powers, in a week that Dentola girl will be known all over the country, and the sales—well, I'll be around for a raise in salary in about five weeks."

Powers smiled and nodded. Hosmer had a regular scale of self praise. When he suggested that the firm owed him a hat for an idea it was only an ordinary bit. The hint that he lunched about 2 o'clock was a sign that he had greater confidence in an idea. The last time that Hosmer had announced that he was worth a raise in salary was when he had introduced "sunburn cream," which eventually had brought the cosmetic company very nearly a quarter million.

Dentola seemed destined to enjoy a more permanent success. Within two months the Dentola girl smiled upon the entire nation. Even in the tiny hamlets Dentola placards adorned the general stores.

The Dentola girl smiled life size upon the city throngs, and more than life size she beamed at train tired travelers along the trunk lines.

Vaughn, the head of the shipping department, was rather vexed over the incident. He had supposed that the picture was merely to be used to decorate the cans of powder.

It became something of a nuisance when visitors to the model factory of the cosmetic company insisted upon seeing the original of "Miss Dentola." Vaughn, resentful of the admiring glances of the masculine visitors, protested to Hosmer.

"It's all a part of the campaign," declared the sales expert, with a laugh. "Miss Dentola is the best saleswoman that ever was. We sold more than a million boxes last month, and the orders are still piling in. I tell you, Hen, it pays to advertise when you advertise right."

"Sure," assented Vaughn, "but you're overdoing it. We wanted to sell the tooth powder, not to bring people to the factory to see Miss Dentola. There was a chap in yesterday who said he had seen the pyramids and the Sphinx and the tower of Pisa and all the other show spots of Europe, but he felt he couldn't go back to Montana until he'd seen Miss Dentola. By the way he looked at her I guess he would have liked to take her back to Montana with him. He could do to keep a watch on."

"It is not my department," replied Hosmer with dignified coldness. Vaughn's remark had nettled him.

"She would have been exhibited in connection with my department," retorted Vaughn. "She knows the shipping room now. Let her stay, even if conditions are a little worse and worse."

But I think she ought to be in my department," urged Hosmer. "It's in the advertising and that people would expect to find her."

"You get out of here," demanded Vaughn, half in friendliness and half very much in earnest. He had had Minnie Pryor in his department for more than two years and had given her scarcely a look until Hosmer had made her nationally famous.

When men in Alaska began to send proposals of marriage to the girl Vaughn began to realize that his assistant was decidedly pretty, and as this knowledge came to Hosmer about the same time there ensued a pretty race for favor.

Minnie Pryor, finding herself in demand for the first time, developed into a beauty. So long as she had been merely Minnie Pryor, typist, she had gone her quiet way, but now Joseph Powers, president and practical owner of the corporation, insisted that she be given a royalty on the use of her picture, and, though this was but a fraction of a penny per box, the generous use of lithographs enabled her to dress becomingly for the first time in her narrow life.

With the purchase of better clothes she had seemed to acquire that indefinable charm which belongs to the woman who knows herself to be in demand. She did not develop what Hosmer was wont to term "big head," but she held herself well, and the apologetic little typist of the shipping room had become the belle of the cosmetic company's works.

Hosmer had his room papered with her pictures, and the more he saw them the more deeply in love with the original did he sink. Vaughn had but one of the posters in his office, for he did not need them with the girl herself sending her shapely head over the desk by the window, and he too, was very much in love.

In the office both men made the best use of their time, but once the closing time arrived Miss Pryor disappeared. Early in the campaign Powers had suggested that the liberal use of her face had rendered the girl rather conspicuous, so the company paid for a carriage that took her to and from her work.

At first Hosmer had approved the suggestion, but now he went to the other extreme. There was no chance to walk home with Miss Pryor, and his request for permission to call was met with a polite negative.

He and Vaughn could only fight it out during office hours, and when Vaughn objected to Hosmer's continued presence in the shipping department and asked Powers to give Hosmer a hint to that effect the sales expert retaliated by again reverting to his suggestion that Miss Pryor should be transferred to the sales office.

The constant bickering could have but one effect. From surliness they passed to open warfare, and at last they brought the matter to the head of the firm.

Each pleaded his case, and then they stood waiting the decision with an anxiety that showed plainly in their faces. Each felt that a victory with the chief would aid his fight, and the moments that passed after the case had been stated were painful to them both.

Powers glanced slowly from one to the other, and his face broke into a smile.

"You both say that you have the right to Miss Pryor's services," he began slowly. "I'm afraid that you will both have to hire other typists. Miss Pryor tells me that you both are—er—rather cordial to her. It seems that you, Vaughn, have suddenly discovered that you need Miss Pryor. Only a little while before the advertising campaign was started you told me that you should have to put on another girl, as Miss Pryor was willing, but slow. I fancy that the way out of this will be to get another Dentola girl and another typist for the shipping department."

"There's no reason for such drastic action!" cried Hosmer, but Powers only smiled again.

"There is an excellent reason," he said slowly. "I am to marry Miss Pryor. She did me the honor to accept me, and as soon as the Dentola craze is forgotten we will be married. Meanwhile she has her royalty from the use of her picture, and she will not need her position. She would have told you this, Vaughn, had you waited until this afternoon."

Vaughn, too dazed to speak, turned and left the office, and Hosmer was about to follow when Powers detained him with a word.

"You said that you would win a raise on Dentola and you have," he said kindly. "It pays to advertise, Paul."

"Yes, when you have something to sell," agreed the expert, "but I was trying to sell Dentola, not Miss Dentola. The next time I get out a good article I'm going to carry the original first and advertise afterward."

"Miss Pryor and myself are very grateful to you," said Powers, with a cordial hand clasp, "and I hope that you find another Dentola, Paul."

"And I bet I won't lose her to any other man," was Hosmer's grim reply.

A Country of Mud.

Our country is a country of mud. Our roads are no roads. They are ruts, holes, stones, sand—disgraces. Our so called, badly miscalled roads impoverish our farms, send our farmers to the city, keep our children ignorant, put our girls on the streets in search of the pleasure they cannot find in the solution of the farm, cut off from human intercourse by reason of impassable roads. Our children cannot go to school when the roads are bad. Only when rural roads are good are rural schools well attended. We have the greatest railroad mileage, the greatest telephone mileage, the greatest telegraph mileage of any country in the world. In our roads we have the biggest opportunity—and the worst conditions—in the world. Suburban Life.

PRACTICAL HEALTH HINT.

Hygiene of the Mouth.

If we neglect the hygiene of the mouth no end of serious diseases may arise, both local and general. Gastric catarrh and anaemia are now laid in many cases to an unclean condition of the mouth. Among the diseases traced to such a condition of the mouth and teeth are: In the mouth itself, dental necrosis, gingivitis and stomatitis of every degree of intensity, deposition of tartar and suppuration around the teeth; in the jaws, periostitis, alveolar abscesses, osteomyelitis, maxillary abscesses; in parts adjacent to the mouth, glandular enlargements, tonsilitis and various other troubles. Therefore it is not enough that we brush our teeth although this is a step in the right direction and very, very important, but we must also once or more or less frequently an efficient disinfectant. The mouth must be well washed out and the throat gargled with such a solution. Keep clearly in your mind this fact that the mouth is the main avenue for the entrance of a vast army of infections.

MUST RETURN DOCUMENTS.

Stolen French Papers Were Valued by Bismarck

There is one clause in the Peace Treaty to which no person will object. It is a curious tag-end to Article 245, and its execution will solve the mystery of the secret document of Cercay, which used to worry historians 40 years ago.

The German Government shall restore to the French Government the trophies, archives, historic documents, works of art or objects of bibliography taken away by the German authorities in the course of 1870-71 . . . and also all documents relating to the civil or military administration of the departments which belonged to the French Government and fell into the hands of the German authorities in October 10, 1870, from the Ministry of Cercay, then belonging to M. Rouher."

One German history professor, Herr von Ruville, of the University of Halle, called these documents "the key to the foundation of the German Empire." But they have never been quite that. Bismarck and his successors saw to that.

Rouher was President of the Senate, and by that title Vice-Emperor of France under the regime which crumbled when the German armies made their stepping-stones Versailles in 1870. The Republicans who succeeded the Empire in France had more pains than have the Republicans of present-day Germany to publish all the information about secret diplomatic documents which they found, and they would have been delighted to publish the papers of M. Rouher and Jacques Piétri, secretary to the Emperor, and Jacques Piétri, chief of the Emperor's family, tried to get them out of France, but their project proved a disappointment. Practically important documents on French foreign policy in the years before the war were in the hands of Rouher. The Republicans searched his Paris house, but in vain.

It was a regiment of Mecklenburg troops which strayed into the Château Cercay on October 10, 1870, that found the much-sought papers. After a fashion which Germans seemed to have acquired within then, they poked about the desks, cubbyholes of the château, and among other things, they came on a great pile of papers which started to burn. An officer with something which, in latter days, might have been called a "news nose," caught them just in time to save the documents and make Article 245 of the 1919 Peace Treaty a possibility. They were carefully boxed and sent to No. 14 Rue de Provence, at Versailles, where Bismarck was then installed.

Bismarck never told all of their contents. Once, in 1871, he published some extracts regarding the question of Belgian neutrality and Napoleon III's demands for compensation in 1866. Years later, when Prince Hohenlohe retired as German Chancellor, an extract from one of the letters of the French Charge at Munich was published, revealing that as early as 1867 Hohenlohe had been a partisan of the union of Prussia and Bavaria. But all the other documents dealing with the separatist ambitions of the South German States have been kept strictly secret. Even Treitschke and Sybel, most patriotic of Prussian historians, were not allowed to see them. A British correspondent at Versailles in 1870 sent a mystifying letter to the London Times declaring that among the documents were "a mass of things capable of exciting envy, hatred and malignity, revealing the most secret thoughts of princes and diplomats." But he evidently had not seen the documents.

One German correspondent saw the documents in November, 1870. His name was Wachenhausen, and he wrote to the Volnische Zeitung a preliminary despatch mentioning secret correspondence about the Mexican campaigns and a secret letter saying that the French, if they came, would be received with open arms. But a few days later he wrote another letter to his paper explaining the necessity of remaining mute upon what he had seen. He had evidently received orders to shut up.

Bavaria came very near to not joining Prussia in the founding of the German Empire in 1871; and Joseph Reinach among French historians, as well as von Ruville in Germany, believed that the possession of the secret documents of Cercay gave Bismarck the final whip which forced Bavaria to do his bidding. The Ministers of Bavarian and Württemberg and other South German States were not in love with Prussia in the years before the war of 1870, and there is no doubt that their impudent expressions of hate for Prussia were all too compromisingly revealed in the secret document which came into the Iron Chancelor's hands just at the critical moment when he was forging the German kingdoms into a single empire. They gave him the power to discredit, in the heat of victory, Ministers who still had political ambitions.

The secret documents of Cercay will return to France fifty years after their theft, and at a time when that German unity which they were instrumental in forging is once more in the scales.

An assistant depot master at Paddington, London, took, by means of a number-recording watch, a record of the number of questions asked by the public during a single week. The total was 2,188. Some of the questions were extremely foolish.

Courting in Argentina.

If an engaged man in the Argentine republic dallies beyond a reasonable time in leading his fiancee to the altar he is heavily fined, and if resident of the republic should fail to marry he is taxed until he reaches the age of eighty.

'Tis Not So.

A Chicago girl stole $2.60 from a tradesman two years ago. Recently she returned the $2.60 with $290 as interest. Yet there are those who persist in believing, and declaring, that a woman has no conscience.—Grit.

Of Interest to Fishermen.

Tongs held open by a spring to enable an angler to keep mouths of fish open to recover swallowed hooks, scaling and cutting knives are combined in a single implement.

A Sewer Went Forth to Sew.

Said the facetious feller, "When a man tries to sew a button on a coat he generally makes it appear as if he were sewing the coat on the button."

Reflections of a Baldhead.

Instead of the hairs of our head being numbered, we would prefer to have them fastened in better.—Boston Transcript.

LUMBER
Builders' Materials of all kinds—Shingles, Scantlings, Joist and Bill Stuff, Mouldings, Castings, Base and all kinds of Finish, Boxes and Box Shooks; Slabs and Mill Wood.
A. McDonald Estate

Welland Board of Trade favors bonus of $10 on each ton of steel entering Canada in the next ten years for the manufacture of ships in the country.

Lackawana Coal
Means Economy
Burns freely and is of Best Anthracite.
Trucking Orders Promptly Filled
Peterboro Fuel & Transfer Co.
162 CHARLOTTE ST.
PHONES 270-362

COAL
...AND...
Builders' Supplies
Hardwood Flooring
Robt. Hicks & Co.
LIMITED

MIXED WOOD
$7.00 Per Cord
HARD WOOD
Cutting and Splitting extra.
ORDER NOW
FROM
J. E. A. FITZGERALD
Phone 111

PITTSTON COAL
IS THE BEST
ALL SIZES IN STOCK
Also best lines of SOFT COAL at Lowest Prices
McCARTHY & JOHNSTON
COAL DEALERS
111 Hunter Street, East City
Phone 96 TERMS CASH

HARD COAL
EGG, STOVE,
NUT, PEA
H. B. TAYLOR & SON
160 AYLMER ST.
Phone 209

Order Your Coal From
LOW & Co.
We have all sizes in stock
EGG, STOVE, NUT AND PEA
The best and cheapest coal in town. Perfectly screened and promptly delivered. Bring your orders in now.
Prices advance every month.
LOW & COMPANY
262 Simcoe Street. Phone 697
Yard Phone 128

Bringing up Father

By George McManus

STOP THAT HORRID WHISTLING!
BY GOLLY! FOR ONCE I DIDN'T GIT HIT.
YOU BLACK-A-DA-EYE I BREAKA YOUR HEAD WHADDA YA MEAN BY THROWIN' DA ROLLA-PIN OUTTA DA WINDOW
AW! I DIDN'T DO IT!
JIGGS-HOW MANY TIMES MUST I TELL YOU TO KEEP QUIET!!!
GEO MCMANUS

PETERBORO BOARD OF TRADE EXCURSION to PETERBORO FAIR, TUESDAY, SEPT. 16---See Announcement on Page 4.

SAFEGUARD YOUR EYESIGHT

When you accept our invitation to a consultation regarding the condition of your eyes, you need not feel concerned about what we will tell you You will learn only the truth. "See Us and See Better."

W. H. [illegible]
Optical Specialist.
410 George St.

DISTRICT AND LOCAL NEWS

Temple Songsters.

Temple Songsters will practice this evening. Please bring your book.

WAR TROPHIES AT FAIR

Secretary Whatley of the G. W. V. A. has received an answer to his request for a war exhibit for the exhibition next Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday in the affirmitive. An excellent collection of war trophies will be sent from Toronto but the G.W.V.A. will be responsible for their safekeeping and will bear all expenses. Do not miss this treat. The trophies will be selected from those shown at the Toronto Exhibition that caused such favorable comment.

WANTED — A YOUNG MAN with bicycle, to look after subscription department and make himself generaly useful around an office. Apply Review office.

FOR PLAYGROUNDS.

The committee in charge of the playgrounds wish to acknowledge receipt of the following contributions: Business Girls' Club .....$50.00 Mr. Roland Denne ... ...$10.00.

PALMISTRY.

Madame Alice, famous Scotch palmist at Gollop's Hotel opposite Grand Opera House. Here only for a short time. Hours from 10 a.m. to 10 p.m. All readings $1.00.

TIRES VULCANIZED

Because that tire has a hole through it is no reason why you should throw it away. You may yet get several thousand miles out of it by having a sectional repair made. We Vulcanize Auto Tires and Tubes and guarantee our work. Millard's Bicycle Shop, 225 Hunter street, near Aylmer, phone 234j.

CALL TO WORKERS.

Meeting of all men and women who will help in referendum work for Prohibition will be held for organization in South Ward section at Knox Church Sunday School room Thursday evening, 11th inst., 8 o'clock. Very important that all be on hand. Special information as to womne's share in the work, by lady member of local executive committee.

CHOIR PRACTICE.

St. John's choir will meet at 8 o'clock tonight to practise music for the Harvest Festival. Boys at 7:30.

DANCE ANY TIME WITH A VICTROLA.

Ready with lovely one-stens and fox-trots and fantastic waltzes that make you forget every care and just make you want to dance on and on are at your immediate disposal if you own a Victrola and have an assortment of records. Really everything in the way of dance music is obtainable for the Victrola. Write Ye Olde Firme of Heintzman & Co. Limited, George and Hunter streets, Peterborough, for catalogue.

NOTICE.

The Burleigh Ranching Company, Limited hereby gives notice that S. A. Conklin, as manager of the company, has no authority to incur liabilities on behalf of the company, and all bills against the company should be rendered to the Burleigh Ranching Company Limited, at its head office Union Bank Building Toronto, Ontario.

September 8th, 1919
BURLEIGH RANCHING CO.,
By C. L. Benedict,
President.

AUCTION SALE

1 Demorest with pole and yoke.
1 Steel Tire Ton Buggy.
1 Pneumatic Tire Wire Wheel Runabout.

On Market Square Saturday, Sept. 13th, at 11 o'clock.

W. J. HANCOCK, Auctioneer.

It is easy for a man to manage his wife. All he has to do is to follow her instructions.

SOCIAL AND PERSONAL

FLETCHER—FINNIE

On Wednesday morning, Sept 10, 1919, the home of Mr. and Mrs. John Finnie of concession 1, South Monaghan, was the scene of a pretty wedding when their daughter, Verna, became the bride of George H. Fletcher, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Fletcher, of Bensfort. The ceremony was conducted by Rev. W. H. Leigh, B.A., in the presence of two dozen of the relatives of the bride and groom. After the ceremony and customary congratulations, a very tasty wedding dinner was served. A number of very useful gifts were presents as tokens of good-will in addition to the many gifts left on the Monday evening preceding when many of the neighbors gave a miscellaneous shower in honor of the bride. The groom's gifts to the bride was a beautiful necklace.

The groom is a returned soldier who saw service in France and since his return has opened a shop and garage at Bailieboro.

After a short trip to Toronto and other points, Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Fletcher will reside at Bailieboro.

Mr. and Mrs. Bert Hunter left this afternoon for Los Angeles Cal.

Miss Runnels of Hastings has been visiting friends in the city.

Miss M. Burley of Keene is in the city attending the Peterborough Business College.

Miss Ethel Morgan visited friends in Keene last week.

Mr. W. Stevenson is visiting at Stoney Lake.

Mr. H. Brown of Toronto has returned home after visiting friends in the city.

Mr. and Mrs. H. Campbell, Toronto, are visiting friends in Peterborough and vicinity.

Miss Mary Maloney is visiting with friends in Toronto.

Miss W. Watson of Toronto, who has been visiting friends in the city, has returned home.

Miss Mary Myles of Cleveland, O., has returned home after a visit of two weeks with friends in the city.

Mr. and Mrs. Black of Hamilton are visiting friends in the city.

Mr. and Mrs. H. C. Corrigan and family of Toronto have returned to their home after spending a few days with Peterborough frends.

Miss Helen MacLaren, soloist of St. Andrew's Church has returned to the city after spending the summer months in Toronto.

Mr. Jack Fitzgerald is ill at the Nicholls Hospital suffering from an attack of appendicitis.

Mrs. E. W. Evans of Little Falls, N. Y., is visiting in the city the guest of her sister, Mrs. S. Kemp, 455 George street.

Mr. and Mrs. Carlyle of Toronto motored to Peterborough yesterday and spent the day here.

Mr. E. G. Clarke is visiting friends in Toledo and Detroit.

The ladies of the Peterborough Golf Club entertained Mrs. Alex Grant who is leaving the city shortly, at luncheon today.

ORGAN RECITAL AT ST. ANDREW'S

Dr. Ernest McMillan a noted organist will give an organ recital in St. Andrew's church on Monday evening, September 29. Full particulars will be iven later.

REMANDED TILL MONDAY

Charles E. Spencely, of Lindsay, was remanded until Monday for a mental examination at Police Court this morning. He was charged with stealing a horse, buggy and harness from George Dennis, of Lindsay, and attempting to sell it in this city. J. O'Brien for Gordon and O'Brien appeared for the accused and pleaded not guilty, but after some of the evidence was heard, pleaded guilty and threw himself upon the mercy of the court.

WAR SOUVENIRS WANTED.

For the G.W.V.A. Exhibit at the Peterborough Fair. Any veteran or others having war trophies would kindly loan same to See. Whatley their safekeeping will be guaranteed.

REPORT ON G.W.V.A. DRAW TICKETS

All War Veterans having tickets for the Maxwell car draw must report without fail to See. Whatley before Saturday night.

Ray Caldwell, the former kittie pitcher, now with Cleveland held the New York Amricans to no hits and no runs at New York.

BEAUTIFULLY DRESSED WINDOWS AND TEMPTING FASHIONS' FANCIES

Peterborough's Fall Openings Offer Unstinted Attraction for Women Shoppers—The Cream of Stylish Ready-to Wear and Millinery

Summer is past, harvest is ended, and fall openings are with us again. Today, Friday and Saturday mark the advent of autumn styles for women, and Peterborough ready-to-wear and millinery departments are offering a tempting array of newest fashionable wearing apparel such as reflects the well-dressed woman or miss. Ladies' tailored suits, coats, blouses, frocks, dress goods and suitings, all of the latest approved modes, patterns and textures are now displayed in charming variety. As to hats, their models are legion, for the street, motor, formal functions or reception events all transcending any previous attempt to cater to. Every taste in style and trimming.

Show windows and stores have blossomed forth into peaceful autumn beauty, dressed with the skill of masters in decorative craft, and courteous and attentive clerks encourage inspection of a wealth of art headwear and attractive garments.

Altogether our fashion stores are to be congratulated on a fall exhibit illuminating the joys of peace, and one which gives opportunity for selection of autumn needs to meet one's individual approval. The show rooms are open for leisurely inspection, and today were crowded with throngs of delighted women, absorbing the joys of "dress-up" wonderland.

Richard Hall & Son.

The show windows of Richard Hall & Son presents a refined, artistic picture of decorative effort. While not glaringly ornate, they arrest and hold with irresistible attraction, and convey the impression of exclusiveness in the fall offerings they irresistibly invite inspection of, and give a forceful hint of acceptable interior displays awaiting criticism by a fastidious public. These windows reflect an atmosphere of business solidity, dependability and guaranty, in keeping with the company's fall buying in leading markets. The color scheme is soft, harmonious and restful to the eye, and nothing of a cheap flimsy nature is used in the general pannel and hanging design. The goods displayed stand out bold and commanding, not lost in a medley of detractive decoration. They include the newest fashions in coats, suits, dresses, rugs and millinery. Yellow pendants soft in shade together with autumnal red efect in shaded electric lighting, offer a top dressing which diffuses a spirit of fall beauty that holds and reveals the master window dresser's touch.

The departmental interior display is in keeping with the windows' exhibit. The newest styles in coats included large sleeve effect with bound ings for collars of Hudson seal, beaver and other fashionable furs. Brown is the prevailing color with silver tone velour and broad cloth materials.

Dresses of the newest fancies for afternoon and evening wear are displayed in georgette tricotine tricolette and jersey. These are in every attractive color with navy blue, perhaps the favorite.

A large display of becoming suits in broadcloth, velour and unfinished serge are shown in the newest styles of novelty pleats, semi-norfolk, Russian blouse and straight-line effects.

The millinery fashions of this season are more varied and tempting than ever. Large sailors and beauty pokes in panne velvet plush, new tone and nasturtian are the vogue.

The Richard Hall and Son Company is very proud of its dress and silk goods, having procured one of the best stocks that has ever been shown here. They are to be congratulated on this, owing to the scarcity of and difficulty in procuring these materials. They have all textures and colors in this stock for the 1919-20 season, and invite visitors to come and look over their excellent supply of ladies' up-to-date ready-to-wear dress goods, coats and hats.

Cressman Co, Ltd.

A veritable wealth of variety and unique ideas, is the new fall and winter millinery display at Cressman's. Such a diversity of style and material and coloring as to please the most fastidious. Such a wide range of selection in trimmings and ornaments as would delight the heart of the most choosy lady. According to the showing, Dame Fashion has not laid down any set rules for those who would wear nifty headwear. Almost every conceivable style is being shown, although the large shape is given slightly the most preferance, but for the woman or girl whose face don't like a large hat, there are the neat little close-fitting or the semi-large ones, the majority of which are becoming to almost any face. Some models are of the plain sailor type, others with sudden tilts. Some with slightly rolling brim and flat crown and for those who desire an exclusive model, there is nothing prettier than the new extreme poke shape, which flares out over the face, slightly tilted perhaps on one side, or there is the large shape of black velour with soft crown stitched with silver thread and indented brim. Another very bewitching novelty is a semi-large shape of slight poke effect with crown of black velvet stitched in gold thread and trimmed with a band of narrow gold ribbon, with brim of beautiful plush ribbon in rose, stiched in gold. Beaver cloths, velours, velvets, velour tolls, plush cloths and the new dove tone cloth compose the predominating materials, while almost every shade and color tone is in evidence.

There is an exceptionally wide range of color from which to make a selection, comprising navy, black, sand, brown, caster, taune, pekin blue in different tones of each shade. A very striking and artistic collection of trimmings and decorative effects is being shown in ostrich mounts and wings in all the different shades, while fruit and flowers in vivid french velvets offer a wide choice. Exquisite autumn leaves, touched with silver and gold, give an individual touch to a black sailor shape. A much-favored trimming effect consists of embroidered designs in chemille, silk and wool, while ribbons both narrow and wide are being used extensively.

The woman who contemplates buying a heavy coat this fall would do well to visit the cloak department where all the new and becoming models are being shown. The material consists chiefly of velour, a silver toned velour cloth which is very beautiful. The kimona effect is very much in evidence, while some are of the semi-cape style, and there is a variety of colors from which to choose, brown being specially favored.

Dr. E. V. Frederick, member Royal College of Surgeons, England, late Surgeon No. 1, Canadian Stationery Hospital, Salonica, late Surgical Specialist No. 70 Indian Stationary Hospital, Bagdad, late Clinical Assistant Mayo Clinic, Rochester, Minn., has resumed practice corner Charlotte and Rubidge streets, Peterboro, especially consulting practice in surgical and chronic conditions.

Dr. Free, late house physician Toronto General Hospital, assistant in practice with Dr. Frederick and in charge of laboratory work.

LAKEFIELD COUNCIL IN BUSY SESSION

DEPUTATION PRESSES FOR POWER AND ELECTRIC LIGHT FOR VILLAGE

Lakefield, Sept. 11 — The regular monthly meeting of the municipal council of Lakefield was held in the council chamber in the village on Monday last. Those present were Reeve Moore and Councillors Macdonald, Porter, Smith and Young.

The minutes of the last regular meeting were read and approved.

Power and Light.

E. R. Tate, W. J. Charlton, A. Jawless, C. S. Tanner and others on behalf of a deputation of the ratepayers of the village addressed the council asking that body to try and make some provision for power and electric light for the village.

It was moved by Coun. Young and seconded by Coun. Macdonald, that Councillors Porter and Smith be a committee to interview Mr. Leggott in connection with trying to come to some satisfactory agreement in taking over the power plant, and also to interview the Canada Cement Co. in reference to getting power from them, and report as soon as possible.—Carried.

Town Hall Work.

Tenders re town hall work were opened.

It was moved by Coun. Young and seconded by Coun. Smith that this council receive different tenders for electric lightnig, heating and roofing of the Memorial Hall and that same be left over until a special meeting Friday evening.—Carried.

The Budget.

The finance committee presented the following report recommending payment of same:

Albert Clysdale, 200 hours at 30c, $60.00; Ira Lennox, 10 hours at 30c, $3.00.

Robert Graham, 10 hours at 30c, $3.00.

Lakefield Electric Light Co., one month's lighting, $60.31.

Norman A. Moore, oats, $33.30.

Bell Tel. Co., acct., $3.00.

Also the following accounts re the town hall:

E. J. Millage, cutting pipes, etc., $5.20.

W. J. Madill, work on pipes, $15.39.

N. A. Moore, lumber, town hall, $106.57.

N. A. Moore, contract for tank, $620.28.

Dominion Safe and Vault Co., for vault door, $165.

Total, $912.54.

Council then adjourned.

Brookes and Patterson beat Lyrett and Thomas in the final of the men's doubles at the Ontario tennis championships yesterday.

Business on the Toronto Stock exchange was more active yesterday than any previous day since the holidays and several industries had sharp advances.

Ten persons were killed and eleven wounded during food riots in Glogau Silesia on Tuesday.

EAT MORE

MOTHER'S BREAD

And Reduce the High Cost of Living

MOTHER'S BREAD is the CHEAPEST as well as the most WHOLESOME Food on the Market To-day

Buy Mother's Bread

AT YOUR GROCERS

PHONE 509

DON'T FORGET

Draw For $1,375 Maxwell Car

UNDER AUSPICES G. W. V. A.
AT THE
PETERBORO FAIR
WEDNESDAY, SEPT. 17th.
TICKETS $1.00
MAY BE PROCURED FROM MEMBERS OF THE G.W.V.A.

NOTICE TO CREDITORS

NOTICE is hereby given pursuant to the provisions of Section 56 of the Trustee Act, that all persons having any claims against the Estate of Agnes B. Spence, late of the City of Peterborough, in the County of Peterborough, Widow, deceased, who died on or about the Thirteenth day of June, 1919, are required to deliver or send by post, prepaid, to the undersigned Solicitors for the Executor of the Estate of the said deceased, on or before the Twenty-second day of September, 1919 their christian and surnames and addresses, full particulars of their claims, a statement of their accounts and the nature of the security, if any, held by them.

AND TAKE NOTICE that after the said Twenty-second day of September, 1919, the said Executor will proceed to distribute the assets of the said deceased, among the parties entitled thereto, having regard only to the claims of which said Executor shall then have notice, and the said Executor will not be liable for the said assets or any part thereof so distributed to any person or persons of whose claims notice shall not have been received at the time of such distribution.

DATED at Peterborough, this twelfth day of August, 1919.
ECK, KERR & McELDERRY, 415 Water street, Peterborough, Solicitors of said Executor.

CLOCKS : the Gift Kind :

Best assortment in the city of French Marble Clocks, Fancy Boudoir Clocks, Mantel Clocks, Bronze and Ornamental Clocks.

Prices moderate; Values defy competition

Schneider's

367 George St. Next Turnbull's

BEULAH E. GALT, A.T.C.M.

Teacher of Piano, Rudiments, Harmony, Counterpoint, Form and History. Pupils prepared for standard examinations. For terms call 990r24.

RUGBY PRACTICE

The Y.M.C.A. rugby team will hold a uniform practice at Central Park at 7 o'clock sharp to night. All those wishing to turn out with the team are asked to be on hand.

ADVERTISE IN THE REVIEW

Stoney Lake Navigation Company

Steamers leave Lakefield for the Lakes on arrival of morning and noon trains.

Steamers leave the Lake to connect with 9.30 a.m. (morning) and 4.40 p.m. (afternoon) trains for Peterborough.

G. T. R. trains leave Peterborough at 8.30 a.m., 12.15 noon

For excursion rates, information, etc., phone 548, or write

F. G. YOUNG.
Gen. Manager.
497 King St.

H.P. Lindsay Agency Co.

Real Estate and Insurance
Automobile Licenses
District Agents for Security Life

MOTORISTS

Do You Want to Save Gas?
Do You Want More Power?
Do You Want Your Car Cleaned While you Run?
Do You Want Real Pleasure in Motoring?
THEN BY ALL MEANS BUY
"LENEOGAS"
REFERENCE GIVEN
Sold by Best Dealers

H. P. LINDSAY AGENCY CO.,
Phone 541. 502 Water St.

GARDEN - FETE -

Will be held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. B. T. Cuffe, 22 Benson street, on

FRIDAY EVENING, SEPT. 12

in aid of the Serbian children. There will be different booths on the grounds for the sale of cakes, candy, ice cream, etc. The home will be open for dancing and a short program will be given.

SILVER COLLECTION.

WEATHER FORECASTS.
Strong northwest winds, decreasing tonight, mostly fair and quite cool today and on Saturday

The Daily Review

8 PAGES

40th YEAR No. 62 Peterborough's Oldest Newspaper. PETERBOROUGH, ONTARIO, FRIDAY, SEPTEMBER 12, 1919. Price Two Cents per copy

HOUSE RATIFIED TREATY THIS A. M.

HON. FIELDING'S AMENDMENT FOR RESERVATIONS DEFEATED VOTE 102 TO 70

STRAIGHT PARTY DIVISION

PEACE PACT WITH GERMANY PASSES CANADA'S COMMONS WITH UNANIMOUS VOTE

(Canadian Press Despatch)

Ottawa, Sept. 12.—At 1.30 this morning the House of Commons rejected the amendment of Hon W. S. Fielding providing for a reservation to Canada's approval of the peace treaty, to the effect that such approval should not be held to imply a surrender of Canada's right to determine what part this country should take in any war. The amendment was defeated on a straight party vote of 102 to 70.

Ratification Unanimous.

Ratification of treaty was then unanimously agreed to.

CITY COUNCIL IS PREPARED TO FURNISH FUNDS FOR NEW SCHOOL

Deputation of Board of Education Succeds in Inducing Commitee of the Whole to Pass Resolution Calling for By-Law

A deputation from the Board of Education waited upon the Committee of the Whole Council last night and succeeded in getting them to pass a resolution recommending the Council to pass a bylaw for the expenditure of $240,000 for the erection of a new public school.

Mr. R. Denne, chairman of the Board, spoke for a few minutes on the needs of the additions to the school accommodation of the city. It was absolutely necessary to provide more public school accommodation immediately for the southern district.

Building Needed.

Mr. E. G. Patterson, chairman of the special building committee, read the following letter from Mr Mowat showing the necessity for the building of the new school as he sees it from his position of Public School Inspector:

The following are some of the reasons why a new Public school building should be erected in the South Central district:

1. The present South Central building is most unsatisfactory in many respects for school purposes. The lighting is very bad and is injurious to the eyes of the pupils; some of the rooms, on account of their very high ceilings, are hard to teach in; the halls are dark and narrow; there are no basement play rooms for the boys to assemble in during the winter; the lavatories are very small; the playground is entirely too small for a school of this size; the heating is by means of hot air and is very expensive—hard coal has to be used and there are five furnaces. The pupils in the other districts of the city attend bright, comfortable school buildings and the pupils of the South Central district are entitled to a better school building than they have at present.

2. More accommodation will have to be provided to relieve the overcrowding in the King Edward and South Central districts. At the present time the overcrowding at the King Edward is being relieved by having one class in the basement of the St. James Sunday school building, and the overcrowding in the South Central has been relieved by transferring one whole class to the Central and Queen Mary Schools. Should the increase of pupils continue normal, by January, 1921, there will be need of 14 or 15 classrooms to accommodate the pupils of the South Central district, and at the same time relieve the overcrowding at the King Edward.

3. An addition to the King Edward would not relieve the situation as the present northern boundary of the King Edward district is Wolfe street, and this is as far north as it should go. It is not possible or erect an addition to the South Central building.

4. On account of the lack of accommodation it has been impossible to introduce the work of Household Science and Manual Training in the King Edward and South Central Schools. It is very necessary that these subjects should be introduced and their introduction will in all probability soon be compulsory.

5. The building committee decided upon one large building which would accommodate the pupils of the South Central district, relieve the overcrowding at the King Edward, afford accommodation for Household Science and Manual Training classes for both schools, and still provide accommodation for future growth.

Present Enrollment.

South Central, 10 rooms, 413 pupils
Queen Mary 13 rooms, 506 pupils
Central . . 13 rooms . . 500 pupils
King Edward 12 rooms 630 pupils

(a) 45 pupils at the King Edward are accommodated in the St. James Sunday school.

(b) 45 pupils of the South Central district who were transferred are not included in the 413.

(Continued on Page 4.)

ARTHUR HENDERSON IS AGAIN ELECTED

GETS 11,404 VOTES AGAINST 10,417 FOR COALITION OPPONENT, F. H. FISHER

(Canadian Press Despatch)

London, Sept. 12.—Arthur Henderson, Labor leader, who was defeated for re-election to Parliament at the general election last winter, was elected to the House of Commons today at a by-election in Widnes, Lancaster.

Mr. Henderson polled 11,404 votes against 10,417 for his opponent, F. H. Fisher, the Coalitionist candidate.

TURKEY WILL BE GOOD.

(Canadian Press Despatch)

London, Sept. 12.—An Exchange Telegraph despatch says Turkey has assured the Entente that measures will be taken for the maintenance of order and security in Anatolia.

LIQUOR FOR RICH NONE FOR POOR

IS MR. BURNHAM'S REPLY TO GLOBE'S CRITICISM OF HIS VIEWS

The following is a wire from Mr Burnham to the Toronto Globe, on the referendum question, and that paper's reply in the editorial columns:

"Mr. J. H. Burnham, M.P., wires The Globe: 'Will The Globe state in its columns whether in the referendum if every question is answered as the prohibitionists wish, the people of Ontario will be able or not to import all the alcoholic liquor they desire for private use, or what the law will be in that regard?' The Peterborough pundit knows, or ought to know, that the answer must be given by the Parliament of which he is a member. The Ontario Legislature has not power to prohibit the importation of liquors from another Province or country."

What Is In It?

To The Review on this question, Mr. Burnham writes as follows:

"Sir,—

"Enclosed you will find clipping from the editorial columns of The Globe of Wednesday. So after all the uproar about "prohibition" all that there is in it is, that the rich man and woman will be able to import what he likes and can pay for while the "poor" will have to do without, because there are no shops. A fine law this is for anybody to vote in favor of. It is worse than the bar-rooms. Wipe it out and give us good strict laws, but at least with some element of fairness in them.

"J. H. BURNHAM."

J. J. PRESTON, M.P.P., CHOICE EAST DURHAM CONSERVATIVES

Nominated Sixth Time Within Last Eighteen Years to Contest This Riding—Farmers Well Treated.

Millbrook, Sept. 11.—At a provincial convention of the East Durham Conservative Association, held here this afternoon, Mr. J. J. Preston, M.P.P., was nominated to contest the riding in the coming provincial election. This constitutes the sixth time that Mr. Preston has been nominated in this riding within the last eighteen years. On Tuesday of this week the U.F.O. held a convention here and nominated Mr. S. S. Staples, who will be Mr. Preston's opponent. It is hardly likely that the Liberals will put a candidate in the field, preferring to leave the issue with the U.F.O. candidate and Mr. Preston in the hope that the former will be elected. Mr. James Paul, president of the East Durham Conservative Association, presided.

Political Situation.

In accepting the nomination, Mr. Preston referred to the present political situation as unique. The farmers' platform and propaganda is directed largely at the Dominion Parliament," said Mr. Preston. They have very little criticism to pure at the Hearst Government. The U.F.O. should state clearly what legislation they object to and show in what respect we have failed," he added. Asked as to his position on the temperance issue Mr. Preston said he would vote for prohibition. "If prohibition is good enough for war time it is good enough for peace times," said Mr. Preston.

Ex-Warden James Armstrong and Ex-Warden Joseph Dickson, both of Manvers, also spoke a word of commendation for the Hearst Government.

Should Be Satisfied.

Mr. Hickson said the farmers had been pretty well treated during the past few years, and if they were not satisfied they were pretty hard to satisfy.

He was followed by the Hon. Geo. S. Henry, Minister of Agriculture, who, among other things, reviewed a portion of Ontario's war record. The speaker objected to some of the statements made by Mr. J. J. Morrison, secretary-treasurer of the U.F.O., at the meeting here on Tuesday last, and said that the latter had attempted to make it appear that Ontario was becoming depopulated and was decadent, where as in 1918 Ontario had ten million a res in crop, and in spite of the shortage of help a record crop was produced. "He does not tell you the whole story," said Mr. Henry. Continuing, Mr. Henry said that Mr. Morrison accused the Hearst Government of ignoring the farmers, yet when a deputation from the Government went to Ottawa to secure a terminal elevator for the benefit of Ontario farmers they took with them R. W. Burnaby and Manning Doherty, two members of hte U.F.O. He denied Mr. Morrison's statement that the farmers had no voice in anything, and challenged him to be specific and not make bald statements. "They don't want farmers in the House; they want to put a man in with a rope around his neck," he said. Answering Mr. Morrison's statement that Ontario was burdened with a debt of eighty millions, Mr. Henry said forty-seven of this was tied up in the Hydro, twenty three in the T. and N. O., and the remainder in equally good assets. The speaker said it was just as important that the people support the Hearst Government at the present time as it was for the people to support during the war the men who fought the Huns.

BARBER-COUNCIL DISPUTE RENEWED

CITY DECLARES SENDING VEXED QUESTION TO RAILWAY AND MUNICIPAL BOARD

The committee of the whole Council remained in session last night till the night was far spent in one of their controversies with Mr. Barber and no resolution was passed and whether or not a better understanding was reached remains to be seen.

The question was brought up when Ald. Phelan stated that the contractors had not received certain information from the engineer as quickly as he desired especially in regard to certain sewer connections which he desired to go ahead with while one of the mixers was idle. Mr. Christie had stated that as an inspector, he had not the authority which he had had before.

Mr. Barber stated that Christie had full authority to go ahead with anything that did not involve the changing of the plans and specifications. If he had not been using his authority he would in the future.

Then some more time was spent in arguing the old question whether Barber was called upon by his agreement with the city to be represented at the bridge at all times. Mr. Barber urged that the matter be referred to the Railway and Municipal Board who were familiar with the conditions. He was willing to accept their judgment. The aldermen, however, graciously declined this offer and urged that a settlement should be reached between the two parties. The resolution drawn up at the last regular council meeting still stands.

Mr. Barber made the report that 50 days had been spent on the revised plans and the Council consented to pay the $15 per day for the change of plans.

TWO SINN-FEIN MEMBERS OF THE HOUSE OF COMMONS ARRESTED

Military and Police in Many Irish Towns Raid Club Houses and Revolutionary Head-Quarters

(Canadian Press Despatch)

Dublin, Sept. 12.—Two Sinn-Fein members of the House of Commons were arrested today. They are Ernest Blythe, member for Monaghan, North, and Patrick Okeefe, member for the Northern Division of Cork County. Military lorries carrying prisoners from the outskirts of Dublin are arriving in the city.

Clubs Raided.

Dublin.—Two Sinn Fein members of the House of Commons were detained in Dublin after a search here, while houses of other Sinn Fein members of Commons are under visitation.

Sinn Fein clubs in Cork were raided this morning by armed police, who conducter searches, while soldiers stood on guard outside. The inoccupied Sinn-Fein headquarters also broken into, but it is understood nothing of importance was discovered there.

Raided Newspapers.

At Skibbereef, County Cork, armed police raided a newspaper office and also a number of private residences.

Political Papers Seized.

Galway, Sept. 12.—A large body of police searched houses of Sinn-Fein leaders here today. Documents of political nature were seized.

With Bayonets Fixed.

Londonderry, Sept. 12.—While the police were seizing arms in houses on Rossville street here today, a stone was thrown. The officer in command ordered troops to fix bayonets. The crowd thereupon dispersed. Reports from various districts in Donegal say large parties of military are arriving.

Details also have reached Nenah and Hallina-ilo, where rifles and shotguns were captured. While troops were carying to barracks arms which had been seized in Londonderry the crowd on the streets threw stones at the soldiers upon which baton-charges took place, clearing the thoroughfares. Sinn-Fein members of

(Continued on Page Eight.)

THE FLU EPIDEMIC LIKELY TO RETURN

DR. MCPHERSON CONSIDERS RECURRENCE IN MODIFIED FORM PROBABLE

In an interview this morning Dr. McPherson, M.H.O., stated that as yet he had seen no signs of the return of the influenza epidemic. He agreed with Dr. Hastings, however, that the "flu" would most probably return this fall in a modified form as it has done in England and South Africa. The severity of the return, of course, can only be surmised, but it is Dr. McPherson's opinion that if it does return this year it will be with less severity than on its initial appearance.

At any rate, we must put ourselves in readiness to combat this pestilence that raged such havoc in this country last year. We are in a much better position to fight it now on account of the return from overseas of large numbers of doctors and nurses.

This practically unanimous opinion of the doctors that the epidemic will most likely return should put the people on their guard to prevent it from getting such a hold as it did last year. Prevention is easier than a cure.

CITY SEWAGE DISPOSAL DEMANDS IMMEDIATE ACTION BY COUNCIL

Ald. Phelan Promises Concrete Action at Early Date—Monaghan is Insistent

The townships of Otonabee and South Monaghan are again taking steps to force the city to cease emptying its sewage into the Otonabee River.

A Serious Matter.

In the opinion of Ald. Edgar this is a very serious matter and one that calls for immediate and definite action. "If the townships were to close the sewer's exit what would the city do?" inquired Ald. Edgar. An epidemic would start in the city and great consternation would result.

Ald. Phelan, chairman of the Board of Works, requested Ald. Edgar to have a little patience, and in a very few days there would be something goood to report. The new system is far ahead of the old, and considerable investigations is necessary before deciding upon the style of disposal plant. In an interview with Dr. McCullough, Provincial Medical Office of Health, he admitted to Mayor Duncan and Ald. Phelan prices demanded for property desired by the city for their plant was nothing short of a hold-up. But Ald. Phelan promised that as soon as a system can be decided upon the site will be procured and work will start in a short time.

Something Doing.

The city engineer is busy gathering data about different plants, and will go to Milwaukee very shortly for further information.

City Solicitor Widdifield warned the Council that they had been breaking the laws for 15 years now and it was necessary to take immediate action.

BULGAR TREATY NEXT TEUSDAY

BRITISH DELEGATION TO PEACE CONFERENCE LACKS A LEADER

(Canadian Press Despatch)

Paris, Sept. 12.—No meeting of the Supreme Council was held today apparently because of the departure of A. J. Balfour, and neither Viscount Milner nor Bonar Law having accepted the leadership of the British delegation.

It is expected that the Bulgarian treaty will be handed that nation's representatives next Tuesday.

GERMANS FOR ARGENTINA

(Canadian Press Despatch)

Buenos Aires, Sept. 12.—Two steamers yesterday brought to this port 450 young, robust, educated German immigrants, the majority of whom have already contracted for employment in Argentina.

ADDITIONAL INFORMATION FOR THOSE NOT INCLUDED IN LISTS

All Who Have Applied to be Added Should Appear at Court House To-morrow at 10 O'clock.

The Editor Review:

Dear Sir,—There seems to be a lack of information as to the additional steps to be taken for those whose names are not on the voters' lists, and so have given their names to me and others during the last week in order that they may be added to the list.

My information is that the Registration Board is anxious to assist those who are endeavoring to make the voters' list as complete as possible, and all they desire is to be reasonably certain that those wishing their names added to the lists are British subjects, twenty-one years of age, who have been three months' resident in the municipality (for soldiers of any age). Those who have given their names to me or anyone else must attend to this tomorrow (Saturday) without fail. The hearing will take place at the Court House, commencing at 10 o'clock, and anyone acquainted with the facts as stated above can attend and verify the same.

All must have been one year resident in Canada.

Those living in the north and west wards will attend before Mr. Sherry in the Court room. Those living in the south ward will attend before Mr. Hatton at the County Council room. Those living in the east and centre wards will attend Judge Haycke in his chambers. These rooms are all in the Court House in Victoria Park.

Note: That if inconvenient it is not necessary to attend in person. Anyone acquainted with the necessary facts may attend. Someone, however, must attend Saturday if any name is to be added to the list. Do not neglect this matter if you wish your name added to the list.

Yours truly,
JOSEPH WEARING.

GRATUITIES UP IN COMMONS MONDAY

COL. CURRIE GIVES NOTICE OF MOTION TO DISCUSS THE SITUATION.

Ottawa, Ont., Sept. 12.—Col. J. A. Currie, M.P., announced in the Commons yesterday that next Monday he would move the adjournment of the House to discuss the question of soldiers' gratuities.

Mr. D. D. MacKenzie started to read in the Commons today a telegram from Hartley H. Dewart, protesting against the refusal of the Government to appoint a commission to investigate the gratuities, the speaker, however, ruled the telegram out of order.

AFTER SINN FEINERS.

(Canadian Press Despatch)

Dublin, Sept. 12.—A strong force of soldiers searched Sinn Fein headquarters this morning.

SERBIANS SUFFER LOSSES

(Canadian Press Despatch)

Paris, Sept. 12.—A Montenegran communication issued here says Serbians have suffered severe losses in their invasion of Montenegro, and have sent 15,000 reinforcements by way of Bosnia and Cattaro.

FIRST OF A SERIES OF LUNCHEONS BY LOCAL BOARD OF TRADE ILLUMINATING

Question of Transportation Facilities Commendably Handled by Mr. W. S. Campbell.

At noon yesterday the commencement of the special functions to be held by the Board of Trade was marked by a luncheon held at the Empress Hotel. About fifty members were present, including the president, Mr. J. J. Turner, and representatives of the local branches of the C.P.R. and G.T.R.

During the luncheon the members present had an opportunity of conversing about the topics of the day.

Shippers and Carriers.

With the luncheon finished and enjoyed by all, the president opened the meeting by thanking the members for their turnout and then introduced the speaker of the day, Mr. W. S. Campbell, chairman of the Transportation Committee.

The speaker opened his address with a general summary of the situation in Canada at present as regards transportation facilities. He next went on to explain the contract between the shippers and carriers as covered and the general use of the "bill-of-lading." Instances were quoted from various newspapers in which law suits had been conducted between business interests and transportation companies which could have been avoided if there had been a better understanding and appreciation of the various sections in the contract as mentioned above.

Thanks to Speaker.

At the conclusion of the address, the president tendered a vote of thanks to the speaker, which was applauded by every member present. The present then closed the meeting with the remarks that in future he hoped the members of the Board would turn out in such numbers as he saw before him on this occasion.

SAYS MR. BURNHAM IS QUITE RIGHT

Ottawa, Sept. 12.—When Mr. Burnham met Mr. Fielding's attack on the Government for sending a delegation to Paris by asking him if there would be any objection if Great Britain had asked the Government to do so, Mr. Fielding was somewhat staggered, but asked for the correspondence, which Mr. Burnham agreed to produce. The Minister of Justice says Mr. Burnham is right, and that the correspondence can be produced if required.

CHURCHILL ATTACKED FOR DELAY IN EVACUATION OF ARCHANGEL

Labor M. P. Asserts Secretary of War Has Not Answered Charges Made by Col. Sherwood Kelley

(Canadian Press Despatch)

Glasgow, Sept. 12.—At the Trades Union Congress today James Henry Thomas, Labor member of Parliament, moved a resolution that troops be withdrawn from Russia.

State Civilians.

He attacked Winston Churchill, Secretary for War, who yesterday stated that the policy evacuation was being adhered to but was being delayed by the necessity of bringing out civilians who were in danger of Bolshevik vengeance.

Thomas asserted that Churchill had not answered the charge made by Col. Sherwood Kelly that British lives were being thrown away in the Archangel region, but had threatened to punish Kelly.

Congress enthusiastically adopted the resolution, which also demanded a repeal of the conscription act, and provided for calling a special congress if its demands are not satisfactorily met.

THE DAILY REVIEW

ESTABLISHED 1879.
MEMBER OF THE CANADIAN PRESS, LIMITED.
THE DAILY REVIEW is published every afternoon at 4 o'clock (Holidays and Sundays excepted) by The Peterborough Review Company, Limited, 166-168 Hunter Street.
SUBSCRIPTION PRICE, $3.00 per year by mail to any part of Canada or Great Britain; $4.00 per year delivered to any part of the city.

THE WEEKLY REVIEW, established 1853, is published every Thursday morning at 10 o'clock. Subscription price $1.50 per year to any part of Canada or Great Britain, or $2.00 a year to the United States.
U. S. Representative—Robert E. Douglas, Chicago.
BOARD OF DIRECTORS:
A. H. STRATTON, President and General Manager; C. A. PECK, ex-M.L.A., T. F. MATTHEWS and JAMES LYNCH.

TELEPHONES:
Business Dept. ... 189 Editorial ... 435
Mr. Stratton's Residence ... 221

"FOR A GREATER PETERBOROUGH."

FRIDAY, SEPTEMBER 19, 1919.

MR. McGREGOR HAS NOT RESIGNED.

MR McGREGOR has not resigned as editor of The Review, a position which he has held for the past four years He asked the management to remove his name from the payroll as he regarded it as unjust that he should be in receipt of pay for services that he is unable to render while recovering from the effects of a serious operation. The management have refused to comply with this request, and the relations of manager and editor remain unchanged, relations that have always been mutually satisfactory.

Mr. McGregor has the assurance of his physician that his health, unsatisfactory for some years, will be benefited by the operation referred to and that he will be capable of better work than ever. He left today for the country to recuperate and in two weeks at the most expects to be on duty again.

AMERICA AND THE TREATY.

THE NEWS FROM Washington yesterday that the minority of that Government's Foreign Relations Committee are urging immediate ratification of the peace treaty with Germany, to reap a full benefit by the world in general of that peace wrested from the Huns by force of arms, is in a measure reassuring. Several Republican Senators are ready to sink their political opposition to the President and to support the treaty, and it is hoped that complete ratification is therefore probable. The Senate has made its protest against certain clauses in the treaty to which American feeling is hostile. America is not alone in that respect; every nation would have preferred a slightly different settlement if it alone had been able to dictate the terms. But the Senate will show its statesmanship if its opposition is not pushed to the extreme point of imperilling the treaty as a whole, of postponing the establishment of peace which the world so sorely needs, and of re-opening now many controversies which the League of Nations in the future should be able gradually to settle.

THE WOUNDED PRINCE.

THE RIGTH ARM of the Prince of Wales has been affected by the amount of handshaking which he has felt in his kindness of heart bound to undertake, and his eyes have been hurt by the dust which was blown into them at the steel works at the Soo, says the Kingston Standard. The former is certainly excusable; but the latter is not. The officials at the works must have known the danger and should have guarded against it. It is to be hoped that the Prince's tour will not be marked by any more damages done to him which can be prevented by the use of a little common sense and the ordinary precautions.

IS THIS THE TIME?

IT SHOULD BE NOTED in the country parts, says the Montreal Herald and Weekly Star, where oratory has not the overpowering force it has among urban crowds, that if Canadian railways are acquired by the Government, the municipalities and the provinces will lose heavily in taxation now imposed upon railway companies. This will mean fresh direct municipal and provincial tares. What the country will have to face as the certain result of public ownership will be huge annual deficits, great appropriations for maintenance and equipment, material losses in municipal and provincial revenues, with no prospect of lower charges or better service. Our national revenue for this year is about $250,000,000. Our expenditure is estimated at $820,000,000. Is this exactly the time to add expenses to the national exchequer? Or, under existing circumstances of living expenses, is this the time to add to municipal and provincial taxation?

EXCAHNGE OLD METHODS FOR NEW.

THE BUSINESS MAN must understand that he must willingly submit to a period of re-education, says the Montana Trade Journal. The old methods in business he must abandon as they are out of date and inapplicable to the reconstruction which the times and economic necessity now dictate. As they are disarded they must be repalced with new methods, under new principles and policies. Heretofore the game of business has been played under the rule of each for himself without regard for the trade welfare. Now the new rule demands that the very first regard of the individual must be for trade welfare and interest. His own interest is best served in following that principle in which the rule is, "Each for all and all for each." It will be very hard for him to discard his dearly beloved practical experience, rule of thumb methods and combative pugnaciousness in which he has been bred. It will be like breaking bones for him to cast off his conservatism, come out of his rut a receptive, progressive and helpful comrade, into the middle of the road. But it must be done, and therefore it can be done. The man who will succeed in the trade must be open-minded, a reader of his trade papers; not merely one, but all he can digest, for the trade journal is the one source of information that will bring back its cost a thousandfold.

RECIPROCAL ARRANGEMENT.

EVEYY MAN who enlisted under the Canadian flag, either in the naval or military forces, whether now resident in Canada or not, is entitled to all benefits as regards medical treatment, etc., for the members of the forces prescribed by the Dominon Government.

Similar provision has been made by the American Government of the United States with regard to American veterans of the war.

Of the men enlisting in the C. E. F. whose homes were outside of Canada, it has been estimated that about nine per cent. came from the United States. On the other hand, there are a considerable number of American citizens who enlisted in the C. E. F., particularly in the Western Provinces.

Reciprocal arrangement between the United States Government and that of the Dominion of Canada, through the Department of Soldiers' Civil Re-Establishment, have just been completed whereby each country will undertake wherever occasion arises the after-care of dependents found within their own borders.

In order to come to a full understanding of the obligations wich this would involve, the Director of Medical Services and Assistant Deputy Minister of the Department of Soldiers' Civil Re-Establishment visited Washington and conferred with Lieut.-Col Chas. F. Banks of the United States Public Health Service, Chief Medical Officer of the War Risk Insurance Bureau, also the secretaries of the Federal treasuries.

The Canadian Government, having undertaken the medical care, payment of pensions, supply of artificial limbs, etc., of disabled veterans, decided that if some form of mutual co-operation between the Government of this country and that of the United States was possible for the care of each other's dependents, a great deal of unnecessary expense might be saved. Such arrangement, for instance, would, as far as Canada is concerned, render unnecessary the establishment of a medical service branch of the Department in the United States.

At the conference held in Washington the proposal was submitted that the United States should effect an interchange of medical care with the Canadian Government whereby any ex-member of the Canadian forces resident upon that side would receive the same attention in the matter of medical treatment as that afforded to the men on this side. Similarly, Canada would care for the soldiers of the American army found resident here, each country to reimburse the other for all expenses so incurred.

In addition to members of the C. E. F. whose homes are in the United States, there were other enlistments for the British Expeditionary Force and British Reservists which will bring the number of British subjects in the United States who may need medical care up to almost half as much again as the Canadians alone. These latter have, therefore, also been included in the count made by the Canadian Government who may desire to participate in the arrangement so made.

The following figures give some idea of the total number of British subjects so concerned:

Recruits for the C. E. F. sent forward from New York	32,338
Estimated number enlisted in Canada	8,000
Recruits for British Expeditionary Force sent forward from New York	13,850
British Reservists and others, about	5,000
Total	41,188

This arrangement does not entitle any ex-service man of the Canadian forces found in the United States to any benefits which are not extended at the present time to members of the C. E. F. in Canada. All procedure will be upon the same footing, namely, those entitled are men suffering from disabilities due to or aggravated by war services who may claim pay or allowances.

Those who fall ill from any cause within one year from the date of discharge from the forces are entitled to free treatment without pay and allowances.

OPINIONS OF OTHER EDITORS.

THE GREATER HONOR.

(New York World.)

Premier Clemenceau stipulated that if he is to join the French Academy there must be none of the ceremony customary on such ocasions. And as it's the Aademy on which the honor is conferred his wishes no doubt will be respected.

IRISH "OPPRESSION."

(New York World.)

Gen. Ludendorff refers to the "oppression" of Ireland. Still, there is some difference between spending $500,000,000 to buy the land for the people and spending $125,000,000 to buy the land from the people and turn them out, as the Prussians did in Poland.

FEDERAL LAND BANKS.

(The Public, New York.)

During the month of July, 1919, an aggregate of $10,359,390 was loaned to 3,384 farmers of the United States by the Federal Land Banks. The Federal Land Bank of Houston, Texas, leads in the amount of loans closed. On July 31, 1919, the total amount of mortgage loans closed since the establishment of the Federal Land Banks was $244,653,871 from 94,815 borrowers.

ROUMANIA'S SERVICE.

(Buffalo Express.)

The Premier of Roumania says that his country did a great service to the Allies in destroying bolshevism in Hungary. It did How can the statement be denied without making a defence of bolshevism He adds that Roumania, in view of the Allied attitude, may now feel obliged to withdraw and shake off all responsibility for the chaos which may result. Can any Allied statesman, without avowing sympathy with bolshevism and its chaos, look upon that prospect without alarm?

THE WOMEN TAKE A HAND.

(Brantford Expositor.)

